DEDICATED

to all those religious brothers who believe in the unlettered Prophet, Sayyidina Muhammad Arabi ﷺ (to whom be ransomed my mother, father, my soul and my heart) and who believe that their salvation and that of all the children of Aadam ﷺ depends on following his guidance and his beautiful way of life.

Hence, they long to gain true awareness of his teachings and practices.

Come!

Let us purse the path of knowledge and imagination and attend the gatherings of the Prophet ﷺ and hear his sayings,

and from this spring of light receive guidance for our dark hearts.

The humble sinner
Muhammad Manzoor Na'umani
عفا الله عنه

PREFACE

In the Name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful

الحمد لله و سلام على عباده الذين اصطفى

Praise belongs to Allah, and peace be on His chosen slaves.

Of the numerous favours of Allah on His slaves, His greatest favour is the chain of Prophets عليهم السلام that He sent to them for their guidance. One of them was always commissioned as Prophet whenever they were in need of a guide.

The chain of Prophets عليهم السلام continued for thousands of years culminating in the person of Sayyidina Muhammad ﷺ as the Seal of Prophets and the Last of Messengers. He brought the final and perfect teaching that should suffice till the end of time.

The divine teachings and guidance that he brought is made up of two parts, the Book of Allah, the Qur'an which is the Word of Allah both in the literal sense and in the meanings, and the sayings and deeds of the Prophet ﷺ. These sayings and deeds came to us while he explained the Book of Allah and demonstrated it practically. The Companions رضي الله عنهم preserved them and passed them on to their successors who gave them a book form, saving them for all times to come. This second part of divine teachings is known as Hadith and sunnah.

The Prophet ﷺ spent his years and died but he left behind, for ever, both parts of the teachings that he had brought for the guidance of mankind, the Qur'an and the Sunnah. Allah made hidden and manifest arrangements in every era so that they may be preserved and continue to bestow light. This, indeed, is a great sign of Allah and a living miracle of the Prophet ﷺ.

Allah grows in the hearts of some of His slaves an inclination to serve the Book and the Sunnah is conformity with the requirement of the time and period. If we look at the way of preservation of the Book and the Sunnah from the time of the Prophet ﷺ onwards, we cannot help exclaim that there is Divine Hands behind it.

It is part of the Divine plan which had made it a pre-requisite of deliverance and earning the pleasure of Allah to believe in the Prophet ﷺ, to obey him and to adhere to his way of life. This prescription is for ever. And it meant that the Qur'an and the Sunnah should be preserved and handed down from generation to generation.

The Qur'an is preserved word by word, and no one, not even a non-Muslim, denies it. Allah also made arrangements to preserve the teachings of His Prophet ﷺ which, indeed pertain to the different departments of life. His whole life is preserved, the minutest details of his sayings, deeds, habits and morals, and all that being nothing but a pattern, an exposition, of the Qur'an. Allah inspired the Prophet's ﷺ followers to collect and compile the Ahadith. Although more than fourteen centuries have elapsed, these records continue to make the Prophet's ﷺ presence felt in our midst to this day.

We must study the works on his life and his Ahadith. We will see him among us telling us how to behave from morning to evening, day in and day out, how to discharge our religious obligations and give rights of fellow-men and of Allah.

In fact, we will know many things about him which we do not know of our close friends and next of kin. I explained to a non-Muslim scholar recently how every detail of the Prophet's life is preserved. And, I said to him, "When my father died, I was 45 years old which means that forty years of my life of understanding I spent with him. In spite of that I do not know as much of my father as I do about the Prophet ﷺ through the Ahadith."

The companions ﷺ loved the Prophet ﷺ deeply and were well learned in faith. They talked to each other eagerly about every detail of the Prophet's life, what they had heard from him and seen him do. This was not unnatural, for, faith and love demanded this attitude, and it was a duty and an act of piety to convey the Prophet's ﷺ message and thus gain the pleasure of Allah. Even in his times, Sayyidina Abdullah ibn Amr ibn al-'Aas ؓ and other Companions committed to writing what the Prophet ﷺ said and did and had his permission for that.¹

Khalifah Umar ibn Abdul Aziz instructed the tabi'een to compile the Ahadith from the sayings of the Companions ؓ. Accordingly, Zuhri and Human ibn Munabbih and their pupils continued the task. Imam Maalik's Muwatta' originated then. Abdul Razzaq, Ibn Ali Shebø, Imam Ahmad and Humaydi are other names in this connection.

Imam Bukhari, Muslim, Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Nasa'i, Ibn Majah were among the Followers in this field.

At the same time, a proper science was developed to examine the narrators. Their characters and antecedents were scrutinised and life-sketches of more than forty thousand narrators of Ahadith were prepared. This came to be known as Asma ar-Rijaal.

General truths and principles were derived and formulated from the Traditions. Examples of these are found in the works of Imam Maalik, Abu Yusuf, Imam Muhammad and Shafi'ee. Imam Bukhari presented titles to the chapters of his compilations.

The process continues to this day and the ulama have written commentaries and developed the base in other forms to serve the cause.

Their responsibility increases in the present times with the influence of the west on our society.

Shah Waliullah took the first step two hundred years ago to counter the western influence. His monumental work, the Hujjatullah al-Baligha is a complete guidance to the modern mind on Hadith and Sunnah.

I have drawn largely on this book for the *Ma'ariful Hadith*². The differences of opinion among the ulama has been brought to light with utmost clarity showing that the different schools of thought in fiqh are branches or off shoots of the same tree or the same river. There is no contradiction in them for they originate from the same source. Besides, I have endeavoured to explain and interpret the Ahadith with the modern-educated class in mind.

I have avoided purely theoretical discussions deliberately, and restricted myself to the elucidation of the aim of the Traditions. Of course, when it seemed that it would benefit readers, I have gone into some details too on the controversial issues.

Whatever I have achieved is through the Grace of Allah but assume responsibility for any wrong or an ill-advised comment.

The fundamental aim in writing this work is to preach, instruct and inform. Hence, a literal translation and the strict structure of the sentence are not observed. The emphasis is on explaining the arrangement of subjects and Ahadith.

The straying off the path in the present times includes the slogan of some people that only the Qur'an is the source of religion. The task of the Prophet ﷺ was only to bring the Qur'an, and ours is to abide by its commands. They say that nothing else is necessary, not even the sayings and example of the Prophet ﷺ and we cannot base any command of Shari'ah on the Prophet's ﷺ conduct.

However, it is impossible and unreasonable to believe in such ideas: How can one believe in the Messenger of Allah yet not follow his guidance? What can we do? In the world of so many funny things, there is this funny theory too! Some educated people propound this unreasonable idea and are very loud about it!

This mischief should have died its natural death but the western people, who take pleasure in creating mischief have found our atmosphere ideal to promote love of free thought and a disobedient, revolutionary temperament. Their influence gains ground day by day instead of dwindling.

Therefore, I appealed to my benefactor and teacher, Maulana Habibur Rahman al-A'zami to write a foreward for this book and throw light on this subject.

The Ma'arif al-Hadith is a Collection of Ahadith. An Urdu translation of the Ahadith and their explanation is provided for the Urdu knowing Muslims.¹

PREFACE (TO THE URDU EDITION)

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

In the Name of Allah the Beneficent, the merciful)

With praise for Allah and peace on the Prophet ﷺ!

The entire life of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ is, as it is, a clear evidence of his Prophethood and Messengership, just as his guidance and teachings are. However, one department of his life stands out distinctly in this respect. That department is to know Allah always, to love and fear Him, and to be aware and hopeful of His Mercy, Majesty and Omnipotence. These feelings were a perpetual part of his life. They were there persistently in the form of Zikr or Du`a. This aspect of his life is apparent from the supplications and modes of remembrance for the different situations and times that were ever found on his lips, and which he taught to his Ummah, encouraging them to imitate him in this regard. The noble Companions رضي الله عنهم and the transmitters of hadith, after them, were careful to preserve his teachings, word for word almost as carefully as the Qur'an was preserved. By the Grace of Allah the entire treasure is safe and intact.

This, indeed, is his living miracle which is available even today with all its brilliance, and anyone with a little commonsense can receive from it the same degree of belief and satisfaction in his mission as when he was alive.

In fact, whenever I have had the opportunity to speak to a non-Muslim who seemed receptive to serious talk on the subject, I have delved on this aspect of the Prophet's ﷺ life and teachings, First, I trace before these people, the historical background reflecting the conditions in Arabia, the place of his birth, over fourteen hundred years ago, and the Prophet's ﷺ own life. He was unlettered not having learnt to read or write from anyone. He grew up among a people who had not known Allah and who practiced idolatry and disbelief. It is easy for anyone to imagine how anyone growing up in these conditions should be.

After the brief introduction in this manner, I translate and explain to them some of the supplications and other devotional and glorifying words of the Prophet ﷺ recommended by him to be observed at different moments of the day and occasions in one's everyday life. These included the words of forgiveness known as istighfar, seeking help known as istighatha and trust and reliance. Having done that, I ask my listeners to be impartial and remove from their minds all pre conceived notions and then tell me sincerely " how did the Prophet ﷺ come to know Allah in this way and keep himself occupied with these feelings continuously and persistently, always aware of His presence and mercy and ever attached to Him with the words and phrases of supplication and remembrance?" If anyone is not stubborn and insistent on refusal then he will be compelled to concede that only Allah could favour him with this attitude of mind and these words of prayer and remembrance. There could be no other way for him to know that.

It has been my experience that all the people whom I presented this argument confirmed that the Prophet ﷺ possessed extraordinary spiritual power and some of the fortunate ones among them professed belief in Islam and Muhammad ﷺ as Allah's Prophet and Messenger ﷺ.

This is the experience that I went through with non-Muslims. As for myself if the Satan sometimes prompts evil thoughts I ward them off and renew and refresh my faith with this very prescription:

لِيُطْمَئِنَّ قَلْبِي (البقرة ٢: ٣٦)

(that my heart may rest at ease). (Al-Baqarah 2:260)

I reflect on the words of Zikr and Du'a as taught by the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and praise belongs to Allah, every evil prompting is removed in this way and my mind and heart gain peace and become easy.

Also, it is a known fact in the light of the Qur'an and the Ahadith that the pith of religion and Shari'ah lies in Zikr and Du'a which also is its main objective. So much so that the real aim behind the great forms of worship like prayer and pilgrimage (as Salah and Hajj), and their spirit, is Zikr and Du'a. We are also told that no matter what deeds a slave performs and sacrifices he offers, and whoever value is attached to these in this life, nothing is equal to Zikr, and Du'a in the sight of Allah: Just as any diet is incomplete without salt, pepper, fermentation or sweet, so too no deed meets the approval of Allah unless there is the flavour of Zikr and Du'a in it.¹

It is also a fact that Zikr and Du'a are significant means to attain nearness to Allah and to the saintly station. Those billions of Muslims who have gained that position in life have, indeed, relied mainly on Zikr and Du'a.

In view of this partical or significance of Zikr and Du'a, it was My deep longing to be able to translate and explain the ahadith, on the subject of Zikr and Du'a for the Ma'arif al-Hadith and have the effort credited to my record of deeds. Al Hamdu lillah, My desire has been achieved and this book, a separate volume by itself indeed, is ready entitled, Kitab al Azkar wa Al-Da'wat.²

I know very well my own condition and I am happy, beyond words, for the inclination created in me by Allah towards this work.

قُلْ بِفَضْلِ اللَّهِ وَبِرَحْمَتِهِ فَبِذَلِكَ فَلْيَفْرَحُوا (يونس ١٠: ٥٨)

Say: "In the bounty of Allah, and His Mercy, therein let them therefore rejoice!"

(Yunus, 10:58)

The sinner that I am, I have full confidence in the mercy of my Benevolent Lord that He will cause this book a means of receiving His mercy and forgiveness for myself and all the innumerable readers who value the teachings of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and benefit from it.

وَإِنَّ رَبِّي غَفُورٌ شَكُورٌ

Surely my Lord is Forgiving, Appreciating.

①. In the initial pages of the text, the verses of the Qur'an and Ahadith on Zikr and Dua will be presented to the readers.

②. Book of Azkar (Remembrances) and Da'wat (Supplications)

About This Volume

1. In this volume, 322 ahadith on Zikr and Du'a have been translated and explained. As with the other volumes of Ma'rif Al Hadith, Most of the ahadith of this volume too have been picked up from Mishkat Al Masbeeh and Jama' Al Fawaid, while some have been chosen from Kanz Al Ammal. For refernces to the original sources, these books themselves have been relied upon. However, some ahadith have been chosen directly from the Books of Sahah, namely, Bukhari, Muslim, Jami Tirmizi, Sunan Abu Dawood and so on.

2. The ahadith that are taken from Bukhari or Muslim may also be found in other Books of hadith but we have sufficed with a refernce to these two books alone. If a hadith is found in either of these two books then that itself is proof of its authenticity. The ulama are almost agreed on this point.

3. Since the real aim is to remember and understand, the translation does not follow a literal sense but is based on conveying the meaning of the original.

A Final Request

We have asserted in the earlier volumes that the ahadith should not be read with a view to increase our knowledge or to have a scholarly leisure but to refresh our religious link with the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and to receive guidance and to behave accordingly. When we take the lessons and read the book, we must be aware of the greatness of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and we must love him. We must imagine, while we read the ahadith or listen to them, that we are in the assembly of the Holy Prophet ﷺ and he is dictating, the words which we listen from him. If we follow this procedure then we will receive, Insha Allah, some of the blessings and conditions of faith in our heart which the fortunate ones received in the times of the Prophet ﷺ.

The last words from are praise of Allah and request for His help in completing the work and forgiveness for mistakes and sins.

The needy of the mercy of Allah and prayers of His slaves, the humble.

INTRODUCTION

By: Sheikh Habibur Rehman A'zami

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

In the Name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful

The Qur'an of course, is the base origin of Faith and the *Shari'at*¹, and among the fundamentals of the Divine Law its place is unique. But its purpose is only to lay down the principles. Elaboration and interpretation falls within the purview of the *Sunnah*² and Hadith.³

As all knowledgeable people are aware, the Qur'an was not sent down to the Muslims directly and outside the agency of the sacred Prophet ﷺ that they may study and follow it on their own or with the help of ordinary persons like themselves. On the other hand, before its revelation a Messenger was raised and the Qur'an was, then, sent down to him with the sole object the people do not read and interpret it according to their own knowledge and understanding but in the light of the Prophet's ﷺ guidance and exposition. The Qur'an itself says:

And We have revealed unto thee the Remembrance (the Book) that thou mayst explain to mankind that which hath been revealed for them, and that haply they may reflect.

وَأَنزَلْنَا إِلَيْكَ الذِّكْرَ لِتُبَيِّنَ لِلنَّاسِ
مَا نُزِّلَ إِلَيْهِمْ وَلَعَلَّهُمْ يَتَفَكَّرُونَ

(Al Nahl 16 : 44)

Again, it was through the Qur'an that the mankind was informed of the place and functions of the Prophet ﷺ. It was proclaimed repeatedly that the Prophet ﷺ would not only recite the verses and make the people remember them but also expound their meaning, unravel their mysteries and explain their wisdom.

Even as We have sent unto you a Messenger from among you, who reciteth unto you Our revelations and maketh you clean, and teach you the Scripture and wisdom, teacheth you that which ye knew not. (Al Baqarah 2 : 151)

كَمَا أَرْسَلْنَا فِيكُمْ رَسُولًا مِّنْكُمْ
يَتْلُوا عَلَيْكُمْ آيَاتِنَا وَيُزَكِّيكُمْ
وَيُعَلِّمُكُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ
وَيُعَلِّمُكُم مَّا لَمْ تَكُونُوا تَعْلَمُونَ
(البقره ٢: ١٥١)

Allah varily hath shown to the believers by sending unto them a Messenger of their own who reciteth unto them His revelations, and maketh them clean, and teacheth them the Scripture and wisdom; although (before he came to them), they were in flagrant error. (Aal-e-Imran 3:164)

لَقَدْ مَنَّ اللَّهُ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ إِذْ
بَعَثَ فِيهِمْ رَسُولًا مِّنْ أَنفُسِهِمْ
يَتْلُوا عَلَيْهِمْ آيَاتِهِ وَيُزَكِّيهِمْ
وَيُعَلِّمُهُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ وَإِنْ
كَانُوا مِنْ قَبْلُ لَفِي ضَلَالٍ مُّبِينٍ
(ال عمران ٣: ١٦٤)

He is Who hath sent among the unlettered ones a Messenger of their own to recite unto them His revelations, and to make them clean, and to teach them the Scripture and wisdom, though heretofore they were, indeed, in error manifest.

هُوَ الَّذِي بَعَثَ فِي الْأُمِّيِّينَ رَسُولًا
مِّنْهُمْ يَتْلُوا عَلَيْهِمْ آيَاتِهِ وَيُزَكِّيهِمْ
وَيُعَلِّمُهُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ وَإِنْ
كَانُوا مِنْ قَبْلُ لَفِي ضَلَالٍ مُّبِينٍ
(جمعه ٦٢: ٢)

(Al Jumu'ah 62:2)

In all the three verses reproduced above two things have been mentioned distinctly, one apart from the other: (i) Recitation of the revelations; and (ii) Teachings of the Book

As far as the recitation of the verse is concerned, its meaning is clear. But with the teaching of the Book it is otherwise and requires an elucidation. If it was to denote again the reading out of the Qur'an in a systematic manner and making people commit it to memory there would not have been the need to specify it as something different from the recitation of the verses. Evidently, it signified the explanation and interpretation of the Qur'anic verses and the exposition of their meaning, wisdom and commands.

It is, as such, apparent from the Qur'an itself that just as the recitation and preaching of the Divine revelations forms the a part of duties of the holy Prophet ﷺ, so, also does their exposition and interpretation. It follows, logically, that if the text of Qur'an is binding and absolute, its interpretation, as furnished by the Prophet ﷺ, is also the same, or else it will be meaningless to have charged him with the teaching of the Boiok and made it a part of his mission. In sum, on the basis of these Qur'anic pronouncements the sacred Prophet ﷺ is not only the Messenger of Allah but the teacher and interpreter of the Divine message also.

Moreover, when the Prophet ﷺ role as the teacher and interpreter of the Divine revelations is established by the Qur'anic dicta and authoritative pronouncements no one who believes in his mission can deny that, with the recitation and propagation of the revelations, he also explained their meaning and gave instruction in them. And since the Qur'an is the Last Word of Allah and the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ, His Last Prophet, and no new Scripture or Prophet is now going to be sent down to mankind, it is essential stage, from the time of its revelation till the end of the world. Further, if the preservation of the Qur'an is vitally important, the continuance, transference and conservation of the Prophet's ﷺ verbals as well as practical explanation is equally necessary, at all times, for understanding it fully.

We, therefore, conclude that:

- (i) On the basis of the Qur'anic dicta and pronouncements the holy Prophet ﷺ is the teacher, exponent and interpreter of the Qur'an;
- (ii) He explained and interpreted the Qur'anic verses in the same way as he recited and preached them;
- (iii) The continuance and preservation of his interpretation of the Qur'an is essential, side by side with its text.

To this, we have to add that the Prophet ﷺ has taught the Qur'an in two ways. He has explained its meaning and supplied a verbal interpretation of it as well as shown the way of living and acting in accordance with the Qur'an by his own deeds and actions.

The method of practical interpretation was that when a Qur'anic command was revealed, the Prophet ﷺ showed to the people what it meant by carrying it out himself. In this way, the precise import of the words of the Qur'an got determined and the practical form and design of the command also became clear. As for instance, the obligatory injunction of the establishment of Salah (regular worship) was revealed in the Qur'an and some of its components part (like *qiyam*¹, *ruku*², *sujud*³ and *qir'at*⁴) were also mentioned but the actual manner of observing Salah and the order in which the various acts connected with it were to be performed were not described anywhere in it. The particular form of offering up Salah, with a systematic arrangement of the various acts that went to make it, was, thus, left to be determined by the conduct of the Prophet ﷺ.

On seeing the command:

اقِيمُوا الصَّلَاةَ (البقره ٢: ٤٣)

and establish regular worship in the Qur'an, it is natural for one to ask how it was, after all, to be put into practice and what was the proper way of establishing Salah. The Prophet's ﷺ exhortation:

صَلُّوا كَمَا رَأَيْتُمُونِي أَصَلِّي

"Offer Salah as you have seen me offering it,"

So to speak, holds the answer.

Apart from the practical exposition of the command of establishing regular worship, the Prophet, also, sometimes verbally explained how Salah was to be offered.

Similarly, the Hajj (Pilgrimage to Makkah) was prescribed as a religious duty in the Qur'an but its method and formalities were not defined. The Prophet ﷺ showed the correct way by performing the Hajj himself, and since the interpretation of the Qur'an could be possible only through his word or deed he declared openly at Arafat, on the occasion of the Farewell Hajj, when all the pilgrims we present,

"O people! Learn the rites and ceremonies of the Hajj from me. It is possible that I may not see you after this year."

خُذُوا عَنِّي مَنَاسِكَكُمْ لَعَلِّي لَا
أَرَاكُمْ بَعْدَ عَامِي هَذَا

Again, there were two forms of verbal explanation. One was that after mentioning or alluding to a Qur'anic verse the Prophet ﷺ would comment on it or state the law or injunction derive thereby, while the other method lay in explaining the meaning or purport he had deduced from the Qur'an, on the basis of his God-given knowledge and rare understanding, without referring to or indicating the verse.

Of the numerous illustrations relating to the first category, we will here give only three.

- (i) The Messenger of Allah ﷺ, once said, "On the Day of Final Judgement Allah will summon Nooh عليه السلام. Nooh عليه السلام will say, 'Our Lord! I heard your call and obtained auspiciousness from it.' Allah will, then, ask, 'Had you conveyed Our Message?' 'Yes', he will reply. It will, thereupon, be enquired from the community of Nooh عليه السلام, 'Had Nooh conveyed Our message to you?' 'No Warner had come to us,' they will say. Allah will, then turn to Nooh and ask him, 'Who will be a witness on your behalf?' He will reply, Muhammad ﷺ and his followers'. After that the followers of Sayyidina Muhammad ﷺ will testify that Nooh had conveyed the message and the Prophet (i.e., I) will affirm it." Having said it, the Prophet ﷺ observed that this was the purport of the Divine revelation:

Thus We have appointed you a middle nation, that ye may be witness against mankind and that the Messenger may be a witness against you.¹

جَعَلْنَاكُمْ أُمَّةً وَسَطًا لِتَكُونُوا
شُهَدَاءَ عَلَى النَّاسِ وَيَكُونَ الرَّسُولُ
عَلَيْكُمْ شَهِيدًا (البقرة ٢: ١٤٣)

(Al-Baqarah 2:143)

- (ii) Sayyidina Adi ibn Hatim رضي الله عنه enquired from the Prophet ﷺ whether the Qur'anic words al-Khaitul Aibaz and al-Khaitul Aswad meant two threads. The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'No. They mean the darkness of the night and the whiteness (i. e., light)

①. Sahih Bukhari: Kitabut Tafsir as narrated by Abu Sa'eed al-Khudri رضي الله عنه

- (iii) During the journey of Hudaibiya a large number of lice had come to infest the hair of Ka'b ibn 'Ajra ؓ. When Prophet ﷺ saw the parasitic insects he said to him "I did not know you were in such great trouble. Can you procure a goat?" Ka'b ؓ replied that he could not. The Prophet ﷺ, remarked, "Alright, you shave your head and keep fast on three days or give a *Sa'a*² of foodgrains each to six needy men."³

No verse is mentioned in the narration of the above event but since the verse:

And whosoever among you is sick or hath an ailment of the head must pay a ransom of fasting or alms-giving or offering. (Al Baqarah 2:196)

”فَمَنْ كَانَ مِنْكُمْ مَّرِيضًا أَوْ بِهِ
أَذًى مِنْ رَأْسِهِ فَعِدَّةٌ مِنْ صِيَامٍ أَوْ

was revealed in the context of the same incident, we have included it in the present discussion.

The latter category of the verbal exposition of the meaning of the Qur'an constitutes a major part of the Traditions or, at least, a large number of It is another matter that due to our stolidity and incompetence we may not be able to trace their Qur'anic origion. There is, however, no death of Traditions whose Qur'anic source becomes evident on a little study and deliberation. Let us take up two of them here.

- (i) The Prophet ﷺ once said:

"No one of you can be true in his faith unless his desire is subordinated to the guidance I have brought."

لَا يُؤْمِنُ أَحَدُكُمْ حَتَّى يَكُونَ
هَوَاهُ تَبَعًا لِمَا جِئْتُ بِهِ

Clearly, the above Tradition is derived from the following verses of the Qur'an:

But nay, by thy Lord, they will not believe (in truth) until they make thee judge of what is in dispute between them and find within themselves no dislike of that which thou decidest, and submit with full submission.

فَلَا وَرَبِّكَ لَا يُؤْمِنُونَ حَتَّى
يُحْكِمَ مَوْكَ فِيمَا شَجَرَ بَيْنَهُمْ ثُمَّ

(Al Nasaa 4:65)

And it becometh not a believing man or a believing woman, when Allah and His Messenger have decided an affair (for them), that they should (after that) claim any say in their affair (i.e., after the verdict of Allah and the Prophet the duty of the Believers lay only in submitting and obeying)

(النساء. ٦٥:٤)

(احزاب ٣٦:٣٣)

(ii) A Tradition of the Prophet ﷺ says:

"Anyone whom Allah has given the provision needed for the journey and a means of transport which can take him to the House of Allah (at Makkah), if he fails to perform the Hajj then it does not matter whether he dies a Jew or a Christian."

مَنْ مَلَكَ زَادًا وَرَاحِلَةً تُبَلِّغُهُ إِلَى بَيْتِ اللَّهِ وَلَمْ يَحُجَّ فَلَا عَلَيْهِ أَنْ يَمُوتَ يَهُودِيًّا أَوْ نَصْرَانِيًّا
(رواه الترمذی عن علی و یؤیده مارواه الدارمی عن ابی امامة)

About this Tradition it is indicated in Tirmizi itself that it is derived from the Qur'anic verse:

And Pilgrimage to the House is a duty unto Allah for mankind.

(Aal-e-Imran, 3:97)

وَلِلَّهِ عَلَى النَّاسِ حُجُّ الْبَيْتِ

(آل عمران ٩٧:٣)

But as only a part of the verse has been mentioned in the narrative many people find it difficult to appreciate its pertinence. If the whole verse is kept in view the warning contained in the Tradition can distinctly be read in the last part of it. The verse reads:

And Pilgrimage to the House is duty unto Allah for mankind, for him who can find a way thither. And for him who disbelieveth, (let him know that) lo! Allah is Independent of (all) creatures. (Aal-e-Imran 3:97)

اللَّهُ غَنِيٌّ عَنِ الْعَالَمِينَ

(آل عمران ٩٧:٣)

In fact, most of the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ are an explanation of or a derivation from the Qur'an which forms a part of his mission on the authority of Divine pronouncement like:

That thou mayst explain to mankind that which hath been revealed for them.

يُعَلِّمُهُمُ الْكِتَابَ (البقرة ٢:٢٩١)

We have revealed to you the reminder that you may make clear to men what has been revealed to them. (An Nahl 16:44)

لِتُبَيِّنَ لِلنَّاسِ مَا نُزِّلَ إِلَيْهِمْ

(النحل ١٦:٤٤)

These maxims, again, tell us that the Prophet's ﷺ expositions, derivations and interpretations, too, are worthy of acceptance and compliance.

Teachings of 'Wisdom'

The teachings of 'wisdom', also, has been declared to be a function of the Prophet ﷺ along with the teachings of the Scripture.

For a proper realisation of the meaning of the word 'wisdom' we will first refer to the Qur'an itself which contains numerous verses denoting that 'wisdom', too, was one of things revealed by God. In surah al-Nisa, for example, it is said:

Allah revealeth unto thee the scripture and wisdom, and teacheth thee that which thou knewest not. The grace of Allah toward thee has been infinite. (Al-Nissa 4: 113)

وَأَنْزَلَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْكَ الْكِتَابَ

وَالْحِكْمَةَ وَعَلَّمَكَ مَا لَمْ تَكُنْ

تَعْلَمُ ۚ وَكَانَ فَضْلُ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكَ

عَظِيمًا (النساء ١١٣:٤)

And, in surah al-Baqarah, it is set forth:

And remember Allah's grace upon you and that which He hath revealed unto you of the Scripture and of wisdom, whereby He doth exhort you.

وَاذْكُرُوا نِعْمَتَ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكُمْ وَمَا

أَنْزَلَ عَلَيْكُمْ مِنَ الْكِتَابِ

وَالْحِكْمَةِ يَعْظُمُكُمْ بِهِ

(البقرة ٢:٢٣١)

(Al Baqarah 2 : 231)

From surah-Ahzab we learn that with the verses of the Qur'an, 'wisdom', also, was recited in the apartments of the pious wives of the Prophet.

And bear in mind that which is recited in your houses of the revelations of Allah and wisdom. (Al Ahzab 33 : 34)

وَاذْكُرْنَ مَا يُتْلَىٰ فِي بُيُوتِكُنَّ مِنْ آيَاتِ اللَّهِ وَالْحِكْمَةِ
(احزاب ٣٣: ٣٤)

Now, what else was read out in the houses of Prophet's ﷺ wives apart from the Scripture? And what other thing did the Prophet ﷺ recite to his pious wives besides the Qur'an? It could be nothing but his own Sunnah and Traditions (i.e., general religious advice and religious observations and exhortations), and since the command given in this verse is to bear in mind wisdom, the necessity of learning by heart the Sunnah and the Traditions is self-evident. It is, moreover, incontrovertible that knowledge, recitation and learning by heart are not an end in themselves but their real object is action. Thus, from the above Tradition the obligatoriness of acting upon the Sunnah and the Traditions, also, become manifest.

Besides, when 'wisdom' is simply another name of Sunnah, it is established from the three verses reproduced earlier (in which 'wisdom' is stated to be a Divine revelation like the Scripture) that Sunnah, too, was directly taught by the Almighty Creator to His Messenger.

As we turn from the Qur'an to its teacher it becomes clear again that there was another thing, aside of the Qur'an, i.e., 'wisdom' which was revealed by Allah to the Prophet ﷺ. Says he:

The Qur'an was bestowed upon me, and, along with it, another thing which was similar to it."¹

أَلَا إِنِّي أُوتِيتُ الْقُرْآنَ وَمِثْلَهُ مَعَهُ (رواه ابو داود و ابن ماجه والدارمي عن المقدام بن معد يكرب)

In view of these pronouncements, both of the Qur'an and the Sunnah, the theological doctors of Islam are agreed that the word 'wisdom' occurring in,

And teacheth you the Scripture and wisdom. (Al Baqarah 2:129)

يُعَلِّمُهُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ
(البقره ٢: ١٢٩)

1. Abu Dawood, Ibn Majah, Darami on the authority of Miqdam ibn Ma'idi Karib.

and in other corresponding verses denotes the Sunnah, and, further, that the Sunnah, too, is a kind of Divine revelation. Allamah Ibn Qaiyyim, for instance, remarks:¹

إِنَّ اللَّهَ سُبْحَانَهُ وَتَعَالَى "انزل على رَسُولِهِ وَحْيِينَ وَأَوْجَبَ عَلَى عِبَادِهِ الْإِيمَانَ بِهِمَا وَالْعَمَلُ بِمَا فِيهَا وَهُمَا الْكِتَابُ وَالْحِكْمَةُ" وَقَالَ تَعَالَى "وَانْزَلَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْكَ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ" (النساء ١١٣:٤) وَقَالَ تَعَالَى "هُوَ الَّذِي بَعَثَ فِي الْأُمِّيِّينَ رَسُولًا مِنْهُمْ يَتْلُو عَلَيْهِمْ آيَاتِهِ وَيُزَكِّيهِمْ وَيُعَلِّمُهُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ" (جمعه ٢:٦٢) وَقَالَ تَعَالَى "وَاذْكُرْ مَا يَتْلُو عَلَيْكَ فِي بَيْوتِكَ مِنْ آيَاتِ اللَّهِ وَالْحِكْمَةَ" (الاحزاب ٣٤:٣٣) وَالْكِتَابُ هُوَ الْقُرْآنُ وَالْحِكْمَةُ هِيَ السُّنَّةُ بِاتِّفَاقِ السَّلَفِ وَمَا أَخْبَرَ الرَّسُولَ عَنْ اللَّهِ فَهُوَ فِي وَجوبِ تَصَدِيقِهِ وَالْإِيمَانِ بِهِ كَمَا أَخْبَرَ بِهِ الرَّبُّ تَعَالَى عَلَى لِسَانِ رَسُولِهِ هَذَا أَصْلُ مُتَّفَقٍ عَلَيْهِ بَيْنَ أَهْلِ الْإِسْلَامِ، لَا يَنْكُرُهُ إِلَّا مَنْ لَيْسَ مِنْهُمْ وَقَدْ قَالَ النَّبِيُّ ﷺ أَنِّي أُوتِيتُ الْكِتَابَ وَمِثْلَهُ مَعَهُ (ص ٩٢)

"Allah, the Glorious One, sent down two kinds of revelations to His Prophet ﷺ and made it obligatory to believe in and act upon both of them. These are the Qur'an and wisdom." (The Allamah then quotes the verses referred to by us earlier in his support and goes on to say that) "that 'Scripture' mentioned in them means the Qur'an and 'wisdom' in the unanimous opinion of the pious precursors, the Sunnah. What the Prophet ﷺ communicated after knowing about it from Allah and what, Allah revealed through the tongue of His Prophet ﷺ are equally required to be accepted. It is a fundamental and universally accepted principle among the Muslims and whoever denies it is not one of them. The Prophet ﷺ, himself, has said: 'The Qur'an was bestowed upon me, and along with it, another thing which was similar to it'."

It should have been clear by now that the Believer is religiously bound to accept as true the Prophet's ﷺ interpretation and elucidation of the Qur'anic verses as well as the 'wisdom' revealed to him by Allah. Together with it, the Qur'an has enjoined upon him to emulate dutifully the example of a perfectly religious and Islamic life, as presented to the world by the sacred Prophet ﷺ. In surah Ahzab, it is stated:

Verily in the Messenger of Allah ye have a good example of him who looketh into Allah and the Last Day and remembereth Allah much.

لَقَدْ كَانَ لَكُمْ فِي رَسُولِ اللَّهِ أُسْوَةٌ
حَسَنَةٌ لِّمَن كَانَ يَرْجُوا اللَّهَ وَالْيَوْمَ
الْآخِرَ وَذَكَرَ اللَّهَ كَثِيرًا

The Believers are, thus, commanded to follow in the steps of the Prophet in all the spheres of life. It is not only in war or other situations of distress that the duty of keeping in mind the ideals of patient, perservance and fortitude upheld by him has been prescribed, as some people have been misled into believing about the verse we have just seen, for it is patently unreasonable that the Prophet's ﷺ conduct may be worthy of emulation at the time of war but not in conditions of peace or that while we have a good example in his life where Jihad is concerned, there is nothing in it for us to take a pattern by in matters the establishment of Salah and the performance of Hajj.

At another place, a more sweeping and unqualified command to follow the example of the Prophet ﷺ has been given to those who profess love for the Almighty.

Say, (O Muhammad, to mankind): If ye love Allah follow me. Allah will love you and forgive you your sins.

قُلْ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ تُحِبُّونَ اللَّهَ فَاتَّبِعُونِي
يُحِبِّكُمْ اللَّهُ (ال عمران ۳: ۳۱)

(Aal-e-Imran 3:31)

Here, the emulation of the example of the Prophet ﷺ has been declared unequivocally to be the criterion of love for Allah and if those who believe in the Qur'an were not bound to do so, as a matter of course, why should Allah have directed the Prophet to tell mankind to follow his example?

It is absurd to suggest that the words follow me in the above imply only this much that people should listen to the Qur'an the Prophet recited to them. Such a meaning of 'emulation' or 'taking after' or 'following in the steps' is not to be found in any language.

The phrase invariably denotes abidance by the conduct of someone and the modelling of one's life after his characteristic behaviour.

It should be apparent that believers in the Qur'an are not required to accept it in an abstract way, to interpret it according to their own lights and to act upon it as they may deem proper; but are called upon to believe in 'wisdom' also, side by side with the Qur'an, and to regard the Prophet ﷺ to be a perfect model for inspiration and imitation in all the domains of existence. It is, further, demanded of them not to seek to understand the Qur'an independently of the Prophet ﷺ but strictly in the light of his teachings and expositions.

We conclude that what the Holy Prophet ﷺ taught about the Qur'an, and the meanings he explained of it, and the 'wisdom' that was revealed to him by Allah, and his whole life, a complete record of which has been made available to us by the blessed ones who were fortunate enough to observe him from the closest quarters, are the things that are known as the Sunnah and Hadith, and their being worthy of acceptance, on the strength of authoritative pronouncements contained in the Book of Allah, implied, in other words, that the Qur'an held that the Sunnah and the Traditions must be believed in and observed in practice by all those who put their trust in it.

Another Qur'anic Proof of The Peremptoriness of the Traditions

Are the Traditions peremptory, conclusive and binding? Or, can a Muslim ignore or reject them? There is also another way of settling it which, again, has been shown by the Qur'an itself by making it obligatory for people to adhere to the path of the Believers." It says:

And who so opposeth the Messenger after the guidance (of Allah) hath been manifested unto him, and followeth other than the Believers' way, We appoint for him that unto which he himself hath turned, and

وَمَنْ يُشَاقِقِ الرَّسُولَ مِنْ بَعْدِ
مَا بَيَّنَّ لَهُ الْهُدَىٰ وَيَتَّبِعْ غَيْرَ سَبِيلِ
الْمُؤْمِنِينَ تُوَلِّهِ مَا تَوَلَّىٰ وَنُصْلِهِ
جَهَنَّمَ ۚ وَسَاءَتْ مَصِيرًا

expose him unto Hell- a hopeless journey's end! (Al Nisaa 4:115)

In the above verse, a stern warning has been administered to those who follow other than the Believers' way and they have been condemned as deserving of the penalty of Fire. It needs be ascertained, in this condition, what the 'Believers' way' was? Did they hold the sayings and doings of the holy Prophet ﷺ (i.e., Sunnah and the Traditions) to be conclusive as a source of law and regarded them as the guiding principles of life or not? When we turn to Islamic history and tradition to find out how the earliest Muslims conducted themselves in this regard the following incidents attract our attention.

(i) It is stated in *Tarikh-ul-Khulfa*¹ that whenever a dispute came up before Sayyidina Abu Bakr ﷺ he, first of all, looked into the Qur'an and decided the case accordingly, if he found it there. If he did not find it in the Qur'an, he referred to the practice of the Prophet ﷺ and decided the case accordingly. If he failed to find it there also, he enquired from the other Companions ﷺ about it, and if they informed him of any decision of the Prophet ﷺ in the matter he thanked Allah and decided accordingly. But if the Companions ﷺ failed to cite any decision of the Prophet ﷺ, Sayyidina Abu Bakr ﷺ collected the leaders of the people and sought their advice, and after they had arrived at an agreed decision, he decided according to it. On such an occasion Sayyidina Abu Bakr ﷺ used to exclaim:

"Praise be to Allah Who hath created among us men who remember the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ.

الْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ الَّذِي جَعَلَ فِيْنَا مَنْ
يُحْفَظُ عَنْ نَبِيِّنا

(ii) The first and most preplexing problem to arise after the death of the Prophet ﷺ was about his successor. The Companions ﷺ sought its solution, too, in the Sunnah of the Prophet ﷺ.

In books like Tabaq Ibn Sa'd and Tarikhul Khulfa, Sayyidina Ali ﷺ is reported to have said, "On the Prophet's ﷺ death we deliberated over the difficulty (i. e., the question of succession) and felt that in his life-time the Prophet ﷺ had appointed Abu Bakr ﷺ to lead the Salah (i.e., to function as Imam).² Hence, we chose for our world whom the Prophet ﷺ had chosen for our faith and made Abu Bakr ﷺ his successor."

It is, further related in Tarikhul Khulfa, on the authority of Ibn Masud, that on the death of the Prophet ﷺ the Ansars¹ were heard saying, "There should be one Amir (i.e., Leader) (i.e., the Mahajirs or emigrants)." Upon it, Sayyidina Umar ﷺ went to Ansars and said, "O Anasar! Don't you know that the Prohet ﷺ had appointed Abu Bakr ﷺ to lead the Salah? If you do, tell me who has the heart to take preedence over Abu Bakr ﷺ?, On hearing it, the eyes of the Ansars opened and they cried out vehemently,

We seek the refuge in Allah against taking precedence over Abu Bakr ﷺ. "

نَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ أَنْ نَتَقَدَّمَ أَبَا بَكْرٍ

In other words, when the Sunnah of Prophet ﷺ was brought to the knowledge of the Ansars, they were satisfied and accepted it whole-heartedly.

In the same book it is also stated that on the death of the Prophet ﷺ, Sayyidina Abu Bakr ﷺ addressed the following words to Sayyidina Sa'd ﷺ in the course of a public speech, "Sa'd! You know, you were present when the Prophet ﷺ had once said, 'Rule and authroity in this matter vests with the Quraish'." Sayyidina Sa'd replied at once, "You are right." We will be ministers and supporters and you will be the rulers (meaning when the Ansars were reminded of the Prophet's ﷺ utterance they gave up the idea of Caliphate)."

(iii) Another problem to arise on the death of the Prophet ﷺ was concerning his burial. There was a disagreement over the place where his body should be laid to rest, and it, too, was settled in accordance with the Traditions.

In the book mentioned above, as well as in some other books like Tarikh Kamil² it is stated that when the dispute arose, Sayyidina Abu Bakr ﷺ related that he had heard the Messenger of Allah say, "A Prophet is buried under (the roof of) the apartment of his in which he breathes his last." All the differences disappeared immediately after it and the Prophet ﷺ was buried, by general consent, in the sacred ground of the room in which he had died.

(iv) A most important event in the history of Islam is that of the compilation of the Qur'an. When it was suggested by Sayyidina Umar ؓ to Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ that the whole of the Qur'an should be put together and preserved between the two covers of a single volume, the latter initially hesitated.

"How can I undertake a task,"

he would say, again and again,

"Which the Prophet ﷺ himself did not take in hand?"

كَيْفَ أَفْعَلُ شَيْئًا لَمْ يَفْعَلْهُ رَسُولُ
اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

Later, when Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ was convinced, he wanted to assign the work to Sayyidina Zayd ibn Thabit ؓ. But he, too, was hesitant for the same reason. When, however, Allah caused him bosom to open up and brought certainty to his mind about the correctness of the stand taken by the two sheikhs (i.e Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ and Sayyidina Umar ؓ), he consented.

The object of narrating the above incidents here is to underline the fact that the holy companions ؓ habitually sought guidance from the Sunnah of the Prophet at each step.

(v) It is stated in Imam Maalik's Muwatta that the grandmother of a person who had died came to Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ and claimed her share in the property left behind by him. Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ said to her,

"Your claim is not established by the Qur'an and I am also not aware of anything in the Sunnah of the Prophet.... to support your claim. You should, therefore, go back at present so that I may enquire from other people."

مالك في كتاب الله شيء وما
علمت لك في سنة رسول الله
شيئاً فأرجعي حتى أسأل الناس

Afterwards, when he made the enquiry he was told by Sayyidina Mughirah ؓ that the Prophet ﷺ had in his presence awarded one-sixth of the deceased to his grandmother. Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ, then, asked him to bring a witness to support him in his narration, and Sayyidina Muhammad ibn Maslamah ؓ supported Sayyidina Mughirah ؓ. Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ, accepted the Hadith and allotted one-sixth of the legacy to the woman.

(vi) When the land of Parsis was annexed to the Islamic State, Sayyidina Umar ؓ was seized with the question whether *Jazyah*¹ could be levied on them or not (as in the Qur'an it is mentioned that Jazyah could be realised from the People of the Scripture alone which, in its terminology, applied only to the Jews and the Christians). It was only when Sayyidina Abdul Rahman ibn 'Auf ؓ testified that the Prophet ﷺ had realised Jazyah from the fire-worshippers of Hajr therefore Sayyidina Umar ؓ imposed it on the Parsis.

(vii) It is mentioned in Sahih Bukhari that once a person enquired from Sayyidina Ibn-e-Abbas ؓ if a woman gave birth to a child only forty days after the death of her husband would her *Iddat*² be deemed to have expired with it. Sayyidina Ibn-e-Abbas ؓ replied that the period of waiting will terminate at child-birth or completion of four months and ten days, whichever is later. Sayyidah Salamah رضي الله عنها and Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ were also present at that time. On hearing the decision of Sayyidina Ibn-e-Abbas ؓ, Sayyidina Abu Salamah ؓ pointed out that it was set forth in the Qur'an that:

وَأُولَاتِ الْأَحْمَالِ أَجَلُهُنَّ أَنْ يَضَعْنَ حَمْلَهُنَّ (الطلاق ٦٥: ٣)

What Sayyidina Abu Salamah intended to signify was that in the case at hand the period of waiting had ended. Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ, too, said that he agreed with the view of his nephew, Abu Salamah. Sayyidina Ibn-e-Abbas ؓ, then, sent his slave, Karib, to Sayyidah Umm-Salamah who, on learning about the nature of the case, remarked that:

"Sabree'a Aslamia was in the family way when her husband was martyred. Forty days after it, her child was born and offers of marriage began to come to her. The holy Prophet ﷺ, got her married."

- ①. A tax levied by the Islamic State on its non-muslims in subjects.
 - ②. The time of probation (four months and ten days) which a divorced or a widowed woman must wait before she can be re-married.

Commenting on it, Hafiz Ibn-e-Hajr writes: "It is said that Sayyidina Ibn Abbas ؓ changed his opinion as a result of it and it is also supported by the fact that the statement of his disciples is in accord with the view of the general body of Muslims."

The practice of the holy Companions ؓ to take recourse to the Sunnah of the Prophet ﷺ in the event of a difference of opinion or an apparent contradiction between two verses of the Qur'an is born out clearly by the above incidents.

(viii) Hostilities had been suspended, for a certain period of time, due to an agreement between the Roman Empire and Sayyidina Mu'awiyah ؓ. When the period of truce was about to expire, Sayyidina Mu'awiyah began to march with his army towards the enemy territory with the idea that he would not restart the war during the specified time but get close to the enemy and launch a sudden attack at the end of the stipulated period. One day Mu'awiyah saw a rider coming in his direction, calling out loudly: "Allah-u-Akbar! Allah-u-Akbar! The covenant is to be kept, not broken!" On a careful look, people discovered that he was a Companion of Messenger of Allah ﷺ named, Sayyidina Amr ibn 'Absa ؓ. Sayyidina Mu'awiyah ؓ asked him what was the matter. He replied, "I have heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say that when anyone entered into a covenant with a community he should not make an alteration in it till its time had expired or advance information had been given to the other party." Sayyidina Mu'awiyah ؓ, returned to the capital with his troops.

(ix) Once Sayyidina Umar ؓ set out for Syria from Madinah. On reaching the place called Sargh, he was informed by the commanders of the army that plague had broken out violently in that country. He consulted with the Muhajirs and Ansars accompanying him but divergent views were expressed. Some of them were in favour of returning while the others felt that it was out of the question for they had embarked on the journey in the cause of Allah. On seeing the disagreement, Sayyidina Umar ؓ asked them to leave and called for Quraishi Muhajrin Fath.¹ When they came, they unanimously supported the idea of going back. Sayyidina Umar ؓ consequently, decided to return but Sayyidina Abu Ubaidah ؓ did not agree. Sayyidina Umar ؓ and the others were caught in the dilemma when Sayyidina Abdur Rahman ibn 'Auf ؓ turned up. He had not participated in the consultation, and was, therefore, unaware of the problem. On being told about the difficulty, he observed, "I know a thing in this regard." "You are reliable and trustworthy. Tell us what you know," said Sayyidina Umar ؓ. Abdur Rahman ibn 'Auf ؓ said that he had heard the Prophet ﷺ say: "When you come to know that an epidemic is raging at some place do not go there. But if the epidemic breaks out at a place you live in do not move out of it with the intention of fleeing."

Upon it, the disagreement was removed and Sayyidina Umar ؓ returned to Madinah.

(x) In Tarikh Kamil, Tarikh Khulafa and other history books it is stated that on the death of Sayyidina Umar ؓ, Sayyidina Abdur Rahman ibn Auf ؓ and the rest of the Companions ؓ chose Sayyidina Uthman ؓ as the Caliph and took the vow of allegiance at his hand in these words:

We take the oath of allegiance at your hand on the condition that you will act in accordance with the Scripture (i.e., the Qur'an), the Sunnah of the Prophet ﷺ and the practice of the two earlier Caliphs."

نبايعك على كتاب الله وسنة

رسوله وسنة الخلفتين بعده

These ten examples are, in truth, a handful out of innumerable specimens. We could have cited any number of them but for a fair-minded person these should be enough. Taking them into account no one endowed with a sense of justice can deny that the confirmed practice of the earliest Muslims was to seek guidance from the Sunnah and the Traditions in all the walks of life.

Someone might suggest that the sources of the foregoing discussion on the Believers' way were treatises on history and Traditions that were written after the life time of the Companions ؓ, and therefore, reliance could not be placed upon them. It cannot be that the Qur'an, the injunction and command to believe and act on it remain in force but we cannot ascertain the Believers way. And continue to entertain such a notion is like denying the Qur'an and to suggest it as impracticable which, what to speak of a Muslim, no sane and educated non-believer would venture to suggest. As long as the path of following the Qur'an remains open, free access to the Believers' way will also be there and the means to obtain a complete knowledge of it will stay unchanged, and, if it is so, what other course can be possible for acquiring detailed informed regarding the practice of the earliest Muslims than to refer to the compilations of Traditions and books on *Tabaqat*¹, *Asma-al-Rijal*², history and life-record of the Prophet ﷺ?

To declare these sources of knowledge as unreliable, false and fictitious, would, as such, mean to shut the door of practical adherence to the Qur'an. Besides, the superiority Islam and Muslims enjoyed over all other faiths and religious communities would also be destroyed because it would necessarily show that the Muslims possessed no history nor were there any intellectual or practical attainments to their credit nor a dependable way of knowing about those achievements. Surely, no Muslim could accept that position.

How strange is the behaviour of some of the deniers of the Traditions in this respect that they believe history to be true but hold the Hadith to be untrustworthy although the historians neither care to indicate about each even as to how and through what sources they denied the knowledge nor observe the conditions prescribed and adopted by the Traditionists for testing the authenticity of those reports? Is it not ridiculous that chronological narratives of past events should be acceptable but not the standard collections of the Traditions while it is strictly laid down for their compilers that they must narrate in unbroken succession the sources through which each and every report of the sayings and doing of the Prophet ﷺ or events and circumstances relating to the Companions ﷺ came to their knowledge, and, further that these sources should be such that conclusive evidence of their veracity, fairness and reliability was available?

Further, to reject the Traditions as unreliable, despite solid and irrefutable proofs of their genuineness and authenticity, is to say that

- ❶. Dealing with the grades of the narrators of the Traditions as regards the chain of transmitters and general agreement.
 - ❷. Biography and criticism of the narrators of the Traditions.

their collectors and compilers have put down incorrect and imaginary reports, with spurious references and concocted chain of narrators, in their books. These critics and fault-finders should ask themselves whether no "genuine" Muslim was present at the time of the collection of Ahadith¹ who could challenge the fraud and condemn it.

Take Muwatta, for example. According to Abu Talib this volume of Traditions was compiled in 120 or 130 AH., i.e., 110 or 120 years after the death of the Prophet. Till about 13 or 23 years before its compilation venerable Companions who had the good fortune to have seen or heard the Prophet ﷺ directly were alive while the number of Tabi'een i.e., those who followed immediately the Companions and profited from their society, was legion. Leaving alone the Islamic territories of Hijaz, Syria, Egypt and Iraq, in Madinah itself, where the book (Muwatta) took shape, the Tabi'een were too many to be counted. We will give the names of a few:

Apart from the connection of instruction and training, the relative position in time of the Tabi'een in respect of the Prophet ﷺ was as obtains in the lineal order between the grandchildren and the grandfather. Thus, even if the bond of teaching and instruction did not exist, the people of that era should have got acquainted, in the normal course of things, with numerous details of the Prophet's ﷺ life as the grandchildren do about the character, habits and actions of their grandfather without making a deliberate effort.

Now, consider that at such a time and in such circumstances and in the presence of these people and, above all, at a place where the last ten years of the Prophet's ﷺ life were spent and there was hardly a home which had not come under his influence and bore an association with him, in one way or the other, a man by the name of Imam Maalik makes a collection of his sayings and reads them out openly, in that very town, and thousands of persons come from all over the Islamic World and listen to it and many of them also make out copies of it and take them home and transmit its contents to tens and thousands of men, yet not a single Muslim says that all these Traditions or a large part of them are false and fabricated.

Even if Imam Maalik was a liar could he have dared do such a thing in those circumstances, and supposing that he did go to that extent, was it possible that all the people of Madinah passively accepted the fabrication and remained silent spectators to the making of a fraudulent addition to Faith and its endless propagation?

(What is with you. How do you judge?) (Al Saffat, 37:154) مَا لَكُمْ كَيْفَ تَحْكُمُونَ (الصافات ٣٧: ١٥٤)

Imam Maalik, moreover, has indicated the names of the twenty-five aforementioned Tabi'een and of a few other Madinans as the sources who had related the Traditions to him. If it is accepted for argument's sake that the Imam had been guilty of falsehood and misrepresentation, these persons, who were alive at that time, would not have allowed him to get away with it.

In a word, to condemn Muwatta or the other standard compilations of the Traditions and their chain of transmitters as wholly inaccurate is not only the height of perdition but it also stupid and ignorant.

(And he for whom Allah has not made a light has no light).

(Al Noor 24:40)

وَمَنْ لَّمْ يَجْعَلِ اللَّهُ لَهُ نُورًا فَمَا لَهُ مِنْ نُورٍ

For that reason, no one before the current era ventured to make such a change. On the contrary, these collections have, from the time of their compilation, consistently been recognised as correct and authentic. A very large number of learned men have heard them from their seniors and also related them to others. Muwatta, too, was read out by Imam Maalik himself to nearly a thousand persons, as Shah Abdul Aziz Dehlavi says in his book entitled, Bustan-ul-Muhadditheen. Suyuti, also, in the Preface of Tanvir-ul-Hawalik has mentioned the names of about fifty persons who narrated Muwatta after hearing it directly from Imam Maalik. The process has been going on uninterruptedly up to the present time and people have been narrating it from those persons in the same way but on a much larger scale.

Against it, is hard to understand why people who want only to reject the Traditions do not realise that every living community instinctively wants to safeguard its heritage and does its utmost to preserve the relics and the memory of the attainments of its illustrious ancestors. Such being the case, how can it be that the Muslims who are the best of the peoples and distinguished in the world for their love of learning and other commendable qualities of mind and character did not take steps to preserve the life-record and sayings of, what to speak of others, their own Prophet ﷺ?

Besides, if there be no other authentic source of knowledge than the Qur'an and the reports of the sayings and doings of the Prophet ﷺ are rejected untrustworthy then the meaning and significance of many of the verses of the Qur'an itself will remain unclear and incomplete. For instance, it is set forth in the Qur'an:

So when Zayd had performed the necessary formality (of divorce) from her, We gave her unto thee in marriage.

فَلَمَّا قَضَى زَيْدٌ مِنْهَا وَطَرًا
رَوَّجْنَاهَا (احزاب ٣٣: ٣٤)

(Al Ahzab 33:37)

Can the full significance of this verse be appreciated without recourse to the Traditions and placing reliance upon them? Or, is it possible to know wholly from the Qur'an who Zayd was, who was his wife, and what did actually take place. To take up another verse. It reads:

He frowned and turned away because the blind man came unto him. What could inform thee but that he might grow (in grace)?

عَبَسَ وَتَوَلَّى أَنْ جَاءَهُ الْأَعْمَى،
وَمَا يَذُرُّكَ لَعَلَّهُ يَزْكَى

Can it be found out solely from the Qur'an who the blind man was and with whom was the Prophet ﷺ engaged in conversation at that time?

Likewise, once the whole stock of the Traditions is discarded as useless and unreliable what other way will be open to us for knowing the details of the events mentioned in the Qur'an concerning the battles of Ahzab, Hunain etc.?

Once again, we read in the Qur'an:

And when Allah promised you one of the two bands that it should be yours. (Al Anfal 8:7)

وَإِذْ يَعِدُكُمُ اللَّهُ إِحْدَى الطَّائِفَتَيْنِ
أَنَّهَا لَكُمْ (انفال ٨: ٤)

Can anyone tell simply from the Qur'an what the two bands were? Or, where can one find in it the promise that Allah recalls? If it is not contained in the Qur'an there must also be some other kind of revelations coming down to the Prophet ﷺ from Allah.

Or, the Qur'an says:

When ye were on the near bank and they were on the yonder bank, and the caravan was below you. (Al Anfal 8:42)

إِذْ أَنْتُمْ بِالْعُدْوَةِ الدُّنْيَا وَهُمْ
بِالْعُدْوَةِ الْقُصْوَى وَالرَّكْبُ أَسْفَلَ
مِنْكُمْ (انفال ٨: ٣٢)

Will any of the rejectors of the Traditions explain entirely from the Qur'an what all this is about? Where were the near and yonder banks situated and what was the caravan that is said to have been halting below?

The Qur'an, further, proclaims:

Allah hath given you victory on many fields. (Al Tawabah 9:25)

لَقَدْ نَصَرَكُمُ اللَّهُ فِي مَوَاطِنَ كَثِيرَةٍ
(توبه ۹: ۲۵)

After rejecting the Traditions is there any other source from which one can know about the many fields spoken of in the above verse?

In the same way, it is stated in the Qur'an:

If ye help him not, still Allah helped him when those who disbelieve drove him forth, the second of two: when they two were in the cave, when he said unto his comrade: Grieve not. Lo! Allah is with us.

(Al Tawbah 9:40)

From where was the Prophet driven out? Who was the other companion with him? In which cave were the two hiding? Can the Qur'an, by itself, answer these questions? And is there any other way of learning about it except from the Traditions?

A place of worship which was founded upon-duty (to Allah) from the first day is more worthy that thou shouldst stand (to pray) therein, wherein are men who love to purify themselves. (Al Tawabah 9:108)

لِمَسْجِدٍ أُسِّسَ عَلَى التَّقْوَى مِنْ أَوَّلِ يَوْمٍ أَحَقُّ أَنْ تَقُومَ فِيهِ فِيهِ رِجَالٌ يُحِبُّونَ أَنْ يَتَطَهَّرُوا (توبه ۹: ۱۰۸)

But, which place of worship? Who were the men to have been extolled in this verse? Surely, the Qur'an alone cannot furnish all the answers.

And, further:

And to the three also (did He turn in Mercy) who were left behind. (Al Tawbah 9:118)

وَعَلَى الثَّلَاثَةِ الَّذِينَ خَلَفُوا

(توبه ۹: ۱۱۸)

Who the three men were and what had happened to them? Why was their case left in abeyance? Can these facts be ascertained without referring to the Traditions of the Prophet?

The Qur'an, in the same manner, says:

And He brought those of the People of the Scripture who supported them down from their strongholds, and cast panic into their hearts. Some ye slew, and yet made captive some. And He caused you to inherit their land and their houses and their wealth, and land ye have not trodden.

(Al Ahzab 33:26-27)

وَأَنزَلَ الَّذِينَ ظَاهَرُوهُمْ مِنْ أَهْلِ
الْكِتَابِ مِنْ صَيَاصِيهِمْ وَقَذَفَ فِي
قُلُوبِهِمُ الرُّعْبَ فَرِيقًا تَقْتُلُونَ
وَتَأْسِرُونَ فَرِيقًا ۚ وَأَوْرَثَكُمْ
أَرْضَهُمْ وَدِيَارَهُمْ وَأَمْوَالَهُمْ
وَأَرْضًا لَمْ تَطْئُوهَا

Who were the demonstrators and where did their property lie? Which land were the Muslims caused to inherit though they had not set their feet on it? None of these points can, evidently, be explained if we reject the genuineness of the Traditions.

These are some of the examples taken at random. Many more instances of a like nature can be produced. The aim, however, is only to show that it is almost impossible to understand or explain the meaning of a large number of Qur'anic verses after discarding the Traditions as useless and unauthentic.

In short, believers in the Qur'an as a Divine Scripture must regard it as important to understand and follow it, at all times. They will also have to rely on and accept the reports of the sayings and doings of the Prophet ﷺ, which the Muslim scholars and Traditions have compiled after subjecting them to intensive scrutiny. A very large part of which forms a valuable explanatory supplement of the Qur'an.

Those who imagine that the Qur'an is the last word on Faith and no religious principle or instruction, of Shari'ah can be established from any other source should give a thought on the Qur'an itself as honest seekers of truth. Numerous religious acts or observances are mentioned in the Qur'an and carried out as a religious duty although no injunction was contained in the Qur'an about it. It will, therefore, have to be admitted that the command for it was given through the Sunnah. We will give only two examples of it here.

In Surah Taubah the Prophet ﷺ is commanded in these words to abstain from observing the funeral salah of the hypocrites:

And never (O Muhammad) pray for one of them (the Hypocrites) who dieth.

وَلَا تُصَلِّ عَلَى أَحَدٍ مِنْهُمْ مَاتَ
(توبه ٨٣: ٩) أَبَدًا

(Al Tawbah 9:84)

It shows that the funeral salah was being performed and the Prophet ﷺ used to offer prayers at the burial of the dead before the above verse was revealed though none of the verses revealed earlier can be cited to have enjoined upon the Prophet ﷺ and the Muslims the prayers for the dead. It will, therefore, have to be conceded that the relative command was given through the Sunnah.

Similarly, a reference is made to the Friday sermon in the following verse of surah Hajj in the course of a parable or a complaint.

But when they spy some merchandise or pastime they break away to it and leave you standing.

وَإِذَا رَأَوْا تِجَارَةً أَوْ لَهْوًا انْفَضُّوا
إِلَيْهَا وَتَرَكُوكَ قَائِمًا

Leaving, it aside, even the rejectors of the Traditions will, perhaps, not deny that the Friday sermon is a religious act, ordained by the Shari'ah which the Prophet ﷺ himself used to deliver and it has been going on like that in the Umma¹ without a break or interruption, but no Qur'anic verse can be quoted in which the command for it is given.

In addition to it, no one claiming to be a Muslim can say that the Azan² given before *salah*³ is not a religious act which has been observed ceaselessly among the Muslims from the time of the Prophet ﷺ, and, in the Qur'an, too, it has been mentioed once in the surah Maidah as a statement of the fact that the foolish disbelievers made of fun of Azan and imitated it contemptuously by making derisive gestures:

①. Followers of the Islamic Faith.

②. The summons to prayers

③. Regular worship offered up by the Muslims five times a day.

And when ye call to prayer they take it for a jest and sport.

(Al Maidah 5:58)

وَإِذَا نَادَيْتُمْ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ اتَّخَذُوهَا
هُزُوءًا وَلَعِبًا ذَلِكَ بِأَنَّهُمْ قَوْمٌ لَا
يَعْقِلُونَ
(مائده ٥: ٥٨)

At another another time, Surah Jumu'ah, in connection with another command:

When the call is heard for the prayer of the day of congregation, haste unto remembrance of Allah and leave your trading.

(Al Jumu'ah 62:9)

إِذَا نُودِيَ لِلصَّلَاةِ مِنْ يَوْمِ الْجُمُعَةِ
فَاسْعَوْا إِلَى ذِكْرِ اللَّهِ وَذَرُوا الْبَيْعَ
(جمعه ٩: ٦٢)

but though it is known from these verses that Azan was current among the Muslims as a religious practice before their revelation, not a single verse can be found in the Qur'an through which Azan may have been prescribed to the Believers. It is, thus, obvious that the command for Azan given not through the Qur'an but Sunnah.
Though whatever we have written should be enough. We add a final word of principle.

The True Place of The Prophet

In our view, the fundamental error made by the deniers of Sunnah and the Traditions is that they have not understood the true place and position of the Prophet ﷺ. If they ponder only over the Qur'an for a correct appreciation of the nature, duties and functions of the Prophet it will be clear that the station of the holy Prophet ﷺ is not merely that of the Messenger of Allah but he is also to be followed and obeyed explicitly; he is the master, the guide, the leader, the judge, the ruler, the arbiter, and, so on - and it is, again, in the Qur'an itself that the various capacities and functions of the Prophet ﷺ have been delineated.

(i) The Prophet is to be obeyed and the Believers are religiously bound to carry out his orders.

The following words have been addressed to the Muslims, from place to place, in the Qur'an¹:

①. Al Nisaa 4:59; Al Maidah 5:92; Al Noor 24:54; Muhammad 47:33;
Al Taghabun 64:12

Obey Allah, and obey the Messenger. (Al Noor 24:54)

أَطِيعُوا اللَّهَ وَأَطِيعُوا الرَّسُولَ

(النور ٢٤: ٥٤)

From the manner in which the twin commands of Obey Allah and Obey the Messenger have been expressed through two separate phrases any anyone with a feel of the Arabic language and idiom will readily concede that like the obedience of Allah, the obedience of the Prophet ﷺ, too, is permanently enjoined upon the Muslims as a religious obligation. It does not simply mean that the Scripture brought by the Prophet ﷺ and the precepts and injunctions contained in it should be believed in and followed for, in that case, it would have been needless to add the directive of Obey the Messenger to that of Obey Allah which had already been issued. In further elaboration of our point we will reproduce the under-mentioned verse from surah An Nisa:

And when it is said unto them:
come unto that which Allah hath revealed and unto the Messenger, but seest the hypocrites turn from thee with aversion. (Al Nisaa 4 :61)

وَإِذَا قِيلَ لَهُمْ تَعَالَوْا إِلَىٰ مَا أَنزَلَ

اللَّهُ وَإِلَىٰ الرَّسُولِ رَأَيْتَ الْمُنَافِقِينَ

يَصُدُّونَ عَنْكَ صُدُودًا

In it, two things have been spoken of, one immediately after the other. People are exhorted not only to come unto that which Allah hath revealed but unto the Messenger as well, and the way the two duties have been enjoined is enough to show that the rendering of obedience to the Prophet ﷺ stressed in the foregoing verses does not simply denote submission to the Scripture revealed to him by Allah but loyalty to the Prophet ﷺ is also a distinct and permanent requirement.

In the same Chapter it is further stated that the Messengers had been raised with no other object than that they should be obeyed and their commands carried out.

We sent no Messenger save that he should be obeyed by Allah's leave. (Al Nisaa 4:64)

وَمَا أَرْسَلْنَا مِنْ رَّسُولٍ إِلَّا لِيُطَاعَ

(نساء ٦٤: ٦٤)

بِأَذْنِ اللَّهِ

(ii) The Messenger are Guides and Leaders by the Command of Allah.

And We made them chiefs who guide by Our Command.

(Al Anbiyaa 21 : 73)

وَجَعَلْنَا لَهُمْ أَئِمَّةً يَهْدُونَ بِأَمْرِنَا

(انبیاء ۲۱: ۷۳)

(iii) The Holy Prophet ﷺ has also been ordained to the position of a Ruler and Arbitrator by Allah and it is a prerequisite of Faith for the Believers to refer their disputes to him for adjudication and accept his decision ungrudgingly.

But nay, by thy Lord, they will not believe (in truth) until they make thee judge of what is in dispute between them and find within themselves no dislike of that which thou decidest, and submit with full submission.

(Al Nisaa 4: 65)

فَلَا وَرَبِّكَ لَا يُؤْمِنُونَ حَتَّى
يُحْكَمَ مَوَكَّعًا فِيمَا شَجَرَ بَيْنَهُمْ ثُمَّ
لَا يَجِدُوا فِي أَنْفُسِهِمْ حَرَجًا مِمَّا
قَضَيْتَ وَيُسَلِّمُوا تَسْلِيمًا

And it becometh not a believing man or believing women, when Allah and His Messenger have decided an affair (for them), that they should (after that) claim any say in their affair. (Ahzab 33: 51)

وَمَا كَانَ لِمُؤْمِنٍ وَلَا لِمُؤْمِنَةٍ إِذَا
قَضَى اللَّهُ وَرَسُولُهُ أَمْرًا أَنْ يَكُونَ
لَهُمْ الْخِيَرَةُ مِنْ أَمْرِهِمْ

(احزاب ۳۳: ۳۶)

The saying of (all true) believers when they appeal unto Allah and His Messenger to judge between them is only that they say: We hear and we obey. And such are the successful. (Al Noor 24 :51)

إِنَّمَا كَانَ قَوْلَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ إِذَا دُعُوا
إِلَى اللَّهِ وَرَسُولِهِ لِيَحْكُمَ بَيْنَهُمْ أَنْ
يَقُولُوا سَمِعْنَا وَأَطَعْنَا (نور ۲۴: ۵۱)

All the above verses are emphatic on the point that the Muslims are bound by Faith to submit to the decision of the Prophet ﷺ in all matters and it is not open to them to wrangle about it.

(iv) Just as it is necessary for anyone's success and felicity that he submits to Allah, it is also imperative for him to obey the Prophet ﷺ. Conversely, as defiance of Allah is a grievous error and source of severe misfortune, so is the defiance of the Prophet ﷺ.

Whosoever obeyeth Allah and His Messenger, he verily hath gained a signal victory.

(Al Ahzab 33:71)

وَمَنْ يُطِيعِ اللَّهَ وَرَسُولَهُ فَقَدْ فَازَ
فَوْزًا عَظِيمًا (احزاب ٣٣: ٤١)

And whoso is rebellious to Allah and His Messenger, he verily goeth astray in error manifest.

(Al Ahzab 33:36)

وَمَنْ يُعْصِ اللَّهَ وَرَسُولَهُ فَقَدْ ضَلَّ ضَلَالًا مُبِينًا
(احزاب ٣٣: ٣٦)

Again, on the day the pagans will be cast into Hell they will feel sorrow for disobeying the Prophet ﷺ in the same way as they will repent having been disobedient to Allah.

On the day when their faces are turned over in the Fire they say: Oh, would that we had obeyed Allah and had obeyed His Messenger.

(Al Ahzab 33 : 66)

يَوْمَ تَقْلُبُ وُجُوهُهُمْ فِي النَّارِ
يَقُولُونَ يَلَيْتَنَا أَطَعْنَا اللَّهَ وَأَطَعْنَا
الرَّسُولَ (احزاب ٣٣: ٦٦)

At another place, it is set forth:

On that day those who disbelieved and disobeyed the Messenger will wish that they were level with the ground (i. e., became a part of the earth so that they could escape the chastisement).

(Al Nisaa 4 : 42)

يَوْمَئِذٍ يَوَدُّ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا وَعَصَوْا
الرَّسُولَ لَوْ تُسَوَّى بِهِمُ الْأَرْضُ

(النساء ٤: ٣٢)

The Muslims are warned not even to talk among themselves of disobedience towards the Prophet ﷺ.

O ye who believe! When ye conspire together, conspire not together for crime, wrongdoing and disobedience toward the Messenger.

(Al Mujadilah 58 : 9)

يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا إِذَا تَنَايَا جِيئْتُمْ
فَلَا تَنَاسَوْا جُورًا بِالْإِيمَانِ وَالْعُدْوَانِ
وَمَعْصِيَةِ الرَّسُولِ (مجادله ٥٨: ٩)

(v) The Muslims are enjoined to take whatever the Prophet ﷺ gives and abstain from whatever he forbids.

And whatsoever the Messenger giveth you, take it. And whatsoever he forbideth, abstain (from it).

(Al Hashr 59:7)

مَا آتَاكُمُ الرَّسُولُ فَخُذُوهُ وَمَا
نَهَاكُمْ عَنْهُ فَانْتَهُوا (حشر ٥٩: ٧)

Even if the above verse is supposed to apply only to worldly goods it severs our purpose for, at least, it makes it clear that whatever the Prophet ﷺ may deal out of his free will is worthy of acceptance to the Believers without the least hesitation or objection.

(vi) The Prophet has a greater claim on the life of the Believer than the Believer himself.

The Messenger has a greater claim on the lives of the believers than (the believers) themselves. (Al Ahzab 33 : 6)

النَّبِيُّ أَوْلَىٰ بِالْمُؤْمِنِينَ مِنْ أَنفُسِهِمْ

(احزاب ٣٣ : ٦)

Commenting on this verse, Shah Waliullah remarks: "The Prophet ﷺ is the vicegerent of Allah and enjoys greater power and freedom in the matter of the life and property of the Believers than the Believers themselves. It is not permitted to the Believer to jump into the blazing fire but if the Prophet ﷺ commands him (to do so) it becomes a religious duty."

(vii) To please the Prophet along with Allah is an essential condition of Faith.

Allah with his Messenger hath more right that they should please Him if they are believer (Al Tawbah 9:62)

وَاللَّهُ وَرَسُولُهُ أَحَقُّ أَنْ يُرْضَوْهُ إِنَّ

كَانُوا مُؤْمِنِينَ (توبه ٩ : ٦٢)

(viii) Like the love for Allah, the love for the Prophet ﷺ, too, should be stronger than attachment to all the things of the world. Those who fail in it are wrongdoers and shall remain devoid of Divine Guidance.

Say: If your fathers, and your sons, and your brothers, and your wives, and your tribe, and the wealth ye have acquired, and merchandise for which ye fear that there will be no sale, and dwellings ye desire are dearer to you than Allah and His Messenger and striving in His way: then wait till Allah bringeth His command to pass.

قُلْ إِنْ كَانَ آبَاؤُكُمْ وَأَبْنَاؤُكُمْ
وَأَخْوَانُكُمْ وَأَزْوَاجُكُمْ وَعَشِيرَتُكُمْ
وَأَمْوَالٌ اقْتَرَفْتُمُوهَا وَتِجَارَةٌ
تَخْشَوْنَ كَسَادَهَا وَمَسَاكِينُ
تَرْضَوْنَهَا أَحَبَّ إِلَيْكُمْ مِنَ اللَّهِ
وَرَسُولِهِ وَجِهَادٍ فِي سَبِيلِهِ
فَتَرْتَضَوْا حَتَّىٰ يَأْتِيَ اللَّهُ بِأَمْرِهِ وَاللَّهُ

Allah guideth not wrong-doing folk.
(Al Tawbah 9 : 24)

لَا يَهْدِي الْقَوْمَ الْفَاسِقِينَ

(توبه ٩: ٢٤)

(ix) It is the duty of the Believer to respond at once when the Prophet ﷺ calls him for anything

O ye who believe: Obey Allah, and the Messenger when He calleth you to that which quickeneth you. (Al Anfal 8 : 24)

يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا اسْتَجِيبُوا لِلَّهِ وَلِلرَّسُولِ إِذَا دَعَاكُمْ لِمَا يُحْيِيكُمْ

(انفال ٨: ٢٤)

(x) It does not become the Believer to go away without taking the Prophet's ﷺ leave when he summons him for a common business, otherwise, there is for him the apprehension of a dreadful penalty.

They alone are the true believers who believe in Allah and His Messenger and, when they are with him on some common errand, go not away until they have asked leave of him.
(Al Noor 24 : 62)

إِنَّمَا الْمُؤْمِنُونَ الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا بِاللَّهِ
وَرَسُولِهِ وَإِذَا كَانُوا مَعَهُ عَلَى أَمْرٍ
جَامِعٍ لَمْ يَذْهَبُوا حَتَّى يَسْتَأْذِنُوهُ

(النور ٢٤: ٦٢)

Preceding, the Qur'an warns those who do not observe this command and slip away without the Prophet's ﷺ permission in these words:

And let those who conspire to evade orders beware lest grief or pain ful punishment befall them.
(Al Noor 24 : 63)

فَلْيَحْذَرِ الَّذِينَ يُخَالِفُونَ عَنْ أَمْرِهِ
أَنْ تُصِيبَهُمْ فِتْنَةٌ أَوْ يُصِيبَهُمْ

(النور ٢٤: ٦٣)

The station of the Prophet ﷺ and the nature and significance of his mission forms a permanent subject of study. Much more can be written on it than we have attempted and hundreds of Qur'anic verses can be cited. We will, however, bring the present discussion to a close with the observation that when it is established beyond doubt from the Qur'an that the Prophet ﷺ is the leader, the guide, the ruler, the master, the judge, the arbiter etc., it follows automatically that whole-hearted compliance with his commands, instructions, decisions and pronouncements in respect of religion, whether they are of a positive or a negative character, is an essential condition of faith.

During his life-time the Prophet ﷺ was accepted in the same capacity by the Ummat and the same significance was attached to his sayings and good example. The holy Companions ؓ who had seen and heard him personally took exceptional pains to maintain and preserve the entire record of his sayings and doings and they handed it down to the succeeding generations with utmost care and conscientiousness. Later, in the subsequent decades, the Almighty Creator granted to the best and most meritorious members of the Ummat the great good fortune to compile and arrange, examine and study, criticise and evaluate, learn and teach, translate and explain and preserve and propagate the stupendous mass of the Sunnah and Ahadith, and to develop various branches of learning pertaining to it and serve the cause in a hundred other ways which in its marvellousness has not been equalled by any other community¹. Owing to it, though more than fourteen hundred years have elapsed since the passing away of the blessed Prophet ﷺ, the radiance of his sayings and good example is still with us to guide the steps of the seekers of truth as it was during the earliest phase of Islam.

The Divine arrangement for the preservation of the teachings of the Prophet ﷺ was, in fact, necessary after the termination of the glorious order of Messengers. When no Messenger of Allah was going to be raised up after Prophet Muhammad ﷺ till the Last Day, and he was to function as the Divine Messenger up to the end of time, it was essential that his precepts, maxims, exhortations and good example remained intact in the world in their entirety, unchanged and unpolluted, as long as the human race endured on earth so that people could derive the same inspiration and enlightenment from them as those who were blessed enough to affirm faith in him did from his luminous personality during his own time. Today no antagonist or habitual fault-finder can deny that such an arrangement from the Cherisher and Sustainer of the Worlds has consistently been holding good for the last fourteen centuries and we firmly believe that it shall continue to be so in time to come, and, out of His Infinite Mercy, Allah will not cease to produce men who will be ready to serve the lofty designs and purpose whenever and in whatever way it is needed.

M'aarif-ul-Hadith,¹ which it has happily fallen to the lot of my friend, Maulana Muhammad Manzoor Nomani, to write, is a recent contribution and a new act of service in the line.

Instead of offering a formal comment on the merit of the book, I shall end the Introduction, with the prayer that Allah may bestow His kind acceptance upon the Mualana's endeavour and make it helpful and beneficial for His bondsmen and enable him to complete the remainig volumes of the series in good time.

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

In the name of Allah, the Compassionate, the Merciful

الحمد لله وسلام على عباده الذين اصطفى

Praise belongs to Allah, and peace be on His chosen slaves.

While indicating the ends and objects of the raising up of the Prophet Muhammad as the Apostle, the Qur'an has specifically mentioned four things (i) Recital of Revelations; (ii) Teachings of Scripture: (iii) Teaching of Wisdom; (iv) Purification of soul.

He it is Who hath sent among the unlettered ones a Messenger of their own, to recite unto them His revelations and to make them grow, and to teach them the Scripture and Wisdom, though heretofore they were indeed in error manifest. (Al Jumu'ah 62 :2)

Even as We have sent unto you a Messenger from among you, who reciteth unto you Our revelations and causeth you to grow, and teacheth you the Scripture Wisdom, and teacheth you that which ye knew not. (Al Baqarah 2: 151)

هُوَ الَّذِي بَعَثَ فِي الْأُمِّيِّينَ رَسُولًا
مِّنْهُمْ يَتْلُوا عَلَيْهِمْ آيَاتِهِ وَيُزَكِّيهِمْ
وَيُعَلِّمُهُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ وَإِنْ
كَانُوا مِن قَبْلُ لَفِي ضَلَالٍ مُّبِينٍ

(الجمعة ٦٢: ٢)

كَمَا أَرْسَلْنَا فِيكُمْ رَسُولًا مِّنْكُمْ
يَتْلُوا عَلَيْكُمْ آيَاتِنَا وَيُزَكِّيكُمْ
وَيُعَلِّمُكُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ
وَيُعَلِّمُكُم مَّا لَمْ تَكُونُوا تَعْلَمُونَ

The mission of Prophet Muhammad ﷺ comprised of these four departments. Just as the Prophet ﷺ gave to the world a new Scripture and a new knowledge and wisdom, in the same way he bestowed upon it a new morality and a new Faith, a new devotion and eagerness, a new magnanimity and highmindedness, a new spirit of self-abnegation and solicitude for the Hereafter, a new notion of contentment and asceticism and a new concept of indifference to worldly goods and glory, a new ideal of love, kindness and compassion, a new joy of worship and a new wealth of divine fear, repentance and supplication. On these foundations was built the Islamic society and the moral and spiritual environment evolved which is commonly known as the Era of the Prophet and the Companions. The Companions ﷺ were the finest specimens and most admirable representatives of the aims and effects of the raising up of the sacred Prophet ﷺ. One should look at this august body of the aforementioned departments of Messengership in everyday life.

The raising of the holy Prophet ﷺ and his teachings and precepts were the fountainhead of these blessings and the whole structure of life, both individual and collective, in the First Century of Islam, originated from them. But if a study in depth was made of how it all came about and its ways and means were analysed, it would appear that the essential elements and basic formulative factors of that marvellous revelation were three:

- (i) The personality of the Prophet ﷺ
- (ii) The holy Qur'an
- (iii) The sayings and sermons and teachings and exhortations of the Prophet.

These factors, as a little thought will show, lie behind the complete manifestation of the ends and effects of the Messengership of the holy Prophet ﷺ. They have played a decisive role in the making of the new Ummah. An ideal society, a perfect life and a collective design could not come into existence without them. Life is a pre-requisite of life. In our world, lamp is lit by lamp. The true Islamic morality which is found side by side with faith and action in the lives of the Companions ﷺ and their faithful successors, and the attendant lofty idealism and deep religious feeling were not due, simply, to the recital of the Scripture but had also been infused and instilled by the most inspiring and lovable personality of the Prophet ﷺ that was present before them all the time and from whose company, guidance and utterances they used continuously to profit. The typical spirit and disposition of Islam in which there was not only the legal compliance of command and injunctions but, also, the incentives to act upon them, and the softer values of life and refined oral instincts went along with strenuousness of orderly conduct came to be moulded by the assemblage of all these influences.

The Companions ﷺ had received the command to establish salah from the Qur'an and, also, heard the critical explanation of:

who are humble in their

الَّذِينَ هُمْ فِي صَلَاتِهِمْ خَاشِعُونَ

but, it was only when they had offered salah with the Prophet ﷺ and observe the state of his ruku and sajda that they realised its true significance. They had learnt from the Qur'an that salah was a most favourite act with the Believers, but until they had heard the Prophet ﷺ say, "the coolness of my eyes lies in salah, and

"O Bilal! give the call of salah and bring comfort to my heart," they had no idea of the yearning and ardency. Likewise, up to the time that they had heard the Prophet ﷺ say,

أَرْضِي يَا بِلَالُ

"Their hearts remain in the mosque when they go out of it and they have no peace till they

وَقُلُوبُهُ مَعْلُوقٌ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ حَتَّى

يَعُودَ إِلَيْهِ

they could not appreciate the reality of the bond obtaining between the mosque and the truthful Believer's spirit. They had repeatedly read in the Qur'an the exhortation to beseech the Lord for their needs and, also, heard that He was displeased with those who did not supplicate to Him but its real purport and substance dawned upon them only when they had heard the Prophet ﷺ say to Allah in the field of Badr, with his forehead placed on the sand,

O Allah! I beg Thee in the name of Thy promise and Thy covenant. O Allah! If Thou decidest to destroy these handful of men, Thou shalt not be worshipped.'

اَللّٰهُمَّ اَنْشِذْكَ عَهْدَكَ
وَوَعْدَكَ اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنْ شِئْتَ لَمْ تَعْبُدْ and noticed the state of extreme distress and anxiety that had led Sayyidina Abu Bakr exclaim, "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! It is enough." They knew that the life-breath of supplication was humbleness and an entreaty was precious to the extent to which it possessed that attribute, but the meaning of humbleness were revealed to them only when they had heard the Prophet ﷺ implore the Lord in these words:

اَللّٰهُمَّ اَنْك تَسْمَعُ كَلَامِي وَتَرَى مَكَانِي وَتَعْلَمُ سِرِّي وَعِلَانِيَّتِي لَا يَخْفَى
عَلَيْكَ شَيْءٌ مِنْ اَمْرِي وَاَنَا الْبَائِسُ الْفَقِيرُ الْمُسْتَغِيثُ الْمُسْتَجِيرُ الْوَجَلُ
الْمَشْفُقُ الْمَقْرُ الْمَعْتَرِفُ بِذَنْبِي، اَسْأَلُكَ مَسَالَةَ الْمَسْكِينِ وَابْتِهَالُ الْيَك
ابْتِهَالُ الْمَذْنُبِ الذَّلِيلِ وَاَدْعُوكَ دَعَاءَ الْخَائِفِ الضَّرِيرِ وَدَعَاءَ مَنْ خَضَعَتْ
لَكَ رَقَبَةً وَفَاضَتْ لَكَ عَبْرَتَهُ وَذَلَّ لَكَ جِسْمَهُ وَرَغِمَ لَكَ اَنْفَهُ اَللّٰهُمَّ لَا
تَجْعَلْنِي بِدَعَائِكَ شَقِيًّا وَكُنْ لِي رَوْفًا رَحِيمًا. يَا خَيْرَ الْمُسْتَوَلِينَ وَيَا خَيْرَ
الْمُعْطِينَ

"Oh Lord! Thou heareth what I say and seeth wherever I am in whatever state. Thou knowest what is secret and what is manifest in me, and naught concerning me is concealed from thee. I am in distress, a beggar. I beg Thee for succour and protection. Thy fear is gripping me. I confess my sins; I supplicate to Thee like a poor, helpless suppliant; I beseech Thee like a wretched sinner; I implore Thee like an inflicted, awe struck slave-a slave whose head may be bowed before Thee, whose tears may be flowing in Thy presence and whose body may be bent in utter submission; a slave who may be lying prostrate on the ground, begging, imploring and crying his heart out with nose rubbing the earth. O Lord! Do not reject my prayer; have mercy on me. O Thou the Best of Givers and Noblest of Helpers."

They had read in the Qur'an about the transitoriness of this world and the permanence of the Hereafter and knew by heart the verse,

This life of the world is but a pastime and a game. Lo! the home of the Hereafter- that is life. (Al Ankaboot 29:64)

وَمَا هَذِهِ الْحَيَاةُ الدُّنْيَا إِلَّا لَهْوٌ وَلَعِبٌ وَإِنَّ الدَّارَ الْآخِرَةَ لَهِيَ
الْحَيَاةُ (العنكبوت ٢٩:٦٤)

but gained a full mental grasp of its practical implicatins purely from the life of the Prophet and it was only by observing his way of living and the circumstances of extreme hardship and poverty in which the members of his family passed their days that they felt what was meant by future existence being he real existence and how did they and their families subsist who believed in,

"O Allah! There is no joy other than the joy of Futurity."¹

اللَّهُمَّ لَا عَيْشَ إِلَّا عَيْشَ الْآخِرَةِ

When with this trenchant exhortation and practical life-pattern they heard the details of the boons and blessings of Paradise and endless tortures of Hell from the Prophet ﷺ, a unique feeling of fear mingled with eagerness was produced in their hearts and the picture of both the ultimate resting places remained permanently drawn before their mind's eye.

Similarly, they were well-informed of the import of moral virtues like compassion, humility, politeness and good manners, but the full range of their meaning and their application in practical life was clear to them only when they had witnessed the tender-hearted behaviour of the sacred Prophet ﷺ towards the orphan, the weak and the indigent and towards his own friends, Companions ﷺ, family members and domestic servants and heard his advice and admonition in that regard. They had received the command from the Qur'an to fulfil the rights of the Muslims, in general, but its numerous forms like caring for the sick, participating in the funerals and making the prayer of welfare for the one who sneezed were such that people, for the most part, could not conceive of them on their own, or, at least, appreciate their significance. Again, the Qur'an has stressed the need to whom kindness to the parents and to others who have a claim upon us but how many moral teachers could have thought of the lofty standard set in the Tradition that reads:

①. Kitabur Riqaq in this Book

"An excellent grade of dutifulness and showing kindness to one's father is that a person sends presents to friends of his parents and treats them with affection after the death of the parents."

(٤١٦) إِنْ مِنْ أَبَرِّ الْبَرِّ الرَّجُلُ
أَهْلَ وَدِّ أَبِيهِ بَعْدَ أَنْ يُوَلِّيَ

Or, who could have attained the level of nobility of social conduct indicated in the Tradition

"Often it happened that when a goat was slaughtered in the Prophet's ﷺ house, he would have it cut into pieces and sent them to the ladies who were the friends of his deceased wife Khadijah?"

From these few examples drawn from the reports of the Prophet's ﷺ sayings and doing appertaining to moral disposition and social conduct one can imagine the depth and comprehensiveness of the guidance the Traditions furnish in the various departments of life and realise what a wonderful treasure-house of knowledge and instruction do they make for humanity.

On the other hand, the history of religions conclusively shows that mere legislation is not enough to give rise to a deed in its true spirit or create the atmosphere that is needed to make it effective and purposeful. For instance, the brief command to establish salah cannot produce the inner feeling which is conducive to the preservation of its form and essence, the cultivation of the habit to observe it regularly and the attainment of the desired moral, mental and spiritual results. For it, rules proprieties are required that lend grandeur and vitality to the act. The commands of ablution, cleanliness, understanding, humbleness, calmness and congregation have been given in the Qur'an for that very reason. But the proper climate for the realisation of the moral, spiritual and collective benefits of salah will evidently, be generated in proportion to additions made, within the realm of practicability, to the external arrangements, rules and formalities. The students of the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ and his biography will be aware that this utterances and exhortations have strengthened and reinforced them so admirably that salah has become a most efficacious means of self-purification, moral uplift and sincere devotion to Allah as well as of the training and disciplining of the ummat and giving it a true sense of solidarity. The superiority of wudu (ablution) and of the precise formulation of the intention to perform it, the superiority of going to the mosque and of each step taken in that direction, of the prayer of the way, of the correct manner of entering it, of salutation of the mosque and of waiting for the service to begin, the reward on congregation, Azan and Iqama, the superiority of the position of the Imam and the stress on following him strictly, the obligation to keep the rows straight, the superiority of holding sessions of teaching and instruction in the mosque and of people sitting together and reciting the Names, Praises, and Attributes of Allah, the proper way of coming out of the mosque and the prayer for the occasion etc., etc., have, for instance, enhanced manifold the solemnity and splendour of salah. Add to it the state of the Prophet's salah, his enthusiasm for the supererogatory prayers, the incidents of his absorption in the recitation of the Qur'an and of bursting into tears during it, as preserved in the Traditions, and imagine what a high degree of excellence the salah of the Ummat acquires owing to them. We can conclude similarly about the other obligatory duties of fasting, zakah and the hajj and judge for ourselves how far they can retain their effectiveness and ability to stir the deepest feelings of reverence and eagerness and bring about a new society inspired with the spirit of worship, piety and earnest repentance if they are shorn of these virtues and proprieties, cut off from the events and incidents from the life of the Prophet ﷺ and isolated from the atmosphere the Traditions provide for them.

The life, sayings and practices of the Prophet ﷺ the collection of the reports of which is called the Hadiths and the Sunnah - provide the climate in which Faith thrives and bears fruit. Religion is not the name of a wooden, soulless ethical code or collection of laws. It cannot exist without warmth of feeling, solid facts and practical examples. The best and most authentic assemblage of these is the one that is related to the personality of the Prophet ﷺ and derived from the history of his life. Judaism and Christianity as well as the other Asian faiths soon lost their inner vitality and became weak and decrepit because they did not possess reliable records of the sayings and practices of their Prophets عليهم السلام, and the surrounding influence that enabled the adherents to grow morally and spiritually and withstand the onslaughts of godless materialism was not available to them. They, ultimately, tried to fill the void with the life-accounts of saints and holy men and their sayings and sermons but succeeded only in reducing the religion to a collection of rituals, ingenious interpretations and innovations. The bankruptcy of these faiths in respect of the records of the lives of their Prophets ﷺ is a historical reality on which a great deal has, already, been written. An incontrovertible proof of Islam being the last and eternal Faith is that such a tragedy has never occurred to it. The intellectual and spiritual environment in which the Companions رضي الله عنهم lived and operated has been wholly preserved for posterity through the Traditions. It is, as such, quite possible for a person belonging to the succeeding generations to break away from his own surroundings and begin to live in an environment in which the Prophet ﷺ himself is present - he is speaking to the Companions رضي الله عنهم and they are listening to him attentively, forms of action are seen side by side with precepts and episodes of feeling along with forms of action. From the Traditions one can realise what kind of deeds and moral Faith gives rise to and what design of life belief in the Hereafter brings into being. These are the windows through which the family life of the Prophet ﷺ, his home, the way he spent his nights and the moral, cultural and economic standard of living of the members of his household can be viewed completely; the state of his genuflection can be seen with the eyes and the melody of his prayers heard with the ears. How, then, can the eyes which see him shedding tears and his feet swelling up (due to long stretches of standing in prayers) and the ears that hear him protesting should he not be a grateful bondsman of Allah be guilty of negligence? How can they be in doubt about the worthlessness of the material world and remain unmoved by the call of asceticism who see that fire is not lit in the Prophet's ﷺ house for months, that a stone is tied to his stomach to subdue the pangs of hunger and marks are left on his back due to sleeping on the coarse mat of date-palm leaves? Who can remain heedless of the life of the Hereafter being a witness to the fact that the remainder of the gold meant for charity is spent eagerly in the way of Allah before retiring for the night or the oil for the lamp is borrowed from a neighbour during the Prophet's ﷺ last illness? Where will one go for taking a lesson in nobility of mind and character and perfection of humanity who has seen the Prophet ﷺ lending a hand to the members of his family and showing affection to his children, lenience to his servants, kindness to his Companions ﷺ and forbearance to the enemies?

Not only is the door of the Prophet's ﷺ apartment open through which all this can be seen but, also, the doors of the houses of his blessed Companions ﷺ, and everything—the mode and manner of their living, the burning of their hearts and the ardour of their nights, their activities in the market-place and serenity and composure in the mosque, their devoutness, self-restraint and implicit surrender to Allah and even their human weaknesses — is exposed to view. Here, the glorious incident of Abu Talha Ansari's ﷺ self-denial meets the eye as well as the unfortunate episode of Ka'b ibn Malik ﷺ staying away from the battle of Tabook. In fine, it is such a natural environment that life is present in it with all its reality and diversity and the Traditions have preserved it for eternity by painting a vivid picture of it, to the minutest detail.

The preservation of a thorough and authentic description of the age of the Prophet ﷺ along with the Qur'an is an achievement of the Muslims the like of which cannot be found in the annals of any other religion or community. A faith that has to endure till the end of time and supply sustenance to the heart and mind and provide correct incentives to thought and action cannot be expected to fulfil its destiny without the environment in which it had blossomed up and that environment has been made safe by means of the Traditions.

The history of the collection and compilation of the Traditions distinctly shows that it was not a chance occurrence. The paying of attention by the Companions ﷺ to the writing down of the Traditions in the Prophet's ﷺ own lifetime and the preservation of a large part of the narratives by them and the continuance of the task by their immediate successors, the hurrying along of thousands of scholars from Iran, Khorasan and Turkestan and their phenomenal memory, earnestness and dedication to the cause of the Traditions, the coming up of redoubtable masters of Asma-ur-Rijal in the science of narration with their single minded attachment, and, finally, the inclination of the Ummat as a whole, towards the Traditions and the popularity and propagation of this branch of knowledge in the whole of the Islamic world go to prove that like the preservation of the Qur'an, the preservation of the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ, too, was an act of Allah. It was decreed by the Almighty that the reports of the sayings and practices of the Prophet ﷺ were compiled and made safe forever. The continuity and perpetuation of the "blessed life" (of the Prophet) was made possible by it, and the moral, spiritual and intellectual heritage the Companions ﷺ had received directly kept on reaching the Ummat during the entire cause of its history. Thus, the process of "inheritance" continued not only as regards beliefs and commands but also feeling a disposition and the mental and emotional character of the Companions ﷺ was duly transmitted from one generation or class to another. In the long and chequered history of the Ummat this frame of mind did not become extinct even for a brief period of time. There have always been found men in it who can be said to possess the nature and disposition of the Companions ﷺ. The same fondness for worship, the same devoutness and piety, the same constancy and steadfastness, the same humility and self-introspection, the same detachment to the material world and earnest anxiety for the life to come, the same keenness for sanctioning what is legitimate and forbidding what is unlawful, the same revulsion against an innovation and eagerness to follow the way of the Prophet ﷺ is evident in them which was the characteristic of the holy Companions ﷺ. It, doubtlessly, is the outcome of the study of the Traditions and attachment to them or of keeping the company of those who had received light from that source. This mental and emotional legacy of the Ummat has maintained its course from the First Century of Islam down to the modern materialistic age. From Sufyan Suri, Abdullah ibn Mubarak and Imam Ahmad Hambal to Maulana Fazlur Rehman Ganj Moradabadi, Maulana Rasheed Ahmed Gangohi and Maulana Syed Abdullah Ghaznavi, we have an unbroken chain of its glowing symbols and as long as the stock of the Traditions remains intact and the practice of obtaining instruction and inspiration from it endures, the true character and temperament of the Ummat in which solicitude for the Hereafter predominates the attachment to the present world and spiritually takes precedence over materialism and confirmed practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ transcends local customs and traditions will survive and it will never allow the Muslims, as a whole, to fall a victim to downright materialism and descend lower and lower into the bottomless pit of innovation, worldliness and denial of the life of the Hereafter. On the contrary, under its influence, reformatory movements will take their rise regularly, the process of renovation will go on and there will always be some 'deep-hearted men striving to the utmost for the glory of the Sunnah and the Shari'ah.

Those who seek to deprive the Ummat of this springhead of guidance and vitality do not realise what a grievous dis-service they are doing to Faith. They do not know that their efforts can only lead to making the Ummat rootless and insolvent from within in the same way as the enemies of Judaism and Christianity or the vagaries of time have played havoc with those great religions. If they are doing it deliberately, no one can be a greater enemy of Islam than them, for there is no other way now to revive and recreate the moral and spiritual character that was the grand peculiarity of the Companions ﷺ.

In India the translation and compilation of the Traditions has been going on along with the translation of the Qur'an. As far as we know, here, Sheikh Abdul Haq Mohaddis Dehlavi was the first to translate Mishkaat into Persian which was published under the title of Ashi'a'atul Lam'aat. After Persian had ceased to be the language of literary expression in our country, Maulana Khurram Ali Bilhoury, perhaps, produced the first translation and commentary in Urdu of Imam Saghfani's wellknown work, Mashariq-ul-Anwaar which was called Tohfatul Akhyar. Soon afterwards, Nawab Qutubuddin Khan, a disciple of the family of Shah Waliullah, translated Mishkaat into Urdu with necessary notes and comments, called Mazahir-ul-Huq, which became very popular. It was followed by several compilations of the Traditions in Urdu, the most notable being Maulana Muhammad Ibrahim Aarwi's Tareeq-ul-Najat.

In our time, Maulana Badr Alam is doing the most valuable work in Urdu on the Traditions. Three volumes of his treatise, Tarjumanul Sunnah, have already been published. It is a book of such a high standard that its study will be profitable even for savants and scholars.

Need, however, was still felt of a book on the Traditions for the average reader which was written with an awareness to the questions that often arise in the minds concerning the Traditions today. Evidently, such a task could be undertaken only by one who besides possessing a through knowledge of Faith, was also blessed with a firm and unshakable faith in transcendental truths. It, further, was essential for him to be in touch with contemporary intellectual and spiritual trends and movements.

The distinguishing mark of the mission of the Prophet ﷺ is made up of two aspects; correction of the relationship between man and Allah, and stabilising the relationship.

Before he was commissioned as Prophet, the relationship had been broken. Evil customs were practices and man indulged in all sorts of wicked deeds in every field of his life. He had forgotten the attributes of Allah altogether or bestowed them on fellow creatures. The result was manifest idol-worship and polytheism.

Where traces were found of the relationship, there was no proper way to develop it. The first achievement of the Prophet ﷺ was to correct the relationship through the awareness and untrain belief. He brought it out from behind the numerous curtains that had concealed it. He developed it so perfectly that there remained only one voice: الا لله الدين الخالص. The result was that apart from the perpetual hard-hearted rejection and arrogance there was no possibility left for misunderstanding and wrong conduct.

This was the correction of the relationship between man and Allah; the worshipper and the worshipped. Then, he strengthened it and put it in order through Shari'ah, a set of Islamic laws.

His second achievement was to give the relationship a stability and durability. There was no proper link with the Worshipped and

He was not known as He should have been. Only a vague idea persisted, and He was remembered only on festivals when supplication was made to Him. Whole communities conducted themselves in this way and those who were religious were a few countable number who remembered Allah on all occasions and knew Him to be omnipresent Who heard them and solved their problems.

It is the Prophet's ﷺ achievement that he turned the weak shadowy relationship into a reality, the deed that was done rarely into a continuous occupation and an everyday affair. Now, it became as necessary for a Believers as water and air. Those who were described as :

لَا يَذْكُرُونَ اللَّهَ إِلَّا قَلِيلًا (النساء ٣: ١٣٢)

came under the description:

الَّذِينَ يَذْكُرُونَ اللَّهَ قِيَامًا وَقُعُودًا وَعَلَىٰ جُنُوبِهِمْ (ال عمران ٣: ١٩١)

Those who called upon Allah only in extreme hardship became men who forsook their beds in the nights to remember Allah. They who found mention of Allah difficult and unnatural became men who found it very painful if they had to forget Allah or give up His remembrance for a while. Those who were like birds in cage when they had to worship and remember Allah became like fish out of water if they were prevented from zikr (mention of Allah) and supplication.

The Prophet ﷺ employed two means to stabilise and give permanence to the relationship between worshipper and the Worshipped. He described the benefits of zikr and disclosed its unseen advantages¹ so that it no longer is a duty but it is an essential part of life and of human nature. It is now food for the soul and remedy for the heart. He also proposed for it proper times and occasions, the means, methods and words. They perfect monotheist belief, motivate worship, fill the heart with light, give peace and comfort to life and bless the atomsphere². They are all-embracing and inclusive of all hours of the day and night. If we indulge in it even on a small scale, the whole life became a perfect ①. details are found in the relevnt portion of this book.

zikr and hardly any moment, work, movement or situation is deprived of its association.¹

The most significant example of zikr is du'a or supplication. The Prophet ﷺ made supplication an individual part of religion. He has given a unique place which no one before or after him conceived. It is also an evidence of the finality of prophethood with him.

The Prophet ﷺ gave man the wealth of supplication which he had lost. He taught him to speak to Allah and find the pleasant taste of life in it. He brought back the prodigal son of Sayyidina Aadam (عليه السلام) to His Lord, pleading with Him and presenting his petitions to Him.

The Prophet ﷺ taught us to make supplication and he introduced into literature the supplications which enriched it like pearls. He used words more effectively and aptly than man can bring. His supplications are a permanent miracle, a proof of his prophethood, and they repose full confidence in the Creator, Lord of the worlds.

His supplications include everything a man could need and ask for. He has taught supplications for every occasion.

It is a matter of profound satisfaction that the choice of Allah has fallen upon Maulana Manzoor Nomanî for it. Numerous literary and religious services are to his credit, but I attach the greatest importance to the persent undertakings. May Allah grant him health and strenght to complete the whole of Ma'ariful Hadith due time.

Abul Hasan Ali Nadvi

INTRODUCTION¹

Mawlana Sayed Abu Al-Hasan Nadawe

The greatness of Prophethood of the Khataman Nabiyeen, and his mission may be divided into two works.

1. The correction and proper enforcement of the relationship between the worshipper and the worshipped.
2. The petmanence and proper maintenance of the relationship between the workshopper and the worshipped.

The relationship between the worshipper and the worshipped needed to be corrected and set on proper lines, and administered firmly because it had gone wrong. The definitions had been mixed up and there was a confusion in the distinction between the slave and Allah, the created and the Creator, and the worshipper and the worshipped. It had fallen prey to changes, foolishness, ignorance, superstition and mischief. There was a complete unawareness of Allah and His attributes and if a people or nation were conscious of that then their awareness was very incomplete and improper. His creatures were made partners in His attributes. On the one hand, He was said to possess many of the characteristics and defects of His creatures, and on the other many of His peculiar Divine attributes were handed over to His creatures. Most of the wrong ways of the Days of Ignorance, their ills and their shortcomings were born out of this weakness and gradually it led to idol-worship and open polytheism.

If, again, there were some instances of the blessings of the teachings of Prophets عليهم السلام and remnants of light thrown by them to enable a proper relationship between the worshipper and the worshipped then it was not properly shaped and managed. The first distinction and achievement of Prophet Muhammad ﷺ is that he corrected the relationship with a proper awareness and belief in the unicity of Allah. He purified it of all unhealthy ideas, removed the curtains that had concealed it and threw away the polytheistic ideas and suspicions from it. He showed them its purity and sacredness in such a way that there was no grade above it. The result was that divine unity and the call of

"Behold since faith is for Allah only" (Az Zumar, 39:3) came out so effectively that apart from those who were hard-hearted and arrogant no one could give the excuse of having misunderstood or being misinformed.

لِيَهْلِكَ مَنْ هَلَكَ عَنْ بَيِّنَةٍ وَيَحْيَىٰ مَنْ حَيَّ عَنْ بَيِّنَةٍ (الأنفال ٤٢:٨)

"That he who was to perish, should perish by a clear sign, and he who was to remain alive, should live by a clear sign".

(Al-Anfal, 8:42)

This is how he corrected the relationship between the worshipper and the worshipped. As for its proper enforcement, he did it through (the Iman Mufasssal) a detailed exposition of faith, beliefs, fara'id (absolute obligations), do's and don't's (commands of the approved and forbiddance of the disapproved) and mutual dealings. This exposition and set of injunctions is known as Shari'ah, and this is how the relationship between the worshipper and the worshipped was managed and perfected.

The second aspect of the mission of Prophet Muhammad ﷺ is the proper maintenance and permanence of the relationship between the worshipper and the worshipped. This relationship was very weak in practice. It was a soul-less relationship and simply a shadow. It could not endure faith and lacked the fever of love. The worshipper and no link with the worshipped nor did he present his petition humbly and decorously. He had no realisation of his own helplessness or of the attributes and powers of Allah. Only a semblance of this relationship could be witnessed on special occasions like national festivals or at times of severe distress. It had become a custom to supplicate the worshipped only on such occasions. Even among people who professed any religion, those people were scarce who remembered God at all times, believed in His omnipresence and all-seeing nature and had a vital relationship with Him whereby they regarded Him as their Helper and Remover of difficulties. Those people were few who believed firmly that He was All-Powerful and loving in the same way as a child is confident of his mother's ability and love, or a slave is of his strong king. Prophet Muhammad ﷺ gave this theoretical relationship a practical form, and the shadow a reality. The deed that was performed twice or thrice in a man's life or once every few years came to be done every morning and evening and it became as necessary for a Believer as water and air were for him. Life was impossible to sustain without these things. While those people had previously fallen under the description of this verse:

وَلَا يَذْكُرُونَ اللَّهَ إِلَّا قَلِيلًا (النساء ٤: ١٤٢)

"And they remember not Allah but little" (An.Nisa: 4:142)

they began to fit the description of this verse:

الَّذِينَ يَذْكُرُونَ اللَّهَ قِيَامًا وَقُعُودًا وَعَلَىٰ جُنُوبِهِمْ (ال عمران ٣: ١٩١)

"Who remember Allah, standing and sitting and (lying) on their sides".
(Aal Imran 3:191)

Those who were given to remember Him only in times of severe distress

وَإِذَا غَشِيَهُمْ مَوْجٌ كَالظُّلُمِ دَعَوْا اللَّهَ مُخْلِصِينَ لَهُ الدِّينَ (لقمان ٣١: ٣٢)

"And when a wave covers them like awnings, they call upon Allah keeping their faith sincerely in Him" (Luqman 31:32)

began to be recognised as

تَتَجَافَىٰ جُنُوبُهُمْ عَنِ الْمَضَاجِعِ يَدْعُونَ رَبَّهُمْ خَوْفًا وَطَمَعًا (السجده ٣٢: ١٦)

"Their sides forsake their beds as they call on their Lord in fear and in hope"
(As Sajdah, 32:16)

Those people, to whom remembrance of Allah called extraordinary effort and was an unnatural conduct, turned into those to whom it became unnatural to forget Allah and it was very painful to them. The Qur'an describes the former:

كَأَنَّمَا يَصْعَدُ فِي السَّمَاءِ (الانعام ٦: ١٢٥)

"As if he were climbing to the heaven" (Al An'am, 6:125)

but the latter were like birds in a cage if they were outside the atmosphere of worship and remembrance of Allah. If they were restrained from mentioning Allah and making supplications to Him then they looked like fish that withers out of water.

To properly maintain and perpetuate the relationship between the worshipper and the worshipped, Prophet Muhammad ﷺ adopted certain means which may be divided into two headings:

Zikr and Du`a. Zikr is the remembrance of Allah, His praise and glorification.

Du`a is supplication made to Him. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ laid emphasis on Zikr, related its merits and advantages and revealed its hidden benefits. To those who understand and value these revelations of the Prophet ﷺ Zikr is no more an obligation or way of life but it is a basic need of life, a peculiarity of human nature, food for the soul and medicine for the heart. The Prophet ﷺ then suggested the times and moments when the Zikr may be practised. He also suggested methods and words and these things breathed a spirit in the mould and form of worship enlightening the heart, gave peace to life and provided blessings and light to the surrounding atmosphere. Then Zikr was so general and interspersed over a man's entire life, practiced during different hours of their days and nights that if anyone observed it even a little bit then his life became a continuous involvement in Zikr, and there is barely any moment in his life when he is not engaged in Zikr.¹

Although Zikr covers everything which recalls Allah and is done without negligence, and du`a (Supplication) is its most excellent form, yet Prophet Muhammad ﷺ has put supplication (du`a) as an entirely separate department of religion. If we look at the history of nations and religion, we can assert, without fear of being rejected that Prophet Muhammad ﷺ has revived the aspect of supplication and perfected it. He has given it a power and made it a source of spiritual uplift. A worshipper gains strong hope though it. Just as the prophethood of Muhammad Rasool Allah ﷺ perfected religion and its different sections, so too it perfected the section of supplication and laid a strong stress on it. This department of religion too is an evidence of the finality of prophethood with sayyidina Muhammad ﷺ.

Muhammad Rasool Allah ﷺ gave the deprived humanity once again the blessings of du`a (supplication). It is the savor of worship — in fact, of life itself, for it gave man the means of conversation with Allah. Mankind once again received permission to communicate with Allah and the fugitive son of Sayyidina Aadam ﷺ once again returned to the sanctuary of his Creator and Owner.¹

The perfection does not end at that. Prophet Muhammad ﷺ also taught us how to make a supplication. He taught us the choicest of prayers the like of which cannot be found beyond the Divine Books. He prayed to his owner in words the like of which cannot be found as far as their style and effectiveness is concerned. There cannot be more appropriate words. These supplications by themselves are a miracle of the Prophet ﷺ and a clear evidence of his prophethood. These words bear testimony that they were spoken by a Prophet ﷺ. There is light of prophethood in there and the fire faith of a Messenger ﷺ and a perfect worshipper behind the supplications. They tell us of the confidence of the beloved of the Lord of the worlds and the innocence of Prophets عليهم السلام. There is the infomality of a pained heart. There is the persistent plea of the needy and his restlessness. Yet the etiquettes due to the Divine Being are carefully observed. There is the murmur of a troubled heart and the whisper of unseen pain.

The Messenger of Allah ﷺ has made such a careful selection of supplications that there is a supplication for every person, for his needs, in every time and on every occasion and situation, until the last Hour. Man will find one suited to his condition, an expression of his heart's desire and a means to obtaining peace and satisfaction. Many such needs are covered which are not possible for our minds to pre-conceive.²

These are the facts that are presented in this volume of Maarif Al Hadith in an appealing, easy to understand manner. They are drawn from the treasure of authentic Ahadith. As far as possible, reliance has been placed on the main books, sahah, their expositions and works of prominent Ulama, and the author's own deep study and long experience. This is not merely a translation and explanation of a selection of authentic ahadith but it is the product of a scholar's understanding of hadith and attachment to it which he derived from his learned teachers (notable among them Mawlana Sayeed Anwar Shah Kashmiri رحمه الله عليه) with devoted effort and concentration.

Then, he has been teaching the subject for years together to students of the Madaris (plural of madrasah, a religious institution). He has drawn from research and explanations of ahadith and has been occupied in preaching and reforming, and writing. In this way, he could find out the comprehensive power of the different levels of Muslims and their needs. He could thus abide by the instructions

"Speak to the people according to the levels of their intellects."

Further this subject of supplication is particularly suited to him, and Allah has given him a strong understanding and attachment with it. Without sounding praise, it may be said that he has done full justice to the subject. This is a book in Urdu which is at once comprehensive and useful, effective and appealing on the subject of supplication. It compresses hundreds of pages and voluminous books within its covers and their essence is found within these covers.

We also observe in this book confirmation of the Mawlana's ability to speak the concluding authoritative word. Whatever has been written on the Asma Al Husna (the Beautiful Names of Allah), their hidden meanings and commands about them, the invocation of blessings and peace on the holy Prophet ﷺ in this book form its praiseworthy and invaluable points. The discussion on invoking blessings and peace on the holy Prophet ﷺ is a very precious asset of this book and is beyond compare, and the treatment of the word Aal (آل) is very fair and balanced.

Moderation is exercised in the argument. (The word Aal is not conclusively translated here beyond saying that it is rendered as family, or descendants but the conclusion is left to the pages where it is discussed).

Of the salient features of this book its conclusions are based on the opinion of Shah Waliullah (رحمة الله عليه). Often is profit derived from his dissertation. The power of drawing conclusions and understanding religion and hadith that Allah had granted him alongwith the ability to satisfy minds of People of his generation are not unknown to any one possessing sound judgement.

This makes the book more valuable and beneficial as a scholarly work. The Mawlana has also drawn heavily from Hafiz Ibn Qayyim, Ibn Tayniyyah and Ibn Hajar particularly his Fath Al Bari. In this way, this book lets the reader who is unacquainted with the language benefit from the works of as many as eight honourable and prominent predecessors and thus acts as a bridge between the present generation and those Ulama of the past.

May Allah cause the Muslims to benefit from this useful work particularly this volume which is devoted exclusively to Zikr and du`a and calls, for a practical approach. May He help us to attain the virtue of Zikr and supplication and thus establish a real relationship with Allah. Aameen.

ALLAH ACCEPTS DEEDS THAT ARE ONLY FOR HIM

(١/١) عَنْ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ ﷺ يَقُولُ

فَهِجْرَتُهُ إِلَى مَا هَاجَرَ إِلَيْهِ
(رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(1/1) It is related by Umar Ibn al-Khattab رضي الله عنه that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "The actions are but judged according to intentions; and to every man is due what he intended. Thus, whosoever migrates for the sake of Allah and His Messenger [and there is no other motive of his migration except compliance with the commands of Allah and the Prophet and the winning of their good pleasure], his migration is accounted for the sake of Allah and His Messenger [and, doubtlessly, he is a true Muhajir- Emigrant- and shall receive the recompense prescribed for Hijrat-Migration- towards Allah and His Messenger]; and whosoever migrates for the sake of this world or to wed a woman [his migration will not be for Allah and the Prophet], and it will be accounted only for the purpose for which it is intended." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The translation of the Tradition given above is self-explanatory and there is no need for a further elucidation of the subject-idea of this saying of the holy Prophet ﷺ. But its special significance demands that a little more light be shed on its meaning.

NOTE: In the translation of the Traditions I have tried to render their meaning as literally as possible-sometimes, I am afraid, at the expense of the English language. Translator

The main purpose of the above Hadith is to show that the goodness or badness and acceptability or otherwise of all human actions is dependent on intention. Or, in other words, only such a deed will be deemed good and carry merit in the sight of Allah which is done with a good and virtuous intention and a 'good' deed that is done with an evil or impure intention will not be judged as noble and meritorious; on the contrary, it will be held to be wicked and detestable according to the intention which motivated it though, apparently, it may be good and praiseworthy.

In sum, Allah sees intention along with action and the hidden along with the manifest. He judges the worth and value of a deed by the motive with which it is performed.

A Misunderstanding

It should, however, not be imagined that when it is the motive that decides, even the evil deeds that are done with a good intention become virtuous and deserving of Divine reward, as for instance, if a person commits theft with the intention that he will give away to the poor and the needy the goods he will thus acquire, it will entitle him to recompense from Allah.

The deeds that are wicked in themselves and have been condemned as such by Allah and His Messenger will remain abominal and worthy of Divine chastisement in any case. Their evilness cannot be taken away by the purity of the motive. What is more, to perform them with a noble intention and be hopeful of Divine reward because of it may well be the cause of additional misfortune and enhancement of punishment as it will amount to playing with the religion of Allah.

Rather this saying emphasises that the good deeds too will cease to be commendable if one performs them with an evil intention and will lead to a bitter end owing to the uncleanness of the motive. For example, a person offers salah with great humbleness which, by itself is a virtuous act of the highest order but if his humility is prompted by the desire to impress others so that they may think much of his devoutness and hold him in high esteem then, according to the above Hadith, it will gain him nothing in the judgement of the Lord. Similarly, if a person migrates from the land of apostasy to the land of faith and endures all the hardship that goes with it but his migration is not for seeking the countenance of the Lord and there is some worldly motive behind it, like marrying a woman who lives in the country, his migration will not be an Islamic Hijrah nor will it entitle him to Divine recompense. On the contrary, it will be considered sinful.

Even a Great Deed That is Not For Allah and Lacks Sincerity Will Take One to Hell

It is related in a Hadith that, first of all, three persons shall be condemned to Hell by Allah on the Day of Judgement. The first to be called to account will be a person who had been martyred in *Jihad*¹. When he will be produced, Allah will remind him of His blessings, which he will recall with full recognition. Allah will, then say to him, "Tell Me, how did you give the rights of these blessings?" He will reply, "I waged Jihad in Your way and even laid down my life in seeking Your good pleasure." "You are a liar", Allah will remark, "you participated in Jihad simply because you wanted people to say such a one was a valiant man, and it has been said already." He will, thereupon, be thrown headlong into the Fire at the command of Allah.

In the same way, a theologian will be brought before Allah who had got the whole of the Qur'an by heart. Allah will ask him, "What did you do?" He will submit, "I learnt Your Book and studied Your faith myself and taught them to others also, and I did it all for Your sake alone." "You are a liar," Allah will say, "You did desire only that men should say that such a one was a great scholar and a reciter of the Qur'an, and that has been said already." He will, thereupon, be cast into Hell at the command of Allah.

After him, one who had an abundance of wealth will be produced before Allah and He will say, "Did I not give you plenty of wealth and what did you do with it?" "My Lord," he will reply, "I left no branch of goodness in which I did not spend for Your sake." "You are a liar," Allah will remark, "You desired that men should say that such a one was a generous man; and that has been said already." He, also, will be thrown into fire, head foremost, at the command of Allah. (Muslim)

In brief, only such an act will be of help and advantage to us with Allah which is performed with a pure intention i.e., solely for His propitiation. In the special terminology of Islam it is called Ikhals or single-minded devotion.

A Qur'anic Similitude of The Sincere and The Insincere

In the Qur'anic verses we are now going to produce two categories of men who practice charity are spoken of, those who spend their wealth on the weak and the indigent with the object of impressing others and winning their admiration and the other who do so wholly for the sake of Allah. Outwardly, the conduct of both of them is similar and the eye cannot distinguish between their acts of benevolence but the Qur'an insists that since their intentions are different, the results will also not be the same. The action of one of them is altogether fruitful and propitious while that of the other wholly wasteful and unrewarding.

Like him who spendeth his wealth only to be seen by men and believeth not in Allah and the last Day. His likeness is as the likeness of a rock whercon is dust of earth; a rainstorm smiteth it, leaving it smooth and bare. They have no control of aught of that which they have gained. Allah guideth not the disbelieving folk.

(Al Baqarah 2:264)

And the likeness of those who spend their wealth in seach of Allah's pleasure, and for the strengthening of their souls, is as the likeness of a garden on a height. The rainstorm smeteth it and it bringest forth its fruit twofold. (Al Baqarah 2 : 265)

كَالَّذِي يُنْفِقُ مَالَهُ رِثَاءَ النَّاسِ وَلَا يُؤْمِنُ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ فَمَثَلُهُ كَمَثَلِ صَفْوَانٍ عَلَيْهِ تُرَابٌ فَأَصَابَهُ وَابِلٌ فَتَرَكَهُ صَلْدًا ط لَا يَقْدِرُونَ عَلَى شَيْءٍ مِمَّا كَسَبُوا ط وَاللَّهُ لَا يَهْدِي الْقَوْمَ الْكَافِرِينَ ط
(البقره ٢ : ٢٦٤)

وَمَثَلُ الَّذِينَ يُنْفِقُونَ أَمْوَالَهُمْ ابْتِغَاءَ مَرْضَاتِ اللَّهِ وَتَثْبِيتًا مِّنْ أَنفُسِهِمْ كَمَثَلِ جَنَّةٍ مِّنْ بَرْنَةٍ أَصَابَهَا وَابِلٌ فَآتَتْ أُكُلَهَا ضِعْفَيْنِ
(بقره ٢ : ٢٦٥)

Thus, although, apparently, the two groups of men gave away of their wealth to the needy in an identical manner, the motive of the former being that of ostentatious exhibition, they got nothing from it except ephemeral praise and laudation, while the later had aspired only for the good graces of the Lord and so they were recompensed by Him in keeping with their intention. This, in sum, is the Divine law and Allah's confirmed practice to which the holy Prophet ﷺ has drawn attention in the Hadith under discussion.

In This World Judgement is Based Upon The Apparent, While, in The Hereafter, Intention is The Main Criteria

The world in which we live and carry out our duties is a 'visible' one and the scope of our awareness and perception, here, too, is limited to the 'apparent'. In this world, we can form a good or bad opinion about anyone only on the basis of his conduct that can be seen and easily understood and we deal with him accordingly. We are incapable of knowing the real intentions, the hidden secrets of the heart that lie at the back of the visible deeds. Hence, Sayyidina Umar ؓ has said,

"Our function is to decide according to what is apparent and the hidden secrets entrusted to Allah."

نَحْنُ نَحْكُمُ بِالظَّاهِرِ وَاللَّهُ يَتَوَلَّى
السَّرَائِرَ

But, in the Hereafter, judgement will rest with the Lord. Who is the Knower of the Invisible, and He will decide according to intentions. Thus, while, here in this world, the visible deeds are the main thing and no decision can be given on the basis of intentions, in the Future Existence it will be the other way round and the Divine Judgement will be based upon intentions, and apparent actions will be subordinated to them.

Significance

The above Tradition is included among what are known as Fawam'-ul Kalam (i.e., all-embracing speech). It is one of the wide-ranging sayings of the Prophet which, in spite of their brevity, are comprehensive of a large and most important segment of Faith. According to leading theologians, one-third of Islam is covered by it, which is not an over-statement by any means because, basically, Islam is divided into three parts Iman (Articles of Faith), A'mal (Deeds) and Ikhlās (Sincerity in Action), and this Tradition takes into account the whole branch of Ikhlās. Hence, the claim that one-third of Islam is contained in it. Moreover, earnestness is needed at each step, whatever the endeavour, and when a person embarks on a noble undertaking, whether intellectual or practical, he should, particularly, keep in mind the admonition of the holy Prophet ﷺ. It has, as such, been the practice of well-known Muslim religious scholars to begin their theological works with the above Tradition. Imam Bukhari, and, Imam Baghawi have, for instance, placed this Tradition at the head of their compilations, respectively, Jam'i Saheeh and Masabeeh, in recognition of the fact that this saying of the Prophet ﷺ expresses one of the fundamental ethical principles of Islam. They have made it, so to speak, the exordium of their collections. Ibn Mehdi, has remarked "If anyone writes a book on a theological subject, he will be well advised to begin it with this Tradition If I wrote a book, I would begin each chapter of it with this saying." "For that reason, the present writer, too, has preferred to commence his compilation with the above Tradition. May the Almighty bless him and the readers with single-heartedness and purity of intention!

[We will, now take up, under a special arrangement, the Traditions in which the sacred Prophet ﷺ has explained Iman and Islam, and their fundamental doctrines and sub-divisions, pre-requisites and stipulations, virtues and benefits, as well as things that are inimical to them. We are going to start with Hadith Jibreel which is known as the 'Mother of Sunnah' on account of being doctrinally comprehensive of all the branches of Faith].

ISLAM, FAITH AND SINCERITY IN ACTION

Hadith Jibreel

(٢/٢) عَنْ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ بَيْنَمَا نَحْنُ عِنْدَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ذَاتَ يَوْمٍ إِذْ طَلَعَ عَلَيْنَا رَجُلٌ شَدِيدُ بَيَاضِ الثِّيَابِ شَدِيدُ سَوَادِ الشَّعْرِ لَا يَرَى عَلَيْهِ أَثَرِ السَّفَرِ وَلَا يَعْرِفُهُ مِنَّا أَحَدٌ حَتَّى جَلَسَ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَأَسْنَدَ رُكْبَتَيْهِ إِلَى رُكْبَتَيْهِ وَوَضَعَ كَفَّيْهِ عَلَى فَخْذَيْهِ وَقَالَ يَا مُحَمَّدُ أَخْبِرْنِي عَنِ الْإِسْلَامِ؟ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْإِسْلَامُ أَنْ تَشْهَدَ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ وَتُقِيمَ الصَّلَاةَ وَتُؤْتِيَ الزَّكَاةَ وَتَصُومَ رَمَضَانَ وَتَحُجَّ الْبَيْتَ إِنْ اسْتَطَعْتَ إِلَيْهِ سَبِيلًا، قَالَ صَدَقْتَ قَالَ فَعَجَبْنَا لَهُ يَسْأَلُهُ وَيُصَدِّقُهُ قَالَ فَأَخْبِرْنِي عَنِ الْإِيمَانِ؟ قَالَ أَنْ تُؤْمِنَ بِاللَّهِ وَمَلَائِكَتِهِ وَكُتُبِهِ وَرُسُلِهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ وَتُؤْمِنَ بِالْقَدْرِ خَيْرِهِ وَشَرِّهِ قَالَ صَدَقْتَ، قَالَ فَأَخْبِرْنِي عَنِ الْإِحْسَانِ؟ قَالَ أَنْ تَعْبُدَ اللَّهَ كَأَنَّكَ تَرَاهُ فَإِنْ لَمْ تَكُنْ تَرَاهُ فَإِنَّهُ يَرَاكَ، قَالَ فَأَخْبِرْنِي عَنِ السَّاعَةِ؟ قَالَ مَا الْمَسْئُولُ عَنْهَا بِأَعْلَمَ مِنَ السَّائِلِ، قَالَ فَأَخْبِرْنِي عَنِ إِمَارَتِهَا قَالَ أَنْ تَلِدَ الْأَمَةُ رَبَّتَهَا وَأَنْ تَرَى الْحُفَاةَ الْعُرَاةَ الْعَالَةَ رِعَاءَ الشَّيْءِ يَتَطَاوَلُونَ فِي الْبُنْيَانِ قَالَ ثُمَّ انْطَلَقَ فَلَبِثْتُ مَلِيًّا ثُمَّ قَالَ لِي يَا عُمَرُ أَتَدْرِي مَنْ السَّائِلُ؟ قُلْتُ اللَّهُ وَرَسُولُهُ أَعْلَمُ قَالَ فَإِنَّهُ جِبْرِيلُ أَتَاكُمْ يُعَلِّمُكُمْ دِينَكُمْ

(2/2) It is related by Umar ibn al-Khattab رضي الله عنه "One day I was with the Messenger of Allah ﷺ [from another version of the Tradition¹ it appears that a number of Companions were present at that time and the Prophet ﷺ was talking to them] when, all of a sudden, there appeared a man from the opposite direction whose clothes were very white and hair very dark and who also did not show the effects of a journey [i.e., from his appearance it did not seem that he was an outsider]. At the same time, it was a fact that none of us recognised the newcomer [which showed that he was a stranger]. [The man came up, passing through the people who were present], till he kneeled down and sat back on his heels before the Messenger of Allah ﷺ in such a way that his knees were touching the knees of the Prophet ﷺ and his hands were placed on the Prophet's ﷺ thighs, and said, "O Muhammad, tell me, what is Islam?" "The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'Islam is [i.e., its fundamental doctrines are] that you affirm [with tongue as well as the heart] that there is no deity but Allah [i.e., no one is worthy of worship and obedience save Him] and Muhammad is His Messenger, and that you establish Salah [prayer], and pay Zakah [the obligatory charity], and observe fasting during the month of Ramadan, and perform the Hajj [pilgrimage] if you can afford the journey.' On hearing the Prophet's reply, the newcomer remarked, 'You told the truth'. [The narrator of the Tradition, Sayyidina Umar ؓ, tells that they were surprised at it that the stranger was asking the question, and, also, ratifying the answer]. After that, the newcomer said, 'Now tell me, what is Iman?' The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'Iman is to believe in Allah, and His Angels, and His Scriptures, and His Prophets, and to believe in the Resurrection, and the Last Day, and the Divine predestination of good and evil, and to have the fullest faith in all these things.' [On hearing it also] the man remarked, 'You told the truth'. After it, he said, 'What is Ihsan?' The Prophet ﷺ explained, 'Ihsan means to worship Allah as if you see him, for if you do not see Him, be sure, He sees you.' The man, then, said, 'Tell me about the Hour when will it come?' The Prophet ﷺ replied, "He who is asked has no more knowledge [about this] than he who asks'. The man thereupon, said, 'Tell me some of its portents, at least.' The Prophet ﷺ replied, '[One of its portents is that] the slave-girl will give birth to her master, [and another is that] you will see that bare footed, semi-naked, emptyhanded and obscure camel-herdsmen will erect high buildings and try to surpass each other in it.' Then the man went away. Sometime later, the Prophet ﷺ enquired from me, 'O Umar! Do you know who [that] questioner was?' I replied, 'Allah and His Messenger know best.' The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, said, 'That was Jibreel, he came in you assembly to teach you your religion.'

Muslim [in Bukhari and Muslim the same incident is also narrated by Abu Hurayrah ﷺ]

Commentary: In this Hadith, the holy Prophet ﷺ has described five things in reply to the questions put by the Jibreel: Islam, Iman, Ikhlas, the warning about the Last Day that no one except Allah had the knowledge of when it would be, and, lastly, its portents. Let us regard them one by one.

(A) Islam:

Literally, Islam denotes self-surrender or to give oneself up to someone and accept his overlordship in the fullest sense of the term. The religion sent down by Allah and brought into the world by His Prophets has been called Islam for the simple reason that, in it, the bondsman yields completely to the power and control of the Lord and makes the rendering of whole-hearted obedience to Him the cardinal principle of his life. This is the sum and substance of the Islamic creed and this is what is required of us in the Qur'an.

And your God is One Allah, therefore surrender unto Him.
(Al-Hajj 22:34) (حج ٢٢: ٣٤)

”وَمَنْ يَتَّبِعْ غَيْرَ الْإِسْلَامِ دِينًا فَلَنْ يُقْبَلَ مِنْهُ وَهُوَ فِي الْآخِرَةِ مِنَ الْخَسِرِينَ“
(آل عمران ٨٥: ٣)
Who is better in religion than he who surrendereth his purpose to Allah?(Al-Nisaa 4:125) (النساء ١٢٥: ٤) ”وَجْهَهُ لِلَّهِ“
”وَمَنْ أَحْسَنُ دِينًا مِمَّنْ أَسْلَمَ“

Further, there are some tenets that are peculiar to Islam in the Shari'ah [Ways of Law] brought by the Divine Prophets. These tenets, so to say, are the outer manifestations of the inner reality of Islam, its signs and symbols, and it, again, is sustained and nourished by them. They are purely of a devotional nature and it is by means of them that the exterior-beholding eye distinguishes between those who have opted for Islam and those who have not.

Thus, in the final, complete and perfect Law brought to us by the Last of the Prophets ﷺ the testimony of the Oneness of Allah and Messengership of Muhammad, Salah, Zakah, Fasting, Hajj have been prescribed as the principal tenets of Islam. In another Tradition it is candidly set forth that:

"Islam is built upon these five things."

"بُنِيَ الْإِسْلَامُ عَلَى خَمْسٍ الْخ."

The five things the Prophet ﷺ has delineated in the above Tradition in reply to the question regarding Islam are, at all events, the fundamental principles of Islam and constitute its external form. Thus it is that Islam has been made acquainted through them in this Tradition.

(B) Iman:

In the literal sense, it means to believe in veracity of someone on the basis of one's faith in Him¹ but in the usage of Islam it denotes the affirmation and acceptance as true and authentic of what the Messenger of Allah may tell and the guidance they may bring from the Lord about the realities that are beyond the organs of one's own understanding. Dogmatic faith, in any case, is basically related to things that are invisible and about which we cannot know through the organs of physical preception [like the eyes, the ears and the nose].² These include the Existence of Allah, His Commands and Attributes, and the mission of the ledge furnished by them concerning the present world and the Hereafter. Hence, in the terminology of the Shari'ah, Iman signifies sincere acceptance of all the things the Prophet ﷺ may teach or reveal [like those mentioned above] due to an absolute reliance upon his truthfulness. To disbelieve or reject any of the Prophet's teachings, belonging to the aforementioned category, amounts to the repudiation of the Prophet ﷺ himself and takes one out of the fold of Islam.³ It is, therefore, essential for being a believing man to

①: وَمَا أَنْتَ بِظُلْمٍ لِّمَا وَلَوْ كُنَّا صِدْقِينَ

And you believe not our saying even when speak the truth (xiii:17)

acknowledge:

All the things brought by the Prophet from Allah.

كُلُّ مَا جَاءَ بِهِ الرَّسُولُ مِنْ عِنْدِ اللَّهِ

But it is not necessary to know all these things in detail. Only a general affirmation is enough.

There are, however, some fundametal truths to believe in which is indispensable for a Muslim. The things the Prophet ﷺ has mentioned in the Tradition under discussion, in reply to the question about Iman [i.e., Allah had His Angels and His Scriptures and His Messengers and the Last Day and the Pre-ordination of good and evil] are the basic realities one must precisely affirm in order to be a Believer. The Prophet ﷺ has, for that very reason, spoken of them explicity and in the Qur'an, too, these have been set forth as the Fundamental Articles of Faith.

The Messenger believeth in that which hath been revealed unto him by His Lord and [so do] the Believers. Each one believeth in Allah and His Angels and His Scriptures and His Messengers.

أَمَّنَ الرَّسُولُ بِمَا أُنْزِلَ إِلَيْهِ مِنْ رَبِّهِ وَالْمُؤْمِنُونَ كُلٌّ آمَنَ بِاللَّهِ وَمَلَائِكَتِهِ وَكُتُبِهِ وَرُسُلِهِ

(البقرة ٢: ٢٨٥)

(Al-Baqarah 2:285)

Whoso disbelieveth in Allah and His Angels and His Scriptures and His Messengers and the Last Day, he verily hath vandered far astray.

وَمَنْ يَكْفُرْ بِاللَّهِ وَمَلَائِكَتِهِ وَكُتُبِهِ وَرُسُلِهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ فَقَدْ ضَلَّ ضَلَالًا بَعِيدًا

(Al-Nisaa 4:136)

Though pre-ordination of good and evil is not included in the verses produced above, it has been mentioned specifically at another place in the Qur'an. In surah-u-Nisa, the Prophet ﷺ is commanded to say:

(Continued) Messenger. If they deny or reject any part of what he preaches, they would not have been regarded as believers. But if the Prophet is not alive, the affirmation of only such of his teachings is necessary about whose authenticity there may not be the slightest doubt. In theological parlance, these teachings are known as Essentials of Faith, and it is imperative to believe in all of them, otherwise a person will not remain a believer, and if he was a Muslim earlier his bond with Islam will come to an end.

All is from Allah. (Al-Nisaa 4:78)

قُلْ كُلٌّ مِّنْ عِندِ اللَّهِ (النساء ٤: ٧٨)

Allah has also said:

And whosoever it is Allah's will to guide, He expandeth his bosom unto the surrender, and whosoever it is His will to send astray, He maketh his bosom close and narrow.

”فَمَن يُّرِدِ اللَّهُ أَن يَهْدِيَهُ يَشْرَحْ صَدْرَهُ لِلْإِسْلَامِ وَمَن يُّرِدْ أَن يُضِلَّهُ يَجْعَلْ صَدْرَهُ ضَيِّقًا حَرَجًا الْآيَةُ“
(انعام ١٢٥: ٦)

(Al-An'am 6: 125)

We will, now, examine briefly the significance of belief in all these things.

Affirmation of faith in Allah means to believe that He is One and without a partner, that He is present everywhere at once, and that He is the Lord of the worlds and the Creator of the universe, free from the blemishes and adorned with every attribute of perfection.

Belief in the angels, in the same way implies that their existence as a permanent species of created beings should be accepted as a reality, and, also, that they are virtuous and honoured creatures of Allah,

Nay, but [they] are honoured slaves. (Al-Anbiyaa 21: 26)

بَلْ عِبَادٌ مُّكْرَمُونَ (الانبياء ٢١: ٢٦)

There is not a trace of mischief, sinfulness or intransigence in them. They are bound in utmost loyalty to Allah and carry out faithfully the duties that are assigned to them.

Who resist not Allah in that which He commandeth them, but do that which they are commanded. (Al-Tahrim 66:6)

لَا يَعْصُونَ اللَّهَ مَا أَمَرَهُمْ وَيَفْعَلُونَ مَا يُؤْمَرُونَ (التحريم ٦٦: ٦)

A Misgiving-and Its Answer

The misgiving about the existence of the angels that if they were present we would be seeing them is patently absurd. How many things are there in the world that are not visible to us, though they are present? Before the invention of the microscope had anyone seen the organisms in the blood or water that are common knowledge today? Or, has anyone been able to see the soul, all the inventions notwithstanding? Just as our eye cannot see the soul, or the microbes without a microscope, so, also, we cannot observe the angles. There is, thus, no validity in the argument that what we cannot see with our eyes does not exist. Have our eyes or other faculties of perception encompassed the totality of the material world? Only a fool can make such a claim. Particularly in the modern age when discoveries are being made every day. Our intellect and other sources of knowledge, after all, are very limited and inadequate. As the Qur'an has put it:

And knowledge ye have been vouchsafed but little.

وَمَا أُوتِيتُمْ مِنَ الْعِلْمِ إِلَّا قَلِيلًا

(الاسراء ١٧: ٨٥)

Likewise, belief in the Scriptures signifies that Allah sent down His Books of Guidance, from time to time, through His Messengers, and that the last and the terminator of the Divine Scriptures is the holy Qur'an which, also, is their Musaddiq [Testifier] and Muhaimun [Custodian]. In other words, whatever was contained in the earlier Scriptures, the preaching and propagation of which is necessary in all ages, is included in the Qur'an. It is comprehensive of the essential features of all the sacred text previously revealed by Allah and makes one independent of them, and, since those Scriptures are no longer in their original form, the Qur'an, now, is the only authentic Book of Guidance for mankind. It has also taken their place and is more complete than all of them. Allah accordingly, has taken upon Himself the responsibility of its reservation till the end of the world.

We, verily, are its Guardian.

(Al-Hijr 15: 9)

إِنَّا نَحْنُ نَرِزُّهَا الذِّكْرَ وَإِنَّا لَهُ

لَحَافِظُونَ

Further, faith in the Messenger of Allah means the recognition of the truth that, from time to time, and at different places, He sent down His chosen men with His Guidance and the Law of His preference for the instruction of His bondmen and the Messengers conveyed the Divine Message faithfully to His slaves and strove to their utmost to lead them along the Straight Path. All the Prophets were truthful and selected servants of the Lord. The names of some of them and few details about their lives are given in the Qur'an while nothing has been said in it specifically about the rest.

Among them [the Messengers] those of whom We have told thee, and some of whom We have not told thee.

مِنْهُمْ مَّنْ قَصَّصْنَا عَلَيْكَ وَمِنْهُمْ
مَّنْ لَّمْ نَقْصُصْ عَلَيْكَ
(مومن ٤٠: ٧٨)

(Al-Mu'min : 78)

Anyhow, to declare all the Prophets to be true and to hold them in reverence is an essential requisite of Faith.

As it is borne out clearly by a number of verses of the Qur'an and sayings of the Prophet, the glorious line of Messengers was brought to an end with the raising up of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ. He is the 'Seal of Prophets' and the last of the Divine Messengers and now the salvation and felicity of all men that are going to be born till the Last Day depends on following him and adhering to his guidance.

بِإِحْسَانٍ إِلَى يَوْمِ الدِّينِ.¹

Faith in the Last Day denotes that it should be believed in as an unalterable reality that the present world will be destroyed altogether one day, and, then, Allah will raise from death all men and women and requite each one of them for the deeds he or she may have performed during their earthly existence.

Obviously enough, when the entire structure of faith and belief is based, as such, upon the doctrine of Divine Reward and Punishment, one who does not believe in it will also find it unnecessary to believe in any religion or its teachings. Consequently, Divine Requitel constitutes a fundamental tenet of faith in all religions, whether revealed by Allah or evolved by man. In some faiths conceived by men it has been expounded in the form of dogmas like the transmigrion of souls while all the religions sent down by Allah are agree that the shape of things to come after death will identical to what has been indicated by Islam and which the Qur'an has explained so logically that only an imbecile can now be skeptical about the doctrines of the Last Day and the Final Judgement and regard them as false or mythical.

①. May blessings and peace be on him and on all the Prophets and Messengers and on everyone who follows them with goodness to the Day of Requitel.

Finally, belief in Predestination shows that one is convinced that whatever is happening in the world, good or evil, is at the behest of Allah and in accordance with His Will. Every event has been determined by Him beforehand. It is not that Allah may want something else and the workshop of the world may operate independently of His wish and desire. Such an idea or belief will virtually connote *the utter helplessness of the Almighty Creator*¹.

(C) Ihsan:

Like Islam and Iman, Ihsan, too, is a distinctively theological and typically Qur'anic term. In the Qur'an it is stated:

Nay, but whosoever surrendereth his purpose to Allah while doing good

(Al-Baqarah 2:112)

”بَلَىٰ مَنْ أَسْلَمَ وَجْهَهُ لِلَّهِ وَهُوَ مُحْسِنٌ فَلَهُ أَجْرُهُ عِنْدَ رَبِّهِ“

(البقره ۲: ۱۱۲)

and,

Who is better in religion than
he who surrendereth his purpose to Allah while doing good?

(Al-Nisaa 4:125)

”وَمَنْ أَحْسَنُ دِينًا مِّمَّنْ أَسْلَمَ
وَجْهَهُ لِلَّهِ وَهُوَ مُحْسِنٌ“

The significance of Ihsan has been amply indicated by the holy Prophet ﷺ in the Tradition under study, i.e., to worship Allah in such a way that the subduer and the Sublime, the Most Gracious and the All-Powerful is present before our own eyes and we, so to speak, see Him.

①. A brief but highly useful advice towards understanding the most difficult aspect of the doctrine of predestination is contained in these italicised words. Imam Ghazali has discussed it in detail which, along with what has been said on the subject by other celebrated theologians like Ibn-ul-Qaiyyim and Shah Waliullah, has been reproduced by Maulana Shabbir Ahmad Usmani in his Commentary of Sahih Muslim entitled, Fath-ul-Malham. The present writer does not know of a more thorough and convincing exposition of the principle of pre-ordination. Religious scholars who want to satisfy themselves in this regard cannot do better than to study Fath-ul-Malham. But as it is not easy for the general body of readers to follow an abstruse discussion like that, we have not mentioned it here. What can be easily appreciated will, however, be stated in the succeeding pages in explanation of the Traditions on predestination.

Take it like this. The slave carries out the commands of his master, sometimes in his presence and sometimes in his absense. Generally, there is a difference in the quality of his work in the two situations. He discharges his duties with greater efficiency and keenness under the eye of the master than when the master is away. In the absence of the master, he is apt to be negligent. The same is true to bondsmen in respect of the real Lord and Sovereign. When the bondsman will feel that the Master is present right there, watching his every act and movement, his servitude will acquire a special earnestness and dignity which cannot be possible if his heart is devoid of the awareness. Ihsan denotes nothing more than that Allah should be worshipped and His decrees and injunctions obeyed as if He is seeing us and we are seeing Him. There is nothing that He does not watch and observe. This is what is meant by the Prophet's ﷺ advice contained in the above Tradition:

Ihsan means to worship Allah as if you see Him, for if you do not see Him, be sure, He sees you."¹

①. The import of the above part of this Tradition has been explained in another way as well, which, incidentally, is more popular i.e., Worship Allah as if you see Him, but if you fail to attain that degree of excellence, you ought to worship Allah with the feeling and realisation that He is seeing you. The theologists who prefer this interpretation are of the view that, in it, two grades of worship have been described. One in which worship is performed with the "seeing of Allah" [which is the station of those who are perfect in piety and devoutness], and the other is that the station of second class worshippers].

Although some of the most eminent commentators have expounded this view, in our humble opinion it is not borne out by the saying. The interpretation given in the commentary here seems to us to be nearest to the text of the Tradition and Iman Navavi in Sharh Muslim, and Allama Sanadi in Hawashi Muslim, have also upheld it. Hence, the purport of the above saying of the Prophet ﷺ comes down to this that Ihsan signifies that you should worship Allah as if you are seeing Him, for if you did not see Him, He, in any case, sees you, and when He is seeing you, your devotions ought to be as they are expected in His presence. The slave performs his duties better in the master's presence for no other reason than that he is being watched by him. The most effective factor in the elegance of worship, really, is the seeing of the devotee by the Lord.

Warning

Often it is maintained about this part of the above Tradition that it applies exclusively to salah. It is said that only salah is required to be offered with full humility and devotion. But the words of the Tradition do not justify it. It speaks of T'abud which denotes absolute worship and obedience. Thus, there is no justification for limiting the Prophet's observation to salah. Moreover, in another version of this Tradition the word Takhshi has been used in the place of T'abud which, when translated into English, reads: "Ihsan means that you fear Allah as if you see Him." Yet another version has it that "Ihsan means that you perform every act for the sake of Allah and in such a way that you see Him." Both of these accounts make it clear that Ihsan is not related only to salah, but it covers the entire range of living and doing and its pith and substance is that every act of worship and obeisance should be performed and all the Divine commands carried out and the prospect of Final Reckoning dreaded as if the Lord is present before us and watching all our acts and movements.

(D) The Last Hour

After enquiring about Islam, Iman and Ihsan, the newcomer requested the Prophet ﷺ to tell when the Last Hour will take place and the Prophet ﷺ replied:

"He who is asked has no more knowledge [of it] than he who asks,"

“مَا الْمَسْئُولُ عَنْهَا بِأَعْلَمَ مِنَ السَّائِلِ” meaning that so far as the appointed Last Hour was concerned, he was as much ignorant as the questioner himself. In Abu Hurayrah's account of the above Tradition [which is reproduced also in Sahih Bukhari] it is added that the holy Prophet ﷺ said that "the Last Hour is among the five things about which it is stated in the last verse of Surah Luqman of the Qur'an that their knowledge is with Allah alone and no one else knows anything about them."¹

- ①. Lo! Allah With Him in the knowledge of the Hour . He sendeth down the rain, and knoweth that which is in the wombs. No soul knoweth that it will earn tomorrow, and no soul knoweth in what land it will die. Lo! Allah is Knower, Aware.

فِي خُمْسٍ لَا يَعْلَمُهَا إِلَّا اللَّهُ أَنَّ اللَّهَ عِنْدَهُ عِلْمُ السَّاعَةِ وَيُنَزِّلُ الْغَيْثَ وَيَعْلَمُ مَا
 فِي الْأَرْحَامِ وَمَا تَدْرِي نَفْسٌ مَّاذَا تَكْسِبُ غَدًا وَمَا تَدْرِي نَفْسٌ بِمَا تَعْمَلُ
 تَمُوتُ إِنَّ اللَّهَ عَلِيمٌ خَبِيرٌ
 (لقمن ٣١:٣٤)

Commentarors have observed that the Prophet ﷺ, instead of giving a straightforward reply that he had no knowledge of the Hour, preferred to say that "he who is asked has no more knowledge (about it) than he who asks" because he wanted to emphasise that no one in the world, neither the one who asked nor the one who was asked, was aware of it, and by reciting the last verse of the Surah Luqman he made his reply more striking.

(E) Portents

On receiving this answer about the Last Hour, the visitor asked the Prophet ﷺ to tell him something about its portents. The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, described two of the main signs: (I) the slave-girl will give birth to her mistress or master; and (II) the poor, illclad and sarving herdsmen will erect high buildings.

The first sign has been explained by the authorities in various ways. In our view, the most reasonable interpretation is that in the period preceding the Hour the tendency to disobey the parents will become widespread, so much so that daughters, who by nature are more respectful to their mothers and about whom it is hard to believe that they can ever be defiant towards them will not only become insolent to their mothers but actually domineer over them and treat them as a misress treats her slave-girl. In other words, there will be a general tendency towards parents becoming the slaves of their children and the sign, indeed, is already being witnessed.

The other sign denotes that the period preceding the Hour will, among other things, be remarkable for the fact that wealth will pass into the hands of the low-born who will be utterly unworthy of it. They will be interested only in making a vulgar display of their affluence by building palatial houses and competing with each other in other fields of ostentatious living.

The same subject is broached in another Hadith thus:

(When authority and high offices are handed over to the unworthy then wait for the Last Hour).

”إِذَا وُسِّدَ الْأَمْرُ إِلَىٰ غَيْرِ أَهْلِهِ فَانْتَظِرِ السَّاعَةَ“

At the end of the Tradition under discussion it is mentioned that after the visitor had departed, the Prophet ﷺ disclosed that he was Jibreel, the Trustworthy, who had come to teach people their religion by means of the dialogue.

In some versions of the above Tradition, it is stated that the visit by Jibreel عليه السلام and the ensuing conversation had taken place during the last days of the Prophet's ﷺ life. That being the case, it would appear that Allah had mercifully, decided to bring to perfection the Companions رضي الله عنهم in Faith by making the Prophet ﷺ explain its sum and substance in reply to questions put to him by Jibreel عليه السلام and to make them the trustees of that knowledge.

In fact, three things from the basis of Faith. Firstly, the bondsman surrenders himself wholly to Allah and casts his life into the mould of submission to Him. This is what Islam actually is while its tenets and practices are the signs and symbols of this fundamental reality. Secondly, the major transcendental truths the Messenger of Allah have revealed and called on mankind to believe in are accepted as true. This is Iman. Thirdly, if Allah enables one to complete the stages of Islam and Iman, the third and ultimate stage is that the consciousness of the existence of Allah and the awareness of His Omnipresence became so strong that allegiance is rendered to Him and His commands are carried out as if He is present before our own eyes in all His Glory and Splendour, and watching all our deeds and actions closely. This state of feeling is called Ihsan.

The concentrated meaning of Islam is contained in these few questions and answers, and the scholars of the Traditions have, accordingly, described this saying as the 'Mother of Sunnah'. As surah al Fatihah is called the 'Mother of the Book', since it is symbolical of all the main precepts and doctrines of Islam, in the same way the above Tradition deserves to be known as the 'Mother of Sunnah' because of its comprehensiveness. For the same reason, Imam Muslim has placed this Tradition at the head of his compilation and Imam Baghawi, also, has opened both of his books, Masabih and Sharh Sunnah with it.

TENETS OF ISLAM

(٣/٣) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بَنَى الْإِسْلَامُ عَلَى خَمْسٍ شَهَادَةِ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا عَبْدُهُ وَرَسُولُهُ وَإِقَامَ الصَّلَاةِ وَإِيتَاءِ الزَّكَاةِ وَالْحَجَّ وَصَوْمَ رَمَضَانَ
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(3/3) It is related by Abdullah ibn Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Islam is built upon five things: the testimony that there is no deity but Allah and that Muhammad is His bondsman and Messenger and the observance of Salah, and the paying of Zakah, and the pilgrimage to Makkah, and the fast of Ramadan."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In the above Tradition the Prophet has compared Islam to a building that is built upon pillars and said that the structure of Islam is raised upon the five fundamental tents. It is, therefore, inconceivable for a Muslim to be negligent in the observance of these principles which, in fact, are the foundational pillars of Islam. It should, however, be remembered that duties in Islam are not confirmed only to the five basic principles but extend to other matters as well, such as, the sanctioning of what is right and prohibiting of what is wrong, and Jihad in the path of Allah. Since the importance they enjoyed is not equalled by any other tenet they have been elevated to the status of fundamental doctrines and this distinction is identical to what has been pointed out in the commentary of the preceding Tradition. The five points are to Islam what body is to soul. Moreover, they exemplify the principal aspects of worship that are an end in themselves and whose obligation is not limited in time or related to a particular situation. These are binding and compulsory at all times and in all conditions as against Jihad and the sanctioning of what is allowed and the forbidding of what is prohibited which are an obligatory duty only on certain occasions and in certain circumstances.

GLAD TIDINGS OF PARADISE AGAINST THE TENETS OF ISLAM

(٤/٤) عَنْ أَنَسِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ قَالَ نُهُنَا أَنْ نَسْأَلَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ شَيْءٍ فَكَانَ يُعَجِّبُنَا أَنْ يَجِيءَ الرَّجُلُ مِنْ أَهْلِ الْبَادِيَةِ الْعَاقِلُ فَيَسْأَلُهُ وَنَحْنُ نَسْمَعُ فَجَاءَ رَجُلٌ مِنْ أَهْلِ الْبَادِيَةِ فَقَالَ يَا مُحَمَّدُ! إِنَّا نَا رَسُولُكَ فَرَعَمَ لَنَا أَنَّكَ تَزْعُمُ أَنَّ اللَّهَ أَرْسَلَكَ قَالَ صَدَقَ، قَالَ فَمَنْ خَلَقَ السَّمَاءَ قَالَ اللَّهُ قَالَ فَمَنْ خَلَقَ الْأَرْضَ قَالَ اللَّهُ قَالَ فَمَنْ نَصَبَ هَذِهِ الْجِبَالِ وَجَعَلَ فِيهَا مَا جَعَلَ قَالَ اللَّهُ قَالَ فَبِأَلَدِي خَلَقَ السَّمَاءَ وَخَلَقَ الْأَرْضَ وَ نَصَبَ هَذِهِ الْجِبَالِ اللَّهُ أَرْسَلَكَ؟ قَالَ نَعَمْ وَزَعَمَ رَسُولُكَ أَنَّ عَلَيْنَا خَمْسَ صَلَوَاتٍ فِي يَوْمِنَا وَلَيْلَتِنَا قَالَ صَدَقَ، قَالَ فَبِأَلَدِي أَرْسَلَكَ اللَّهُ أَمَرَكَ بِهَذَا قَالَ نَعَمْ قَالَ وَزَعَمَ رَسُولُكَ أَنَّ عَلَيْنَا زَكَاةً فِي أَمْوَالِنَا قَالَ صَدَقَ قَالَ فَبِأَلَدِي أَرْسَلَكَ اللَّهُ أَمَرَكَ بِهَذَا؟ قَالَ نَعَمْ قَالَ وَزَعَمَ رَسُولُكَ أَنَّ عَلَيْنَا صَوْمَ شَهْرِ رَمَضَانَ فِي سَنَتِنَا قَالَ صَدَقَ قَالَ فَبِأَلَدِي أَرْسَلَكَ اللَّهُ أَمَرَكَ بِهَذَا؟ قَالَ نَعَمْ؟ قَالَ وَزَعَمَ رَسُولُكَ أَنَّ عَلَيْنَا حُجَّ الْبَيْتِ مِنْ اسْتَطَاعَ إِلَيْهِ سَبِيلًا قَالَ صَدَقَ، قَالَ ثُمَّ وَلَّى وَقَالَ وَالَّذِي بَعَثَكَ بِالْحَقِّ لَا أَزِيدُ عَلَيْهِنَّ وَلَا أَنْقُصُ مِنْهِنَّ فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَيْنَ صَدَقَ لِيَدْ خُلْنَ الْجَنَّةَ

(4/4) Anas ibn Maalik رضي الله عنه has related "We had been forbidden from asking questions from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ [without a genuine need]. It, therefore, made us happy when some intelligent bedouin came to the Prophet ﷺ and enquired from him (about something) and we listened. On one of those days a bedouin came to the Prophet ﷺ and said, 'O Muhammad! Your envoy (or preacher) came to us and told us that Allah has raised you up as His Messenger.' The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'He told you the truth.' So, the bedouin said, 'Tell me, who created the heavens?' 'Allah', the Prophet replied. 'He then asked, 'Who created the earth?' 'Allah', the Prophet ﷺ, again replied. The bedouin, then, asked, 'Who raised the mountains on earth and made what is contained in them?' The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'Allah. Thereupon, the bedouin questioner said, 'By the Being Who created the heavens and the earth and raised the mountains, has the same Allah sent you as His Messenger?' 'Of course', replied the Prophet ﷺ, 'He has sent me as His Messenger'. The bedouin, then, said 'Your envoy also told us that five times Salah are enjoined for the day and night.' The Prophet ﷺ remarked, 'This, too, is correct.' The bedouin said, 'By the One Who raised you up, has the same Allah given you the command for those prayers? The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'Yes.' It is the command of Allah.' The bedouin, again, said, 'And your envoy, also, told us that Zakah is prescribed on our wealth. 'This, too, is correct,' the Prophet ﷺ replied. The bedouin, thereupon, enquired, 'By the Being Who sent you, has the same Allah commanded you to it?' 'Yes', the Prophet ﷺ replied, 'It, also, is the command of Allah.' The bedouin, then, said, 'Your envoy also told us that fasting is prescribed yearly during the month of Ramadan.' The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'This too, is correct.' The bedouin said, "By the Being Who sent you, has the same Allah commanded you to it also?" 'Yes', replied the Prophet ﷺ. 'It is the command of Allah.' The bedouin, further, said, 'Your envoy also told us that pilgrimage to the House of Ka'bah is prescribed to those of us who possess the means to undertake the journey to Makkah.' The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'This too, he said correctly.' The bedouin left after the completion of these questions and answers, and, while departing, he remarked." 'By the Being Who raised you up with truth, I will neither make an addition to them nor a subtraction.' Upon it, the Prophet ﷺ observed, 'If this bondsman is truthful, he shall go to Heaven'."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The opening remark in the above Tradition about the "prohibition of questions" pertains to the Qur'anic verse which reads:

O ye who believe! Ask not of things which, if they were made known unto you, would trouble you. (Al-Ma'idah 5:101)

يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا لَا تَسْأَلُوا عَنْ
أَشْيَاءَ إِنْ تُبَدِّلَكُمْ تَسُوءُكُمْ
(المائدة ٥: ١٠١)

It is natural for man to be inquisitive but if he is allowed to indulge freely in the habit he tends to make minute distinctions in argument and a corresponding weakening of the capacity for action takes place. Much time is also wasted in it. Another harm in asking too many question from the Prophet of the day is that his replies often lead to the expansion of the duties of *Ummah*¹. The Companions ؓ, too, were, therefore, forbidden from putting unnecessary questions. They avoided being needlessly inquisitive after the command was given to them and wished for some bedouin to come and ask questions from the Prophet ﷺ so that they could also get a chance to listen. The holy Prophet ﷺ was greatly indulgent towards the poor bedouin and he allowed them many liberties. In another version of the above Tradition it is related by Anas himself that:

"the bedouin were very bold in putting questions to the Prophet ﷺ and asked from him whatever they liked."²

From Sahih Bukhari we learn, further, that while leaving the bedouin had disclosed that "my name is Damam ibn Tha'labah and I belong to the tribe of Bani Sa'd and have come here as a representative of my people."

In Bukhari, again, it is mentioned that the bedouin had made plain to the Prophet ﷺ on coming that "I want to ask a few questions but my attitude will be rough and severe. Will you not be angry?"

إِنِّي سَأَلْتُكَ فَمَشَدَّدٌ عَلَيْكَ فِي
الْمَسْئَلَةِ فَلَا تَجِدُ عَلَيَّ فِي
نَفْسِكَ فَقَالَ سَلْ عَمَّا بَدَاكَ

The Prophet ﷺ had, thereupon, permitted him to ask whatever he pleased.

The departing words of the bedouin

"I will make neither an addition to nor a subtraction in them,"

لَا أَزِيدُ عَلَيْهِنَّ وَلَا أَنْقُصُ مِنْهُنَّ signified that he would abide strictly by the Prophet's ﷺ teachings and make no alteration in them of his own choice or inclination. It could also mean that he would convey the Prophet's ﷺ message to his people without making any changes.

①. People of the same belief. Here it means the Muslims.

②. Fath-ul-Bari on the authority of Ibn Abu Uwanah.

Another report of the above incident has it that the bedouin took to the preaching of Islam most enthusiastically on his return and delivered such forceful speeches against idolatry that some of his relatives admonished him,

"O Damam, fear leprosy and insanity, lest you became a leper or a lunatic by opposing the gods."

يَا صِمَامُ اتَّقِ الْبُرْصَ وَالْجُدَامَ اتَّقِ
الْجُنُونَ

Allah, however, blessed Damam's efforts so bountifully that those who were warning him against leprosy and lunacy in the morning became ardent upholders of Monotheism in the evening and not a single person was left in the tribe of Bani Sa'd who had not embraced Islam.

(5/5) Abu Ayub رضي الله عنه relates "the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was in a journey, when a bedouin came and stood in front of him and taking the reins of his camel [in his hands] said: 'O Messenger of Allah [or Muhammad]! tell me something that will take me close to Heaven and far from the Fire of Hell.' The Prophet ﷺ stopped [i.e., pulled up the reins of his camel in order to reply], turned towards the Companions رضي الله عنهم [and drawing their attention] observed, 'He has received right guidance.' The Prophet ﷺ then, said to the bedouin questioner, 'Say again what you asked.' The bedouin repeated the question. The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, replied, 'Continue to worship Allah and do not associate anyone, in any way, with Him and continue to offer Salah and to pay Zakah and to join ties of relationship. On completing his reply the Prophet ﷺ said to the bedouin, 'Now leave the reins of my camel'."

(Muslim)

Commentary: In this Tradition the holy Prophet ﷺ has mentioned only the worship of one God, the observance of prayer the payment of Zakah and the joining of ties of relationship as the deeds that are capable of taking one close to Heaven and far from Hell and left out even fasting and Hajj. But it does not mean that these four acts are enough and all the other obligatory duties are unnecessary. To interpret the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ in such a narrow and rigid manner is to betray a woeful want of good judgement. A student of Traditions should always bear in mind the general truth that the Prophet ﷺ is a loving teacher and an earnest benefactor of the Ummah and not a writer or philosopher, and the practice of an ideal teacher is that he imparts knowledge only to the extent to which it is called for by the occasion. Writers, on the other hand, are prone to go into the details of whatever they discuss. To look for the style of writers in the instruction and exhortation of teachers and benefactors is to give the proof of one's ignorance. If Fasting, Hajj and Jihad are not included in this Tradition, it must be because the questioner, at that time, needed, particularly, to be informed and persuaded about the four tenets stressed therein, perhaps, because people, generally, are apt to be negligent about them, i.e., the establishment of Salah, the payment of Zakah, the fulfilment of the rights of kinsmen and the belief in the Oneness and Uniqueness of Allah. Even, today, we find that the number of defaulters among the people for whom fasting and the Hajj pilgrimage are obligatory is less as compared to those who are negligent about observing the duties of Salah and Zakah and fulfilling the rights of relatives, or who are guilty of open or concealed polytheism. Such persons will be very few who may be particular about Salah and Zakah and the rights of kinsmen but do not observe the fast of Ramadan or perform the Hajj although it is obligatory for them to do so. On the contrary, their number is legion who keep the fast when the month of Ramadan comes but do not offer Salah regularly or who have performed the Hajj but are sadly neglectful where Zakah and the rights of fellowmen, like join ties of kins are concerned.

In another account of the same Tradition it is mentioned at the end that after the bedouin had gone away the Prophet ﷺ said, "If he observes these commands strictly he will, surely, go to Heaven."

(Muslim)

While reporting the above Tradition the narrator has expressed his doubts on three occasions:

One, whether the preceding narrator had used the word Khatam or Zamam for the reins of the camel.

Two, whether the bedouin had addressed the Prophet ﷺ as the Messenger of Allah or Muhammad.

Three, whether the Prophet ﷺ had said Laqad Wuffiqa or Laqad Hudiya in respect of the bedouin to the Companions.

It shows how very honest and scrupulous the narrators were in recounting and reporting the Traditions. If they were not sure about the particular word used by the preceding narrator they took care to put it on record even though it did not make the least difference to the meaning of the report.

One can also obtain an idea of the benignity and kindliness of the Prophet ﷺ from the above Tradition. The Prophet ﷺ was on a journey, riding on a she-camel (and, naturally, the journey might have been for a religious purpose), when a bedouin who is a total stranger, comes up, holds the reins of the camel and puts to him bluntly the question mentioned in the Tradition. The Prophet ﷺ, far from getting angry at the bedouin's unrefined behaviour, appreciates his religious keenness and drawing attention of the fellow-travellers observes, "He has been rightly-guided". Moreover, in order to give the Companions another opportunity to listen to the question directly from the bedouin's mouth he asks him to repeat it. He, then, gives the reply, and, finally, says politely to the bedouin, "Well, now leave the reins of my camel."

فصلى الله تعالى عليه وسلم سعة رحمته ورافته

The questioner, it should be remembered, was a mere wandering Arab, a nomad.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(6/6) It is reported by Sayyidina Tahah ibn Ubaydullah رضي الله عنه that a man from Najd with untidy hair came towards the Messenger of Allah ﷺ (saying something). They could hear his voice but could not make out what he said (because his voice was not clear or that a distance separated them from him), till he was close to the Prophet ﷺ. He asked about Islam ("Tell me what the primary injunctions of Islam are which it is obligatory for me and every Muslim to follow.") The Prophet ﷺ said, "The five times salah in day and night (that are fard and are the first duty in Islam)." He said, "Have I any other salah fard on me besides these?" The Prophet ﷺ said, "No, (Only these five Salah are fard), but you can at your own offer more Salah (than these five and get more reward)." The Prophet ﷺ then said, "And, once a year, fasting is prescribed for a month in Ramadan (this being the second duty in Islam)." He asked, "Is any other fasting necessary for me besides Ramadan?" The Prophet ﷺ said, "No (Only the fasts of Ramadan are fard) but you are allowed to observe more optional fasts at your will (receiving more nearness to Allah)." The narrator goes on to say that the Prophet ﷺ then mentioned to him the fard of zakah and he asked the same question, "Will it be necessary for me to give a sadaqah apart from zakah?" The Prophet ﷺ said, "No (only zakah is fard) but you are allowed to give optional Sadaqah at your will (and earn more reward)." The narrator Talhah ibn Ubaydullah رضي الله عنه said, "That man returned after that, saying '(Whatever the Messenger of Allah ﷺ has said to me) I will not add to or deduct from it.'" The Messenger of Allah ﷺ (heard him and) said "He has triumphed if he is truthful."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Hajj, the last tenet of Islam, is not mentioned in this Hadith too. Perhaps, this happened before Hajj was prescribed in 8 A.H or 9 A.H.

It could also be that the narrator chose brevity and omitted to mention those things although the Prophet ﷺ may have mentioned them. This is a possibility because a version of this Hadith in Bukhari has these words too: "فخبره عن شرائع الاسلام" (So, he informed him of the duties in Islam)."

ORDER AND GRADATION IN THE PREACHING OF THE PRINCIPAL TENENTS

(٧/٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِمُعَاذِ بْنِ جَبَلٍ حِينَ بَعَثَهُ إِلَى الْيَمَنِ إِنَّكَ سَتَأْتِي قَوْمًا مِنْ أَهْلِ الْكِتَابِ فَإِذَا جِئْتَهُمْ فَأَذِّعْهُمْ إِلَى أَنْ يَشْهَدُوا أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ، فَإِنْ هُمْ أَطَاعُوا لَكَ بِذَلِكَ فَأَخْبِرْهُمْ أَنَّ اللَّهَ قَدْ فَرَضَ عَلَيْكُمْ خَمْسَ صَلَوَاتٍ فِي كُلِّ يَوْمٍ وَلَيْلَةٍ فَإِنْ هُمْ أَطَاعُوا لَكَ بِذَلِكَ فَأَخْبِرْهُمْ أَنَّ اللَّهَ قَدْ فَرَضَ عَلَيْكُمْ صَدَقَةً تُوْخَذُ مِنْ أَغْنِيَانِهِمْ فَتُرَدُّ عَلَى فُقَرَائِهِمْ، فَإِنْ هُمْ أَطَاعُوا لَكَ بِذَلِكَ فَأَيَّاكَ وَكَرَائِمَ أَمْوَالِهِمْ وَاتَّقِ دَعْوَةَ الْمَظْلُومِ فَإِنَّهُ لَيْسَ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَ اللَّهِ حِجَابٌ. ۞

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(7/7) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه, "When the Messenger of Allah ﷺ sent Mu'az bin Jabal as the Governor of Yemen he told him [at the time of farewell]: 'You are going to a people who are Ahl-Kitab [i.e., profess a religion revealed and contained in the Scripture]. So, when you reach them invite them to the truth that no one is worthy of worship save Allah, and Muhammad is His Messenger. If they accept and affirm it, tell them that Allah has enjoined five prayers upon them during the day and night. If they also accept it, tell them that, in addition to it, Allah has enjoined Zakah upon them which will be taken from the well-to-do of the community and distributed to their poor and needy. If they agree to it as well, desist from laying your hands on the best of their wealth [while realising Zakah from them] and fear the cry of the oppressed for there is no curtain between him and Allah."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: According to Imam Bukhari and some other scholars the Prophet ﷺ had appointed Mu'az as the Governor of Yemen in 10 A.H., but according to most biographers and writers of Maghari in 9 A.H. And while bidding him farewell, he gave him these instructions regarding the preaching of Islam to its people. This has led some people to raise the question about this Tradition, too, that in it the Prophet ﷺ has mentioned only Salah and Zakah though fasting and the Hajj had also been prescribed to the Muslims as a religious duty by that time. Various commentators have explained it in various ways but in our views the aim of the Prophet ﷺ in giving directions of Mu'az was not to describe all the commands and obligations that became binding on a person when he embraced Islam but simply to indicate to him the sequence which should be followed in the preaching and propagation of Faith. All the tenets and requirements of Islam and laws and injunctions of the Shari'ah need not be placed at once before the people for, in that case, it may be hard for them to accept the Faith willingly. On the other hand, first of all, the creed of Divine Unity and mission of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ should be presented to them, and when they have accepted it, they should be told that Allah, who is the Lord Sovereign and the One and Only Creator of all the universe, has also enjoined five daily prayers upon His bondsmen, and when they have accepted it as well, they should be told that Allah has prescribed zakah on their wealth which will be realised from the rich and given away to the poor of the community.

Be that as it may, the object of the Prophet ﷺ was to expound the wise and more sensible principle of graduality, in the preaching of Faith, or else, the essential limits and laws of Islam were already known to Mu'az and it was not necessary to describe all of them to him on that occasion.

Besides, salah and zakah are, undoubtedly, the two most important tenets of Islam and the greatest stress has been laid on them in the Qur'an partly for the fact that when anyone begins to carry them out habitually, it becomes easy for him to observe the other duties as well. In the disciplining of the self, also, the two duties play a vital role. Perhaps, it is for this reason that salah and zakah are, at many places, mentioned side by side in the Qur'an and the Sunnah.

For example, it is stated in surah al-Bayyinah:

(And they are ordained naught elsethan to serve Allah keeping religion pure for Him as men by nature upright, and to establish worship and to pay Zakah. That is true religion)

(Al-Bayyinah 98:5)

وَمَا أُمِرُوا إِلَّا لِيَعْبُدُوا اللَّهَ
مُخْلِصِينَ لَهُ الدِّينَ حُنَفَاءَ
وَيُقِيمُوا الصَّلَاةَ وَيُؤْتُوا الزَّكَاةَ
وَذَٰلِكَ دِينُ الْقِيَمَةِ (البينة ٩٨: ٥)

And it is stated in Surah At Tawbah:

(But if they repent and establish Salah and pay Zakah, then are they your brethren in religion)

(Al-Tawbah 9:11)

فَإِنْ تَابُوا وَأَقَامُوا الصَّلَاةَ
وَاتُوا الزَّكَاةَ فَإِخْوَانُكُمْ فِي الدِّينِ
(التوبة ١١: ٩)

And there is the Hadith narrated by Sayyidina Abdullah ibn Umar ؓ which we will see later:

I am commanded to fight people till they bear witness that there is no god but Allah and that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah and they establish prayer and pay zakah).

أُمِرْتُ أَنْ أَقَاتِلَ النَّاسَ حَتَّى
يَشْهَدُوا أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَنَّ
مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ وَ يَقِيمُوا
الصَّلَاةَ وَيُؤْتُوا الزَّكَاةَ

Thus these selection from Qur'an and Hadith give an aspect of mentioning Salah and Zakah only. But Allah knows best.

The Prophet ﷺ after giving the directions to Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ, advised him that when the time for the collection of zakah came he should refrain from picking out the best of the assessee's wealth [like agricultural produce and cattle] and take only those of the average standard.

Lastly, the sacred Prophet ﷺ told him to guard against the imprecation of the wronged one [i.e., avoid being cruel and unjust to the people to whom he was being sent as the Governor] for there was no barrier between the cry of the aggrieved and the Almighty Creator.

In Musnad Hanbal the Prophet ﷺ, also, is reported to have said, on the authority of Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ

"the malediction of the oppressed is accepted in any case. If he happens to be an evil-doer, the punishment for

كَانَ فَاجِرًا فَفُجُورُهُ عَلَى نَفْسِهِ

the evil-doing is on his person [i.e., the supplication of the oppressed against the oppressor is granted in spite of his sinfulness nad immorlity]."¹

Likewise, in Musnad Ahmad, again, it is stated, on the authority of Sayyidina Anas ؓ that the Prophet ﷺ once said:

"The malediction of the wronged one is granted even though he is an infidel. There is no obstruction in its path."²

كَانَ كَافِرًا لَيْسَ ذُوْنُهُ حِجَابٌ

From the above Tradition we also learn that the recognition of the mission of the Prophet ﷺ and the observance of the earlier Prophets and believers in the Scriptures belonging to the previous periods. To profess their former faith is now not enough for deliverance. The so-called educated Muslims of our time who hold that religious communities like the Jews and Christians can attain the good pleasure of Allah and salvation by adhering to their ancient ways of Law and it is not binding on them to follow the Islamic Shari'ah are either ignorant of Faith and its fundamental principles or mere hypocrites.

He Cannot Attain Salvation Who Does Not Believe in The Messenger of Allah and Profess The Religion Brought by Him

(٨/٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ وَالَّذِي نَفْسُ مُحَمَّدٍ (ﷺ) بِيَدِهِ لَا يَسْمَعُ بِي أَحَدٌ مِنْ هَذِهِ الْأُمَمَةِ يَهُودِيٍّ وَلَا نَصْرَانِيٍّ ثُمَّ يَمُوتُ وَلَمْ يُؤْمِنْ بِالَّذِي أُرْسِلْتُ بِهِ إِلَّا كَانَ مِنْ أَصْحَابِ النَّارِ. (رواه مسلم)

(8/8) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه has related that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "By Him in Whose Hand is the life of Muhammad, a Jew or a Christian of the present Ummah [i.e., belonging to the present age] who hears about me [i.e., the call of my Prophethood reaches him] and, yet, dies without affirming faith in the religion brought by me will, surely, be among the dwellers of Hell." (Muslim)

Commentary: The reference to the Jew and Christian in the above Tradition is only by way of an illustration. What it aims at emphasising is that when confirmed people of the Scripture, like Jews and Christians, can not achieve deliverance without acknowledging the Prophethood of Muhammad ﷺ and accepting the Islamic Shari'ah as their way of life, one can imagine what the end of the infidels and polytheists is going to be.

This Tradition clearly implies that in the current era of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ [which began with his raising up as the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and shall endure till the Last Day] anyone to whom the call of his Prophethood reaches but he does not believe in him nor accept the religion revealed through him as his own and dies in that state, will go to Hell, be he a Jew or a Christian, i.e., the follower of an earlier Prophet and his Book and way of Law.

In a nutshell, with the raising up of the Last of the Prophets ﷺ, salvation is not possible without affirmation of faith in him and acceptance of his Shari'ah. Whoever may not have received the knowledge of his mission or heard the call of Islam is, of course, free from guilt. It is a fundamental principle of Islam and any doubt or misgiving in respect of it can only be due to lack of appreciation of the true significance of the mission of the sacred Prophet ﷺ.

(٩/٩) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ ﷺ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَرَأَيْتَ رَجُلًا مِنَ النَّصَارَى مُتَمَسِّكًا بِالْإِنْجِيلِ وَرَجُلًا مِنَ الْيَهُودِ مُتَمَسِّكًا بِالتَّوْرَةِ يُؤْمِنُ بِاللَّهِ وَرَسُولِهِ ثُمَّ لَمْ يَتَّبِعَكَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ ﷺ مَنْ سَمِعَ بِي مِنْ يَهُودِيٍّ أَوْ نَصْرَانِيٍّ ثُمَّ لَمْ يَتَّبِعْنِي فَهُوَ فِي النَّارِ. (اخرجه الدار قطنى فى الافراد)

(9/9) It is related by Abdullah ibn Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that a person came to Prophet ﷺ and said, "O Messenger of Allah! There is a Christian who acts according to the Bible, and, in the same way, there is a Jew who obeys the commandments of the Torah and also believes in Allah and His Messenger, but does not profess your Faith nor accepts your Shari'ah — tell us, then, what is the verdict about them." The Prophet ﷺ replied: "The Jew or Christian who received the knowledge of what I tell [i.e., my call reached him], and yet he did not become my follower is sure to go to Hell." (Daraqutni¹)

Commentary: The above Tradition is even more explicit than the preceding one. It distinctly tells us that even though a Jew or a Christian believes in Allah and His Messengers (i.e., acknowledges the Oneness of God and the mission of the Messenger) but follows the Torah or the Bible in place of Shari'ah brought by the holy Prophet ﷺ, and regards it as sufficient for his salvation, he will not attain deliverance. The same truth has been propounded in the Qur'an in these words:

Say: If ye love Allah, follow me. Allah will love you and forgive you your sins.

(Aal-e-Imran 3:31)

”قُلْ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ تُحِبُّونَ اللَّهَ فَاتَّبِعُونِي يُحْبِبْكُمُ اللَّهُ وَ يُغْفِرْ لَكُمْ ذُنُوبَكُمْ“
(ال عمران ٣: ٣١)

1. This Hadith is narrated by Mawlana Badr Aalam in Tarjuman us Sunna, v2 and I have reproduced it from there.

(رواه مسلم)

(10/10) It is related by A'mash Tabi'ee, on the authority of his teacher, Abu Salih [not being certain whether he had related it on the authority of Abu Hurairah or Abu Sa'eed al-Khudri] that during the days of the Battle of Tabook when the stock of food had been used up completely and) people were tormented with hunger, they said to the Prophet ﷺ, Messenger of Allah! If you allow, we may kill the water-carrying camels and eat their flesh as well as obtain oil from them." The Prophet ﷺ replied, "Yes; you may do it." Then, Umar came to him and said, "O Messenger of Allah! If you do that [i.e., allow them to slaughter the camels], we will run short of transport. [Let it, therefore, not be done]. In its place, tell them to bring whatever provisions are left with them, then, pray to Allah for an increase in the supply of food. It is hoped Allah will grant an increase in it." Yes; you are right," the Prophet ﷺ replied. He, thereupon, sent for a large piece of leather (on which food is laid out). When it was spread on the ground, the Prophet ﷺ ordered the men to bring what was left with them of the foodstuffs. Thus, somebody came with a handful of Zurra,¹ somebody with a handful of dates and somebody with a piece of bread till these articles were laid down, in a small quantity, on the piece of leather. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ, then prayed for an increase, and said to them, "Now, fill your vessels from it." They all filled their vessels so that [in the army of about thirty thousand] not a single vessel remained empty. Every one ate to his heart's content and some of the food was still left. On that the Prophet ﷺ said, "I affirm that there is no deity save Allah and I am his Messenger. There is no bondsman who appears before Allah with these two affirmations made sincerely and without a trace of doubt or reservation and yet is prevented from entering Paradise."

(Muslim)

Commentary: The import of the above saying is obvious. The purpose of reproducing it here is related to its concluding part in which the Prophet ﷺ, after bearing testimony to the Oneness of Allah and his own Messengership has declared that whoever affirms these two things, honestly and truthfully, and dies in that state shall go to Heaven.

Those who are acquainted a little with the mode of expression of the Qur'an and the Traditions will be knowing that the testimony of Allah's Oneness and the Prophet's mission necessarily implies the acknowledgement of the religious call of the sacred Prophet ﷺ and the two affirmations by anyone is always taken to mean that he has accepted the Prophet's call and embraced the creed of Islam. This Tradition, therefore, signifies no more and no less than this that whoever, on the pronouncement of the formula of La-ilah-a-illa-l-la, Muhammadur Rasoolul-lah (There is no deity save Allah and Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah), accepts the religious call of the Prophet ﷺ and makes Islam his faith from the bottom of his heart and with full certainty and dies in that state will, doubtlessly, go to Heaven.

It logically follows that if a person makes a formal declaration of the formula of Faith but does not embrace Islam and continues to profess some other religion or acknowledges Divine Unity and Messengership but rejects the other principal tenets like belief in the Qur'an and the Hereafter, he shall not be worthy of the glad tidings contained in the above Tradition.

In fine, in this saying the testimony of Unit of Allah and the mission of the Prophet stands for the recognition of the religious calls of the divine Messenger and the acceptance of Islam as one's faith. The other Traditions in which the tidings of the Paradise are given only on the affirmation of Divine Unity and the pronouncement of La-ilaha-illal-lah also convey the same meaning. These are, in fact, the familiar and spiritual message of the Prophet ﷺ and the embracing of the faith of Islam.

This Tradition also shows, incidentally, that:-

- (i) However great or important a man may be, even if he is Messenger of Allah, if he expresses his opinion on anything and a follower or servant of his, endowed with a sound judgement, feels that it is erroneous or harmful, he should not hesitate to place his considered view respectfully before him and the person of higher rank or position should, on his part, think calmly over it, and, if it appears to be a better and wiser suggestion, accept it in preference of his own idea.
- (ii) The granting of a supplication and, specially, the manifestation of the acceptance thereof in a supernatural manner, is among the signs of Allah and an exceptional indication of devoutness and His favour that it is the source of the promotion of inner happiness and tranquility among the believers is beyond dispute. It is a legacy of Messengership as is evident from the recitation of the confessional Formula by the holy Prophet. Those who feel inquietude instead of joy at the mention of such Divine rewards and treat the reports of miraculous.

❶. It should be clear that the manifestation of a supernatural even is a sign of devotion to Allah and of His good pleasure only when it comes to pass through the instrumentality of a person whose life is openly one of virtue and righteousness while if it is performed by a non-Muslim whose conduct is evidently not worthy of the Shari'ah, it is Istidraj in theological parlance.

happenings like these with contempt and ridicule are, in fact, spiritually sick and victims of a diseased mentality

(11/11) Ubada ibn Samit ؓ has related to us that he heard it from the Prophet ﷺ that Allah has forbidden the Fire of Hell to touch him who testifies that there is no god save Allah and that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah with a true heart. (Muslim)

Commentary: In this Tradition, too, the affirmation of Divine Unity and the mission the Prophet ﷺ signifies the acceptance of the call of Islam. The testimony that there is no deity but Allah, and Muhammad ﷺ is His Messenger encompassed the whole of Islam, and whoever declares it to be true makes the whole of Islam his faith. If, after that, he succumbs to the weakness that are peculiar to man and commits a sin, his religious consciousness will compel him to make amends for it through the prescribed methods of repentance and atonement, and, Insha Allah, he will, thus, be saved from the Punishment of Hell.

(12/12) Mu'az ibn Jabal ؓ has narrated once he was riding on the same camel with the Prophet ﷺ, with only the rear part of the saddle separating them [i.e., he was sitting very close to the Prophet]. The Prophet ﷺ called him "Mu'az ibn Jabal. "Here I am. At your service", he replied. Then, again, after a little while, he said, "Mu'az ibn Jabal. "Here I am. At your service," he replied. On the third occasion, the Prophet ﷺ said, 'Do you know what is the claim of Allah on His slaves?' "Allah and His Messenger know best". Mu'az replied. The Prophet ﷺ observed, "The claim of Allah upon His bondsmen is that they worship Him and obey Him and associate no one with Him." Then, after travelling for some time, he said, "Mu'az ibn Jabal". Here I am. At your service", he replied. The Prophet ﷺ said, "Do you know what is the claim of the bondsmen of Allah?" "Allah and His Messenger know best", he replied. "It is that He does not punish them." said the Prophet." (Bukhari and Muslim) Commentary: A few points are worthy of note in this Tradition.

(i) The way in which Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ has mentioned the fact of his riding on the camel with the Prophet ﷺ and sitting so close to him at His back before narrating the main Tradition can be due to various reasons:

Firstly, the special affection of the Prophet ﷺ had for Mu'az ؓ, and the place of great trust and confidence he enjoyed with him ought to be kept in mind in order to understand why the Prophet ﷺ chose to tell Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ something he did not want to be made known to the general body of Muslims, as is clear from the succeeding Tradition.

Secondly, by describing the event, item by item, Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ might have meant to emphasise his certitude about the Tradition, that he remembered the Tradition so well that even the minute details were prescribed in his memory.

Thirdly, since the lovers are given to prolong the description of what transpired during the memorable moments spent in the company of the beloved so as to derive the utmost pleasure from it, Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ, too, might have related in detail the event of his riding with the Prophet ﷺ on the same camel.

Fourthly, The Prophet ﷺ called Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ thrice, at brief intervals, and, then, at the third time he related the first portion of what he had to tell, and when he calling him the fourth time he spoke of the second portion. The commentators have explained it by suggesting that the Prophet ﷺ, perhaps, wanted to draw Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ attention fully so that he listened carefully to what he was going to say. Another explanation can be that the Prophet ﷺ had not decided whether to tell it to Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ or not, and he told him only when his mind was fully made up, but to us, both the interpretations are rather far-fetched. What appears more probable is that the Prophet ﷺ was seized with an unusual state of feeling at that time. He addressed Mu'az and, then, before he could say anything got lost in thought. Hence, the intermissions. But Allah knows best.

Fifth, The substance of the Tradition is that the claim of Allah upon the bondsmen is that they should worship and obey no one save Him and ascribe no partners to Him, and if they did so and fulfilled the claim, Allah has accepted for Himself the right of the bondsmen that He would not bring down His punishment upon them.

In the above Tradition, also, worshipping of Allah and keeping away from polytheism stands for the acceptance of Islam and observance of its tenets, and since during those days the doctrine of divine Unity was the main dividing line between Islam and paganism, it has been made the starting point in this as well as many other sayings of the Prophet ﷺ. Besides worship of Allah and avoidance of polytheism marks the indispensable characteristic of Islam, and therefore, it is often used to signify the Islamic faith itself. The view [that in this Tradition worship of Allah and abstention from polytheism denotes the acceptance of Islam as one's creed] is further supported by another report of it [which we are going to reproduce below], again from Bukhari and Muslim, in which belief in and affirmation of Divine Oneness and Messengership also mentioned, and in yet another version, Salah and fasting are spoken of as well along with the testimony of the Oneness of Allah and mission of the Prophet ﷺ.

رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَسَعْدَيْكَ قَالَ يَا مَعَاذَ! قَالَ لَيْتَكَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَسَعْدَيْكَ ثَلَاثًا،

 حَرَّمَ اللَّهُ عَلَى النَّارِ، قَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَفَلَا أُخْبِرُ بِهِ النَّاسَ فَيَسْتَبْشِرُوا قَالَ إِذَا
 يَتَكَلَّمُوا فَأَخْبِرْ بِهَا مَعَاذَ عِنْدَ مَوْتِهِ تَائِمًا.
 (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(13/13) It is related by Anas bin Maalik رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ called Mu'az رضي الله عنه when he was travelling with him on a camel and said, "O Mu'az!" "Here I am, O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! replied Mu'az. The Prophet ﷺ, again, said, "O Mu'az!" "Here I am, O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! replied Mu'az. "Do command". It happened thrice. [At the third time] the Prophet ﷺ observed, 'Whoso affirms with a true heart that there is no god but Allah and Muhammad is His Messenger, Allah has forbidden the Fire of Hell to touch a person.' Mu'az رضي الله عنه, on hearing the glad tidings, asked the Prophet ﷺ, "May I tell it to the people so that they all may be happy." "They will then, rely solely upon it and sit back," the Prophet ﷺ replied. This Tradition was related by Mu'az رضي الله عنه on his dying day for fear of being called to account for concealment of knowledge." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The similarity of the opening portion of the two Traditions shows that they concern the same incident. The only difference between them is that while the first employs the phrase, "worship of Allah and avoidance of polytheism," to signify the acceptance of Islam, the second expresses it in the testimony of the Oneness of Allah and the Messengership."

Again, in another report the above tidings [as reproduced in Mishkaat from Musnad Ahmad] Mu'az رضي الله عنه has mentioned salah and fasting also along with Divine Unity. It reads:

"Whoever appears before Allah in such a state that his skirt is free from the stain of polytheism and he offers regularly the five daily Salah and observes fasting, he shall be forgiven."

مَنْ لَقِيَ اللَّهَ لَا يُشْرِكُ بِهِ شَيْئًا

 (15/15) Abu Zarr Ghifar ؓ relates, [One day] I went to the Prophet ﷺ but he was asleep, covered with a white mantle. [After some time], I went again and found that he was awake. He said, 'The bondsman who says There is no god but One Allah and dies in that state shall go to Heaven'. Abu Zarr ؓ relates that he exclaims, "Even if he commits theft? Even if he commits adultery?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, "[Yes]! Even if he has committed adultery [and] even if he has committed theft." [Abu Zarr goes to relate that] he again exclaimed, "Even if he commits adultery, even if he commits theft?" The Prophet ﷺ, again, replied, "Yes ! Even if he has committed adultery [and] even if he has committed theft." [Abu Zarr relates that] once again, he asked with astonishment, "O Messenger of Allah! Will anyone who had affirmed La Ilaha Il-Lallah go to Heaven even if he has committed adultery [and] even if he has committed theft?" The Prophet ﷺ remarked, "Yes". In spite of Abu Zarr¹ [he shall go to Heaven] even if he has committed adultery [and] even if he has committed theft." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In this Tradition, again, the pronouncement of the formula of Faith, La Ilaha Il-Laah, denotes the acknowledgement of the entire creed of Monotheism [i.e., Islam], and it is beyond doubt that whoever will do so with a truthful heart shall go to Heaven. In case he has committed a sin, in spite of being a Believer, Allah will admit him to Paradise, forgiving him his sins and without punishing him for his misdeeds if he is deserving of pardon, and, supposing he is not worthy of pardon, he will yet go to Heaven after undergoing punishment. Whoever believes sincerely in Islam shall, at all events, enter Paradise even if after passing through a spell of chastisement in Hell.

Sayyidina Abu Zarr ؓ put the same question to the Prophet, over and over again, probably because it appeared to him rather strange that a person who had been guilty of such mortal sins as adultery and theft could find a place in Heaven. Till then, this precept had not come to his knowledge. We find it hard, today, to understand the hesitation of Abu Zarr because we have been born into Islam and have learnt these elementary principles in the natural way at home. But Allah knows best.

مَاتَ وَهُوَ يَعْلَمُ أَنَّهُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ دَخَلَ الْجَنَّةَ. (رواه مسلم)

(16/16) It is related by Uthman ibn 'Affan رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "Whoso died knowing with complete certainty that no one was worthy of worship aside of Allah shall go to Paradise." (Muslim)

Commentary: In this Tradition, also, the state of complete certainty in the truth of La Ilaha-il-Lallah signifies the state of faith in the entire creed of Monotheism and the gaining of admission into Paradise denotes what we have explained earlier, i.e., every believing man shall go to Paradise either straightaway, by the Mercy of Allah, or after undergoing punishment for his transgressions, depending on what the balance-sheet of his deeds on earth calls for.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(17/17) It is related by Itban ibn Maalik [and he is one of the Ansar Companions of the Prophet who fought in the Battle of Badr:] "[Once] I presented myself before the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, 'My vision has become impaired and I lead the people in congregational Salah. Thus, when it rains and the small stream that lies between my house and the houses of my people begins to flow it becomes impossible for me to go to their mosque and lead the congregation. O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! [therefore] request you to come to my house and offer Salah there so that I may make the spot [where you offer worship] the permanent place of worship for myself.' The Prophet ﷺ replied, Insha Allah, I will do that." On the very next morning, when the day had advanced a little, he and Abu Bakr came to my house and the Messenger of Allah ﷺ sought my permission to enter. I gave him the permission. When he came in, he did not sit, but asked me, 'What place do you prefer in your house where I may offer the Salah?' I pointed towards a part of the house, upon which the Prophet ﷺ stood up and commenced the Salah after saying Allah-u-Akbar. We, also, stood behind him in a row. The Prophet ﷺ offered two raka'at and turned his face in salutation. I requested him to stay and part take of the Khazeera² we had prepared for him. [On hearing about the Prophet's ﷺ presence] some of the neighbours also came and joined in the meal. Then one of them asked, 'Where is Maalik ibn Dukhaysh [or Ibn Dykhsha]?' Someone from among them replied, 'He is a hypocrite. He has no love for Allah and His Messenger.' The Prophet ﷺ remarked, 'Do not say so. Do you not see that he believes in La Ilaha Illa Allah and seeks the good plasure of Allah through it?' The same person said, 'Allah and His Messenger know best. We [on our part], find that his sympathy and inclination is towards the hypocrites.' '[Verily], replied the Prophet, 'Allah has forbidden the Fire of Hell for anyone who has said La Ilaha Ill Allah with a sincere heart and whose intention is nothing but to seek the countenance of Allah through it." (Bukhari and Mulsim)

 - ②. A kind of dish made up of meat, flour and spices.

Commentary: Again, the forbiddin of the Fire of Hell for any one who recites the Kalimah, La Ilaha Ill Allah denotes what we just said while explaining the sayings of the Prophet belonging to the same category. Further, in the report appearing in Sahih Muslim, Yash-hudu La Ilaha Ill Allah [affirmed there is no god but One Allah] has been mentioned in place of Qala La Ilaha Ill Allah [said there is no god but One God], but both the expression convey the call and the adoption of the faith of Islam. As we have seen already, during the days of the Prophet ﷺ it was the popular way of indicating the acceptance of Islam as one's religion.

The Companions ﷺ who had described Maalik ibn Dukhayshin as a Hypocrite knew of no transgression on his part except that he kept the company of the Hypocrites and was on friendly terms with them. From it we can know how sensitive the Companions ﷺ were with regard to Faith. Even a minor thing like this was so repugnant to them that they denounced it as hypocrisy. The Prophet's ﷺ admonition, further, carries the lesson that if weaknesses like these are present in some people but they are earnest in their affirmation of Divine Unity and Messengership it will not be correct to mistrust them or to condemn them so severely. Rather the aspect of faith and belief is stronger.

We must remember that Maalik ibn Dukhayshin was a Companion who took part in battles including Badr. Perhaps he had some reason to keep company of the hypocrites like Hatib ibn Abu Balta'a ﷺ. But Allah knows best.

(رواه مسلم)

(18/18) It is reported by the Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that they were seated around the Prophet ﷺ one day. Sayyidina Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه and Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه were also there. The Prophet ﷺ got up (and went out somewhere). He did not return for a long time and they were worried about that lest he may have come to harm (from an enemy). So, they went out (to look for him) and Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه said that he was the first to set out to look for him. He reached the garden of Banu an-Najjar a family of the Ansar; it was enclosed in four walls. He went round it but could not find an entrance till he found a (small) round irrigation (duct) which began at a well outside and went inside the garden. So, he squeezed himself and entered the garden along it and found the Prophet ﷺ there. He said, "Abu Hurayrah!" And he replied: "Yes! O Messenger of Allah ﷺ." He asked, "Why have you come?" He replied, "O Messenger of Allah! You were seated with us but went away. You did not return, so we worried lest you should have come to harm. So, we all came out worried about the danger and I was the first to come out till I came to this garden. When I could not find an entrance, I squeezed myself like a fox and came in and the others are coming behind me." The Prophet ﷺ then gave him his sandals, saying, "Take my shees and whoever you meet outside the garden, who testifies sincerely from the core of his heart that there is no god but Allah, give him the glad tidings of Paradise." The first man he met was Sayyidina Umar ؓ who asked, "Abu Hurayrah, why the sandals in your hand?" He said "These belong to the Prophet ﷺ who has sent me with them to give glad tidings of Paradise to the one who I meet and who testifies to لا إله إلا الله (There is no god but Allah)." Sayyidina Umar ؓ hit him with his hand on his chest which caused him to fall down on his hips and he said, "Return back!" He returned to the Prophet ﷺ weeping and Umar ؓ followed him. The Prophet ﷺ asked him, "What has happened to you, Abu Hurayrah?" He said, "I met Umar and I conveyed your message to him but he gave me a hard blow on my chest so that I fell down on my hips and he asked me to turn back." The Prophet ﷺ asked Umar ؓ, "O Umar, why did you do that?" He said, "May my parents be ransomed to you. Did you send Abu Hurayrah with your sandals that if he met anyone who testifies to لا إله إلا الله (There is no God but Allah), he should give him glad tidings of Paradise?" The Prophet ﷺ confirmed that he had sent him with that message. Sayyidina Umar ؓ said, "O Messenger of Allah, do not do it, for I fear people may rely on the testimony (and neglect deeds). So, let them perform deeds." The Prophet ﷺ said, "So, leave them alone." (Muslim) Commentary: Some things need to be explained in this Hadith.

(i) Why did the Prophet ﷺ give his sandals to Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ? The most plausible explanation is that the Prophet ﷺ gave them to him as a sign of authority for the message was important and at that time, he did not have anything apart from his sandals to give him.

(ii) The stern attitude of Sayyidina Umar ؓ may be understood if we realise that he (and Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ) had a special relationship of confidant, counsellor and assistant with the Prophet ﷺ which the Companions ؓ recognised. Sayyidina Umar ؓ had this right and often used it in dealing with other Companions ؓ. Perhaps, as a senior, he had asked Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ to return but he may have hesitated because he was carrying an important message for all Believers which was an auspicious duty for him and which he was unwilling to relinquish. Therefore, Sayyidina Umar ؓ compelled him to return, confident as he was that he would convince the Prophet ﷺ of the negative side of the message. Indeed, the Prophet ﷺ agreed with him and prevented Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ from publicising the message.

We must remember that Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ had asked permission to let other people know when the Prophet ﷺ had given him the same tidings but the Prophet ﷺ had disallowed him for the same reason as extended by Sayyidina Umar ؓ now.

(iii) Even this Hadith gives glad tidings of Paradise against a testimony of the Kalimah لا إله إلا الله. A general explanation is the same as forwarded against the earlier Ahadith but there is a fair amount of hint in this Hadith that such a one would first have to undergo punishment against sins. Then he will surely go to Paradise; that leaves no doubt whatever.

There is also another aspect to this declaration. Those who are very close to Allah sometimes experience tremendous awe and fear on the disclosure of divine wrath and retribution. At such times they feel that no disobedient one will gain salvation, so they declare that sinners will not enter Paradise. Similarly, when they experience unlimited hope against divine Mercy and benevolence, they feel that even a little good will save one and they declare accordingly. Shirazi has described this condition thus:

و گر درد بدیک صلائے کرم عزایل گوید نصیبے برم

Hence, it is a safe conjecture about this Hadith that when Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ met the Prophet ﷺ in the orchard of Banu Najjar, he was lost in contemplation of the unlimited mercy of Allah. It was in that condition that he gave his sandals to Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ﷺ instructing him to convey the news of Paradise to every witness of unity of Allah. However, Sayyidina Umar ﷺ was aware of these extremes of temperament and conditions so he prevented Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ﷺ from conveying the news to others till he had investigated it with the Prophet ﷺ. We can also say that Sayyidina Umar ﷺ had sensed the peculiar condition the Prophet's ﷺ heart was going through (experiencing the unlimited mercy of Allah), and Allah had disclosed it to him. He had also realised that once the Prophet ﷺ came out of that condition he would see the other side of the declaration, and disallow the spreading of the news. It was a distinguishing feature of Sayyidina Umar ﷺ that he read the true facts in this way.

Another Principle that Answers Doubts of This Kind of Ahadith

In interpreting Qur'anic verses or Ahadith of this type we must remember a principle. The speaker aims at bringing out the individual qualities and true effects of such tidings irrespective of the results of other deeds. It is like recounting the potency of a medicine; for example, a particular treatment may prevent cold but it does not follow at if, at the same time, a man consumes spicy and sour delicacies, he will remain immune from cold.

Thus, the message of such Ahadith is simply that a confirmation of unity of Allah and the Mission of the Prophet ﷺ is conducive to admittance to Paradise and deliverance from chastisement in Hell. However, if he has also performed wicked deeds against which the Qur'an and Ahadith have warned of punishment then obviously they too will show their effect to some extent.

If we keep before us this simple point then it will be very easy for us to understand the Ahadith which promise reward and encourage good deeds.

قَالَ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَكَانَ فِي قَلْبِهِ مِنَ الْخَيْرِ مَا يَزِنُ بُرَّةً ثُمَّ يُخْرَجُ مِنَ النَّارِ مَنْ قَالَ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَكَانَ فِي قَلْبِهِ مِنَ الْخَيْرِ مَا يَزِنُ ذَرَّةً. (رواه البخارى ومسلم واللفظ له)

(19/19) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said, "They all will be taken out of Hell who said, La Ilaha IllAllah and there was even a barley grain's weight of good in their hearts; then they, also, will be taken out who said La Ilaha IllAllah and there was a wheat grain's weight of good in their heart; and then they, also, will be taken out who said La Ilaha IllAlah and there was an atom's weight of good in their hearts. (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: This Tradition, once more, confirms the view that the pronouncement of the Kalimah La Ilaha IllAllah signifies acceptance of the entire creed of Islam and shows that all those will, ultimately, be taken out of Hell who recite the Kalimah and profess Islam, and possess any amount of good [i.e., the light of Faith] in their hearts. In this Tradition, the word Khayr has occurred thrice and we have translated it as good. But in another report [which also has been mentioned in Bukhari] the word Eeman [Faith] is used instead of Khayr which strengthens the view that here stands for Light of Faith.

Two most significant points emerging from this Tradition which form a part of the universeally accepted principles of faith.

(i) Many people will be cast into Hell on account of their evil deeds though they may have affirmed faith in the Kalimah, La ilaha IllAllah.

(ii) If in their hearts there will be the least amount of Faith [or, in the words of the Tradition, even of the weight of an atom], they will, eventually, be taken out of Hell. It cannot be that a Believer of the lowest order lives permanently in Hell alongwith infidels and polytheists, however sinful his earthly conduct might have been.

In Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim, Traditions conveying the same meaning have also been related on the authority of Sayyidina Abu Sa'eed al-Khudri رضي الله عنه, Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه and Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه, and, in other compilations, on the authority of Sayyidina Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه, Abu Musa رضي الله عنه and many other Companions رضي الله عنهم. According to all authorities the point under discussion is proved from the Prophet ﷺ through successive Traditions. In the detailed version of the above Tradition of Sayyidina Abu Sa'eed al-Khudri رضي الله عنه, contained in Bukhari and Muslim, it is candidly stated that the faithful who have attained salvation will pray earnestly for forgiveness of sinful Muslims who will have been thrown into Hell and Allah will allow them to go and take out of Hell everyone in whom they saw even a *dirham's*¹ weight of good. Consequently, a large number of persons answering to this description will be taken out. Next, permission will be given to them to go and take out of Hell everyone in whom they saw even half-a-dirham's weight of good. Consequently, a large number of persons answering to this description will also, be taken out. Afterwards, they will be commanded to go and take out everyone in whom they saw even an atom's weight of good. Thus, a large number of persons belonging to this group will also be taken out. Ultimately, the intercessors will, themselves, declare, "Our Lord! Now, we have left no one in Hell who possessed any amount of good." Allah will, then say:

The angels have interceded, the Prophets have interceded, and the Faithful have interceded, and the intercession of all of them has been accepted. Now, only the turn of the Most Merciful among those who show mercy remains."

”شَفَعَتِ الْمَلَائِكَةُ وَشَفَعَ النَّبِيُّونَ
وَلَمْ يَبْقَ إِلَّا أَرْحَمُ الرَّاحِمِينَ
فَيَقْبِضُ قَبْضَةً فَيُخْرِجُ مِنْهَا قَوْمًا
لَمْ يَعْمَلُوا خَيْرًا قَطُّ“.

He will, thereupon, take out of Hell, by His Own Hand of Forgiveness and Mercy, even those who will not have to their credit even a single act of virtue. About such people it is also mentined at the end of Abu Sa'eed's رضي الله عنه Hadith that:

"they will be the ones set free by Allah. He will admit them to Paradise, sans the deed they may have performed and sans the good they may have done."

”هَؤُلَاءِ عَتَقَاءُ اللَّهِ الَّذِينَ أَدْخَلَهُمُ اللَّهُ الْجَنَّةَ بِغَيْرِ عَمَلٍ عَمِلُوهُ وَلَا
خَيْرٍ قَدَّمُوهُ“.

During the early centuries of Islam the sects of Murjyah and Khawarij had gone the way of 'excess and curtailment' in respect of this doctrine and, even now, the inclination of some people is towards 'excess' and, of others, towards 'curtailment'. We, therefore, thought it fit to discuss it at some length here.

All Previous Sins are Forgiven on Acceptance of Islam

(٢٠/٢٠) عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْعَاصِ قَالَ لَمَّا جَعَلَ اللَّهُ الْإِسْلَامَ فِي قَلْبِي آتَيْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقُلْتُ أُبْسِطُ يَمِينَكَ فَلَا بَا يَعْكَ فَبَسَطَ يَمِينَهُ فَقَبَضْتُ يَدِي فَقَالَ مَا لَكَ يَا عَمْرُو قُلْتُ أَرَدْتُ أَنْ أَشْتَرِطَ قَالَ تَشْتَرِطُ مَاذَا؟ قُلْتُ أَنْ يُغْفِرَ لِي قَالَ أَمَا عَلِمْتَ يَا عَمْرُو أَنَّ الْإِسْلَامَ يَهْدِمُ مَا كَانَ قَبْلَهُ وَأَنَّ الْهِجْرَةَ تَهْدِمُ مَا كَانَ قَبْلَهَا وَأَنَّ الْحَجَّ يَهْدِمُ مَا كَانَ قَبْلَهُ. (رواه مسلم)

(20/20) It is related by 'Amr ibn al'Aas رضي الله عنه "when the idea of embracing Islam was planted in my heart by Allah I presented myself before the Prophet ﷺ and said, 'Extend your hand so that I may offer bay'ah'¹. He, extended his right hand but when I withdrew my hand, he asked, 'What happened to you, 'Amr?' I said, 'I want to lay down a condition.' 'What is the condition that you want to lay down?' enquired the Prophet ﷺ. 'It is', I replied, 'that all my [previous] misdeeds be forgiven.' The Prophet ﷺ observed, 'O 'Amr, do you not know that the profession of Islam does away with all previous sins, and Hijrah also does away with all previous sins, and the Hajj also does away with all previous sins?' (Muslim)

Commentary: Apart from the acceptance of Islam, the holy Prophet ﷺ also spoke of the efficacy of Hijrah and the Hajj in the remission of sins in order to emphasise that, what to speak of Islam, some of its rites, too, possessed the property of washing away the sins. Two things, however, must be remembered. Firstly, the embracing of Islam, the doing of Hijrah and the performance of Hajj are effective only when these are carried out with a pure heart. Secondly, it is a settled fact that, from the point of view of the ①. A solemn pledge of allegiance given to a leader by his followers and binding them to absolute obedience.

Shari'ah, if a person has transgressed against the rights, specially of a monetary nature, of fellowmen, such an act [or acts] will not be forgiven on the acceptance of Islam or the carrying out of the Hijrah or performance of the Hajj. It is essential to clear up the account, in this respect, with the aggrieved and to pay back their just claims.

In the Qur'an, also, the remission of previous sins has been promised to those who embrace Islam and give up for good the life of infidelity and polytheism.

[O Muhammad], tell those who disbelieve that if they cease [to disobey Allah and His Messenger] that which is past be forgiven to them. (Al-Anfal 8:38)

”قُلْ لِلَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا إِنْ يَنْتَهُوا يُغْفَرْ لَهُمْ مَا قَدْ سَلَفَ ۝
(الأنفال ٨:٣٨)

(21/21) It is related by Abu Sa'eed al Khudri رضي الله عنه that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, "When a person embraces Islam and his Islam is [also] good, the sins he [previously] committed are forgiven by Allah due to the blessedness of Islam, and, after that, the requital of all his good and evil deeds is that on every good deed he is rewarded [by Allah] from ten to seven hundred times, and, on every evil deed, he is punished [by Allah] for one evil deed except that Allah may overlook that, too, and forgive him altogether." (Bukhari)

Commentary: It shows that the remission of previous sins on the adoption of Islam as one's faith is subject to the condition that the beauty of Islam spreads through one's life [i.e., one's heart and soul are lit up with its radiance and the body and the outward appearance get adorned with loyalty and submission to Allah]. This is what and his Islam is [also] good means. Thus, if anyone's life remains bereft of the elegance and effulgence of Islam and his entire existence- the hidden as well as the manifest- does not get died in its hue even after entering into its fold, the promise of the remission of past misdeeds will not hold good for him.

Further, the remunerative law of every good deed fetching the reward for ten to seven hundred times is meant only for those who have produced some of the beauty and radiance of Islam in their lives and their virtuous deeds will count tenfold to seven-hundred-fold in proportion to it.

Life and Property Become Secure With The Acceptance of Islam

(٢٢/٢٢) عَنْ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أُمِرْتُ أَنْ أَقَاتِلَ النَّاسَ حَتَّى يَقُولُوا لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ فَمَنْ قَالَهَا فَقَدْ عَصَمَ مِنِّي مَالَهُ وَنَفْسَهُ إِلَّا بِحَقِّهِ وَحِسَابُهُ عَلَى اللَّهِ.
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(22/22) It is related by Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "I am commanded to wage war against the people until they testify that no one is worthy of worship aside of Allah. Thus, whoever, affirms La Ilaha Illallah obtains the security of his life and property except for rights of Islam, and his reckoning is with Allah." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The above Tradition was narrated during the discussion that took place between Sayyidina Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه and Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه on the question of taking up arms against the tribes that had refused to pay Zakah after the death of the sacred Prophet ﷺ.

The pronouncement of La Ilaha Illallah signifies again the acknowledgement of the call of Islam and just as in the foregoing Traditions salvation and the attainment of Paradise has been set forth as the ultimate sequel of affirmation of faith in Islam, in the present one the security of life and property is held out as its worldly and logical outcome.

The Holy Prophet ﷺ, moreover, has enunciated a most important principle concerning Jihad. He has declared that the sole object of Islamic Wars is to lead the bondsmen on the path of loyalty and submission and to deliver them from eternal chastisement. The life and property of everyone are, therefore, secure if he accepts the divine Faith, renders wholehearted obedience to Allah and moulds his life as ordained by Allah.

Together with it, the phrase, "Except of the right of Islam", makes it clear that if, after embracing Islam, he commits an act that is punishable under Divine Law, he will, of course, have to suffer for his offence and the affirmation of La Ilaha IllAllah and the profession of Islam will not give him protection against the punishment legally prescribed.

Likewise, "His reckoning is with Allah" implies that whoever will pronounce the Kalimah before us and declare himself to be a Muslim we will end the hostilities against him and treat him as a faithful Believer. If, however, he is insincere and there is deceit and falsehood in his heart, he will have to answer for it before Allah on the Day of Final Judgement, for, He is the Knower of Invisible and Well-informed of what is concealed in the hearts.

The above Tradition has been reproduced, almost in the same words, in Sahih Muslim, on the authroity of Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه and Sayyidina Tariq Ashja'ea رضي الله عنه, and some other Companions رضي الله عنهم also have narrated reports conveying the same subject-idea in greater detail which makes it easier for us to understaind its significance. We will here take up a few of these reports.

(٢٣/٢٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ أَمِرْتُ أَنْ أَقَاتِلَ النَّاسَ حَتَّى يَشْهَدُوا أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَيُؤْمِنُوا بِي وَبِمَا جِئْتُ بِهِ فَإِذَا فَعَلُوا ذَلِكَ عَصَمُوا مِنِّي دِمَانَهُمْ وَأَمْوَالَهُمْ إِلَّا بِحَقِّهَا وَحَسَابُهُمْ عَلَى اللَّهِ.

(رواه مسلم)

(23/23) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه has related that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, "I am commanded by Allah to wage war against people until they testify that there is no deity save Allah and profess faith in me and in the guidance that I have brought. Thus, when they do so, they obtain the security of life and property except for the rights of Islam, and their reckoning is with Allah."

(Muslim)

Commentary: In the above Tradition faith in the Prophet's ﷺ mission is also mentioned in addition to the testimony La Ilaha IllAllah which goes to confirm that the acknowledgement of La Ilaha IllAllah expounded in the previous Trdition implies the acceptance of the creed of Islam.

(٢٤/٢٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ أُمِرْتُ أَنْ أَقَاتِلَ النَّاسَ حَتَّى يَشْهَدُوا أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ وَيُقِيمُوا الصَّلَاةَ وَيُؤْتُوا الزَّكَاةَ فَإِذَا فَعَلُوا ذَلِكَ عَصَمُوا مِنِّي دِمَاءَهُمْ وَأَمْوَالَهُمْ إِلَّا بِحَقِّ الْإِسْلَامِ وَحِسَابُهُمْ عَلَى اللَّهِ.
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(24/24) It is related by Abdullah ibn Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I am commanded to wage war against the people until they affirm that there is no god except Allah and Muhammad is His Messenger and establish Salah and pay Zakah. If they begin to do all this they obtain from me the security of life and property except for the claim of Islam, and their reckoning is with Allah."
(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The establishment of salah and payment of zakah are also spoken of besides the affirmation of Divine Oneness and Messengership. In truth, these two tenets have been mentioned by way of an example otherwise it signifies the acceptance of the entire creed of Islam.

(٢٥/٢٥) عَنْ أَنَسِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أُمِرْتُ أَنْ أَقَاتِلَ النَّاسَ حَتَّى يَقُولُوا لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ، فَإِذَا قَالُواهَا وَصَلُّوا صَلَوَاتَنَا وَاسْتَقْبَلُوا قِبَلَتَنَا وَآكَلُوا ذَبِيحَتَنَا فَقَدْ حَرَمْتُ عَلَيْنَا دِمَائَهُمْ وَأَمْوَالَهُمْ إِلَّا بِحَقِّهَا وَحِسَابُهُمْ عَلَى اللَّهِ.
(رواه البخارى)

(25/25) It is related by Anas ibn Maalik رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I am commanded by Allah to wage war against the people until they believe in La Ilaha IllAllah. Thus, when they believe in La Ilaha IllAllah and observe our Salah turning their face towards Our Qiblah and partake of the meat of the animals slaughtered by us, their blood and their possessions are forbidden to us except for the claim of Islam, and their reckoning is with Allah."
(Bukhari)

Commentary: The offering of Salah and the turning of the face towards the Qiblah of Islam and the eating of the flesh of the animals killed by Muslims for food are also specified along with the testimony Divine Unity. But, here, too, their significance is symbolical, and the purport of this saying, like those of the preceding Traditions, is that our war against any people is solely for the sake of Faith and for leading mankind along the path of Truth. Hence, it is forbidden to us to inflict pain or punishment on those who forsake the life of infidelity and choose for themselves the Straight Path as laid down by Allah. Since during those days the chief visible signs of Islam were that a person offered his prayers in the manner of Muslims and turned his face toward the House of *Ka'bah*¹ when at prayer, and did not abstain from the flesh of the animals slaughtered by the Muslims, the Holy Prophet ﷺ has mentioned them here as the outward symbols of Faith.

In a version of this very Hadith in Abu Dawood the words: لهم ما للمسلمين و عليهم ما على الله are replaced by the words و حسابهم على الله meaning that not only is our war over with them but that they are also entitled to the rights of Muslims and have the same responsibilities as Muslims have.

Clarification:- A cursory glance through these Traditions is likely to give rise to an objection which has been mentioned by some commentators, and, then, also disproved by them in various ways. It is that in Islam the principles of *Jizya*² and the contracting of a treaty on suitable terms, too, are generally recognised and war comes to an end with any of these. But from the above Traditions it appears that hostilities will cease only when people have accepted Islam.

In our view, the object of these Traditions is not to formulate rules for the termination of warfare. Through them, the Prophet ﷺ has only sought to make it clear that the sole aim and purpose of taking resort to arms in Islam is that people worship no one save Allah and follow the Straight Path (i.e., they embrace Islam), and, further, that the life and property of all those who accept the call of Faith would be safe and they would enjoy complete equality with the other Muslims so far as rights and duties were concerned.

As for Jizya or a peace-treaty under special circumstances and on specific terms, though these are ways of putting an end to

①. The place towards which the face is turned at prayer at Makkah warfare, the real purpose of an Islamic war does not lie in them. Hostilities are stopped by these means because a peaceful way is, thus, opened for the realisation of the fundamental objective, viz, the preaching and propagation of Faith.

②. Head tax imposed by Islam on non-Muslim people of the Book under Muslim rule.

Some Outward Signs of Faith

(٢٦/٢٦) عَنْ أَنَسِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ صَلَّى صَلَاتَنَا وَاسْتَقْبَلَ قِبْلَتَنَا وَآكَلَ ذَبِيحَتَنَا فَذَاكَ الْمُسْلِمُ الَّذِي لَهُ ذِمَّةُ اللَّهِ وَذِمَّةُ رَسُولِهِ فَلَا تُخْفَرُوا اللَّهَ فِي ذِمَّتِهِ.
(رواه البخارى)

(26/26) It is related by Sayyidna Anas ibn Maalik رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoso offers Salah like us, and turns his face towards our Qiblah and eats the flesh of the animals we slaughter — he is a Muslim and for him is the protection of Allah and His Messenger. So, do not break the covenant of Allah concerning His protection." (Bukhari)

Commentary: It needs be kept in mind that when during the ministry of the Prophet the call of Islam was spreading rapidly and it was not infrequent the people accepted faith about whom one could not be sure that they had done so sincerely. The above Tradition is, particularly, in respect of them. Through it the Prophet ﷺ wants to impress upon the Companions رضي الله عنهم that they should have no reservations about anyone being a Muslim in whom the rudimentary outward indications of the acceptance of Islam were present, such as, the offering of Salah as Muslims do, the turning of face toward their Qiblah when at prayer, and the eating of the flesh of the animals slaughtered by them. His life and property should, accordingly, be held to be in the protection of Allah and His Messenger and they must refrain from taking any steps against him simply on the suspicion that he was not a Muslim at heart and had accepted Islam only as a hypocrite.

It will, also, be the height of folly to infer from this Tradition that whoever possess those visible signs remains a Muslim no matter how heathenish or polytheistic his beliefs and actions are. Such a person has nothing to do with Islam. To regard him a Muslim will be to show that Islam is merely the name of a few ceremonies and rituals. Nothing, evidently, can be more misleading and fallacious.

A Muslim Does not Become an Infidel Because of an Evil Act

(٢٧/٢٧) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثَلَاثٌ مِنْ أَصْلِ الْإِيمَانِ الْكَفُّ عَمَّنْ قَالَ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ لَا تُكْفِرُهُ بِذَنْبٍ وَلَا تُخْرِجُهُ مِنَ الْإِسْلَامِ بِعَمَلٍ، وَالْجِهَادُ مَا ضَرَّ مُدْبَعْنِيَّ اللَّهِ إِلَى أَنْ يُقَاتَلَ أَحَرُ هَذِهِ الْأُمَّةِ الدَّجَالُ لَا يُبْطِلُهُ جَوْرُ جَائِرٍ وَلَا عَدْلُ عَادِلٍ وَالْإِيمَانُ بِأَلَا قُدَارٍ (رواه أبو داود)

(27/27) It is related by Anas ibn Maalik رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Three things are included among the fundamentals of Islam: one, to hold one's tongue in respect of a person who believes in La Ilaha IllAllah [i.e., he should not be condemned as an Infidel because of a sin or deemed to have gone out of the fold due to a misdeed]; two, Jihad has been [operative] from the time I was raised up and will remain so till the time the last batch of this [the Muslim] community will wage war against Dajjal¹ [i.e., whether the Muslim rulers are just or tyrannical Jihad will hold good and no one can abolish it]; and, three, belief in the doctrine of predestination."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: In this Tradition three things have been declared to be among the essential tenets of Islam. The first is that no one who believes in La Ilaha IllAllah should be called an infidel because of commission of a sin nor a judgement passed against him of having renounced his faith.

It is of primary importance here to note that belief in La Ilaha IllAllah means exactly what has been repeatedly stressed earlier, viz., to accept Islam by acknowledging the call of the Prophet ﷺ. We have seen how during the days of the sacred Prophet ﷺ the term, affirmation of La Ilaha IllAllah, was, generally, used to denote the embracing of Islam in the same way as idiomatic language of the pronouncement of the Kalimah signifies the choosing of Islam as one's faith.

Besides, it is forbidden to call anyone an infidel who believes in the Kalimah of Islam. The Prophet ﷺ, so to speak, has forewarned against the folly the Mu'tazila and the Khawarij were to commit later. They hastened to condemn a person as having ceased to be a Muslim on the grounds of sinfulness or an evil conduct. The practice of Ahl-us-Sunnah, in the light of the above dictum, therefore, is that they do not regard anyone to have forfeited the right to be a Muslim owing simply to having committed a sin.

The purport of this part of the Tradition, in any case, is that if anyone takes to wrong-doing after he has pronounced the Kalimah and embraced Islam, he should not be branded as an apostate or condemned as an infidel. It does not, of course, include men who may themselves renounce the Faith by rejecting any of its principal tenets.

Suppose there is a person who has pronounced the Kalimah and calls himself a Muslim but does not believe in the Divine origin of the Qur'an or repudiates the concept of the Last Day and the Hereafter or lays a claim to Divinity or prophethood, he will, naturally, cease to be a Muslim and become an infidel. It will, nevertheless, not be due to any sinfulness or lewdness on his part but to the rejection of a fundamental article of Faith.

It is essential to bear in mind the basic difference between the two positions. Some people make a grievous mistake in the application of the above Tradition because they fail to appreciate its real significance.

This Tradition declares that Jihad is annulled if, at any time, the government of the Muslims passes into unworthy hands. It will not engage in Jihad because the rulers are corrupt or unjust. Whether the Government is good or bad, Jihad will have to be undertaken at its command provided that it really is Jihad and not corruption or venality in its name.

Branches of Faith

(٢٨/٢٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْإِيمَانُ بِضْعٌ وَسَبْعُونَ شُعْبَةً فَأَفْضَلُهَا قَوْلُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَدْنَاهَا إِمَاطَةُ الْأَذَى عَنِ الطَّرِيقِ، وَالْحَيَاءُ شُعْبَةٌ مِنَ الْإِيمَانِ.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(28/28) It is related by Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Faith is composed of seventy and odd branches of which the highest is belief in La Ilaha IllAlla [i.e., the testimony of divine Oneness] and the lowest is the removal of a hindrance from the road, and the sense of modesty is an important branch of Faith." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Some authorities are of the opinion that the expression, "seventy and odd" occurring in this saying denotes only a multitude. The Arabs, often, use the number of seventy when they want to emphasise the abundance of a thing and the phrase, "seventy and odd" has been used here to lend a greater force to it¹. Others say that it stands for seventy-seven departments of Faith.² But these interpretations are purely speculative and open to endless argument. What sounds more reasonable is that the Prophet ﷺ did not want to fix an exact number but only to indicate profusion and to say that Faith was composed of many parts and modesty was one of them. Had there been a definite figure in his mind he would not have rest content with a vague and general statement but explained it fully and enumerated all the seventy or seventy-seven branches.

By the "Branches of Faith" are meant the deeds and virtues and internal and external states that should follow as a natural outcome of the ingress of Faith. Just as a verdant tree bears forth leaves and fruits, virtuous acts, good morals and noble states of thought and feeling are the offshoots of Faith though their grades are different.

The testimony of the Oneness of Allah has been described in it as the highest and the removal of a hindrance from the path as the lowest branch of Faith. Now, whatever good or virtuous acts can be imagined between the two grades constitute the departments or branches of Faith, whether they appertain to the rights of Allah or to the rights of men and their numbers will, naturally, run into hundreds.

Modesty has, particularly, been mentioned as forming an important part of Faith. There can be two reasons for it.

(i) Someone may have fallen short of the Islamic standard of modesty at that time and the Prophet ﷺ wanted to correct him through the admonition, as the way is with sagacious teachers and wise reformers, on seeing the crucial place the sense of modesty occupied in the moral scheme of things.

①. Umdatul Qaari Sharh, Sahih Bukhari and Mirqatul Mafatih Shrah, Mishkaatul Masabih.

②. Fath al-Bari, Umdatul Qari, etc.

(ii) The Prophet ﷺ might have thought it appropriate to lay a special stress on it. Modesty is the moral characteristic which acts as a preventive to numerous sins and follies, and, as such, there obtains a special affinity between it and Faith.

Modesty is not to be observed only in relation to human beings. The Almighty Creator comes first. Generally, a person who does not entertain respect for his elders and behaves reprehensibly towards or before them is considered to be shameless and impudent, but no one is more unfortunate and isolent than him who feels no shame before Allah and knowing that He sees and hears everything yet does all sorts of dirty and deplorable things in His presence.

Accordingly, if the sense of modesty is alive and active in a person, his life will not only be clean in the sight of fellowmen but he will also commit very few acts of transgression against the claims of Allah.

It is stated in Tirmidhi that once the Prophet ﷺ observed, while speaking to the Companions:

Practice modesty towards Allah as it ought to be practised towards Him." Allah be praised," replied the Companions, "We practice modesty towards Him". "No", the Prophet ﷺ said, "It is not that. The proper way of observing modesty towards Allah is that you take care of the head and all the notions and ideas that are contained in it [i.e., protect the mind against

”اِسْتَحْيُوا مِنْ اللّٰهِ حَقَّ الْحَيَاءِ قَالُوا
اِنَّا نَسْتَحْيِي وَالْحَمْدُ لِلّٰهِ فَقَالَ
لَيْسَ ذَالِكَ وَلَكِنَّ الْاِسْتِحْيَاءَ
مِنْ اللّٰهِ حَقَّ الْحَيَاءِ اَنْ تَحْفَظَ
الرَّاسَ وَمَا حَوَى وَالْبَطْنَ وَمَا
وَعَى وَتَذْكُرَ الْمَوْتَ وَالْبَلَى
فَمَنْ فَعَلَ ذَالِكَ فَقَدْ اِسْتَحْيَا
مِنْ اللّٰهِ حَقَّ الْحَيَاءِ“ evil thoughts and the stomach against unlawful food], and remember what your state in going to be on death and in the grave after death. Whoever does so, know that he fulfils the duty of observing modesty towards Allah as it ought to be."

Signs and Fruits of Faith

(٢٩/٢٩) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا سَأَلَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا الْإِيمَانُ؟ قَالَ إِذَا سُرَّتْكَ حَسَنَتُكَ وَسَاءَتْكَ سَيِّئَتُكَ فَأَنْتَ مُؤْمِنٌ.

(رواه احمد)

(29/29) It is related by Abu Umamah رضي الله عنه that a person asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, "What is Faith?" He said, "If you feel pleasure at a good act that you do and pain and sorrow at an evil act, you are a truthful Believers." (Masnad Ahmad)

Commentary: It shows that one of the distinctive signs of Faith is that when a person performs a noble deed he feels joy in his heart at it, and when he commits a wicked deed, it makes him sad. As long as this subjective sense of right and wrong is present in a man it should be supposed that the spirit of Faith is alive within him and this feeling is its fruit and outcome.

Prerequisites of Faith

(٣٠/٣٠) عَنِ الْعَبَّاسِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْمُطَّلِبِ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ ذَاقَ طَعْمَ الْإِيمَانِ مَنْ رَضِيَ بِاللَّهِ رَبًّا وَبِالْإِسْلَامِ دِينًا وَبِمُحَمَّدٍ رَسُولًا.

(رواه مسلم)

(30/30) It is related by Abbas ibn Abdul Mttalib رضي الله عنه that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "He tasted the flavour of Faith and experienced its sweetness who is pleased at heart with Allah as his Lord, Islam as his religion, and Muhammad as his Messenger." (Muslim)

Commentary: Just as all delicious foods possess a flavour which can only be perceived if one's faculty of taste is intact and not perverted due to illness or any other cause, there is also a special sweetness in Faith which can be enjoyed by those alone who have, willingly and earnestly, made Allah their Lord and Master, Muhammad ﷺ their Prophet and guide, and Islam their religion and way of life, and whose hearts have bowed in submission to Allah and yielded in obedience to the Prophet and assented to be the adherents of the path of Islam. In other words, their bond with Allah, the Prophet and Islam is not merely formal, hereditary or intellectual but real, sincere and genuine.

(٣١/٣١) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثَلَاثٌ مَنْ كُنَّ فِيهِ وَجَدَ حَلَاوَةَ الْإِيمَانِ أَنْ يَكُونَ اللَّهُ وَرَسُولُهُ أَحَبَّ إِلَيْهِ مِمَّا سِوَاهُمَا وَأَنْ يُحِبَّ الْمَرْءَ لَا يُحِبُّهُ إِلَّا لِلَّهِ وَأَنْ يَعُودَ فِي الْكُفْرِ كَمَا يَكُونُ أَنْ يَقْدَفَ فِي النَّارِ.

(31/31) Anas رضي الله عنه has related that the Prophet ﷺ said, "Only he will taste the sweetness of Faith who has these qualities: his love of Allah and the Prophet is greater than everything else, he loves whom he loves solely for the sake of Allah, and the idea of reverting to disbelief after he has embraced Islam is as repugnant to him as being thrown into fire." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The subject-matter of this Tradition is almost identical to that of the preceding one. It says that the sweetness of Faith can only be perceived by him whose love for Allah and the Prophet ﷺ is stronger than for anyone or anything else in the world, so much so that when he loves somebody, it is wholly for the sake of Allah, and who is so deeply devoted to the Islamic faith that the very idea of leaving it and reverting back to infidelity is as painful to him as being cast into fire.

(٣٢/٣٢) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يُؤْمِنُ أَحَدُكُمْ حَتَّىٰ أَكُونَ أَحَبَّ إِلَيْهِ مِنْ وَالِدِهِ وَوَلَدِهِ وَالنَّاسِ أَجْمَعِينَ (رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(32/32) It is related by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "None of you believes unless his love for me exceeds the love he has for parents, children and all men."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that Faith can attain perfection and a Muslim can become a faithful Believer only when his love for the Prophet ﷺ is greater than for any other person, even his parents and children.

In the preceding Tradition the love for Allah, the Prophet ﷺ and the Islamic faith being stronger than for anyone or anything else in the world was declared as essential for tasting the sweetness of Faith while in this Tradition only the love for the Prophet ﷺ has been mentioned. But love for Allah, the Messenger and Islam is basically the same. True devotion to Allah and Islam is not possible without devotion to the Prophet ﷺ and true devotion to the Prophet ﷺ cannot be imagined without devotion to Allah and Islam. Love for the Prophet ﷺ, in his capacity as the Messenger of Allah, will, of course, be for the sake of Allah and out of deep attachment to Him and love for Islam will, instinctively, stem from it. It is for this reason that love for the Prophet ﷺ alone has been stressed in this Tradition, otherwise what it means is that the blessings and radiance of Faith can accrue only to those in whose hearts love for Allah and the Prophet ﷺ and Islam is strong enough to submerge all other ties and affections.

Commentators have, however, differed in their interpretation of these Ahadith, and, as such, many people are apt to be confused about its meaning though the principle it lays down is very simple. Love is a well-known word and the idea it expresses is also widely understood. It is in the same traditional sense that it has been used here. The love the Believers have for Allah, naturally, is not due to the ties of blood or any other physical factors as the case is with the affection one feels for one's parents, wife and children. It is, essentially a mental and spiritual state, and, when it attains perfection, all other forms of affection which are rooted wholly in blood or emotion are put in the shade by it. Anyone who has been blessed in some measure with this attachment and yearning will have no difficulty in appreciating the basic significance of this Tradition.

In brief, love in all these sayings denotes the same tender passion, the same feeling of the heart which is commonly known by the name and this is exactly what is demanded of us here.

The Qur'an says:

Those who believe are stauncher in their love for Allah. (Al Baqarah 2:165)

وَالَّذِينَ آمَنُوا أَشَدُّ حُبًّا لِلَّهِ البقرة ١٦٥

And also:

Say [O Muhammad]: If your fathers, and your sons, and your brethren, and your wives, and your tribe, and the wealth you have acquired, and

قُلْ إِنْ كَانَ آبَاءُكُمْ وَابْنَاؤُكُمْ
وَإِخْوَانُكُمْ وَأَزْوَاجُكُمْ وَعَشِيرَتُكُمْ وَأَمْوَالٌ دَارَافَتْكُمْ مَوَالِيهَا وَبِجَارَةٌ

merchandize for which you fear that there will be no sale, and dwellings you desire are dearer to you than Allah and His Messenger and striving in His way: then wait till Allah bringeth His Command to pass. Allah guideth not wrong-doing folk. (Al Tawbah 9:24)

تَخْشَوْنَ كَسَادَهَا وَمَسْكِنَ تَرْضَوْنَهَا أَحَبَّ إِلَيْكُمْ مِنَ اللَّهِ وَرَسُولِهِ وَجِهَادٍ فِي سَبِيلِهِ فَتَرَبَّصُوا حَتَّى يَأْتِيَ اللَّهُ بِأَمْرِهِ وَاللَّهُ لَا يَهْدِي الْقَوْمَ الْفَاسِقِينَ.

As it is distinctly stated in these verses, the love of the Believers for Allah, the Prophet ﷺ and the Islamic faith must be stronger than for all the lovable objects in the world. Without it, the contenance of Allah cannot be gained, nor His special guidance obtained, nor can Faith acquire perfection.

Once this stage is reached, it will not only be easy for anyone to observe this duties of Islam and to carry out the commands of Allah and the Prophet ﷺ but he will also derive a pleasure even from laying down his life for the sake of Faith. Conversely, a person in whose heart the love for Allah and His Messenger is not entrenched firmly will find it most difficult to keep to the everyday Islamic injunctions and to obey the common religious precepts. At best, it will become a routine affair, a tendiously automatic procedure. Hence, it has been said that unless the love for Allah and the Prophet ﷺ governs and has the control of all other attachments and affections the true station of love cannot be attained nor its sweetness percerived.

O Allah! I beg of Thee Thy love and the love of him who loveth Thee and the conduct that will enable me to attain Thy love.

اللَّهُمَّ ارْزُقْنَا حُبَّكَ وَحُبَّ رَسُولِكَ وَحُبَّ عَمَلٍ يَقْرِبَنَا إِلَى حُبِّكَ.

(٣٣/٣٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يُؤْمِنُ أَحَدُكُمْ حَتَّى يَكُونَ هَوَاهُ تَبَعًا لِمَا جُنْتُ بِهِ (رَوَاهُ الْبُغَوِيُّ فِي شَرْحِ السُّنَنِ)
(33/33) It is related by Abdullah bin Amr ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "None of you can become a Believer unless his lusts become subservient to the guidance I have brought."

(Sharah us-Sunnah)

Commentary: It shows that the state of true Faith and its spiritual blessings can be gained when worldly inclinations and carnal appetites are controlled and governed by the Prophet's ﷺ guidance.

The entire order of good and evil is based upon Hawa [lust] and Huda [Guidance]. Man's success or failure, good fortune or ill-luck, is related to them. All wickedness and wrong-doing ensues from the lustful dictates of the flesh in the same way as every virtue originates from abiding by the guidance brought by the Prophets عليهم السلام.

The state of genuine Faith can, thus, be attained only by subordinating the propensities of the self to heavenly instruction and whoever becomes a slave to lust and cares nothing for Prophetic guidance destroys the very purpose of Faith with his own hands. It is about such people that the Qur'an has said:

Hast thou seen him who chooseth for his God his own lust?
(Al Qasas 25:43)

أَرَأَيْتَ مَنِ اتَّخَذَ إِلَهَهُ هَوَاهُ
(فرقان ٢٥: ٣٣)

And also:

And who goeth farther astray than he who followeth his lust without guidance from Allah?
Lo! Allah guideth not wrong-doing folk.

(Al Qasas 28:50)

وَمَنْ أَضَلُّ مِمَّنِ اتَّبَعَ هَوَاهُ بِغَيْرِ
هُدًى مِّنَ اللَّهِ، إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَهْدِي
الْقَوْمَ الظَّالِمِينَ (قصص ٢٨: ٥٠)

(٣٤/٣٤) عَنْ أَنَسٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَا يُؤْمِنُ أَحَدُكُمْ حَتَّى

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

يُحِبَّ لِأَخِيهِ مَا يُحِبُّ لِنَفْسِهِ.

(34/34) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "None of you can be a Believer until he desires for his brother what he desires for himself." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: For attaining the true state of Faith and partaking of its singular blessings it is essential that man should be free from selfishness. He ought to be so genuinely interested in the welfare of his brethren as to desire for them all the good things, benefits and advantages he desires for himself and to dislike for them all the conditions and circumstances he does not like for himself. Without it, Faith cannot acquire perfection."

In the version of this very Hadith in Ibn Hibban, instead of the words: لا يبلغ العبد حقيقة الإيمان لا يؤمن احدكم these words are found: لا يبلغ العبد حقيقة الإيمان لا يؤمن. It is clear from this that in every Hadith when the words لا يؤمن appear they do not imply a negation of faith. Rather, they suggest an imperfection of faith. It is with every language that an imperfect thing is spoken of in this way; for instance, we call someone who is cruel, inhuman though we do not mean to say that he is not a human being. It is this expression in some Ahadith which لا يؤمن (has not believed or is not a Believers). Therefore it is wrong to succumb to oratory and show a poor knowledge of the Prophet's temperament (and go by the literal meaning).

(35/35) It is related by Mu'az ibn Jabal رضي الله عنه that he enquired from the Prophet ﷺ about superior Faith [i.e., asked what was the highest grade of Faith and through what deeds and virtues could it be reached]. The Prophet ﷺ replied, "It is that you love whom you love solely for the sake of Allah and hate whom you hate solely for the sake of Allah [i.e., friendship and enmity should be entirely for His sake]; and, secondly, that you keep your tongue engaged in the remembrance of Allah." "What else?" he further asked. "That you desire for others what you desire for yourself and do not desire for others what you do not desire for yourself," the Prophet ﷺ said." (Ahmad)

Commentary: Three things have been mentioned in the above Tradition by the Prophet ﷺ without which perfection in Faith is not possible. (i) Friendship and enmity solely for the sake of Allah; (ii) Keeping the tongue occupied in remembrance of Allah; and (iii) Goodwill for the bondsmen of Allah to the extent of desiring for them what one desires for oneself and disliking for them what one does not like for oneself.

(٣٦/٣٦) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ أَحَبَّ لِلَّهِ وَأَبْغَضَ لِلَّهِ وَأَعْطَى لِلَّهِ وَمَنَعَ لِلَّهِ فَقَدْ اسْتَكْمَلَ الْإِيمَانَ. (رواه أبو داود)

(36/36) It is related by Abu Umamah رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "He who loves or hates, offers favours or withholds them, for the sake of Allah, truly perfects his Faith." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: A perfect Muslim in the sight of Allah is he who succeeds in subordinating his entire conduct — thoughts, feelings social relations and all other affairs — to the Will of Allah so much so that when he establishes or breaks relations with anyone or gives or declines to give anything to anybody, he does so wholly for the pleasure of Allah; in short, when all his sentiments and inclinations, such as, love and hatred, and deeds and actions like offering or withholding a favour begin to take shape solely for the sake of Allah and cease to be influenced by his own urges and impulsions. When this state of submission to the Will of Allah is reached by anyone, his faith attains perfection.

(٣٧/٣٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِأَبِي ذَرٍّ أَيُّ عُرَى الْإِيمَانِ أَوْثَقُ؟ قَالَ اللَّهُ وَرَسُولُهُ أَعْلَمُ قَالَ الْمَوَالَاةُ فِي اللَّهِ وَالْحُبُّ فِي اللَّهِ وَالْبَغْضُ فِي اللَّهِ. (رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(37/37) It is related by Abdullah ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to Abu Zarr Ghifari رضي الله عنه: "Tell [me], which department of Faith is stronger [i.e., among the departments of Faith which is more long-lasting]?" "Allah and His Messenger know best", replied Abu Zarr رضي الله عنه. The Prophet ﷺ remarked, "Friendliness and mutual cooperation for the sake of Allah, love for anyone for the sake of Allah, and hatred and enmity against anyone for the sake of Allah." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: It shows that among the various states and stages of Faith the strongest and most enduring is that in which the behaviour of a person towards anyone, whether of cooperation or opposition, love or hatred, is determined wholly by the desire to please Allah and to carry out His commands and not by any personal wish or sentiment.

(٣٨/٣٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تَدْخُلُونَ الْجَنَّةَ حَتَّى تُؤْمِنُوا وَلَا تُؤْمِنُوا حَتَّى تَحَابُّوا أَوْ لَا أَذْلِكُمْ عَلَى شَيْءٍ إِذَا فَعَلْتُمُوهُ تَحَابَبْتُمْ أَفْشُوا السَّلَامَ بَيْنَكُمْ.
(رواه مسلم)

(38/38) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "You cannot enter Paradise unless you are Believers and you cannot be truthful Believers unless there is reciprocal love among you. May I tell you a thing that will produce affection in your midst if you act upon it? It is to spread the custom of Salaam among yourselves and to make it common."
(Muslim)

Commentary: From the foregoing Traditions we learn that for perfection in Faith it is essential to hold Allah, the Messenger and Islam dearest to our hearts and whatever love and affection there might be for anyone or anything, aside of them, should be wholly for their sake and that we are free from selfishness and our condition should be that we desire, or do not desire, for other what we desire, or did not desire for ourselves. The present Tradition adds that Faith cannot attain perfection unless there is mutual love and cooperation among the Believers. If their hearts are devoid of fellow-feeling and affection for each other it should be taken for granted that the reality of Faith will not dawn upon them and they will not be able to partake of its true blessings.

(٣٩/٣٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْمُسْلِمُ مَنْ سَلِمَ الْمُسْلِمُونَ مِنْ لِسَانِهِ وَيَدِهِ وَالْمُؤْمِنُ مَنْ أَمِنَهُ النَّاسُ عَلَى دِمَائِهِمْ وَأَمْوَالِهِمْ.
(رواه الترمذى والنسائى)

(39/39) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A Muslim is he from the mischief of whose tongue and hand the Muslims are safe and a Momin [Believer] is he from whom people do not feel their life or property threatened."
(Tirmizi)

Commentary: The mischief of the tongue and hand has been mentioned specifically in this Tradition for the reason that, generally, distress is caused to others by means of these two organs, or else what is sought to be conveyed simply is that it is unworthy of a Muslim to be a source of pain or discomfort to anyone.

From Ibn Hubban's account of the same Tradition it appears that:

مَنْ سَلِمَ النَّاسُ مِنْ لِسَانِهِ وَيَدِهِ

A Muslim should be friendly and in offensive towards every one.

It is worth remembering that the infliction of pain which has been condemned as un-Islamic in this Tradition signifies only that which is without a legitimate cause otherwise to punish the guilty and to put down the high-handedness of the oppressor and the mischief of the evil-doer, provided that one has the authority to do so, is a matter of duty with the Muslims. Without it, there can be no peace and happiness in the world.

(٤٠/٤٠) عَنْ أَبِي شُرَيْحٍ الْخُزَاعِيِّ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ وَاللَّهِ لَا يُؤْمِنُ وَاللَّهُ لَا يُؤْمِنُ وَاللَّهُ لَا يُؤْمِنُ قِيلَ وَمَنْ يَأْسُؤُلَ اللَّهُ قَالَ الَّذِي لَا يَأْمَنُ جَارَهُ

(رواه البخارى)

(40/40) It is narrated by Abu Shurayh Khuza'i that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "By Allah, he is not a Believer! By Allah, he is not a Believer! By Allah, he is not a Believer!." Someone asked: "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ, who is not a Believer?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, "Whose neighbour is not secure from his mischief." (Bukhari)

Commentary: Our conduct towards the neighbours should be so good and honourable that they feel completely secure from us and entertain no fear of viciousness or injustice from our side. It is one of the imperatives of Faith without fulfilling which no one can hope to be a faithful Believer.

Two other Traditions of the Prophet ﷺ bearing the same import read;

"Treat your neighbours kindly; then you are of those who believe." (Tirmizi)

وَأَحْسِنُ إِلَى جَارِكَ تَكُنْ مُؤْمِنًا (مسند احمد، ترمذی)

"He who believes in Allah and the Last Day will never harm a neighbour." (Bukhari)

مَنْ كَانَ يُؤْمِنُ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ
فَلَا يُؤْذِي جَارَهُ. (بخارى ومسلم)

(٤١/٤١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ لَيْسَ الْمُؤْمِنُ بِالَّذِي يَشْبَعُ وَجَارُهُ جَائِعٌ إِلَى جَنْبِهِ.

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(41/41) It is related by Abdullah ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "He is not a Believer who eats his fill while his neighbour is hungry." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: It shows that a person who eats to his heart's content and gives no thought to his starving neighbour is unblessed with the reality of Faith though he may have been a Muslim for seventy generations. An attitude of crelty and selfishness like this is wholly inimical to the spirit of Islam.

As Muslims we must see how we deal with our neighbours and cratures of Allah. We must examine that in the light of these Ahadith and see where we stand.

(٤٢/٤٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَكْمَلُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ إِيمَانًا أَحْسَنُهُمْ خُلُقًا.

(42/42) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Among the Muslims more perfect in Faith is he whose manners are better." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Perfection in Faith depends on good manners and noble qualities of mind and character. Thus, a person will be as perfect in Faith as his moral disposition is praiseworthy. Or, we might say, good moral qualities are the natural outcome of perfection in Faith. It cannot be that a person is blessed with the reality of Faith and yet his morals remain imperfect.

(٤٣/٤٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِنْ حُسْنِ

إِسْلَامِ الْمَرْءِ تَرْكُهُ مَا لَا يَعْنِيهِ. (رواه ابن ماجه والترمذى والبيهقى في شعب الإيمان)

(43/43) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Among the virtues of Islam is that a man avoids that which is meaningless and vain." (Ibn Majah, Tirmizi and Baihaqi)

Commentary: Man is the noblest of creations and Allah has made him exceedingly precious. He should refrain from spending his time aimlessly and squandering away his capabilities. On the other hand, by putting them to proper use, he should develop his personality as much as possible and earn the countenance of Allah. This is the essence of all religious teachings and the basic aim and purpose of Islam. Hence, the blessed one who seeks to perfect his Faith must not only keep away from open sinfulness and immorality but also from all unprofitable activities including unavailing conversation and devote his time and natural abilities to pursuits that possess some element of gain or virtue, i.e., are necessary and purposeful from the point of view of both the worlds.

People who waste their time and energy in aimless talk and futile activities do not realise how very valuable Allah has made them and what a priceless treasure they are frittering away.

(٤٤/٤٤) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَا مِنْ نَبِيٍّ بَعَثَهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى فِي أُمَّةٍ قَبْلِي إِلَّا كَانَ لَهُ مِنْ أُمَّتِهِ حَوَارِيُّونَ وَأَصْحَابٌ يَأْخُذُونَ بِسُنَّتِهِ وَيَقْتَدُونَ بِأَمْرِهِ ثُمَّ إِنَّهَا تَخْلُفُ مِنْ بَعْدِهِمْ خَلْفٌ يَقُولُونَ مَا لَا يَفْعَلُونَ وَيَفْعَلُونَ مَا لَا يُؤْمَرُونَ، فَمَنْ جَاهَدَهُمْ بِيَدِهِ فَهُوَ مُؤْمِنٌ وَمَنْ جَاهَدَهُمْ بِلِسَانِهِ فَهُوَ مُؤْمِنٌ وَمَنْ جَاهَدَهُمْ بِقَلْبِهِ فَهُوَ مُؤْمِنٌ وَلَيْسَ وَرَاءَ ذَلِكَ مِنَ الْإِيمَانِ حَبَّةٌ خَرْدَلٍ.

(44/44) It is related by Abdullah ibn Masood رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There were some worthy disciples and Companions of every Prophet raised up by Allah in any community before me who followed his path and obeyed his commands. Afterwards, it so happened that their heirs and successors turned out to be men of no value whose condition was that they did not practise what they preached [i.e., told others to perform good deeds but did not do so themselves or boasted to be virtuous while, in fact, they possessed little moral goodness, and, thus, told a lie in order to impress those around them with their devoutness and to flaunt their spiritual superiority], and performed deeds they had not been commanded to perform [i.e., they did not adhere to the way of their Prophet and instead of abiding by what he had prescribed or sanctioned, indulged freely in evil-doing and making invocations in Faith]. Thus, whoever strove against them with his arm is a Believer, and whoever strove against them [due to a constraint] only with his tongue, also, is a Believer, and whoever [finding himself powerless to strive even with the tongue] strove against them only with his heart [i.e., merely felt anger and hatred towards them] is, also, a Believer. But without it [i.e., in the absence of any of these conditions] there is no Faith, not even of the weight of a mustard-seed." (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that to strive against the sinful and hypocritical heirs and followers of the Prophets عليهم السلام and other spiritual leaders with the arm or the tongue, as the circumstances permit, or, in the last degree, only to feel revulsion against their wickedness and display of insincere piety is one of the essential requirements of Faith. Anyone who does not possess even their inner urge for such a kind of Jihad is, so to speak, totally devoid of the warmth and awareness of Faith. The next Hadith calls it weakest kind of Faith.

The command of Jihad against the erring successors of the Prophet عليهم السلام and worthless spiritual leaders, as contained in the above Tradition, means that endeavour should be made to correct them and to bring them to the right path, failing which something should be done to put an end to their false spiritual headship and hereditary influence so that people do not fall a prey to their deception.

(٤٥/٤٥) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ
مَنْ رَأَى مِنْكُمْ مُنْكَرًا فَلْيُغَيِّرْهُ بِيَدِهِ فَإِنْ لَمْ يَسْتَطِعْ فَبِلِسَانِهِ فَإِنْ لَمْ يَسْتَطِعْ
فَبِقَلْبِهِ وَذَلِكَ أَضْعَفُ الْإِيمَانِ (رواه مسلم)

(45/45) It is related by Abu Sa'eed al-Khudri رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "If anyone of you sees a sin being done or a wrong being perpetrated, he should [if he is in a position to do so] try to eradicate it by force, and if that be not possible, he should try to eradicate it by raising his voice against it; and if that, too, be not possible, he should feel sore about it in the heart [and think of possible ways of removing the evil]. This last state is the weakest state of Faith. (Muslim)

Commentary: In the preceding Tradition struggle against the depravity and corruption of a particular class of men was enjoined as a requisite of Faith while in the present one a general command has been given for making strenuous efforts, in keeping, of course, with one's situation, to remove or set right every mischief and transgression. Three grades of it have been set down in this Tradition.

(i) If one is in power and the evil can be eradicated by means of it, force ought to be employed to root it out.

(ii) If power and authority are not in one's hands, effort should be made to remove evil through persuasion and good counsel.

(iii) If the circumstances are so adverse and the Believers in such a weak and helpless position that it is not possible even to raise one's voice against wickedness and imorality, the last stage is that it should be considered honestly to be hateful and vicious and an earnest desire be felt in the heart to prevent it. In that way, one will, at least, pray to Allah to suppress it and also think out methods of its extermination.

According to the above Tradition, this is the weakest state of Faith which means that, after it, the question of the existence of Faith does not arise.

(٤٦/٤٦) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ فَلَمَّا خَطَبَنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِلَّا قَالَ لَا

إِيمَانُ لِمَنْ لَا أَمَانَةَ لَهُ وَلَا دِينَ لِمَنْ لَا عَهْدَ لَهُ. (رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(46/46) Narrates Sayyidina Anas ؓ that it was rare that the Prophet ﷺ delivered a sermon in which he may not have said:

"In whom there is no trustworthiness, has no Faith; he who does not fulfil the promise made by him has no religion." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: Anyone who is not trustworthy and does not fulfil the promise when he makes one is unblessed with the reality of Faith. As we have indicated earlier, Traditions like it do not mean that such a person altogether ceases to be a Muslim and becomes an infidel. They simply show that the essence and effulgence of Faith is not present in a man like him, i.e. his Faith is lifeless and of a very poor quality.

Actions And Moral Habits That Are Inimical to Faith

(٤٧/٤٧) عَنْ بَهْزِ بْنِ حَكِيمٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ الْغَضَبَ يُفْسِدُ الْإِيمَانَ كَمَا يُفْسِدُ الصَّبْرُ الْعُسْلَ.

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(47/47) Bahz ibn Hakeem has related from his father Hakim, on the authority of his grandfather, Mu'awiya ibn Haidah Qushairi, that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Anger spoils Faith as aloe spoils honey."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: Anger, of course, is destructive to Faith and when it takes possession of anyone he unhesitatingly crosses the limits prescribed by Allah and does things that are ruinous to Faith and are likely to bring him down in the estimation of Allah.

(٤٨/٤٨) عَنْ أَوْسِ بْنِ شُرَّاهِبٍ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ مَنْ مَشَى مَعَ ظَالِمٍ لِيَقْوِيَهُ وَهُوَ يَعْلَمُ أَنَّهُ ظَالِمٌ فَقَدْ خَرَجَ مِنَ الْإِسْلَامِ

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(48/48) Aus bin Shurahbil has reported that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "Whoever sets out to help the oppressor knowing that he is an oppressor goes out of the fold of Islam."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: When to support injustice and to help the oppressor, in any form, knowing well that he is an oppressor, is such a mortal sin in Islam that the holy Prophet ﷺ has declared that anyone who does so forfeits his claim to be a Believer, it can be imagined how inimical cruelty and injustice are to Faith and what place do those who are cruel and unjust occupy in the sight of Allah and the Prophet ﷺ.

(٤٩/٤٩) عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَيْسَ الْمُؤْمِنُ بِالطَّعَّانِ وَلَا بِاللَّعَّانِ وَلَا الْفَاحِشِ وَلَا الْبَذِي.

(رواه الترمذی والبيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(49/49) It is related by Abdullah ibn Masood ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A Believer is not one to indulge in taunting and cursing nor does he use intemperate and indecent language."

(Tirmizi and Baihaqi).

Commentary: It shows that to utter oaths, curses and blasphemies and to indulge in violent, vulgar and abuse language is contrary to the spirit of Islam and a faithful Believer ought to be free from these habits.

(٥٠/٥٠) عَنْ صَفْوَانَ بْنِ سُلَيْمٍ أَنَّهُ قِيلَ لِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
أَيَكُونُ الْمُؤْمِنُ جَبَانًا قَالَ نَعَمْ، فَقِيلَ لَهُ أَيْكُونُ الْمُؤْمِنُ بَخِيلًا قَالَ نَعَمْ، فَقِيلَ لَهُ
أَيَكُونُ الْمُؤْمِنُ كَذَّابًا قَالَ لَا (رواه مالك والبيهقي في شعب الإيمان مرسلًا)

(50/50) Sufwan ibn Sulaym has related that the Prophet ﷺ was once asked if a Muslim could be a coward. "Yes", the Prophet replied. It was next asked of him if a Muslim could be a miser. "Yes", the Prophet again replied. After it, it was asked of him if a Muslim could be a [habitual] liar. The Prophet said, "No" [meaning that Faith and the filthy habit of deliberate lying could not exist with each-other]. (Maalik, Baihaqi)

Commentary: Though cowardice and stinginess are bad, these are such natural weaknesses that a Believer, also, can fall a prey to them. But the habit of falsehood is so excessively repugnant to Islam that the two cannot be present in one person.

(٥١/٥١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَا يَزْنِي
الزَّانِي حِينَ يَزْنِي وَهُوَ مُؤْمِنٌ وَلَا يَسْرِقُ السَّارِقُ حِينَ يَسْرِقُ وَهُوَ مُؤْمِنٌ وَلَا
يَشْرَبُ الْخَمْرَ حِينَ يَشْرِبُهَا وَهُوَ مُؤْمِنٌ وَلَا يَنْتَهَبُ نَهْبَةً يَرْفَعُ النَّاسُ إِلَيْهِ فِيهَا
أَبْصَارُهُمْ حِينَ يَنْتَهَبُهَا وَهُوَ مُؤْمِنٌ وَلَا يَغْلُ أَحَدُكُمْ حِينَ يَغْلُ وَهُوَ مُؤْمِنٌ
فَإَيَّاكُمْ إِنَّا كُفَّمُ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(51/51) It is related by Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "No adulterer commits adultery and remains a Believer during the time he commits adultery, and no thief commits theft remains a Believer during the time he commits theft, and no drinker drinks wine and remains a Believer during the time he drink wine, and no robber commits robbery, in full view of men, and remains a Believer during the time he commits robbery, and no embezzler commits embezzlement and remains a Believer during the time he commits embezzlement. Thus, (O ye who believe!) Save yourselves from these [Faith-destroying] acts. Save [yourselves]."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

This Hadith is found again in Bukhari and Muslim on the authority of Sayyidina Ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه. Apart from adultery, theft, wine-drinking, robbery and embezzlement, it also mentions unjust killing. The additional words are:

لَا يَكُونُ هَذَا مُؤْمِنًا تَامًا وَلَا يَكُونُ لَهُ نُورُ الْإِيمَانِ (صحيح بخارى كتاب الايمان)
(and no slayer slays anyone and remains a Believer while he slays).
(Bukhari, Muslim)

Commentary: Adultery, theft, wine drinking, murder and robbery and embezzlement are antithetical of Islam and during the time a person performs any of these evil acts, the light of Faith deserts him. It does not, however, mean that he altogether goes out of the fold and becomes an infidel. While commenting on this saying, Imam Bukhari himself has remarked:

The perpetrator of these sins ceases to be a full Believer at the time at which he perpetrates them and the light of Faith does not remain in him." ¹

لَا يَكُونُ هَذَا مُؤْمِنًا تَامًا وَلَا يَكُونُ
لَهُ نُورُ الْإِيمَانِ

To put it differently, in the peculiar inner feeling which is known as Faith is alive and the heart is illumined with it, a person will never be guilty of these wicked acts. Such sins are committed only when the flame of Faith has died out in the heart and the special spiritual consciousness which protects a man against evil-doing has disappeared or grown feeble due to some reason or the other.

In a nutshell, the Traditions in which it has been said about some grave misdeeds that whoever commits them is not a believer or about some moral virtues or good actions that whoever gives them up or departs from them is devoid of Faith do not imply that he has actually seceded from the Islamic faith and now the laws of infidelity will apply to him, and, in he Hereafter, he will be treated as a heathen, but simply that he no longer possesses the true spirit of Faith which is the glory of a Muslim and pleasing to Allah. The particular phrasing has been preferred only to lend a greater force to it. Every language has its idions and this style is often used in preaching, sermonising and encouraging.

For instance, if instead of saying that the perpetrator of these crimes does not remain a Believer while doing them, the Prophet ﷺ had said that his Faith leaves him at that time then the message would not be as effective.

Or, we may recall the Hadith in the preceding pages:

(He who is not trustworthy has no faith and he who is not true to his promise has no share of religion).

لَا إِيمَانَ لِمَنْ لَا أَمَانَةَ لَهُ وَلَا دِينَ
لِمَنْ لَا عَهْدَ لَهُ

It would not be as effective if these words were not used. Thus, the style used in these Ahadith is most apt for the messages they convey.

It will, as such, be patently wrong and unjust to regard these Traditions as 'Fiats' or infidelity or 'Judicial Decrees' of Fiqh [Islamic Jurisprudence] and start expelling people from the Millat, as the Mu'tazilla and Khawarij did.¹

Some Actions And Attributes of Hypocrisy

(٥٢/٥٢) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَرْبَعٌ مَنْ كُنَّ فِيهِ كَانَتْ مُنَافِقًا خَالِصًا وَمَنْ كَانَتْ فِيهِ خَصْلَةٌ مِنْهُنَّ كَانَتْ فِيهِ خَصْلَةٌ مِنَ النِّفَاقِ حَتَّى يَدْعَوْهَا إِذَا أُوتِيَ خَانَ وَإِذَا حَدَّثَ كَذَبَ وَإِذَا عَاهَدَ غَدَرَوُ إِذَا خَاصَمَ فَجَرَ
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(52/52) It is related by Abdullah ibn 'Amr ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Four things are such that if they combine together in a person he is an utter hypocrite and whosoever has any one of these then he has one attribute of hypocrisy in him and shall remain in that state till he gives it up. These are: when he is trusted, he betrays; when he speaks, he

①. It is worthwhile to reproduce here the observation made by Ibn Taimiyah in Kitab-ul-Eeman. He says, "The position of the things about which it is said in the Traditions that whoever is guilty of them is not a Believer or that there is no Faith in him is, at the minimum, that these are prohibited by the Shari'ah and it is the duty of a Muslim to abstain from them."

lies; when he gives a pledge, he breaks it: and, when he contends, he reviles." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Hypocrisy, in the Islamic terminology, means that act or habit of pretending to be a Muslim and falsely displaying loyalty to the Islamic Faith as the case was with Abdullah bin Ubay and others of his ilk during the days of the Prophet ﷺ. This double-dealing, indeed, is the worst kind of infidelity and it is about these lying and insincere men that the Qur'an has said:

Lo! the hypocrites [will be] in the lowest depth of the Fire. إِنَّ الْمُنَافِقِينَ فِي الدَّرَكِ الْأَسْفَلِ مِنَ النَّارِ
(Al Nisaa 4:145) (النساء ٤: ١٤٥)

But there are other traits, acts and practices also which possess a close affinity with hypocrisy and the Believer should not even allow their shadow to fall upon them. If, unfortunately, any of these habits is found in a Muslim, it will be assumed that he possesses that particular attribute of Hypocrisy and should all of these be present in him he will be considered to be a perfect hypocrite.

In brief, one type of hypocrisy is related to belief and faith which is the worst kind of infidelity but, apart from it, to possess the character of a hypocrite is, also, a form of hypocrisy, though not pertaining to Faith. For a Muslim it is as necessary to guard against hypocritical qualities and behaviour as to shun infidelity, polytheism and conceptual hypocrisy.

The Prophet ﷺ has described four of the characteristics of a hypocrite: embezzlement, falsehood, breaking promise, indecent language. If anyone has one of these, he has that much of hypocrisy in him but if he has all four then he is a complete hypocrite in his character.

(٥٣/٥٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ مَاتَ وَلَمْ يَغْزُ وَلَمْ يُحَدِّثْ بِهِ نَفْسَهُ مَاتَ عَلَى شُعْبَةٍ مِنْ نِفَاقٍ (رواه مسلم)

(53/53) It is related by Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever dies in such a state that he neither waged Jihad nor made plans for it in his heart nor yearned for it then he died on an attribute of hypocrisy." (Muslim)

Commentary: A life in which, in spite of the claim of Faith, the time never comes for striving to the utmost and making sacrifices in the way of Allah nor is the urge felt for it in the heart is a life of the hypocrites and anyone who will depart from the world in that condition will depart with an attribute of hypocrisy.

(٥٤/٥٤) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تِلْكَ صَلَاةُ الْمُنَافِقِ يَجْلِسُ يَرْقُبُ الشَّمْسَ حَتَّى إِذَا اصْفَرَّتْ وَكَانَتْ بَيْنَ قَرْنَيْ الشَّيْطَانِ قَامَ فَتَقَرَّرَ أَرْبَعًا يَذْكُرُ اللَّهَ فِيهَا إِلَّا قَلِيلًا (رواه مسلم)

(54/54) It is related by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "It is the salah [prayer] of a hypocrite that a person sits on looking indifferently at the sun till it turns pale and begins to set, and, then, stands up for salah hurriedly finishes it, like a bird pecking at the grain, and the remembrance of Allah in it is, also, nominal." (Muslim)

Commentary: What is worthy of a truthful Believer is that he waits eagerly for the time of salah to arrive and when it does he stands up for the prayer promptly and cheerfully, realising that he has been blessed with presence in the Court of the Almighty, the King of Kings, and offers it up in a calm, composed and collected manner and with a full sense of humility, and remembers Allah much in *qiyam*¹, *quyud*², *ruku*³ and *sujud*⁴, and enlivens his heart with it. But with the hypocrites it is different. Salah is a burden on them and they want to delay it as much as possible. Thus, for the *Asr*⁵ prayer they rise up when the sun is about to sit below the horizon and finish it off quickly. This is the salah of the hypocrites and whoever offers it, in that way, does not offer the salah of a faithful Believer but of an hypocrite.

(٥٥/٥٥) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ بْنِ عَفَّانَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ أَدْرَكَهُ الْأَذَانُ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ ثُمَّ خَرَجَ لَمْ يَخْرُجْ لِحَاجَةٍ وَهُوَ لَا يُرِيدُ الرَّجْعَةَ فَهُوَ مُنَافِقٌ (رواه ابن ماجه)

①. Standing erect.

②. The sitting posture.

③. Bowing the head in reverence.

④. The act of prostration with the forehead touching the ground.

⑤. The prayer offered before sunset.

(55/55) It is related by Uthman ibn Affan رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever is present in the mosque when Azan⁶ is given and goes out of it without a pressing need and [also] has no intention of coming back and joining the congregation is a hypocrite." (Ibn Majah)

Commentary: The conduct described in the above Tradition is that of a hypocrite and whoever behaves like that is a hypocrite in practice, if not in belief.

6. Call of prayer.

Evil Thoughts Are Not Harmful To Faith And Ther Will Be No Punishment On Them

(٥٦/٥٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ تَجَاوَزَ عَنْ أُمَّتِي مَا وَسَّوَسَتْ بِهِ صُدُورُهَا مَا لَمْ تَعْمَلْ بِهِ أَوْ تَتَكَلَّمَ

(رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(56/56) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah has forgiven my Ummah evil thought and misgivings and there will be no punishment on them until they are acted upon or uttered by the tongue." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Sometimes most filthy ideas assail a man's heart and skeptical and atheistic questions arise in his mind. In this Tradition an assurance is given that as long as these desires, notions, doubts or fears remain confined to thought and feeling, there will be no punishment on them from Allah. But if they are given expression to, by word or deed, Divine chastisement will, ofcourse, follow.

(٥٧/٥٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ جَاءَهُ رَجُلٌ فَقَالَ إِنِّي أَحَدْتُ نَفْسِي بِالشَّيْءِ لَأَنْ أَكُونَ حُمَمَةً أَحَبُّ إِلَيَّ مِنْ أَنْ أَتَكَلَّمَ بِهِ، قَالَ الْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ الَّذِي رَدَّ أَمْرَهُ إِلَى الْوَسْوَسَةِ

(رواه ابو داود)

(57/57) It is narrated by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that, once, a person came to the Prophet ﷺ and said, "Sometimes such wicked ideas come to my mind that I would prefer to be burnt down and reduced to charcoal than to give utterance to them." The Prophet ﷺ replied, "Praise be to Allah who turned back the matter towards promptings." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: The questioner is advised here not to eat his heart out but be grateful to Allah that, out of His grace, He protected his inmost self against adopting and accepting the vicious notions and desires and did not allow them to go beyond the realm of thinking and feeling.

(58/58) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that, once, some Companions رضي الله عنهم presented themselves before the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and said, "Our condition is that sometimes in our heart experience such evil thoughts and sentiments in our heart that it is most painful even to mention them." "Is it really so?" inquired the Prophet ﷺ. "Yes", replied the Companions رضي الله عنهم, "This is our condition." "But that is pure Faith," the Prophet ﷺ exclaimed. (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that to feel greatly distressed at notions that are contrary to Islam and the Shari'ah that it may be intolerable even to bring them on the tongue is a mark of the purity of Faith.

(٥٩/٥٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَأْتِي الشَّيْطَانُ أَحَدَكُمْ فَيَقُولُ مَنْ خَلَقَ كَذَا؟ مَنْ خَلَقَ كَذَا؟ حَتَّى يَقُولَ مَنْ خَلَقَ رَبُّكَ فَإِذَا بَلَغَهُ فَلْيَسْتَعِذْ بِاللَّهِ وَلْيَنْتَبِهْ (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(59/59) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Occasionally, Satan comes to you and asks, 'Who created this thing [and] who created that thing,' He goes till he asks who created your Lord? So when this stage is reached you should seek refuge in Allah and stop."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Such ideas and misgivings are the handiwork of Satan and when he causes a doubt concerning the very existence of Allah to crop up in anyone's heart the best course for him is to beg the protection of Allah against the mischief of the Devil and divert his mind from it. When the existence of Allah is an Attribute of His Being and He is the Creator of all things a question like this does not arise about Him in the least degree.

(٦٠/٦٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَزَالُ النَّاسُ يَتَسَاءَلُونَ حَتَّى يُقَالَ هَذَا خَلَقَ اللَّهُ الْخَلْقَ، فَمَنْ خَلَقَ اللَّهُ؟ فَمَنْ وَجَدَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ شَيْئًا فَلْيَقُلْ آمَنْتُ بِاللَّهِ وَرَسُولِهِ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(60/60) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "People will go on asking (vain and meaningless questions) until they ask: This is the creation Allah created, then who created Allah. So, he who faces that should say: I believe in Allah and His Messengers. (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The attitude of a faithful Believer to such ideas and inquiries should be that he should tell the questioners, the doubt-instilling Satan or his own inmost self that the light of faith in Allah and His Messengers had reached him, and, therefore, the afore-mentioned question was not worthy of his consideration just as it was senseless for a clear-eyed person to think or discuss logically whether the sun was bright or not.

The Essence of Faith

(٦١/٦١) عَنْ سُفْيَانَ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ التَّخَفِيُّ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قُلْ لِي فِي الْإِسْلَامِ قَوْلًا لَا أَسْأَلُ عَنْهُ أَحَدًا بَعْدَكَ (وَفِي رَوَايَةٍ غَيْرِكَ) قَالَ قُلْ آمَنْتُ بِاللَّهِ ثُمَّ اسْتَقِمَّ

(رواه مسلم)

(61/61) Sufyan ibn Abdullah Thaqafi رضي الله عنه reported that he asked the Prophet, "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! Tell me an all-encompassing thing about Islam so that, after you, I may not have to ask from anyone in this regard." The Prophet ﷺ replied, "Say, I believe in Allah, and remain true to it." (Muslim)

Commentary: It is enough for a man to believe in Allah as his Lord and Creator, and, then, as His conscientious slave fulfil his duties.

This Tradition is included among the "all-embracing sayings." The sacred Prophet ﷺ has summed up the fundamental meaning and purpose of Islam in a few words. Faith in Allah and constancy and steadfastness in it constitutes the pith and essence of Islam. The significance of faith in Allah has already been explained in the commentary of the Tradition placed at the head of the present compilation while steadfastness means to pursue faithfully and unchangingly the Straight Path and to persevere in it at all times. Strict observance of the Divine injunctions, positive as well as negative, is, so to speak, the name of constancy in Faith. Some of the leading Sufi-saints have remarked,

"Steadfastness is better than a thousand supernatural deeds."

الْإِسْتِقَامَةُ خَيْرٌ مِنْ أَلْفِ كَرَامَةٍ

Once a person has learnt the lesson of steadfastness, he has learnt everything. After it, there is left nothing for him to aspire for. At various places in Qur'an, felicity has been associated with faith in Allah and steadfastness. Take the following verse, for instance.

Lo! those who say: Our Lord is Allah, and afterward are upright, the angels descend on them saying: Fear not nor grieve, but hear good tidings of the Paradise which ye are promised. (Al Ahqaf 46:30)

إِنَّ الَّذِينَ قَالُوا رَبُّنَا اللَّهُ ثُمَّ اسْتَقَامُوا فَلَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ، أُولَئِكَ أَصْحَابُ الْجَنَّةِ خَالِدِينَ فِيهَا جَزَاءً بِمَا كَانُوا يَعْمَلُونَ (الاحقاف ٤٦: ١٣-١٤)

Seeing that the Traditions of the Prophet ﷺ were based upon Qur'anic teachings it can be said that the reply to Sufyan ibn Abdullah Thaqafi was in the light of the verses like the one reproduced above¹.

(٦٢/٦٢) عَنْ تَمِيمِ الدَّارِيِّ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ "الَّذِينَ النَّصِيحَةُ" قُلْنَا لِمَنْ؟ قَالَ لِلَّهِ وَلِكِتَابِهِ وَلِرَسُولِهِ وَلَا نِعْمَةَ الْمُسْلِمِينَ وَعَامَّتِهِمْ (رواه مسلم)

(62/62) It is related by Tamin Dari that the Prophet ﷺ once,

①. Some of the foremost authorities have expressed the view that the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ were, generally, derived from the Qur'an and the source of every Tradition can be found in it. Among the earlier doctors the names of Sa'eed ibn Jubair and Imam Shafi'ee can be mentioned in this connection while among the latterday theologists, Shah Waliullah has held the same opinion in Khair Katheer. He says "When I studied from that point of view, I discovered that the origin of all the Traditions given in the Book of salah could be traced to the Qur'an." Would that he had been able to complete his research.

said: "Faith is the name of loyalty and earnestness." He was asked, "Loyalty and earnestness towards whom?" The Prophet ~~replied~~ replied, "Towards Allah, towards His Book, towards His Messenger, towards the leaders of Muslims, and towards the Muslims as a whole." (Muslim)

Commentary: This Tradition, too, is included among the "all-embracing sayings". According to Imam Nawawi, it is comprehensive of all the objectives of Faith and to act upon it is to fulfil its aim and purpose altogether.

No aspect or department of Faith has been left out in the above Tradition. It declares that Islam consists of loyalty to Allah, to His Book, to His Messengers, to the leaders of Muslims and to the entire Muslim Millat, and this is what Faith is, without a trace of doubt.

Loyalty to Allah means that He should be believed in; the knowledge and awareness of Him should be acquired as much as possible: He should be loved to the utmost; worship and obedience should be rendered to Him : no one should be associated with Him; and, He should be feared as the true Lord and Sovereign. In brief the obligations of servility ought to be observed to the full in respect of Him and His commands carried out faithfully.

Loyalty to the Book of Allah implies that it should be accepted as the Divine Word; due regard should be paid to its glory and greatness; its knowledge should be acquired and spread; and, its teachings should be observed dutifully in practice.

Likewise, loyalty to the Prophet signifies that faith should be affirmed in his Mission; he should be held in respect and reverence; warm affection should be felt for him, and for his precepts and practices and, salvation should be believed to lie in following him with all one's heart.

Further, loyalty to the rulers and leaders of the Muslims denotes that co-operation should be extended to them in the discharge of their responsibilities; they should be held in proper esteem, and if they seemed to err, sincere efforts should be made to correct them; good counsel should not be held back from them; and, they should be obeyed as far as it is permissible in Islam.

And, lastly, to the Muslim Millat meaning that attitude towards the Muslims, as a whole, should be one of sympathy and goodwill; their gain should be considered to be one's own gain and their loss to be one's own loss; and, every possible help and service should be accorded to them ungrudgingly.

From the above it will be clear how this Tradition embraces of every branch of Faith and why to act upon it sincerely is to fulfil all the obligations of Islam.

BELIEF IN DIVINE PREDESTINATION

In the Hadith Jibreel and in some other Ahadith we have come across references to predestination. We have learnt in passing that it is necessary to believe in predestination. Here some Ahadith are presented that deal with this subject in detail and reflect on its significance.

(٦٣/٦٣) عَنِ ابْنِ الدَّيْلَمِيِّ قَالَ أَتَيْتُ أَبِي بْنَ كَعْبٍ فَقُلْتُ لَهُ قَدْ وَقَعَ فِي نَفْسِي شَيْءٌ مِنَ الْقَدْرِ فَحَدِّثْنِي لَعَلَّ اللَّهَ أَنْ يُذْهِبَهُ مِنْ قَلْبِي، فَقَالَ لَوْ أَنَّ اللَّهَ عَذَّبَ أَهْلَ سَمَوَاتِهِ وَأَهْلَ أَرْضِهِ عَذْبَهُمْ وَهُوَ غَيْرُ ظَالِمٍ لَهُمْ وَلَوْ رَحِمَهُمْ كَانَتْ رَحْمَتُهُ خَيْرًا لَهُمْ مِنْ أَعْمَالِهِمْ، وَلَوْ أَنْفَقْتُ مِثْلَ أُحُدٍ ذَهَبًا فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ مَا قَبِلَهُ اللَّهُ مِنْكَ حَتَّى تُؤْمِنَ بِالْقَدْرِ وَتَعْلَمَ أَنَّ مَا أَصَابَكَ لَمْ يَكُنْ لِيُخْطِئَكَ وَأَنَّ مَا أَخْطَاكَ لَمْ يَكُنْ لِيُصِيبَكَ وَلَوْ مُتُّ عَلَى غَيْرِ هَذَا لَدَخَلْتُ النَّارَ، قَالَ ثُمَّ أَتَيْتُ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ مَسْعُودٍ فَقَالَ مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ ثُمَّ أَتَيْتُ زَيْدَ بْنَ ثَابِتٍ فَحَدَّثَنِي عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ (رواه احمد و ابو داود، وابن ماجه)

(63/63) Ibn al-Dailami has related that he once went to Ubayy ibn Ka'ab ؓ [one of the well-known Companions] and said, "[The doctrine] of Divine predestination has made me uneasy in mind. So, please tell [me] something about it [whereby] Allah may remove my anxiety [and my heart may gain satisfaction in this regard]" Ubayy ibn Ka'ab replied. "Listen! If Allah plunges all the creatures of the heavens and the earth into punishment, He will not be unjust in His act, and if He favours all of them with His mercy, the mercy will be better than their deeds [i.e., it will only be His benevolence upon them and not the due recompense of their actions]. And listen! To believe in destiny is so very essential that even if you give away gold equal to Mount Uhud in the way of Allah, it will not find acceptance with Him until you believe in Divine predestination and it is your firm conviction that whatever happens to you could not have been averted and whatever does not happen to you could not just have happened [i.e., everything that takes place has been fore-ordained by Allah and no alteration is possible in the plan determined by Him before-hand]. If you die holding a belief other than this, you will certainly go to Hell." [Ibn al-Dailami related] "After hearing it from Ubayy ibn Ka'ab, I went to Abdullah ibn Mas'ood and he, told me the same thing; then I went to Huzayfah and he told me the same thing; then I went to Zaid bin Thabit and he related the same thing to me as a Tradition of the Prophet."

(Musnad Ahmad, Abu Dawood and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: A common doubt which Satan implants in the hearts of the Believers is that when every event has been pre-determined by Allah how is it that while one person is living in ease and comfort in this world, the other is passing his days in want and misery, and why do some people go to Heaven and others to Hell? Should this misgiving assail anyone's mind, the best way to overcome it is to ponder over the supreme control Allah exercises over all creatures, as the Lord and Creator of the universe, and to think that an absolute Sovereign and Maker of the worlds like Him, who fashioned the entire design of existence out of nothing, is perfectly justified in treating any of His creatures in whatever way He likes. He cannot be called unjust by any code if He decides to punish everyone, and if He shows mercy to all, it will be nothing but His Benevolence because, after all, it is He who grants the good fortune of well-doing to the those who practise virtue.

Since Ibn al-Dailami was a truthful Believer and had a complete faith in the Glory and Omnipotence of Allah, the holy Companions  rovided a remedy for his dilemma by that belief in predestintion was so vitally important that if , without it, a person spent even as much gold in charity as a mountain, it would not be acceptable to Allah and he was destined to end up in Hell.

It should, however, be noted that only the doubts of the Believers can be dispelled in this way. For refuting objections raised by others regarding the concept of predetermination a different approach will have to be made. They are advised to read books on scholastic theology. We, also, propose to shed more light on it in the pages to follow.

(٦٤/٦٤) عَنْ أَبِي خِرَازِمَةَ عَنْ أَبِيهِ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَرَأَيْتَ رُفِيَ نَسْتَرَقِيهَا وَدَوَاءٌ تَدَاوَى بِهِ وَتَقَاةٌ نَتَقِيهَا هَلْ تَرُدُّ مِنْ قَدَرِ اللَّهِ شَيْئًا؟ قَالَ هِيَ مِنْ قَدَرِ اللَّهِ.

(رواه احمد والترمذى وابن ماجه)

(64/64) Abu Khizama has related from his father that he had narrated that he asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ: "What do you say about the spell to which we take recourse in distress or the medicines we use to treat ourselves or the steps we take to ward-off an evil or misfortune? Do they change or annul what has been decreed by Allah?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, "These things, also, are a part of Divine predestination."

(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: It shows that the efforts we make and the methods we adopt to realise an aim are also subject to Divine predestination. For instance, it is fore-ordained by Allah that such-and-such a person will be afflicted with such-and-such an ailment and such-and-such a medicine, or any other means, will cure him of it. As a little deliberation will show, the sacred Prophet ﷺ has, through one short sentence, answered many an objection raised and doubt expressed concerning the doctrine of fate.

(٦٥/٦٥) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ أَحَدٍ إِلَّا وَقَدْ كُتِبَ مَقْعَدُهُ مِنَ النَّارِ وَمَقْعَدُهُ مِنَ الْجَنَّةِ قَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَفَلَا نَتَّكِلُ عَلَى كِتَابِنَا وَنَدْعُ الْعَمَلَ؟ قَالَ إِعْمَلُوا فِكُلُّ مِيسِرٍ لِمَا خُلِقَ لَهُ أَمَا مَنْ كَانَ مِنْ أَهْلِ السَّعَادَةِ فَسَيُيسِرُ لِعَمَلِ السَّعَادَةِ وَأَمَا مَنْ كَانَ مِنْ أَهْلِ الشَّقَاوَةِ فَسَيُيسِرُ لِعَمَلِ الشَّقَاوَةِ ثُمَّ قَرَأَ، "فَأَمَّا مَنْ أَعْطَى وَاتَّقَى وَصَدَّقَ بِالْحُسْنَى فَسَنُيَسِّرُهُ لِلْيُسْرَى وَأَمَّا مَنْ بَخِلَ وَاسْتَغْنَى وَكَذَّبَ بِالْحُسْنَى فَسَنُيَسِّرُهُ لِلْعُسْرَى"

(65/65) It is related by Sayyidina Ali ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "For everyone of you the adobe of Heaven or Hell has been written already [i.e., it has been determined beforehand who will go to Heaven and who will go to Hell]."

The Companions رضي الله عنهم, asked, "Should we, then, rely upon the decree of fate and cease to make effort [meaning when everything has been settled beforehand why should we exert ourselves]?" "No", the Prophet ﷺ replied, "Go on striving because everyone is guided only to what he has been born for. Thus, he who is among the fortunate is guided towards virtuous deeds and he who is among the ill-fated is guided towards sinful deeds." The Prophet ﷺ recited the following verse of the Qur'an:

وَاسْتَغْنَى، وَكَذَّبَ بِالْحُسْنَى، فَسَنِيَرُهُ لِلْعُسْرَى (الليل ٩٢: ٥-١٠)

"As for him who giveth [his wealth] and is dutiful [towards Allah], and believeth in goodness; surely We will ease his way unto the state of ease. But as for him who hoardeth and deemeth himself independent, and disbelieveth in goodness; surely We will ease his way unto adversity." [Al Layl 92:5-10]

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It has not only been determined beforehand for everyone whether he is going to end up in Heaven or Hell but the route of good or evil deeds by which he will each here has also been decreed by Allah. It has been predestinated that he who will go to Heaven because he performed such-and-such good deeds and he who will go to Hell will do so because of performing such-and-such wicked deeds. Thus, good deeds have been fore-ordained for the dwellers of Heaven and evil deeds for the dwellers of Hell, and these can, therefore, neither be avoided nor prevented.

(٦٦/٦٦) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كُلُّ شَيْءٍ
يَقْدَرُ حَتَّى الْعُجْزَ وَالْكَيسَ. (رواه مسلم)

(66/66) It is related by Abdullah Ibn Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Everything is from fate, even intellect and stupidity." (Muslim)

Commentary: Capability and fitness, skilfulness and efficiency and wisdom and intelligence are all determined by fate. In short, whatever a man is in this world, and in whichever state, has been Divinely preordained.

(٦٧/٦٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ خَرَجَ عَلَيْنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَنَحْنُ نَتَنَازَعُ فِي الْقَدْرِ فَغَضِبَ حَتَّى احْمَرَّ وَجْهُهُ حَتَّى كَأَنَّمَا فُقِيَ فِي وَجْتِيهِ حَبُّ الرُّمَّانِ فَقَالَ أَبْهَذَا أُمِرْتُ أَمْ بِهَذَا أُرْسِلْتُ إِلَيْكُمْ إِنَّمَا هَلَكَ مَنْ كَانَ قَبْلَكُمْ حِينَ تَنَازَعُوا فِي هَذَا الْأَمْرِ، عَزَمْتُ عَلَيْكُمْ عَزَمْتُ عَلَيْكُمْ أَنْ لَا تَنَازَعُوا فِيهِ. (رواه الترمذی)

(67/67) It is related by Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ "Once we were discussing the doctrine of predestination [in the Prophet's Mosque] when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ came [and finding us engaged in the discussion], [He] became very angry till his face turned so red that it appeared that a pomegranate had been squeezed on his cheeks. He said, 'Is it what you have been commanded to do? Have I brought you this message [that you should discuss such vital and delicate issues as Divine predestination]? Beware! Communities before you were destroyed when they got into the habit of wrangling over it. I make it binding upon you, with the invocation of the power of Allah, not to discuss this question'." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Without doubt, the problem of predestination is a most delicate one. The Believer should, therefore, refrain from making it a subject of debate and argument if he fails to understand it. He must allay his doubts by telling himself that Allah and the Prophet have expounded it in that very manner and, hence, he puts his trust in it. The question is related to the Attributes of Allah, and it must, naturally, be intricate while, with us, the case is that we are unable to comprehend even so many problems and mysteries concerning the material world. Thus, when Allah and His Messenger have explained a truth [which is not easy for everyone to understand properly], the wisest course for those who fail to grasp its full significance but have affirmed faith in Islam is not to dispute it but to accept its reality, realising the limitations of their intellects.

The sacred Prophet ﷺ was indignant, perhaps, because the Companions رضی اللہ عنہم were under his guidance and they were learning Faith directly from him; so when he saw them indulging in the folly he, naturally, felt very angry.

As for the observation that communities have been destroyed in the past due to the habit of entering into an argument over the question of predetermination, destruction, in the present context, denotes deviation and depravity. Both in the Qur'an and the Traditions the word 'destruction' has frequently been used in that sense. The inference that can, thus, be drawn from the Prophet's ﷺ remark is that doctrinal errors and misunderstandings crept into the earlier communities when they made the doctrine of Divine pre-ordination a matter of debate and argument, and, as history tells, among the Muslims, too, conceptual deviations began with the growth of this habit.

It must, however, be clear that debate and disputation has been prohibited in the above saying and not the seeking of guidance for one's own satisfaction from someone who may be worthy of it.

(٦٨/٦٨) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَتَبَ اللَّهُ مَقَادِيرَ الْخَلَائِقِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَخْلُقَ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضَ بِخَمْسِينَ أَلْفَ سَنَةٍ قَالَ وَكَانَ عَرْشُهُ عَلَى الْمَاءِ.
(رواه مسلم)

(68/68) It is related by Abdullah ibn 'Amr ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "fifty thousand years before the creation of the heavens and the earth Allah had written the destinies of all creatures. And at that time, His Throne was on water."
(Muslim)

Commentary: A few points in this Tradition are, particularly, deserving of notice.

Firstly, what does the writing of destinies by Allah mean? It does not, evidently, denote that Allah had written down in the same way as we do by holding the pen in the hand and putting down something on paper or a tablet. To think like that would be to betray one's colossal ignorance of Allah's resplendent Glory and Magnificence. It is beyond our understanding to grasp the nature and reality of Divine Functions and Attributes, and since there is no separate vocabulary for it, we are compelled to use the same terms while speaking about them as have been devised to describe our own activities and characteristics. Otherwise, there is as much difference between the nature and reality of Allah's Functions and Attributes and our own traits, actions and doings as between His Exalted Being and our humble selves.

Be that as it may, it is known only to the Almighty what the writing of destinies mentioned in the above saying actually means. Besides, in the Arabic language the act of determining or settling a thing is also spoken of as writing. Thus, in the Qur'an the enjoining of fasting as a religious duty has been set forth as:

Fasting is written to you,

(Al Baqarah, 2:183)

كُتِبَ عَلَيْكُمُ الصِّيَامُ

(البقره ٢: ١٨٣)

And the prescribing of revenge as:

Revenge is written to you.

(Al Baqarah 2:178)

كُتِبَ عَلَيْكُمُ الْقِصَاصُ

(البقره ٢: ١٧٨)

In the present Tradition, therefore, if the word 'written' is intended to convey the same meaning it will denote that Allah had determined the fate of all the creatures fifty thousand years before the creation of the heavens and the earth and ordained each and every even that was to take place. We are, further, strengthened in our view by the fact that in some accounts of the above saying the word Qaddar [determined] has been used in the place of Kataba [wrote]¹.

It is worth remembering that expressions like 'pen' and 'tablet' that occur in some unauthentic reports concerning the writing of destiny have been borrowed from the Hebrew scriptures and have nothing to do with the genuine Traditions of the Prophet ﷺ.²

Moreover, the fifty thousand years mentioned in the Tradition can also signify a very long period of time. Such expressions are quite common in the Arabic language. It will, then, mean that Allah had determined the destinies of all created beings long, long before the creation of the heavens and the earth.

At the end of the Tradition it is stated that at that time the Throne of Allah was on water. It shows that Allah's Throne and water had been created by then.

①. Shah Waliullah has taken the same view in Hujjatullah-u-Baligha (Vol. I, p. 166)

②. Hujjat

Writes Shah Waliullah: "Just as thousands of faces and details regarding them are stored up in our mind in the same way in some special faculty of the heaven of heavens (which may be compared to our own imagination) Allah has inscribed beforehand the doings and activities, deeds and behaviour and conditions and circumstances of all the creatures; in short, anything and everything that was going to happen in the world. Whatever is taking place in the world is, thus, preserved in this faculty of the heaven of heavens as innumerable faces and information relating to them are in our memory."

In his view, the writing of the destinies of all the creatures signifies nothing but this.

(٦٩/٦٩) عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ حَدَّثَنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَهُوَ الصَّادِقُ الْمَصْدُوقُ إِنَّ خَلْقَ أَحَدِكُمْ يُجْمَعُ فِي بَطْنِ أُمِّهِ أَرْبَعِينَ يَوْمًا نُطْفَةً ثُمَّ يَكُونُ عَلَقَةً مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ ثُمَّ يَكُونُ مُضْغَةً مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ ثُمَّ يَبْعَثُ اللَّهُ إِلَيْهِ مَلَكًا بِأَرْبَعِ كَلِمَاتٍ فَيَكْتُبُ عَمَلَهُ وَاجَلَهُ وَرِزْقَهُ وَشَقِيٌّ أَوْ سَعِيدٌ ثُمَّ يُنْفَخُ فِيهِ الرُّوحُ فَوَالَّذِي لَا إِلَهَ غَيْرُهُ إِنَّ أَحَدَكُمْ لَيَعْمَلُ بِعَمَلٍ أَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ حَتَّى مَا يَكُونُ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَهَا إِلَّا ذِرَاعٌ فَيَسْبِقُ عَلَيْهِ الْكِتَابُ فَيَعْمَلُ بِعَمَلِ أَهْلِ النَّارِ فَيَدْخُلُهَا وَإِنَّ أَحَدَكُمْ لَيَعْمَلُ بِعَمَلٍ أَهْلِ النَّارِ حَتَّى مَا يَكُونُ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَهَا إِلَّا ذِرَاعٌ فَيَسْبِقُ عَلَيْهِ الْكِتَابُ فَيَعْمَلُ بِعَمَلِ أَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ فَيَدْخُلُهَا. (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(69/69) It is related by Abdullah ibn Mas'ood رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to him: "The seed of everyone of you remains for forty days in the womb of his mother in the form of Nutfah¹ [i.e., during the first forty days it undergoes no significant change except that a little thickening of the blood takes place and this is what is called Nutfah], for another forty days it remains like a clot, and, then, for the same number of days, like a lump of flesh [when the formation of limbs and the growth of bone begins]. Then Allah sends down an angel with four things. The Angel writes down his action [on earth], his life-span, the time of his death, his provision and that whether he is Sa'eed² [fortunate] or Shaqi³ [unfortunate]. The soul is then, put into him. Thus, by the Being save Whom no one is worthy of worship and obedience, at certain times it happens that someone of you performs the deeds of the dwellers of Heaven till there remains only the length of an arm between him and Paradise, and, then, what is decreed by Fate comes to the fore and he begins to perform the deeds of the dwellers of Hell, and, ultimately, makes his way to it [Hell]. And, at other times, someone of you performs the deeds of the dwellers of Hell till there remains only the length of an arm between him and Hell and, then, the decree of Fate comes to the fore and he begins to perform the deeds of the dwellers of Paradise, and, ultimately, makes his way to it [Paradise]."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In this Tradition two things have been mentioned. At first, the few stages of the process of the creation of man are explained through which the embryo passes before the soul is breathed into it (and these stages have, perhaps been stated by way of an introduction). After that, the Prophet ﷺ tells us about the Divine decree that is set down for every human being who is born, by the Angel appointed by Allah. It contains details regarding his deeds, duration of life, hour of death, sustenance and good or evil fortune.

From the general setting of the Tradition it appears that the main purpose of the Prophet ﷺ is to emphasise about this decree that it is final and immutable to the extent that a person who is written down as a dweller of Hell leads a life of piety and moral rectitude for a long time till he comes very close to Paradise, and, then, all of a sudden, he begins to perform evil deeds and dies in the state and ends up in Hell. In the same way, it also happens that a person who is marked out for Paradise spends his life for a long time in the manner of the people of Hell and comes so close to it that, speaking figuratively, only the length of an arm separates him from the infernal place, and, then, suddenly he steadies himself and begins to do virtuous deeds like the dwellers of Heaven and dies in that state and makes his abode in Paradise.

The lesson this Tradition imparts to us is that no one should be condemned positively as a dweller of Hell on account of his evil actions. One never can say what the pattern of his life will be in time to come. Likewise, if, by the grace of Allah, a person is leading a life of virtue he should not be self-satisfied but always remain solicitous of a happy end.

(٧٠/٧٠) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ قُلُوبَ بَنِي آدَمَ كُلُّهَا بَيْنَ إِصْبَعَيْنِ مِنْ أَصَابِعِ الرَّحْمَنِ كَقَلْبٍ وَاحِدٍ يُصْرِفُهُ كَيْفَ يَشَاءُ ثُمَّ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اللَّهُمَّ مُصْرِفِ الْقُلُوبِ صَرِّفْ قُلُوبَنَا عَلَى طَاعَتِكَ. (رواه مسلم)

(70/70) It is related by Abdullah ibn 'Amr رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The hearts of all men are between the two fingers of Ar-Rahman (The Compassionate), like a single heart: He turns it in whatever direction He pleases." [The Prophet ﷺ then said]:

"O Alla! Turner of hearts! Turn my heart towards Thine obedience."

اللَّهُمَّ مُصْرِفِ الْقُلُوبِ صَرِّفْ قُلُوبَنَا عَلَى طَاعَتِكَ
(Muslim)

Commentary: As we have pointed out earlier, since there is no special terminology for describing the Functions and Attributes of Allah, the same words and idioms are used for it as have been evolved for describing human doings and characteristics. Thus, if it has been said in the above Tradition that the hearts of all men are between the two fingers of Allah, it only means that our hearts are entirely in His control, and He turns them in any direction he likes. It is similar to our own idiom of holding a person in the palm of one's hand which is used to denote one's complete authority over somebody.

From the foregoing Traditions concerning Divine predestination we conclude:

- (i) Allah determined the fate of all created beings fifty thousand years before the creation of the heavens and earth and fore-ordained, in detail, everything that was going to happen.
- (ii) When a person is in his mother's womb and four months have passed in that condition an Angel appointed by Allah sets down four things about him: life-span, deeds, provision and good fortune or evil.

(iii) God turns our hearts in whatever direction He likes.

In fact, these are the different stages and manifestations of Divine preordination and the real, eternal fate takes precedence over all of them. Shah Waliullah has discussed the whole things in a most lucid manner. Below we give the main point of his thesis:

Different stages of Divine Decree

- (i) Before the beginning of time when nothing existed save Allah, and the heavens, earth, air, water and the Throne of the Almighty had not been created, Allah possessed a complete knowledge of the universe that was to come into being later. Thus, in that very period of eternity He had resolved to create the world according to the pattern that was in His timeless decision was the first stage of Divine predestination.
- (ii) Then there came a time when water and the Throne of Allah had been created but not the heavens and earth [according to the Tradition No. 68, fifty thousand years before the creation of the heavens and earth]¹ and Allah determined the destinies of all the creatures in accordance with the Eternal Destiny [i.e., He inscribed the detailed account of the fate of all the created beings on the imagination of the heaven of heavens which, thus, it became its bearer]. This was the second stage of Divine predestination.
- (iii) Next, when the process of the development of a man begins in his mother's womb and the time comes, after the passage of four months, of infusing the spirit into the foetus, the Angel appointed by Allah prepares the scroll of his destiny, on the basis of the knowledge obtained from Him, which contains the details concerning his life-span, actions and doings, provision and felicity or ill-fortune. This is the third stage of Divine predestination.
- (iv) Afterwards, whatever a person wants to do, he does so by the command of Allah, as it is stated in Tradition No 70 that the hearts of all men are in the control of Allah and He turns them in any direction he likes.

This is the fourth stage of Divine prederermination.

It should not be difficult to realise the significance of the ①, Which, in our veiw, denotes thoudsands of years. Translator.

various Traditions on Divine predetermination if the above is kept in the mind.

Misgivings- The doubts generally expressed about the doctrine of predestination can be summed up as follows:-

- (i) If everything, good or evil, that happens in the world has been determined beforehand by Allah, the responsibility for all the wicked along with the virtuous deeds will also rest with Him.
- (ii) When every event has been decreed in advance by Allah and What He has fore-ordained is unalterable, a man is bound to act according to what has been appointed beforehand and he should, therefore, neither be rewarded nor punished for his actions.
- (iii) If all events have been predetermined by Allah and are inevitable, it is futile to exert oneself for anything, whether of this world or the next.

On reflection, however, it will appear that all the objections and arguments are due, basically, to a faulty understanding of the concept of predestination.

As we have seen already, Divine predetermination is in accordance with the eternal knowledge of Allah and whatever is taking place in the world, no matter how, why and when, was in His timeless knowledge exactly in the same manner and it had been appointed by Him to happen at that very time and in that very way.

Should we ponder over our action we will find that whatever we do in this world, wicked or virtuous, is by our own volition. If before taking a step or performing a deed we care to think a little, it will seem that it lies in our power to do so or not. In spite of this freedom and authority, we decide to do it or not by means of the will to given to us by Allah and our action is in keeping with that decision. Thus, before the beginning of time Allah was fully aware of how we were going to do what we do in the present world by our own power of conscious decision and intention, and, He fore-ordained them in the same manner. Allah has predestined not only our actions but also the will and volition through which they are carried out. Divine predestination, therefore, does not merely means that such-and-such a person will do this or that good or evil act but also that he will do so out of his own choice and discretion, and, then, such-and-such results will follow and he will receive such a reward or punishment.

The limited control we have over our actions and through which we decide about doing a thing or not is also determined by fate. The responsibility for our deeds rests with it and it is because of it that we are accountable for our doings. The Divine scheme of Requit and Recompense is based upon nothing aside of it.

Predestination does not deny or nullify the power or freedom to decide and choose. It proves and strengthens it and makes it more valid. We, as such, are helpless beings as a result of it nor does the responsibility of our actions lie with Allah.

In the same way, the aims and objects for the attainment of which we make efforts in this world have also been related to the same efforts by fate.

In brief, only this much is not predetermined that such a thing will be obtained by such-and-such a person but the means and manner by which it is going to be obtained is also predetermined.

The whole chain of cause and effect is exactly the same in Divine predestination as it is in the present world.

To imagine, therefore, that whatever is fated will happen in any case and it is futile to try and exert oneself is contrary to the real significance of the doctrine of predestination. This is the substance of what the Prophet ﷺ has said in Traditions Nos. 64 & 65 in reply to the questions put to him by the Companions رضي الله عنهم.

If these facts are borne in mind then Insha Allah such doubts will not arise.

وَاللَّهُ يَهْدِي مَنْ يَشَاءُ إِلَى صِرَاطٍ مُسْتَقِيمٍ

LIFE AFTER DEATH

BARZAKH, LAST DAY, THE HEREAFTER

Some Basic Principles

Before taking up Traditions concerning life after death it will be advisable to keep a few fundamental points in view. It will be easier then to understand the import of the Traditions and the doubts that are so common in this regard, in the modern materialistic time, will not arise.

(i) The special function of the Prophets عليهم السلام [for which they are sent] is to tell us about the truths we cannot know on our own, through it is essential to have knowledge of them. They are beyond the reach of our intellects.

(ii) A unique source of authentic knowledge for the Prophets عليهم السلام, which is not available to the common people, is Divine revelation. It is by this means that they holy Prophets عليهم السلام obtain knowledge of things we cannot become aware of through our own eyes, ears or understanding in the same way as anyone possessing a telescope can see remote objects that are not visible to others.

(iii) To believe in anyone as Prophet and to accept him as such means the unequivocal acknowledgement of the truth that whatever he says about things we do not know or cannot see ourselves is from the knowledge vouchesafed to him by Allah and that every word of it is true. There is no question of doubting the genuineness and accuracy of what the Prophet teaches or reveals.

(iv) The Prophets never tell anything that is opposed to reason. It is a different matter that our intellectual facilities may not be capable of understanding independently the principles and doctrines expounded by them. It could, of course, not be otherwise because if the Prophets were merely to teach the truths we could ourselves perceive through study and observation their coming would have no meaning.

(v) There is nothing in what the Prophets have said about life after death, i.e., Barzakh [the intervening period between death and resurrection] and Furturity that may not be logically feasible. It does, however, contain certain truths which we can not know ourselves and since a similitude of these things does not exist in the material world we, naturally, fail to comprehend them the way we do the visible objects that surround us here.

(vi) The range and strength of the natural means of knowledge and perception that have been granted to us, like the eyes, ears, nose and intellect is very limited. Our everyday experience is that with the aid of modern scientific instruments we can come to know of things that could not be imagined in the past. For example, the microbes present in water or blood can, today, be seen through the microscope. We can hear the voice coming from thousands of miles over the wireless, and with the help of knowledge derived from books the human mind can reflect to a much greater extent than what it could on the basis of information acquired through the physical faculties like hearing and seeing. It shows that to reject a truth simply on the ground that we do not see, hear or understand it today is patently wrong and erroneous. As the Qur'an tells:

And of knowledge ye have been vouchsafed but little.

وَمَا أُوتِيتُمْ مِنَ الْعِلْمِ إِلَّا قَلِيلًا

(الاسراء ١٧: ٨٥)

(vii) Man is made up of two things: the body which is visible and the soul which, though it cannot be seen, is accepted by everyone as a reality. Moreover, the relation between them in this world is such that whatever condition of pain or pleasure, suffering or happiness, comes to pass here happens primarily to the body and the soul is affected by it only secondarily. Thus, when a person is hurt or gets burnt by fire, the injury or burn is related directly to the body but his soul also feels the agony of it. Similarly, the pleasures of eating and drinking appertain to the body but the soul, too, participates in them.

In the material world, therefore, body is the main thing and the soul, so to speak, is subservient to it. But if we bestow some thought on what the Qur'an and the Traditions tell about the Hereafter, we will realise that it will be the other way round in the life to come. In the future existence, all the good and bad things will happen directly to the soul and the body will be affected by them simply in the second place. Allah has created a likeness of it in the present world as well [probably in order to make it easier for us to appreciate this essential fact]. It is the dream. Everyone who is mentally normal often sees in his life dreams which give him intense pain or pleasure. But the pain or pleasure in the dream is, in fact, related to the soul and the body is affected only indirectly by it. For instance, when a person dreams that he is eating a delicious food, he does not see that he is doing so with his soul or imagination but with the mouth with which he usually eats in the waking state. Likewise, when he dreams that someone is beating him, he does not see that it is his soul which is being beaten but the body and his body feels the hurt is the same way as it does in the waking hours though whatever happens in the dream is to the soul and the body is affected only secondarily. Occasionally, the body feels the effects of the strokes or blows so strongly that marks of injury are actually found on it when one wakes up.

Anyhow, the nature of whatever one sees in a good or bad dream is that it happens directly to the soul and its effect is felt by the body only in the second place. That is why, even a person lying next to him who dreams does not see any sign of what he is passing through physically, the reason being that we, in this world, can observe only such states as are related directly to our physical self. In the same manner, the nature of what is going to happen to virtuous or wicked people during the state of Barzakh [a few details of which are given in the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ we will now discuss] is that it will directly befall the soul and the body will feel its effect in the indirect way.

It is hoped that after knowing the difference between the present world and Barzakh the trivial doubts and questions will not arise which are typical to the skeptical or unintelligent people about the Traditions pertaining to the interrogation of the dead and the reward and punishment of the grave.

(71/71) It is related by Bara ibn 'Azib رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said [while speaking about the interrogation of the dead and the reward and punishment of the grave]: "When a faithful bondsman of Allah departs from this world and arrives in the world of Barzakh [i.e., is buried in the grave], angles come to him [and] they make him sit up and ask, 'Who is your Lord?' The bondsman replies, 'Allah is my Lord.' The angels, thereafter, ask, 'What is your Faith?' He replies, 'Islam is my faith.' The angels, then, enquire from him, 'What do you think of the man who was raised up among you [as the Prophet]?' 'He is the true Messenger of Allah,' the bondsman replies. The angels then ask, 'Who told it to you [i.e., how did you come to know about the mission of the Prophet]?' He replies, 'I read the Book of Allah [and from it I learnt that Muhammad ﷺ is the Messenger of Allah]. The Prophet ﷺ, then remarked that 'this is the reply of the faithful Believers about which it has been said in the Qur'an.

Allah confirmeth those who believe by a firm saying [i.e., by a correct faith and a correct reply] in the life of the world and in the Hereafter.' (Ibraim 14:27)

"Afterwards, the Prophet ﷺ observed, '[When the truthful Believer gives the correct replies to the aforementioned questions of the angels], a herald proclaims from the heavens [i.e., it is announced from the heavens on behalf of Allah]: 'My bondsman has spoken the right thing and gave the correct answers. So, lay out the carpet of Paradise for him and dress him up in the robe of Paradise.' Thereupon, the door is opened through which comes the cool and fragrant breeze of Paradise and Paradise is stretched for him as far as the eye can see [i.e., the curtains are lifted so that he can revel, in full measure, in the wonderful sights of Heaven].'

"After it, the Prophet ﷺ said about the death of the Unbeliever [infidel]. He said, [After his death], the soul is returned to his body and two angels also come to him who make him sit up and ask, 'Who is your Lord?' He replies, 'Alas! I know nothing.' The angels, then, enquire from him, 'What was your Faith?' He, again, replies, 'Alas! I know nothing.' The angels, further, ask, 'What do you think of the man who was raised up among you [as the Prophet]?' He, again, says, 'Alas! I know nothing.' After these questions and answers a herald proclaims from the heavens [on behalf of Allah], 'He is a liar. [The innocence he professes is false for he was really a denier of the Oneness of Allah, of His faith-Islam-and of His truthful Prophet]. So lay out for him the carpet of Hell and dress him up in the robe of Hell and open a door for him in the direction of Hell.' [All this will, then, be done]. [The Prophet ﷺ went on to say]: 'The heat of Hell and its leaping flames and scorching wind will reach him incessantly [through the door], and his grave will be made extremely narrow and it will press him so hard that his ribs will move from one side to the other. After that, an angel will be appointed for his punishment who will neither see nor hear anything. he will be carrying a hammer of iron, a stroke of which can reduce a mountain to a heap of ashes. With the hammer the angel will strike him once and He will scream so loudly that all the things that exist between the East and the West except men and jinn will hear it. At this stroke he will turn into dust, and, then, the soul will be put into him again."

(72/72) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When [after death] the bondsman is buried in the grave and his friends [i.e., those who came with his funeral] depart [but they are still so near that he can hear their footsteps], two angels come to him and make him sit up and, then, ask, 'What did you say about the man [i.e., about the holy Prophet]?' Thus, if the bondsman is a Believer he replies, '[I have always testified and even now] I testify that he is the slave and the truthful Messenger of Allah. [On hearing it, the angels say], 'See also the place that was going to be your abode in Hell [if you had not affirmed belief]. Now, instead of it, Allah has granted to you a place in paradise [which is this]. See it also [i.e., both the places of Heaven and Hell will be brought before him].' He will, thus, see them at the same time. Similarly, he who is a hypocrite or an infidel is, also, asked [after his death] about the Prophet ﷺ as to what he thought of him. The hypocrite or the infidel replies, 'I myself do not know anything about him. I only used to repeat what the others said.' So, he will be told, 'You neither knew yourself nor followed the example [of those who believed after knowing]', and will be beaten with the clubs of iron due to which he will scream so loudly that everything nearby will hear it except men and jinn."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: From the preceding Tradition it appears that the angels will ask three questions from the dead person while in the present saying only one question is mentioned. The reason is that this one question cover the other two and the reply to it denotes the replies to them as well. Thus, in some accounts only one question is stated.

We have emphasised it as an elementary principle already and wish to bring it to the notice of the readers again that the Traditions of the Prophet ﷺ are not in the nature of written discourses but informal talks, and in the conversation of a teacher or benefactor it is quite natural that, sometimes, a thing is described in full detail, and sometimes, only a few aspects of it are discussed.

In the above report, as also in a few others, the word 'grave' has been used but it does not apply only to those who are buried after death. It is merely for the reason that the general practice was to bury the dead and this method of the disposal of dead bodies was common. Otherwise, the interrogation by the angels takes place with everyone who dies, no matter whether he is buried in the grave or cremated or his dead body is immersed in the river or eaten up by carnivorous birds and animals. As we have seen earlier, all this [the interrogation etc.] happens to the soul, and the body, wherever it may be, is affected only indirectly by it. The example of the dream is quite sufficient to bring home the truth, for also a dead body sometimes remains lying before us for three or four days and yet no sound of the questions and answers is heard by anyone. In the dream, too, all sorts of things happen to a man, he talks, eats and drinks but no evidence of it is noticed by those around him.

It can, also, be argued that when there is no opening or any other way of entering into a grave, how do the angels reach there? But only the unknowing who imagine the angels to be made of flesh and bones like themselves can raise such a question. The angels do not need an entrance or a doorway for coming into or going out of a place. Just as the rays of sun pass through a sheet of glass, the angels, by reason of the powers granted to them by Allah, go past the walls of bricks and stones.

(٧٣/٧٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ أَحَدَكُمْ إِذَا مَاتَ عُرِضَ عَلَيْهِ مَقْعَدُهُ بِالْغَدَاةِ وَالْعَشِيِّ إِنْ كَانَ مِنْ أَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ فَمِنْ أَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ وَإِنْ كَانَ مِنْ أَهْلِ النَّارِ فَمِنْ أَهْلِ النَّارِ فَيَقَالُ هَذَا مَقْعَدُكَ حَتَّى يَبْعَثَكَ اللَّهُ إِلَيْهِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ. (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(73/73) It is related by Abdullah ibn Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you dies, the place that is going to be his [final] dwelling-place is brought before his eyes every morning and evening. If he is among the dwellers of Paradise, the place in Paradise [that is going to be his is shown to him every morning and evening], and if he is among the dwellers of Hell, and the place in hell [that is going to be his is shown to him every morning and evening], and it is said to him: 'This is going to be your permanent abode [and it will be so] when Allah will raise you up on the Day of Resurrection.' (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It is not possible, in the present world, to form an idea of the rare joy the dwellers of Heaven will experience on seeing their eternal dwelling place and the excessive pain and grief the dwellers of Hell will feel on seeing their permanent abode.

(٧٤/٧٤) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ أَنَّهُ كَانَ إِذَا وَقَفَ عَلَى قَبْرِ بَكِي حَتَّى يَبْلُغَ لَحِيَّتَهُ فَقِيلَ لَهُ تَذَكَّرُ الْجَنَّةَ وَالنَّارَ فَلَا تَبْكِي وَتَبْكِي مِنْ هَذَا فَقَالَ إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِنَّ الْقَبْرَ أَوَّلُ مَنْزِلٍ مِنْ مَنَازِلِ الْآخِرَةِ فَإِنْ نَجَّاهُ فَمَا بَعْدَهُ أَيْسَرُ مِنْهُ وَإِنْ لَمْ يَنْجُ مِنْهُ فَمَا بَعْدَهُ أَشَدُّ مِنْهُ، قَالَ وَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا رَأَيْتُ مَنْظَرًا قَطُّ إِلَّا وَالْقَبْرُ أَفْطَحَ مِنْهُ. (رواه الترمذى وابن ماجه)

(74/74) It is narrated by Sayyidina Uthman رضي الله عنه that he used to weep much when he stood by a grave, to the extent that his beard became wet with tears. On being asked [how it was] that he did not weep when he remembered Heaven and Hell but cried so bitterly because of the grave, he explained that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to say: "The grave is the first stage among the stages of the Hereafter. Thus, if a person obtains deliverance from it, the other stages are easier, and if a person fails to obtain deliverance from the stage of the grave, the other stages are more difficult." The Messenger of Allah ﷺ also used to say: "No sight which I have seen is more dreadful than the sight of the grave." (Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Whenever Sayyidina Uthman رضي الله عنه passed by a grave words of the Prophet ﷺ [reproduced above] came to his mind and he began to weep out of fear and anxiety.

(٧٥/٧٥) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا فَرَغَ مِنْ دَفْنِ الْمَيِّتِ وَقَفَّ عَلَيْهِ فَقَالَ اسْتَغْفِرُوا لِأَخِيكُمْ ثُمَّ سَلُوا اللَّهَ بِالتَّيْبِتِ فَإِنَّهُ الْآنَ يُسْأَلُ.
(رواه ابو داود)

(75/75) Sayyidina Uthman رضي الله عنه reported that it was the practice of the Prophet ﷺ that after he had finished with the burial of a dead body, he would stand by the side of the grave and say, "Pray to Allah for forgiveness for this brother of yours and also that He may see him steadfast in the replies to the questions for now the interrogation will take place." (Abu Dawood)

(٧٦/٧٦) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ خَرَجْنَا مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِلَى سَعْدِ بْنِ مَعَاذٍ حِينَ تُوُفِّيَ فَلَمَّا صَلَّيْنا عَلَيْهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَوَضَعَ فِي قَبْرِهِ وَسُويَ عَلَيْهِ سَبَّحَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَسَبَّحْنَا طَوِيلًا ثُمَّ كَبَّرَ فَكَبَّرْنَا فَقِيلَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ لِمَ سَبَّحْتَ ثُمَّ كَبَّرْتَ فَقَالَ لَقَدْ تَضَائِقَ عَلَيَّ هَذَا الْعَبْدُ الصَّالِحُ قَبْرُهُ حَتَّى فَرَجَهُ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ.
(رواه احمد)

(76/76) It is reported by Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه that when Sayyidina Sa'd ibn Mu'az رضي الله عنه died they participated in his funeral with the Messenger of Allah ﷺ. When the Prophet ﷺ led his funeral salah and the grave was levelled after burying him, he said: سَبَّحَ اللَّهُ، سَبَّحَ اللَّهُ (Allah is without blemish," twice). Then he kept saying اللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ (Allah is Greatest). So, they too imitated him and said Allahu Akbar repeatedly. Then, someone asked him,

"O Messenger of Allah! Why did you glorify Allah and then extol Him?" So, he said, "The grave was pressed on this pious slave of Allah (and he felt pain) till Allah corrected that condition (and made the grave spacious removing his pain).

(Ahmad)

Commentary: Sayyidina Sa'd ibn Mu'az رضي الله عنه was a well known Ansar Companion who had taken part in the Battle of Badr. He died in 5 A. H. The Prophet ﷺ is quoted in another Hadith to have said about him, "Seventy thousand angels participated in his funeral and the doors of the Paradise are opened for him." In spite of that he had to face hardship in the grave (though it was removed forthwith). There is caution and a lesson for us in this:

اللهم ارحمنا اللهم احفظنا

(O Allah! Have mercy on us. O Allah! Protect us).

(٧٧/٧٧) عَنْ أَسْمَاءَ بِنْتِ أَبِي بَكْرٍ قَالَتْ قَامَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ خَطِيبًا فَذَكَرَ فِتْنَةَ الْقَبْرِ الَّتِي يُفْتَنُ فِيهَا الْمَرْءُ فَلَمَّا ذَكَرَ ذَلِكَ صَجَّ الْمُسْلِمُونَ صَجَّةً.

77 (77) It is related by Sayyidah Asma binti Abu Bakr رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ once delivered a sermon in which he spoke of the trial everyone who dies has to submit himself to. Thus, when he spoke about it, all the Muslims screamed with fear and there was loud lamentation. (Bukhari)

(٧٨/٧٨) عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ قَالَ بَيَّنَّا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي حَائِطِ لَبْنَى النَّجَّارِ عَلَى بَغْلَةٍ لَهُ وَنَحْنُ مَعَهُ إِذْ حَدَّثَ بِهِ فَكَادَتْ تُلْقِيهِ وَإِذَا أَقْبَرُ سِتَّةً أَوْ خَمْسَةً فَقَالَ مَنْ يَعْرِفُ أَصْحَابَ هَذِهِ الْأَقْبِرِ قَالَ رَجُلٌ أَنَا قَالَ فَمَتَى مَاتُوا قَالَ فِي الشَّرْكِ فَقَالَ إِنَّ هَذِهِ الْأُمَّةَ تُبْتَلَى فِي قُبُورِهَا فَلَوْلَا أَنْ لَا تَدَافِنُوا لَدَعَوْتُ اللَّهَ أَنْ يُسَمِعَكُمْ مِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ الَّذِي أَسْمَعُ مِنْهُ ثُمَّ أَقْبَلَ عَلَيْنَا بِوَجْهِهِ فَقَالَ تَعَوَّذُوا بِاللَّهِ مِنْ عَذَابِ النَّارِ قَالُوا نَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنْ عَذَابِ النَّارِ قَالَ تَعَوَّذُوا بِاللَّهِ مِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ قَالُوا نَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ قَالَ تَعَوَّذُوا بِاللَّهِ مِنَ الْفِتَنِ مَا ظَهَرَ مِنْهَا وَمَا بَطَنَ قَالُوا نَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنَ الْفِتَنِ مَا ظَهَرَ مِنْهَا وَمَا

بَطْنٍ قَالَ تَعُوذُوا بِاللَّهِ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الدَّجَالِ قَالُوا نَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الدَّجَالِ.

(78/78) Zaid ibn Thabit رضي الله عنه narrated that once while the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was passing through a grove owned by the tribe of Banu Najar, seated on his mule, the mule unexpectedly turned its course [and it seemed] that it would throw him down. All of a sudden, five or six graves came into view. The Prophet ﷺ enquired, 'Does, anyone know who are buried in these graves?' 'I do', replied one of the Companions. 'When did they die?' The Prophet asked. The Companion replied, 'During the days of Ignorance.' The Prophet ﷺ remarked, 'They are undergoing punishment in the grave. Were I not afraid that you would no more bury your dead, I would have prayed to Allah to let you hear a part of the chastisement of the grave that I hear now. After saying this the Prophet ﷺ turned towards us and observed, seek the protection of Allah. We all said, 'We seek the protection of Allah from the chastisement of Hell!' The Prophet ﷺ then, said, 'Seek the protection of Allah from the chastisement of the grave.' We all said, 'We seek the protection of Allah from the chastisement of the grave.' The Prophet ﷺ, then, said, 'Seek the Protection of Allah from every mischief, manifest as well as hidden.' We all said, 'We seek the protection of Allah from every mischief, manifest as well as hidden.' The Prophet ﷺ, then said, 'Seek the protection of Allah from the [gravest] mischief of Dajjal.' We all said, 'We seek the protection of Allah from the mischief of Dajjal.' (Muslim)

Commentary: From the earlier Traditions we have learnt that Allah has kept the chastisement of the grave concealed from men and jinn. They do not come to know about it at all, but the other creatures become aware of it to some extent. The above Tradition, also, shows that the punishment which was being inflicted on the persons buried in the grave of Banu Najar was perceived not by the Companions رضي الله عنهم of the Prophet ﷺ but by the mule on which he was riding. The wisdom of it is plain. If all of us could see or hear what went on in the grave, the doctrine of 'Faith in the Unseen', would be rendered meaningless and the entire functioning of the universe would be thrown into disorder. When a friend or relative of ours is in distress we find it hard to concentrate on anything.

What to speak of any other thing, mothers would not be able to suckle their children if the punishment of the grave was made known or visible to us.

The Tradition, further, tells that the shrieks that were rising from the graves were heard by the Prophet ﷺ but his Companions ﷺ could not hear them in the least degree. It was akin to the fact that often the Angel of Revelation brought a Divine revelation to the Prophet ﷺ in the presence of the Companions ﷺ but they failed to see or hear him. People who are accustomed to receiving an inspiration from Allah will have little difficulty in appreciating it but even commoners like us can obtain some idea of it from the example of the dream.¹

The Prophet's ﷺ remark "Were I not afraid that you would no more bury your dead, I would have prayed to Allah to let you hear a part of the chastisement of the grave that I hear now denotes that he feared that if Allah made known to them the nature of the punishment of the grave and they heard the screams of those receiving punishment, they would be seized with the fear of death, and it would not be possible for them to bury their dead. That is why, he did not pray to the Almighty for it.

Lastly, the Prophet ﷺ has advised the Companions ﷺ to beg the protection of Allah. This is a moral teaching that instead of trying to see or hear the punishment of the grave the Believers should do their utmost to save themselves from it. Protection from the chastisement and calamity, rests, indeed, with Allah. We should, therefore, always beseech Him for refuge against the punishment of the grave, and of Hell, and against all the manifest and hidden calamiteis, particularly against the greatest of them all, that of Dajjal. And we should strive to keep away from the iniquities that are likely to bring on the grievous penalty of the Hereafter.

①. The common practice of Allah is that the happenings of the grave are kept concealed from men and jinn. We cannot have a first-hand knowledge of them. But it does not rule out the possibility of some aspects of the reward or punishment handed out to a dead person in the grave being revealed to someone by Allah as an extraordinary measure. In Kitab-ur-Rooh, Ibn Qaiyyim remarks, after narrating a number of incidents of a like nature, "There are countless events like these which cannot be mentioned in the present book due to want of space. But they all belong to the category of the reward and chastisement of the grave being shown occasionally by Allah to His chosen slaves in the waking state. As for experiencing such happenings in a dream, reports of it are so numerous that it would take several volumes to record them. But it is the habit of the athesits and infidels to refute the truths they are not aware of or whose knowledge has not been vouchsafed to them."

اللَّهُمَّ إِنَّا نَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ وَنَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ عَذَابِ النَّارِ وَنَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ الْفِتَنِ مَا ظَهَرَ مِنْهَا وَمَا بَطَنَ وَنَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الدَّجَالِ.

O Allah! We seek refuge in Thee from the punishment of Hell, and from the punishment of the grave, and from the mischiefs, both manifest and hidden, and from the calamity of Dajjal.

(B) Last Day

(٧٩/٧٩) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بُعِثْتُ

أَنَا وَالسَّاعَةُ كَهَاتَيْنِ. (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(79/79) It is related by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I and the Last Hour are like these two fingers."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The Prophet ﷺ, after showing the index and middle fingers of his hand, observed that his raising up and the Last Day were as close to each other as they were. What he perhaps, intended to convey was that all the eras Allah had ordained for the world had come to an end. It was the last era that had commenced with him and would terminate with the Hour [i.e., Doomsday]. No Prophet was going to be sent down now nor would a new community be raised. We should, as such, not be heedless of the Resurrection imagining that it was far away.

(٨٠/٨٠) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِثْلُ هَذِهِ الدُّنْيَا

مِثْلُ ثَوْبٍ شُقَّ مِنْ أَوَّلِهِ إِلَى آخِرِهِ فَبَقِيَ مُتَعَلِّقًا بِخِيطٍ فِي آخِرِهِ فَيُوشِكُ ذَلِكَ الْخِيطُ أَنْ يَنْقَطِعَ. (رواه البيهقي فى شعب الايمان)

(80/80) It is narrated by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The example of this world is like the garment that is torn from end to end except a threerad at the corner holds it together. That thread too is on the point of severing." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: Like the preceding Hadith, this too discloses the ness of the Last Day. We must not imagine that it is very far and be neglectful of it. Rather, we must believe it to be very near and make preparations for it.

يَمُوتَ بِشَهْرٍ تَسْأَلُونِي عَنِ السَّاعَةِ وَإِنَّمَا عِلْمُهَا عِنْدَ اللَّهِ وَأُقْسِمُ بِاللَّهِ مَا عَلَى

الْأَرْضِ مِنْ نَفْسٍ مَنفُوسَةٍ يَأْتِي عَلَيْهَا مِائَةُ سَنَةٍ وَهِيَ حَيَّةٌ يَوْمَئِذٍ. (رواه مسلم)

(81/81) It is related by Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه that he heard the Prophet ﷺ say a month, before his death: "You ask me about the Last Hour while its appointed time is known only to Allah.

And I can swear by Him that there is no living person on the face of the earth on whom a hundred years pass and he is still alive at that time."

(Muslim)

Commentary: It appears from the Qur'an as well as the Traditions that people often used to ask the Prophet ﷺ about the Last Hour as to when it was to come. The reply of the Prophet ﷺ always was what is contained in this Tradition, i.e., its previous fixed time was known only to Allah and He alone was aware of the year, month and day on which it was going to take place. He had not granted its knowledge to anyone.

The Prophet ﷺ has made another observation in the above Tradition besides answering the question that was put to him. He has said that those who were alive in the world at that time would all be dead within a hundred years. It shows that the appointed time of the Last Day, when everything that exists will be destroyed, was not known to him. It was only in the knowledge of Allah. What he had, however, revealed to the Prophet ﷺ was that the existing generation would come to an end within a hundred years and those who were alive then would be dead before the passage of a century. Thus, for them it could be said that the Last Day would come within a hundred years.

(٨٢/٨٢) عَنْ أَنَسٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَا تَقُومُ السَّاعَةُ

حَتَّى لَا يُقَالَ فِي الْأَرْضِ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ. وَفِي رَوَايَةٍ لَا تَقُومُ السَّاعَةُ عَلَى أَحَدٍ يَقُولُ

اللَّهُ اللَّهُ.

(82/82) It is related by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The Last Day shall not arrive until [such an evil time comes that] Allah, Allah "is not said in the world at all." [In some reports of this Tradition it is stated "The Last Day shall not be established on anyone who says Allah, Allah]"¹ (Muslim)

Commentary: The Last Day will come when the world will become wholly bereft of the remembrance of Allah and no one here will worship Him or carry out His commands. When the things will come to such a pass the whole of the universe will be destroyed. The remembrance of Allah and the rendering of due allegiance to Him enable the world to carry on and exist. The day it will become devoid of these things it will be broken to pieces at the command of its Creator.

(٨٣/٨٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تَقُومُ السَّاعَةُ إِلَّا عَلَى شِرَارِ الْخَلْقِ.
(رواه مسلم)

(83/83) It is related by Abdullah bin Mas'ood رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The Last day shall not come except on the worst of men." (Muslim)

Commentary: The Last Day will come when no devout and virtuous man will be left in the world and it will be populated wholly by sinners and ungodly people

(٨٤/٨٤) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَخْرُجُ الدَّجَالُ فَيَمْكُثُ أَرْبَعِينَ لَا أَدْرِي أَرْبَعِينَ يَوْمًا أَوْ شَهْرًا أَوْ عَامًا فَيَمْعَثُ اللَّهُ عِيسَى ابْنَ مَرْيَمَ كَأَنَّهُ عُرْوَةٌ بَنُ مَسْعُودٍ فَيَطْلُبُهُ ثُمَّ يَمْكُثُ فِي النَّاسِ سَبْعَ سِنِينَ لَيْسَ بَيْنَ اثْنَيْنِ عِدَاوَةٌ ثُمَّ يُرْسِلُ اللَّهُ رِيحًا بَارِدَةً مِنَ الشَّامِ فَلَا يَبْقَى عَلَى وَجْهِ الْأَرْضِ أَحَدٌ فِي قَلْبِهِ مِثْقَالُ ذَرَّةٍ مِنْ خَيْرٍ أَوْ إِيْمَانٍ إِلَّا قَبَضَتْهُ حَتَّى لَوْ أَنَّ أَحَدَكُمْ دَخَلَ فِي كَبِدِ جَبَلٍ لَدَخَلَتْهُ عَلَيْهِ، حَتَّى تَقْبِضَهُ قَالَ فَيَبْقَى شِرَارُ النَّاسِ فِي خِيفَةِ الطَّيْرِ وَأَحْلَامِ السِّبَاعِ لَا يَعْرِفُونَ مَعْرُوفًا وَلَا يُكْرَهُونَ مُكْرًا فَيَمْتَلِئُ لَهُمُ الشَّيْطَانُ فَيَقُولُ أَلَا تَسْتَخِيُونَ فَيَقُولُونَ فَمَا تَأْمُرُنَا فَيَأْمُرُهُمْ بِعِبَادَةِ

①. Some ulama have correctly established the Name of Allah as worth mention and effective on the basis of this Hadith. May Allah show mercy on Ibn Taymiyah who may not have seen this Hadith.

الْأَوْتَانِ وَهُمْ فِي ذَلِكَ دَارٌ رَزَقَهُمْ حَسَنَ عَيْشِهِمْ ثُمَّ يُنْفَخُ فِي الصُّورِ فَلَا يَسْمَعُهُ أَحَدٌ إِلَّا أَصْعَى لَيْتًا وَرَفَعَ لَيْتًا قَالَ وَأَوَّلُ مَنْ يَسْمَعُهُ رَجُلٌ يَلُوطُ حَوْضَ إِبِلِهِ فَيَصْعَقُ وَيَصْعَقُ النَّاسُ ثُمَّ يُرْسِلُ اللَّهُ مَطَرًا كَأَنَّهُ الطَّلُ فَيَبُتُّ مِنْهُ أَجْسَادُ النَّاسِ ثُمَّ يُنْفَخُ فِيهِ أُخْرَى فَإِذَا هُمْ قِيَامٌ يَنْظُرُونَ ثُمَّ يُقَالُ يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ هَلُمَّ إِلَى رَبِّكُمْ قَفْوَهُمْ إِنَّهُمْ مَسْئُولُونَ فَيَقَالُ أَخْرِجُوا بَعَثَ النَّارَ فَيَقَالُ مِنْ كَمْ كَمْ؟ فَيَقَالُ مِنْ كُلِّ أَلْفٍ تِسْعِمِائَةٍ وَتِسْعِينَ، قَالَ فَذَلِكَ يَوْمٌ يَجْعَلُ الْوِلْدَانَ شِيبًا. وَذَلِكَ يَوْمٌ يُكْشَفُ عَنْ سَاقٍ.

(84/84) It is narrated by Sayyidina Abdullah ibn Amr رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: Dajjal will appear (before the Last Day) and he will stay for forty. Abdullah ibn Amr رضي الله عنه said that he did not know whether the Prophet ﷺ meant forty days, month or years. He narrated further that he also said: "Then Allah will send Isa ibn Maryam as though he is Urwah ibn Mas'ood (Thaqafi in resemblance). He will seek Dajjal and eliminate him. Then he will live with the people for seven years. And (through his blessings, people will be united and) there will not be even two men who hate and antagonise one another. Then Allah will send a cool breeze from Syria which will not leave on earth anyone who has even an atom's worth of piety in him or, he said on atom's worth of faith in him.¹ Even if one of you goes into a mountain, the breeze will reach him there and cause him to die. Then, only the evil people will remain in this world. They will have the speed of birds and mind of the savage beasts. They will not know piety and goodness and will not consider evil a bad thing. The devil will come to them in a form and say, "Will you not be ashamed?" They will ask him, "What is your command?" So, he will command them to worship idols. They will have abundant provision and enjoy a good living. Then the trumpet will be blown and he who hears will have his head drop that side and arise at the other. The first man to hear will be one who would be occupied in repairing the reservoir of his camel with dust. He will fall unconscious and then die. Everyone else will also die and fall down. Then Allah will send a light rain as though it was dew, and create a freshness in human bodies. Then, a second trumpet will be blown and everyone will get up all of a sudden and they will see. They will be told: "O People! Walk towards your Master and Lord." (And the angels will be commanded) to get them to stand (in the place of reckoning). They will be asked and their account will be taken). Then the command will issue: "Take out the hosts of Hell." It will be submitted, "How many out of how many?" The command: "Out of a thousand, nine hundred and ninety-nine". The Prophet ﷺ said further: That is the day which turns children old and that is the day of hardship. (Muslim)

1. The breeze will be a comfort for the faithful that they may die before the Last Day and not have to endure its ordeal.

Commentary: The Prophet ﷺ has described some of the events from the coming of Dajjal to the gathering for account-taking. There are other Ahadith that describe the signs of the Last Day and the Resurrection and beyond that. They describe briefly the events that will take place in hundreds or thousands of years. If we bear this in mind then we shall overcome many doubts.

The Hadith concludes that the angels will be told that 999 out of 1000 will go to Hell. It is not wrong that the disbelievers in the world match this figure, 999 out of 1000. Besides, some exegetes include in these people those who will be taken out of Hell by the mercy and forgiveness of Allah. Though they will deserve to go there.

(O Allah, Your forgiveness is more vast than our sins and Your mercy is more reliable than our deeds).	اللهم إن مغفرتك أوسع من ذنوبنا ورحمتك أرجى عندنا من أعمالنا

كَيْفَ أَنْعَمُ وَصَاحِبُ الصُّورِ قَدْ اتَّقَمَهُ وَاصْغَى سَمْعَهُ وَقَنَى جَبْهَتَهُ يَنْتَظِرُ مَتَى
يُؤْمَرُ بِالنَّفْحِ فَقَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ فَمَا تَأْمُرُنَا؟ قَالَ قُولُوا حَسْبُنَا اللَّهُ وَنِعْمَ
الْوَكِيلُ.

(85/85) It is related by Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: How can I be happy and free from anxiety when the fact is that the Angel of the Trumpet is holding the Trumpet in his mouth and he is, listening attentively and his bow is bent, and he is waiting eagerly for the command to blow the Trumpet. The Companion enquired, 'O Messenger of Allah ﷺ, what [then] is your order for us? [Meaning when the situation is so grim, tell us what to do in order to save ourselves from the horrors of the Last Day]'. The Prophet ﷺ replied: 'Say much and often:

حَسْبُنَا اللَّهُ وَنِعْمَ الْوَكِيلُ

Allah is sufficient for us and He is the best of Helpers'." (Tirmizi)

(٨٦/٨٦) عَنْ أَبِي رَزِينٍ الْعَقِيلِيِّ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ كَيْفَ يُعِيدُ اللَّهُ الْخَلْقَ وَمَا آيَةُ ذَلِكَ فِي خَلْقِهِ قَالَ أَمَا مَرَرْتُ بِوَادِي قَوْمِكَ جَدُّ بَأْتُمْ مَرَرْتُ بِهِ يَهْتَزُّ خَضِرًا قُلْتُ نَعَمْ قَالَ فَبَلَكَ آيَةُ اللَّهِ فِي خَلْقِهِ كَذَلِكَ يُحْيِي اللَّهُ الْمَوْتَى. (رواه رزين)

(86/86) Abu Razeen Uqaili رحمه الله related to us that he asked the Prophet ﷺ:

"How will Allah revive His creatures and bring them back to life and what are its portents [in the present world]?" The Prophet ﷺ replied: "Has it never happened to you that you passed through the valley of your community and found it dry (due to drought), and, then, coming upon it again after some time, discovered that it was blooming with lush-green vegetation [after the rains]?" "Yes, Messenger of Allah" he said. The Prophet ﷺ remarked, "This is the portent of Resurrection in the present world. Allah will raise all men from death in the same manner." (Razeen)

(٨٧/٨٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ سَرَّهُ أَنْ يَنْظُرَ إِلَى يَوْمِ الْقِيَمَةِ كَأَنَّهُ رَأَى عَيْنٍ فَلْيَقْرَأْ إِذَا لَشَّمْسُ كُوْرَتْ وَإِذَا السَّمَاءُ انْفَطَرَتْ وَإِذَا السَّمَاءُ انْشَقَّتْ. (رواه احمد والترمذی)

(88/88) It is related by Abdullah ibn Umar رحمه الله that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever wishes to know about the Last Day as if the scene of it was spread before his eyes should read these chapters of the Qur'an:

إِذَا لَشَّمْسُ كُوْرَتْ. وَإِذَا السَّمَاءُ انْفَطَرَتْ

When the sun is overthrown; (Al-Takwir, 81:1-2) when the heaven is cleft asunder.

وَإِذَا السَّمَاءُ انشَقَّتْ

and , when the heaven is split asunder.¹

(Tirmizi)

(٨٨/٨٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَرَأَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ هَذِهِ الْآيَةَ يَوْمَئِذٍ تُحَدِّثُ أَخْبَارَهَا قَالَ أَتَذَرُونَ مَا أَخْبَارُهَا قَالُوا اللَّهُ وَرَسُولُهُ أَعْلَمُ قَالَ فَإِنَّ أَخْبَارَهَا أَنْ تَشْهَدَ عَلَى كُلِّ عَبْدٍ وَامَةٍ بِمَا عَمِلَ عَلَى ظَهْرِهَا أَنْ تَقُولَ عَمَلٌ عَلَى كَذَا وَكَذَا يَوْمَ كَذَا وَكَذَا قَالَ فَهَذِهِ أَخْبَارُهَا. (رواه احمد والترمذى)
(88/88) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه related "[Once] the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recited the verse:

يومئذ تحبون اخبارها

The day it [the Earth] will relate its chronicles from surah Az Zilzal, and [then] asked those who were present: 'Do you know what it means?' The Companions رضي الله عنهم replied, 'Allah and His Messenger know best.' The Prophet ﷺ explained, "On the Day of Judgement the earth will bear witness to the deeds performed by men on it [i.e., at the bidding of Allah the earth will declare that such-and-such a person had done such-and-such thing on it on such-and-such a day]."

(Musnad Ahmad and Tirmizi)

Commentary: Whatever a man does on earth is preserved by the part of it on which it is done and will remain preserved till the Last Day when it will testify to it before the Lord.

It was never difficult for the Believers to accept the truth of revelations like it but now scientific inventions have made it easy for everyone to understand and believe in them.

(٨٩/٨٩) عَنِ الْمُقَدَّادِ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ تَدْنِي الشَّمْسُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ مِنَ الْخَلْقِ حَتَّى تَكُونَ مِنْهُمْ كَمِقْدَارِ مِثْلِ فَيَكُونُ النَّاسُ عَلَى قَدْرِ أَعْمَالِهِمْ فِي الْعُرُقِ فَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ يَكُونُ إِلَى كَعْبِيهِ وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ يَكُونُ إِلَى رُكْبَتَيْهِ وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ يَكُونُ إِلَى حَقْوَيْهِ ، وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ يُلْجِمُهُمُ الْعُرُقُ الْجَمَا وَأَشَارَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِيَدِهِ إِلَى فِيهِ. (رواه مسلم)

of Allah ﷺ say, "On the Day of Resurrection, the sun will be very near the creation. In fact, it will be like a mile away from them. And people will perspire according to their deeds (the more bad man's deeds, the more he will perspire). Some will have their perspiration up to their ankles, some up to their knees, some up to above their buttocks and some will get it in their mouths," and he pointed to his mouth with his hand (that their perspiration will go into it). (Muslim)

Commentary: We cannot draw a correct picture of the events that will take place on the Last Day and the hereafter. We will find out everything when we face the facts.

(٩٠/٩٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُحْشَرُ النَّاسُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ ثَلَاثَةَ أَصْنَافٍ صِنْفًا مُشَاءً وَصِنْفًا رُكْبَانًا وَصِنْفًا عَلَى وُجُوهِهِمْ قِيلَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ كَيْفَ يَمْشُونَ عَلَى وُجُوهِهِمْ؟ قَالَ إِنَّ الَّذِي أَمْسَاهُمْ عَلَى أَقْدَامِهِمْ قَادِرٌ عَلَى أَنْ يَمْشِيَهُمْ عَلَى وُجُوهِهِمْ أَمَا إِنَّهُمْ يَتَّقُونَ بُؤْسَهُمْ كُلَّ حَذَبٍ وَشَوْكٍ.

(90/90) It is reported by Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Prophet ﷺ said: "On the Day of Resurrection all men will be raised in three groups: One, the pedestrians; two, the riders; and , three those who will be walking on their faces." On being asked how would the people [belonging to third group] walk on their faces, the Prophet ﷺ replied, "Allah who has made them walk on foot also possesses the power to make them walk on their faces." [Be it known that it is through their faces that they will avoid obstacles like a mound and a throne]. (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Commentators have described the three groups indicated in the above saying as follows: those walking on foot will be the general body of Believers; the second group of riders will be made up of the favourites of Allah and His devout bondsmen who will be treated with honour and ceremony in the Hereafter from the very beginning and the men who will be walking on their heads or faces will be the ill-fated ones who did not follow the teachings of the Prophets in their earthly existence but pursued wrong and crooked paths till the end of their lives. The initial punishment for the wretched people belonging to this last category will be that instead of walking on foot they will be made to walk on their faces and just as we negotiate obstacles on the road and avoid thorns and stone with the aid of our feet they will have to do so with the aid of their faces.

(٩١/٩١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ أَحَدٍ يَمُوتُ إِلَّا نَدِمَ قَالُوا أَوْ مَا نَدَامَتْهُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ إِنْ كَانَ مُحْسِنًا نَدِمَ أَنْ لَا يَكُونَ إِزْدَادًا وَإِنْ كَانَ مُسِيئًا نَدِمَ أَنْ لَا يَكُونَ نَزْعًا. (رواه الترمذی)

(91/91) Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ reported that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever will die shall repent and feel sorry [over his life]." Messenger of Allah, he was asked, "Why will he repent?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, "If he had been a virtuous man, he will regret that he did not practise greater virtue [and won greater reward], and if he had led a sinful life, he will regret that he did not abstain from evil-doing. (Tirmizi)

Before Allah And Examination of Deeds

(٩٢/٩٢) عَنْ عَبْدِ بْنِ حَاتِمٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْكُمْ مِنْ أَحَدٍ إِلَّا سَيَكْلِمُهُ رَبُّهُ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَهُ تَرْجُمَانٌ وَلَا حِجَابَ يَحْجُبُهُ فَيَنْظُرُ أَيَمَنَ مِنْهُ فَلَا يَرَى إِلَّا مَا قَدَّمَ مِنْ عَمَلِهِ وَيَنْظُرُ أَشْأَمَ مِنْهُ فَلَا يَرَى إِلَّا مَا قَدَّمَ وَيَنْظُرُ بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ فَلَا يَرَى إِلَّا النَّارَ تَلْقَاءَ وَجْهِهِ فَاتَّقُوا النَّارَ وَلَوْ بِشِقِّ تَمْرَةٍ.

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(92/92) Adi ibn Hatim reported that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "[At Resurrection] Allah will speak directly and face-to-face to everyone of you so that there will neither be spokesman nor a screen intervening [between Him and you]. [At that time, the condition of the bondsman will be such that he will be looking hither and thither in astonishment and helplessness]. Thus, when he will look towards the right, he will see nothing but his deeds, and when he will look towards the left, he will see nothing but his deeds, and when he will look in front, he will see nothin but fire. Hence, O men, save yourselves from the Fire of Hell even through a dry piece of a dried date."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It calls upon men to practise charity in order to save themselves from Hell and even if they have nothing to give away except a piece of a dried date, they should try to ward off the punishment of Hell by giving it in the way of Allah.

Note:- The Qur'an and the Tradition describe the Day of Final Requitul and its horrors and the severity of the chastisement of Hell to warn the bondsmen so that they may guard themselves against the dreadful sequel of the Hereafter. In the above saying this purpose has been distinctly indicated but the aim of the Traditions in which it has not been done should also be taken to be the same].

(٩٣/٩٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ هَلْ نَرَى رَبَّنَا يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ؟ قَالَ هَلْ تَضَارُونَ فِي رُؤْيَةِ الشَّمْسِ فِي الظَّهِيرَةِ لَيْسَتْ فِي سَحَابَةٍ قَالُوا لَا قَالَ فَهَلْ تَضَارُونَ فِي رُؤْيَةِ الْقَمَرِ لَيْلَةَ الْبَدْرِ لَيْسَ فِي سَحَابَةٍ قَالُوا لَا قَالَ فَوَالَّذِي نَفْسِي بِيَدِهِ لَا تَضَارُونَ فِي رُؤْيَةِ رَبِّكُمْ إِلَّا كَمَا تَضَارُونَ فِي رُؤْيَةِ أَحَدِهِمَا قَالَ فَيَلْقَى الْعَبْدُ فَيَقُولُ أَيُّهُ قُلْ أَلَمْ أَكْرِمَكَ أَسَوِّدَكَ وَوَارَوَجَكَ وَأَسْخِرَكَ الْخَيْلَ وَالْإِبِلَ وَأَذَرَكَ تَرَأْسَ وَتَرْبُعَ فَيَقُولُ بَلَى قَالَ فَيَقُولُ أَفَظَنَنْتَ إِنَّكَ مُلَايٍ فَيَقُولُ لَا فَيَقُولُ فَإِنِّي قَدْ أَنَسَاكَ كَمَا نَسَيْتَنِي ثُمَّ يَلْقَى الثَّانِي قَدْ كَرَّ مِثْلَهُ ثُمَّ يَلْقَى الثَّالِثَ فَيَقُولُ لَهُ مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ فَيَقُولُ يَا رَبِّ أَمَنْتُ بِكَ وَبِكِتَابِكَ وَبِرُسُلِكَ وَصَلَّيْتُ وَصُمْتُ وَتَصَدَّقْتُ وَيَتَنَبَّأُ بِخَيْرِ مَا اسْتَطَاعَ فَيَقُولُ هَذَا إِذَا، ثُمَّ يُقَالُ الْآنَ نَبْعَثُ شَاهِدًا عَلَيْكَ وَيَتَفَكَّرُ فِي نَفْسِهِ مَنْ ذَا الَّذِي يَشْهَدُ عَلَيَّ فَيُحْتَمُّ عَلَى فِيهِ وَيُقَالُ لِفَجِدِهِ انْطِقْ فَتَنْطِقُ فَجِدُهُ وَلَحْمُهُ وَعِظَامُهُ بِعِلْمِهِ وَذَلِكَ لِيُعَذِّرَ مِنْ نَفْسِهِ وَذَلِكَ الْمُنَافِقُ وَذَلِكَ الَّذِي سَخَطَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ.

(93/93) It is reported by Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that some of the Companions رضي الله عنهم asked, "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! Shall we see our Lord on the Day of Resurrection?" He said, "Do anyone of you find it difficult to observe the sun in the afternoon when it is not behind a cloud?" They said, "No!" So, he said, "Is it difficult for one of you to see the full moon if there is no cloud concealing it?" They said, "No!" Then, he said, "By Him in Whose power is my life! Just as you can see the moon and the sun without difficulty and difference, you will see your Lord on the Day of Resurrection." The Prophet ﷺ then said, "When a slave meets Allah on the Day of Resurrection, Allah will say to him: Did I not give you honour in the world? Did I not make you a leader of your people? Did I not give you a wife? Horses and camels? Were you not free to take one-fourth from the booty of war?" The slave will confirm, 'Yes, my Lord. You did indeed gave me all that.' Allah will say to him: "Did you imagine that you will be before Me one day?" He will say, "I did not imagine that." Allah will say: "Today, I forget you with My Mercy as you had forgotten Me." After that another slave will face Allah and He will speak to him in the same manner. Then, Allah will meet a third slave and say the same things to him until the slaves says, 'My Lord! I believed in you and in Your Book and Your Messenger And I established salah observed fasting, gave charity (and did other things also).' He will recall his good deeds as far as he can. Allah will say: Wait here! Then, he will be told: We are bringing a witness against you. He will wonder who that could be. Then his mouth will be sealed and his thigh will be commanded, speak out! So, his thighs, his flesh and his bones will bear witness for his deeds. And Allah will do that that he may not have an excuse. He will be a hypocrite and Allah will be angry at him. (Muslim)

Commentary: The Companions ﷺ had merely asked if they would see Allah on the Day of Resurrection. He also made it clear that all of them will be able to see Allah at one time just as they see the sun and the moon. He then pointed out how those people who have been bestowed blessings but have forgotten Allah will feel degraded when called to account by Allah. As for the hypocrites who speaks lies, their limbs, flesh and bones will testify against them disclosing the falsehood.

The Prophet ﷺ gave more information than the question asked and drew their attention to the account-taking on the Day of Resurrection. They will be asked about Allah's blessings and they will not be able to conceal their sins.

(٩٤/٩٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يُدْنِي

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(94/94) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "On the Last Day, Allah will draw His faithful bondsman [towards His Mercy] and cover him up with His mantle and ask him, 'Do you recognise this sin and that [i.e., do you remember having committed them]?' The bondsman will reply, 'Yes, O Lord, I remember.' Allah will, thus, make him confess all of his misdeeds and he will begin to fear in his heart that he was doomed to a sorrowful end. Allah will, then, say, 'I had concealed these sins of yours in the world and, today, I condone them and grant you forgiveness.' The record of his good actions will be handed over to him [i.e., only the record of his virtuous deeds will come to the knowledge of the people gathered for the Judgement and Allah will settle the question of his sins away from their sight]. But, with the infidels and the hypocrites it will be different. It will be declared openly that these are the men who attributed fictitious things to Allah [i. e., invented their own faith by entertaining baseless notions about Him]. Beware! The curse of Allah is upon the unbelievers."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩٥/٩٥) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أَنَّهَا ذَكَرَتْ النَّارَ فَبَكَتْ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا يُبْكِيكِ قَالَتْ ذَكَرْتُ النَّارَ فَبَكَيتُ فَهَلْ تَذْكُرُونَ أَهْلِيكُمْ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ؟ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَمَّا فِي ثَلَاثَةِ مَوَاطِنَ فَلَا يَذْكُرُ أَحَدٌ أَحَدًا عِنْدَ الْمِيزَانِ حَتَّى يَعْلَمَ أَيُّخَفَ مِيزَانُهُ أَمْ يَثْقُلُ وَعِنْدَ الْكِتَابِ حِينَ يَقَالُ هَاؤُمُ اقْرَؤُوا كِتَابِيهِ حَتَّى يَعْلَمَ أَيْنَ يَقَعُ كِتَابُهُ فِي يَمِينِهِ أَمْ فِي شِمَالِهِ مِنْ وَرَاءِ ظَهْرِهِ وَعِنْدَ الصَّرَاطِ إِذَا وُضِعَ بَيْنَ ظَهْرِي جَهَنَّمَ.

(95/95) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها narrated that once she began to cry at the thought of Hell. The Prophet ﷺ asked her, "What makes you cry?" "I thought of Hell and the fear of it made me weep. She asked, Will you remember the members of your family on the Day of Judgment?" "No one will remember anyone [or care for him] at three places," the Prophet ﷺ observed. "Once, when the Scales of Justice will be set up and up to the time it will be handed over and, on receiving it in the right hand, one truthful Believer will joyously say to the other, 'Reed it', and up to the time it will not be known in which hand the Book of Deeds is to be given, in the right hand, or in the left, or from behind; and, three when the Bridge will be placed over the Bottomless Pit [and everyone will be commanded to pass over it]."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: The substance of the Prophet's ﷺ reply is that, on the Day of Judgement, three occasions will be so terrible that everyone will be concerned only with his own fate and no one will be able to come to anyone's rescue: (i) when the deeds will be weighed and till the time the result is known; (ii) when people will be waiting for the Book of Deeds and everyone will be wondering whether it is given to him in the right hand or the left [i.e., he is found worthy of forgiveness and reward or wrath and punishment]; and, (iii), when the Bridge of Sirat will be placed over Hell and everyone will be called upon to pass over it.

In brief, all of us should strive earnestly for the Hereafter and refrain from depending upon anyone for our salvation.

Rights of Fellowmen on The Day of Judgement

(٩٦/٩٦) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ فَقَعَدَ بَيْنَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِنَّ لِي مَمْلُوكَيْنِ يَكْذِبُونَنِي وَيَخُونُونَنِي وَيَعْصُونَنِي وَاسْتَمْتُهُمْ وَأَضْرِبُهُمْ فَكَيْفَ أَنَا مِنْهُمْ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا كَانَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ يُحْسَبُ مَا خَانُوكَ وَعَصَوْكَ وَكَذَّبُوكَ وَعِقَابُكَ إِيَّاهُمْ فَإِنْ كَانَ عِقَابُكَ إِيَّاهُمْ بِقَدَرِ ذُنُوبِهِمْ كَانَ كَفَافًا لَكَ وَإِنْ كَانَ عَلَيْكَ وَإِنْ كَانَ عِقَابُكَ إِيَّاهُمْ ذُونَ ذُنُوبِهِمْ كَانَ فَضْلًا لَكَ وَإِنْ كَانَ عِقَابُكَ إِيَّاهُمْ فَوْقَ ذُنُوبِهِمْ أَقْتَصَّ لَهُمْ مِنْكَ الْفَضْلُ فَتَنَحَّى الرَّجُلُ وَجَعَلَ يَهْتِفُ وَيَبْكِي فَقَالَ لَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَمَا تَقْرَأُ قَوْلَ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى وَنَضَعُ الْمَوَازِينَ الْقِسْطَ لِيَوْمِ الْقِيَمَةِ فَلَا تُظْلَمُ نَفْسٌ شَيْئًا وَإِنْ كَانَ مِنْقَالِ حَبَّةٍ

مِنْ خَرَدَلٍ آتَيْنَا بِهَا وَكَفَى بِنَا حَاسِبِينَ، فَقَالَ الرَّجُلُ مَا أَجِدُ لِي وَلَهُوَ لَاءِ شَيْئًا خَيْرًا مِنْ مُفَارَقَتِهِمْ أَشْهَدُكَ أَنَّهُمْ كُلُّهُمْ أَحْرَارٌ.

(96/96) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها has narrated that once a person came to the august presence of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and sat in front of him. He, then, said, "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! I have some slaves who sometimes tell me a lie or steal my property or disobey me, and I scold them and, sometimes, I also punish them. How is it going to turn out for me on the Day of Judgement?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, "Allah will dispense justice correctly on the Day of Requital. If the punishment you meted out to them is proportionate to their faults you will neither get nor have to give anything. You will be quits. If the punishment turns out to be of a lesser degree than what they merited, you will be recompensed for it. If the punishment proved to be excessive, you will have to recompense the slaves." On hearing the Prophet's ﷺ reply, the enquirer drew aside and began to cry. The Prophet ﷺ said to him, "Have you not heard the Qur'anic verse:

We shall set up scales of justice for the Day of Judgement, so that not a soul will be dealt with unjustly in the least. And if there be [no more than] the weight of a mustard seed, We will bring it [to account] and enough are We to take account." (Al-Anbiyaa, 21:47)

وَنَضَعُ الْمَوَازِينَ الْقِسْطَ لِيَوْمِ
الْقِيَمَةِ فَلَا تَظْلِمُ نَفْسٌ شَيْئًا وَإِنْ
كَانَ مِثْقَالَ حَبَّةٍ مِنْ خَرْدَلٍ آتَيْنَا
بِهَا وَكَفَى بِنَا حَاسِبِينَ،

(الانبياء ٤٧:٢١)

The man said, "Then I do not anything better for me and for them than to send them away [in the name of God]. I declare before you that I have set them free, and now they are free-men." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Such is the resplendent beauty of Faith and this is what is expected of truthful Believers. If they fear the loss of the Hereafter in any worldly thing then they should give it up immediately however disadvantageous it may appear from the worldly point of view.

Weight of the Name of God in The Scales of Deeds

(٩٧/٩٧) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ سَيَخْلَصُ رَجُلًا مِنْ أُمَّتِي عَلَى رُؤُسِ الْخَلَائِقِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ فَيَنْشُرُ عَلَيْهِ تِسْعَةً وَتِسْعِينَ سِجِّلًا أَكُلُّ سِجْلٍ مِثْلُ مَدِّ الْبَصَرِ ثُمَّ يَقُولُ أَتَنْكِرُ مِنْ هَذَا شَيْئًا أَظْلَمَكَ كَتَبْتَنِي الْخَفِظُونَ فَيَقُولُ لَا يَا رَبِّ فَيَقُولُ أَفَلَاكَ عُذْرٌ قَالَ لَا يَا رَبِّ فَيَقُولُ بَلَى إِنَّ لَكَ عِنْدَنَا حَسَنَةً وَإِنَّهُ لَا ظُلْمَ عَلَيْكَ الْيَوْمَ فَتُخْرَجُ بِطَاقَةٍ فِيهَا أَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَشْهَدُ أَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا عَبْدُهُ وَرَسُولُهُ فَيَقُولُ أُخْضِرُوا زَنْكَ فَيَقُولُ يَا رَبِّ مَا هَذِهِ الْبِطَاقَةُ مَعَ هَذِهِ السِّجِّلاتِ فَيَقُولُ إِنَّكَ لَا تُظْلَمُ قَالَ فَتُوضَعُ السِّجِّلاتُ فِي كِفَّةٍ فَطَاشَتِ السِّجِّلاتُ وَثَقُلَتِ الْبِطَاقَةُ فَلَا يَتَقَلُّ مَعَ اسْمِ اللَّهِ شَيْءٌ.

(97/97) It is related by Abdullah ibn 'Amr رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "On the Day of Resurrection, Allah will bring out a man from among my followers, in the presence of all creatures, and ninety-nine volumes will be placed before him, each of which will be as long as the eye can see. It will, then, be said to him, '[These are your Books of Deeds]. Do you deny any of the deeds mentioned in them? Have Our angels who kept a watch on your actions and recorded them been unjust to you [and entered a sinful act wrongfully in your account]?' He will reply, 'No, my Lord! [No one has been unjust to me and I am guilty of all the transgressions].' Allah will, then, say, 'Have you any excuses to offer?' He will reply, 'No, my Lord, I have no excuses.' It will go on like this till [from the question and answers the man and all the others present will begin to feel that he was doomed but, then, the benevolence of the Most Merciful among those who show mercy will reveal itself and] Allah will say, 'O yes! We have also with Us a special virtuous deed of yours and no injustice will be done to you this day [i.e., you will not be deprived of its advantages].' And, a piece of paper will be produced on which will be written: Ash-had-o-An-La-Illa-ha-Il-lallah wa Ash-had-o-Ana Muhammadan Abduhu wa Rasuluhu [I affirm that there is no god save Allah and I affirm that Muhammad is His Slave and Messenger]. The bondsman will, then, be told to make his way to the place where his deeds were to be weighed [i.e., he will be told to go there and have weighing done in his presence]. He will, submit, 'O Lord! What comparison does this piece of paper bear with the volumes? [i.e., What is the use of going there? The result is known already].' 'No', Allah will say, 'You will not be dealt with unjustly. [Full justice will be done to you. The piece of paper you consider to be of no value will also be weighed before you and the worth and weight of the Kalimah will be made known today and its full benefit will be given to you. So, despair not and go to the Scales of Deeds and see what it proves to be].' After it, the ninety-nine volumes will be placed on one pan, and the piece of paper will turn out to be heavier than the ninety-nine volumes. Nothing [indeed] can be more weighty than the name of Allah."

(Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: According to some authorities the Kalimah referred to in the above Tradition is the one that will have been recited for the first time with the object of stepping out of the bounds of infidelity and polytheism and entering into the fold of Islam. At the time of the weighing of deeds on the Day of Judgement it will have the effect of annulling all the sins committed before the acceptance of Islam. We have seen already a Hadith:

All previous sins are forgiven on the acceptance of Islam.

إِنَّ الْإِسْلَامَ يَهْدِمُ مَا كَانَ قَبْلَهُ

Another popular explanation is that it alludes to the case of the bondsman who had led a life of folly and transgression for a long time and one volume after another had got compiled of his misdeeds till Allah showed mercy to him and he earnestly set right his bond with Allah and the Prophet through the Kalimah and died in that state. But Allah knows best.

Lenient Reckoning

هَلَك. (رواه احمد)

(98/98) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها "I heard the Prophet ﷺ making the supplication in some of his salah (prayers)

"O Allah! Let the reckoning be easy for me." اللَّهُمَّ حَاسِبْنِي حِسَابًا يَسِيرًا

I asked him, 'O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! What is meant by an easy reckoning?' He replied, 'It means that the bondsman's Book of Deeds is seen and passed over [i. e., he is not questioned about it]. The truth, O Ayshah, is that he will be lost whose Balance-Sheet of Deeds is examined on the Day of Judgement."

(Musnad Ahmad)

How Short and Easy of Day of Judgement Will be for Believers

(٩٩/٩٩) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ أَنَّهُ أَتَى رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ أَخْبِرْنِي مَنْ يَقْوَى عَلَى الْقِيَامِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ الَّذِي قَالَ اللَّهُ عَزَّوَجَلَّ "يَوْمَ يَقُومُ النَّاسُ لِرَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ" فَقَالَ يُخَفَّفُ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِ حَتَّى يَكُونَ عَلَيْهِ كَالصَّلَاةِ الْمَكْتُوبَةِ (رواه البيهقي في البعث والنشور)

(99/99) It is narrated by Abu Sa'eed al-Khudri رضى الله عنه that [once] he went to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and said: "The Day of Judgement, about which it has been said:

يَوْمَ يَقُومُ النَّاسُ لِرَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ (المطففين ٨٣:٦)

On the Day when men will stand in the presence of the Lord of the Worlds. (Al-Mutaffifin, 83:6) who will have the strength to remain standing on it [i.e., who will be able to stand throughout the day of Judgement about which it is stated in the Qur'an and the Traditions that it will be equal to fifty thousand years]?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, "For the truthful Believers it will be made easy to stand on that Day so much so that it will be like standing for an obligatory Salah.

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: An indication of what the Prophet told Abu Sa'eed Khudri is also available in the Qur'an which reads:

For when the Trumpet shall sound, surely that day will be a day of anguish, not of ease, for the disbelievers.

(Al-Muddath thir 74:8-10)

فَإِذَا نُفِرَ فِي النَّاقُورِ فَذَلِكَ
يَوْمُنَا يَوْمٌ غَسِيرٌ عَلَى الْكَافِرِينَ
غَيْرُ يَسِيرٍ ۝ (المدثر ٧٤: ٨-١٠)

This shows that it will not be a day of anguish, but of ease for the Believers.

Those Who Keep Awake at Nights For Allah Will Go to Heaven Without Going Through Reckoning

(١٠٠/١٠٠) عَنْ أَسْمَاءَ بِنْتِ يَزِيدَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ يُحْشَرُ النَّاسُ فِي صَعِيدٍ وَاحِدٍ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ فَيُنَادَى مُنَادٍ فَيَقُولُ آيْنَ الَّذِينَ كَانَتْ تَتَجَافَى جُنُوبُهُمْ عَنِ الْمَضَاجِعِ فَيَقُومُونَ وَهُمْ قَلِيلٌ فَيَدْخُلُونَ الْجَنَّةَ بِغَيْرِ حِسَابٍ ثُمَّ يُؤْمَرُ سَائِرُ النَّاسِ إِلَى الْحِسَابِ. (رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)
(100/100) It is related by Sayyidah Asma binti Yazid that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "On the Judgement Day all men, after being raised up again, will be gathered together in a vast and flat plain (and) the herald of the Lord will call out, 'Where are they whose sides kept away from bed during the night [i.e., who used to leave their beds in order to offer the Tahajjud¹ prayer]?' These men will stand up after this announcement and their number will not be large. After it, they will enter Heaven without being brought to account. All the rest of men will, then, be commanded to report themselves for the Reckoning." (Baihaqi)

A Large Number of Muslims will Enter Paradise Without Reckoning

(١٠١/١٠١) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ وَعَدَ نَبِيُّ رَبِّي أَنْ يُدْخِلَ الْجَنَّةَ مِنْ أُمَّتِي سَبْعِينَ أَلْفًا لَا حِسَابَ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا عَذَابَ مَعَ كُلِّ أَلْفٍ سَبْعُونَ أَلْفًا وَثَلَاثَ حَيَّاتٍ مِنْ حَيَّاتِ رَبِّي.

(رواه احمد والترمذی، وابن ماجه)

101 (101) It is reported by Sayyidina Umamah رضی اللہ عنہ that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, "My Lord has promised me that he would admit to Paradise seventy thousand of my ummah

1. A supererogatory prayer said during the last part of the night.

without questioning and without punishment. And, with every one thousand of them will be seventy thousand. And, three handfuls will be added of the handfuls of my Lord."

(Ahmad, Tirmizi, Ibn Majah)

Commentary: When both hands are filled to give someone something, it is called Hathiyah (handful), in Arabic. The Hadith, therefore, says that Allah has assured that He will admit seventy thousand of the Prophet's ummah to Paradise without reckoning and punishment. Then, each one thousand of them will be accompanied by seventy thousand who will also enter Paradise without reckoning and without punishment. Further, as a special mercy, Allah will send a large section of the Prophet's ummah, three times, to Paradise. And, all of them will not be subjected to reckoning or punishment.

(Glory be to You with Your praise, O The Most Merciful of those who show Mercy).

سُبْحَانَكَ وَبِحَمْدِكَ يَا أَرْحَمَ
الرَّاحِمِينَ

The reality of such Ahadith will be realised when we experience them. In this life, we cannot imagine or understand even those things properly which we read in newspapers. Allah has said the truth:

(And of Knowledge you have been vouchsafed but little)

وَمَا أُوتِيتُمْ مِنَ الْعِلْمِ إِلَّا قَلِيلًا

(الاسراء ١٧: ٨٥)

The Pond of Kausar, the Bridge of Sirat and the Scales of Justice

Among the few things mentioned by name in the Traditions pertaining to the Hereafter are the Pond of Kausar, the Bridge of Sirt and the Scales of Justice.

Kausar, in some Traditions, is referred to as a Pond, and, in others, as a River. Again, it appears from some Traditions that it is located inside the Paradise while from others that its location is on the outer side of it, and, before entering Heaven, the Believers will be admitted to the august presence of the holy Prophet ﷺ and they will drink its extremely pure, sweet and sparkling water from his hand. Commentators, however, are unanimously of the opinion that the well-spring of Kausar is situated within Paradise and canals flowing from it are spread throughout its length and breadth, and what is called the Pond of Kausar is a most beautiful tank, hundreds of miles long and wide, which is located outside Heaven but connected with the well-spring within it. Thus, the water of the Pond will come through canals from the fountain of Paradise.

Another thing is that from the word 'Pond' one is often led to think of the ponds that are generally found in the world, but vastly different as the pond of Kausar will be in splendour and inner significance from the ponds we see on the earth-in the same way as everything belonging to Heaven should be-, the Traditions, further, tell that it will be so extensive that it will take a traveller a month to cover the distance between its two banks. In a Tradition the distance is reported to be the same as between Amman and Aden.

It is, indeed, impossible in this world to form a correct idea of the things of the Hereafter even in the light of what is stated about them in the Traditions. Their real shape will be known only when we shall see them in future existence. The same should be kept in the mind in connection with Sirat and Scales as well.

(١٠٢/١٠٢) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بَيْنَا أَنَا وَأَسِيرُ فِي الْجَنَّةِ إِذَا أَنَا بِنَهْرٍ حَافَتَاهُ قُبَابُ الدَّرِّ الْمَجُوفِ قُلْتُ مَا هَذَا يَا جِبْرِيلُ؟ قَالَ هَذَا الْكَوْثَرُ الَّذِي أَعْطَاكَ رَبُّكَ فَإِذَا طِينُهُ مِسْكٌ أَذْفَرُ. (رواه البخاري)

(102/102) It is related by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "While I was walking in Paradise I saw a [strange] river on either bank of which there were domes made of concave pearls. 'What is it?' I enquired from Jibreel. 'It is the Kausar which your Lord has given to you,' he replied, I found that its soil was as fragrant as musk." (Bukhari)

Commentary: The incident related in the above saying, probably, took place on the Night of Ascension and in the reply of Jibreel عليه السلام "It is the Kuasar which you Lord has given you" the allusion is to the Qur'anic verse which reads:

لَوْ! We have given thee (١٠٨:١) إِنَّا أَعْطَيْنَاكَ الْكَوْثَرَ (الكوثر ١٠٨:١)
Kausar. (Al-Kauthar 108:1)

"Kausar" literally, means the Abundance of Good. Though it includes all the treasure-houses of goodness Allah has bestowed upon the Prophet ﷺ, like the Qur'an, the Shari'ah and the sublime spiritual qualities and dignity and eminence of position in both the worlds, yet it refers mainly to the river of Paradise and the Pond connected with it which is located in the open field of concourse on the Day of Requital [and at which people without number will drink]. In other words, the priceless blessings conferred by Allah upon the holy Prophet ﷺ pertaining to Faith, and which have reached through him to innumerable persons, will be made known in the form of the River and Pond of Kausar in the Hereafter and countless bondsmen of Allah will quench their thirst at them.

(103/103) It is related by Abdullah ibn 'Amr رضي الله عنه the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The journey of my Pond is of one month [i.e., the Pond of Kausar is so large that it takes a month to go from one side of it to the other], and its angles [i.e., corners] are equal [which, apparently, means that it is square, having four equal sides], and its water is whiter than milk and more sweet-smelling than musk, and its drinking-vessels are like the stars of the firmament [meaning, probably, that they are as bright and innumerable as the stars]. Whoever drinks its water shall never be thirsty." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(١٠٤/١٠٤) عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنِّي فَرَطُكُمْ عَلَى الْحَوْضِ مَنْ مَرَّ عَلَيَّ شَرِبَ وَمَنْ شَرِبَ لَمْ يَظْمَأْ أَبَدًا سِيرَدَنْ عَلَى أَقْوَامٍ أَعْرِفُهُمْ وَيَعْرِفُونَنِي ثُمَّ يَحَالُ بَيْنِي وَبَيْنَهُمْ فَأَقُولُ إِنَّهُمْ مِنِّي فَيَقَالُ إِنَّكَ لَا تَذَرُنِي مَا أَحَدُنَا بَعْدَكَ فَأَقُولُ سَحَقًا سَحَقًا لِمَنْ غَيْرَ بَعْدِي.

(104/104) It is related by Sahl ibn Sa'd رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I shall go to the Pond of Kausar before you and arrange for the slaking of your thirst. Whoever will come to me will drink the water of Kausar and whoever will drink the water of Kausar will never feel thirsty, and there will be some people who will recognise me and I will recognise them and they will come towards me but a barrier will be set up between us. I will say, 'But these people are mine.' The reply I will receive will be, 'Do you know what innovations they introduced [and what difficulties they created]?' I will, then, say, 'Let destruction and separtion be the lot of those who brought about dissension in Faith after me and tampered with it.'

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It is difficult to say who will be prevented from going to the Prophet ﷺ at the Pond of Kausar. Nor is it necessary. The chief lesson the above saying imparts is that if we are desirous of joining the Prophet ﷺ at Kausar, we must remain steadfast in Faith and detest from making changes and innovations.

(١٠٥/١٠٥) عَنْ ثَوْبَانَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ حَوْضِي مِنْ عَدَنَ إِلَى عَمَّانَ الْبَلْقَاءِ مَاءُهُ أَشَدُّ بَيَاضًا مِنَ اللَّبَنِ وَأَحْلَى مِنَ الْعُسْلِيِّ وَأَكْوَابُهُ عَدَدُ نُجُومِ السَّمَاءِ مَنْ شَرِبَ مِنْهُ شَرْبَةً لَمْ يَظْمَأْ بَعْدَهَا أَبَدًا أَوَّلُ النَّاسِ وَرُودًا فَقَرَاءُ الْمُهَاجِرِينَ الشُّعْتُ رَأَوْا الدَّنَسَ ثِيَابًا الَّذِينَ لَا يَنْكِحُونَ الْمُتَعَمِّمَاتِ وَلَا يَفْتَحُ لَهُمُ السُّدُودُ.

(105/105) Sayyidina Thawaban رضي الله عنه has reported the Prophet as saying: "The journey of my Pond [is as long as that] from Aden to Amman al-Barqa, and its water is whiter than milk and sweeter than honey, and its drinking-vessels are [as numerous] as the stars. [Its water is such] that whoever drinks it shall never feel the pang of thirst again. The first to reach me at the Pond will be the indigent emigrants"¹ — the ruffled and untidy of hair and dirty and unkempt of attire who can not marry wealthy and prosperous women and for whom no doors open [i.e., who are not welcome anywhere]." (Ahmaed, Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: The distance between one bank of the Pond of Kausar and the other is as much as between Aden and Amman [which is situated near Balqa]. In fact, this is another way of saying that the Pond will be spread over hundreds of miles.

The first to reach the Pond and to drink from it will be the poor emigrants who, due to indigence and detachment from worldly interests, live in such a state that their hair is unclean and dishevelled and clothes torn and tattered. If they want to marry girls belonging to well-to-do families they will not be given to them in marriage, and if they go to anyone's house they will be refused admission on account of their miserable appearance.

①. Those who had migrated from Makkah and Madinah.

The above Tradition emphasises that those who live in poverty and pay little attention to their dress or appearance due to indifference to earthly pleasures and anxiety for Futurity will be the first to obtain the rewards of the Hereafter. Modern educated people who mistakenly believe that such a conduct is a gross misconception of Faith and an outcome of the cult of self-mortification should ponder upon sayings like these.

Every age has its own maladies. At one time erroneous and un-Islamic forms of monasticism and life-denial were regarded, in some circles, as the essence of Islamic asceticism. Now perhaps as a reaction to it, the inclination of some sections is to make the teachings of Islam conform to modern materialistic trends and lustful propensities.

(And Allah guides whom He will to the Straight Path). وَاللَّهُ يَهْدِي مَنْ يَشَاءُ إِلَى صِرَاطٍ مُسْتَقِيمٍ.

(١٠٦/١٠٦) عَنْ سَمُرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ لِكُلِّ نَبِيٍّ حَوْضًا وَإِنَّهُمْ لَيَتَبَاهُونَ أَيُّهُمْ أَكْثَرُ وَارِدَةٌ وَأَنَا لَأَرْجُو أَنْ أَكُونَ أَكْثَرَهُمْ وَارِدَةً. (ترمذی)

(106/106) It is related by Samurah رضی اللہ عنہ the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "In the Hereafter every Prophet will have a pond and he will take pride at the number of men who will come to drink at his pond. I hope the largest number of men will come to me [and drink at my pond]." (Tirmizi)

(١٠٧/١٠٧) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ سَأَلْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنْ يَشْفَعَ لِي يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ فَقَالَ أَنَا فَاعِلٌ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ فَإِنْ أَطْلَبْنِي أَوَّلَ مَا تَطْلُبُنِي عَلَى الصِّرَاطِ قُلْتُ فَإِنْ لَمْ أَلْقَكَ عَلَى الصِّرَاطِ قَالَ فَاطْلُبْنِي

عِنْدَ الْمِيزَانِ قُلْتُ فَإِنْ لَمْ أَلْقَكَ عِنْدَ الْمِيزَانِ قَالَ فَاطْلُبْنِي عِنْدَ الْحَوْضِ فَإِنِّي لَا أُخْطِئُ هَذِهِ الثَّلَاثَ الْمَوَاطِنَ. (رواه الترمذی)

(107/107) Sayyidina Anas رضی اللہ عنہ [personal attendant of the Prophet ﷺ] has narrated that he asked the Prophet ﷺ if he would intercede on his behalf on the Day of Judgement. "I will", the Prophet ﷺ replied. "So where should I look for you on the Judgement Day?" enquired Anas رضی اللہ عنہ. "When you need me, first of all look for me at Sirat [The Bridge]," said the Prophet ﷺ. "And if I do not find you there?" asked Anas رضی اللہ عنہ. "Look for me, then, at Mizan [the Scales]," replied the Prophet ﷺ. "Where may I seek you," asked Anas رضی اللہ عنہ, "If you are not near Mizan as well?" "Then look for me at the Hauz [Pond]. I will not go away from these three places at that time," the Prophet ﷺ replied.

(Tirmizi)

Commentary: It shows that intercession on the Last Day is one of the things for which a request can be made to the Prophet ﷺ and though the Prophet ﷺ has indicated to Anas رضی اللہ عنہ the three places for meeting him, it is meant for all the seekers of intercession.

(۱۰۸/۱۰۸) عَنِ الْمُغِيرَةِ بْنِ شُعْبَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

شِعَارُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ عَلَى الصِّرَاطِ رَبِّ سَلِّمْ سَلِّمْ! (رواه الترمذی)

(108/108) It is related by Mughirah ibn Sh'ubah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The distinguishing mark of the Believers on the Bridge will be the prayer: 'O Allah! keep us safe. Let us cross [it] with safety.'" (Tirmizi)

(The Sirat (bridge) and Mizan (scale) have been mentioned in some earlier Ahadith.)

Intercession

Intercession by the Prophet ﷺ one of the events concerning the Day of Requital about which explicit information has been given in the Traditions and to believe in them is an essential religious duty of the Muslims. The number of Traditions relating to it is very large, and, taking them together, the authorities have concluded that the Prophet ﷺ will intercede again and again and in various ways. First, when all men will be marshalled before Allah for Final Reckoning. They will be stricken dumb with fear and astonishment. Even the Prophets from Sayyidina Aadam ﷺ will have enough concern of their own to make them indifferent to others calling out nafsi, nafsi (my self). The sacred Prophet ﷺ will be implored by them, and, moved by their pathetic state, will step forward with fullest faith in the Mercy of Allah and He will entreat Him humbly that the state of anxious uncertainty and expectation be ended, the Reckoning done and the Judgement pronounced. It will be the first act of intercession before Allah and the sacred Prophet ﷺ will do it. It is then that the Final Requital will begin. This intercession, as we have seen, will be for the whole of mankind, and hence, it is also called the Great Intercession. Then, the Prophet ﷺ will plead on behalf of the sinners among his own followers who will have been condemned to Hell due to their wicked actions. This intercession will, also, be granted and a large number of his transgressing followers will, in his way, be taken out of Hell. The Prophet ﷺ will, further, pray for some devout and virtuous Believers that they may be admitted to Heaven without their deeds being brought to account. Similarly, he will beseech Allah for elevation in the ranks of many of his followers. All these types and events of intercession have been described in the Traditions.

The Traditions also tell us that once the door of intercession is opened through the Prophet ﷺ, other Prophets, the angels and the earnest bondsmen of Allah, too, will plead on behalf of the Believers in whom they will be interested, and even the children of believing men and women who had died in infancy will interpose with Allah for their parents which will also be granted and the salvation of a good many people will take place in that way.

But all the intercessions will come to pass only by the grace of Allah and by His permission, and no Prophet or Angel can venture to take even a single man out of Hell or intercede on his behalf without His leave. The Qur'an says:

Who is he that intercedeth with Him save by His leave?

مَنْ ذَا الَّذِي يَشْفَعُ عِنْدَهُ إِلَّا بِإِذْنِهِ

[Al-Baqarah 2:255]

(بقره. ۲: ۲۰۰)

As some ulama have wisely observed, intercession will only be for making evident the glory of and the Divine fondness for those who will intercede and with a view to exalt them, otherwise no one can interfere with the Functions and Judgement of the Almighty. He is One Who:

(does what He would and decides what He intends).

وَلَا يَشْفَعُونَ إِلَّا لِمَنِ ارْتَضَىٰ

(Al-Anbiyaa 21:27)

Here are some Ahadith on this subject:

(۱۰۹/۱۰۹) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا كَانَ يَوْمُ الْقِيَمَةِ مَآجِ النَّاسِ بَعْضُهُمْ فِي بَعْضٍ فَيَأْتُونَ آدَمَ فَيَقُولُونَ اشْفَعْ إِلَى رَبِّكَ فَيَقُولُ لَسْتُ لَهَا وَلَكِنْ عَلَيْكُمْ بِإِبْرَاهِيمَ فَإِنَّهُ خَلِيلُ الرَّحْمَنِ فَيَأْتُونَ إِبْرَاهِيمَ فَيَقُولُ لَسْتُ لَهَا وَلَكِنْ عَلَيْكُمْ بِمُوسَى فَإِنَّهُ كَلِيمُ اللَّهِ فَيَأْتُونَ مُوسَى فَيَقُولُ لَسْتُ لَهَا وَلَكِنْ عَلَيْكُمْ بِعِيسَى فَإِنَّهُ رُوحُ اللَّهِ وَكَلِمَتُهُ، فَيَأْتُونَ عِيسَى فَيَقُولُ لَسْتُ لَهَا وَلَكِنْ عَلَيْكُمْ بِمُحَمَّدٍ فَيَأْتُونِي فَأَقُولُ أَنَا لَهَا فَاسْتَأْذِنْ عَلَى رَبِّي فَيُؤْذَنُ لِي وَيُلْهِمُنِي مَحَامِدَ أَحْمَدُهُ بِهَا لَا تَحْضُرُنِي الْآنَ فَأَحْمَدُهُ بِتِلْكَ الْمَحَامِدِ وَآخِرُ لَهُ سَاجِدًا فَيَقَالُ يَا مُحَمَّدُ ارْفَعْ رَأْسَكَ وَقُلْ تَسْمَعُ وَسَلْ تُعْطُ وَاشْفَعْ تُشْفَعُ فَأَقُولُ يَا رَبِّ أُمِّي أُمِّي فَيَقَالُ انْطَلِقْ فَأَخْرِجْ مَنْ فِي قَلْبِهِ مِثْقَالُ شَعِيرَةٍ مِنْ إِيْمَانٍ فَانْطَلِقْ فَأَفْعَلْ ثُمَّ أَعُوذُ فَأَحْمَدُهُ بِتِلْكَ الْمَحَامِدِ ثُمَّ آخِرُ لَهُ سَاجِدًا فَيَقَالُ يَا مُحَمَّدُ ارْفَعْ رَأْسَكَ وَقُلْ تَسْمَعُ وَسَلْ تُعْطُ وَاشْفَعْ تُشْفَعُ فَأَقُولُ يَا رَبِّ أُمِّي أُمِّي فَيَقَالُ انْطَلِقْ فَأَخْرِجْ مَنْ كَانَ فِي قَلْبِهِ مِثْقَالُ ذَرَّةٍ أَوْ خَرْدَلَةٍ مِنْ إِيْمَانٍ فَانْطَلِقْ فَأَفْعَلْ ثُمَّ أَعُوذُ فَأَحْمَدُهُ بِتِلْكَ الْمَحَامِدِ ثُمَّ آخِرُ لَهُ سَاجِدًا فَيَقَالُ يَا مُحَمَّدُ ارْفَعْ رَأْسَكَ وَقُلْ تَسْمَعُ وَسَلْ تُعْطُ وَاشْفَعْ تُشْفَعُ فَأَقُولُ يَا رَبِّ أُمِّي أُمِّي فَيَقَالُ انْطَلِقْ فَأَخْرِجْ مَنْ كَانَ فِي قَلْبِهِ أَذْنَى أَذْنَى مِثْقَالِ حَبَّةٍ خَرْدَلَةٍ مِنْ إِيْمَانٍ فَأَخْرِجْهُ مِنَ النَّارِ فَانْطَلِقْ فَأَفْعَلْ ثُمَّ أَعُوذُ الرَّابِعَةَ فَأَحْمَدُهُ بِتِلْكَ الْمَحَامِدِ ثُمَّ آخِرُ لَهُ سَاجِدًا فَيَقَالُ يَا مُحَمَّدُ ارْفَعْ رَأْسَكَ وَقُلْ تَسْمَعُ وَسَلْ تُعْطُ وَاشْفَعْ تُشْفَعُ فَأَقُولُ يَا رَبِّ إِنَّدَن لِي فَيَمْنُ قَالَ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ قَالَ لَيْسَ ذَالِكَ لَكَ وَلَكِنْ وَعِزَّتِي وَجَلَالِي وَكِبْرِيَانِي وَعَظَمَتِي لِأَخْرِجَنَّ مِنْهَا مَنْ قَالَ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ.

(109/109) It is related by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When it is the Day of Resurrection [and all the former and the latter ones will be gathered together on the field of concourse], there will be great anxiety among the people. Thus, they [i.e., some of their representatives] will approach Prophet Aadam عليه السلام to intercede on their behalf, and he will reply, 'I am not worthy of it. You should better go to Prophet Ibrahim عليه السلام; he is a Friend of Allah [and may be able to help you].' They will, accordingly approach Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام and make the request of intercession to him. He, too, will reply, 'I am not worthy of it. You should better go to Prophet Musa عليه السلام; he is the Kaleem Allah [who has spoken with Allah and may be of help to you].' They will, accordingly, approach Sayyidina Musa عليه السلام and make the request to him. But he will reply, 'I am not worthy of it. You should better go to Prophet Isa عليه السلام [and place the same request before him]. But he will also say, 'I am not worthy of it. You should better go to [the last of the Prophets] Muhammad ﷺ. They will, then, come to me and ask me to intercede. I will say, 'This is my job.' I will, then, seek an audience with the All-Merciful which will be granted. He will communicate to me the superhuman knowledge of some of His praises [which are not known to me at present]. I shall glorify Him through those praises and bow low, touching the ground with the forehead in reverence. [According to a report in Musnad Ahmad, the Prophet ﷺ will remain in that posture for a week after which] it will be said to him, 'O Muhammad! Raise your head and say what you want. Your prayer will be heard. Ask for anything you like. It will be granted. Make whatever intercession you wish to make and it will be allowed.' I shall say, 'My followers! My followers!' [Meaning mercy may be shown to them today and they may be forgiven]. I will be told to go and take out [of Hell] those in whose heart there is Faith even of the weight of a mustardseed. I shall go and do so. Afterwards, I shall return to the benevolent presence of Allah, and again sing His praises through the hymns inspired to me and fall in prostration before Him. Once more, I will be told, 'O Muhammad! Raise your head and say what you want. Your prayer will be heard. Ask for anything you like and it will be granted. Make whatever intercession you wish to make and it will be allowed.' I shall say, My followers. 'My followers.' I will be told to go and take out [of Hell] those in whose heart there is Faith even of the weight of a dust-particle. I shall go and do so. Afterwards, I shall return to the benevolent presence of Allah, and, again sing His praises through the hymns inspired to me and fall in prostration before Him. It will be said to me, 'O Muhammad! Raise you head and say what you want. Your prayer will be heard. Ask for anything you like and it will be granted. Make any intercession you wish to make and it will be allowed.' I will, then say, 'O Lord! Allow me [to intercede] on behalf of all those who may have said La-Ilaha-IlAllah.' Allah will remark, "That is not for you." By My Power and Glory, and by My Majesty and Magnificence, I shall take out of Hell those who have said La-Ilaha-IlAllah." (Bukhari and Muslim) Commentary: A few points in the above Tradition require a clarification.

- (i) The presence of Faith in the heart of the weight of mustard-seed or even less mean degrees of the effulgence of Faith which we do not perceive but which the holy Prophet ﷺ will, due to his special discernment, see distinctly, and, by the command of Allah, take out of Hell every one belonging to those grades.
- (ii) After interceding on behalf of his followers thrice the holy Prophet ﷺ will, for the fourth time, beseech Allah for permission to plead for those who have said La-Ilaha-IlAllah. Apparently, it means men who accepted the Prophet's ﷺ call of Divine Unity and embraced Islam but did not, at all, observe the duties that were necessary for gaining admission to Heaven. The Prophet ﷺ will, thus, seek the permission to take out of Hell bondsmen who will possess Faith and believe in Divine Oneness to any extent but are utterly devoid of well-doing. (In a hadith Bukhari and Muslim, narrated by Sayyidina Abu Sa'eed al-Khurdri رضي الله عنه, perhaps these people to whom the words لم يعملوا خيرا قط they never did a good deed.) He will be told by Allah that He did not place the duty of taking them out of hell on him or that it did not befit the Prophet ﷺ, but was worthy only of Divine Power and Majesty, and so He will carry it out Himself. In our humble opinion, it signifies that it was not for the Prophet ﷺ to take out of Hell men who did not, in any way, obey the commands of Allah after they accepted Islam. Forgiveness on such a scale was suitable only for the All-Merciful. But Allah knows best.

(iii) Perhaps, this Hadith refers briefly for a version in Bukhari and Muslim. The Seekers of intercession go to the Sayyidina Aadam ﷺ, then to Sayyidina Nuh ﷺ then Ibrahim ﷺ. This Hadith does not mention Prophet Nooh ﷺ. Also, it only mentions the ummah of the Prophet ﷺ, but, it is believed that he will first make a general (Great) intercession. The other intercession will follow.

(iv) Allah will put in the hearts of the seekers that they should approach Prophet Aadam ﷺ then on his advice Prophet Nooh ﷺ and likewise sayyidina Ibrahim ﷺ, Musa ﷺ and Isa ﷺ. This will be put in their heart by Allah that they may know the favour of intercession is reserved with the praiseworthy station for His last Prophet ﷺ. Allah will allow it to display the worthiness of the Prophet ﷺ.

يُخْرَجُ قَوْمٌ مِنْ أُمَّتِي مِنَ النَّارِ بِشَفَاعَتِي يُسَمُّونَ الْجَهَنَّمِيِّينَ. (رواه البخارى)

(110/110) It is related by Imran ibn Husayn ؓ that the Prophet ﷺ said: "A group of my followers who will be known by the name of the Dwellers of Hell, will be taken out of Hell on my intercession." (Bukhari)

Commentary: It will not be insulting for these people to be called as such but a source of joy for it will remind them of the Generosity and Kindliness of Allah.

(١١١/١١١) عَنْ عَوْفِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

أَتَانِي آتٍ مِنْ عِنْدِ رَبِّي فَخَيَّرَنِي بَيْنَ أَنْ يَدْخَلَ نِصْفَ أُمَّتِي الْجَنَّةَ وَبَيْنَ الشَّفَاعَةِ فَأَخْتَرْتُ الشَّفَاعَةَ وَهِيَ لِمَنْ مَاتَ لَا يُشْرِكُ بِاللَّهِ شَيْئًا.

(رواه الترمذى وابن ماجه)

(111/111) 'Auf bin Maalik ؓ related that the Prophet ﷺ said: "A messenger from my Lord brought a message, giving me the right to choose between two things: either Allah lets half of my followers to enter Heaven or I get the choice of intercession. I preferred the right of intercession and my intercession shall be on behalf of those who [after accepting Islam and acknowledging the Oneness of Allah] died in such a state that they ascribed no partners to Him." (Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

(١١٢/١١٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ أَسْعَدُ النَّاسِ بِشَفَاعَتِي يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ مَنْ قَالَ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ خَالِصًا مِنْ قَلْبِهِ أَوْ نَفْسِهِ (رواه البخارى)
112 (112) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "On the Day of Recompense only those [bondsmen] will profit by my intercession who will have said La-Ilaha-Ilallah with a sincere heart." (Bukhari)

Commentary: Both the above Traditions show that people who are guilty of polytheism will not be benefitted by intercession. Those who are free from it, but have committed other sins, will, of course, obtain profit from it.

(١١٣/١١٣) عَنْ أَنَسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ شَفَاعَتِي لِأَهْلِ الْكِبَايِرِ مِنْ أُمَّتِي. (رواه الترمذى وابو داؤد ورواه ابن ماجه عن جابر)
(113/113) It is related by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "My intercession will be on behalf of my followers who will have been guilty of major sins." (Tirmizi, Abu Dawood and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: It will be the height of meanness to derive the wrong kind of encouragement from such sayings and become more fearless in evil-doing. Their purpose, simply, is that he unfortunate ones who fall into error do not lose hope and give way to despair. The Prophet ﷺ will intercede on their behalf. They should on their part, make themselves deserving of his intercession by trying earnestly to set right the bond of servility to Allah and adherence to His Messenger.

أُمِّي وَبَكَى فَقَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى يَا جِبْرِيلُ اذْهَبْ إِلَى مُحَمَّدٍ . وَرَبُّكَ أَعْلَمُ .
 فَسَلَّهُ مَا يُبْكِيهِ فَاتَاهُ جِبْرِيلُ فَسَأَلَهُ فَأَخْبَرَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِمَا
 قَالَ فَقَالَ اللَّهُ لَجِبْرِيلُ اذْهَبْ إِلَى مُحَمَّدٍ فَقُلْ إِنَّا سَتُرْضِيكَ فِي أُمَّتِكَ وَلَا
 نَسُوءُكَ . (رواه مسلم)

(14/114) It is narrated by Abdullah ibn 'Amr ibn al-'Aas رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ [one day] recited the Qur'anic verse concerning Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام:

My Lord! Lo! they [the idols] have led many of mankind astray (Al-Ma'idah 5:36)

”رَبِّ إِنَّهُمْ أَضَلَّلَن كَثِيرًا مِّنَ النَّاسِ فَمَنْ تَبِعَنِ فَإِنَّهُ مِنِّي“

(ابراهيم ٣٦:١٤)

and also, the Qur'anic verse concerning Sayyidina Isa عليه السلام:

If Thou punish them, lo, they are Thy slaves, (Ibrahim 14:118)

”إِنْ تُعَذِّبْهُمْ فَإِنَّهُمْ عِبَادُكَ“

(المائدة ١١٨:٥)

After reciting the two verses, the Prophet ﷺ remembered his followers and raising his hands in prayer said: "O Allah! My followers. My followers." He, also, wept during the supplication. Allah commanded Jibreel عليه السلام: Go to Muhammad {Though everything is known to your Lord} go to him and ask on Our behalf "Why he is crying?" Thus, Jibreel عليه السلام came to the Prophet ﷺ and enquired. He told him what he had said to Allah [i.e., the reason of his weeping was the anxiety for his followers]. [When Jibreel reported back to Allah] He bade him, "Go to Muhammad and tell him, on Our behalf, that We shall make him happy in spite of his followers, and not make him dejected." (Muslim)

Commentary: The import of the above saying is that the Prophet ﷺ recited two verses of the Qur'an, one from Surah Ibrahim. in which it is stated about Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام that he said to Allah about his followers, "Those among them who obeyed me are mine and I pray to Thee for forgiveness for them, and those that disobeyed me-Thou art Forgiving, Merciful, i.e., Thou can forgive them." and the other from surah Maidah:

فَمَنْ تَبِعَنِ فَإِنَّهُ مِنِّي وَمَنْ عَصَانِي فَإِنَّكَ غَفُورٌ رَّحِيمٌ (ابراهيم ٣٦:١٤)

in which it is stated about Sayyidina Isa عليه السلام that he will pray to Allah for his erring and misguided followers:

"If Thou punish them, they are Thy slaves and Thou hast every right to punish them, and if Thou forgive them, Thou art the Mighty [and can do anything] and the Wise [i.e., whatever Thou doest will not be without wisdom]."

In both of these verses, two exalted Messengers of Allah have pleaded on behalf of the wrongdoers among their followers with complete reverence and humility.

On reciting the verses the sacred Prophet ﷺ was reminded of his own followers and he expressed his anxiety about them to Allah with hands raised in supplication and tears flowing from his eyes. He was, thereupon assured that the matter of his followers will be settled to his satisfaction and he will not have to be broken-hearted on their account.

Every Prophet, or, rather, every leader has a special affection for his followers in the same way as all of us possess a peculiar fondness for our children. It is, therefore, his natural wish that they obtain deliverance from Divine Chastisement. Since the sacred Prophet ﷺ was ahead of all other Prophets in this particular kind of compassion and attachment also, he was specially anxious about the salvation of his followers and used to pray frequently that they were not thrown into Hell and those of them whose sinfulness was such that they could not escape punishment might be taken out of it after undergoing the penalty of Fire for some time.

From the Traditions belonging to the above category it is clear that Allah will fulfil the earnest desire of the Prophet ﷺ and a large number of Believers will be saved from the chastisement of Hell through his intercession or taken out of the infernal place after being cast into it.

This Hadith in Muslim is a great solace for sinners like us. It is stated in some versions that the Prophet ﷺ said to Sayyidina Jibreel عليه السلام on hearing the message, "I will be satisfied only when none of my followers (ummah) goes to Hell." Allah sent Sayyidina Jibreel عليه السلام to ask the reason for weeping only to show respect to the Prophet ﷺ otherwise He knows everything.

(١١٥/١١٥) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ بْنِ عَفَّانَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَشْفَعُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ ثَلَاثَةٌ الْأَنْبِيَاءُ ثُمَّ الْعُلَمَاءُ ثُمَّ الشُّهَدَاءُ. (رواه ابن ماجه)

(115/115) It is related by Sayyidina Uthman ibn 'Affan رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "On the Day of Judgement three types of men will [particularly] intercede: the Prophets ﷺ, the Ulama and the martyrs." (Ibn Majah)

Commentary: It does not mean that no one aside of the three groups mentioned above will be able to plead on behalf of others on the Day of Requital but that a special intercession will be made by them. Some other pious and high-souled persons will also be permitted to intercede, and, as we have indicated earlier, even children who had died in their infancy will intercede for their parents and intercession by good actions will also take place.

(116/116) It is related by Abu Sa'eed al-Khurdri رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Among my followers there will be some who will intercede on behalf of nations and communities [i.e., their station will be so high that Allah will permit them to intercede on behalf of whole communities and their intercession will be accepted], and some who will intercede on behalf of groups of from ten to forty people and some who will intercede on behalf of one person [and Allah will accept the intercession of all of them] till everyone shall enter Paradise." (Tirmizi)

(١١٧/١١٧) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُصَفُّ أَهْلُ النَّارِ فَيَمُرُّ بِهِمُ الرَّجُلُ مِنْ أَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ فَيَقُولُ الرَّجُلُ مِنْهُمْ يَا فَلَانُ أَمَا تَعْرِفُنِي أَنَا الَّذِي سَقَيْتَكَ شَرْبَةً وَقَالَ بَعْضُهُمْ أَنَا الَّذِي وَهَبْتُ لَكَ وَضُوءً فَيَشْفَعُ لَهُ فَيَدْخُلُهُ الْجَنَّةَ. (رواه ابن ماجه)

(117/117) It is reported by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "On the Judgement Day the people of Hell will be marshalled in a row [i.e., some sinful men among Believers who will be deserving of chastisement will stand in a row on some occasions on the Last Day]. A dweller of Paradise will pass by them and one of the men standing in the row will call out to him, saying, 'Do you not recognise me? I am the person who once gave you water [or in some other, wholesome beverage] to drink'. And another man standing in the same row will say, 'I am the person who had [once] given you water to perform the Wudu.¹ Thus, the dweller of Paradise will intercede with Allah on behalf of those people and get them admitted to Heaven."

(Ibn Majah)

Commentary: The bond of affection with devout and virtuous men in the present world is going to avail a great deal in the Hereafter provided one is blessed with Faith.

Heaven and Its Blessings

Heaven and hell are among the realities of Futurity in which it is essential for a Muslim to believe. These are the ultimate and eternal dwelling places of mankind. In the Qur'an, Paradise, with its incomparable blissfulness, and Hell, with its dreadful chastisement have been dwelt upon so frequently and with such thoroughness that if all the verses relating to them are collected they alone will make a volume.

Likewise, in the compilations of the Traditions hundreds of sayings of the Prophet ﷺ dealing with Heaven and hell are preserved from which an adequate idea of the two places can be obtained. The exact import of what is revealed in the Qur'an and the Traditions about Heaven and Hell will, however, be known only when we will reach there and see the whole thing for ourselves. What to speak of Paradise, it is an everyday experience that the image formed in our minds after hearing or reading about a beautiful city is much incomplete of what it actually is. In any event, the account of Heavens and Hell contained in the Qur'an and the Traditions should be read in the light of this elementary principle.

The aim of the Qur'anic verses and the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ is far from delineating the topography of Heaven and Hell or giving a detailed picture of what is to be experienced there. Rather to produce a fear of Hell, and its punishment so that men may abstain from vices that lead them to it and to arouse a love and eagerness for Paradise and its boons and comfort. Men may be induced thereby to practise virtue and perform good deeds to make them worthy of admission to it. The verses and Traditions of the above category, therefore, demand that feelings of dread and desire, as the case be may be produced as a result of reading or listening to them.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(118/118) It is related by Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah says 'I have prepared for My Faithful slaves that which no eye has seen nor ear heard nor the thought of which has even crossed their mind.' And, if you like you may read the verse:

فَلَا تَعْلَمُ نَفْسٌ مَّا أُخْفِيَ لَهُمْ مِّنْ قُرَّةِ أَعْيُنٍ (السجده ٣٢: ١٧)

No soul knoweth what is kept hid for them of joy, as reward for what they used to do." [Al-Sajadah 32:17] (Bukhari and Muslim) Commentary: This is a Hadith Qudsi or a celestial Tradition. If the Prophet ﷺ says something with the explicit remark that it is stated by Allah [and it is not found in the Qur'an] then such a Tradition is called a Hadith Qudsi or a celestial Tradition. A general aspect of the glad tidings for truthful bondsmen is that in the Hereafter they will be favoured with boons and blessings which no man has experienced or even imagined in the existing world. The other special aspect lies in the words: I have prepared for My faithful bondsmen that"

(١١٩/١١٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَوْضِعُ سَوِطٍ فِي الْجَنَّةِ خَيْرٌ مِنَ الدُّنْيَا وَمَا فِيهَا.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(119/119) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه related that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A sweeping-place in Paradise is better than the world and all that it contains."¹

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In ancient Arabia the custom was that when a caravan of riders made a halt, each rider would throw some rubbish at the place where he intended to put up. It was, then, considered, to have been reserved for him. The word "sweepings-place" in this Tradition, thus, denotes the small place which was set aside for the traveller who threw the waste-matter over it. That little place in Paradise is more valuable than the whole world.

(١٢٠/١٢٠) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَدْوَةٌ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ أَوْ رُوحَةٌ خَيْرٌ مِنَ الدُّنْيَا وَمَا فِيهَا وَلَوْ أَنَّ امْرَأَةً مِنْ نِسَاءِ أَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ أَطْلَعَتْ إِلَى الْأَرْضِ لَأَضَاءَتْ مَا بَيْنَهُمَا وَلَمَلَّتْ مَا بَيْنَهُمَا رِيحًا وَلَنَصِيفُهَا عَلَى رَأْسِهَا خَيْرٌ مِنَ الدُّنْيَا وَمَا فِيهَا.

(120/120) It is related by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "To set out in the path of Allah, once in the morning or in the evening, is better than the world and all that it contains, and if a bride from among the brides of the dwellers of Paradise cast a glance at the world, the whole space intervening between the two [i.e., from the Heaven to the earth] will be filled with light and fragrance, and the covering of her head is better than the world and all that is contained therein." (Bukhari)

Commentary: In the opening part of this Tradition the virtue of setting out in the way of Allah [i.e., undertaking a journey in the service of Faith] has been referred to and we are told that to do so once in the morning or in the evening is better than the entire universe. The specification of the morning and the evening, here, is probably, due to the fact that, in the older times, people habitually started on a journey during those parts of the day otherwise if a person left his home at any other time for a religious purpose it will possess the same merit.

In the later part, the wondrous beauty of the celestial brides of the dwellers of Paradise and the worth and value of their apparel have been mentioned, possibly with a view to encourage people to set off from their homes in the service of Faith by telling them if they will leave their homes and their wives for some time with the object of serving the cause of Allah, they will be rewarded forever and in Heaven with spouses of such rare charm and elegance that if they glanced towards the earth the entire atmosphere would be filled with radiance and sweet scent. And their dress was so very costly that the headgear alone was more valuable than the whole of the world.

(١٢١/١٢١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ فِي الْجَنَّةِ شَجَرَةً يَسِيرُ الرَّائِبُ فِي ظِلِّهَا مِائَةَ عَامٍ لَا يَقْطَعُهَا وَلَقَابٌ قَوْسٍ أَحَدُكُمْ فِي الْجَنَّةِ خَيْرٌ مِمَّا طَلَعَتْ عَلَيْهِ الشَّمْسُ أَوْ تَغْرُبُ. (رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(121/121) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "In Heaven there is a tree [which is so large that] if a horseman rides under its shade even for a hundred years he will not be able to pass from one side of it to the other, and the space of anyone of you in Heaven, even of the length of a bow, is better than the world on which the sun rises or sets."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The object of this Tradition is to produce in the hearts an earnest yearning for Paradise by stressing the superiority of celestial joys and comforts over those of the world. The first thing is about the wonderful trees of Heaven. It says that their shade is so extensive that a horseman can not cross it in a hundred years. It, then, assures that a bow-length of space in Paradise is more value than the world and all that there is in it. We have referred earlier to the Arab custom of throwing rubbish over the place by the rider where he wanted to stay as a mark of reservation. In the same way, when a person travelling on foot wanted to make a halt at some place he used to put his bow at it. A bow-length of space in the above Tradition, thus, signifies that even the smallest place in Heaven is more precious than the entire universe.

(١٢٢/١٢٢) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ أَهْلَ الْجَنَّةِ يَأْكُلُونَ فِيهَا وَيَشْرَبُونَ وَلَا يَفْطُلُونَ وَلَا يَبُولُونَ وَلَا يَغْرُطُونَ وَلَا يَمْتَخِطُونَ

قَالُوا فَمَا بَالُ الطَّعَامِ قَالَ جُشَاءَ وَرَشَحَ كَرَشَحَ الْمِسْكِ يُلْهَمُونَ التَّسْبِيحَ
وَالْتَّحْمِيدَ كَمَا تُلْهَمُونَ النَّفْسَ. (رواه مسلم)

(122/122) It is related by Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The dwellers of Paradise will eat and drink in Heaven but neither a secretion will be formed in their mouths and nostrils nor will they have to empty their bowels or bladders. Some of the Companions رضي الله عنهم asked, "What will, then, happen to the food [taken by them]?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'It will be passed out by means of eructation and perspiration which will be smelling like musk, and on the tongues of the dwellers of Heaven the praise of Allah will go on, by His Command [effortlessly], [and] in the same way as your respiration goes on [without an effort]." (Muslim)

Commentary: The foods and drinks of Heaven will be free from all bulk-forming properties. They will be so pure and empyreal that no effete matter will be formed by them in the bowels. The stomach will become empty after a light cructation and the other waste-matter will be eliminated through perspiration which will be as sweet-scented as musk. Moreover, just as in this world we breath in and out without an effort, in Paradise the remembrance of Allah will be carried out unconsciously and words of praise to the Almighty like Subhan Allah wa Al-hamdulillah and Subhan Allah wa Behamdihi will be on the lips of everyone all the time.

(١٢٣/١٢٣) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ وَأَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَا إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ يُنَادِي مُنَادٍ أَنْ لَكُمْ أَنْ تَصِحُّوا فَلَا تَسْقِمُوا أَبَدًا وَإِنَّ لَكُمْ أَنْ تَحْيُوا فَلَا تَمُوتُوا أَبَدًا وَإِنَّ لَكُمْ أَنْ تَشَبُّوا فَلَا تَهْرَمُوا أَبَدًا وَإِنَّ لَكُمْ أَنْ تَعْمُوا فَلَا تَبَّأَ سَوْأَ أَبَدًا. (رواه مسلم)

(123/123) Abu Sa'eed رضي الله عنه and Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه related that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "As the dwellers will enter Paradise a heavenly herald will proclaim: Here good health is your right and good health has been ordained for you; so, now you will never fall ill. Here life has been decreed for you; so, now you will never die. Here only youth is your lot; so, now you will never grow old. Here only happiness has been bestowed upon you; so, now neither pain nor sorrow will afflict you."

(Muslim)

Commentary: Heaven is the home of cloudless bliss and eternal felicity. There will not be the faintest trace of suffering in it, neither sickness, nor death, nor old age, nor any other type of affliction, worry or anxiety. As soon as the dwellers will enter Heaven they will be made comfortable with the tidings of imperishable life and everlasting happiness.

(١٢٤/١٢٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ ﷺ مَا خُلِقَ الْخَلْقُ؟ قَالَ مِنَ الْمَاءِ قُلْنَا الْجَنَّةُ مَا بِنَاءُ هَا قَالَ لَبْنَةٌ مِنْ ذَهَبٍ وَلَبْنَةٌ مِنْ فِضَّةٍ وَمِلَاطُهَا الْمِسْكُ الْأَذْفَرُ وَحَسْبَاءُهَا اللَّوْلُؤُ وَالْيَاقُوتُ وَتُرْبَتُهَا الزَّعْفَرَانُ مَنْ يَدْخُلْهَا يَنْعَمُ وَلَا يَبْئَسُ وَلَا يَخْلُدُ وَلَا يَمُوتُ وَلَا يَبْلَى ثِيَابُهُمْ وَلَا يَفْنَى شَبَابُهُمْ.

(رواه احمد والترمذى والدارمى)

(124/124) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه has narrated that he enquired from the Prophet ﷺ, "From what have the living things been created?" "From water", replied the Prophet ﷺ. Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه, then, asked, "Of what is Paradise made [i.e., is it built with bricks, stones or what]?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, "It has been built in such a way that one brick is of gold and the other of silver, and the binding material is of sweet-scented musk, the gravel spread over it is of pearls and rubies, and its dust is, as you would say, saffron. Those who enter it will live in never-ending peace and happiness. No distress will ever touch them, and they will live forever-death will not come to them in Heaven-, and their clothes will never become dirty and worn-out, nor will their youth wither away [at any time or in any degree]."

(Musnad Ahmad and Tirmizi)

Commentary: It shows that all living beings have been created from water. Allah first made water, and, then, from it, He made all the other creatures. In the Qur'an, too, it is stated:

Allah hath created every animal of water (Al-Nur 24:45)

وَاللَّهُ خَلَقَ كُلَّ دَابَّةٍ مِّنْ مَّاءٍ

(النور ٢٤: ٤٥)

We made every living thing of water (Al-Anbiyaa 21:30)

(الانبیاء ٢١: ٣٠)

The reality of what the Prophet ﷺ has said about the structure of Paradise, its walls and floors, will become evident to us only when we shall see it. The basic thing is that Heaven has not been constructed the way buildings are in our world. It has been built solely at the bidding of Allah and without the aid of masons and architects exactly as the heavens and the earth and the sun, the moon and the stars have got created directly in response to His Command.

But His command, when He intendeth a thing, is only that He saith unto it: Be! and it is.

”إِنَّمَا أَمْرُهُ إِذَا أَرَادَ شَيْئًا أَنْ يَقُولَ لَهُ كُنْ فَيَكُونُ“ (يسين ٨٢:٣٦)

Eternal Good Pleasure of the Lord

(١٢٥/١٢٥) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى يَقُولُ لِأَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ يَا أَهْلَ الْجَنَّةِ فَيَقُولُونَ لَكَ رَبَّنَا وَسَعْدُ يَكُ وَالْخَيْرُ كُلُّهُ فِي يَدَيْكَ فَيَقُولُ هَلْ رَضِيتُمْ؟ فَيَقُولُونَ وَمَا لَنَا لَا نَرْضَى يَا رَبِّ وَقَدْ أَعْطَيْتَنَا مَا لَمْ تُعْطِ أَحَدًا مِنْ خَلْقِكَ فَيَقُولُ أَلَا أُعْطَيْتُكُمْ أَفْضَلَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ؟ فَيَقُولُ أَجَلٌ عَلَيْكُمْ رِضْوَانِي فَلَا أَسْخَطُ عَلَيْكُمْ بَعْدَهُ أَبَدًا.

(125/125) It is related by Sayyidina Abu Sa'eed رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "[When the dwellers of Paradise will have reached there and its superlative boons will have been conferred upon them] Allah will speak to them. 'O dwellers of Heaven!' He will say. 'Our Lord', they will reply, 'We are here! We are here in Thy sublime presence, and all that is good belongeth to Thee [i.e., Thou can grant to anyone what Thou want to grant and withhold from anyone what Thou want to withhold]!' He will ask, 'Are you happy [i.e., Are you pleased with what you have been given here]?' The blessed ones will reply, 'Why should we not be pleased when Thou hast granted to us things Thou never had granted to any of Thy creatures.' Allah will, then, enquire, 'May We bestow upon you something which is even superior to those joys?' 'O Lord', the bondsmen will submit, 'What is there which is superior to these blessings?' Allah will say, 'We bestow upon you Our eternal good pleasure.

Now We shall never be displeased with you".

Commentary: For the Benevolent One to enquire from the bondsmen, after He had granted them Paradise and its matchless comforts, whether they were happy and contented is an act of unbounded graciousness in itself, with it, the gift of everlasting good pleasure, literally, defies every expression of gratitude. Were a fraction of that happiness to be revealed to us in the present world, we would no longer wish for any earthly pleasure. Surely, the pleasure of Allah is superior to Paradise and its blessings.

(And the pleasure of Allah is the Greatest). More than that is the vision of Allah.

وَرِضْوَانٌ مِّنَ اللَّهِ أَكْبَرُ
(التوبة ٩: ٤٢)

The Seeing of Allah in Heaven

The greatest favour to be conferred on the dwellers of Paradise is the seeing of Allah, and everyone endowed with a refined awareness will, undoubtedly, find the longing for it embedded in his heart. It is but natural for the bondsman who is enjoying countless blessings of Allah in this world and will be rewarded in Heaven with immeasurably greater boons to feel an earnest desire to see the Beneficent and the Merciful Lord Who created him and was showering on him His exquisite gifts. A feeling of incomplete pleasure will persist in him if he is never blessed with the spectacle of the Almighty Who will, indeed, not deprive him of that pleasure.

The Qur'an has given to the Faithful the Tidings of this unique favour and the holy Prophet ﷺ, too, has mentioned it and all the Muslims have believed in it implicitly. Some people, however, who are given to imagine about the Hereafter on the basis of what they see in the world around them and regard the limited knowledge vouchsafed to them here to be the last word in that direction repudiate the possibility of it on the ground that it does not stand to reason. They argue that only a thing that exists in a material form and has colour or surface can be seen by the human eye, and that, too, when it is placed in front of the viewer and within a certain distance. Since Allah has neither form nor substance, nor is He contained in space and time, the question of seeing Him does not arise. But this like of reasoning, ostensibly, is insane and silly. Had the conviction of the Believers been that Allah will be seen with these very eyes [of the present world] which can observe only material objects and things having colour or dimension, the viewpoint of dissenters could have some validity. But neither the Qur'an nor the Traditions say so, nor is it the creed of the faithful Believers.

The people of the Sunnah and of the way of the Companions  functioning as a body [Ahl Sunnah wal Jama'at] who, in adherence to the precepts of the Qur'an and the Traditions, believe that the bondsmen worthy of the magnificent favour will see Allah in Heaven also take it for granted that He will bless the dwellers of Paradise with power and faculties that the vision that will be granted to them will not be as weak and limited as that of our eyes in the present existence and it is with these eyes that the fortunate bondsmen will see Allah who possesses neither form nor colour nor dimension.

If the skeptics are still doubtful about the seeing of Allah, on account of its logical infeasibility, they should pause and ponder whether He sees His creatures or not. In case perception was possible only with the means and under the circumstances that were peculiar to us, He must, of necessity, be incapable of seeing anything for He had neither eyes nor were the creatures placed in a particular position in respect of Him. Thus, those who believe that God sees without eyes and in all directions at the same time, and even things we can not perceive by the eye in any case and by any means, ought to have no misgivings. Relying to the utmost on the tidings contained in the Qur'an and the Traditions, they should assume that the Almighty will, by His Power and Benevolence, grant them eyes in the Hereafter which will enable them to take joy in the marvellous spectacle of His Own Adored Self.

In the Qur'an the truthful Believers have been given the cheerful assurance that:

Some faces that Day will beam [in brightness and beauty looking towards their Lord.

(Al-Qiyamah 75:22-23)

وَجُوهٌ يُّوْمِنِدِ نَاصِرَةٌ إِلَىٰ رَبِّهَا
نَاطِرَةٌ
(القيامة ٢٣:٢٢:٧٥)

As against it, the deniers of Truth have been warned:

Nay, but surely on that Day they will be covered from their Lord [and prevented from seeing Him.] (Al-Mutaffifin 15)

إِنَّهُمْ عَنْ رَبِّهِمْ يَوْمَئِذٍ لَمَحْجُوبُونَ
(المطففين ١٥: ٨٣)

The Ahadith on the vision of Allah are many and we present a few of them. A Believer should be convinced with them.

(١٢٦/١٢٦) عَنْ صُهَيْبٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِذَا دَخَلَ أَهْلُ
الْجَنَّةِ الْجَنَّةَ يَقُولُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى أَتُرِيدُونَ شَيْئًا أَزِيدُكُمْ ؟ فَيَقُولُونَ أَلَمْ تُبَيِّضْ
وُجُوهَنَا أَلَمْ تُدْخِلْنَا الْجَنَّةَ وَتُنَجِّنَا مِنَ النَّارِ ، قَالَ فَيَرْفَعُ الْحِجَابَ فَيَنْظُرُونَ إِلَى
وَجْهِ اللَّهِ فَمَا أُعْطُوا شَيْئًا أَحَبَّ إِلَيْهِمْ مِنَ النَّظَرِ إِلَى رَبِّهِمْ ثُمَّ تَلَا " لِلَّذِينَ أَحْسَنُوا الْحُسْنَى وَزِيَادَةٌ " .
(رواه مسلم)

(126/126) It is related by Shuaib Rumi that the Prophet ﷺ said:
"When the dwellers have arrived at heaven Allah will enquire from them thus, 'Do you want that We may grant one more favour to you [i.e., bestow upon you a blessing in addition to what you have already received]?' The bondsmen will answer, 'Thou hast illumined our faces [i.e., made us successful and given us beauty and dignity], and saved us from Hell and granted us Paradise. [What more can we want]? The veil will then be lifted [i.e., the scales will fall from the bondsmen's eyes] and they will be able to see Allah unhindered. Thus, their state will be [and they will feel] that the seeing of Allah has surpassed all other favours that had been conferred on them till then.' The Prophet ﷺ recited the following verse from the Qur'an:

لِلَّذِينَ أَحْسَنُوا الْحُسْنَى وَزِيَادَةٌ (يونس ١٠: ٢٦)

For those who do good in the [best] place [i.e., Heaven] and more thereto [i.e., the seeing of God]." (Yunus 10:27) (Muslim)

Commentary: The falling of scales from the eyes, in the above Tradition, means that the dwellers of Paradise will, all of a sudden be endowed with a vision that will enable them to see the Lord.

(١٢٧/١٢٧) عَنْ جَرِيرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ كُنَّا جُلُوسًا عِنْدَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ

عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَظَرَّ إِلَى الْقَمَرِ لَيْلَةَ الْبَدْرِ فَقَالَ إِنَّكُمْ سَتَرُونَ رَبَّكُمْ كَمَا تَرَوْنَ
هَذَا الْقَمَرَ لَا تَضَامُونَ فِي رُؤْيَيْهِ فَإِنْ اسْتَطَعْتُمْ أَنْ لَا تَغْلَبُوا عَلَى صَلَاةٍ قَبْلَ
طُلُوعِ الشَّمْسِ وَقَبْلَ غُرُوبِهَا فَافْعَلُوا ، ثُمَّ قَرَأَ وَسَبِّحْ بِحَمْدِ رَبِّكَ قَبْلَ
طُلُوعِ الشَّمْسِ وَقَبْلَ غُرُوبِهَا .
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(127/127) Jarir bin Abdullah رضي الله عنه narrated, One night we were sitting with the Prophet ﷺ [when he chanced to] look at the moon. It was the fourteenth night of the month [and the full moon was shining in the sky]. He, turned towards us and said, 'Surely, you will see the Lord as you are seeing the moon. You will have to make on special effort to see Him, nor will there be any other difficulty. So, if you can do this that you allow nothing to prevail over the Salah (Prayers) before the rising and the setting of the sun [i.e., no occupation, entertainment or lethargy could divert your attention at the time of these prayers], you must do so. [Insha Allah, you will, then certainly, be blessed with the seeing of Allah]. The Prophet ﷺ recited this verse from the Qur'an:

وَسَبِّحْ بِحَمْدِ رَبِّكَ قَبْلَ طُلُوعِ الشَّمْسِ وَقَبْلَ غُرُوبِهَا (طه ٢٠: ١٣٠)

And celebrate the praises of thy Lord ere the rising and the setting of sun." (Taha 20:130) (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: When a large number of persons collect with the object of seeing a beautiful thing and everyone is anxious to catch a glimpse of it there, generally, takes place a rough struggle among them and it becomes very difficult to see it properly but with the moon the position is that millions of people can see it at the same time, calmly and without any trouble. The Prophet ﷺ had made use of this everyday experience to show how countless bondsmen will be able to see Allah in Heaven without the least difficulty.

In the end the Prophet ﷺ has drawn attention to an act which is particularly efficacious in making the bondsman worthy of the unique favour, i.e., heedfulness for the Fajr and Asr prayers to the extent that no activity or diversion could ever come in the way.

Though five obligatory prayers are prescribed to the Believers, it is evident from the Qur'an and the Sunnah that the Fajr and Asr prayer possess a special significance.

(رواه ابو داود)

(128/128) Abu Razeen Uqaili has narrated that one day he said to the Prophet ﷺ, "O Messenger of Allah! Will everyone of us see the Lord singly [i.e., without a rush] on the Last Day?" "Yes," the Prophet ﷺ replied. "He will". 'Uqaili, asked, "Is there a sign or likeness of it [in this world] too?" The Prophet ﷺ said, "O Abu Razeen! Does everyone of you not see the moon on the fourteenth night of each month, wherever he is, by himself and without a tissue?" "Of course," replied Uqaili. "We all so see the moon like that." The Prophet ﷺ remarked, "It [the moon] is an ordinary creature among the creatures of the Lord while the Lord is Most High, the Majestic." (Abu Dawood)

"O Allah! We beseech You for the pleasure of Your sight and the happiness of meeting you."

اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنَّا نَسْأَلُكَ لَذَّةَ النَّظَرِ اِلَى وَجْهِكَ وَالشَّوْقَ اِلَى لِقَائِكَ.

Hell And Its Chastisement

Just as from the Qur'an and the Traditions we know about Heaven that there are joys and comforts in it with which not even the foremost pleasures of the world are worthy of comparison, about Hell, too, we learn that its tortures are so terrible that the greatest sorrows and sufferings of the earthly existence bear no resemblance to them.

In fact, the image that is formed in our minds of the boons and blessings of Paradise or of the pain and punishment of Hell is most imperfect for the simple reason that all the words in our vocabulary have been coined simply for the things and experiences of the present world. Thus, when we say 'grape' or 'apple' our mind turns only to the grapes or apples we see or eat here. But how can we, from it, form an idea of the state and quality of the grapes or apples of Paradise which will be a thousand times more evolved than what we find on earth and have not seen as much as a sample of them in our lives. In the same way, from the words 'snake' and 'scorpion' we can only think of the snakes and scorpions of this world and not of Hell which will be immeasurably larger and more poisonous and of which we have not seen even a picture in this life.

In any event, it is just not possible to understand fully the state of things in Heaven and Hell in the present existence. It will be known only in the Hereafter that what we had heard or read about the supreme happiness of Heaven or the extreme pain and anguish of Hell was a most imperfect account of them.

Moreover, as we have said earlier, the description of Heaven and Hell contained in the Qur'an and the Traditions is not, at all, intended to import to us, in this world, the knowledge of what is going to happen in those places so that a complete picture of Paradise and Hell could emerge before our minds' eye. Its real object is that of Tabsheer [Glad Tidings] and Anzar [Warning] i.e., to persuade the bondsmen to tread the path of virtue and lead a life that was likely to take them to Heaven by producing in them an overpowering desire for Paradise and an anxious fear of Hell, and, for it, what has been revealed in the Qur'an and the Traditions in more than enough.

Now, to take up the Traditions.

(١٢٩/١٢٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ نَارُكُمْ جُزْءٌ مِنْ سَبْعِينَ جُزْأً مِنْ نَارِ جَهَنَّمَ قِيلَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِنْ كَانَتْ لَكَافِيَةً قَالَ فُضِّلَتْ عَلَيْهِنَ بِتِسْعَةٍ وَسِتِّينَ جُزْأً كُلُّهُنَّ مِثْلُ حَرِّهَا.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم واللفظ للبخارى)

(129/129) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The fire of this world of yours is the seventieth part of the Fire of Hell." He was asked, "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! Was the fire of the world not enough?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, "The Fire of Hell has been increased by sixty-nine degrees as compared with the fire of this world and the heat of each degree is equal to the heat of the fire on earth."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The temperature of various kinds of fire in the present world differs from each other, as for instance, the fire of wood possesses greater heat than the fire of straw, and the fire of coal possesses greater heat than the fire of wood. It has now become possible to measure the degrees of heat of the different types of fire, and, as such, it should not be difficult to realise the significance of this saying of the Prophet.

As we had the occasion to point out earlier, in the Arabic language the figure of seventy is often used, in such circumstances, to emphasise the excess or profusion of a thing. In this Tradition, too, it may have been mentioned in the same sense. In that case, the Tradition would mean that the Fire of Hell was much more fierce than the fire of this world. Allah knows best.

It, further, tells that when the Prophet ﷺ gave this description of the Fire of Hell, he was asked, "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! Was the world's fire not enough?" To it, he gave no other reply than to repeat, a little more candidly, what he had said earlier. Perhaps, he wanted to warn against asking such questions about the will and judgment of Allah; whatever he does is the right thing. Our endeavour should entirely be to do all we can to save ourselves from the Fire of Hell.

(١٣٠/١٣٠) عَنِ النُّعْمَانِ بْنِ بَشِيرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ أَهْوَنَ أَهْلِ النَّارِ عَذَابًا مَنْ لَهُ نَعْلَانِ وَشِرَاكَانِ مِنْ نَارٍ يَغْلِي مِنْهُمَا دِمَاغَهُ كَمَا يَغْلِي الْمِرْجُلُ مَا يَرَى أَنْ أَحَدًا أَشَدَّ مِنْهُ عَذَابًا وَإِنَّهُ لَا هُوَ نَهُمُ عَذَابًا.

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(130/130) It is related by Nu'man ibn Basheer that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The mildest punishment to be inflicted on a person in Hell is that he will be made to wear a pair of sandals made of fire which will be so hot as hot as to set his brain boiling as if something was cooking in a pot on a stove. He will not imagine that anyone was undergoing a more severe punishment [i.e., he will consider himself to be receiving the hardest punishment], though his punishment will, in truth, be the mildest in Hell."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(١٣١/١٣١) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُؤْتَى بِأَنعَمِ أَهْلِ الدُّنْيَا مِنْ أَهْلِ النَّارِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ فَيُصْبَغُ فِي النَّارِ صَبْغَةً ثُمَّ يُقَالُ يَا ابْنَ آدَمَ هَلْ رَأَيْتَ خَيْرًا قَطُّ هَلْ مَرَّبِكَ نَعِيمٌ قَطُّ؟ فَيَقُولُ لَا وَاللَّهِ يَا رَبِّ! وَيُؤْتَى بِأَشَدِّ

النَّاسِ بُؤْسًا فِي الدُّنْيَا مِنْ أَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ فَيُصْبَغُ صَبْعَةً فِي الْجَنَّةِ فَيَقَالُ لَهُ يَا بَنَ آدَمَ هَلْ رَأَيْتَ بُؤْسًا قَطُّ وَهَلْ مَرَّ بِكَ شِدَّةٌ قَطُّ؟ فَيَقُولُ لَا وَاللَّهِ يَا رَبِّ مَا مَرَّ بِي بُؤْسٌ قَطُّ وَلَا رَأَيْتُ شِدَّةً قَطُّ.

(رواه مسلم)

(131/131) Anas رضي الله عنه related to us that on the Day of Judgement a person will be brought from among the dwellers of Hell [i.e., from among those who will be destined to end up in Hell owing to their apostasy and polytheism or lewdness and depavity] who will have lived in greatest pomp and luxury in the world. He will be dipped once in the Fire of Hell [and, then, taken out of it immediately] and asked, "O Son of Aadam! Have you ever known comfort?" "No, Our Lord!" he will reply. "I swear by Thy Name that I have never known what comfort is." Afterwards, a person will be brought from among the dwellers of Paradise [i.e., from among them whom will be deserving of Paradise owing to their piety and devoutness] who will have led a life of utter pain and misery on earth. He will be dipped once in Heaven [i.e., he will be taken to Heaven and, then, led out of it immediately] and asked, "O Son of Aadam! Have you ever known misery?" "No, Our Lord!" he will reply. "I swear by Thy Name that I have never known what pain or misery is."

(Muslim)

Commentary: The chastisement of Hell is so severe that a moment of it will make one forget the joys and comforts of a lifetime and the blissfulness of Paradise is so wonderful that a moment of it will make one forget the pain and suffering of the whole duration of one's life.

(١٣٢/١٣٢) عَنْ سَمُرَةَ بْنِ جُنْدُبٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مِنْهُمْ مَنْ تَأْخُذُهُ النَّارُ إِلَى كَعْبِيهِ وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ تَأْخُذُهُ النَّارُ إِلَى رُكْبَتَيْهِ وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ تَأْخُذُهُ النَّارُ إِلَى حُجْرَتِهِ وَمِنْهُمْ مَنْ تَأْخُذُهُ النَّارُ إِلَى تَرَاقُوتِهِ.

(رواه مسلم)

(132/132) It is related by Samura ibn Jundub that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Among the people of Hell there will be some whom fire will seize up to the ankels, and there will be some whom fire will seize up to the thighs, and there will be some whom fire will seize up to the waist, and there will be some whom fire will seize up to the breast-bone."

(Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the state of everyone will not be the same in Hell. Punishment will vary according to one's sins and transgressions. O Allah protect us!

(١٣٣/١٣٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ الْحَارِثِ بْنِ جَزْرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ فِي النَّارِ حَيَّاتٍ كَأَمْثَالِ الْبُخْتِ تَلْسَعُ أَحَدًا هُنَّ اللَّسْعَةُ فَيَجِدُ حَمُوتَهَا أَرْبَعِينَ خَرِيفًا وَإِنَّ فِي النَّارِ عَقَارِبَ كَأَمْثَالِ الْبِغَالِ أَمْوُ كَفَّةٍ تَلْسَعُ أَحَدًا هُنَّ اللَّسْعَةُ فَيَجِدُ حَمُوتَهَا أَرْبَعِينَ خَرِيفًا. (رواه احمد)

(133/133) It is reported by Sayyidina Abdullah ibn al-Harith ibn Jazz that the Prophet ﷺ said: "There are snakes in Hell as big bodied as Bakht camels (which are bigger than normal camels). They are so poisonous that if one of them were to sting a dweller of Hell once then he would find the effect of poison for forty years (and be restless). There are scorpions in Hell who resemble saddled mules in their built. If one of them were to sting a dweller of Hell once then he will suffer pain from it for forty years. (Musnad Ahmad)

(134/134) It is related by Abu Sa'eed al-Khudri that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Ghassaq [i.e., the stinking pus that will come out from the wounds of the people of hell and about which it is said in the Qur'an that it shall be their food at the time of intense hunger] is such that if a bucket of it was thrown into the world, the whole world would be filled with its stench." (Tirmizi)

(١٣٥/١٣٥) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَرَأَ هَذِهِ الْآيَةَ "اتَّقُوا اللَّهَ حَقَّ تَقَاتِهِ وَلَا تَمُوتُنَّ إِلَّا وَأَنْتُمْ مُسْلِمُونَ" قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَوْ أَنَّ قَطْرَةً مِنَ الزُّقُومِ قَطَرَتْ فِي دَارِ الدُّنْيَا لَأَفْسَدَتْ عَلَى أَهْلِ الْأَرْضِ مَعَايِشَهُمْ فَكَيْفَ بِمَنْ يَكُونُ طَعَامُهُ. (رواه الترمذی)

(135/135) Abdullah ibn Abbas ؓ narrated that [once] the Prophet ﷺ recited the verse :

اتَّقُوا اللَّهَ حَقَّ تَقَاتِهِ وَلَا تَمُوتُنَّ إِلَّا وَأَنْتُمْ مُسْلِمُونَ

[O ye who believe! Fear Allah as He should be feared, and die not except in a state of Islam,]

[and in connection with the fear of Allah and His chastisement], he observed, "If a drop of Zaqqum [the infernal tree, mentioned in the Qur'an, the fruit of which those doomed to the eternal punishment of Hell shall eat] were to fall on the earth, it would be enough to pollute all the articles of food and drink found here. Now, imagine what will the condition be of those who shall eat it." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Zaqqum is so detestable and poisonous that if one drop were to fall on the earth then everything here would get its filth, bad-odour and poison. All our food will become rotten. What then of those who have to eat it!

(١٣٦/١٣٦) عَنْ أَنَسٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ ابْكُوا فَإِنْ لَمْ تَسْتَطِيعُوا فَبَاكُوا فَإِنَّ أَهْلَ النَّارِ يَبْكُونَ فِي النَّارِ حَتَّى تَسِيلَ دُمُوعُهُمْ فِي وُجُوهِهِمْ كَأَنَّهَا جَدَاوِلٌ حَتَّى تَنْقَطِعَ الدَّمُوعُ فَتَسِيلَ الدِّمَاءُ فَتَقْرَحَ الْعُيُونُ فَلَوْ أَنَّ سَفَنًا أُرْجِيَتْ فِيهَا لَجَرَتْ. (رواه البغوي في شرح السنه)

(136/136) It is reported by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: (in a sermon): O People! Weep much (fearing Allah and the punishment). If you cannot do that (weeping) then remember (the wrath of Allah and His punishment) and force the weeping condition on yourself making out as if you weep, for the denizens of hell will weep in Hell to such an extent that their tears will flow as if they were rivers till they are exhausted. Then blood will flow (instead of tears) causing wounds in the eyes (and the wounds will shed more blood and the blood and tears together will be so much that) boats may sail in them very well. (Sharah as Sunnah)

Commentary: There will be tremendous chastisement in Hell and eyes will exhaust tears and shed blood. This will wound the eyes. To prevent this from happening, we must grow fear of Allah and weep. A Hadith tells us: لَا يَلِجُ النَّارَ مَنْ بَلَى مِنْ خَشْيَةِ اللَّهِ حَتَّى يَعُودَ اللَّبَنُ فِي الضَّرْعِ (He who weeps for fear of Allah will never go to Hell).¹ To weep for fear of Allah or make, as though one weeps is to attract the mercy of Allah and protect oneself from Hell.

1. Tirmizi, Nasa'i as narrated by Abu Hurayrah عنه رضى الله عنه.

(١٣٧/١٣٧) عَنِ النُّعْمَانِ بْنِ بَشِيرٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ أَنْذَرْتُكُمْ النَّارَ أَنْذَرْتُكُمْ النَّارَ فَمَا زَالَ يَقُولُهَا حَتَّى لَوْ قَامَ فِي مَقَامِي هَذَا سَمِعَهُ أَهْلُ السُّوقِ وَحَتَّى سَقَطَتْ خِمِيصَةٌ كَانَتْ عَلَيْهِ عِنْدَ رِجْلَيْهِ.

(137/137) Nu'man ibn Basheer رضي الله عنه related "I heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say [in one of his sermons], 'I have given you the warning of the Fire of Hell. I have admonished you against the chastisement of Hell.' He said the same thing over and over again. He was saying it so loudly that had he been standing where I am now, his voice would have been heard by the people in the market, and [at that time he was lost in his thoughts so completely] that the blanket he was wearing round his shoulders dropped [on the ground] near his feet." (Daarami)

Commentary: Sometimes the Prophet ﷺ was lost in a condition which the Companions رضي الله عنهم tried to describe when the narrating the Ahadith. So, Sayyidina Nu'man ibn Basheer رضي الله عنه tried to do the same thing. The Prophet ﷺ wished to warn people of Hell and he himself was deeply moved by that.

An Important Warning In Respect Heaven And Hell

(١٣٨/١٣٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حُقِّتِ النَّارُ بِالشَّهَوَاتِ وَحُقِّتِ الْجَنَّةُ بِالْمَكَارِهِ.

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(138/138) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Hell has been surrounded with ease and luxuriousness, and Heaven has been surrounded with toil and suffering." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Generally, sins, i.e., deeds that are to be expected to lead one to Hell are a source of sensuous enjoyment, while duties i.e., deeds that make one deserving of admission to Paradise come hard on the flesh. Thus, the ultimate destination of the bondsman who will yield to his inordinate appetites and perform evil deeds shall be in Hell while the bondsman who will observe the commands of Allah and remain faithful to Him shall make his abode in Heaven.

(١٣٩/١٣٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَمَّا خَلَقَ اللَّهُ الْجَنَّةَ قَالَ لِجِبْرِئِيلَ اذْهَبْ فَانْظُرْ إِلَيْهَا فَذَهَبَ فَانْظَرَ إِلَيْهَا وَآلَى مَا أَعَدَّ اللَّهُ لِأَهْلِهَا فِيهَا ثُمَّ جَاءَ فَقَالَ أَمْرٌ رَبِّ وَعِزَّتِكَ لَا يَسْمَعُ بِهَا أَحَدٌ إِلَّا دَخَلَهَا ثُمَّ حَفَّهَا بِالْمَكَارِهِ ثُمَّ قَالَ لِجِبْرِئِيلَ اذْهَبْ فَانْظُرْ إِلَيْهَا قَالَ فَذَهَبَ فَانْظَرَ إِلَيْهَا ثُمَّ جَاءَ فَقَالَ، أَمْرٌ رَبِّ وَعِزَّتِكَ لَقَدْ خَشِيتُ أَنْ لَا يَدْخُلَهَا أَحَدٌ قَالَ فَلَمَّا خَلَقَ اللَّهُ النَّارَ قَالَ يَا جِبْرِئِيلُ اذْهَبْ فَانْظُرْ إِلَيْهَا قَالَ فَذَهَبَ فَانْظَرَ إِلَيْهَا ثُمَّ جَاءَ فَقَالَ، أَمْرٌ رَبِّ وَعِزَّتِكَ لَا يَسْمَعُ بِهَا أَحَدٌ فَيَدْخُلُهَا فَحَفَّهَا بِالشَّهَوَاتِ ثُمَّ قَالَ يَا جِبْرِئِيلُ اذْهَبْ فَانْظُرْ إِلَيْهَا قَالَ فَذَهَبَ فَانْظَرَ إِلَيْهَا فَقَالَ، أَمْرٌ رَبِّ وَعِزَّتِكَ لَقَدْ خَشِيتُ أَنْ لَا يَبْقَى أَحَدٌ إِلَّا دَخَلَهَا. (رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد و النسائی)

(139/139) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Prophet ﷺ said: "When Allah created Heaven, He told Jibreel go and see it [as to how He had made Paradise with its astounding boons and comforts]. Jibreel thus, went and saw Heaven and the wonderful things Allah had provided in it. On return, he exclaimed, 'O Lord! By Thy Glory and Thy Magnificence, [Thou hast made Heaven so beautiful and got ready such blessings in it that I am sure that] anyone who hears about it will attain it [i.e., he will be fired with the desire to live there permanently and will gain his objective by performing the good deeds that are needed to go to Heaven and avoiding the evil things]' Allah, then; surrounded Heaven with toil and hardship [i.e., He enclosed it on all sides with the injunctions of the Shari'ah to observe which calls for a great deal of self-denial and earnest endeavour], and, once again, told Jibreel عليه السلام to go and see Heaven [with the new barricade built around it]. So, once more, he went and saw Paradise, and, on his return, he exclaimed, 'Our Lord! By the Glory and Thy Magnificence, now I fear that no one will be able to attain it [i.e., the condition of the observance of the laws of the Shari'ah Thou hast prescribed is so very hard that, perhaps, no one will be in a position to fulfil it]'. Again, when Allah created Hell, He told Jibreel عليه السلام to go and see it [and the various forms of punishments He had put together there]. Thus, he went and saw it, and, on coming back, he said, 'O Lord! By Thy Glory and Thy Magnificence, [Thou hast made Hell such an infernal place that] whoever hears about it will never enter it [i. e., he will strictly refrain from acts that are likely to take him to Hell. Allah then, surrounded Hell with material comforts and bodily enjoyment and told Jibreel عليه السلام again, to go and see it. So, once more, he went and saw Hell [and the ring of sensual pleasures that had been put round it]. On return, he exclaimed, 'O Lord! By Thy Glory and Thy Magnificence, now I fear that everyone will make his home in it [i.e., the pleasure with which Thou hast encompassed Hell hold such an attraction for man, with all his animal desires and propensities, that, perhaps, everyone will yield to them and end up in the bottomless pit]."

(Tirmizi, Abu Dawood and Nasa'i)

Commentary: The special lesson the above Tradition carries is that the sequel of gratifying one's inclinations and desires [which, apparently, is so pleasing] is the fearful chastisement of Hell, a moment of which will make one forget the joys and comforts of a lifetime, while the end of a life, of loyalty and submission to Divine injunctions [which seems so hard and cheerless to our carnal selves] is Paradise, the home of perfect felicity and eternal bliss.

(١٤٠/١٤٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا رَأَيْتُ مِثْلَ النَّارِ نَامَ هَا رَبُّهَا وَلَا مِثْلَ الْجَنَّةِ نَامَ طَالِبُهَا. (رواه الترمذی)

(140/140) It is related by Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I have not seen a fearful calamity like Hell that the one running away from it may have fallen asleep, and I have not seen an attractive thing like Heaven that the one desiring it may have slept." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: It is natural for man that when he runs to save his life from an evil thing like a ferocious beast or a pursuing enemy, he keeps running and does not think of rest or sleep till he has attained safety. Similarly, when a person strives as eagerly for a desirable object he forgets about rest and sleep till he has succeeded in his aim. But towards Heaven and Hell our attitude is hard to explain. There is no more alluring thing than Heaven, but instead of trying our outmost to attain it, we are inclined to be negligent while there is no more detestable thing than Hell yet those who should be feeling from it are fast asleep.

KITABUR RIQAQ

THE BOOK OF SOFT-HEARTEDNESS

قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

نَضَرَ اللَّهُ عَبْدًا سَمِعَ مَقَالَتِي فَحَفِظَهَا وَوَعَاهَا وَأَدَّاهَا قُرْبَ حَامِلٍ فَقِهِ غَيْرِ فَقِيهِ

وَرُبَّ حَامِلٍ فَقِهِ إِلَى مَنْ هُوَ أَفْقَهُ مِنْهُ (رواه الترمذی و ابوداؤد عن زید بن ثابت)

In the Name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful

In the compilations of the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ just as there occur titles like Kitab-ul-Iman [The book of Faith], Kitabus salah [The Book of Prayer], Kitabuz Zakah [The Book of Poor Due], Kitabun Nikah [The Book of Marriage], and Kitabul Bai [The Book of Buying and Selling], under which the Traditions appertaining to these subjects are arranged, so also do we find a subject-heading called, Kitabur Riqaq [The Book of Soft-Heartedness], which includes the sayings that possess the quality of melting the hearts, relaxing the hold of wordly attachments, promoting the solicitude for the Hereafter and arousing those who read or listen to them to make the seeking of the countenance of the Lord and the felicity of Hereafter the high aim and purpose of their lives. Besides, the uplifting and heart-warming sermons and exhortations of the sacred Prophet ﷺ, too, are collected together under this heading.

In the entire collection of the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ, the most effective and capable of changing the whole course of life is the part that is known commonly as Kitabur Riqaq. Its importance, in many ways, is singular. It can be said to form the basis of true Islamic Tasawwuf [Mysticism].

We begin the present part of our sludly with the Traditions through which the Prophet ﷺ has sought to instil the fear of Allah and earnest anxiety for the Hereafter or stressed their intrinsic worth and significance in any other way.

May Allah cause some of the effects of these sayings, that moulded the hearts of those who first listened to them, to mould our hearts too. Ameen!

Fear of Allah and Anxiety for The Hereafter

After belief, the fear of Allah and anxiety for the Hereafter play the most vital role in the improvement of the moral and spiritual quality of life and its evolution to the stage of salvation. The Prophet ﷺ, therefore, made a special effort to produce and develop the two attributes among his followers. Sometimes, he spoke of the advantages flowing out of fear and anxiety, and, sometimes, of the Omnipotence of Allah, of His Anger, and of such dreadful happenings of the Last Day the thought of which tended to promote these sentiments. The Tradition related by the well-known Companion Khanzalah Ibn-al-Rabi', which we are going to discuss a few pages later, shows that it formed, as if one would say, the main subject of conversation in the company of the Prophet ﷺ when the Companions ﷺ sat with him and listened to his remarks and revelations about the Day of Final Judgement and Heaven and Hell, they felt as if they were actually seeing them.

If the Invisible World Was Made Known to Us

(١٤١/١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ أَبُو الْقَاسِمِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَالَّذِي نَفْسِي

بِيَدِهِ لَوْ تَعْلَمُونَ مَا أَعْلَمُ لَبَكَيْتُمْ كَثِيرًا وَلَضَحِكْتُمْ قَلِيلًا (رواه البخارى)

(141/1) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ﷺ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "By Him Who has my life in His Hands, if you knew what is known to me [about the Anger of the Lord and the terrible events of the Last Day and the Hereafter] you would laugh less and weep more." (Bukhari)

Commentary: If all that was revealed to the Prophet ﷺ about the Lord's supreme indifference to everything, and His Anger and Almightyness and frightful happenings of the Last Day and Futurity came fully to our knowledge and our eyes could see what was visible to him and ears could hear what was audible to him, our peace of mind would be destroyed so completely that we would grieve much and rejoice little.

(رواه احمد والترمذى وابن ماجه)

(142/2) It is related by Abu Zarr Ghifari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I see the things of the invisible world you do not see and hear the sounds [of the invisible world] you do not hear. The sky is shaking and it is appropriate that it shakes. By the Glorious One is whose power is my life! There is not even a space of four fingers in the heavens where an angel is not prostrating himself before the Almighty, with his forehead touching the ground. If you knew the things that are known to me, you would laugh little and weep much, and could not enjoy the bed with your spouses, and would go out into forests and deserts groaning and crying out to the Lord". [After relating it] Abu Zarr said to us: "I wish I were a tree that was cut down".

(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmidhi and ibn-i-Majah)

Commentry: As we have seen earlier, in connection with Traditions pertaining to Faith, the chief task and mission of the Prophet ﷺ is to communicate to the bondsmen the truths that the duty of his followers is to believe in those truths and observe those commands as the fundamental principles of their lives. The range of the sources of knowledge, like the intellect and senses. What Allah has granted to mankind is limited to the visible world. They do not go far enough to uncover the realities of the other [the invisible] worlds. The only way for us to know and understand the transcendental truths, therefore, is to rely on and accept as authentic what the Divine Messengers see, hear or tell. This is Faith in a nutshell.

In this Tradition the Prophet ﷺ has made the awe-inspiring revelation about the other world that the sky is shaking with the Power and Splendour of the Lord and with the abundance of the angels. There is hardly any space in it where an angel may not be prostrating himself in reverence and humility. He has, further, emphasised that if we became aware of what was known to him, we would not be able to live happily in this world and enjoy its comforts but abandon our homes and roam about in wilderness, wailing and beseeching the Lord for mercy.

The narrator, Abu Zarr, was so deeply moved by the report that while relating it he would often burst out: "I Wish to Allah that I was a tree which was cut down from the roots so that I was not presented to the Lord for the Great Reckoning".

Since man has been created to function as the Vicegerent of Allah on earth and he can discharge his duty properly only when he enjoys peace of mind in the world, the truth have not been revealed to him which would have ruined his composure and tranquillity. For example, if the punishment of the grave and Hell was made known to us and we could see all the events of the Hereafter with our own eyes, we could not attend to the daily needs or even manage to live. But as the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ was raised up for the fulfilment of a special mission, it was essential that these realities were revealed to him to a certain extent so that he could attain the certitude and assurance that was needed for his lofty work and position. Thus, certain truth beyond the sphere of human experience were made known to him, and, with it, Divine Providence ordained for his heart an extraordinary strength that enabled him to carry out the tremendous responsibilities of Messengership in a fitting manner and lead a balanced life that could serve as a model to mankind at all times.

(١٤٣/٣) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ قَالَ خَرَجَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِمَصَلَاةٍ فَرَأَى
النَّاسَ كَأَنَّهُمْ يَكْتَشِرُونَ قَالَ أَمَا إِنَّكُمْ لَوِ اكْتَرْتُمْ ذِكْرَهَا ذِمَّ اللَّذَاتِ لَشَغَلَكُمْ
عَمَّا أَرَى الْمَوْتَ فَاكْثِرُوا ذِكْرَهَا ذِمَّ اللَّذَاتِ الْمَوْتِ فَإِنَّهُ لَمْ يَأْتِ عَلَى الْقَبْرِ
يَوْمَ إِلَّا تَكَلَّمَ فَيَقُولُ أَنَا بَيْتُ الْغُرْبَةِ وَأَنَا بَيْتُ الْوَحْدَةِ وَأَنَا بَيْتُ التُّرَابِ وَأَنَا
بَيْتُ الدُّودِ وَإِذَا دُفِنَ الْعَبْدُ الْمُؤْمِنُ قَالَ لَهُ الْقَبْرُ مَرْحَبًا وَأَهْلًا أَمَا إِنْ كُنْتُ
لَا حَبَّ مَنْ يُمَشِي عَلَى ظَهْرِي إِلَى فَإِذَا وَلِيْتُكَ الْيَوْمَ وَصِرْتُ إِلَيَّ فَسْتَرَى
صَنِيعِي بِكَ قَالَ فَيَتَسَّعُ لَهُ مَدْبَصَرُهُ وَيُفْتَحُ لَهُ بَابُ الْجَنَّةِ وَإِذَا دُفِنَ الْعَبْدُ

الْفَاجِرُ أَوِ الْكَافِرُ قَالَ لَهُ الْقَبْرُ لَا مَرْحَبًا وَلَا أَهْلًا أَمَا إِنْ كُنْتَ لَا بُعْضَ مَنْ يَمْشِي
عَلَى ظَهْرِي إِلَى فَإِذَا وَلَيْتِكَ الْيَوْمَ وَصِرْتُ إِلَى فَسْتَرَى صَنِيعِي بِكَ قَالَ
فِيَلَيْتُمْ عَلَيْهِ حَتَّى تَخْتَلِفَ أَضْلَاعُهُ قَالَ وَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
بِأَصَابِعِهِ فَأَدْخَلَ بَعْضَهَا فِي جَوْفِ بَعْضٍ قَالَ وَيَقِئُضُ لَهُ سَبْعُونَ تَيْنِيًا لَوْ أَنَّ
وَاحِدًا مِنْهَا نَفَخَ فِي الْأَرْضِ مَا أَتَبَتْ شَيْئًا مَا بَقِيَتْ الدُّنْيَا فَيَنْهَسُنَّ وَيَخْدُسُنَّ
حَتَّى يُفْضِي بِهِ إِلَى الْحِسَابِ قَالَ وَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّمَا
الْقَبْرُ رَوْضَةٌ مِنْ رِيَاضِ الْجَنَّةِ أَوْ حُفْرَةٌ مِنْ حُفْرِ النَّارِ. (رواه الترمذی)

(143/3) Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضی اللہ عنہ has said that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ came out for prayers one day, he found people enjoying a laugh among themselves (in the mosque). He said, 'If you were to keep much in remembrance of death which is the cutter-off of pleasures, it would distract you from what I see. Keep in remembrance death which is the cutter-off of pleasures, for a day does not come to the grave without it saying. 'I am the house of exile, I am the house of solitude, I am the house of dust, I am the house of warms.' (Obviously, only he can hear whom Allah causes to hear). When a believer dies the grave says to him, "Welcome and greeting; you are indeed the dearest to me of those who walk upon me, I have been given charge of you today and you have come to me and you will see how I treat you. It will then expand for him as far as a door to Paradise will be opened for him. But, when a very wicked evil-doing person or a disbeliever is buried, the grave says to him, 'No welcome and no greeting to you; you are the most hateful to me of those who walk upon me. I have been given charge of you today and you have come to me and you will see how I treat you". It will then press on him till his ribs are crushed together". The Messenger of Allah ﷺ indicated that by interlacing his fingers. Then, he added, "Seventy dragons will be put in charge of him of such a nature that if one of them was to breathe on earth it would produce no crops as long as the world endured, and they will bite and scratch him till he is brought to the reckoning." The Messenger of Allah ﷺ also said, "The grave is one of the gardens of Paradise or one of the pits of Hell."

Commentary: The punishment of the grave has been described in detail in the Book of Faith and explained enough to dispel doubts and answer questions. We have made it clear there that the use of the word grave implied the Barzakh, the intervening period between death and resurrection. We have also made it amply clear that the use of the word 'seventy' or any other figure of number merely conveys largeness or plentiful. The point to understand here is that we must not neglect Allah or the reckoning the hereafter. We must fight negligence by continually remembering death and the grave. This method is a sure way of correcting oneself. The Prophet ﷺ had prescribed this method to his Companions رضي الله عنهم and they had created through it taqwa, fear of Allah, and thought of the hereafter. Even today we find these characteristics in those slaves of Allah themselves who continually remember death and the grave.

May Allah cause us to act accordingly. Aameen.

Remember Death Much To Keep Negligence Away

(١٤٤/٤) عَنْ أَبِي بِنِ كَعْبٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا ذَهَبَ ثُلَاثَ اللَّيْلِ قَامَ فَقَالَ يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ اذْكُرُوا اللَّهَ اذْكُرُوا اللَّهَ جَاءَتِ الرَّاجِفَةُ تَتَّبِعُهَا الرَّادِفَةُ جَاءَ الْمَوْتُ بِمَا فِيهِ جَاءَ الْمَوْتُ بِمَا فِيهِ (رواه الترمذی)

(144/4) Ubayy bin Ka'b related to us "When two-third of the night had passed, the Prophet ﷺ would get up and say, 'O people, remember Allah! Remember Allah! The convulsion of the Last Day [i.e., the first blast of the Trumpet] is near and closely following it is the second [blast]. Death, with all the things that go with it, is hovering over the head! Death, with all the attendant details, is about to strike." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: According to the Traditions, the usual practice of the holy Prophet ﷺ was to divide his nights into three parts. The first part was spent in attending to his special needs and occupations and in offering up the Isha¹ prayers, during the second part he slept, and then, he would get up for Tahajjud², and when the final third of the night began, he wanted to wake up, as related

①. The late-evening prayers.

②. The special prayers said during the later half of the night.

by Ubayy in the above Tradition, the members of his household and the general body of the Believers for prayers and Zikr¹. In order to drive away drowsiness and lethargy, he used to remind them, at that time, of the terrifying events of the Last Day and the extreme agony of death which is an unfailing recipe for stirring up people from negligence and slothfulness to the veneration and remembrance of Allah. Even today, it is most effective for anyone who may be finding it hard to leave the bed for Tahajjud to call to his mind the sufferings of death and of the grave and the Day of Final Reckoning.

Fear And Anxiety

(١٤٥/٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ خَافَ
أَذْلَجَ وَمَنْ أَذْلَجَ بَلَغَ الْمَنْزِلَ إِلَّا إِنَّ سِلْعَةَ اللَّهِ غَالِيَةً إِلَّا إِنَّ سِلْعَةَ اللَّهِ الْجَنَّةَ

(رواه الترمذی)

(145/5) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "He who has fear sets out at the beginning of the night and he who sets out at the beginning of the night reaches the destination safely. Remember, the bargain of the Lord is not cheap, but extremely dear. Remember, the bargain of Lord is Paradise". (Tirmidhi)

Commentary: In Arabia, the caravans, generally, started in the last part of the night and, therefore, the highwaymen too, made their raids during the early hours of the morning. The travellers who were careful, however, preferred to begin their journey in the earlier part of the night so that they reached the destination without being attacked by the robbers. The Prophet ﷺ accordingly, says that just as prudent travellers forgo the night's sleep and start on the journey soon after dusk, those who are keen to attain Paradise should, also, proceed energetically towards the goal and be ready to suppress their desires and give up comforts for the sake of it. He, further, emphasises that what the bondsman is looking forward to obtain from the Lord is not a thing of a poor quality that can be given away without a price but haven, the abode of celestial bliss, which no one can hope to gain without making a sacrifice of the most valued things like life, property and carnal appetites. Says the Qur'an:

إِنَّ اللَّهَ اشْتَرَى مِنَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ أَنْفُسَهُمْ وَأَمْوَالَهُمْ بِأَنْ لَهُمُ الْجَنَّةُ (التوبة 9:111)

Lo! Allah hath bought from the believers their lives and their wealth because the Garden will be theirs. [At Tawbah 9:111]

That is, Garden (Paradise) is the commodity whose price is life and property of the buyer.

Wise And Farsighted

(١٤٦/٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ رَجُلٌ يَا نَبِيَّ اللَّهِ مَنْ أَكْيَسُ النَّاسِ وَأَحْزَمُ

النَّاسِ قَالَ أَكْثَرُهُمْ ذِكْرًا لِلْمَوْتِ وَأَكْثَرُهُمْ إِسْتِعْدَادًا أُولَئِكَ الْأَكْيَاسُ ذَهَبُوا

بِشَرَفِ الدُّنْيَا وَكَرَامَةِ الْآخِرَةِ. (رواه الطبراني في المعجم الصغير)

(146/6) Abdullah Ibn Umar narrates that once a person said to the Prophet ﷺ, "O Messenger of Allah! Tell me who is the wisest and most farsighted of men." The Prophet ﷺ replied, "He who remembers death much and makes the greatest preparation for it. They alone are wise and prudent who are like that. They earn respect in this world as well as glory in the Hereafter."

(Tabrani)

Commentary: When real life is the life of the Hereafter it is parent that the wisest and most farsighted among the bondsmen are those who keep death permanently in the mind and prepare earnestly for it. On the contrary, they, surely, are the greatest fools who know that death is certain and, yet, make no preparations for it and remain engrossed in worldly pleasures.

(١٤٧/٧) عَنْ شَدَّادِ بْنِ أَوْسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

الْكَيْسُ مَنْ دَانَ نَفْسَهُ وَعَمِلَ لِمَا بَعْدَ الْمَوْتِ وَالْعَاجِزُ مَنْ اتَّبَعَ نَفْسَهُ هَوَاهَا

وَتَمَنَّى عَلَى اللَّهِ (رواه الترمذی وابن ماجه)

(147/7) Shaddad Ibn Aws related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The wise and the strong is he who keeps his inordinate appetites under control and strives for life after death [i.e., for deliverance and felicity in the Hereafter], and the foolish and the weak is he who subordinates himself to sensual pleasures [i.e., follows the biddings of the flesh instead of the commands of Allah], and hopes [for the best] from the Lord".

Commentry: In our world, he is considered to be clever who makes a lot of money and is in a position to do whatever he likes, while a person who fails in these objectives is looked down upon as weak and foolish. With the men of the world who believe the earthly existence to be everything, it has to be so. But in this Tradition the Prophet ﷺ tells that the real life is not of the present world which, in any case, is transitory, but of the Hereafter which is everlasting. Success in the life to come is for them alone who remain loyal and obedient to Allah during their stay on earth. Hence, the truly wise and successful bondsmen are those who hold themselves in readiness for the life to follow and make their carnal selves subordinate to the Divine Will. On the other hand, they are lacking in the wisdom and doomed to punishment who have made themselves slaves of their worldly desires and ambitions and instead of observing the laws and ordinances of Allah, follow their own whims and inclinations, and still cherish in their hearts the expectation of a happy sequel in the Hereafter. However clever they may be in worldly affairs, people who indulge freely in sensual pleasures and make no preparation for the after-life are a miserable lot, imprudent, unwise and unblessed.

A special warning has been administered in this Tradition to those who care nothing in the practical life for what awaits on the other side of death and give a free rein to their desires and earthly propensities, and yet rely upon Allah's Benevolence and Forgiveness and when anyone admonishes them they say that the Mercy of the Lord is boundless. Such people are sadly mistaken and are bound to be disillusioned in the end. The hope of compassion and kindness from the Almighty is commendable when it is supported by action otherwise it is nothing but Satanic deception.

With Hearts Afraid

(١٤٨/٨) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ سَأَلْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ هَذِهِ

الْأَيَّةِ وَالَّذِينَ يُؤْتُونَ مَا آتَوْا وَقُلُوبُهُمْ وَجِلَةٌ أَنَّهُمُ الَّذِينَ يَشْرَبُونَ الخَمْرَ
وَيَسْرِفُونَ؟ قَالَ لَا يَا ابْنَةَ الصِّدِّيقِ وَلَكِنَّهُمْ الَّذِينَ يَصُومُونَ وَيُصَلُّونَ
وَيَتَصَدَّقُونَ وَهُمْ يَخَافُونَ أَنْ لَا يَقْبَلَ مِنْهُمْ أُولَئِكَ الَّذِينَ يُسَارِعُونَ فِي
الْخَيْرَاتِ. (رواه الترمذی وابن ماجه)

(148/8) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that once she enquired from the Prophet ﷺ about the Qur'anic verse,

وَالَّذِينَ يُؤْتُونَ مَا آتَوْا وَقُلُوبُهُمْ وَجِلَةٌ (المؤمنون ٢٣:٦٠)

And those who give that which they give with hearts afraid,

(Al Mu'minoon 23:60)

whether it referred to people who drank wine and committed theft. "No", the Prophet ﷺ replied, "O daughter of Siddique [The truthful one]! [It indicates] the Allah-fearing men who observe fasting, offer regular prayers and give alms, and pay the poor-due, and, even then, fear that their deeds of worship may not find acceptance [with Allah]. These are the men who hasten towards good-doing."

(Tirmidhi and Ibn-i-Majah)

Commentary: In verses 57-60 of surah Mominoon, a few qualities are described of the bondmen who move with haste towards good and virtuous things, and one of the distinguishing traits that have been set forth, in this context, is that they are those who give that which they give with hearts afraid. It was about this verse that Sayyidah Aysha رضى الله عنها had enquired from the Prophet ﷺ. She wanted to know whether it was with regard to men who fell into error but were not impudent, and, in spite of sinfulness, there was the fear of Allah in their hearts. The Prophet ﷺ replied that the verse did not refer to them but to such people who were devout and Allah-fearing and observed the duties of prayer, fasting and charity regularly and yet felt uneasy about the outcome of their acts. After alluding to this attribute of the right-minded men, the Qur'an tells that it is they:

أُولَئِكَ يُسَارِعُونَ فِي الْخَيْرَاتِ وَهُمْ لَهَا سَابِقُونَ (المؤمنون ٢٣:٦١)

Who race for the good things and they shall win them in the race.

By reciting the last of these verses, too, in the course of his reply to Sayyidah Aysha رضى الله عنها the Prophet ﷺ has emphasised that this very fear and anxiety shall lead to the success and felicity of the Hereafter.

It also tells that the Power, Glory and Anger of the Lord and His absolute freedom from standing in need of anyone or anything are worthy of being feared to the extent that one should not feel satisfied after performing even the highest act of virtue and worship but remain apprehensive of one's deed being rejected by Allah due to some fault or imperfection. The more this fear will be present in the heart, the more will the progress be made towards goodness and deliverance.

On the Day of Judgement Every Worshipper will Regard His Deeds As Insignificant

(١٤٩/٩) عَنْ عُتْبَةَ بْنِ عُبَيْدٍ رَفَعَهُ لَوْ أَنَّ رَجُلًا يَخِرُّ عَلَى وَجْهِهِ مِنْ يَوْمٍ وَلَدَ إِلَى يَوْمٍ يَمُوتُ فِي مَرْضَاةِ اللَّهِ لَحَقَرَهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ. (رواه احمد)

(149/9) Utbah Ibn Ubayd related that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "If a person lies continually in prostration, from the day of his birth to the day of his death, seeking the countenance of the Lord, on the day of Judgement He will consider this deed of his as worthless." (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: When on the Day of Resurrection the scales will fall from the eyes and scenes of Reward and Punishment become manifest, the faithful bondsmen who will have spent most of their lives in prayer and adoration will feel that they had done nothing of note so much so that if any one had remained in prostration from the day of his birth to the day of his death, he, too, will consider his deed to be of no value.

Minor Sins

(١٥٠/١٠) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ يَا عَائِشَةُ أَيَّاكِ وَمَحَقَّرَاتِ الذُّنُوبِ فَإِنَّ لَهَا مِنَ اللَّهِ طَلِبًا. (رواه ابن ماجه والدارمي والبيهقى فى شعب الايمان)

(150/10) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to her: "O Ayshah! Take special care to guard your self against sins that are regarded minor for even these will be brought to account by Allah."

(Ibn Majah and Baihaqi)

Commentary: Those who believe in the Hereafter and are heedful of the Judgement Day, generally, abstain from the major sins but where the minor sins are concerned even the devout and the Allah-fearing among them are inclined to be indifferent, though these also constitute the violation of a Allah-given rule and we shall have to answer for them on the Last Day. We should, therefore, be on our guard against what may seem to be insignificant offences as well. In this Tradition, the Prophet has given the same advice to Sayyadah Ayshah رضى الله عنها, and though it is addressed directly to her, it applies to all Muslim men and women. When the Prophet's ﷺ own family is required to be careful in this respect, ordinary Muslims like ourselves cannot, obviously, afford to be negligent. Granting that the minor transgressions are unimportant, as compared to the major ones, it is not that these do not invite the displeasure of the Lord and can be ignored as trivial. The difference between them is the same as between a less poisonous and a more poisonous snake.

Fear and Hope

(رواه الترمذی)

(151/11) Anas رضى الله عنه narrates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ once visited a young man who was at death's door. The Prophet ﷺ asked him, "In what state do you find yourself now?" The young man replied, "O Messenger of Allah! I am hopeful of Divine Mercy, but, at the same time, there is the fear of punishment for the sins [I have committed]." The Prophet ﷺ remarked, "Believe it, in whose heart the two feelings of hope and fear are present at the time of death, Allah will, surely, grant him what he confidently expects from His Mercy and keep him safe from the punishment he fears in his heart."
(Tirmidhi)

Commentary: Surely, in fear of Allah and His chastisement lies our salvation.

Whoever Has Felt the Fear of Allah Will be Slaved From Hell

(١٥٢/١٢) عَنْ أَنَسٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ يَقُولُ اللَّهُ جَلَّ ذِكْرُهُ أَخْرِجُوا مِنَ النَّارِ مَنْ ذَكَرَنِي يَوْمًا أَوْ خَافَنِي فِي مَقَامٍ.

(رواه الترمذى والبيهقى فى كتاب البعث والنشور)

(152/12) Anas رضي الله عنه relates from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ that he said: "On the Day of Judgement Allah will command [the angels stationed at Hell] that whoever may have remembered Him at any time, or feared Him on any occasion, should be taken out of Hell."

(Tirmidhi and Baihaqi)

Commentary: We have stressed in the Book of Faith that it is incontrovertible from the point of view of the Qur'an and Sunnah that anyone who dies in a state of apostasy or polytheism will live permanently in Hell and no act of his will be deemed worthy of securing his release from it. The above Tradition, accordingly, denotes that whoever departs from this world in such a condition that he is not an apostate or a polytheist but has committed a great many sins and made no provision for the Hereafter except that he has remembered Allah at any time, or feared Him on any occasion, will be cast into Hell on the Judgement Day to undergo the punishment for his misdeeds but, after some time, he will be taken out of it because of the Divine fear and remembrance of Allah. But Allah knows best.

Auspiciousness of Tears

(١٥٣/١٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ عَبْدٍ مُؤْمِنٍ يَخْرُجُ مِنْ عَيْنَيْهِ دُمُوعٌ وَإِنْ كَانَ مِثْلَ رَأْسِ الدُّبَابِ مِنْ خَشْيَةِ اللَّهِ ثُمَّ يُصِيبُ شَيْئًا مِنْ حُرُوجِهِ إِلَّا حَرَّمَهُ اللَّهُ عَلَى النَّارِ. (رواه ابن ماجه)

(153/13) It is related by Abdullah Ibn Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The tears that fall from the eyes of a truthful Believer, out of the fear of the Lord, and, then, roll down his face, however little they are, even of the size of the head of a fly [i.e. just one drop], shall prevent the Fire of Hell from [touching] his face." (Ibn-e-Maja)

Commentary: It shows that the face that gets wet, at any time, with tears shed in response to the fear of the Lord will remain protected from the Fire of Hell.

As we have explained earlier, when the happy tiding of protection against the Fire of Hell are given in a Tradition, as a result of performing a virtuous deed, it, generally, means that it is the characteristic attribute of that deed, and Allah will keep him safe from the infernal Fire who will carry it out provided that he is not guilty of a mortal sin which calls for the punishment of Fire, or if he has ever committed a sin entailing damnation, he has offered sincere repentance for it and resolved not to do it again. It must not be taken for an attempt at explaining away a difficulty but even in our common parlance such a condition is supposed to be implied with a promise or assurance of that kind.

(١٥٤/١٤) عَنِ الْعَبَّاسِ رَفَعَهُ إِذَا قَشَعَرَّ جِلْدُ الْعَبْدِ مِنْ خَشْيَةِ اللَّهِ تَحَاتَّتْ عَنْهُ

خَطَايَاهُ كَمَا تَحَاتُّ عَنِ الشَّجَرَةِ الْبَالِيَةِ وَرَقُهَا. (رواه البزار)

(145/14) Sayyidina Abbas رضي الله عنه related to us from Messenger of Allah ﷺ "When the hair of a bondsman stand on ends owing to the fear of the Lord, his sins fall away like leaves from an old and sapless tree." (Bazar)

Commentary: Fear and anxiety are felt in the heart but the human nervous system is such that our emotions make themselves manifest through the body as well. Thus, when we are happy our face reacts to it, and, often, we laugh or smile, and when we are afflicted with sorrow our face also reflects it, and, sometimes, we weep. In the same way, the sensation of fear in the heart makes our hair stand on ends. Like the preceding Tradition in which the glad tidings of protection from the Fire of Hell were given to the Believers who wept out of the fear of the Lord, the above saying, as related by Sayyidina Abbas رضي الله عنه tells that when the hair of a Believer stand on ends owing to the fear of Allah his sins fall away like the leaves of a withered tree in the autumn.

A Parable

(١٥٥/١٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَسْرَفَ رَجُلٌ عَلَى نَفْسِهِ فَلَمَّا حَضَرَهُ الْمَوْتُ أَوْصَى بَنِيهِ إِذَا مَاتَ فَحَرِّقُوهُ ثُمَّ اذْرَوْا نِصْفَهُ فِي الْبَرِّ وَنِصْفَهُ فِي الْبَحْرِ فَوَاللَّهِ لَئِنْ قَدَرَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ لَيُعَذِّبَنَّهُ عَذَابًا لَا يُعَذِّبُهُ أَحَدًا مِنَ الْعَالَمِينَ فَلَمَّا مَاتَ فَعَلُوا مَا أَمَرَهُمْ اللَّهُ الْبَحْرُ فَجَمَعَ مَا فِيهِ وَأَمَرَ الْبَرَّ فَجَمَعَ مَا فِيهِ ثُمَّ قَالَ لَهُ لِمَ فَعَلْتَ هَذَا قَالَ مِنْ خَشْيَتِكَ يَا رَبِّ وَأَنْتَ أَعْلَمُ فَعَفَّرَ لَهُ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(155/15) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A person did great injustice to himself [i.e. he spent his days in folly and transgression]. When the hour of his death drew near [he was seized with the fear of Allah because of the life of negligence and evil-doing he had led, so much so that, he instructed his sons to burn his corpse to ashes when he died and to scatter some of the ashes on land and immerse some of them in the river [So that no trace of him was found anywhere and he could not be raised up on the Day of Recompense]. He said, 'By Allah! I am such a sinner that if the Lord gets hold of me, He will punish me like no one in the world'. So when he died, his sons carried out his wish [i.e., burnt his corps and scattered his ashes]. Then, at the command of Allah, the remains of his dead body came together from land and water [and he was brought back to life]. 'Why did you do that?' he was asked. 'O my Lord, ' He replied. 'I had done it only out of Your fear.' Allah, thereupon, pardoned him."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The bondsman, in this parable, was not aware of the Power and Glory of the Lord and his record, too, was not good but before his death he was so greatly overcome by the fear of Allah that he made his foolish will thinking that when his ashes had been thrown about in all directions there was no possibility of his being raised up again. Since, however, the basic cause of his folly was the fear of Allah, he was forgiven.

Different explanations are given for the words لَئِنْ قَدَرَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ but in our opinion the meaning given by us is correct 'if the Lord gets hold of me.'

This was an ignorant idea of the unfortunate man, and Allah forgave him that lapse too. But Allah knows best.

Criterion of Excellence And Nearness

(١٥٦/١٦) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَكَ أَنْتَ

لَسْتَ بِخَيْرٍ مِنْ أَحْمَرَ وَلَا أَسْوَدَ إِلَّا أَنْ تَفْضُلَهُ بِتَقْوَى. (رواه احمد)

(156/16) Abu Zarr رضي الله عنه narrates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ [once] said to him: " You, as a person, enjoy no supreiority over a white-skinned or a black-skinned man. You can, of course, be excellent through piety and fear of Allah." (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: It shows that honour and superiority does not rest with wealth, nationality, birth, language or face and figure. It is determined by piety [i.e., fear of Allah and the way of life stemming from it]. Thus, with Allah he is greater in honour who is more pious. As the Qur'an says:

إِنَّ أَكْرَمَكُمْ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ أَتَقَى (الحجرات ٤٩: ١٣)

Verily, the most honoured of you in the sight of Allah is (he who is) the most righteous of you. [Al-Hurajat 49:13]

إِلَى الْيَمَنِ خَرَجَ مَعَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُوصِيهِ وَمَعَاذٌ رَاكِبٌ

وَرَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَمْشِي تَحْتَ رَاحِلَتِهِ فَلَمَّا فَرَغَ قَالَ يَا مَعَاذُ

إِنَّكَ عَسَى أَنْ لَا تَلْقَانِي بَعْدَ عَامِي هَذَا وَلَعَلَّكَ أَنْ تَمُرَّ بِمَسْجِدِي هَذَا

وَقَبْرِي فَبَكَى مَعَاذٌ جُشَعًا لِفِرَاقِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثُمَّ انْتَفَتَ

فَاقْبَلَ بِوَجْهِهِ نَحْوَ الْمَدِينَةِ فَقَالَ إِنَّ أَوْلَى النَّاسِ بِي الْمُتَّقُونَ مَنْ كَانُوا وَحَيْثُ

(157/17) It is related by Mu'az Ibn Jabal رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ sent him to Yemen (as the Governor or Judge). [When he was leaving for that place] the Prophet ﷺ went with him [for some distance by way of a send-off], giving him [necessary] insturctions and advice. At that time, Mu'az [at the bidding of the Prophet] was riding on his mount while the Prophet ﷺ was walking on foot beside him. The last thing the Prophet ﷺ said, after he had given the necessary instruction was "We may not meet again after this year [i.e., it is the last year of my life and I am about to depart from the world]. It is possible that [when you return from Yemen] you may visit my mosque and grave." On hearing it, Mu'az began to cry. Turning his face away from him and in the direction of Medinah, the Prophet ﷺ remarked, "Much closer and dearer to me are the bondsmen who fear Allah [and observe piety], whoever they are and wherever they may be." (Masnad Ahmad)

Commentary: The concluding part of the above Tradition denotes that spiritual nearness and attachment is the main thing. Hence, however distant a man may be from the Prophet ﷺ physically, he may be in Yemen or in any other part of the world, if he possesses the virtue of piety and has the fear of Allah, he is close to him, or, rather, with him. On the other hand, if a person is near him, in the physical sense, but his heart is devoid of piety, he is removed from the Prophet ﷺ and the Prophet ﷺ is removed from him, all the seeming nearness notwithstanding.

The Prophet ﷺ has, in this way, consoled Mu'az. He has advised him not to grieve over the apparent separation for with piety and the fear of Allah in his heart he will not be far from him even if he lived in Yemen. Moreover, the present existence is transitory, and the permanent dwelling place is the future world where all the righteous bondsmen of Allah will live with the Prophet ﷺ forever and there will be no question of separation.

The Prophet ﷺ had turned his face away while speaking these words, probably, because he, too, had been moved to tears at the weeping of Mu'az and wanted to conceal it from him. It could, also, be that the spectacle of a true friend weeping was unbearable for the Prophet ﷺ, and, therefore, he looked away.

The Prophet ﷺ ordered Mu'az to ride on his mount while, for himself, he preferred to walk on foot by his side. What a great lesson and good example does it contain for those who are regarded to be the religious and spiritual deputies of the Messenger!

May Allah cause us to fear Him and entitle us to the spiritual nearness of the Messenger ﷺ and company in the Hereafter.

Conditions of the Prophet And the Companions

The following Ahadith tells us how the Prophet ﷺ and his Companions ﷺ after fearing Allah and thinking of the Hereafter.

(١٥٨/١٨) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَدْخُلُ أَحَدًا مِنْكُمْ عَمَلُهُ الْجَنَّةَ وَلَا يُجِيرُهُ مِنَ النَّارِ وَلَا أَنَا إِلَّا بِرَحْمَةِ اللَّهِ. (رواه مسلم)

(158/18) It is related by Jabir ﷺ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "No deed of anyone of you can take him to Heaven, or save him from Hell, and the same is true for myself, save by the Mercy of Allah. (Muslim)

Commentary: The observation made by the Prophet ﷺ that even he will not be able to enter Heaven by reasons of his well-doing and worship and if he will go to Paradise, it will be solely by the Mercy of Allah; this is enough to show how exceedingly God-fearing and anxious he was for the Hereafter.

(١٥٩/١٩) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا عَصَفَتِ الرِّيحُ قَالَ اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَسْأَلُكَ خَيْرَهَا وَخَيْرَ مَا فِيهَا وَخَيْرَ مَا أُرْسِلَتْ بِهِ وَأَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ شَرِّهَا وَشَرِّ مَا فِيهَا وَشَرِّ مَا أُرْسِلَتْ بِهِ وَإِذَا تَخَيَّلَتِ السَّمَاءُ تَغْيِيرَ لَوْنِهِ وَخَرَجَ وَدَخَلَ وَاقْبَلَ وَادْبَرَ فَإِذَا مُطِرَتْ سُرِي عَنْهُ فَعَرَفْتُ ذَلِكَ عَائِشَةُ فَسَأَلَتْهُ فَقَالَ لَعَلَّهُ يَا عَائِشَةُ كَمَا قَالَ قَوْمُ عَادٍ " فَلَمَّا رَأَوْهُ عَارِضًا مُسْتَقْبِلَ أَوْدِيَّتِهِمْ قَالُوا هَذَا عَارِضٌ مُمَطَّرُنَا". (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(159/19) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها narrated that the condition of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was such that when a strong wind worked up, the following prayer came to his lips:

O Allah! I beg of You the good of this wind, and the good of what is contained therein, and the good of the purpose for which it has been sent, and I seek refuge in You from its mischief, and from the mischief of what is contained therein, and from the mischief of the purpose for which it has been sent." [Similarly], when the sky became overcast, he would turn pale [with fear] and [so great was his agitation], sometimes, he would go in, and sometimes, he would come out, and sometimes, he would move to the front, and sometimes, he would move to the rear till it rained [and the storm passed off safely]. On her asking him, the Prophet ﷺ told her: "O Ayshah! I fear that this wind is similar to what was sent towards Aad [the community of the Prophet Hud and has been alluded to in the Qur'an in these words]:

"Then, when they beheld it as a dense cloud bringing us rain though it was not a rain-bearing cloud but a tempest that had come to destroy them. [XLVI: 24] (Bukahri and Muslim)

Commentary: The object of the above report is simply to give an idea of the prevailing influence of the fear of Allah on the Prophet ﷺ. Even when a strong wind blew the Prophet ﷺ frequently prayed that it brought nothing but good and sought the protection of the Lord against its mischief. Likewise, when a cloud appeared in the sky, the Prophet ﷺ felt extremely restless. He feared that Allah had sent down His punishment in the shape of it as had happened with the defiant followers of Prophet Hud who were happy seeing the cloud coming towards their land and thought that it brought the blissful rain but it turned out to be a terrible storm of Divine chastisement. The Qur'anic verse quoted above is incomplete. Its concluding part reads:

"Nay, but it is that which ye did seek to hasten, a wind wherein is painful torment."

(١٦٠/٢٠) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ أَبُو بَكْرٍ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَدْ شَبَّتَ قَالَ شَيْبَتَنِي

هُودُ وَالْوَاقِعَةُ وَالْمُرْسَلَةُ وَعَمَّ يَتَسَاءَلُونَ وَإِذَا الشَّمْسُ كُوِّرَتْ (رواه الترمذی)

(160/20) Abdullah Ibn Abbas ؓ narrated to us that Abu Bakr ؓ [once] remarked to the Prophet ﷺ: "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! You have grown old!" The Prophet replied: "The Surah Hud, Waq'ah, Mursalat, Naba and Takwir have made me old."

(Tirmidhi)

Commentary: The health of the Prophet ﷺ was exception ally good and his disposition was most moderate. The signs of old age should, therefore, not have normally appeared in him for a long time. But when he began to show the effects of advancing year before the expected time. Sayyidna Abu Bakr ؓ, one day, exclaimed, "Messenger of Allah ﷺ, you have started ageing already." The Prophet ﷺ said that the Qur'anic Chapters of Hud,

Waqi'ah, Mursalat, Naba and Takwir had made him old. These Chapters contain a vivid description of the happenings of the Hereafter, like the Convulsion, the Resurrection, the Final Judgement and the meting out of punishment to the sinners. The Prophet ﷺ was deeply affected by them, and the fear of Allah and anxiety for the Hereafter gripped his heart so powerfully when he recited them that it told on his health. Fear and anxiety are recognised all over the world as the foremost enemies of physical as well as emotional well-being. These quickly make a young man grey-headed. For this reason, the Last Day has been described in the Qur'an as,

يَوْمًا يَجْعَلُ الْوِلْدَانَ شِيبًا (المزمل ١٧:٧٣)

A Day that will make children heary-headed. [Al-Muzammil 73:17].

This hadith gives us an idea of the state of the Prophet's ﷺ heart because of fear of Allah.

(١٦١/٢١) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ إِنَّكُمْ لَتَعْلَمُونَ أَعْمَالًا هِيَ أَدْقُ فِي أَعْيُنِكُمْ مِنَ الشَّعْرِ كُنَّا نَعُدُّهَا عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِنَ الْمُوبِقَاتِ يَعْنِي الْمُهْلِكَاتِ. (رواه البخارى)

(161/21) Anas رضي الله عنه said to people of his time that you do things when seems in your eyes to be finer than hairs but which in the time of the Mesenger of Allah ﷺ to be of the Mubiqat which cause destruction." (Bukahri)

Commentary: It shows that during the days of the Prophet ﷺ the fear of Allah was predominant among the Muslims [i.e., the Companions] to such an extent and they were so fearful of the reockoning and sequel of the Hereafter that actions which the latter people regarded as ordinary and no particular care was taken to abstain from, were considered by those venerable men as fatal and avoided them like prison.

(162/22) Nadr, the Taba'ee, narrated "Once a black dust storm blew during the lifetime of Anas رضي الله عنه upon which I went to him and said, 'O Abu Hamzah! Did such black duststorms also come upon you during the days of th Prophet ﷺ?' Anas replied, 'I seek the refuge of Allah! The state, then, was that even when a slightly stronger wind blew we used to rush to the mosque on account of the fear of the Last Day'."

(١٦٣/٢٣) عَنْ حَنْظَلَةَ بْنِ الرَّبِيعِ الْأَسَدِيِّ قَالَ لَقِيتُنِي أَبُو بَكْرٍ فَقَالَ كَيْفَ أَنْتَ يَا حَنْظَلَةُ؟ قُلْتُ نَافَقٌ حَنْظَلَةُ قَالَ سُبْحَانَ اللَّهِ مَا تَقُولُ؟ قُلْتُ نَكُونُ عِنْدَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَذْكُرُنَا بِالنَّارِ وَالْجَنَّةِ كَأَنَّا رَأَى عَيْنٍ فَإِذَا خَرَجْنَا مِنْ عِنْدِهِ عَافَسْنَا الْأَرْوَاحَ وَالْأَوْلَادَ وَالضَّيْعَاتِ وَنَسِينَا كَثِيرًا قَالَ أَبُو بَكْرٍ فَوَاللَّهِ إِنَّا لَتَلْقَى مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ فَإِنْ طَلَقْتُ أَنَا وَأَبُو بَكْرٍ حَتَّى دَخَلْنَا عَلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقُلْتُ نَافَقٌ حَنْظَلَةُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ فَقَالَ وَمَا ذَاكَ؟ قُلْتُ نَكُونُ عِنْدَكَ تَذْكُرُنَا بِالنَّارِ وَالْجَنَّةِ كَأَنَّا رَأَى عَيْنٍ فَإِذَا خَرَجْنَا مِنْ عِنْدِكَ عَافَسْنَا الْأَرْوَاحَ وَالْأَوْلَادَ وَالضَّيْعَاتِ وَنَسِينَا كَثِيرًا فَقَالَ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَالَّذِي نَفْسِي بِيَدِهِ لَوُتَدُوْمُونَ عَلَيَّ مَا تَكُونُونَ عِنْدِي وَفِي الذِّكْرِ لَصَافَحْتُكُمْ الْمَلَائِكَةُ عَلَى فُرُشِكُمْ وَفِي طُرُقِكُمْ وَلَكِنْ يَا حَنْظَلَةُ سَاعَةٌ وَسَاعَةٌ ثَلَاثَ مَرَّاتٍ.

(163/23) It has been related to us by Hanzala Ibn ar-Rabi' al-Usaydi "One day Abu Bakr met me and said, Hanzalah! How are you?" I replied, Hanzalah has become a Hypocrite' Glory be Allah!', he exclaimed, 'What are you saying?' 'The thing is,' I replied, 'that when I am with the Prophet ﷺ and he talks about Heaven and Hell and admonishes me, I feel as if I am actually seeing Heaven and Hell but when I return home from his presence, my wife and children and the affairs of land and agriculture engage my attention and I forget everything.' On hearing it, Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه remarked, 'The same is the case with me.' Both of us thereupon, went to the Prophet ﷺ, and [narrating my own state to him] I said, 'O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! Hanzalah has become a Hypocrite.' 'What is the matter with you?' he asked. 'The thing is,' I replied, 'that when I am with you and you admonish me, after speaking about Heaven and Hell, it seems that I am seeing them right in front of me, but when I return home, my wife and children and the tasks of agriculture occupy my mind and I forget about everything else.' The Prophet ﷺ observed, 'By the Being in whose power is my life if your condition always remains what it is in my presence and you are constantly occupied with the remembrance of Allah, the angels will shake hands with you on your bed and in the way. But, O Hanzalah! [Allah has not enjoined it upon us, and] it is enough that it happens occasionally.' And he said that three times."

(Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the anxiety of the holy Companions for Faith and the Hereafter was so acute and genuine that they began to suspect themselves of hypocrisy if the slightest alteration was noticed by them in their spiritual state.

(١٦٤/٢٤) عَنْ أَبِي بُرْدَةَ بْنِ أَبِي مُوسَى قَالَ قَالَ لِي عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ عُمَرَ هَلْ تَدْرِي مَا قَالَ أَبِي لِأَبِيكَ قَالَ قُلْتُ لَا قَالَ فَإِنَّ أَبِي قَالَ لِأَبِيكَ يَا أَبَا مُوسَى هَلْ يَسُرُّكَ أَنْ إِسْلَمْنَا مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَهَجَرْنَا وَجِهَادَنَا مَعَهُ وَعَمَلْنَا كُلَّهُ مَعَهُ بِرَدْلَانَا وَأَنْ كُلَّ عَمَلٍ عَمَلْنَا بَعْدَهُ نَجُونَا مِنْهُ كَفَافًا رَأْسًا بِرَأْسٍ فَقَالَ أَبُوكَ لِأَبِي لَا وَاللَّهِ قَدْ جَاهَدْنَا بَعْدَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَصَلَيْنَا وَصُمْنَا وَعَمَلْنَا خَيْرًا كَثِيرًا وَأَسْلَمَ عَلَى أَيْدِينَا بَشَرًا كَثِيرًا وَإِنَّا لَنَرُجُو ذَاكَ قَالَ أَبِي لِكَيْتَى أَنَا وَالَّذِي نَفْسُ عُمَرَ بِيَدِهِ لَوَدِدْتُ أَنَّ ذَاكَ بَرَدْلَانَا وَأَنْ كُلَّ شَيْءٍ عَمَلْنَاهُ بَعْدَهُ نَجُونَا مِنْهُ كَفَافًا رَأْسًا بِرَأْسٍ، فَقُلْتُ إِنَّ أَبَاكَ وَاللَّهِ كَانَ خَيْرًا مِنْ أَبِي

the things we did after him were treated on even terms [i.e., we were neither rewarded nor punished for them]?" On hearing it, Abu Moosa remarked, "No, by Allah! I do not want it. We have done Jihad after the Prophet, offered prayers observed fasting and performed many other good deeds, and, [in addition to it], innumerable bondsmen of the Lord have embraced Islam through our efforts and at our hands and we are entirely hopeful of being recompensed for them by Allah." Abdullah's father [Sayyadina Umar], thereupon, said, "By the Divine Being in whose power is Umar's life! I fervently wish that the deeds we performed with the Prophet remained secure for us and we were requested for them while the deeds we have performed after him were not taken into account, for good or for evil." [Abu Burdah went on to narrate] that, upon it, he said to Abdullah ibn Umar, "By Allah! Your father was better than mine." (Bukhari)

Commentary: It can be hoped about prayers offered behind a virtuous and righteous bondsman of the Lord that it will find acceptance with the Lord. In a similar way, Sayyidina Umar believed that good actions like prayer, fasting, Hijrah and Jihad he had carried out in the company of the Prophet ﷺ would be blessed with Divine approval but since the deeds performed after death of the Prophet ﷺ did not possess the virtue of association with him, Sayyidina Umar, like all spiritually evolved men, felt apprehensive of what they were going to lead to and saw his success and safety in their being considered to be wrothy neither of reward nor of punishment at the Final Reckoning.

The remark of Abu Burdah that Abdullah ibn Umar's father was superior to his own probably denotes that Sayyidina Umar ﷺ was better and nobler because he was so greatly dissatisfied with his earthly conduct and fearful of Divine displeasure.

In a report of the martyrdom of Sayyidina Umar ﷺ, appearing in Sahih Bukhari, it is mentioned that, at the time of his death, he said:

"I swear by Allah that if I had gold of the weight of the earth I would give it as ransom against the punishment of Allah and obtain my release."

Such was the dominance of the fear of Allah over the bondsman who had repeatedly heard the glad tidings of Paradise from the Prophet of Allah ﷺ himself! O Allah! Let us have some such condition in ourselves.

CONTEMPTUOUS DISREGARD OF THE WORLD

In the Tradition concerning Riqāq which we are now going to discuss, the holy Prophet ﷺ has expressed contempt for the material world and laid stress on its worthlessness in the sight of Allah as compared with the Hereafter.

The attachment to wordly interest has become so strong these days and the problem of material advancement has assumed such proportions that even the Muslims do not easily digest the rejection of the world as inferior. Things have come to such a pass that some of those who are regarded as Muslim leaders or theologians feel no hesitation in dismissing all talk about the futility and nothingness of wordly success and material well-being as monasticism ill-conceived mysticism [Tasawwuf], and when their attention is drawn to the relevant sayings of the Prophet ﷺ they challenge their veracity in the manner of the deniers of the Traditions. We, as such, propose to examine the question in some details in the light of the Qur'an before proceeding with the Traditions. May Allah help us.

The World And The Hereafter

(i) As the world we live in is a reality, so, also, is the Hereafter. There can be no two opinions about it. If we do not see it, or have a physical sensation of it, in the present existence, the material world, too, was not visible to us when we were in the wombs of our mothers. Then, just as on coming into this world we saw the earth and the sky and millions of the other things we could not dream of in our mothers womb, when we will die and arrive at the next world we will also discover Heaven and Hell and all the things have been revealed by the Divine Messengers and in the holy Scriptures. In short, the Hereafter is as much real as the present existence on earth, and we will find that out on dying. We have full faith in that.

(ii) About the existing world we are certain that it is transitory. It is bound to perish one day along with all that is contained in it. On the other hand, the Hereafter is everlasting. On reaching there, man, too, will be endowed with eternity. The life that will be granted to him in the next world will be endless. In the same manner, the boons and favours conferred on worthy bondsmen in the future existence will also be unending. Or, as the Qur'an has put it:

عَطَاءٌ غَيْرَ مَجْذُوذٍ (هود ١٠٨:١١)

A gift unfailing. [Hud 11:108].

Similarly, the punishment of those who will incur the wrath of the Lord due to apostasy, intransigence or evil-doing will, also, be without end, as it has been said at various places in the Qur'an:

خَالِدِينَ فِيهَا أَبَدًا (الجن ٢٣:٧٢)

They will reside there in forever. (Al-Jinn 72:23)

وَمَا هُمْ بِخَارِجِينَ مِنَ النَّارِ (البقرة ١٦٧:٢)

And they will not emerge from the Fire. [Al-Baqarah 2:167].

لَا يَقْضِي عَلَيْهِمْ فَيَمُوتُوا وَلَا يَخَفُّ عَنْهُمْ مِنْ عَذَابِهَا (فاطر ٣٦:٣٥)

It taketh not complete effect upon them so that they can die, nor is its torment lightened for them. [Fatir 35:36].

We, again, place our reliance on the revelation made by the Divine Messengers and in the Scriptures about the joys and comforts of the Hereafter that they are immeasurably superior to those of this world. The real pleasures and blessings are, in truth, of the Hereafter. No pleasant conditions of earthly life can bear comparison with them. Likewise, the pain and suffering of the present world is nothing in contrast with the torment of Hell of the lowest order.

All these things, obviously, demand that man's activities were directed wholly towards the life to come and the attachment to this world was restricted only to what was essential and unavoidable.

(ii) But since the world is surrounding us all the time and the Hereafter is hidden from our eyes even those of us who believe in these truths are, generally, swayed by material aims and intrests. It is an inherent weakness with us. Our thinking in this regard is like that of the children who remain engrossed in toys and games and find the educational prusuits that are intended to make them successful in the life most tiresome and unintersting. Their parents try to interest them in the serious pursuits that they may succeed in life and become honourable persons.

(iv) Through the Prophets raised up by Allah and the Scriptures revealed by Him, the endeavour has always been made to remove this failing and to make clear the position of the Hereafter vis-a-vis the present world, but man has continued to behave like a child.

”بَلْ تُؤْثِرُونَ الْحَيَاةَ الدُّنْيَا وَالْآخِرَةَ خَيْرٌ وَأَبْقَى، إِنَّ هَذَا لَفِي الصُّحُفِ الْأُولَى.

صُحُفِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَمُوسَى“ (الاعلى ٨٧: ١٦-١٩)

But you prefer the life of the world although the Hereafter is better and more lasting. Lo! This is in the former scrolls, the Books of Ibrahim and Musa. (Al-A'la87:16-19)

(v) The Qur'an being the last message to be sent down by Allah, the importance of the Hereafter and the immateriality of this world have been emphasised in it with utmost force and clarity. For instance, it says:

قُلْ مَتَاعُ الدُّنْيَا قَلِيلٌ ۖ وَالْآخِرَةُ خَيْرٌ لِّمَنِ اتَّقَىٰ (النساء، ٤: ٧٧)

Say [unto them, O Muhammad]: The comfort of this world is scant; the Herafter will be better for him who wardeth off evil; [Al-Nisaa 4:77].

وَمَا الْحَيَاةُ الدُّنْيَا إِلَّا لَعِبٌ وَلَهْوٌ وَلِلْآخِرَةِ خَيْرٌ لِّلَّذِينَ يَتَّقُونَ ط أَفَلَا تَعْقِلُونَ ۝ (الانعام، ٦: ٣٢)

Naught is the life of the world save a pastime and a sport. Better far is the abode of the Hereafter for those who keep their duty (to Allah). Have ye then no sense?" [Al-An'am 6:32]

إِنَّمَا هَذِهِ الْحَيَاةُ الدُّنْيَا مَتَاعٌ وَإِنَّ الْآخِرَةَ هِيَ دَارُ الْقَرَارِ ۝ (المومن، ٤٠: ٣٩)

Lo! This life of the world is but a passing comfort, and Lo! The Hereafter, that is the enduring home. [Al-Mu'min 40:39].

وَفِي الْآخِرَةِ عَذَابٌ شَدِيدٌ وَ مَغْفِرَةٌ مِّنَ اللَّهِ وَرِضْوَانٌ وَمَا الْحَيَاةُ الدُّنْيَا إِلَّا

مَتَاعُ الْعُرُورِ

And in the Hereafter there is grievous punishment [for the rebels and the transgressors], and (also) forgiveness from Allah and His good pleasure [for those who are loyal and do good], whereas the life of the world is but a matter of illusion.

[Al-Hadid 57:20].

(vi) Among the few points on which special stress has been laid by the Divine Prophets and holy Scriptures, one is that the material world should be regarded as utterly worthless. One must not get unnecessarily involved in it nor make it the end and purpose of his hopes and aspirations but believing in the Hereafter to be his real abode and keeping in mind the preference it enjoys over the present world, allow the solicitude for success in future existence to prevail over all worldly cares and considerations. An essential condition of felicity in the Hereafter, therefore, is that this world is looked down upon as base, contemptible and valueless, the heart is set on life after death, and the cry of his heart and soul should be:

اَللّٰهُمَّ لَا عَيْشَ اِلَّا عَيْشَ الْاٰخِرَةِ

O my Allah! There is no joy other than the joy of the Hereafter.

Hence, the sacred Prophet, also, taught it through his sayings and sermons and inscribed it on the hearts of the Believers by his own conduct. The object of the Traditions we are now going to discuss and in which the Prophet ﷺ has dwelt upon the futility and worthlessness of this world ought to be understood against this background.

(vii) It needs, further, be remembered that the material world that has been condemned in these Traditions is that which is inimical to felicity in the Hereafter. Otherwise, active engagement in worldly occupations and pursuits of material gain and enjoyment which is subordinated to earnest anxiety for the Hereafter and does not offer a hindrance to salvation is not only not undesirable but also a stepping stone to Paradise.

Let us now read the following ahadith in this light.

The Material World In Comparison To The Hereafter

(١٦٥/٢٥) عَنْ مُسْتَوْرِدِ بْنِ شَدَّادٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ وَاللَّهِ مَا الدُّنْيَا فِي الْآخِرَةِ إِلَّا مِثْلُ مَا يَجْعَلُ أَحَدُكُمْ إَصْبَعَهُ فِي الْيَمِّ فَلْيَنْظُرْ بِمِ يَرْجِعُ
(رواه مسلم)

(165/25) It is related by Mustawrid ibn Shaddad that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "By Allah, "the likeness of this world as compared to the Hereafter is that someone of you took out his finger after dipping it into a river and then saw how much water it had brought with itself."
(Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the existing world is as insignificant before the world to come as the water on the finger is as compared to the river in which it is dipped. This is only a way of saying or else the present world does not bear even as much resemblance to the Hereafter. The world and all that is in it is finite and ephemeral while the Hereafter is infinite and eternal and it is an accepted principle of mathematics that the finite and the ephemeral has nothing in common with the infinite and the everlasting. Such being the case, one who strives to the utmost for his worldly aims and interests but makes no preparation for the life after death is a loser through and through.

(١٦٦/٢٦) عَنْ جَابِرٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَرَّ بِجَدْيٍ أَسْكَمَ مَيِّتٍ فَقَالَ أَيُّكُمْ يُحِبُّ أَنْ هَذَا لَهُ بَدْرُهُمْ؟ فَقَالُوا مَا نَحِبُّ أَنْهُ لَنَا بِشَىْءٍ، قَالَ
فَوَاللَّهِ لِلدُّنْيَا أَهْوَنُ عَلَى اللَّهِ مِنْ هَذَا عَلَيْكُمْ.
(رواه مسلم)

(166/26) Jabir related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ once passed by a dead young goat whose ear had been cut off. He enquired from those who were with him at that time. "Will anyone of you like to buy this dead kid for a dirham?" "We will not buy it at any price", they replied. The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, said, "I swear in the name of Allah that in His sight this world is as hateful and worthless as the dead kid is in your sight."
(Muslim)

Commentary: The unbounded passion Allah had granted to the Prophet ﷺ for the guidance and upliftment of mankind can be imagined from the above report. The Prophet ﷺ is going on the road when he comes across the dead body of a kid, and, instead of turning his gaze away from it in revulsion and passing on quickly, he makes use of the incident to impart, valuable moral teaching to the Companions رضي الله عنهم and tells them that the world was valueless in the judgement of the Lord as the carcass of the young goat was in their judgement. They should, therefore, not make it the object of their desires and exertions but strive sincerely for the Hereafter.

(١٦٧/٢٧) عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَوْ كَانَتِ الدُّنْيَا تَعْدِلُ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ جَنَاحَ بَعُوضَةٍ مَا سَقَى كَافِرًا مِنْهَا شَرْبَةً.

(167/27) It is related by Sahl ibn Sa'd that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Had this world been to Allah equivalent to the value of the wing of a gnat, He would not have given a sip of water therefrom to the infidel." (Tirmidhi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Whatever the infidels, the unbelievers and the deniers of Allah and the Messenger are getting from the world [and it is a great deal, no doubt] is simply due to the fact that this world is altogether vain and valueless in the sight of Allah. Were it not so, He would not have given even a draught of water to the rebels and transgressors. Thus, in the Hereafter, which is of real worth and importance in the judgement of the Lord, not as much as a drop of fresh water will be given to them.

Believer's Prison-House

(١٦٨/٢٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الدُّنْيَا سِجْنُ الْمُؤْمِنِ وَجَنَّةُ الْكَافِرِ.

(رواه مسلم)

(168/28) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The world is the prison-house of the Believer and Paradise, of the infidel." (Muslim)

Commentary: One of the main feature of a prisoner's life is that he is not free in whatever he does. He has to carry out other people's commands in all matters. He eats and drinks what is given to him and when it is given, and sits or stands where he is told to do so. He has no will of his own. Another characteristic of it is that the prisoner does not feel attached to the prison and never considers it his home. He is always eager to get out of it. On the contrary, no restrictions will be placed on the dwellers of Heaven. Everyone will be free to do as he pleases and all his wishes will be fulfilled. Besides, even after spending thousands of years in Paradise no dweller will get tired of living in it or weary of its comforts. He will never want to leave it. Says the Qur'an:

فِيهَا مَا تَشْتَهِيهِ الْأَنْفُسُ وَتَلَذُّ الْأَعْيُنُ وَأَنْتُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ ﴿٧١:٤٣﴾ (زخرف)

And therein is all that souls desire and eyes find sweet. And ye are immortal therein. (Zukhruf 43:71)

لَا يَبْغُونَ عَنْهَا حِوَلًا (الكهف ١٨:١٠٨)

Wherein they will abide, with no desire to be removed from thence. (Al-Kahf 18:108)

Hence, in my humble opinion the chief moral the above Tradition contains for the Believers is that they should lead a life of checks and restraint in the world, as one does in the prison, and remember always that to regard it their paradise and to get attached to it and make its joys and comforts the ambition's end is the way of the infidels.

If a person's attitude towards the world is akin to that of a prisoner towards the prison-house, he is a truthful Believer, and if he becomes so deeply involved in it as to make it the be-all and end-all of his existence, he is an infidel, according to the maxim laid down in this Tradition.

The World is Transitory While the Hereafter is Eternal

(١٦٩/٢٩) عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ أَحَبَّ دُنْيَاهُ أَضَرَّ بِآخِرَتِهِ وَمَنْ أَحَبَّ آخِرَتَهُ أَضَرَّ بِدُنْيَاهُ فَاتَّقُوا مَا يَنْقُصُ عَلَى مَا يَنْفَعُ.

(رواه احمد والبيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(169/29) It is related by Abu Moosa رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever loves the world shall damage his Hereafter, and whoever loves his Hereafter shall damage his world. Thus, [when between the world and the Hereafter the choice of one is sure to lead to the loss of the other] you should prefer what is lasting to what is transitory.

(Musnad Ahmad and Baihaqi)

Commentary: When a person will make the world the exclusive aim of his life, he will live for it and all his endeavours will be directed towards the realisation of material aims and interests and the Hereafter will get into the background; he will not care much for it, and eventually, it will lead to the loss of the world to come.

Similarly, when a person will set his heart on the Hereafter he will strive for it to the best of his ability, and his worldly interests will suffer in the outcome. Hence, a truthful Believer should make the Hereafter the object of his desire, which is eternal. The material world, at best, is a nine days' wonder.

A Veritable Curse

(١٧٠/٣٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَا إِنْ

الدُّنْيَا مَلْعُونَةٌ مَلْعُونٌ مَا فِيهَا إِلَّا ذَكَرَ اللَّهَ وَمَا وَالَاهُ وَعَالِمٌ أَوْ مُتَعَلِّمٌ

(رواه الترمذی وابن ماجه)

(170/30) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: The world is accursed and what it contains is accursed, except remembrance of Allah and what He likes and the teachers and the taught."

(Tinnidhi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: This world, which makes many a man forget Allah and the Hereafter when he becomes absorbed in it, is so hateful in its nature and outcome that there is no place of it even in the boundless benevolence of the Lord. The mercy of Allah, in the present world is, indeed, upon His remembrance and upon the things that are associated with Him, particularly those who possess the knowledge of Faith or seek it.

It denotes that only such things are deserving of Divine Grace that are connected with the Lord, directly or indirectly, or His Faith. Deeds that have nothing to do with Him or His Faith [and the 'world' mean just that] are, simply, detestable.

Hence, if a man's life is devoid of devotion to Allah and His remembrance and bereft of the knowledge or study of Faith, it is worthy not of Divine benevolence but of anger.

Seeker of the World Cannot Keep Himself From Sinning

(١٧١/٣١) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ هَلْ مِنْ أَحَدٍ يَمْشِي عَلَى الْمَاءِ إِلَّا ابْتَلَّتْ قَدَمَاهُ؟ قَالُوا لَا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ كَذَلِكَ صَاحِبُ الدُّنْيَا لَا يَسْلَمُ مِنَ الذُّنُوبِ (رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(171/31) Anas relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, one day asked: "Is there anyone who walks on water and his feet do not get wet?" "Our master, it can not be," he was told. "In the same way," remarked the Prophet, "The worldly-minded can not remain free from sin." (Bukhari)

Commentary: The worldly-minded, in the above saying, signifies one who is intent on gain and worldly pleasure. Such a person cannot remain safe from sin. But if the ultimate aims of bondsman be the seeking of the countenance of the Lord and the occupation in worldly interests in only a means to it, he will not be called worldly-minded. It will not be difficult for him to keep away from sinful acts in spite of apparent engagement in worldly pursuits.

Allah Protects Whom He Loves From The World

(١٧٢/٣٢) عَنْ قَتَادَةَ بْنِ النُّعْمَانِ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِذَا أَحَبَّ اللَّهُ عَبْدًا حَمَاهُ الدُّنْيَا كَمَا يَظِلُّ أَحَدُكُمْ يَحْمِي سَقِيمَهُ الْمَاءِ. (رواه احمد والترمذی)

(172/32) It is related by Qatadah ibn Nu'man that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When Allah loves anyone, He makes him avoid the world, as you make patient avoid water [when it is harmful for him]." (Tirmidhi and Musnad-i-Ahmad)

Commentary: This 'world,' as we have seen, means the world that makes one forgetful of Allah and in getting absorbed in which there is the loss of the Hereafter. Hence, whom Allah loves, He protects them against this wretched world as a sickman is, sometimes, made to abstain from water.

A Wayfarer

بِمَنْكِبِي فَقَالَ كُنْ فِي الدُّنْيَا كَأَنَّكَ غَرِيبٌ أَوْ عَابِرُ سَبِيلٍ. (رواه البخارى)
 (173/33) Abdullah ibn Umar رضي الله عنه relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ once said to him grasping his shoulders with his hands: "Live in the world as if you were a stranger or a wayfarer."
 (Bukhari)

Commentary: Just as a traveller does not consider an inn or a foreign country his home, a truthful Believer should, also not imagine the world to be his real abode as if he was going to live here forever.

The design of life the Divine Messengers have preferred for mankind rests upon the principle that man should treat his earthly sojourn to be purely temporary and prepare ardently for Hereafter as if he was actually seeing it, or, rather, living in it. One's life falls in with the wishes and teachings of the prophets عليهم السلام to the extent to which one succeeds in producing this state within oneself, and those who fall short of it, their life has nothing in common with the precepts taught by them.

This World And The Next

(174/34) 'Amr ibn al-'Aas narrated that, one day, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ delivered a sermon in which he said: "Listen and remember! The world is a temporary bargain which, for the time being, is ready money [but it has no real value], [and, hence], everyone, virtuous or wicked, has a share in it and everyone eats from it. But believe it, the Hereafter is an unalterable reality which is bound to come at the appointed time, and, in which the All-powerful Sovereign will judge [about reward and punishment according to the deeds of men on earth].

Remember, all that is good and pleasing, and everything connected therewith, is in Heaven while all that is vicious and painful, and everything connected therewith, is in Hell. So, beware! [Whatever you may do] do it with the fear of Allah [and earnest anxiety for the Hereafter], and believe it that you will be presented before the Lord with your deeds. Thus, whoever will have done a good deed, even of the weight of an atom, he shall see it, and whoever will have done an evil deed, even of the weight of an atom, he, too, shall get it back."

(Musnad-i-Imam Shafai)

Commentary: The greatest misfortune of man and the root of all evil is that he spends his life in disregard of the commands of Allah and makes the satisfaction of his inordinate desires the sole aim of living. He does so because whatever is in the world is present before his eyes, all the time, while Allah and the Hereafter are invisible. The only way to guard men against the danger, therefore, is that the futility and worthlessness of the material world and the importance and superiority of Hereafter is presented before them forcefully and a sustained effort is made to bring certainly to their minds about the Judgement Day, the Final Requital and Heaven and Hell. This is the gist of the Prophet's ﷺ sermon as indeed, his sermons.

Unfortunately, in the modern times, the transitoriness of the world and the value and importance of the Hereafter and the reality of Heaven and Hell are not dwelt upon and spoken about in religious preaching and exhortation with the emphasis and force of conviction they deserve. The general tendency is to explain the tenets of Faith in a way that is peculiar to materialistic ideologies and movements. It is a most alarming trend which should be set right soon.

Do Not Attach Yourself To This World But Seek The Hereafter

قَادِمَةٌ وَلِكُلِّ وَاحِدٍ مِنْهُمَا بَنُونَ فَإِنْ اسْتَطَعْتُمْ أَنْ لَا تَكُونُوا مِنْ بَنَى الدُّنْيَا
فَأَفْعَلُوا فَإِنَّكُمْ الْيَوْمَ فِي دَارِ الْعَمَلِ وَلَا حِسَابَ وَأَنْتُمْ غَدًا فِي دَارِ الْآخِرَةِ وَلَا
عَمَلَ . (رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(175/35) Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "The things I fear most for my people are al-hawa¹ and tool al-amal.² Al-hawa implies here the following of personal whims in regard to religious obligations and tool al-amal implies great desires for worldly things. As for al-hawa, it turns people away from the truth and tool al-amal makes them forgetful of the hereafter. This world is journeying and moving away while the hereafter is journeying and approaching and both have children (some attach themselves to the world as children are attached to their mother while some have a similar attachment to hereafter. so, if you can avoid being children in the world, do so, for today you are in the abode of action and not that of being taken to account, but tomorrow you will be in the abode of the hereafter when action is impossible. (Rather, there will be accounting actions done here³). (Baihaqi)

Commentary: The Messenger of Allah ﷺ has expressed fear of two serious diseases on his people. He has, therefore, warned them against them, al-hawa and tool al-amal. The fact is, it is these two diseases that have really destroyed a large section of the Ummah. Those people who are misled into ideologies suffer from the malady of al-hawa, and those whose deeds are bad do suffer from tool al-amal, and love for the world, and they are neglectful of the Hereafter and making preparations for it. The cure lies in what the Prophet ﷺ has said towards the end of the hadith. They should realise in their minds that this world is ephemeral and perishable while the Hereafter is eternal and real. Once this fact is understood, it is easy to correct ideologies and deeds.

Danger of Affluence

(١٧٦/٣٦) عَنْ عُمَرَوِ بْنِ عَوْفٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

- ① Passion.
 - ② Hope for distant future.
 - ③ Mishkat al Mosabih, V2, P 1081, (tr. Robson) Ashraf, Lahore.

قَالَ اللَّهُ لَا لَفَقْرَ أَخْشَى عَلَيْكُمْ وَلَكِنْ أَخْشَى عَلَيْكُمْ أَنْ تُبْسَطَ عَلَيْكُمُ الدُّنْيَا كَمَا
بُسِطَتْ عَلَى مَنْ كَانَ قَبْلَكُمْ فَتَنَّا فُسُوها كَمَا تَنَافَسُوهَا وَتُهْلِكُكُمْ كَمَا
أَهْلَكْتَهُمْ.
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(176/36) It is related by 'Amr ibn Awf رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "It is not poverty that I fear for you, but what I really fear is that the earth may be spread for you, as it had been spread for those who came before you, so that you may covet it as they had coveted, and, then, it may destroy, you as it had destroyed them."
(Bukhari And Muslim)

Commentary: The Prophet ﷺ had before him the experience of some of the earlier people who, when they attained prosperity, grew more greedy of worldly possessions and neglectful of the real purpose of life with the result that they became envious of each other, and were, ultimately, destroyed by their own greediness and avidity. The Prophet ﷺ regarded it to be the greatest danger for his own followers too. In the above Tradition, he has warned them against it and advised them to be cautious of the deceptive charm and witchery of the material world.

Riches — The Greatest Mischief

(١٧٧/٣٧) عَنْ كَعْبِ بْنِ عِيَّاضٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
يَقُولُ إِنَّ لِكُلِّ أُمَّةٍ فِتْنَةً وَفِتْنَةُ أُمَّتِي الْمَالُ.
(رواه الترمذی)

(177/37) Ka'b bin 'Iyad has related that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "For every community there is a trial, and the trial of my community is wealth."
(Tirmidhi)

Commentary: It shows during the Prophet's ﷺ period [which began with his raising up and will endure till the end of time] the importance of wealth will grow so much and the desire to possess it become so excessive that it will prove to be the greatest mischief for his followers. [In the Qur'an, too, wealth has been called a mischief]. It is evident from history that the lust for worldly possessions has been increasing steadily from the time of the Prophet ﷺ, and, undoubtedly, it is the greatest mischief of the current era which has deprived innumerable bondsmen of the Lord of true felicity by leading them on the path of folly and insolent disobedience. Things have gone so far now that even the champions of goodlessness and atheism make use of economic issues to diffuse and disburse their ideology.

Love for Wealth and Fame is Destructive to Religion

(١٣٨/٣٨) عَنْ كَعْبِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
مَا ذُنُوبَانِ جَائِعَانِ أُرْسِلَا فِي غَنَمٍ بِأَفْسَدَلِهَا مِنْ حِرْصِ الْمَرْءِ عَلَى الْمَالِ
وَالشَّرَفِ لِدِينِهِ.
(رواه الترمذی والدارمی)

(178/38) It is related by Ka'b ibn Maalik رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "No two hungry wolves let loose in a flock of goats can devour the goats so ravenously as the greed of a man for wealth and fame does his faith." (Tirmidhi and Darmi)

Commentary: It tells that the love for wealth, power and fame is more dangerous to faith and piety than a hungry wolf is in the midst of goats.

Love for Wealth And the World Remains Undiminished in Old Age Too.

(١٧٩/٣٩) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَهْرُمُ ابْنُ آدَمَ
وَيَشَبُّ فِيهِ اثْنَانِ الْحِرْصُ عَلَى الْمَالِ وَالْحِرْصُ عَلَى الْعُمُرِ
(رواه البخاری ومسلم)

(179/39) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The Son of Adam grows old [and all his faculties are enfeebled], but two attributes of his nature remain young in him, namely, desire for wealth and yearning for longevity." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Man is a prey to countless desires and endless aspirations, some of which are positively bad and these can be realised only when one is young and has money. It is the duty of the intellect to save a man from the unhappy consequences of such wishes. But, when due to old age, the intellect, too, fails in strength and its hold on the emotions loses its firmness, some of the desires develop into a passion and begin to rule over him. Attachment to worldly possessions and the desire to have a long life, generally, grow with advancing years. But those who are truly aware of the end of this world and have disciplined their inner selves are an exception to it.

(١٨٠/٤٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَا يَزَالُ قَلْبُ الْكَبِيرِ شَابًا فِي اثْنَيْنِ فِي حُبِّ الدُّنْيَا وَطُولِ الْأَمَلِ. (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(180/40) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه narrated to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The heart of an old man always remains young in two respects: love of this world and the distant future."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: As we have seen in the preceding Tradition, fondness for the material things of life, generally, grows with age but with those who have attained a degree of God-realisation and possess a true understanding of this world and the next it is different. In them, the love of Allah and yearning for the blessings of the hereafter keep developing even in old age and each day of their life marks an advance on the previous one in this respect.

Greed For Amassing Wealth Is Insatiable

(١٨١/٤١) عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَوْ كَانَ لِإِبْنِ آدَمَ وَادِيَانِ مِنْ مَالٍ لَا يَبْغَى ثَالِثًا وَلَا يَمْلَأُ جَوْفَ ابْنِ آدَمَ إِلَّا التُّرَابُ وَيَتَوَبُّ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ مَنْ تَابَ. (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(181/41) It is related by Abdullah ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Even if the son of Adam possesses two fields and two forests full of worldly goods, he would like to have a third for only dust fills the belly of the son of Adam, [i.e., his insatiable appetite for wealth will end only in the grave], but Allah shows compassion to the bandsman who turns to Him in repentance."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Excessive desire for wealth is a common human failing to the extent that if a man's fields and forests are overflowing with riches he will still not be satisfied and go on wanting an increase in them till the last moment of his life.

Fondness of wealth ends only with death. There is a special favour of the Lord on those who make Him, and not the material world, the object of their adoration. Allah grants them contentment and they lead a happy and peaceful life here in this world too.

The Seeker of the Hereafter And The Seeker of this World

(١٨٢/٤٢) عَنْ أَنَسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَنْ كَانَتْ نِيَّتُهُ طَلَبَ
الْآخِرَةِ جَعَلَ اللَّهُ غِنَاهُ فِي قَلْبِهِ وَجَمَعَ لَهُ شَمْلَهُ وَأَتَتْهُ الدُّنْيَا وَهِيَ رَاغِمَةٌ وَمَنْ
كَانَتْ نِيَّتُهُ طَلَبَ الدُّنْيَا جَعَلَ اللَّهُ الْفَقْرَ بَيْنَ عَيْنَيْهِ وَشَتَّتْ عَلَيْهِ أَمْرَهُ وَلَا يَأْتِيهِ
مِنْهَا إِلَّا مَا كُتِبَ لَهُ. (رواه الترمذی ورواه احمد والدارمی)

(182/42) Narrates Anas رضی اللہ عنہ that the Holy Prophet صلی اللہ علیہ وسلم said, "A person whose chief aim and ambition will be the seeking of the Hereafter, through his effort and exertion, Allah will grant him contentment [i.e., tranquillity and freedom from want] to his heart and remove his distress and the world will come to him humbled by itself. But a person whose chief aim and ambition will be the seeking of this world, through his effort and exertion, Allah will produce the marks of want in the middle of his forehead and on his face and make his condition miserable [and peace of the mind will desert him] and, [after all his striving], he will get only that much of the world as had been ordained for him beforehand."

[This report has been attributed to Sayyidian Anas رضی اللہ عنہ in Tirmidhi and to Sayyidina Zaid ibn Thabit Ansari رضی اللہ عنہ in Musnad Ahmad and Darami.]

Commentary: Allah's manner of treating the bondsman who, believing in the Hereafter, makes it his goal is that He endows his heart with contentment and cheerfulness and what has been foreordained for him from this world reaches him, one way or the other, by itself. On the contrary, whoever make the material world his objective, Allah thrusts want and anxiety upon him, so that people notice the signs of distress on his face and in spite of his best efforts, he succeeds in obtaining only that much of worldly goods and comforts as has been decreed for him beforehand by Allah. Such being the case, one should make the life to come the true object of his desire, and, considering this world to be nothing more than a passing need, strive for it only as it is, generally, done for a short-lived purpose.

Real Share in Wealth

(١٨٣/٤٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ
الْعَبْدُ مَالِي مَالِي وَإِنَّ مَالَهُ مِنْ مَالِهِ ثَلَاثٌ مَا أَكَلَ فَأَقْنَى أَوْ لَبِسَ فَأَبْلَى أَوْ أَغْطَى
فَاقْتَنَى وَمَا سِوَى ذَلِكَ فَهُوَ ذَاهِبٌ وَتَارِكُهُ لِلنَّاسِ. (رواه مسلم)

(183/43) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The bondsman says, 'My property! My property!' though in the whole of his worldly possessions what is really his falls only into three categories: (i) what he has eaten and finished up; (ii) what he has worn and made old; and, (iii) what he has given away in charity and made a provision for the Hereafter. A part from it, what the bondsman possesses is going to be left behind by him for others and he himself shall depart from the world one day." (Muslim)

Commentary: It tells that out of the wealth a man earns or saves in this world, only that is really his which he spends on his own needs like food and clothing or in the way of Allah, and, thus, stores it up for use in the Hereafter. What he possesses, apart from it, does not belong to him but to his successors into whose hands it is going to pass after his death.

أَيُّكُمْ مَالٌ وَارِثُهُ أَحَبُّ إِلَيْهِ مِنْ مَالِهِ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ مَا مِنَّا أَحَدٌ إِلَّا مَالُهُ أَحَبُّ
إِلَيْهِ مِنْ مَالٍ وَارِثُهُ قَالَ فَإِنَّ مَالَهُ مَا قَدَّمَ وَمَالٌ وَارِثُهُ مَا أَخَّرَ. (رواه البخاري)

(1874/44) It is related by Abdullah ibn Mas'ood رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ [once] asked, "Who among you is such that the property of his heir be dearer to him than his own [i.e., who may prefer wealth not to come into his own hands but into the hands of his successors]?" "With all of us," the Companions replied, "the case is that we love our own property more than the property of our heirs [i.e., none of us will like that, instead of him, his successors should come into wealth]." Upon it, the Prophet ﷺ said, "When it is so, know that a man's property is only that which he sends in advance, and what ever of it he keeps back is not his but of his successors [A wise man should, therefore, be more concerned with making his wealth an asset for the Hereafter than leaving it behind to his heirs, and the way to it is that instead of hoarding gold and silver he spent it on charitable works as well]."

(Bukhari)

(١٨٥/٤٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ يُلْغُ بِهِ قَالَ إِذَا مَاتَ الْمَيِّتُ قَالَتِ الْمَلَائِكَةُ مَا قَدَّمَ وَقَالَ بَنُو آدَمَ مَا خَلَفَ.

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(185/45) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه related to us from the Prophet ﷺ "When a person dies, the angels ask [him] what had he sent in advance for himself [i.e., goods he had done and how much had he deposited in the Treasury of Allah for his use in the Hereafter?" The common people, on the other hand, enquire among themselves what property did he leave behind." (Baihaqi)

Slaves Of Wealth Deprived of Allah's Mercy

(١٨٦/٤٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لِعَنَ عَبْدُ
الدِّينَارِ وَلِعَنَ عَبْدُ الدِّرْهَمِ.

(رواه الترمذی)

(186/46) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Devoid of Mercy of the Lord be the slave of the world and removed of the mercy of the Lord be the slave of dirham."

(Tirmidhi)

Commentary: In this Tradition, displeasure is expressed against the slaves who adore wealth, dinar and dirham and Allah's anger called down upon them.

The worship of worldly possessions means to forget the injunctions of Allah and to treat casually the distinctions between what is lawful and what is otherwise in one's eagerness to obtain or possess wealth.

Not To Trade Or Hoard Wealth

(١٨٧/٤٧) عَنْ جُبَيْرِ بْنِ نُفَيْرٍ مُرْسَلًا قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
مَا أَوْحَى إِلَيَّ أَنْ أَجْمَعَ الْمَالَ وَأَكُونُ مِنَ التَّاجِرِينَ وَلَكِنْ أَوْحَى إِلَيَّ أَنْ سَبَّحَ

بِحَمْدِ رَبِّكَ وَتَكُنْ مِنَ السَّاجِدِينَ وَاعْبُدْ رَبَّكَ حَتَّى يَأْتِيَكَ الْيَقِينُ.

(رواه في شرح السنه)

(187/47) Jubair ibn Nufair relates from the Prophet ﷺ, by way of irsal¹, that he said: "It has not been revealed to me by Allah that I should hoard wealth and make buying and selling my profession, but it has been revealed to me that I should celebrate the praise of my Lord and be of those who prostrate before Him and keep obeying my Cherisher till the time of death."

(Sharah As Sunnah)

Commentary: Trade is not prohibited in Islam. On the other hand, a large part of the injunctions of the Shari'ah deal with it and other forms of monetary transactions. The Prophet ﷺ, too has praised to the traders highly who carry on their business honestly. But the special position occupied by the Prophet ﷺ and the nature of the mission entrusted to him by Allah, demanded that he should not engage even in a legitimate profession like trade. Besides, Allah had relieved him of anxiety in this respect by endowing his heart with the virtues of contentment and total reliance upon His Providential care.

What the Prophet intends to convey here is that he has to apply himself single-mindedly to the tasks assigned to him by Allah, it is not his business to carry on trade or to amass wealth.

Among the followers of the sacred Prophet ﷺ, also, it is the ideal state for those who choose for themselves a life of complete reliance upon Allah and are prepared to undergo cheerfully the trails and hardships that go with it. But for others, it is necessary to engage in some lawful economic activity in order to earn a living, particularly in the present times.

Preference Of Poverty

(١٨٨/٤٨) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَرَضَ عَلَيَّ رَبِّي لِيَجْعَلَ لِي بَطْحَاءَ مَكَّةَ ذَهَبًا فَقُلْتُ لَا يَارَبِّ وَلَكِنْ أَشْبِعُ يَوْمًا وَأَجُوعُ يَوْمًا فَإِذَا جُعْتُ تَصَرَّعْتُ إِلَيْكَ وَذَكَرْتُكَ وَإِذَا شَبِعْتُ حَمِدْتُكَ

1. Sometimes a Tabai'ei relates a Tradition but does not mention the name of the companion through whom it had reached him. Such a Tradition is called Mursal and the act of relating it is called irsal.

وَشَكَرْتُكَ. (رواه احمد والترمذی)

(188/48) It is related by Abu Umamah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: My Lord offered to make the valley of Makkah full of gold for me [if I wanted to be rich], but I replied, 'I do not want it [but prefer for myself such a state of want and poverty that] I may eat my fill one day and go without a meal on the other so that when I am hungry, I shall be humble to You, and when I am satisfied with food, I shall praise You and be grateful.' (Musnad Ahmad and Tirmidhi)

Commentary: It shows that the Prophet had voluntarily chosen the state of poverty and starvation in which his whole life was spent.

Most Envable Bondman

(١٨٩/٤٩) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ، قَالَ أَعْطَى أَوْلِيَاءِي عِنْدِي لِمُؤْمِنٍ خَفِيفُ الْحَازِ ذُو حِطٍّ مِنَ الصَّلَاةِ أَحْسَنَ عِبَادَةِ رَبِّهِ وَأَطَاعَهُ فِي السِّرِّ وَكَانَ غَامِضًا فِي النَّاسِ لَا يُشَارُ إِلَيْهِ بِالْأَصَابِعِ وَكَانَ رِزْقُهُ كَفَافًا فَصَبَرَ عَلَى ذَلِكَ ثُمَّ نَقَدَ بِيَدِهِ فَقَالَ عَجَلْتُ مِنْيْتَهُ قُلْتُ بَوَاكِيهَ قُلْ تَرَأَاهُ.

(رواه احمد والترمذی وابن ماجه)

(189/49) It is related by Abu Umamah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Among my friends the most enviable, in my judgement, is the faithful Believer who is lightly burdened and has a large share in prayer, and worships the Lord well and with the awareness that is seeing, or is being seen by Him, and renders habitual obedience to Him, and does all this secretly and not in the open, and remains unknown to fame and the fingers are not stretched towards him, and whose sustenance is proportionate to his essential needs and he is contented with it." The Prophet ﷺ, then, snapped his fingers [as one does to express surprise at anything], and said: "Death comes soon to him and the women to mourn his loss are few and the legacy left behind by him, also, is little."

(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmidhi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: The above saying of the Prophet ﷺ means that though the states and circumstances of his friends and earnest bondsmen of the Lord were different, the most enviable life was of the Believer who had very few encumbrances but a special share in prayer and other modes of worship and was so little known that when he moved about, people did not point out that such and such a man was coming and his daily bread was adequate for his needs and he was also satisfied with it and when the hours of his death struck, he just passed away without leaving behind disputes over the division of property or a host of mourners to grieve over his death.

Surely, the lives of such people are enviable and, indeed, there are such people in the world today.

Abu Darda's Reply To Wife

(١٩٠/٥٠) عَنْ أُمِّ الدَّرْدَاءِ قَالَتْ قُلْتُ لِأَبِي الدَّرْدَاءِ مَا لَكَ لَا تَطْلُبُ كَمَا يَطْلُبُ فَلَانٌ فَقَالَ إِنِّي سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ أَمَامَكُمْ عَقَبَةً كُنُودًا لَا يَجُوزُهَا الْمُتَقِلُّونَ فَاجِبٌ أَنْ أَتَخَفَّفَ لِتِلْكَ الْعَقَبَةِ.

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(190/50) Umm Darda رضى الله عنها, wife of Abu Darda رضى الله عنه, related that [once] she said to her husband, "What is the matter? Why do you not make a request for wealth and position as such-and-such do?" Abu Darda replied, "I have heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: 'Ahead of you lie a difficult valley which the heavily burdened shall not be able to cross easily'. So, I want to stay light for crossing the valley [and do not ask for wealth and position]."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: Conditions had improved so much during the last phase of the Prophet's ﷺ life, and, after him, during the days of the first four Caliphs رضى الله عنهم that goods used to come in from various sources and were distributed to the poor and those in want. In the same way, many people were appointed to public offices for which they received a suitable remuneration, and, thereby, it became possible for them to live comfortably. But, even at that time, some of the Companions رضى الله عنهم preferred a life of poverty for themselves and Abu Darda رضى الله عنه was one of them. They believed that safety against the ordeals of the Judgement Day lay in taking as little a share in material comfort as possible and passing, somehow, the days allotted to them on earth. The Prophet ﷺ had told them that only those will cross the perilous valleys of the Hereafter safely who are lightly burdened in the world while those who will load themselves to excess with worldly goods and connections shall experience much difficulty.

Death Of Poverty

(١٩١/٥١) عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ لَبَيْدٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِنَّهُمَا يَكْرَهُهُمَا ابْنُ آدَمَ يَكْرَهُ الْمَوْتَ وَالْمَوْتُ خَيْرٌ لِلْمُؤْمِنِ مِنَ الْفِتْنَةِ وَيَكْرَهُ قِلَّةَ الْمَالِ وَقِلَّةَ الْمَالِ أَقْلٌ لِلْحِسَابِ.
(رواه احمد)

(191/51) It is related by Muhammad bin Labeed that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There are two things a man dislikes [while there is a lot of good in them for him]: one is death, though death is better for a Believer than mischief, and the other is few possessions, though few possessions involves shorter and lighter [for him] Reckoning of the Hereafter.."

(Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: Everyone fears death and poverty and wants to evade them, though death is a great blessing in the sense that when a person dies, he becomes safe from the faith-consuming mischiefs of the world and the want of worldly possessions is a great blessing because the poor and the indigent will have to render a very brief account on the Day of Judgement and they will quickly pass through the ordeal.

Sayings like these can be a source of great relief to us when we are poverty-stricken or suffer a bereavement.

Most Beloved Of The Lord

(١٩٢/٥٢) عَنْ عِمْرَانَ بْنِ حُصَيْنٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يُحِبُّ عَبْدَهُ الْمُؤْمِنَ الْفَقِيرَ الْمُتَعَفِّفَ أَبَا الْعِيَالِ.
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(192/52) It is related by Imran ibn Husain that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah loves His believing slave who is poor and has a family to support and yet remains pious and right-minded (and does not earn unlawfully or tell anyone of his needs).

(Ibn Majah)

Commentary: One who keeps away from wrongful and prohibited actions in poverty and does not reveal his neediness to others is, indeed, a very brave man and a dearly beloved bondsman of the Lord.

Were they who are caught in indigence and destitution and are spending their days in poverty to seek succour and derive a lesson from these Traditions of the Prophet and remain patient and contented at the life of want and privation decreed for them by Allah, as He had preferred for His loved one, the Prophet [Peace and Blessings of the Lord be upon him], the torments of neediness and starvation would, really, become a source of happiness and tranquillity to them.

Who Hide Their Hunger And Privation

(١٩٣/٥٣) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ جَاعَ أَوْ إِحْتَاجَ فَكْتَمَهُ النَّاسَ كَانَ حَقًّا عَلَى اللَّهِ عَزَّوَجَلَّ أَنْ يُرْزَقَهُ رِزْقَ سَنَةٍ مِنْ حَلَالٍ.
(رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(193/53) It is related by Abdullah ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever is hungry or has any other special need and hides his hunger or need from others [i.e. does not solicit alms by disclosing his indigence to anyone], it is the responsibility of Allah, the All-Powerful, to provide sustenance for him for a year through a lawful means." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: The phrase, "the responsibility of Allah", occurring in the above Tradition means that the Lord, by His Grace, has made it His usual practice, and anyone who puts it to test with an unflinching faith in His Promise and Beneficence will, Insha Allah, see it materialise with his own eyes.

ZUHD [ASCETICISM] AND ITS FRUITS

In the literal sense, zuhd means detachment from anything, while, in the Islamic usage, it means indifference to the joys and comforts of the world and withdrawal from a life of ease and plenty for the sake of the Hereafter. The Prophet ﷺ has, both by word and by deed, exhorted his followers to practise Zuhd and pointed out numerous benefits in it, both of this world and the next.

Beloved Of Both, Allah And Man

(١٩٤/٥٤) عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ ذُلِّبْنِي عَلَى عَمَلٍ إِذَا أَنَا عَمِلْتُهُ أَحَبَّنِي اللَّهُ وَأَحَبَّنِي النَّاسُ قَالَ إِرْهَدْ فِي الدُّنْيَا يُحِبَّكَ اللَّهُ وَأِرْهَدْ فِي مَا عِنْدَ النَّاسِ يُحِبَّكَ النَّاسُ.
(رواه الترمذی وابن ماجه)

(194/54) It is related by Sahl ibn S'ad that [once] a man came to the Prophet ﷺ and said, "O Messenger of Allah! Tell me something on doing which I may be loved by Allah as well as His bondsmen." The Prophet ﷺ said, "Cultivate detachment to the world and Allah will love you, and cultivate aloofness towards what people possess and men will begin to love you."

(Tirmidhi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Fundamentally, it is the attachment to worldly possessions which persuades a man to do things that make him unworthy of the love of Allah. The way to win the love of Allah, therefore, lies in self-denial. When the fondness for the material world will end, the heart will open up to Divine love and the bondsman will find it easy to submit to the will of Allah and to carry out His commands, and, thus, he will become the favourite of the Lord.

Likewise, when people will be convinced that he is not envious of their wealth nor has he any desire for worldly goods or position, they will come to like him.

A Zahid (ascetic) is not a man who practises self-denial for the reason that he is not in a position to indulge in material enjoyment, but one who has a full opportunity to gratify his inclinations and desires and yet refuses to do so and cares nothing for worldly gain or comfort. It is reported about Abdullah ibn Mubarak that when someone called him a Zahid, he retorted, "Zahid was Umar ibn Aziz who, in spite of being the Caliph of the day, shunned personal gain and worldly pleasures."

On Keeping Company With Ascetics

(١٩٥/٥٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ وَابْنِ خَلَّادٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِذَا رَأَيْتُمُ الْعَبْدَ يُعْطَى زُهْدًا فِي الدُّنْيَا وَقَلَّةَ مَنْطِقٍ فَاقْتَرِبُوا مِنْهُ فَإِنَّهُ يَلْقَى الْحِكْمَةَ (رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(195/55) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه and Abu Khallad that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When you see a person whom Allah has endowed with Zuhd, [i.e., the quality of indifference and detachment to the world and taciturnity and he keeps his tongue safe from vain and foolish talk], seek his company and associate habitually with him because Allah has granted him wisdom." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: It means that he preceives the truth correctly and speaks only when it is proper and beneficial. His company has the touch of alchemy. About wisdom it has been said in the Qur'an.

وَمَنْ يُؤْتَ الْحِكْمَةَ فَقَدْ أُوتِيَ خَيْرًا كَثِيرًا (البقرة ٢: ٢٦٩)

He unto whom wisdom is given, he truly hath recieved abundant good.

(Al-Baqarah 2:269)

Ready Recompense

(١٩٦/٥٦) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا زَهْدَ عَبْدٍ فِي الدُّنْيَا إِلَّا أَنْبَتَ اللَّهُ الْحِكْمَةَ فِي قَلْبِهِ وَانْطَقَ بِهَا لِسَانَهُ وَبَصَرَهُ عَيَبَ الدُّنْيَا وَدَاءَهَا وَآخَرَجَهُ مِنْهَا سَالِمًا إِلَى دَارِ السَّلَامِ (رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(196/56) It is related by Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The bondsman who practises Zuhd surely, Allah will cause wisdom to grow in his heart and to flow, also, from his tongue, and He will show him clearly the ills and evils of the world, and, then, their treatment, and make him reach Heaven by taking him safely out of the world."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: From the preceding Tradition we had learnt that Allah would communicate wisdom to the bondsman who followed the path of Zuhd. In the above saying the same thing has been mentioned more explicitly. What has been said in it after the assurance that:

أَنْبَتَ اللَّهُ الْحِكْمَةَ فِي قَلْبِهِ

"Allah will cause wisdom to grow in his heart", is only in the nature of an elucidation.

It shows that the first reward a person who practises ascetism gets directly, in this world, is that the seed of wisdom and awareness is sown in his heart, and, then, as a result of it, wisdom begins to flow from his tongue and the ailments of the world are revealed to him distinctly, along with the ways of overcoming them. The other extraordinary recompense is that Allah picks him up from the world with his faith and piety unharmed and takes him to Paradise which is the home of eternal bliss.

Chosen Bondsmen

(١٩٧/٥٧) عَنْ مَعَاذِ بْنِ جَبَلٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَمَّا بَعَثَ بِهِ إِلَى الْيَمَنِ قَالَ إِيَّاكَ وَالتَّعَمُّ فَإِنَّ عِبَادَ اللَّهِ لَيَسُورُوا بِالْمُتَعَمِّينَ (رواه احمد)

(197/57) It is narrated by Ma'az ibn Jabal ؓ that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ sent him to Yemen, he gave him this advice. "O Ma'az", he said, "Avoid luxury. The chosen bondsmen of Allah are not ease-loving and self-indulgent."

(Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: Though it is not forbidden to lead a life of ease and luxury, it does not befit the worthy bondsmen of the Lord. They would better abstain from it.

اللَّهُمَّ لَا عَيْشَ إِلَّا عَيْشَ الْآخِرَةِ

O Lord! There is no joy other than the joy of the Hereafter.

(١٩٨/٥٨) عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ تَلَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ "فَمَنْ يُرِدِ اللَّهُ أَنْ يَهْدِيَهُ يَشْرَحْ صَدْرَهُ لِلْإِسْلَامِ" - فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّ النُّورَ إِذَا دَخَلَ الصَّدْرَ انْفَسَحَ فَيَقِيلُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ هَلْ لِي لَكَ مِنْ عِلْمٍ يُعْرِفُ بِهِ قَالَ نَعَمْ أَلْتَجَا فِي مِنْ دَارِ الْغُرُورِ وَالْإِنَابَةِ إِلَى دَارِ الْخُلُودِ وَالْإِسْتِعْدَادِ لِلْمَوْتِ قَبْلَ نُزُولِهِ

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(198/58) Narrates Abdullah ibn Mas'ood رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ [once] recited the Qur'anic verse,

فَمَنْ يُرِدِ اللَّهُ أَنْ يَهْدِيَهُ يَشْرَحْ صَدْرَهُ لِلْإِسْلَامِ (الانعام: ١٢٥:٦)

And whomsoever it is Allah's will to guide, He expandeth his bosom unto the Surrender. [Al-An'am 6:125]

And, then explaining it, he said, "When light enters the bosom, the bosom opens up." He was asked, "O Messenger of Allah! Is there a sign from which this state can be recognised?" "Yes", the Prophet replied. "To lose interest in the world, which is the place of deception, and to develop liking for the Hereafter, which is the permanent dwelling place, and to make ready for death before it comes [through earnest repentance, abstention from sin and abundance of prayers]." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: It denotes that when Allah decides to bestow the gift of distinctive servitude on a bondman, He produces in his heart a special light and a characteristic feeling of devoutness. His bosom, then, opens up for a life of submission. Detachment from the material world and solicitude for the Hereafter along with an ardent desire for the attainment of Paradise, become the distinguishing features of his existence from which it can be deduced that the Divine light had reached him and he had attained the cherished goal of Allah-realisation.

Righteousness Is Based On Belief And Zuhd

(١٩٩/٥٩) عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ أَوَّلُ صَلَاحٍ هَذِهِ الْأُمَّةِ الْيَقِينُ وَالزُّهْدُ وَأَوَّلُ فَسَادِهَا الْبُخْلُ وَالْأَمَلُ

(199/59) Amr ibn Shu'ayb said on the authority of his father that his grandfather reported the Prophet ﷺ as saying, "The first thing which affects the well-being of this people is firm belief and Zuhd (asceticism), and the first thing that affects its corruption is niggardliness and hope placed in the distant future (hope for long life). (Baihaqi)

Commentary: Two characteristics marked the righteousness and success of this people: belief and Zuhd. However, corruption will set in on this people with two characteristics: miserliness and a desire to live long in this world, and this will be followed by an unending sequence of evil and wickedness. Down fall of the people will then begin.

Scholars have explained that the word belief in this hadith means a firm belief that whatever one gets in this world and the happy or unfortunate life one lives is from Allah and it is His decree¹.

Zuhd, as we have stated before, means abstinence from the world and not regarding its good things as the objective.

The result of possessing belief and Zuhd is that the person does not lag behind in giving his life and possessions in the way of Allah. This is the key to progress of a Believer. However, when a Believer lacks these things and instead of Allah, he has faith in his wealth and believes that his progress depends on his wealth then he will grow niggardly, surely. Similarly, when he lacks Zuhd and his objective is the world then he will cherish a long life. Obviously, with these two evil characteristics, he will go on slumping down from his true position.

The Messenger of Allah ﷺ has, therefore, stressed that his people must develop the noble characteristics of belief and Zuhd and shun niggardliness and desire for long life or hope placed in the distant future.

① The following supplications of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ refer to belief in this sense.

(i). اللهم انى استلک ایمانا دائما یبشر قلبی وقینا صادقا حتى اعلم انه لا یصینى الا ما کتبت لى
 (ii). اللهم اقسم لنا من البقین ماتھون به علینا مصائب الدنيا

Islamic Asceticism

(٢٠٠/٦٠) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ الرَّهَادَةُ فِي الدُّنْيَا لَيْسَتْ بِتَحْرِيمِ الْحَلَالِ وَلَا بِإِضَاعَةِ الْمَالِ وَلَكِنَّ الرَّهَادَةَ فِي الدُّنْيَا أَنْ لَا تَكُونَ بِمَا فِي يَدَيْكَ أَوْ تَقِ بِمَا فِي يَدَيِ اللَّهِ وَأَنْ تَكُونَ فِي ثَوَابِ الْمُصِيبَةِ إِذَا أَنْتَ أَصِيبْتَ بِهَا أَرْغَبَ فِيهَا لَوَ أَنَّهَا أُبْقِيَتْ لَكَ

(رواه الترمذی وابن ماجه)

(200/60) It is related by Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضی اللہ عنہ that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Zuhd in relation to the world and detachment from what it has to offer, [which is wholly a spiritual state], is not the name of making for yourself unlawful what is allowed and destroying your goods, but its real requirements that you place greater reliance upon what is with God and His control than upon what is with you and in your control. And when you undergo a disagreeable experience or suffer a calamity, the ardour and yearning for the reward of the Hereafter is greater than the wish that it may not have happened [to you] at all."

(Tirmidhi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: A common misconception about Zuhd is that a man should deem all the good things of life forbidden to himself: he should neither eat delicious food nor drink cold water nor wear expensive clothes nor sleep on a soft bed, and if he received some money from anywhere, he should quickly part with it. The Holy Prophet ﷺ has removed the mistaken idea in the above Tradition by telling that Zuhd did not mean that one made unlawful for oneself the bodily pleasures Allah had declared as legitimate for his Bondsmen and did away with the money that might come to his hand but that a man should not rely upon what he possessed or controlled in this world, believing that it was wholly transitory and perishable, and put his trust in the hidden and everlasting treasures of the Almighty and in His providential care, and its other test and indication was that when a suffering or distress overtook him, the longing for the reward on it in the Hereafter was stronger than the wish that he would have been left untouched by it, i.e., instead of desiring that the misfortune had not reached him, he felt in his heart that the recompense he would receive on it in the Hereafter would be thousand times better than the affliction had stayed away.

Such a state can, evidently, be attained only when the yearning for the joy of the Hereafter is greater than the desire of worldly comfort — and this is what Zuhd, basically, signifies.

It must, however, not be imagined that in place of comfort and well-being, people should wish and pray to Allah for pain and suffering in the present existence. A clear interdiction against it is contained in a number of Traditions. The Prophet ﷺ always exhorted the Companions رضي الله عنهم to beseech Allah only for comfort and well-being and the same was his own practice.

The purport of Abu Zarr's report, thus, is not, at all, that the bondsman should long for grief or misfortune in the present world. What it simply shows is that when a loss or distress might befall him, he should, as a truthful Believer and a genuine ascetic, attach greater importance to the reward he was going to get on it in the future world than to the feeling that it should have not reached him at all. The difference between the two states needs to be understood clearly.

Prophet's Liking For Poverty

(٢٠١/٦١) عَنْ أَنَسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ اللَّهُمَّ أَحْيِنِي مِسْكِينًا
وَأَمِتْنِي مِسْكِينًا وَأَحْشِرْنِي فِي زُمْرَةِ الْمَسَاكِينِ

(رواه الترمذی والبيهقي في شعب الايمان و رواه ابن ماجه عن ابى سعيد)

(201/61) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ made this supplication: "O Allah! Keep me alive in the state of the indigence, and raise me from the world in the state of indigence, and let me be in the company of those that are indigent."

(Tirmidhi and Baihaqi)

Commentary: We have seen in the preceding pages that when Allah asked the Prophet ﷺ if the valley of Makkah be filled with gold for him, the Prophet ﷺ replied, "No, my Lord! What I like is that I may eat my fill on one day and go without a meal on the other."

The Prophet ﷺ had purposely chosen a life of poverty for himself which was also the inclination of his enlightened inner self. It is indisputable that no other pattern of living could be more suited to the lofty position he occupied and the noble task he had to perform. Should the Lord grant contentment and submission to anyone, it is, generally, preferable for him from the viewpoint of Faith and the Hereafter to lead an existence of want and indigence instead of plenty and prosperity.

قَالَ اللَّهُمَّ اجْعَلْ رِزْقَ آلِ مُحَمَّدٍ قُوتًا وَفِي رَوَايَةٍ كَفَافًا (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(202/62) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ [often] used to pray: "O Allah! Bestow upon the dependants of Muhammad only as much of provision as is necessary to sustain life."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In the literal sense, the word Aal [used in the above Tradition] means, household members also dependants, but in the present Tradition it, apparently, denotes the household members. Hence, we have, here, translated it as such.

Both Quwat and Kafaf, occurring in the original Arabic text, signify that the provision should be only as much as was necessary to keep the business of living going. It neither be so meagre as to make it difficult for the bondsman to attend to his duties due to hunger or mental distress or compel him to extend a begging hand before others nor so abundant that he may hoard and preserve it for future need.

Not Even Barely Bread

(٢٠٣/٦٣) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ مَا شَبِعَ آلُ مُحَمَّدٍ مِنْ خُبْزِ الشَّعِيرِ يَوْمَيْنِ

مُتَتَابِعَيْنِ حَتَّى قُبِضَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(203/63) It is related by Sayyidah Ayeshah رضي الله عنها, "The members of the Prophet's ﷺ household never ate even barley bread to their satisfaction for two consecutive days up to the time when he was taken in death."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that in the Prophet's ﷺ lifetime it never happened that his family would have eaten even barley bread to their satisfaction for two days consecutively. If they ate a full meal on one day they had to starve on the other.

(٢٠٤/٦٤) عَنْ سَعِيدِ الْمَقْبُرِيِّ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّهُ مَرَّ بِقَوْمٍ بَيْنَ أَيْدِيهِمْ شَاةٌ مَّصْلِيَّةٌ فَدَعَوْهُ فَأَبَى أَنْ يَأْكُلَ وَقَالَ خَرَجَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِنَ الدُّنْيَا وَلَمْ يَشْبَعْ مِنْ خُبْزِ الشَّعِيرِ
(رواه البخارى)

(204/64) Sa'eed Maqbuli narrates on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that, once, he [Abu Hurairah] came across some people who had a roasted goat before them. They invited Abu Hurairah to join them but he declined, saying, "[what pleasure can this meal have for me when I know that] the Prophet departed from the world without ever having had a full meal of barley bread."
(Bukhari.)

Unparalleled Persecution

(رواه الترمذی)

(205/65) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I was threatened in the path of Allah as no one had been threatened, and I was tortured in the path of Allah as no one had been tortured, and, once, thirty days and nights passed when there was nothing for me and Bilal to eat, which a living soul could, except, what Bilal had hidden under his armpit."

(Timidhi)

Commentary: The Prophet ﷺ narrated this incident of his life to impress upon his followers that he had to endure unparalleled pain and presecution in the cause of Faith but he cared nothing for the threats and extreme cruelty of his enemies and discharged his duties with unswerving singleness of purpose. An instance of the privations he suffered was that once he had to go without food for a full month and ate nothing save what Bilal had concealed under his armpit.

Oven Not Lighted For Months

(٢٠٦/٦٦) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أَنَّهَا قَالَتْ لِعُرْوَةَ ابْنِ أُخْتَيْ إِنْ كُنَّا لَنَنْظُرُ إِلَى الْهَالِلِ ثَلَاثَةَ أَهْلَةٍ فِي شَهْرَيْنِ وَمَا أُوقِدَتْ فِي آيَاتِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ نَارٌ فَقُلْتُ مَا كَانَ يُعَيِّشُكُمْ قَالَتْ الْأَسْوَدَانِ التَّمْرُ وَالْمَاءُ إِلَّا أَنَّهُ قَدْ كَانَ لِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ جِيرَانٌ مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ كَانَ لَهُمْ مَنَاحٍ وَكَانُوا يَمْنَحُونَ لِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَيَسْقِينَا (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(206/66) It is narrated about Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that she said to Urwah: "My nephew! We [the members of Prophet's ﷺ family] [spent our days thus that] sometimes we saw three successive moons [i.e., full two months elapsed] and the oven was not lit in houses." [Urwah relates that, upon it he asked], "How did you remain alive?" Ayshah رضى الله عنها replied, "[We lived] on dates and water. Indeed, there were a few Ansar neighbours of Prophet ﷺ who had some milch cattle. They sent him milk as a gift and he used to give some of it to us also."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: They lived in such tight circumstances that the oven was not lit in their houses for two consecutive months. They had nothing in their house to cook and lived on dates, water, and milk sent to them by their Ansar neighbors. (Ansar were the Muslims of Madinah who had welcomed the Prophet ﷺ and the Muslim emigrants of Makkah).

Continuous Hunger

(٢٠٧/٦٧) عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَبِيتُ اللَّيْلَ إِلَى الْمُتَابَعَةِ طَاوِيًا هُوَ وَأَهْلُهُ لَا يَجِدُونَ عِشَاءً وَإِنَّمَا كَانَ عِشَاءُ هُمْ خُبْزُ الشَّعِيرِ (رواه الترمذی)

(207/67) Abdullah bin Abbas رضى الله عنه narrates "Several nights were spent by the Prophet ﷺ in such a condition that he and the members of his family remained without a meal because they had nothing to eat in the night, and [when they ate], their dinner, generally, consisted of barley bread alone." (Tirmidhi)

The Prophet's Mail Was Mortgaged With A Jew

(٢٠٨/٦٨) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ تُوَفِّي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَدِرْعُهُ

مَرْهُونَةٌ عِنْدَ يَهُودِيٍّ بِثَلَاثِينَ صَاعًا مِنْ شَعِيرٍ (رواه البخارى)

(208/68) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها, "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ died in such a state that his coat of mail was mortgaged with a Jew for 30 Sa's of barley." (Bukahri.)

Commentary: According to the commentators, a Sa' is equal to about 3½ seers. Thus, 30 Sa's would make nearly 2½ maunds.

The object here is to show at what level of want and neediness the Prophet's ﷺ household subsisted, even during the last days of his life when almost the whole of Arabia had come under his sway.

The wisdom of borrowing from a Jew when there lived a number of Muslims in Madinah from whom such small loans could be taken at the time of need, perhaps, was that:

(i) The Prophet ﷺ did not want his friends and followers to know his need for, then, instead of lending the money [or any other commodity], they would have liked to give it as a gift and it would have imposed a burden upon them. Besides, to ask them for a loan in this way could have amounted to a request or solicitation.

(ii) The Prophet ﷺ wanted to avoid the smallest trace of suspicion that he desired a return, in any form, from those who had acquired the wealth of Faith through him.

(iii) Such transactions with non-Muslims would have led to the growth of friendly relations with them and paved the way for those people to know the Prophet ﷺ intimately and to observe his character and moral disposition from close quarters. They would, thus, have been enabled to reap the fruits of Faith and earn the countenance of the Lord. Results like that did ensue. It is, for instance, reported in Mishkat, on the authority of Imam Baihaqi's Dalel-un-Nabuwat, about a wealthy Jew of Madina that the Prophet ﷺ had borrowed some moeny from him. When he came to demand the payment of debt, the Prophet ﷺ expressed his inability as he had no money with him at that time but the Jew was adamant. He refused to go away without receiving the debt, and sat down and did not move from there till a whole day and a whole night passed, and the Prophet ﷺ, during that time, offered the prayers of Zuhr, 'Asr, Maghrib and 'Isha in his presence. Some of the Companions ﷺ were greatly annoyed at it and they also secretly used threats to persuade the Jew to leave the place but when the Prophet ﷺ came to know about it, he remarked, "I have been commanded by Allah that there should be no injustice and unfairness as regards a contract." On hearing it, the Companions ﷺ became silent. After some time the Jew said that, actually, he had not come to demand the payment but wanted to see whether the Prophet ﷺ possessed the signs and qualities stated in the Torah about the messenger of Allah who was going to be raised up during the Last Phase and he had realised and become convinced that the sacred Prophet was the promised one. Upon it, the Jew recited the Kalimah and placing his entire wealth before the Prophet ﷺ said, "All of my goods are here. Now, decide about them according to your guidance and spend them in whatever way you like."¹

(٢٠٩/٦٩) عَنْ عُمَرَ قَالَ دَخَلْتُ عَلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَإِذَا هُوَ مُضْطَجِعٌ عَلَى رِمَالٍ حَصِيرٍ لَيْسَ بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَهُ فِرَاشٌ قَدْ أَثَرَ الرِّمَالُ بِجَنْبِهِ مُتَكِنًا عَلَى إِسَادَةٍ مِنْ أَدَمٍ حَشَوْهَا لَيْفٌ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَدْعُ اللَّهَ فَلْيُوسِّعْ عَلَيَّ أُمَّتِكَ فَإِنَّ فَارِسَ وَالرُّومَ قَدْ وَسَّعَ عَلَيْهِمْ وَهُمْ لَا يَعْبُدُونَ اللَّهَ فَقَالَ أَوْفَى هَذَا أَنْتَ يَا ابْنَ الْخَطَابِ أُولَئِكَ قَوْمٌ عَجَلْتُ لَهُمْ طَيِّبًا تَهُمُ فِي الْحَيَاةِ الدُّنْيَا وَفِي رَوَايَةٍ أَمَّا تَرْضَى أَنْ تَكُونَ لَهُمُ الدُّنْيَا وَلَنَا الْآخِرَةُ (رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(209/69) Narrates Umar ﷺ "I went to the Prophet ﷺ and saw that he was lying on a mat made of the leaves of the date-palm, and there was no bedding between him and the mat, and the texture of the mat had left deep marks on his body, and under his head was placed a leather pillow stuffed with the bark of the date-tree. On seeing it, I said, Messenger of Allah ﷺ! Pray to Allah to grant prosperity to your followers. He has bestowed riches upon the people of Rome and Persia even though they are not Believers." The Prophet ﷺ replied, "O son of Khattab! Do you also think like that? They are the people [who have been deprived of the blessings of the Hereafter owing to their heathenish and ungodly ways], and, hence, the comforts [Allah wanted to confer upon them] have been granted to them in this world." [In another version of the same Tradition it is said that the Prophet ﷺ replied, "O Umar! Do you not prefer that they took the joys of this world and we of the Hereafter]?"

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It hurt Sayyidina Umar ﷺ to see the Prophet ﷺ spending his days in conditions of suffering and poverty, and he, naturally, wished that Allah granted him prosperity so that he did not have to bear all that hardship. But since he knew that the Prophet ﷺ would not pray for wealth and worldly possessions for himself, he requested to supplicate Allah for his followers, and, at the same time, suggested that worldly riches were such an ordinary thing that Allah had bestowed them even upon infidels like the Romans and Persians. Why would he, then not grant them to the Prophet's ﷺ followers if he prayed? The Prophet's ﷺ expressed surprise at it, and, by way of an admonition, said to Sayyidina Umar, "Are you still so unaware as to talk like that? With the pagans and the unbelievers like Romans and the Persians the matter is that they have no share in the life of the Hereafter which is what really counts. So, the joys and comforts Allah wanted to bestow upon them have been granted to them in the present existence. To be envious of their material pleasures is, therefore, unworthy of one who has realised the truth. You ought to be eager only for the Hereafter where you have to live forever. This world is but a temporary resting-place. Comfort or discomfort here has no meaning."

Sleeps on a Mat Like a Traveller

(٢١٠/٧٠) عَنِ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ نَامَ عَلَى حَصِيرٍ فَقَامَ وَقَدْ أَثَّرَ فِي جَسَدِهِ فَقَالَ ابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ لَوِ أَمَرْتَنَا أَنْ نَبْسُطَ لَكَ وَنَعْمَلَ فَقَالَ مَالِي وَ لِلدُّنْيَا وَمَا أَنَا وَالِدُّنْيَا إِلَّا كَرَآكِبٍ اسْتَظَلُّ

(رواه احمد والترمذى وابن ماجه)

تَحْتَ شَجَرَةٍ ثُمَّ رَاحَ وَتَرَكَهَا

(210/70) Abdullah ibn Mas'ood رضي الله عنه related to us that the Prophet ﷺ [once] slept on a mat of date-palm leaves, [and] when he got up the marks of the mat could be seen on his body. Upon it, he said, "Messenger of Allah ﷺ! If you allow, I can arrange for a bed." The Prophet ﷺ replied, "What have I to do with the comforts of this world? I am not connected with the world more than the traveller who sits, for a short while, under the shade of a tree, and, then, gets up and leaves for his destination." (Musnad Ahmad, Tirmidhi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: The substance of the above saying is that the position of the Prophet ﷺ as regards the world was like that of the traveller who did not deem it necessary to make arrangements for his comfort during the brief halt he made under the shade of a tree and had no other worry than to reach his destination. In fact, the condition of anyone to whom the reality of this world and of the Hereafter becomes evident cannot be different. To plan and prepare, on a larger scale, for bodily ease and enjoyment for the temporary stay here in this world will appear to him to be utterly foolish and purposeless.

Wealth Is A Blessing If.....

As we have pointed out already, only the wealth which breeds Allah-forgetfulness and indifference towards future existence is bad and pernicious, but if a man, by the grace of Allah, makes his worldly possessions a means of seeking the good pleasure of the Lord and gaining the entry into Paradise, these are a great blessing and a divine gift. The Traditions we are now going to discuss deal with the same truth.

(٢١١/٧١) عَنْ رَجُلٍ مِنْ أَصْحَابِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ كُنَّا فِي مَجْلِسٍ فَطَلَعَ عَلَيْنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَعَلَى رَأْسِهِ أَثَرُ مَاءٍ فَقُلْنَا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ نَرَاكَ طَيِّبَ النَّفْسِ قَالَ أَجَلُ قَالَ ثُمَّ خَاضَ الْقَوْمُ فِي ذِكْرِ الْغِنَى فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا بَأْسَ بِالْغِنَى لِمَنْ اتَّقَى اللَّهَ عَزَّوَجَلَّ وَالصِّحَّةُ لِمَنْ اتَّقَى خَيْرٌ مِنَ الْغِنَى وَطَيِّبُ النَّفْسِ مِنَ النَّعِيمِ (رواه احمد)

(211/71) A Companion of the Prophet ﷺ has related "A few of us were sitting together and the Messenger of Allah ﷺ came. There was a trace of water on his head [i.e., it appeared that he had just taken a bath]. So, one of us said, 'O Messenger of Allah! We feel you are in very good spirits at the moment.' 'Yes, by the grace of Allah, it is so', the Prophet replied. We, then, began to talk about wealth [i.e., whether it was good or bad, and harmful or beneficial for the Hereafter to possess it]. The Prophet, thereupon, remarked, 'There is no harm in being rich for one who fears Allah, and for the virtuous good health is better than wealth, and tranquillity of the heart, too, is a Divine favour [for which one should be grateful to the Lord].' (Musnad-Ahmad)

Commentary: It denotes that if material prosperity is accompanied by righteousness and the fear of Allah and willing observance of His commands, it is not harmful for Faith. On the contrary, with Allah's favour, worldly possessions, in that case can be a source of spiritual advancement and elevation of ranks in the Hereafter. For example, the wealth of Sayyidina Uthman رضي الله عنه, which he spent freely in the way of Allah, had a good deal of share in his spiritual eminence. It was on such occasions that choicest tidings about him were given by the Prophet ﷺ. It is, however, evident that piety does not, generally, go with wealth. In a majority of cases the wealthy go on the wrong track.

(٢١٢/٧٢) عَنْ سَعْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يُحِبُّ

الْعَبْدَ التَّقِيَّ الْغَنِيِّ الْخَفِيِّ (رواه مسلم)

(212/72) It is related by Sa'd رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah loves the pious rich man who [in spite of his piety and wealth] is inconspicuous." (Muslim)

Commentary: The word 'inconspicuous' here denotes a person about whom it is, generally not known that besides being rich he is also pious and pure in heart. The bondsman is whom all the three qualities are present — that is, he is rich, pious and unknown to fame — at the same time, is a favourite of the Lord.

Obtaining Wealth For Virtuous Ends

(٢١٣/٧٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ طَلَبَ

الدُّنْيَا حَلَالًا اسْتَغْفَأَ عَنِ الْمُسْئِلَةِ وَ سَعَى عَلَى أَهْلِهِ وَتَعَطَّفَا عَلَى جَارِهِ لَقِيَ

اللَّهُ تَعَالَى يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ وَوَجْهَهُ مِثْلُ الْقَمَرِ لَيْلَةَ الْبَدْرِ وَمَنْ طَلَبَ الدُّنْيَا حَلَالًا مُكَاثِّرًا مُفَاخِرًا مُرَائِيًا لَقِيَ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى وَهُوَ عَلَيْهِ غَضَبَان

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الايمان و ابننعم في الحلية)

(213/73) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever seeks to obtain wealth by legitimate means [and] with the object that he may not have to beg from others and can provide his dependants with the necessities and pleasant conditions of life, as well as lend a helping hand to neighbours will appear before Allah, on the Day of Judgement, in such glory that his face will be radiant like a full moon. And whoever seeks, through by legitimate means, to obtain wealth with the object that he may become very rich and can give himself freely before others and be able to practice liberality in order to win the admiration of men will appear before Allah in such a state that He will be severely displeased with him."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: It shows that the earning of wealth by lawful means and for a worthy purpose is not only permissible but a virtue of such a high order that there will be a special favour of the Lord on him on the Judgement Day due to which his face will shine like the full moon. But if the aim and purpose of obtaining wealth may only be to become rich and important and to make an ostentatious display of one's prosperity, even if it is earned fairly and honestly, it will be so sinful that God will be very angry with such a bondsman on the Day of Requit. Ill-gotten wealth, in any case, is a curse of the highest degree.

(٢١٤/٧٤) عَنْ أَبِي كَبْشَةَ الْأَنْمَارِيِّ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ ثَلَاثُ أَقْسِمُ عَلَيْهِنَّ وَأُحَدِّثُكُمْ حَدِيثًا فَاحْفَظُوهُ فَأَمَّا الَّذِي أُقْسِمُ عَلَيْهِنَّ فَإِنَّهُ مَا نَقَصَ مَالُ عَبْدٍ مِنْ صَدَقَةٍ وَلَا ظَلِمَ عَبْدٌ مَظْلَمَةً صَبَرَ عَلَيْهَا إِلَّا زَادَهُ اللَّهُ بِهَا عِزًّا وَلَا فَتَحَ عَبْدٌ بَابَ مَسْئَلَةٍ إِلَّا فَتَحَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهَا بَابَ فَقْرٍ وَأَمَّا الَّذِي أُحَدِّثُكُمْ فَاحْفَظُوهُ فَقَالَ إِنَّمَا الدُّنْيَا لِأَرْبَعَةٍ نَفَرٍ عَبْدٌ رَزَقَهُ اللَّهُ مَالًا وَ عِلْمًا فَهُوَ يَتَّقِي فِيهِ رَبَّهُ وَ يَصِلُ رَحِمَهُ وَ يَعْمَلُ لِلَّهِ فِيهِ بِحَقِّهِ فَهَذَا بِأَفْضَلِ الْمَنَازِلِ وَ عَبْدٌ رَزَقَهُ اللَّهُ عِلْمًا وَلَمْ يَرْزُقْهُ مَالًا فَهُوَ صَادِقُ النَّبِيِّ يَقُولُ لَوْ أَنَّ لِي

مَا لَا لَعِمْتُ بِعَمَلِ فَلَانٍ فَاجِرٌ هُمَا سَوَاءٌ وَعَبْدٌ رَزَقَهُ اللَّهُ مَالًا وَلَمْ يَرْزُقْهُ عِلْمًا .
 فَهُوَ يَتَخَبَّطُ فِي مَالِهِ لَغَيْرِ عِلْمٍ لَا يَتَّقِي فِيهِ رَبَّهُ وَلَا يَصِلُ فِيهِ رَحْمَهُ وَلَا يَعْمَلُ فِيهِ
 بِحَقِّ فَهَذَا بِأَخْبَثِ الْمَنَازِلِ وَعَبْدٌ لَمْ يَرْزُقْهُ اللَّهُ مَالًا وَلَا عِلْمًا فَهُوَ يَقُولُ لَوْ أَنَّ
 لِي مَا لَا لَعِمْتُ فِيهِ بِعَمَلِ فَلَانٍ فَهُوَ نَيْتُهُ وَوَزَرُهُمَا سَوَاءٌ (رواه الترمذی)

(214/74) It is related by Abu Kabshah el-Anmari that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "There are three things which I swear to be true and, in addition to them, there is another thing which I want to tell you. So, remember it. The three things which I swear to be true are: (i) No one will become poor by spending in the way of Allah [i.e., Allah will bestow prosperity on him and multiply his wealth]; (ii) When a man is wronged and he remains patient, Allah will raise him esteem in return for it [i.e., when a wrong is perpetrated on a person and he bears it patiently, Allah will cause an increase in his high rank and good reputation]; and (iii) No one will open the door of begging but Allah will open the door of poverty for him [i.e., whoever will make it his habit to extend a begging hand toward others will be condemned to want and indigence by Allah]. The thing that I want to tell you and which you should remember, apart from these, is that there are four types of men in this world. (i) One whom Allah has granted wealth as well as the knowledge of the correct way of life and he fears Allah in the expenditure and utilisation of his wealth and shows kindness to relatives by means of it and spends it in the way it ought to be done for the good pleasure of the Lord. This person is of the highest station. (ii) The slave whom Allah has endowed with correct knowledge [and the right spirit] but was not given wealth; his intention is sound and he [honestly] feels and says that if he had wealth, he, too, would spend and utilise it as virtuous man does. The recompense of both these men is equal [i.e., people of the second category will be rewarded in the same way as those of the first due to the purity of their intention]. (iii) The slave whom Allah has given wealth but not the knowledge [and spirit] of using and spending it properly; he spends his wealth foolishly and in wrong ways and without the fear of Allah, and does not show kindness to relatives through his worldly possessions nor spends as he ought to spend. These are the worst kind of men.

(iv) The slave whom Allah gave neither wealth nor right knowledge [and spirit]; he says that if they had wealth, he, too, would spend it as one wasteful and self-indulgent man does. Such is their intention and the sin of both these types of men is equal [i.e., the fault of the people of the last category will be identical, due to their evil intention, to what is of the people belonging to the third category owing to their misdeeds].

(Tirmidhi)

Commentary: The meaning of the above Tradition has been explained in the course of the translation. It is, however, necessary to bear in mind that the intention of evil conduct which has been condemned here as equivalent to the evil conduct itself belongs to the class of resolve and determination, i.e., the bondsman may be eager and bent upon committing a sin but cannot do so owing to an incapability or lack of opportunity. When the intention of a person is of that degree, it will amount to the commission of the sin and will be deserving of punishment in the same way as the transgression upon which his heart is set.

It is Istedraj

(٢١٥/٧٥) عَنْ عُقْبَةَ بْنِ عَامِرٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِذَا رَأَيْتَ اللَّهَ عَزَّوَجَلَّ يُعْطِي الْعَبْدَ عَلَى مَعَاصِيهِ مَا يَحِبُّ فَإِنَّمَا هُوَ اسْتِدْرَاجٌ ثُمَّ تَلَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَلَمَّا نَسُوا مَا ذُكِّرُوا بِهِ فَتَحْنَا عَلَيْهِمُ أَبْوَابَ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ حَتَّى إِذَا فَرِحُوا بِمَا أُوتُوا أَخَذْنَاهُمْ بَغْتَةً فَإِذَا هُمْ مُبْلِسُونَ (رواه احمد)

(215/75) It is related by Uqbah ibn 'Amir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When you see that Allah confers His favour upon someone who desires it [like wealth, honour and comfort] in spite of his evil conduct, know that, for him, it is Istidraj." After saying that, the Prophet ﷺ recited the following verse of the Qur'an:

فَلَمَّا نَسُوا مَا ذُكِّرُوا بِهِ فَتَحْنَا عَلَيْهِمُ أَبْوَابَ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ حَتَّى إِذَا فَرِحُوا بِمَا أُوتُوا أَخَذْنَاهُمْ بَغْتَةً فَإِذَا هُمْ مُبْلِسُونَ (الانعام: ٤٤:٦)

Then, when they forgot that where of they had been reminded. We opened unto them the gates of all things till, even as they were rejoicing in that which they were given, We seized them unawares, and lo, they were dumbfounded. [Al-An'am 6:44]

(Musnad-Ahmad)

Commentary: Istidraj is among the laws of Allah that are operative in the world and according to it He directs the affairs of individuals and communities. It denotes that when a defiant person (or group) exceeds the limits of intransigence, Allah, out of extreme displeasure, occasionally, gives him rope, and the door of boons blessings is opened for him so that he may go ahead with sinfulness, and, then, receive the severest chastisement. In the usage of Islam, it is called Istidraj.

The above Tradition, thus, tells us that if we see a person or group of persons that has completely forgotten Allah and their life is soaked in sensuality and wickedness and yet various Divine favours are being conferred upon them and they enjoy all the pleasant conditions of life then we should not be misled into believing that Allah is bestowing His blessings upon them as a mark of good pleasure. He is only giving them a free scope, and their consequences will be terrible.

Do Not Be Envious of The Prosperity of An Evil Doer

(٢١٦/٧٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تَغِبْطَنَّ فَاجِرًا بِنِعْمَةٍ فَإِنَّكَ لَا تَدْرِي مَا هُوَ لَاقٍ بَعْدَ مَوْتِهِ إِنَّ لَهُ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ قَاتِلًا لَا يَمُوتُ يَعْنِي النَّارَ (رواه البغوي في شرح السنة)

(216/76) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "You should never be envious of an evil-doer [an infidel or a pervert] because of a blessing or prosperity. You do not know what suffering he is going to endure after death. At Allah's place [i.e., in the Hereafter] there is a killer for him that will not die." [The narrator, Abdullah ibn Abi Maryam who related it, on the authority of the Abu Hurayrah, says that] "by 'killer' the Prophet meant the Fire of Hell [i.e., the evil-doer is going to live in Hell forever]. [To be envious of such a man is rank foolishness and ignorance]." (Baghwi) days in pain and poverty, sees some wicked and godless person surrounded with comfort and luxuries, the devil puts various doubts into his heart, or, at least, he begins to feel envious of his happy circumstances. But it is the height of ingratitude to Allah. The Prophet ﷺ in this Tradition, has warned that no believing person should grudge the shortlived happiness and prosperity of those who are devoid of the blessing of Faith and good-doing because, after all, they are going to undergo the torment of Fire in the Hereafter. If the bitter end which is awaiting those unfortunate men can be known, the material comfort and physical pleasures they are enjoying will appear to be no better than the special consideration that is shown to those who are sentenced to death a few days before their execution. This, exactly, is the nature of the prosperity and bodily enjoyment of the rebels against Allah in the sight of the bondsmen who are blessed with faith in the reality of the Hereafter, as related by the Prophet عليهم السلام. They do not view with envy their wealth and comfort but are thankful to Allah that by endowing them with Faith He has saved them from the frightful chastisement that is in store for the impudent slaves of the flesh.

The humble writer has known faithful bondsmen who, on seeing godless men of the world, spontaneously recited supplication of gratitude and thankfulness of the Lord the scared Prophet ﷺ used to make when he saw anyone in distress:

Praise be to Who has saved me from that with which He hath afflicted thee, and made me better than many of His creatures.

الْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ الَّذِي عَافَانِي مِمَّا
ابْتَلاَكَ بِهِ وَفَضَّلَنِي عَلَى كَثِيرٍ
مِمَّنْ خَلَقَ تَفَضُّلاً

Consider No One Lowly Because Of Poverty

وَسَلَّمَ مَا رَأَيْكَ فِي هَذَا؟ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ هَذَا رَجُلٌ مِنْ فَقَرَاءِ الْمُسْلِمِينَ، هَذَا حَرِيٌّ إِنْ خَطَبَ أَنْ لَا يُنْكَحَ وَإِنْ شَفَعَ أَنْ لَا يُشَفَّعَ وَإِنْ قَالَ أَنْ لَا يُسْمَعَ لِقَوْلِهِ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ هَذَا خَيْرٌ مِنْ مِثْلِ الْأَرْضِ مِثْلِي هَذَا (رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(217/77) Sahl bin Sa'ad رضي الله عنه narrated that once a person [who, perhaps, came from the class of the rich and the distinguished] passed in front of the Prophet ﷺ. [On seeing him], the Prophet ﷺ asked one of those who were sitting with him at that time what he thought of him. He replied, "He is one of the most respectable men. Such is his eminence that if he makes an offer of marriage to the daughter of any family, it will be accepted and she will be married to him, and if he makes a recommendation in any matter, it will be granted." At this reply, the Prophet ﷺ kept quiet and did not say anything. After some time, another bondsman of the Lord passed by and the Prophet ﷺ asked the some person again, "What do you think of Him?" He replied, "O Messenger of Allah! He is one of the weak and indigent Muslims. He is such a man that if he makes own offer of marriage anywhere, it will be rejected, and if he makes a recommendation in any matter, it will be turned down, and if he wants to say any thing, it will not be heard." The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, said, "This man is better than a whole world full of men like the other." (Bukari and Muslim)

Commentary: Generally, material prosperity and worldly emnience are considered to be the criterion of greatness and people are impressed by them while those who are not rich and influential are looked down upon as lowly however good and noble they may be from the moral and spiritual point of view. The above saying is aimed at removing the folly.

It is quite possible that the person who was sitting with the Prophet ﷺ and with whom he was talking, at that time, was, also, a victim of it and the Prophet ﷺ spoke to him in that manner to correct him.

Commentators have opined and the words of the Tradition also show that both the persons who passed by were Muslims but with the difference that the one to went past first was superior in wealth and position but inferior in faith and piety while the other was superior in faith and piety but inferior financially and in social rank. It was because of it that the Prophet ﷺ remarked that if the likes of the first mentioned were so numerous that the earth was filled with them, the poor and the needy bondsman who passed later would by himself be better and nobler than the whole of them.

(٢١٨/٧٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ رَبُّ

أَشْعَثَ أَغْبَرَ مَذْفُوعٌ بِالْأَبْوَابِ لَوْ أَقْسَمَ عَلَى اللَّهِ لَأَبْرَهُ (رواه مسلم)

(218/78) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Many among those whose hair are dishevelled and bodies covered with dust and who are pushed away from the door [due to their apparent wretchedness occupy such a lofty place in the sight of the Lord] that if they vow in the name of Allah, He surely, will fulfil the vow." (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that no one should be scorned at or rejected as inferior because of his unkempt and untidy condition. Some of them attain a position of such nearness and preference with the Lord, by effacing themselves for His sake, that if, relying upon Him, they swear about a thing that it will or will not be that way, Allah does not put them to shame and makes it happen accordingly.

It is worth remembering that the object of the above Tradition is not to encourage squalor and untidiness, as some people imagine. From the Prophet's ﷺ sayings and other biographical accounts it is clear that he, generally, like to be near and clean and advised others, also, not to be dirty and ill-clad. When he saw anyone going to the extreme of self-denial and wearing dirty and tattered cloths and caring nothing for his appearance, he reproved him sternly. This Tradition is intended merely to give a warning advice to those who regard the poor and destitute bondsmen of the Lord as despicable and do not want to mix with them due to self-conceit.

Blessedness Of The Weak And Indigent

(٢١٩/٧٩) عَنْ مُصْعَبِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ رَأَى سَعْدٌ أَنَّ لَهُ فَضْلًا عَلَى مَنْ دُونَهُ

فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ هَلْ تَنْصُرُونَ وَتُرْزَقُونَ إِلَّا بِضِعْفَائِكُمْ

(رواه البخارى)

(219/79) Mus'ab ibn Sa'd relates "My father, Sa'ad, thought that [because of the exceptional qualities of courage, generosity and wisdom Allah had endowed him with] he was of a higher rank [than the weak and indigent Muslims who were inferior to him in those respects]. Thus, [in order to cure him of this failing] the Prophet ﷺ [said to him], 'The help that comes to you from Allah and the favours you receive [are not due to your own virtues or capabilities] but to the prayers and auspiciousness of such among you as are weak and poor.'" (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Sayyidina Sa'd's assumption was a kind of vanity and in order to remove which, the Prophet ﷺ told him that it was because of the prayers and blessedness of those whom he considered mean and of less value that Allah was bestowing upon him all those things of which he was proud. Even, today, people like us who have been favoured with certain capabilities by Allah and are also rendering some service in the cause of Faith suffer from the same weakness.

In another version of the above Tradition, reproduced in Nasai, the Prophet ﷺ is reported to have observed:

Allah helps this [the Muslim] community by reason of the prayers, supplications and earnestness of the weaker sections of it."

إِنَّمَا يَنْصُرُ اللَّهُ هَذِهِ الْأُمَّةَ بِضِعْفِهِمْ
بِدَعْوَتِهِمْ وَصَلَاتِهِمْ وَإِخْلَاصِهِمْ

Look at An Inferior Not at A Superior

(٢٢٠/٨٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا نَظَرَ

أَحَدُكُمْ إِلَى مَنْ فَضِّلَ عَلَيْهِ فِي الْمَالِ وَالْخَلْقِ فَلْيَنْظُرْ إِلَى مَنْ هُوَ أَسْفَلُ مِنْهُ

(رواه بخارى ومسلم)

(220/80) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whenever anyone of you sees a person who is better than him in wealth and in face and figure, [and due to it, jealousy is aroused in his heart], he should look at someone who is inferior to him in these respects [so that instead of being envious he should learn to be patient and grateful]."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It is a common weakness with us that when we see anyone in a better position than ourselves we feel jealous of him and look grudgingly at his affluence and other opportunities. In this Tradition it has been prescribed as a cure for this spiritual malady that on such an occasion we should think of those who are interior to us in these respects and instead of bearing a grievance against fate, be grateful to Allah that He made us better than so many of His bondsmen.

(٢٢١/٨١) عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ خَصَلَتَانِ مَنْ كَانَتْ فِيهِ كَتَبَهُ اللَّهُ شَاكِرًا صَابِرًا مَنْ نَظَرَ فِي دِينِهِ إِلَى مَنْ هُوَ فَوْقَهُ فَاقْتَدَى بِهِ وَنَظَرَ فِي دُنْيَاهُ إِلَى مَنْ هُوَ دُونَهُ فَحَمِدَ اللَّهُ عَلَى مَا فَضَّلَهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ كَتَبَهُ اللَّهُ شَاكِرًا صَابِرًا وَمَنْ نَظَرَ فِي دِينِهِ إِلَى مَنْ هُوَ دُونَهُ وَنَظَرَ فِي دُنْيَاهُ إِلَى مَنْ هُوَ فَوْقَهُ فَاسِيفَ عَلَى مَا فَاتَهُ مِنْهُ لَمْ يَكْتِبْهُ اللَّهُ شَاكِرًا وَلَا صَابِرًا (رواه الترمذی)

(221/81) 'Amr ibn Shu'ayb narrates on the authority of his father, Shu'ayb, and he on the authority of his grandfather, 'Abdullah ibn 'Amr ibn al'Aas رضی اللہ عنہ, that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever will possess these two qualities Allah will write him down as among those that are patient and grateful. [The two qualities are that] in religious matters he habitually looks at those who are better than him and tries to emulate their example, and in worldly matters he habitually looks at the needy and distressed who are inferior to him materially and feels thankful to Allah that, by His grace, He has granted more of worldly blessings to him than to those bondsmen. And whose condition is such that in religious matters he habitually looks at those who are inferior to him, and in worldly matters at those who are superior to him and feels sorrow and resentment at the material comforts and pleasures that have been withheld from him, he will not be written down by Allah as among those that are patient and grateful." (Tirmidhi)

Commentary: Gratitude and patient preserverance are the two aspects of devoutness which lead to the perfection of Faith when they come together in anyone. The way to cultivate thee qualities, and their test, is that the bondsman should, customarily, look at those, in religious matters, who are better than him [in Faith, action and moral virtues] and follow their example, and, in worldly matters, at those who are inferior to him from the material point of view and, believing that the superiority he enjoys over them in the sphere of comforts and attainments is solely due to Allah's favour, feel sincerely thankful to his Lord and Master.

Virtuous Life

(٢٢٢/٨٢) عَنْ أَبِي بَكْرَةَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا قَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَيُّ النَّاسِ خَيْرٌ قَالَ مَنْ طَالَ عُمْرُهُ وَحَسَنَ عَمَلُهُ قَالَ أَيُّ النَّاسِ شَرٌّ؟ قَالَ مَنْ طَالَ عُمْرُهُ وَسَاءَ عَمَلُهُ

(رواه احمد)

(222/82) Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه narrates that someone said to the Prophet ﷺ, "O Messenger of Allah! Who is better among men [i.e., what kind of a man will be successful in the Hereafter]?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, "He who lived long and did good deeds." The same person, then, asked, "Who is bad to a greater degree among men [i.e., what kind of a man will be a loser in the Hereafter]?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, "He who lived long and did evil deeds." (Musnad-i-Ahmad)

Commentary: The longer a person who leads a virtuous life lives, the more will he develop to a higher religious state. In a similar way, the bondsman whose deeds are such as to make him removed from Allah will go on incurring His displeasure as he continues to live.

(٢٢٣/٨٣) عَنْ عُبَيْدِ بْنِ خَالِدٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَخْبَرَ بَيْنَ رَجُلَيْنِ فَقَتِلَ أَحَدُهُمَا فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ ثُمَّ مَاتَ الْآخَرُ بَعْدَهُ بِجُمُعَةٍ أَوْ نَحْوِهَا فَصَلُّوا عَلَيْهِ فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا قُلْتُمْ؟ قَالُوا دَعَوْنَا اللَّهَ أَنْ يَغْفِرَ لَهُ وَيَرْحَمَهُ وَيُلْحِقَهُ بِصَاحِبِهِ فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَإِنَّ صَلَاتَهُ وَعَمَلَهُ بَعْدَ عَمَلِهِ أَوْ قَالَ صِيَامَهُ بَعْدَ صِيَامِهِ لَمَّا بَيْنَهُمَا أَبْعَدُ مِمَّا بَيْنَ السَّمَاءِ وَالْأَرْضِ

(رواه ابوداؤد والنسائي)

(223/83) Ubayd ibn Khalid narrates that once the Prophet ﷺ established "brotherly relationship" between two persons [i.e., declared them to be brothers according to the custom of the age]. It so happened, soon afterwards, that one of them was martyred in Jihad and the other, too, died after a week of that. The Companions offered the funeral prayers at the latter's death. The Prophet ﷺ, then, asked the Companions who had observed the burial service, "What did you say [in the funeral prayer?]" The Companions replied, "We prayed that Allah may forgive his sins and have mercy on him and make him join his brother [so that they may live together in Heaven as they did in the world]". On hearing it, the Prophet ﷺ remarked, "And where did the prayers go which he offered after the prayers of the martyred brother? And where did the good deeds go that he performed after the good deeds of the martyred brother?" [Or, the Prophet ﷺ said something to the effect that where did the fasts go that he kept after the fasts of his martyred brother?] [The narrator is not sure whether the Prophet ﷺ mentioned, 'good deeds, after 'prayers' or 'fasts']. The Prophet ﷺ, then, said, "The difference between the stations of the two is even greater than that between the heavens and the earth."

(Abu Dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: The Companions considered the brother who had died later to be of a lower rank than the one who had attained martyrdom in Jihad, and, that was why, they prayed that Allah might join him with the martyred brother in Heaven. But the Prophet ﷺ told them that it was just the opposite of it and the brother who had died a natural death had gained a much more elevated position owing to the supplications he had offered, the fasts he had kept and the other good deeds he had performed after the martyrdom of his brother.

To lay down one's life in the path of Allah is, doubtlessly, an act of a very high order but the advance and improvement effected through prayer, fasting and other virtuous deeds, provided that these are endued with earnestness, is also unlimited.

Besides, since the brother who died later was also a soldier of Allah, ever-willing to sacrifice his life in His path, he, too, had, because of the purity of his intention and eagerness for martyrdom, attained the state of martyrdom though he had died on his bed, and the acts of worship and other good deeds he had performed after the death of his martyred brother had produced such an elevation in his ranks that the sacred Prophet described the difference between their stations in the Hereafter to be even greater than between the earth and the sky.

(٢٢٤/٨٤) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ شَدَادٍ أَنَّ نَفَرًا مِنْ بَنِي عُذْرَةَ ثَلَاثَةً اتُّو النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَاسْلَمُوا فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ يَكْفُلِيهِمْ؟ قَالَ طَلْحَةُ أَنَا، فَكَانُوا عِنْدَهُ فَبِعَثِ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بَعَثًا فَخَرَجَ فِيهِ أَحَدُهُمْ فَاسْتَشْهَدَ ثُمَّ بَعَثَ بَعَثًا فَخَرَجَ فِيهِ الْآخَرُ فَاسْتَشْهَدَ ثُمَّ مَاتَ الثَّلَاثُ عَلَى فِرَاشِهِ قَالَ قَالَ طَلْحَةُ قَرَأْتُ هَؤُلَاءِ الثَّلَاثَةَ فِي الْجَنَّةِ وَرَأَيْتُ الْمَيِّتَ عَلَى فِرَاشِهِ أَمَامَهُمْ وَالَّذِي اسْتَشْهَدَ آخَرًا يَلِيهِ وَأَوَّلُهُمْ يَلِيهِ فَقَدْ خَلَنِي مِنْ ذَلِكَ فَذَكَرْتُ لِلنَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ذَلِكَ فَقَالَ وَمَا انْكُرْتُ مِنْ ذَلِكَ؟ لَيْسَ أَحَدٌ أَفْضَلَ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ مِنْ مُؤْمِنٍ يُعَمِّرُ فِي الْإِسْلَامِ لِتَسْبِيحَةٍ وَ تَكْبِيرَةٍ وَ تَهْلِيلَةٍ
(رواه احمد)

(224/84) It is related by Abdullah ibn Shaddad that three men from the tirbe of Bani Uzra came to the Prophet ﷺ enquired [from the companions], "Who can take the responsibility of looking after the needs of these fresh Muslims on my behalf?" "I will," said Abu Talha. The three [persons], thus, began to live with him. In the meantime, one of them joined an expedition which the Prophet ﷺ had sent to some place and was martyred. The Prophet ﷺ, later sent another expedition which was joined by another of them and he, too, was martyred. Then, [after some time], the third man died on his bed. [The narrator, Abdullah ibn Shaddad], went on to relate that Abu Talha said, "I saw the three of them in a dream and I saw them in Paradise. The one who was the last to die and had died a natural death was in the front place, and close to him was his friend who was the second to die, and close to him [i.e., the other person] was the friend who had fallen a martyr earlier. This dream caused me uneasiness, and I related the dream and the uneasiness that was causing to my mind to the Prophet ﷺ. He observed, "What wrong do you see in it?" [Their stations ought to have been in the order in which you saw in the dream and the third friend who lived for some time after the martyrdom of his two companions and continued to offer up prayers and offer fast and repeat Praises and Attributes of the Lord should have been in the front place for] no one is superior to the truthful Believer who is granted a long life with Iman [Faith] and Islam, and, during it, he engages himself in the Tasbih [i.e., Zikr of Subhan Allah], [Takbir [i.e., Zikr of Allah-u-Akbar] and Tahlil [Zikr of La Ilaha Illallah]" (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: The import of the above Tradition is similar to that of the preceding one. Should Allah grant a sound understanding, there is a great lesson in both of these sayings for the talkative and emotional people who fritter away their time in idle talk about Jihad and Martyrdom, though no such possibility is, at all, open to them and pay little attention to the opportunity that is available all the time of achieving the higher and the highest degree of religious advancement through acts of worship like prayer, fasting, Zikr and Tilawat. They not only not make use of these things, as they hold them of little account but, sometimes, even ruin their chances in the Hereafter by ridiculing and expressing contempt for the.

يَحْسِبُونَ أَنَّهُمْ يُحْسِنُونَ صُنْعًا (الكهف ١٨: ١٠)

SOME IMPORTANT EXHORTATIONS OF THE PROPHET ﷺ

(٢٢٥/٨٥) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قَالَ لِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِتَّقِ اللَّهَ حَيْثُمَا كُنْتَ وَاتَّبِعِ السَّيِّئَةَ الْحَسَنَةَ تَمْحُهَا وَخَالِقِ النَّاسَ بِخُلُقِي حَسَنٍ

(رواه احمد والترمذى والدارمى)

(225/85) It is related by Abu Zarr Ghiffari ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to him: "Wherever you are and in whatever circumstances [alone or in company, at ease or in difficulty], fear Allah [i.e., let piety be your normal habit], and do a good deed after every sin — it, will annul it, and be kind and cordial in your behaviour towards the creatures of the Lord".
(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmidhi and Darami.)

Commentary: The essence of piety is the fear of Allah and earnest anxiety for the Hereafter. It is an inner feeling which makes itself manifest in real life through willing observances of the Divine Commands and abstention from what is forbidden. But human nature and the external conditions in which a person lives being what they are, he often goes astray and falls into error in spite of the fear and anxiety [i.e., piety]. As a corrective to it, the Prophet ﷺ has advised, in the above Tradition, that if anyone happens to commit a sin or a wrong, he must follow it up with a good and virtuous act. The effulgence of good actions will dispel the gloom of wickedness. In the Qur'an, too, it has been said:

إِنَّ الْحَسَنَاتِ يُذْهِبْنَ السَّيِّئَاتِ (هود ١١:١١٤)

Lo! Good deeds annul ill deeds. (Hud, 11:114).

The third advice given by the Prophet ﷺ to Sayyidina Abu Zarr, here, is that his conduct towards all others ought to be good and friendly. It shows that even after purification from sin through righteousness and abundance of well-doing, good manners and kindly behaviour are needed for felicity in the After life.

(٢٢٦/٨٦) عَنْ أَبِي أَيُّوبَ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ عِظْنِي وَأَوْجِزْ فَقَالَ إِذَا قُمْتَ فِي صَلَاتِكَ فَصَلِّ صَلَاةَ مُؤَدِّعٍ وَلَا تَكَلِّمْ بِكَلَامٍ تَعْدُرُ مِنْهُ غَدًا وَاجْمَعْ الْإِيَّاسَ مِمَّا فِي أَيْدِي النَّاسِ (رواه احمد)

(226/86) Abu Ayub Ansari رضي الله عنه narrates that a man came to the Prophet ﷺ and said, "Give me some good counsel and let it be brief [so that I can remember it easily]." The Prophet ﷺ observed, "[Keep it in mind, firstly, that] when you stand for prayer, offer it like a person who is bidding farewell to the world and taking leave of everyone; [and secondly], never utter anything which you may have to repent or answer for tomorrow [i.e., while talking you should take care not to say anything you might have to account for before anyone in this world or before Allah on the Day of Final Requitul and, thirdly, despair totally of what [other] people possess or is seen in their hands [i.e., the centre of all of your hopes and aspirations should only be the Lord of the Worlds and you must not entertain any expectations from fellow-men].

(Musnad Ahmad.)

(٢٢٧/٨٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ ثَلَاثٌ مُنْجِيَّاتٌ وَثَلَاثٌ مُهْلِكَاتٌ فَأَمَّا الْمُنْجِيَّاتُ فَتَقْوَى اللَّهِ فِي السِّرِّ وَالْعَلَانِيَةِ وَالْقَوْلُ بِالْحَقِّ فِي الرِّضَا وَالسَّخَطِ وَالْقَصْدُ فِي الْغِنَى وَالْفَقْرِ وَأَمَّا الْمُهْلِكَاتُ فَهَوَى مُتَّبِعٌ وَشَحْ مُطَاعٌ وَاعْتِجَابُ الْمَرْءِ بِنَفْسِهِ وَهِيَ أَشَدُّ هُنَّ

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(227/87) It is related by Abu Huryrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There are three things which lead to salavation and there are three things which lead to damnation. The three things that lead to salvation are: (i) the fear of Allah in seclusion as well as in company [or in what is hidden and in what is manifest]; (ii) to speak the truth in anger as well as in pleasure; and (iii) moderation in prosperity as well as in poverty. And there three things that lead to damnation are: (i) the inordinate desire which is followed: (ii) the stinginess which is obeyed [i.e., whose demands are submitted to]; and (iii) self-conceit which is the worst of them all."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: The Holy Prophet ﷺ often used to emphasise the virtue of certain good actions and habits and the wickedness of certain evil actions and habits according to the needs of the people around him at that time. The present Tradition is of an identical nature. It simply shows that whoever wants to attain salvation should observe the few golden rules laid down in it and avoid being self-centred, mean with money and a slave to carnal propensities. The Prophet ﷺ has condemned conceitedness and self-glorification as severest of vices, probably, because anyone who suffers from it does not believe that anything is wrong with him, and, therefore, listens to no one.

(٢٢٨/٨٨) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ
أَرْبَعٌ إِذَا كُنَّ فِيكَ فَلَا عَلَيْكَ مَا فَاتَكَ الدُّنْيَا حِفْظُ أَمَانَةٍ وَصِدْقُ حَدِيثٍ
وَ حُسْنُ خَلِيقَةٍ وَ عِفَّةٌ فِي طَعْمَةٍ
(رواه احمد والبيهقى فى شعب الایمان)

(228/88) It is related by 'Abdullah ibn 'Amr ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Four things and habits are such that if you possess them then there is no harm if the world [and its blessings] are lost or do not come to [your] hand. [These are]: (i) safe-keeping of trust. (ii) truthfulness in speech; (iii) good manners; and (iv) caution and abstinence in food."

(Musnad Ahmad and Baihaqi.)

Commentary: The word 'trust' is used in a very wide sense in the terminology of Islam. It includes the fulfilment of the rights of Allah and of men as well as the carrying out of covenants and promises. Thus, a person who is trustworthy, i.e., who fulfils the rights of Allah as well of men honestly and is truthful when he speaks and possesses good manners and noble qualities of mind and character and exercises self-restraint in food and drink and does not overeat or partake of things that are forbidden or of a doubtful nature is, positively a very fine specimen of humanity. He is not only a perfect man in this world but in the never-ending life of the Hereafter, too, such exceptional favours will be conferred upon him that each one of them will be more valuable than all the blessings of the world put together. If a man like him remains poor in the earthly existence, he should not grieve for what he has is far superior to all that the world has to offer.

أَخْلَصَ اللَّهُ قَلْبَهُ لِلْإِيمَانِ وَجَعَلَ قَلْبَهُ سَلِيمًا وَلِسَانَهُ صَادِقًا وَنَفْسَهُ مُطْمَئِنَّةً
وَخَلِيقَتَهُ مُسْتَقِيمَةً وَجَعَلَ أُذُنَهُ مُسْتَمِعَةً وَعَيْنَهُ نَاطِرَةً فَأَمَّا الْأُذُنُ فَتَقْمِيعٌ وَأَمَّا
الْعَيْنُ فَمُقَرَّةٌ لِمَا يُوعَى الْقَلْبُ وَقَدْ أَفْلَحَ مَنْ جَعَلَ قَلْبَهُ وَاعِيًا

(رواه احمد والبيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(229/89) It is related by Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضي الله عنه that Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "He became fortunate and successful whose heart Allah set aside for Faith and made it safe and sound [i.e., whom He blessed with Faith so pure and untainted that not an iota of doubt or hypocrisy could enter his heart and protected it against the spiritual maladies like envy and illwill], and whose tongue He endowed with truthfulness, and inmost self with serenity [i.e., whose soul was such that it derived solace from the remembrance of Allah and the things that were pleasing to Him], an whose natural disposition He put right and free from weaknesses [so that it did not tend towards sin], and whose ear He made fit to hear and eyes He made fit to see [i.e., who could hear the truthful word of Allah and see 'His signs and take warning and draw lessons from them]. Thus, the ear is like the funnel [through which things go into the heart as the liquid is poured into a bottle], and the eye is the conveyer and stabilizer of things which is entrusts to the heart. And blessed, indeed, is the man whose heart Allah made capable of remembering."

(Musnad Ahmad and Baihaqi.)

Commentary: What has been said about the ears and eyes in the concluding part of the above Tradition is to underline the importance of the part the two organs play in the life of a man. Whatever reaches the heart, which, so to speak, is the monarch in the human body, and affects it is, generally, through the ears and the eyes. Consequently, the success and salvation of the bondsman is dependent on the ability and fitness of his eyes and ears to see and hear.

The last sentence denotes that even though the things of success and good fortune reach a man's heart through the eyes and ears, salvation and felicity in the Hereafter cannot be attained unless the heart is capable of preserving and making proper use of them.

In the Qur'an the three faculties of seeing, hearing and understanding have been mentioned, from place to place, in a way as if man's guidance and deliverance was contingent on their soundness.

(٢٣٠/٩٠) عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ مَيْمُونٍ الْأَوْدِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِرَجُلٍ وَهُوَ يَعِظُهُ اِغْتَنِمْ خَمْسًا قَبْلَ خَمْسٍ شَبَابَكَ قَبْلَ هَرَمِكَ وَصِحَّتَكَ قَبْلَ سَقَمِكَ وَغِنَاكَ قَبْلَ فَقْرِكَ وَفَرَاغَكَ قَبْلَ شُغْلِكَ وَحَيَاتَكَ قَبْلَ مَوْتِكَ
(رواه الترمذی)

(230/90) Amr ibn Maymoon Al-Awdi reports that Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to a man while he was admonishing him: "Realise the value of five states before five other states: (i) Your youth before your old age: (ii) Your health before your illness (iii) Your wealth before your poverty (iv) Your leisure before your occupation : and (v) Your life before your death." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Man's circumstances do not always remain the same. They vary from time to time. It is, therefore, proper that we made the best use of the conditions of ease and well-being that are available to us and did whatever we could for the attainment of the good pleasure of the Lord. Who knows what tomorrow will bring and whether we will be able to perform good deeds or not.

In fine, every moment of life should be regarded as a respite granted by Allah and no pains should be spared to make the best use of it.

We must take advantage of youth before old age sets in, health before illness and wealth before poverty. If there is time we must use it fruitfully before we become busy and then death comes because the door of deeds and istighfar will also close down.

(٢٣١/٩١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَا يَنْتَظِرُ أَحَدُكُمْ إِلَّا غَنًى مُطْعِياً أَوْ فَقْرًا مُنْسِئًا أَوْ مَرَضًا مُفْسِدًا أَوْ هَرَمًا مُفْتِدًا أَوْ مَوْتًا مُجْهِزًا أَوِ الدَّجَالَ وَالْدَّجَالُ شَرُّ غَائِبٍ يَنْتَظِرُ أَوِ السَّاعَةَ وَالسَّاعَةُ أَذْهَى وَأَمْرٌ
(رواه الترمذی والنسائی)

(231/91) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "You expect wealth and prosperity which makes a man arrogant, or you expect poverty which makes a man forgetful, or expect illness which makes a man miserable, or you expect old age which makes a man feeble-minded or you expect death which comes suddenly and perishes, or you expect Dajjal — and Dajjal is the worst of those that are not present are being awaited, or you expect the Last Day and the Last Day is a grievous calamity and a bitter draught in an extreme degree."

(Tirmizi and Nasai)

Commentary: It shows that those who do not realise the value of the days of comfort and affluence and let them pass without making an earnest endeavour to seek the favour of Allah and felicity in the Hereafter are, in fact, waiting for one or the other of the distressing events mentioned therein to shake them up. Then, all alone, will they begin to prepare for the Day of Judgement.

(رواه الترمذی)

(232/92) It is related by Abdullah ibn Mas'ood رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "On the last Day [when people will be gathered for the Great Requital] the feet of the son of Aadam shall not move until he is questioned about five things: (i) about his life and on what he spent it; (ii) about his youth and on what he wasted it; (iii) about his wealth and wherefrom he obtained it (iv) on what he spent it; and (v) about what he did regarding the knowledge he had."

(Tirmizi)

Commentary: Every one of us should look into his life and his youth, his earnings and expenditure, and knowledge and deeds and ask himself what answer will he give when he will be questioned about them on the Judgement Day and how is it going to turn out for him. May Allah, by His grace, make the trail easy for us, otherwise it is a most testing and painful event and only the blessed bondsmen who make ready for it in advance and spent their lives in conscientious observance of His commands will be able to save themselves from disgrace on that day.

(233/93) Abu Jurayy Jabir ibn Sulaim رضي الله عنه narrates I went to Madinah (and I did not know anything about the Prophet ﷺ till then). I saw that people came to a man like ardent seekers and he said something to them and they accepted it and went away. Whatever he said was believed and consented to by the people with their heart and soul. I, thereupon asked who he was and people told me that he was the Messenger of Allah. I made my way to his august presence and said, "Alaik as-Salam Ya Rasulullah." I said it twice, [upon which] he said, "Do not say Alaik-as-Salam. It is the salutation of the dead. [During the days of Ignorance people used to salute the dead in that way]. [Instead of it], say, As-Salam-o-Alaik.} I, then, asked him, "Are you the Messenger of Allah?" "Yes", he replied, 'I am the Messenger of Allah whose glory is such that if you are in distress and you pray to Him, He will remove your distress, and if the calamity of a drought overtakes you and you pray to Him, He will produce crops from the field for you, and if you are in a wilderness and lose your animal and pray to Him, He will restore it to you." I, [then], said to him, "Give me some more good counsel and warning advice." The Prophet observed, "[My first advice to you is] never abuse anyone. "[Jabir ibn Sulaym related that] after it, I did not use abusive language for anyone whether a freedborn or a slave or even an animal like a goat or a camel. Proceeding, the Prophet ﷺ said, "Do not consider any favour to be small [or paltry], speak to your brother with a cheerful countenance for that too is a favour, keep your *tahbund*¹, high up to the middle of the calves, or if you do not like it, at least higher than the ankles, and abstain from wearing it lower than that for it is a sign of vanity and Allah does not like vanity, and if anyone abuses you or puts you to shame by talking about an evil thing concerning you, which is in his knowledge, do not retaliate and, in this way, the punishment for his abusiveness will be entirely upon him." (Abu Dawood)

(234/94) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ the Messenger of Allah ﷺ (once) said to us: "Who will learn these few things from me, and, then, act upon them or tell them to others who will act?" I replied, "O Messenger of Allah! I am present." The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, held my hand [in affection] and said, "Refrain from the acts Allah has forbidden and refrain from them strictly. If you will do so, you are a very great worshipper [and this worship is better than the abundance of supererogatory worship]. Secondly, remain satisfied with what Allah has fore-ordained for you. If you do so, you will attain contentment and become very rich. Thirdly, be kind and gentle in your behaviour towards the neighbours. If you will do so, you are a perfect Believer. Fourthly, desire for yourself what you desire for others. If you do so, you will become a true Muslim. Fifthly, do not laugh much for too much of laughter kills the heart."

①. A piece of cloth worn round the waist. It is not fastened behind.

(Musnad Ahmad and Tirmizi)

Commentary: The Prophet ﷺ wanted to tell the five above mentioned things. In order to attract the attention of the listeners, he first said, "I want to tell a few special things. Who among you will like to learn them? But he will have to pay back their claim by acting upon them himself, and, also, relating them to others so that they, too, may profit."

It shows that there are two claims on anyone who acquires the knowledge of Faith: he should act according to it himself and, also, pass it on to others. Even if he does not carry out into practice fully what he learns, he must impart it to others.

The five things the Prophet ﷺ has taught in this Tradition are of fundamental importance.

- (i) He is a most devout slave and a great worshipper who abstains from what is unlawful though he may not be offering up a great deal of supererogatory prayers and observing much of supererogatory fasts.
- (ii) One derives immense satisfaction and peace of mind from being content with what Allah has decreed for him.
- (iii) Good and noble behaviour towards the neighbour is a prerequisite of perfection in Faith.
- (iv) A true Muslim must always wish well for others to the extent of desiring for them what he desires for himself.
- (v) One should not laugh much because excessive laughter deprives the heart of feeling and makes it insensitive.

If any slave of Allah observes these five things even today, he will enjoy Paradise on earth and live very distinctive life. People will love him. His heart will be alive with remembrance of Allah and the rewards of the Hereafter await him there.

(٢٣٥/٩٥) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ أَمَرَنِي خَلِيلِي بِسَبْعٍ، أَمَرَنِي بِحُبِّ الْمَسَاكِينِ
وَالدُّنُومِ مِنْهُمْ وَأَمَرَنِي أَنْ أَنْظُرَ إِلَى مَنْ هُوَ دُونِي وَلَا أَنْظُرَ إِلَى مَنْ هُوَ فَوْقِي
وَأَمَرَنِي أَنْ أَصِلَ الرَّحِمَ وَإِنْ أَذْبَرْتُ وَأَمَرَنِي أَنْ لَا أَسْأَلَ أَحَدًا شَيْئًا وَأَمَرَنِي أَنْ
أَقُولَ بِالْحَقِّ وَإِنْ كَانَ مُرًّا، وَأَمَرَنِي أَنْ لَا أَخَافَ فِي اللَّهِ لَوْمَةً لَائِمًا، وَأَمَرَنِي أَنْ

أَكْثَرَ مِنْ قَوْلٍ لَا حَوْلَ وَلَا قُوَّةَ إِلَّا بِاللَّهِ فَإِنَّهُمْ مِنْ كُنْزٍ تَحْتَ الْعَرْشِ (رواه احمد)
 (235/95) Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضي الله عنه narrates "My beloved friend, [The sacred Prophet ﷺ], has enjoined seven things upon me. He has commanded me to love and be close to the poor and the downtrodden, and he has commanded he to look at those in the world who are of lower rank than me [i.e., who are less fortunate in earthly life], and not at those who are of higher rank [i.e., possess greater assets to material comfort some other Ahadith suggest that it grows qualities of patience and gratitude. And he has commanded to be kind to the kinsman and to preserve and keep intact the bond of kinship (i.e., fulfil the obligations of relationship even though the kinsmen do not do so), and he has commanded me not to ask for anything from anyone as a favour [i.e., beseech Allah alone for my needs and do not be a beggar at anyone else's door], and he has commanded me to speak the truth at all times though it may be bitter for others [i.e., be hurtful or unpleasant to them for being opposed to their desires and interests], and he has commanded me to care nothing for the rebuke of those who revile and vilify in the path of Allah [i.e., say and do only Allah has enjoined even if people disapprove of it. He has commanded me to recite much the Kalima of La-Haulawa-la-Quwata-Illa-Billah [there is no power or might but in Allah] because all these things are from the treasure-house which is under the ninth heaven [i.e., these are gems from the treasure which is under the Throne of Allah and He gives them to whom He pleases. It is beyond the reach of anyone else]. (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: The necessary elucidation of the above saying has been furnished along with the translation. The one point worthy of special mention, here, is that the significance of the prayer-formula of La-Haula-wa-la Quwat-i-illa-Bilah, we are exhorted to recite frequently in this Tradition, has been explained in another saying of that Prophet ﷺ and it is that "the power to do good and to abstain from evil is granted to the bondsmen solely by the mercy of the Lord." In other words, if the grace and guidance of Almighty does not go with the circumstances of anyone, he can neither perform a good deed nor keep away from an evil one. Hence, the bondsman should always be entreating the Lord for mercy and guidance, and if he is blessed with good-doing and uprightness, he should consider it to be a Divine gift and not his own achievement.

The above Kalimah expresses exactly the same truth, and, if it is recited with humility and conviction, it is most efficacious for inner correction and development. Spiritual mentors, specially those belonging to the Shazlia sect of Islamic mysticism, advise the devotees and seekers of truth to recite it much and often.

(٢٣٦/٩٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَمَرَنِي رَبِّي بِتِسْعِ خَشْيَةِ اللَّهِ فِي السِّرِّ وَالْعَلَانِيَةِ، وَكَلِمَةِ الْعَدْلِ فِي الْغَضَبِ وَالرَّضَا، وَالْقَصْدِ فِي الْفَقْرِ وَالْغِنَا وَأَنْ أَصِلَ مَنْ قَطَعَنِي وَأَعْطِيَ مَنْ حَرَمَنِي وَأَعْفُو عَمَّنْ ظَلَمَنِي وَأَنْ يَكُونَ صَمْتِي فِكْرًا وَنُطْقِي ذِكْرًا وَنَظْرِي عِبْرَةً وَأَمْرًا بِالْعُرْفِ وَقِيلَ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ
(رواه رزين)

(236/96) It is recited by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "My Lord has commanded me these nine things in particular: (i) To fear Allah in private and in public [i.e., secretly as well as openly]; (ii) To speak what is just and true in anger and in pleasure [i.e., it should not be that when I am displeased with anyone I depart from truth and if anyone happened to be my friend and I am pleased with him, I take sides with him unjustly]; (iii) To pursue the middle path in poverty and in affluence [i.e., I should neither show impatience and distress when I am inflicted with poverty nor be vain and boastful when I am granted wealth and abundance]; (iv) Not to turn my back even on the kinsman who treats me indifferently and violates the bond of kinship; (v) To give even to those who keep me deprived and encroach upon my rights; (vi) To be forgiving to those who were unjust and cruel to me; (vii) My silence should be endowed with reflection [i.e., when alone I should meditate on things that were worth meditating, such as, the Signs and Attributes of the Lord and how He had treated me and what my conduct was, or ought to be, towards Him. Or, what my end is going to be? Or, how could an erring bondsman be brought back to Allah?]; (viii) My speech should be of remembrance [i.e., whenever I spoke it should be related, in one way or the other, to Allah, whether by celebrating His Names, Praises and Attributes or preaching His Word or that I paid a due regard to His decrees and commands in whatever I said]; and (ix) My eye ought to be admonitory [i.e., I should learn a lesson or take a warning from whatever I saw]; and I shall enjoin what is good and lawful." (Razin)

Commentary: It is worth remembering that the last phrase of the above Tradition about the enjoining of what is right and legitimate is in addition to the nine items of advice the Prophet ﷺ wanted to impart on that occasion. It is, in fact, the main task and object for which the holy Prophet ﷺ was raised up, i.e., the sanctioning of what is lawful which, naturally, includes the forbidding of what is wrong and sinful.

(٢٣٧/٩٧) عَنْ مَعَاذٍ قَالَ أَوْصَانِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِعَشْرِ كَلِمَاتٍ قَالَ لَا تُشْرِكْ بِاللَّهِ شَيْئًا وَإِنْ قُتِلْتَ وَ حُرِّقْتَ، وَلَا تُعَقِّنْ وَالِدَيْكَ وَإِنْ أَمَرَكَ أَنْ تَخْرُجَ مِنْ أَهْلِكَ وَمَالِكَ، وَلَا تَتْرُكَنَّ صَلَاةَ مَكْتُوبَةٍ مُتَعَمِّدًا فَإِنْ مَنْ تَرَكَ صَلَاةَ مَكْتُوبَةٍ مُتَعَمِّدًا فَقَدْ بَرِئْتَ مِنْهُ ذِمَّةُ اللَّهِ، وَلَا تَشْرَبَنَّ خَمْرًا فَإِنَّهُ رَأْسُ كُلِّ فَاحِشَةٍ، وَإِيَّاكَ وَالْمَعْصِيَةَ فَإِنَّ بِالْمَعْصِيَةِ حُلَّ سَخَطِ اللَّهِ، وَإِيَّاكَ وَالْفِرَارَ مِنَ الزَّحْفِ وَإِنْ هَلَكَ النَّاسُ، وَإِذَا أَصَابَ النَّاسَ مَوْتُ وَأَنْتَ فِيهِمْ فَابْثُ وَأَنْفِقْ عَلَى عِيَالِكَ مِنْ طَوْلِكَ وَلَا تَرْفَعْ عَنْهُمْ عَصَاكَ أَدَبًا وَأَخِفْهُمْ فِي اللَّهِ

(رواه احمد)

(237/97) It is related by Mu'az رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ [once] urged him to ten good deeds. He said: "(i) Do not associate anyone with Allah even if you are killed or burnt alive; (ii) Do not disobey your parents even if they tell you to get out, abandoning your family and property; (iii) Do not deliberately miss a Fard [obligatory] prayer for Allah's covenant ceases for him who misses a Fard prayer intentionally; (iv) Do not drink [wine] for drinking is the root of all lewdness; (v) Keep away from every sin for the wrath of Allah comes down because of sins (vi) Do not turn your back and run away from the field of Jihad even if it is littered with dead bodies; (vii) If you are living at a place with other men and death becomes rampant in it [due to the outbreak of an epidemic], stay there [firmly] [i.e., do not think of fleeing in order to save your life]; (viii) Spend on your dependance according to your means [i.e., neither be miserly so that you put them to hardship although you had the money nor spend on them beyond your resources]: (ix) Be strict with them [the dependants], [if and when needed], to teach them good morals; (x) Instil into them [the dependants] the fear of Allah."

(Musnd-i-Ahmad)

Commentary: Though the import of the Tradition is clear from the translation given above, a few points call for a clarification.

It is a well-known principle of the Shari'ah, and in the Qur'an, too, it has been stated candidly that if a person is compelled to deviate from Islam to infidelity or polytheism and it is felt that he will be killed if he refuses to do so, he is permitted, in such an eventuality, to accept infidelity or polytheism vocally. But the better and nobler course is that he remained steadfast and did not express, even vocally, the acceptance of infidelity or polytheism, even at the cost of his life.

The Prophet ﷺ advised Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ to be resolute in a situation like that because he was among the chosen servants of the Lord.

Similarly, the Prophet's ﷺ advice to Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ concerning obedience to parents that he should carry out their wishes even if they made him to forego his family and property also denotes an ideal standard of behaviour. It means that the children should submit to the severest orders of their parents. Or else, in the Shariah, it is not binding upon the children to fulfil such harsh and unreasonable demands of the parents. If, however, it is done voluntarily and the rights of no one else are disregarded thereby, it will, indeed, make a most admirable example of filial devotion.

The holy Prophet ﷺ remarks about the prayer that whoever intentionally neglects an obligatory prayer forfeits the covenant of Allah is among the Traditions of the strength which Imam Shafa'i and some other doctors of Islamic Jurisprudence have prescribed the penalty of death on it. Imam Maalik and Imam Abu Hanifah, however, hold that a Muslim ruler can award to a defaulter of prayer whatever punishment he deems fit and he may imprison him. This is, also, a form of freedom of obligation from Allah.

Be that as it may, there is no place in Islam for wilful disregard of prayer and if the offence does not amount to apostasy, it, definitely, comes very close to it.

The last part of the Tradition deals with the maintenance and upbringing of children. The main command is that we should regard it to be one of our religious duties to inculcate the fear of Allah in the hearts of our family members for which they will be answerable before Allah on the Last Day.

(رواه ابن ماجه والبيهقى فى شعب الايمان)

(238/98) Umar ibn Khattab رضي الله عنه relates that one day he came to the Mosque of the Prophet ﷺ and saw that Mu'az ibn Jabal رضي الله عنه was sitting beside the grave of the Prophet ﷺ and was crying. "What is the reason of your crying?" Umar asked Mu'az, "I am weeping because of a thing I heard from the Prophet," Mu'az replied. "I have heard him say that even a little hypocrisy amounts to polytheism, and whoever bore enmity with a friend of Allah invited Allah to war, and the Almighty Creator, certainly, loves the pious and virtuous bondsmen who are so hidden and unknown to fame that no one looks for them when they are out of sight, or cares to invite them when they are present. Their hearts are like luminous lamps of guidance that pass through a black duststorm [without being blown out]."

(Ibn Majah and Baihaqi)

Commentary: The first thing to be noted here is the Prophet's ﷺ observation that even a trace of hypocrisy (or, ostentation) means as much as polytheism. It, alone, should be enough to make them weep in whose hearts dwells the fear of Allah and who, also, realise what polytheism is and how rueful are its consequences.

It is difficult even for those to avoid hypocrisy of a concealed nature or a lesser degree who conscientiously try to stay away from it. Often it happens that the bondsman does his best to keep his action free from the evil and yet feels that he had not been wholly successful. With men of virtue and holiness the case is that they do a thing, and, then, are haunted by the fear that it could not attain the degree of sincerity that was needed. Perhaps the lamenation of Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ also, was due to a similar realisation.

Mu'az ؓ further, relates that after administering the warning about hypocrisy that holy Prophet ﷺ admonished that one should be extremely careful in his attitude towards the bondsman who's saintliness is a popularly accepted fact. Whoever harbours a feeling of disrespect or hostility against such chosen devotees of the Lord should consider himself to be at war with Allah.

The Prophet ﷺ added that the pious and devout bondsmen are the favourites of the Lord who remain in obscurity by eschewing things that lead to fame. They are so unknown and insignificant that no one misses them when they are absent nor asks them to come when they are there. Their hearts are not only luminous themselves but also lend the light of guidance to others and can withstand successfully all sorts of trials and temptations.

Sayyidina Mu'az's ؓ grief might, also, have been induced by the feeling that he could not remain so unnoticed and his life was not of such poverty and helplessness. It could also be that he was distressed by the possibility of having transgressed against the rights of a hidden bondsman of Allah of an elevated rank and causing hurt or harm to him.

(239/99) Narrates Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضي الله عنه that one day he betook himself to the august presence of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ. After it [either Abu Zarr himself or the subsequent narrator who narrated it on his authority], related a long Tradition [which is not included here]. During the conversation that followed, Abu Zarr Ghiffari said to the Prophet ﷺ, "O Messenger of Allah! Give me some advice." The Prophet ﷺ replied, "I exhort you to Taqwa, the piety of the Lord for it will embellish you deeds." Abu Zarr relates that he, then, said, "Give me some more advice." The Prophet ﷺ replied, "I exhort you to make a *Tilawah*¹ and *Zikr*² compulsory for yourself for Tilawah and Zikr will be the cause of your being mentioned in assembly of the angels and there will be light for you on the earth." Abu Zarr relates that he, again, said, "Give me some more advice". The Prophet ﷺ said, "Cultivate the habit of keeping silence much and talk little for it the domain of Faith." Abu Zarr relates that he, further, said, "Give me some more advice". The Prophet ﷺ said, "Do not laugh much for it kills the heart and deprives one's face of radiance." Abu Zarr relates that, once again, he said, "Give me some advice." The Prophet ﷺ observed, "Speak always truth though it may be bitter [for the people]." Abu Zarr relates that he, again, said, "Give me some more advice." The Prophet ﷺ said, "Care not for the reproach of him who reproaches in the path of Allah." Abu Zarr relates that he, again, said, "Give me some more advice," The Prophet ﷺ said, "What you know about yourself and your inmost self should be enough to prevent you from seeking out the faults of other." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: In it the Prophet ﷺ has, first of all, advised Abu Zarr رضي الله عنه to adopt Taqwa, observe piety and said that it will purify his actions and make them beautiful. Indeed, if a man were to make the fear of Allah the guiding principle of his life, his entire existence would become one of loyalty and submission and both his exterior and interior existence would be enriched and get

② Remembrance of Allah adorned with beauty. The Prophet ﷺ, then, urges him to recite the Qur'an and celebrate the praises of the Lord much for his name will, thereby, be mentioned in the celestial world. As another saying of the Prophet ﷺ has it: "When the bondsman remembers Allah in this world, Allah speaks about him in the company of angels." In the Qur'an too, it is stated:

فَاذْكُرُونِي أَذْكُرْكُمْ (البقرة 2: ١٥٢)

Therefore remember Me, I will remember you. [Al-Baqarah 2:152].

Another blessing of Tilawah and Zikr the Prophet ﷺ has stressed here is that they impart an enffulgence on this very earth to those who keep themselves occupied with them. The lusture produced by Tilawah and Zikr is, of course, an inner condition but its effects are also felt outwardly.

The Prophet ﷺ has, further, told Sayyidina Abu Zarr ؓ to remain silent most of the time for it is very efficacious in keeping the devil away and also beneficial in many other ways to Faith. It is clear that Satan does the greatest harm to one's moral and spiritual development through the tongue. Falsehood, backbiting, slander, abusiveness and tale-bearing are the commonest of sins. A Tradition of the Prophet ﷺ says that "More than anything else, the indiscretions of the tongue will cause one to be plunged headlong into Hell." The bondsman who develops the habit of talking little will, thus, be more successful in guarding his Faith against the intursions of the devil.

It should, however, be remembered that what the above saying means is that a person should not engage in vain and unnecessary talk which has no utility here in this world nor in the Hereafter and not that he kept silence just for the sake of it and refrained even from saying things that were good and useful. We have already reproduced the Tradition in the book of Faith that, "Whoever believes in Allah and the Last Day should either speak what is good or keep quiet."

The Prophet ﷺ has, also, warned against laughing excessively as it benumbs the heart and makes the face lustreless. The benumbing of the heart denotes that it becomes neglectful and unsensitive and a sort of gloom settles over it, an apparent effect of which is that the radiance which is, generally, noticed in the devout bondsmen of the Lord, with an awakened soul and illuminated heart, departs from the face.

The last exhortation to Sayyidina Abu Zarr رضي الله عنه is that the anxiety resulting from the awareness of his own faults and transgressions ought to be so overwhelming that it gave him no time to look into or talk about the sins and weakness of others. Anyone who keeps a watch on his own failings and moral and mental processes will always be ready to overlook the defects and shortcoming in other people. He will consider himself to be the worst of sinners. The fault and failings of others are, generally noticed by those who never care to look into themselves.

(٢٤٠/١٠٠) عَنْ مَعَاوِيَةَ أَنَّهُ كَتَبَ إِلَى عَائِشَةَ أَنْ اكِتَبِي إِلَيَّ كِتَابًا تُوصِينِي فِيهِ وَلَا تُكْثِرِي فَكَتَبَتْ سَلَامًا عَلَيْكَ، أَمَّا بَعْدُ فَإِنِّي سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ مَنْ التَّمَسَّ رِضَى اللَّهِ بِسَخِطِ النَّاسِ كَفَاهُ اللَّهُ مُؤْنَةَ النَّاسِ وَمَنْ التَّمَسَّ رِضَى النَّاسِ بِسَخِطِ اللَّهِ وَكَلَّهُ اللَّهُ إِلَى النَّاسِ وَالسَّلَامُ عَلَيْكَ (رواه الترمذی)

(240/100) It is narrated by Mu'awiya رضي الله عنه that, once, he wrote a letter to Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها requesting her to give him some good counsel, but it should be brief and comprehensive and not too long. Upon it, She sent to him the following reply:

"Peace be on you! I have heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: 'Whoever will seek to please Allah by displeasing men, Allah will make him independent of the help and favour of men and He Himself will become sufficient unto him, and whoever will seek to please men by displeasing Allah, Allah will give him in the charge of men. And peace!'" (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Often people are faced with a situation, specially those who have a wide circle of friends and manifold responsibilities, in which they adopt an attitude that is likely to lead to the good pleasure of Allah, many people with whom they are connected in various ways or who can be of help to them in different manners become antagonised, and if they act upon the wishes of those persons, they incur the displeasure of Allah. For such occasions, it has been set forth in the above Tradition that if the bondsman will choose the path of the good pleasure of Allah, Allah will take it upon Himself to provide for his needs and he will continue, by His mercy, to recieve the benefits he expects from men. On the contrary, if the bondsman tries to please men, at the cost of displeasing Allah, and carries out their wishes to the disregard of Divine injunctions, Allah will withhold His help from him and give him into the keeping of men who, in themselves, are equally powerless and indigent.

In a nutshell, it shows that if anyone wanted that Allah took upon Himself directly the responsibility of providing for his needs, he should make the seeking of the countenance of the Lord his sole object and standard of judgement in all affairs.

Although His advice is very brief in words, but has a deep and wide meaning.

KITABUL AKHLAQ

THE BOOK OF MANNERS

PLACE OF MORALITY IN ISLAM

Among the things on which the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ has laid the greatest stress, after Belief, and maintained that the felicity and salvation of mankind is dependents upon them, one is the cultivation of good manners and noble qualities of mind and character, avoiding evil and unseemly behaviour, and keeping away from vicious habits and practices. In the Qur'an, where the objects of raising up of the sacred Prophet ﷺ, are defined, it is, also, emphasised that to cleanse men and make them pure is a special part of his mission.

And sanctify them. (Al-Baqarah 2:129)

Moral reform and uplift occupies a place of highest importance in the aim and design of sanctification. As the Prophet ﷺ himself has said: "I have been raised up by Allah to teach moral virtues." It denotes that moral correction and elevation was among the chief ends and purposes of the mission of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ, and formed a fundamental part of his magnificent endeavour. It, naturally, could not be otherwise, for moral values play a vital part in moulding a man's life. A person with good morals will not only lead a happy and peaceful life himself, but his existence will be a source of comfort to others as well. On the other hand, if his social conduct and moral disposition are bad, his life will be devoid of real joy, and he will, also, make the lives of his relatives and all others around him miserable.

These are the ready, worldly effects of good or evil behaviour we experience in our daily existence, but it is going to yield far more serious results in the everlasting life of the Hereafter. The sequel of noble morals, in the Hereafter, is the good pleasure of the Lord and Paradise while that of bad manners and evil conduct is the Wrath of Allah and Fire of Hell.

The sayings of holy Prophet ﷺ relating to moral reform are of two kinds: one in which he has laid emphasis on moral goodness, as a principle, explained the worth and importance of good and virtuous habits, and indicated the unique reward they are going to fetch in the Hereafter, and the other that contain the advice and instruction to acquire or avoid a particular moral attribute. Here, we will, first, take up the Traditions belonging to the former category.

Importance of Good Manners

(٢٤١/١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

مِنْ خِيَارِكُمْ أَحْسَنُكُمْ أَخْلَاقًا

(241/1) It is related by Abdullah ibn Amr ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The best of you are those who possess the best of manners."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٢٤٢/٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَكْمَلُ

(رواه ابو داود والدارمى)

الْمُؤْمِنِينَ إِيمَانًا أَحْسَنُهُمْ خُلُقًا

(242/2) Abu Hurayrah ؓ related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Believers who possess better morals are the most perfect in Faith."

(Abu Dawood and Darami)

Commentary: There is a definite relationship between belief and manners. He who has a perfect belief definitely has very good manners. On the same basis, he who possesses very good manners is a perfect believer. It must be understood that without belief, a person's manners — nay, any deed he performs — are meaningless. Belief is the spirit and the driving force for every deed and every piety. Thus, if we see anyone who has good manners but he is not a believer then those are not manners in the real sense but morelly an image of manners and they have no value in the sight of Allah.

(٢٤٣/٣) عَنْ أَبِي الدَّرْدَاءِ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِنَّ أَثْقَلَ شَيْئِي

يُوضَعُ فِي مِيزَانِ الْمُؤْمِنِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ خُلُقٌ حَسَنٌ

(243/3) It is related by Abu Darda, he relates that the Prophet ﷺ said: "On the Day of Resurrection, the most weighty item in the Scales of the Deeds will be good manners."

(Abu Dawood and Tirmizi)

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان والغوى في شرح السنة عن اسامة بن شريك)

(244/4) A man from Muzaynah said that some of the Companions ﷺ said, "Messenger of Allah ﷺ, of the things that are bestowed to man, what is the best?" He said, "Good manners!" (Baihaqi in Sha'h al-Iman. Imam Baihaqi has transmitted in Sharah as-Sunnah on the authority of Usamah bin Shareek).

Commentary: It would not be correct to assume from the above Tradition that good morals were even superior to Faith or the principal tenets like prayer, fasting, *Zakah*¹ and Hajj.² The Companions ﷺ to whom these sayings were directly addressed had already learnt from the Prophet ﷺ that among the various branches of Islam, the most important were Faith and the doctrine of Divine Unity, and, then, came the fundamental duties. As for the rest of the departments of religious life, some of them take precedence over others in various ways, and the place of moral virtues, undoubtedly, is very high, and in the attainment of success and salvation in After-life and the gaining of the countenance of the Lord, their significance is beyond question.

الْمُؤْمِنَ لَيُذْرِكُ بِحَسَنِ خُلُقِهِ دَرَجَةً قَائِمِ اللَّيْلِ وَصَائِمِ النَّهَارِ (رواه ابو داود)

(245/105) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها relates that she heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "A Believer with good manners and good moral disposition gets the same reward as he who spend his nights in prayer, and observes fast during days, always."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that a person who is a true Muslim, both in belief and action, and, also, possesses good manners, but does not engage himself much in supererogatory fasts and prayers attains the same degree of excellence, through moral goodness, as the one who, generally, stands up in prayer throughout the night and fasts all the day long.

①. Poor-due

②. Pilgrimage to Makkah.

(٢٤٦/٦) عَنْ مَعَاذٍ قَالَ كَانَ آخِرَ مَا وَصَّيَنِي بِهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حِينَ وَضَعْتُ رِجْلِي فِي الْفَرْزَانِ قَالَ يَا مَعَاذُ أَحْسِنْ خُلُقَكَ لِلنَّاسِ (رواه مالك)

(246/6) Mu'az رضي الله عنه related to us, saying: "The last advice given to me by the Messenger of Allah ﷺ when I had put my foot in the stirrups of mount was that he said: 'Make your manners good for the people. (Behave well with them)'." (Mowatta)

Commentary: Towards the end of his life, the holy Prophet ﷺ had sent Sayyidina Mu'az رضي الله عنه as the Governor of Yemen, and while bidding him farewell in Madinah, he had given him a number of instructions which are mentioned, under various headings, in the compilations of the Traditions. In the above narrative, Mu'az رضي الله عنه has spoken of the same occasion. What he means to convey is that as he was leaving for Yemen, to take up the assingment, the last thing the Prophet ﷺ told him was to deal gently with its inhabitants.

It needs, however, be remembered that "good manners" do not entail that even hardened criminals and habitual evil-doers who deserved to be dealt with severely and there was no other way to reform them than through chastisement were, also, to be treated with leniency. It would, on the contrary, amount to the neglect of one's duty and lending encouragement to sinfulness and wrongdoings.

In any case, it is not against moral goodness, by any code of ethics, to be harsh on the criminals, of course, within the limits of justice and the Allah-given law.

Note: As we have seen earlier¹, the holy Prophet ﷺ had, also, said to Sayyidina Mu'az رضي الله عنه at that time, "It is quite possible that we do not meet again after this year. It may be that (when you returned from Yemen) you may visit my mosque and my grave

①. 'Meaning and Message of the Traditions': Vol. I. pp., 223-24 (Previous edition) instead of visiting me."

Since it was not the custom of the Prophet ﷺ to say such things, Mu'az ؓ concluded that the death of the Prophet ﷺ was, probably, near, and he might not be able to see him again. Upon it, he began to cry. The sacred Prophet ﷺ, then, consoled him, saying:

إِنَّ أَوْلَى النَّاسِ بِي الْمُتَّقُونَ مَنْ كَانُوا وَحَيْثُ كَانُوا

"Much closer to me are people who fear Allah and observe piety, whoever and wherever they may be."

What the Prophet ﷺ had said to Mu'az ؓ turned out to be true, and, on his return from Yemen, Mu'az ؓ did not see him, but his grave.

(٢٤٧/٧) عَنْ مَالِكٍ بَلَغَهُ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ بُعِثْتُ

لِأَتَمِّمْ حُسْنَ الْأَخْلَاقِ (رواه في الموطأ ورواه أحمد عن أبي هريرة)

(247/7) Imam Maalik ؓ reports that it had been related to him that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I have been sent down by Allah to evolve moral virtues to highest perfection."

(This Tradition had been mentioned by Imam Maalik, in the same form as above in his Mowatta, without giving the name of the narrator, while Imam Ahmad has related it on the authority of Abu Hurayrah in his Musnad).

Commentary: It tells that moral reform and development of good manners were among the chief objects of the mission of the holy Prophet ﷺ and formed an important part of the sanctification set forth in the Qur'an as his special duty.

مِنْ أَحَبِّكُمْ إِلَيَّ أَحْسَنُكُمْ أَخْلَاقًا (رواه البخارى)

(248/8) It is related by Abdullah ibn Amr ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Nearest to me among you are those who have better manners." (Bukhari)

Commentary: In Sayyidina Jabir's ؓ account of the above Tradition, quoted in Tirmizi, it is stated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said:

إِنَّ مِنْ أَحَبِّكُمْ إِلَيَّ أَحْسَنُكُمْ أَخْلَاقًا

"The dearest to me among you, and the nearest to me on the Day of Resurrection will be those who displayed the best manners."

These show how essential good morals are desirable manners are for gaining the affection of the holy Prophet ﷺ and his propinquity on the Day of Resurrection.

(٢٤٩/٩) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ اللَّهُمَّ

أَحْسَنْتَ خَلْقِي فَأَحْسِنْ خُلُقِي (رواه احمد)

(249/9) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to pray:

اللَّهُمَّ أَحْسَنْتَ خَلْقِي فَأَحْسِنْ خُلُقِي

"Oh Allah! Thou hast, by Thy grace, made my body good; make my morals good as well."

Note: This prayer of the sacred Prophet ﷺ for good morals and polite behaviour has been reproduced in different words and at different places in the collections of the Traditions. All the various versions of it will be quoted in a subsequent volume of the present series. Here, however, we shall take up just one more.

It is related, on the authority of Sayyidina Ali رضي الله عنه, in Sahih Muslim, that one of the prayers the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to make during *Tahajjud*¹ was:

"Oh Lord! Lead me on the best of moral manners. No one, aside of Thee, can guide to moral excellence. And remove bad manners from me. No one, aside of Thee, can remove them."

وَاهْدِنِي لِأَحْسَنِ الْأَخْلَاقِ لَا
يَهْدِي لِأَحْسَنِهَا إِلَّا أَنْتَ وَاصْرِفْ
عَنِّي سَيِّئَهَا لَا يَصْرِفُ عَنِّي سَيِّئَهَا
إِلَّا أَنْتَ

①. An optional prayer offered during the latter stages of the night.

GOOD MORALS AND BAD COMPASSION AND LACK OF IT

Mercy is a special Attribute of Allah, and Rahman (the Beneficent) and Rahim (the Merciful) are His Excellent Names. The bondsmen are blessed and deserving of Divine Mercy to the extent to which a reflection of this virtue is present in them, while those who are cruel and hard-hearted are excluded from it in the same proportion.

They Are Deserving of Divine Mercy Who Are Merciful to Others

(٢٥٠/١٠) عَنْ جَرِيرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا

(رواه البخارى)

يَرْحَمُ اللَّهُ مَنْ لَا يَرْحَمُ النَّاسَ

(250/10) It is related by Jareer ibn Abdullah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah will not show mercy to them who do not show mercy to other people."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The word "other people", occurring in it, includes the Muslims as well as the infidels and the sinners. Everyone, indeed, has a claim upon kindness and compassion no matter to what class or community he belongs. True sympathy and kindness towards the infidels and wrong-doers, however, would demand that, first of all, we felt sorry and concerned in our hearts at the sequel of their infidelity and transgression, and tried sincerely to save them. Apart from it, in cases of physical or worldly want and suffering, also, we are commanded to be kind and helpful to them.

(٢٥١/١١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

الرَّاحِمُونَ يَرْحَمُهُمُ الرَّحْمَنُ إِزْحَمُوا مَنْ فِي الْأَرْضِ يَرْحَمَكُمُ مَنْ فِي السَّمَاءِ

(رواه ابو داؤد والترمذى)

(251/11) It is related by Abdullah ibn Amr ibn al-Aas رضى الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah will have mercy upon them that are merciful. Treat kindly the dwellers of the earth; He who dwells in the heavens will treat you kindly:

(Abu Dawood and Tirmizi)

Commentary: It shows that deserving of the special mercy of the Lord are the kind-hearted bondsmen who have love and sympathy for His creatures.

The exhortation to show kindness to "the dwellers of the earth" includes not only men of all faiths and nationalities, but, also, animals. It has been made more explicit in the Traditions that follow.

On Showing Kindness to Animals—A Thirsty Dog

(٢٥٢/١٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بَيْنَمَا رَجُلٌ يَمْشِي بِطَرِيقٍ اشْتَدَّ عَلَيْهِ الْعَطَشُ فَوَجَدَ بَيْتًا فَنَزَلَ فِيهَا فَشَرِبَ ثُمَّ خَرَجَ فَإِذَا كَلْبٌ يَلْهَثُ يَأْكُلُ الثَّرَى مِنَ الْعَطَشِ فَقَالَ الرَّجُلُ لَقَدْ بَلَغَ هَذَا الْكَلْبُ مِنَ الْعَطَشِ مِثْلَ الَّذِي كَانَ بَلَغَ بِي فَنَزَلَ الْبَيْتَ فَمَلَأَ خُفَّهُ ثُمَّ أَمْسَكَهُ بِفِيهِ فَسَقَى الْكَلْبَ فَشَكَرَ اللَّهُ لَهُ فَغُفِّرَ لَهُ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَإِنَّ لَنَا فِي الْبَهَائِمِ أَجْرًا؟ فَقَالَ نَعَمْ فِي كُلِّ ذَاتٍ كَبِدٍ رَطْبَةٍ أَجْرٌ (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(252/12) Abu Hurayrah رضى الله عنه related to us, saying that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Once a traveller was feeling extremely thirsty, he came upon a well. He went down into it, drank the water, and came out. On coming out, he saw a dog that was dying of thirst. Its tongue was sticking out and it was licking the wet earth. The man took pity on it, and, again, went down into the well, filled his leather stocking with water, held it by his teeth, and came out of the well, and gave the water to the dog to drink. This simple service to the thirsting dog pleased the Lord so much that He blessed the man with salvation." Upon it, some Companions enquired: "Is there a reward even on removing the distress of animals?" "Yes" replied the Prophet. "On removing the distress of every living being (that can feel the pangs of hunger and thirst)".

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Sometimes, even an ordinary act is most pleasing to Allah owing to the idea or intention behind it, or the unusual circumstances in which it is performed, and all the sins and iniquities of the doer are forgiven as a result of it. The incident, related in the above report, is of a similar kind. A traveller is pressing on towards his destination under the hot sun. He is tormented by thirst. In these circumstances, he sees a well, but there is no rope or bucket to draw the water from it. With great difficulty, he climbs down into the well, drinks the water, and comes out. Now, he sees a dog licking the wet earth. He takes pity on it. The situation in which he is placed demands that he should hurry on with the journey and reach the destination early so that he could have some rest. But there is the dying dog. He cannot leave it alone. It is, also, a creature of the Lord. So, he decides to go down into the well again and fetch the water for the poor animal. On reaching the water, he fills his leather-stocking, holds it by the teeth, and comes out, and gives the water to the dog. The mercy and benevolence of the Lord is stirred by it and the decision is reached to grant him forgiveness and Paradise.

It needs to be remembered that it was not merely the act of giving water to the dog that mattered, but the spirit behind it.

(٢٥٣/١٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ جَعْفَرٍ قَالَ دَخَلَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَائِطًا لِرَجُلٍ مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ فَإِذَا فِيهِ جَمَلٌ فَلَمَّا رَأَى النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَنًّ وَذَرَفَتْ عَيْنَاهُ فَاتَّاهُ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَمَسَحَ ذَفْرَاهُ فَسَكَتَ فَقَالَ مَنْ رَبُّ هَذَا الْجَمَلِ؟ لِمِنْ هَذَا الْجَمَلِ؟ فَجَاءَ فَتَى مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ فَقَالَ لِي يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ! فَقَالَ لَهُ أَفَلَا تَتَّقِي اللَّهَ فِي هَذِهِ الْبَهِيمَةِ الَّتِي مَلَكَكَ إِيَّاهُ؟ فَإِنَّهُ شَكَى إِلَيَّ أَنَّكَ تُجِيعُهُ وَتُذْنِبُهُ

(253/13) Narrates Abdullah ibn Ja'far رضي الله عنه, "Once the Messenger of Allah ﷺ went to the orchard of an Ansar¹ Companion. There was a camel over there which groaned pathetically on seeing the Prophet ﷺ, as she-camel does when separated from its young

①. Literally, it means the 'helpers'. In Islamic terminology, the term applies to the inhabitants of Madinah who embraced the Islamic faith and extended warm support and sympathy to the Mohajirs (emigrants from Makkah).

one, and, began to shed tears. The Prophet ﷺ went to it and stroked its head gently until it became quiet. He, then, asked: "Whose camel is it?" An ansar young man came forward and said that it belonged to him. The Prophet ﷺ thereupon, said to the Ansar: 'Do you not fear Allah, in respect of the poor, dumb creature. Who has made you its master? it has complained to me that you keep it hungry and take too much work from it.'

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: As Sayyidina Sulayman عليه السلام used to understand the language of the birds, by Allah's leave, which, also, is mentioned in the Qur'an:

وَعَلَّمْنَا مَنطِقَ الطَّيْرِ (النمل ٢٧:١٦)

We have been taught the language of the birds, (An-Naml 27:16)

The Holy Prophet ﷺ, too, could understand the language of the animals. The incident mentioned, in this Tradition, of the Prophet's ﷺ comprehension of the complaint of the camel, and, in the next, of his comprehension of the complaint of a bird, belong to the same category, and are, so to speak, among his miracles that cannot be explained by a known natural law.

The moral of it is that anyone possessing an animal should feed it properly and take only as much work from it as may not be beyond its endurance.

The world has, now, woken to the need of the prevention of cruelty of animals, but the scared Prophet ﷺ had taught it to mankind over fourteen hundred years ago.

(254/14) Abdul Rahman ibn Abdullah ibn Masud relates, on the authority of his father, "We were accompanying the Messenger of Allah ﷺ on a journey that, while he had gone to attend the call of nature, we saw a small red bird, (probably a blue-necked jay), with two young ones. We caught the chicks, (and) the bird came and began to hover over our heads. (Meanwhile), the Prophet ﷺ returned, and said: 'Who has hurt the bird by catching its young ones? Give back the chicks to it'. He, then, saw an ant-hill we had set fire to, and enquired who had done that. 'O Messenger of Allah, we said, 'We have burnt it'. He, thereupon, observed: 'It befits on one save Allah, the Creator of Fire, to inflict the punishment of fire on a living being.'

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: From these Traditions we learnt that the animals too, even the ants, should not be treated cruelly.

(٢٥٥/١٥) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ دَخَلْتُ امْرَأَةً النَّارَ فِي هِرَّةٍ رَبَطْتُهَا فَلَمْ تُطْعَمْهَا وَلَمْ تَدْعُهَا تَأْكُلْ مِنْ خَشَاشِ الْأَرْضِ (رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(255/15) It is related by Abdullah ibn Amr that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A cruel, hard-hearted woman was cast into Hell for her cruelty to a cat which she held in captivity until it died of starvation. She neither gave it a morsel of food nor set it free so that it could eat the worms (or rodents) of the earth."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: From Sayyidina Jabir's account, quoted in Sahih Muslim, it appears that the woman was of the Bani Isra'il and the Holy Prophet ﷺ seen her under going the penalty of fire in Hell either during the Night of Ascension or in a dream or some other vision.

Anyway, it is clear from it that even cruelty to animals is most displeasing to the Lord and can lead one to Hell.

(٢٥٦/١٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ أَبَا الْقَاسِمِ الصَّادِقَ الْمَصْذُوقَ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ لَا تُنْزَعُ الرَّحْمَةُ إِلَّا مِنْ شَقِيٍّ (رواه احمد والترمذی)

(256/16) Abu Hurayrah relates that he heard the truthful and trustworthy Sayyidina Abul Qasim say: "The attribute of compassion is not taken away from the heart of anyone except the ill-fated."

(Musnad Ahmad and Tirmizi)

Commentary: It shows that if the heart of anyone is wholly devoid of kindness and compassion, it should be taken to mean that he is accursed in the sight of Allah, for the heart of a person who is doomed to Hell, alone, is totally lacking in mercy.

(٢٥٧/١٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا شَكَاَ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

قَسْوَةَ قَلْبِهِ قَالَ امْسَحْ رَأْسَ الْيَتِيمِ وَأَطْعِمِ الْمُسْكِينِ (رواه احمد)

(257/17) It is related by Abu Hurairah رضي الله عنه that someone complained to the Prophet ﷺ of his (own) hard-heartedness.

"Caress the head of the orphan, and feed the poor", the Prophet ﷺ instructed him. (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: Cruelty is a spiritual ailment. The questioner had sought the advice of the Prophet ﷺ concerning the state of his heart upon which he was told to cultivate the habits of caressing the heads of the orphans and feeding the hungry.

The remedy suggested by the holy Prophet ﷺ is based upon a well-known principle of psychology, or, rather, it confirms it. It teaches that if a mental or emotional condition is not present in anyone, and he wants to acquire it, he should make himself look like possessing it, and, in course of time, it will become a part of his nature. The method of profusion in Zikr (Allah remembrance), as a means to the cultivation of Divine love, which is practised among the *Sufis*¹, is found on the same principle.

Nevertheless, it is a symbol of compassion to stroke the head of an orphan and feed the poor. Anyone lacking this can develop it by following this advice.

Generosity

To spend one's wealth on others and to aid and assist them in their needs, too, is a branch of compassion in the same way as stinginess, illiberality and selfishness are a form of cruelty.

(٢٥٨/١٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَلَسَّخِيُّ

قَرِيبٌ مِنَ اللَّهِ قَرِيبٌ مِنَ النَّاسِ قَرِيبٌ مِنَ الْجَنَّةِ بَعِيدٌ مِنَ النَّارِ - وَالْبَحِيلُ بَعِيدٌ

مِنَ اللَّهِ بَعِيدٌ مِنَ النَّاسِ بَعِيدٌ مِنَ الْجَنَّةِ قَرِيبٌ مِنَ النَّارِ وَالْجَاهِلُ سَخِيٌّ أَحَبُّ

1. Belonging to a class of Godly and abstemious persons among Muslims

(رواه الترمذی)

إِلَى اللَّهِ مِنْ عَابِدٍ بَخِيلٍ

(258/18) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A generous- hearted bondsman is nearer to Allah and men, and he is close to Heaven and far away from Hell; and, surely, an ignorant, but open-handed man is dearer to Allah than a devotee who is a miser." (Tirmizi)

(٢٥٩/١٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ اللَّهُ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

تَعَالَى أَنْفِقْ أَنْفِقْ عَلَيْكَ

(259/19) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "It is the command of the Lord for every bondsman : 'Spend on others. I shall spend on thee.'"

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It gives the assurance that Allah will bestow more wealth, from His hidden treasures, upon those who spend on the weak and needy fellow-men. They need not fear that poverty will become their lot if they spent freely in the way of Allah.

(٢٦٠/٢٠) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ مَا سَأَلَ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ شَيْئًا قَطُّ فَقَالَ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

لَا

(260/20) Jabir رضی اللہ عنہ relates "It never happened that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was asked for anything and he denied them."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that such was the generosity of the holy Prophet ﷺ that he never turned away a suppliant without giving him something. He always helped those who asked him for charity, and if, at any time, he had nothing to give, he would borrow for it.

(٢٦١/٢١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَوْ كَانَ

عِنْدِي مِثْلُ أَحَدٍ ذَهَبًا لَسَرَّيْنِي أَنْ لَا يَمُرَّ عَلَيَّ ثَلَاثَ لَيَالٍ وَ عِنْدِي مِنْهُ شَيْءٌ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

إِلَّا شِئْتُ أَرْصُدَهُ لِدِينِي

(261/21) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "If I have gold equal (in weight) (even) to Mount Uhud, my desire will be that I spent the whole of it, before the passage of three nights, in the path of Allah, except that I held back some of it to pay off a debt."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٢٦٢/٢٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا

(رواه النسائي)

يَجْتَمِعُ الشُّحُّ وَالْإِيمَانُ فِي قَلْبٍ عَبْدٍ أَبَدَ

(262/22) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Miserliness and greed cannot coexist together with faith in anyone's heart."

(Nasai)

Commentary: What it seeks to emphasise is that stinginess is so greatly repugnant to the spirit of Islam that it cannot enter the heart of a true Believer, and if this habit is found in anyone, it may be presumed that he is unblest with the radiance of Faith. As a little reflection will show, there can be no place for a thing like miserliness in the heart of a person who has a living faith in Allah and His Attributes.

(٢٦٣/٢٣) عَنْ أَبِي بَكْرٍ الصِّدِّيقِ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَا

(رواه الترمذی)

يَدْخُلُ الْجَنَّةَ حَبٌّ وَلَا بَخِيلٌ وَلَا مَنَّانٌ

(263/23) Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه related to us, saying that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The cheat, the miser, and the one who follows up one's favours with painful reminders of them shall not enter Heaven."

(Tirmizi)

Commentary: It denotes that deceit, and parsimony, and to speak or boast of favours conferred are such ruinous habits that these are likely to obstruct one's passage to Paradise. Hence, those who are keen to attain salvation and go to Heaven should keep away from them.

Forgiveness And Self-Restraint

To pardon the guilty and the offender and to refuse to take revenge are among the virtues that are closely related to soft-heartedness. The Prophet ﷺ, himself, did the same and exhorted his followers also, to act in like manner.

We have, already, seen the Tradition in previous pages, quoted on the authority of Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه, that the Lord had commanded nine things to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, in particular, one of which was to forgive those who were cruel and unjust to him.

(٢٤٦/٢٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا شَتَمَ أَبَا بَكْرٍ وَالنَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ جَالِسٍ يَتَعَجَّبُ وَيَتَبَسَّمُ فَلَمَّا اكْتَرَرَ رَدَّ عَلَيْهِ بَعْضَ قَوْلِهِ فَغَضِبَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَقَامَ فَلَحِقَهُ أَبُو بَكْرٍ وَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ كَانَ يَشْتِمُنِي وَأَنْتَ جَالِسٌ فَلَمَّا رَدَدْتُ عَلَيْهِ بَعْضَ قَوْلِهِ غَضِبْتَ وَقُمْتَ قَالَ كَانَ مَعَكَ مَلَكٌ يَرُدُّ عَلَيْهِ فَلَمَّا رَدَدْتُ عَلَيْهِ وَقَعَ الشَّيْطَانُ، ثُمَّ قَالَ يَا أَبَا بَكْرٍ تِلْكَ كُلُّهُنَّ حَقٌّ مَا مِنْ عَبْدٍ ظَلِمَ بِمَظْلَمَةٍ فَيُغْضَى عَنْهَا لِلَّهِ عَزَّوَجَلَّ إِلَّا أَعَزَّ اللَّهُ بِهَا نَصْرَهُ وَمَا فَتَحَ رَجُلٌ بَابَ عَطِيَّةٍ يُرِيدُ بِهَا صَلَاةً إِلَّا زَادَ اللَّهُ بِهَا كَثْرَةً، وَمَا فَتَحَ رَجُلٌ بَابَ مَسْئَلَةٍ يُرِيدُ بِهَا كَثْرَةً إِلَّا زَادَ اللَّهُ بِهَا قَلَّةً (رواه احمد)

(264/24) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه "A person once abused Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه, and the Prophet ﷺ was sitting [there]. He felt amazed and was smiling (at the behaviour of both with the man abusing Abu Bakr continuously and the latter bearing it with patience). But when that person went on with it beyond limit, Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه, also, returned some of the invectives. The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, left the place in some anger. (Feeling greatly perturbed, Abu Bakr went after the Prophet ﷺ to find out the reason of his annoyance and apologised). As he met the Prophet ﷺ, and said, Messenger of Allah! How is that you remained sitting when the man was hurling abuses at me, without end, but when I, too, said something, you got angry and departed from the place?' The Prophet replied: 'An angel of Allah was with you and replying on your behalf as long as you kept quiet and showed patience, but when you answered back, the angel went away and the devil came in, (on seeing an opportunity to add fuel to the fire).' Then, he said, 'O Abu Bakr! There are three things that are absolutely true: One, if an injustice is done to anyone and he forgives it solely for the sake of Allah (and does not take revenge), Allah will support him, in all respects, in return for it (and raise him in esteem both in this world and the next). Two, whoever opens the door of giving to others and showing kindness to kinsmen, Allah will bestow prosperity upon him and multiply his wealth. And, three, whoever will open the door of begging (not out of need but) to add to his wealth, Allah will cause a further diminution in his possessions."

(Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: Though it is permissible to take revenge with justice, a better and nobler thing is to forgive, for the sake of Allah, even when one has the power to avenge oneself. Since Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ was regarded with special favour by the Prophet ﷺ, he did not like him to say anything, by way of a retort, to the offender. Says the Qur'an:

The legal repayment of an ill-deed is an ill, the like thereof. But whosoever pardoneth and amendeth, his reward is due from Allah. (Al-Shura 42:40)

وَجَزَاءُ سَيِّئَةٍ سَيِّئَةٌ تَبْلُغُهَا فَمَنْ عَفَا وَأَصْلَحَ فَأَجْرُهُ عَلَى اللَّهِ
(الشورى ٤٢: ٤٠)

(٢٥٦/٢٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مُوسَى بْنُ عِمْرَانَ عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ يَا رَبِّ مَنْ أَعَزُّ عِبَادَكَ عِنْدَكَ قَالَ مَنْ إِذَا قَدَّرَ غَفَرَ
(رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(265/25) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Musa ibn Imran, the Prophet, once asked the Lord: 'Oh Lord! Who are the noblest of bondsmen in Your sight?' 'Those who forgive the guilty when they have him in their control (and are in a position to take revenge,' the Lord replied."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: It is worth remembering that the superiority of forgiving the guilty and the defaulter, as mentioned above, is related only to the personal sphere, i.e., where our individual or private rights and interests are concerned. But no one has the right to condone an offence or misdeed that is against Allah, and upon which a punishment is fixed by Him. The practice of the holy Prophet ﷺ, who was the most merciful of men, was, also, the same. He always forgave those who did a wrong to him, but never failed to punish, according to the Divine Law, men who violated the limits laid down by Allah.

It is related in Bukhari and Muslim, on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها:

وَمَا انتقم رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم لنفسه في شيء قط إلا أن ينتهك حرمة الله

"The Messenger of Allah ﷺ never punished anyone in a personal matter, but when a person transgressed against a Allah-given law, he used to punish him by reason of the command of Allah."

(٢٦٦/٢٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ كَمْ أَغْفِرُ عَنِ الْخَادِمِ فَصَمَتَ عَنْهُ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثُمَّ قَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ كَمْ أَغْفِرُ عَنِ الْخَادِمِ قَالَ كُلُّ يَوْمٍ سَبْعِينَ مَرَّةً (رواه الترمذی)

(266/26) It is related by Abdullah ibn Umar ؓ that (once) a person came to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and said: "O Messenger of Allah ! How many times should I forgive the fault of my attendant (slave or servant)?" The Prophet did not answer and kept quiet. The questioner, then, asked again: 'How many times should I forgive the fault of my attendant (slave or servant)?' He replied, "Seventy times each day." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: What the holy Prophet ﷺ wanted to stress was that forgiveness was not a thing on which a limit could be set. On the other hand, kindness demanded that a servant should be forgiven even if he was frequently at fault.

As we have seen in the earlier volumes, the figure of seventy on such occasions does not denote the exact number, but profusion. And, it is more apparent in this hadith.

Doing Good

To do an act of kindness, too, is a branch of compassion, or, rather, its fruit. It can have many forms, such as, the doing someone a favour, the offering a gift, or the rendering a service or acting in any other manner that may be a source of joy or comfort to anyone. The holy Prophet ﷺ has urged upon his followers to make all these a part of their social and moral behaviour.

(٢٦٧/٢٧) عَنْ أَنَسٍ وَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

الْخَلْقُ عِيَالُ اللَّهِ فَاحْبِبِ الْخَلْقَ إِلَى اللَّهِ مَنْ أَحْسَنَ إِلَى عِيَالِهِ

(267/27) Anas and Abdullah رضى الله عنهما (both) related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The creatures are the family of Allah. (He is responsible for their sustenance in the same way as a person, ostensibly, is responsible for the sustenance of his dependents). Thus, the most beloved of Allah, in the whole creation, is he who does good to the members of His family, i.e., His creatures." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: In this world of ours, too, we feel drawn to a person who is good and kind to our family. In the above Tradition, we are told that the same is the case with the Lord as well. Whoever shows kindness to His creatures is greatly liked by Him.

Note: We have said earlier and repeat that it should be noted that such tidings appertain only to those who are not guilty of a mortal sin that renders a man wholly unworthy of Divine benevolence.

Take it like this, suppose it is proclaimed by a king that he will reward and raise in honour anyone who does good to his subjects, will it include even the rebels and professional criminals?

(٢٦٨/٢٨) عَنْ حُذَيْفَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تَكُونُوا

إِنْ أَحْسَنَ النَّاسُ أَنْ تُحْسِنُوا وَإِنْ أَسَاءُوا فَلَا تَظْلِمُوا (رواه الترمذی)

(268/28) It is related by Huzayfah رضى الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Do not be of those who do (by others) as the others do (by them), and say that we will do them a favour if they do us a favour, and if they will be mean and unjust to us then we, too, will be mean and unjust to them. On the contrary, resolve that you will do good if the others do good, and if they do a wrong and act unjustly, even then you will not be unfair to them." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: It tells that a true Believer should always be kind-hearted and amiable to others and an act of goodness should not be done only to those who are good to us, but to such people, as well, who treat us unjustly. We have seen a hadith in the Kitab ar Riqaq narrated by Abu Hurayrah that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said that his Lord had commanded him to join ties with him who broke them and to give to him too who holds back.

(٢٦٩/٢٩) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ قَضَى لِأَحَدٍ مِنْ أُمَّتِي حَاجَةً يُرِيدُ أَنْ يُسْرَهُ بِهَا فَقَدْ سَرَّنِي وَمَنْ سَرَّنِي فَقَدْ سَرَّ اللَّهَ وَمَنْ سَرَّ اللَّهَ أَذْخَلَهُ اللَّهُ الْجَنَّةَ
(رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(296/29) Sayyidina Anas ﷺ has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "He who fulfils the need of any of my people to make him happy, truly makes Me happy. And, he who makes me happy, in fact, makes Allah happy, And, he who makes Allah happy, Allah will make him enter Paradise." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: We can see how much the Messenger of Allah ﷺ cares for his people from this hadith. If anyone pleases another person by doing something for him then he pleases the Prophet ﷺ and thereby earns the pleasure of Allah and Paradise.

(٢٧٠/٣٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ السَّاعِي عَلَى الْأَرْمَلَةِ وَالْمُسْكِينِ كَالسَّاعِي فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ وَأَحْسِبُهُ قَالَ كَالْقَائِمِ لَا يَفْطُرُو كَالصَّائِمِ لَا يَفْطُرُ
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(270/30) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ﷺ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever exerts himself for the sake of a helpless widow or a weak and indigent man is equal in recompense to him who exerts himself in the path of Allah." (The narrator adds): "And I think the Prophet, also, said that 'he is like the bondsman who spend his nights in prayer, and does not feel tired, and the bondsman who fasts through the year, and never goes without a fast.'" (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: As we have seen in the foregoing Traditions, an act of kindness is most pleasing to Allah, no matter to what kind or class it belongs or to whom it is done. To attend to the need of a poor and helpless man or woman and to take pains in order to bring relief to them is an act of such a high order, in the sight of Allah, that the bondsmen who do so are worthy of the same reward that is on fighting in the way of Allah or devoting one's nights, habitually, to prayer and days to fasting.

Even The Smallest Act of Goodness is Precious in The Judgement of The Lord

(٢٧١/٣١) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يُحَقِّرَنَّ أَحَدُكُمْ شَيْئًا مِنَ الْمَعْرُوفِ فَإِنْ لَمْ يَجِدْ فَلْيَلْقَ أَخَاهُ بِوَجْهِ طَلْقٍ وَإِذَا اشْتَرَيْتَ لَحْمًا أَوْ طَبَخْتَ قِدْرًا فَاكْثِرْ مَرَقَتَهُ وَاعْرِفْ لِجَارِكَ مِنْهُ
(رواه الترمذی)
(271/31) Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضی اللہ عنہ related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Let no one of you consider any form of manner or doing good of little value. So, if he has nothing to give to a brother, he should, at least, meet him with a smile on his face. (This, too, is a form of kindness). And when you buy or cook meat, increase the broth, (by putting more water into it), and take out a spoonful from it for your neighbour." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: It emphasises that everyone should make it a point to be kind and helpful to his relatives, friends or neighbours. He should give gifts to them, according to his means, and if he has nothing worth giving, he should give what he can afford and not hold himself back thinking that it was valueless, so much so that if he was not in a position to offer anything else, he ought to greet him with a cheerful face. It, too, is a form of kindliness, and like the offering of gifts etc., contributes to the promotion of mutual love and affection. Likewise, even a poor person can add water to the broth when meat is cooked in his house and send some of it to the neighbour.

The holy Prophet ﷺ has mentioned these acts of fellow-feeling and kind treatment, obviously, as an illustration, otherwise what this Tradition means is that everyone should be ready to do what favour he can to others, no matter how insignificant it appeared.

(٢٧٢/٣٢) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تُبَحِّقَنَّ مِنَ الْمَعْرُوفِ شَيْئًا وَإِنَّ مِنَ الْمَعْرُوفِ أَنْ تَلْقَى أَخَاكَ بِوَجْهِ طَلْقٍ وَأَنْ تُفْرِغَ مِنْ دَلُوكَ فِي إِنَاءِ أَخِيكَ
(رواه الترمذی)

(272/32) Jabir رضی اللہ عنہ relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Do not consider any form of kindness insignificant and one of its forms (which costs nothing) is that you meet a brother with a cheerful face, and it, also, (is among the kindly acts, that you pour water from your bucket into the vessel of your brother."

(Tirmizi)

Commentary: Like the preceeding report, it, too, makes use of examples to stress that no act of kindness is insignificant in the sight of Allah, and a person should not hesitate to render what little service he can to others. Doing good is not the prerogative of the rich. The poor too can do it.

Self-Denial

A superior form of kindness is that though a person may be needing a thing himself, he gives it to someone who wants it. This is called self-sacrifice, and, without doubt, it is a virute of the highest order.

(٢٧٣/٣٣) عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ جَاءَتْ إِمْرَأَةٌ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِبُرْدَةٍ فَقَالَتْ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ اكْسُوكَ هَذِهِ فَأَخَذَهَا النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مُحْتَاجًا إِلَيْهَا فَلَبِسَهَا قَرَأَهَا عَلَيْهِ رَجُلٌ مِنْ أَصْحَابِهِ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ مَا أَحْسَنَ هَذِهِ فَأَكْسَيْتُهَا فَقَالَ نَعَمْ فَلَمَّا قَامَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَامَهُ أَصْحَابُهُ قَالَ مَا أَحْسَنْتَ حِينَ رَأَيْتَ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَخَذَهَا مُحْتَاجًا إِلَيْهَا ثُمَّ سَأَلَتْهُ إِيَّاهَا وَقَدْ عَرَفْتَ أَنَّهُ لَا يُسْأَلُ شَيْئًا فِيمَنْعَهُ فَقَالَ رَجَوْتُ بَرَكَتَهَا حِينَ لَبِسَهَا النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَعَلِّي أَكْفَنُ فِيهَا (رواه البخارى)

(273/33) Narrates Sahl ibn Sa'ad رضي الله عنه that (once) a woman came to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ with a mantle (as a present) and begged him to wear it. Then Prophet ﷺ accepted the gift and wore it. His condition, at that time, was such that he really needed a mantle. On seeing him wearing it, a Companion said: Messenger of Allah! This mantle is very good. Please give it to me." "Alright", replied the Prophet ﷺ and gave him the mantle. After the Messenger of Allah ﷺ had gone, some Companions rebuked the person (who had asked for the mantle), and said: "You did a wrong thing. You knew that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ needed it himself and it was in a state of want that he had accepted it from the lady yet you asked for it knowing well that it was his habit to give away whatever anyone asked for from him." The Companion replied: "I did so for the sake of its blessedness. I thought that as the Messenger of Allah ﷺ had worn the mantle, it would make a good shroud for me." (Bukhari)

(٢٧٤/٣٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ إِنِّي مَجْهُودٌ فَأَرْسَلْ إِلَيَّ بَعْضَ نِسَائِهِ فَقَالَتْ وَالَّذِي بَعَثَكَ بِالْحَقِّ مَا عِنْدِي إِلَّا مَاءٌ ثُمَّ أَرْسَلَ إِلَيَّ أُخْرَى فَقَالَتْ مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ وَقُلْنَ كُلُّهُنَّ مِثْلَ ذَلِكَ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ يُضِيفُهُ يَرْحَمُهُ اللَّهُ فَقَامَ رَجُلٌ مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ يُقَالُ لَهُ أَبُو طَلْحَةَ فَقَالَ أَنَا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ فَأَنْطَلِقَ بِهِ إِلَى رَحْلِهِ فَقَالَ لِامْرَأَتِهِ هَلْ عِنْدَكَ شَيْءٌ قَالَتْ لَا إِلَّا قُوْثٌ صِبْيَانِي قَالَ فَعَلَلِيهِمْ بِشَيْءٍ وَنَوْمِيهِمْ فَإِذَا دَخَلَ ضَيْفُنَا فَأَرِيهِ أَنَا نَأْكُلُ فَإِذَا أَهْوَى بِيَدِهِ لَنَا كُلُّ فَقَوْمِي إِلَى السَّرَاجِ كَيْ تَصْلِحِيهِ فَأَطْفَيْنِي فَفَعَلْتُ فَقَعَدُوا وَآكَلَ الصَّبْفُ وَبَاتَا طَاوِئِينَ فَلَمَّا أَصْبَحَ غَدَا عَلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَقَدْ عَجِبَ اللَّهُ أَوْضَحَكَ اللَّهُ مِنْ قُلَانٍ وَقُلَانَةٍ

(274/34) Narrates Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that (once) a person came to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and said: "I am a poor and needy person, and in great distress. (I am starving)." The Prophet ﷺ thereupon, sent word to one of his wives (to send if she had anything to eat for the poor fellow). She replied: "By the Holy Being who has raised you up with Truth, there is nothing to eat or drink with me save water." The Messenger of Allah ﷺ then, enquired from another of his wives, and, then, one by one, from all of his wives, and, received the same reply. At last, he enquired from the Companions (who were with him at that time): "Who, among you can have him as his guest? There will be a special favour of the Lord on him (who does so)." (Upon it), an Ansar, named Abu Talha, stood up, and said: "Messenger of Allah ! I shall have him for a guest." Abu Talha took the man to his house, and said to his wife: "Do you have anything for this guest?" "There is nothing except the food for the children", she replied. " (there is nothing to eat for you or me too)." "Then, said Abu Talha," put the children to sleep. (somehow), without feeding them, and pretended before the guest that we are going to eat with him. When he stretches his hand for eating, go to the lamp at the pretext of setting it right and put it out (so that there may be darkness and the guest cannot know whether we are eating with him or not)". The wife did as she was told, and while all the three sat down at the meal, it was only the guest who ate, and Abu Talha and his wife remained hungry for the night. When Abu Talha went to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ in the morning, the latter named him and his wife specifically, and gave them the glad tidings that "Allah very much liked the act of such-and-such a bondsman and such-and-such a bondswoman of His. He was highly pleased." The narrator forgot whether the Prophet ﷺ said عجب الله or ضحك الله. (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The incident narrated above speaks of the marvellous sentiments of magnanimity and self-abnegation the holy Prophet ﷺ had produced among his Companions through his teachings and practical example. It is this spirit of self-sacrifice and hospitality of the Ansars that has been extolled in the Qur'an in these words:

”وَيُؤْثِرُونَ عَلَىٰ أَنفُسِهِمْ وَلَوْ كَانَ بِهِمْ خَصَاصَةٌ“ (سورة الحشر ٥٩:٥)

They prefer the needy to themselves though poverty (or hunger) become their lot. (Al-Hashr 59:9)

It was to express extra ordinary approval the behaviour of Abu Talha had received that the Prophet ﷺ used the word عجب or ضحك (amazed or laughed) otherwise these are qualities of human beings among the essential qualities of Faith. The Prophet ﷺ, himself, was an embodiment of love, and each attribute of his was an attribute of Faith indeed.

(٢٧٥/٣٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ الْمُؤْمِنُ مَالِفٌ

وَلَا خَيْرَ فِيمَنْ لَا يَأْلَفُ وَلَا يُؤْلَفُ (رواه احمد والبيهقي في شعب الايمان)

(275/35) It is related by Abu Hurayrah that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A Believer is a personification of love. There is no virtue in him who does not love others and the others do not love him." (Musnad Ahmad and Baihaqi)

Commentary: It shows that to have a loving and affectionate nature is a religious requirement for a Muslim. If he does not care for others and the others do not care for him, he is devoid of virtue and his existence is of no benefit to society.

It has a lesson for the dry and unsociable people who imagine detachment and aloofness to be the signs of religiousness and spirituality, and do not feel warmly for others nor let others come close to them. It should, however, be taken for granted that the love and affection of the Believer is for the sake of Allah and subject to His Will and Command.

مَحْيَايَ وَمَمَاتِي لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ (الانعام ١٦٢:٦)

My living and death are for Allah, Lord of the worlds.

(Al-An'am 6:162)

Love and Hatred For The Sake of Allah

(٢٧٦/٣٦) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ أَحَبَّ

الْأَعْمَالِ إِلَى اللَّهِ تَعَالَى 'الْحُبُّ فِي اللَّهِ وَالْبُغْضُ فِي اللَّهِ' (رواه ابو داود)

(276/36) Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضي الله عنه related to us, saying: "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Among the acts of a bondsman, the most pleasing to Allah is love which is for the sake of Allah, and hatred which is for the sake of Allah." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: He, of course, dwells on a high moral and spiritual place who loves whom He loves and hates whom He hates solely for the sake of Allah.

We have seen, in the narrative in which it is stated, on the authority of Abu Zarr Ghiffari, that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to him: "The strongest document of Faith is love and affection for the sake of Allah, and hatred and enmity for anyone for the sake of Allah."

Love For The Sake of Allah is Really Respect for And Worship of Allah

(٢٧٧/٣٧) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا أَحَبُّ

عَبْدًا لِلَّهِ إِلَّا أَكْرَمَ رَبَّهُ عَزَّوَجَلَّ (رواه احمد)

(277/37) It is narrated by Abu Umamah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "If anyone loves another person for the sake of Allah then he has truly respected his Lord, the Mighty and Glorious."

(Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: The act of a slave of Allah in loving another for the sake of Allah is in reality his showing respect to Allah. In this way, it is a worship of Allah.

They Become The Beloved of Allah Who Care For Each Other

(٢٧٨/٣٨) عَنْ مَعَاذِ بْنِ جَبَلٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى وَجِبَتْ مُحَبَّتِي لِلْمُتَحَابِّينَ فِيَّ وَالْمُتَجَالِسِينَ فِيَّ وَالْمُتَزَاوِرِينَ فِيَّ وَالْمُتَبَاذِلِينَ فِيَّ (رواه مالك)

(278/38) Mu'az ibn Jabal رضي الله عنه related to us: "I heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: 'Says the Lord: 'My love is due, as of right, to those who love each other for My sake, and unite and sit together for My sake, and spend on each other for My sake.'"

(Mowatta)

Commentary: The bondsmen who have subordinated their love and attachment and social relations to the good pleasure of Allah and whose state is that they love whom they love, and meet whom they meet, and sit with and spend on one another wholly for gaining His countenance are, surely, worthy of His special love and good graces. This is a hadith Qudsi.

اللهم اجعلنا من المتحابين فيك والمتجالسين فيك والمتزاورين فيك والمتبازلين فيك

Oh Allah: Make us of those who love each other solely for Your sake, unite solely for Your sake, and sit together solely for Your sake, and spend on one another solely for the sake of Your good pleasure.

(٢٧٩/٣٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا زَارَ أَخَاهُ فِي قَرْيَةٍ أُخْرَى فَأَرَصَدَ اللَّهُ لَهُ عَلَى مَذْرَجَتِهِ مَلَكًا، قَالَ أَيْنَ تُرِيدُ قَالَ أُرِيدُ أَخًا لِي فِي هَذِهِ الْقَرْيَةِ قَالَ هَلْ لَكَ مِنْ نِعْمَةٍ تَرْبُهَا قَالَ لَا غَيْرَ أَنِّي أَحْبَبْتُهُ فِي اللَّهِ قَالَ فَإِنِّي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ إِلَيْكَ بَانَ اللَّهُ فَدَا أَحَبَّكَ كَمَا أَحْبَبْتَهُ فِيهِ (رواه مسلم)

(279/39) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷻ said: "A person set out to meet a brother who lived in another town (or village), and Allah caused an Angel to sit by the road by which he was travelling and wait for him there. (Thus, when the man arrived at that place), the Angel asked him: 'Where are you going?' 'I am going to such-and-such a town (or village) where a brother of mine lives,' replied the man. 'Is he under a debt of gratitude to you which you want to cause to grow and become stronger by your going?' the Angel asked. 'No', the man replied. 'There is no other reason that I love him for the sake of Allah'. The Angel, thereupon, said: '(Now), I tell you that Allah has sent me to inform you that He loves you just as you love His bondsman for His sake". (Mowatta)

Commentary: The incident related above, apparently, appertains to a person who belongs to an earlier Ummah¹. We, further, learn from it that angels can, sometimes, also, come to a non-prophet, by Allah's leave, and talk to him face to face. The coming of Jibril عليه السلام to Maryam, for instance, is mentioned in the Qur'an though it is known that she was not a Divine Prophet.

The substance of it is that for a man to love his brother for the sake of Allah and to go to meet him for the same reason is an act that makes him the favourite of the Lord, and, occasionally, He, also, makes it known to him through an angel.

Those Who Love For the Sake of Allah will Be Distinguished on The Day of Resurrection

(٢٨٠/٤٠) عَنْ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ مِنْ عِبَادِ اللَّهِ لَأَنَاسًا مَا هُمْ بِأَنْبِيَاءَ وَلَا شُهَدَاءَ يُغْبِطُهُمُ الْأَنْبِيَاءُ وَالشُّهَدَاءُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ بِمَكَانِهِمْ مِنَ اللَّهِ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ تُخْبِرُنَا مَنْ هُمْ؟ قَالَ هُمْ قَوْمٌ تَحَابُّوا بِرُوحِ اللَّهِ عَلَى غَيْرِ أَرْحَامٍ بَيْنَهُمْ وَأَمْوَالٍ يَتَعَاطَوْنَهَا فَوَاللَّهِ إِنْ وُجُوهُهُمْ لَتُنُورُ وَإِنَّهُمْ لَعَلَى نُورٍ لَا يَخَافُونَ إِذَا خَافَ النَّاسُ وَلَا يَحْزَنُونَ إِذَا حَزَنَ النَّاسُ وَقَرَّاهُ هَذِهِ الْآيَةُ إِلَّا إِنْ أَوْلِيَاءَ اللَّهِ لَا خَوْفَ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ

(رواه ابو داود)

(280/40) Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Among the slaves of Allah there are people who are neither prophets nor martyrs whose position in relation to Allah will be an object of desire by the Prophets and martyrs on the Day of Resurrection." The people said: "Messenger of Allah ﷺ: Tell us who they are," and he said, "They are people who have loved one another by reason of Allah's spirit and were giving gifts to one another without being related or having (common) property. I swear by Allah that their faces will be light and that they will be placed upon light, neither fearing when men fear nor grieving when men grieve." And he recited this verse:

①. Meaning a community following the same faith.

أَلَا إِنَّ أَوْلِيَاءَ اللَّهِ لَا خَوْفَ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ (يونس ١٠: ٦٢)

Lo! Verily the friends of Allah are (those) on whom fear (cometh) not, nor do they grieve. (Younus 10:62)

Commentary: Love for the blood-related is a natural instinct among human beings; also, among animals and wild beasts. Again, it is natural for us to love anyone who shows favour or bestows gifts on us and this trait is common to everyone, even the infidels, polytheists and sinners. However, love anyone who is a stranger without any of these considerations but only because of religious ties is a characteristic of faith which is highly esteemed by Allah. Who loves such people and will reward them on the Day of Resurrection.

The hadith does not mean to tell us that such people enjoy a rank higher than the Prophets and martyrs, for, it does happen, sometimes, that the higher ranked envy the lower-ranked when they are rewarded.

These people are called in the hadith as "those who have loved one another by reason of Allah's spirit." The Arabic word is Rooḥ or Rawḥ رَوْح (with a dummah on, or a fatha). We take both versions to mean religion of Allah.

These people will neither fear nor grieve.

Those Who Love For the Sake of Allah Will be Under The Shadow of The Throne on The Day of Resurrection

(٢٨١/٤١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ

تَعَالَى يَقُولُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ أَيْنَ الْمُتَحَابُّونَ بِجَلَالِي الْيَوْمَ أَظْلَهُمْ فِي ظِلِّي يَوْمَ لَا

(رواه مسلم)

ظِلًّا إِلَّا ظِلِّي

(281/41) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "On the Day of Resurrection, the Lord will proclaim: 'Where are the bondsmen who love each other because of My Power and Glory? Today, when there is no shadow save Mine, I shall give them a place under it.'" (Muslim)

Commentary: Allah is All-seeing and Omniscient. Nothing in the entire universe, however tiny or insignificant it may be, is hidden from His view. His enquiry, on the Day of Resurrection about the aforementioned bondsmen as to where they were will, thus, not be for getting the information, but in order that His liking and fondness for men who love one another for His sake was made manifest to everyone.

The "Shadow of Allah," here, probably, denotes the shadow of His Throne, as is clear from some other versions of the same narrative.

Love, A Means To Nearness

(٢٨٢/٤٢) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ كَيْفَ تَقُولُ فِي رَجُلٍ أَحَبَّ قَوْمًا وَلَمْ يَلْحَقْ بِهِمْ فَقَالَ الْمَرْءُ مَعَ مَنْ أَحَبَّ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(282/42) Abdullah ibn Mas'ood رضي الله عنه narrates that a person came to the Prophet ﷺ and said, Messenger of Allah: What do you say about the man who loves a group (or community), but could not be with it?" 'A man is with whom he loves (or will be caused to be with him on the Day of Final Judgement)," the Prophet replied.

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The aim of the questioner, perhaps, was to know what would the end be of a man who loved a good and virtuous person (or a group of such persons), but, in his conduct, he could not be wholly like them. The Prophet's reply, consequently, would mean that in spite of being somewhat inferior in his deeds, he will be blessed, in the Hereafter, with the company of those whom he loved. The next Tradition is more explicit.

(٢٨٣/٤٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ الصَّامِتِ عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ أَنَّهُ قَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ الرَّجُلُ يُحِبُّ الْقَوْمَ وَلَا يَسْتَطِيعُ أَنْ يَعْمَلَ كَعَمَلِهِمْ؟ قَالَ أَنْتَ يَا أَبَا ذَرٍّ مَعَ مَنْ أَحْبَبْتَ قَالَ فَإِنِّي أُحِبُّ اللَّهَ وَرَسُولَهُ قَالَ فَإِنَّكَ مَعَ مَنْ أَحْبَبْتَ قَالَ فَأَعَادَهَا أَبُو ذَرٍّ فَأَعَادَهَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ (رواه ابوداؤد)

(283/43) It is related that once he (Abu Zarr) asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ: "O Messenger of Allah! There is a man who loves the chosen bondsmen of the Lord, but is incapable of doing deeds like them. (What is going to be his end)?" The Prophet ﷺ replied: "Abu Zarr! You will be with whom you love." Messenger of Allah ﷺ, (exclaimed Abu Zarr). "I love Allah and His Messenger." "You will be with whom you love", the Prophet ﷺ, again, replied. On hearing it, Abu Zarr repeated the enquiry, and the Messenger of Allah ﷺ gave the same reply once again. (Abu Dawood)

(٢٨٤/٤٤) عَنْ أَنَسٍ أَنَّ رَجُلًا قَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ مَتَى السَّاعَةُ قَالَ وَيْلَكَ وَمَا أَعْدَدْتُ لَهَا قَالَ مَا أَعْدَدْتُ لَهَا إِلَّا أَنِّي أُحِبُّ اللَّهَ وَرَسُولَهُ قَالَ أَنْتَ مَعَ مَنْ أَحْبَبْتَ قَالَ أَنَسٌ فَمَا رَأَيْتُ الْمُسْلِمِينَ فَرِحُوا بِشَيْءٍ بَعْدَ إِسْلَامِهِمْ فَرَحَهُمْ بِهَا (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(284/44) Anas relates that, once, a person said to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, Messenger of Allah ! When will be the Hour (of Doom)? "Fie upon you", observed the Prophet. "(You want to know about the Hour). (Tell me), what preparation have you made for it?" "I have made no special preparation", replied the questioner. "But I (do) love Allah and His Messenger". "You will be with whom you love", remarked the Prophet ﷺ. The narrator, Anas, adds that "I have not seen the Muslims (the Companions) happier (to hear) any other tidings since they had embraced Islam." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In another version of the above Tradition, the concluding remark of Sayyidina Anas ﷺ has been quoted as follows:

"We (the Companions), never felt happier at anything than the Prophet's ﷺ observation 'You are with whom you love'. By the Grace of Allah, I love the Messenger, and I love Abu Bakr and Umar, and I do hope to be blessed with their company, on account of this فَمَا فَرَحْنَا بِشَيْءٍ فَرَحَنَا بِقَوْلِهِ

صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنْتَ مَعَ مَنْ
أَحْبَبْتَ فَإِنَّا أَحِبُّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ
عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَأَبَا بَكْرٍ وَعُمَرَ
وَأَرْجُو أَنْ أَكُونَ مَعَهُمْ بِحُبِّي إِيَّاهُمْ وَإِنْ لَمْ أَغْمَلْ أَعْمَالَهُمْ

love, although my works are not the same as their works."

Two things, however, must be borne in mind. First, to be with whom one loves does not mean that the position of the lover and the beloved will be wholly alike and they will be treated entirely in the same manner, but that with regard to their respective states and stations, it will be identical to what is obtained, in this world, between the servants and the masters, and the followers and their leaders, and, it too, is a very great honour and blessing indeed.

Secondly, submission is a necessary accompaniment of love, and it is inconceivable that a person is in love with Allah and His Messenger but leads a life of defiance and transgression. Thus, people who commit sins and violate Divine laws, without compunction, and, still, claim to have love for Allah and the sacred Prophet ﷺ are liars and hypocrites, and if they really imagine themselves to be of those who are blessed with devotion and attachment just referred to, they are labouring under a great fallacy and are victims of self-deception. About such a man, Sayyidah Rabia Basri has aptly remarked:

تُعْصِي الْإِلَهَ وَأَنْتَ تُظْهِرُ حُبَّ
لَوْ كَانَ حُبُّكَ صَادِقًا لَا طَعَنَهُ
هَذَا لَعَمْرِي فِي الْقِيَاسِ بَدِيعُ
إِنَّ الْمُحِبَّ لِمَنْ يُحِبُّ مُطِيعُ

"Oh pretender of Love! Thou disobeyest Allah, and, yet, claim to have love for Him. It is impossible! If thou wert, really, truthful in what thou asserteth, thou wouldst be faithful to Him for a lover carries out the wishes of the beloved with all his heart and soul."

Be that as it may, it is necessary to observe one's duties to Allah and the Prophet ﷺ in order to be in love with them. True submission is born out of love alone.

The tidings that those who love Allah and His Messenger are in the company of the Prophets, the Truthful, the Martyrs and the Righteous are contained in the Qur'an itself:

Whose obeyeth Allah and the Messenger, they are with those to whom Allah hath shown favour, of the Prophets and the Sincere and the Martyrs and the Virtuous. The best of company are they! (Al-Nisaa 4:69)

وَمَنْ يُطِيعِ اللَّهَ وَالرَّسُولَ فَأُولَٰئِكَ
مَعَ الَّذِينَ أَنْعَمَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِمْ مِنَ
النَّبِيِّينَ وَالصَّادِقِينَ وَالشُّهَدَاءِ
وَالصَّالِحِينَ وَحَسُنَ أُولَٰئِكَ
رَفِيقًا (النساء ٤: ٦٩)

The difference between this verse and the aforementioned Tradition is, simply, of interpretation, otherwise, basically, their purport is the same.

It is, further, supported by Sayyidah Ayshah's رضي الله عنها narrative that has been quoted by Ibn Kaseer in his Commentary, on the authority of Mardwaih and Tabarani, while explaining the background of the verse from Surah Nisa we have just seen. It, briefly, tells that once a person came to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and said: "Messenger of Allah! I love you even more than my wife, and my children, and my own life. My condition is that when I am at home I think of you and there is no peace for me until I come and see you, and when I think of my death and your death, I feel that, after death, you will go to Paradise and will be elevated to the lofty station of the Prophets while even if I went to Heaven, by the Grace of Allah, I will not be able to attain that place, and, thus, remain deprived of the joy of seeing you in After-life." The sacred Prophet ﷺ, upon it, kept quiet until the Qur'anic verse quoted above was revealed.

It gave the assurance, as one would say, to that as well as to all the sincere lovers of the Prophet ﷺ that if they were honest in their love, they would, naturally, be loyal and faithful to Allah and His Messenger, and, in that case, they were going to be in the company of the chosen bondsmen of the Lord in the Hereafter.

The brief elucidation seemed necessary as people, often, fail to appreciate the real significance of love and the intimate connection it has with self-surrender.

اَللّٰهُمَّ ارْزُقْنَا حُبَّكَ وَحُبَّ رَسُوْلِكَ وَحُبَّ مَنْ يَنْفَعُنَا حُبُّهُ عِنْدِكَ

(O Allah! Grow in us love for you and Your Messenger, and love for those whose love draws us near You.)

RELIGIOUS BROTHERHOOD AND ISLAMIC FELLOW FEELING

The sacred Prophet ﷺ is a 'Mercy to the Worlds'. His teachings are a blessing for the whole mankind. Some of his exhortations concerning doing good and showing kindness to all living beings have been reproduced in the preceeding pages, but since the community which believes in him as the Divine Messenger and follows the religion brought by him has, by Allah's command, been cast into a religious brotherhood, through a common spiritual bond, and, now, it has to function, till the Last Day, as the deputy and representative of the holy Prophet ﷺ, and this is possible only when its members behave like a fraternity, bound together by ties of religious solidarity, brotherly love and kindly feelings, the Prophet ﷺ has attached a great importance to it. Most of his Traditions relating to it are such that it will be more appropriate to discuss them in the chapter on M'uashirat (Social Conduct)- and this is what we propose to do-, but a few may, however, be taken up here as well.

Fellow Feeling Among Muslims

(٢٨٥/٤٥) عَنِ النُّعْمَانِ بْنِ بَشِيرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
تَرَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ فِي تَرَاحُمِهِمْ وَتَوَادُّهِمْ وَتَعَاطُفِهِمْ كَمَثَلِ الْجَسَدِ إِذَا اشْتَكَى
عَضْوًا تَدَاعَى لَهُ سَائِرُ الْجَسَدِ بِالسَّهْرِ وَالْحُمَى
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(285/45) It is related by Nu'man bin Bashir that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "In kindness and affection, the Muslims are like a singly body. If any part of it is stricken with disease, the whole body develops fever and feels restless." (Bukhari & Muslim)

Commentary: It tells that the Believers should feel for each other so strongly that if anyone of them was afflicted with grief, the rest should consider it their own and show readiness to share his misfortune. If it is not so then their faith and belief is imperfect. And this is what the Qur'an describes in brief:

رَحْمَاءُ بَيْنَهُمْ (الفتح ٤٨: ٢٩)

(Merciful Among themselves) (Al-Fath 48:29)

(٢٨٦/٤٦) عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ الْمُؤْمِنُ
لِلْمُؤْمِنِ كَالْبُنْيَانِ يَشُدُّ بَعْضُهُ بَعْضًا تَمَّ شَبْكُ بَيْنِ أَصَابِعِهِ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(286/46) Sayyidina Abu Musa Al-Ash'ari رضي الله عنه said that the Holy Prophet ﷺ said: "Believers are to one another like a building whose parts support one another." He then interlaced his fingers (to show how Muslims should stay close together)¹

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Forbidding Mutual Hatred, Jealousy And Fault-Finding

In the same way, the holy Prophet ﷺ has condemned mutual suspicion and mistrust, contemptuous upbraiding, scandalmongering and backbiting, and warned his followers earnestly against the painful sequel of these habits.

(٢٨٧/٤٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّا كُفْمُ
وَالظَّنُّ فَإِنَّ الظَّنَّ أَكْذَبُ الْحَدِيثِ وَلَا تَحَسَّسُوا وَلَا تَجَسَّسُوا وَلَا تَنَاجَشُوا
وَلَا تَحَاسَدُوا وَلَا تَبَاغَضُوا وَلَا تَدَابَرُوا وَكُونُوا عِبَادَ اللَّهِ إِخْوَانًا

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(287/47) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Do not be suspicious, for suspicion is the height of falsehood, nor bear a grudge or enmity against each other, nor be jealous of each other, nor indulge in back-biting, nor pry into the secrets of one another, nor try unreasonably to excel one another, nor turn your faces against each other, but O bondsmen of Allah! live like brothers as Allah has commanded."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The evils mentioned above are highly detrimental to the growth of good and friendly relations. They cause ill-will and produce bitterness in the hearts. The sacred Prophet ﷺ has, first of all, spoken of suspicion which is a form of unfounded fear and misdoubt, and whoever has a suspecting nature sees viciousness in everything a man does with whom he has the least difference, and his attitude towards him is, naturally, influenced by it. The other person, too, reacts and an atmosphere of sullen malice and ill-will is created between them.

The Prophet ﷺ has termed suspicion as اكذب الحديث (the highest degree of a lie). Generally, every Muslim knows that to tell a lie is a sin but everyone does not consider suspicion to be as evil. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ has told us, however, that suspicion is the greatest lie. The sin of the heart is not less than the lie of the tongue.

Another hadith tells us that to hold a good image of anyone is the best form of worship. Its words are:

”حُسْنُ الظَّنِّ مِنْ حُسْنِ الْعِبَادَةِ“ (رواه احمد و ابو داود، عن ابى هريرة)

(Ahmad, Abu Dawood, on the authority of Abu Hurayrah)

The same is the case with the other habits indicated in it. They breed hatred and enmity and leave no room for goodwill and fellowship to develop which the common religious tie demands.

The last words of the hadith, "live like brothers as Allah has commanded" indicate that only when hatred is removed from the hearts will you be able to live like brothers.

(٢٨٨/٤٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْمُسْلِمُ أَخُو الْمُسْلِمِ لَا يَظْلِمُهُ وَلَا يَخْذُلُهُ وَلَا يُحْقِرُهُ اتَّقُوا هَٰذَا وَيُشِيرُ إِلَى صَدْرِهِ ثَلَاثَ مَرَّاتٍ بِحَسْبِ امْرِءٍ مِنَ الشَّرِّ أَنْ يُحْقِرَ أَخَاهُ الْمُسْلِمَ كُلُّ الْمُسْلِمِ عَلَى الْمُسْلِمِ حَرَامٌ دَمُهُ وَمَالُهُ وَعَرَضُهُ

(رواه مسلم)

(288/48) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A Muslim is another Muslim's brother; he does not wrong, desert or despise him. Piety is another found here (pointing three times to his breast). Despising his brother Muslim is enough evil for any man to do. Every Muslim's blood, property and honour are sacred to a Muslim."¹ (Muslim)

Commentary: This hadith tells us that a Muslim has a right over another in that when he needs it, and is on the truth and oppressed, he should help him. Another hadith tells us: "If your brother is an oppressed, help him and if he is an oppressor then stop him from being an oppressor. To prevent him from being oppressive is actually helping him."

Warning to Those Who Cause Hardship to Believers

(٢٨٩/٤٩) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ صَعِدَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْمِنْبَرَ فَكَادَى بِصَوْتٍ رَفِيعٍ يَا مَعْشَرَ مَنْ أَسْلَمَ بِلِسَانِهِ وَلَمْ يُقْضَى الْإِيمَانُ إِلَى قَلْبِهِ لَا تُؤْذُوا الْمُسْلِمِينَ وَلَا تُعَيِّرُوهُمْ وَلَا تَتَّبِعُوا عُورَاتِهِمْ فَإِنَّهُ مَنْ يَتَّبِعْ عُورَةَ أَخِيهِ الْمُسْلِمِ يَتَّبِعْ اللَّهُ عُورَتَهُ وَمَنْ يَتَّبِعْ اللَّهُ عُورَتَهُ يَفْضَحْهُ وَلَوْ فِي جُوفِ رَحْلِهِ

(رواه الترمذی)

(289/49) Sayyidina Ibn Umar رضی اللہ عنہ said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ mounted the pulpit and called out in a loud voice, "You who have accepted Islam with your tongues but whose hearts have not been reached by faith, do not annoy the Muslims, or revile them, or seek out their faults, for he who seeks out the faults of his Muslim brother will have his faults, sought out by Allah, and he whose faults are sought out by Allah will be exposed by Him, even though he should be in the interior of his house." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: When faith and belief reaches the heart, man is over powered with the thought of the hereafter and he is careful of the rights of Allah and fellow-men. He is more careful about the rights of those slaves of Allah who are close to Him and have a True Faith. He refrains from causing them hardship, backbiting them, insulting them or looking out for their faults. However, if Faith has not reached the heart, the condition is the opposite of what we have described. He particularly targets the pious men of Allah and torments them. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ has warned this type of men to refrain from such activities otherwise they will suffer despair in this very world even if they hide themselves.

Warning Against Envy

(٢٩٠/٥٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِيَّاكُمْ وَالْحَسَدَ فَإِنَّ الْحَسَدَ يَأْكُلُ الْحَسَنَاتِ كَمَا تَأْكُلُ النَّارُ الْحَطَبَ (رواه ابو داود)
(290/150) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Guard yourselves against envy for envy eats up good deeds as fire eats up wood." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: When the fire of envy burns in anyone's heart, he misses no opportunity to hurt or harm the person at the sight of whose excellence or success he feels discontented. and, if nothing else, he seeks satisfaction by slandering him and speaking ill of him behind his back, and, as we learn from other Traditions of the Prophet ﷺ, the lowest penalty the envious are going to pay in future existence is that their good deeds will be allotted to those against whom they have sinned. It will, perhaps, explain what is meant by the eating up of good deeds by envy, as stated in the above narrative.

(٢٩١/٥١) عَنِ الزُّبَيْرِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ دَبَّ إِلَيْكُمْ دَاءُ الْأُمَمِ قَبْلَكُمْ الْحَسَدُ وَالْبَغْضَاءُ هِيَ الْحَالِقَةُ لَا أَقُولُ تَخْلِقُ الشَّعْرَ وَلَكِنْ تَخْلِقُ الدِّينَ (رواه احمد والترمذی)

(291/51) It is reported by Sayyidina Zubayr رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The maladies of the previous people are overtaking you — (they are) jealousy and malice. They are the ones to completely shave off. I do not say that they shave the hair but that they shave off religion."

(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi)

Commentary: Allah has testified in the Qur'an that the Companions رضي الله عنهم are رحماء بينهم (Merciful among themselves)¹. He has also said:

فَأَلَفَ بَيْنَ قُلُوبِكُمْ فَاصْبَحْتُمْ بِنِعْمَتِهِ إِخْوَانًا (ال عمران ١٠٣)

So He made friendship between your hearts so that you became as brothers by His grace. (Aal-e-Imran 3:103)

وَأَلَفَ بَيْنَ قُلُوبِهِمْ لَوْ أَنْفَقْتَ مَا فِي الْأَرْضِ جَمِيعًا مَا أَلَفْتَ بَيْنَ قُلُوبِهِمْ

(الأنفال ٦٣:٨)

And (as for the Believers) He has attuned their hearts. If you had spent all that is in the earth you could not have attuned their hearts
(Al-Anfal 8:63)

So, these verses of the Qur'an testify that as far as the Companions are concerned, their hearts were attuned to one another with love and compassion. There was no hint whatever of jealousy and malice in their hearts.

Hence, the words of this hadith, "The maladies are overtaking you", refer to the people who were to follow them later and the Prophet ﷺ had been disclosed this fact beforehand. Accordingly, he forewarned his people and they must be cautious.

The Curse of Maliciousness

(٢٩٢/٥٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُعْرَضُ أَعْمَالُ النَّاسِ فِي كُلِّ جُمُعَةٍ مَرَّتَيْنِ يَوْمَ الْإِثْنَيْنِ وَيَوْمَ الْخَمِيسِ فَيُغْفَرُ لِكُلِّ عَبْدٍ مُؤْمِنٍ إِلَّا عَبْدًا بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَ أَخِيهِ شَحَاءٌ فَيُقَالُ أَتْرَكُوا هَذَيْنِ حَتَّى يَقِينَا

(رواه مسلم)

(292/52) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه related to us, saying that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The deeds of men are presented (before Allah) on two days each week: Monday and Thursday, — and the decision of forgiveness is taken for (all) Believers except the two who bear malice against one another. As regards them, the command is given to leave them out i.e., not to write about them that they have been forgiven until they have cleaned their hearts of ill-will."
(Muslim)

Commentary: It is corroborated by another Tradition quoted by Imam Munziri, on the authority of Tabarani. It says : "The (record of the) deeds of all men is placed before Allah on each Monday and Thursday. Whoever has begged forgiveness from the Lord is forgiven, and whoever has offered sincere repentance, his repentance is accepted, but the deeds of those who bear malice against each other are returned to them. (The decision of forgiveness is not taken about them and their repentance is not accepted until they have given up the sinful habit)."

Some other Traditions, also, are of an identical nature and they, all, go to show that a Muslim who bears malice against another Muslim brother will not be deserving of the mercy of Allah as long as he does not purge his heart of it.

رَبَّنَا اغْفِرْ لَنَا وَلِإِخْوَانِنَا الَّذِينَ سَبَقُونَا بِالْإِيمَانِ وَلَا تَجْعَلْ فِي قُلُوبِنَا غِلًا لِلَّذِينَ
آمَنُوا رَبَّنَا إِنَّكَ رَؤُوفٌ رَحِيمٌ
(الحشر ٥٩:١٠)

Our Lord! Forgive us and our brethren who were before us in the Faith, and place not in our hearts any rancour toward those who believe. Our Lord! You are full of Pity, Merciful.

(Al-Hashr 59:10)

Rejoicing At The Misfortune of Others

(٢٩٣/٥٣) عَنْ وَائِلَةَ بِنِ الْأَسَقَعِ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا
تُظْهِرِ الشَّمَاتَةَ بِأَخِيكَ فَيَعَافِيهِ اللَّهُ وَيَتَّيْلِكَ
(رواه الترمذی)

(293/53) It is related by Wasilah bin al-Asqa' that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Do not rejoice the misfortune of a brother. (It is quite possible) that, (as a result of it), Allah will deliver him of his misfortune and afflict you with it." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Like envy, the vicious habit of taking delight in the loss or suffering of anyone, too, is highly repugnant to Allah, and, sometimes, He inflicts punishment for it, even in this world, by removing the other man's distress and sending it down on those who rejoice at it.

Mildness and Affability

Mildness, lenity and readiness to oblige and put others at ease are virtues of the highest order in the Islamic design of morality.

(٢٩٤/٥٤) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ تَعَالَى
رَفِيقٌ يُحِبُّ الرِّفْقَ وَ يُعْطَى عَلَى الرِّفْقِ مَا لَا يُعْطَى عَلَى الْعَنْفِ وَمَا لَا يُعْطَى
عَلَى مَا سِوَاهُ
(رواه مسلم)

(294/54) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: Allah is compassionate and likes toleration and forbearance. (He wants the bondsmen to be kind and gentle to each-other). He grants more to the kind-hearted and the them to those who are harsh and severe." (Muslim)

Commentary: Some people are ill-tempered and harsh in their behaviour. while others are mild and good-natured. A common misconception is that people who are ruthless and unrelenting are more successful in life. The above Tradition dispels it.

First of all, it draws attention to the virtue of kind-heartedness and amiability, and says that it is a Divine Attribute, and Allah wants His bondsmen to be mild and sympathetic in their dealings with one another. It, then, goes on to assure that success or failure depends on the Will of Allah, and whatever takes place in the world is at His command. The practice of the Lord is that He gives more on kindness and good nature than on severity and sternness. In fact, Allah does not grant as much on anything else as on warm-heartedness and compassion. It is, thus, in one's own interest to be kind and considerate to others in social behaviour as well as monetary dealings. In other words, whoever wishes Allah to be compassionate to him and fulfil his wants should show compassion to others and make tolerance the rule of his life.

(٢٩٥/٥٥) عَنْ جَرِيرٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَنْ يُحْرَمُ الرَّفْقُ

يُحْرَمُ الْخَيْرَ (رواه مسلم)

(295/55) Jarir related to us, saying that the Prophet ﷺ said:

"Whoever is devoid of kindness is devoid of all virtue." (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that kind-heartedness is such a noble quality that whoever does not possess it, has, as one would say, no virtue in him.

Or, to put it differently, many good and commendable human qualities have their roots in kind-heartedness, and a person who is not blessed with it has very little of goodness in him.

(٢٩٦/٥٦) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ أُعْطِيَ

حَظَّهُ مِنَ الرَّفْقِ أُعْطِيَ حَظَّهُ مِنْ خَيْرِ الدُّنْيَا وَالْآخِرَةِ وَمَنْ حُرِمَ حَظُّهُ مِنَ الرَّفْقِ

حُرِمَ حَظُّهُ مِنْ خَيْرِ الدُّنْيَا وَالْآخِرَةِ (رواه البغوى فى شرح السنة)

(296/56) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها said that the Messenger of

Allah ﷻ said: "He who is given his share of gentleness is given his share of the good of this world and the next, but he who is deprived of his share of gentleness is deprived of his share of the good of this world and the next." (Baghawi, Sharah as-Sunna)

(٢٩٧/٥٧) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يُرِيدُ اللَّهُ بِأَهْلِ بَيْتٍ رِفْقًا إِلَّا نَفَعَهُمْ وَلَا يُحَرِّمُهُمْ آيَةً إِلَّا ضَرَّهُمْ

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(297/57) It is reported by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah does not grant kindness to a family without giving them benefit, and He does not deprive them of it without injuring them." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: It is the practice of Allah that when He grants gentleness to a family, He grants them thereby many benefits and blessings but those whom He deprives of it, He deprives of them of blessings.

Among the characteristics of man, gentleness and harshness have a large sphere of use. A person who is harsh will be rude to his family, relatives and neighbours, and to his students and subordinates. The result is that he will find his life miserable and make the life of other people miserable.

On the other hand, the kindhearted, gentle person will find his life comfortable and make other people comfortable and peaceful too. Mildness grows love and compassion while hard-heartedness grows hatred and enmity.

These are a few examples of the consequences of the two characteristics which we experience in our daily life. The consequences in the hereafter can be imagined from the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ.

لَا أُخْبِرُكُمْ بِمَنْ يَحْرُمُ عَلَى النَّارِ وَبِمَنْ تَحْرُمُ النَّارُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَى كُلِّ هَيْئٍ لَيْنٍ
قَرِيبٍ سَهْلٍ

(رواه ابو داود والترمذی)

(298/58) Abdullah ibn Mas'ud رضي الله عنه relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "May I tell you of the man who is forbidden to the Fire of Hell, and the Fire of Hell is forbidden to him? (Now, listen: The Fire of Hell is forbidden to him) who is not harsh of temperament, but mild and gentle, and feels warmly for others."

(Abu Dawood and Tirmizi)

Commentary: It tells that a person who is soft-hearted and has a sympathetic nature and is friendly and sociable, and the others, too, feel drawn to him shall go to Heaven.

As it has been explained, over and over again, since the Companions رضي الله عنهم had realised fully from the commandments of the Qur'an and the teachings of the holy Prophet ﷺ and those who possess some knowledge of the Faith know it clearly even today, that happy tidings, like it, appertain only to people who believe and observe the principal religious duties, it was, generally, not found necessary to mention it, in so many words, every time such tidings were given. But, we must always keep this elementary condition in the mind. It is a fundamental principle of Islam that without Faith, deeds and morals have no value in the sight of Allah.

(٢٩٩/٥٩) عَنْ حَارِثَةَ بْنِ وَهَبٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا

يَدْخُلُ الْجَنَّةَ الْجَوَاظُ وَلَا الْجَعْظَرِيُّ (رواه ابو داود)

(299/59) It is related by Harithah ibn Wahb رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A rude and ill-tempered person shall not go to Heaven."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: In order to emphasise the foulness of a deed and discourage men from acting that way, it is, sometimes, said that whoever will do so or behave like it shall not enter Heaven. The aim, simply, is to indicate that such an act or habit is not worthy of a Believer, and is likely to prove a hinderance in his progress towards Paradise. True Believers and earnest seekers of salvation should, therefore, keep away from it.

The essential meaning of Sayyidina Harithah ibn Wahb's narrative, too, is the same.

Forebearance of The Prophet

(٣٠٠/٦٠) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ خَدَمْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَشْرَ سِنِينَ

بِالْمَدِينَةِ وَأَنَا غُلَامٌ لَيْسَ كُلُّ أَمْرِي كَمَا يَشْتَهُي صَاحِبِي أَنْ يَكُونَ عَلَيْهِ مَا قَالَ

لِي فِيهَا أَتِ قَطُّ وَمَا قَالَ لِي لَمْ فَعَلْتُ هَذَا أَوْ أَلَا فَعَلْتُ هَذَا (رواه أبو داود)
 (300/160) Anas رضي الله عنه relates " I remained in the service of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ for ten years in Madinah, and being a young boy, every act of mine was not to the liking of the Prophet ﷺ. (I often, used to commit mistakes owing to my adolescence). But during the whole of that period (of ten years), the Prophet ﷺ never admonished me even once, nor asked why I did or did not do such-and-such a thing." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه was about ten years old at the time of *Hijrah*¹, and it was at that time that his mother, Umm Sulaym, gave him, permanently, in the service of the holy Prophet ﷺ. He, thus, served the Prophet ﷺ till the last day of the latter's life.

In it, he tells that though, due to his young age, he, often, neglected his duties, the Prophet ﷺ did not reproach him, even once, or take him to task. It is not an easy thing to do, of course, but this is the standard set for the Believers by the holy Prophet ﷺ.

Self-Restraint of The Manners Stressed By The Holy Prophet ﷺ is to Control One's Tempers

(٣٠١/٦١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا قَالَ لِلنَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَوْصِنِي

قَالَ لَا تَغْضَبُ فَرَّدَ ذَلِكَ مِرَارًا قَالَ لَا تَغْضَبُ (رواه البخاري)

(301/61) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that once, a person said to the Prophet ﷺ: "Give me some (good) advice". The Prophet ﷺ replied: "Do not lose your temper". The man asked repeatedly, and the Prophet ﷺ gave the same reply: "Do not lose your temper." (Bukhari)

Commentary: It appears that the questioner was an unusually hot-tempered person, and, for him, the best and most useful advice was to exercise self-control.

Among the undsirable habits, anger, doubtlessly, is most hurtful. Under its influence, a man cares neither for the Divine injunctions nor for his own gain or loss. He becomes a plaything in the hands of the devil.

①. The Migration of the Prophet from Makkah to Madinah which happened in A.D. 622..

In another Tradition, it is stated that "anger spoils Faith as aloe spoils honey." (Kitah al-Iman)

It should, however, be noted that only such anger is forbidden which is for the satisfaction of a personal grievance and when overcome by it, a man is likely to become heedless of the limits prescribed by Allah. But an anger that is for the sake of Allah, and actuated by considerations of truth and justice, and does not go beyond the limits of the law of Allah is a sign of perfection in Faith and a reflection of the Divine Attributes of Power and Majesty.

A Wrestler is He Who Overcomes Anger

(٣٠٢/٦٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَيْسَ الشَّدِيدُ بِالصُّرْعَةِ إِنَّمَا الشَّدِيدُ الَّذِي يَمْلِكُ نَفْسَهُ عِنْدَ الْغَضَبِ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(302/62) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "He is not a wrestler who overpowers his rival, but he who keeps himself under control when roused to anger."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the most dangerous enemy of man, against whom he should always remain on guard, is his own self, and to keep it in check when one is provoked is not in everybody's power. Hence, a real wrestler or strong man is he who restrains himself when enraged and does not do a thing that may be wrong or undesirable.

We, further, learn, from it that what Allah and the Prophet ﷺ demand of us is not that we never get angry, — it is a natural tendency from which even the Prophets عليهم السلام were not exempt, but that we do not lose control over ourselves when provoked and avoid behaving in a way that is repugnant to the spirit of servitude to Allah.

What to Do When Aroused?

(٣٠٣/٦٣) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِذَا غَضِبَ أَحَدُكُمْ وَهُوَ قَائِمٌ فَلْيَجْلِسْ فَإِنْ ذَهَبَ عَنْهُ الْغَضَبُ وَالْأَفْئُتُ طَجِعَ

(رواه احمد والترمذى)

(303/63) It is related by Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you is roused to anger, he should sit down if he is standing. If the anger subsides (as a result of it), well and good, and if it does not, he should lie down."
(Musnad Ahmad and Tirmizi)

Commentary: The holy Prophet ﷺ has suggested a psychological remedy, in it, for the control of one's feelings when aroused, and there is no doubt about its efficacy. Another advantage of it is that by sitting down firmly at a place, or, still more, by lying down, the possibility of many nasty and harmful things a man, generally, does in anger is reduced.

(٢٠٤/٦٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلِمُوا وَيَسِّرُوا وَلَا تُعَسِّرُوا وَإِذَا غَضِبَ أَحَدُكُمْ فَلْيَسْكُتْ وَإِذَا غَضِبَ أَحَدُكُمْ فَلْيَسْكُتْ (رواه احمد والطبراني في الكبير)

(304/64) It is related by Abdullah ibn Abbas رضي الله عنهما that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Instruct the people in Religion; teach Religion; and make the education easy. Do not make it difficult. And when anyone of you is feeling angry, he should keep quiet." (The narrator adds that the Prophet ﷺ said the last thing thrice).
(Musnad Ahmad and Tabarani)

(٣٠٥/٦٥) عَنْ عَطِيَّةِ بْنِ عُرْوَةَ السَّعْدِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ الْغَضَبَ مِنَ الشَّيْطَانِ وَإِنَّ الشَّيْطَانَ خُلِقَ مِنَ النَّارِ وَإِنَّمَا تُطْفَأُ النَّارُ بِالْمَاءِ فَإِذَا غَضِبَ أَحَدُكُمْ فَلْيَتَوَضَّأْ. (رواه ابو داود)

(305/65) It is related by Atya ibn Urwah that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Anger is roused under the influence of Satan, (one goes beyond the limits laid down by Allah under the influence of the Devil), and Satan has been created from fire, and fire is put out with water. So, when anyone of you is seized with anger, let him perform wudhu¹.
(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It tells of an excellent method of controlling one's temper which is more effective than all the other methods. If a person can remember this Tradition when his anger is aroused and get up and perform the wudhu thoroughly and well, his temper will cool down immediately, and he will feel that the water used in it was falling directly on the flames of indignation.

Superiority of Suppressing One's Anger for The Sake of Allah

(٣٠٦/٦٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا تَجْرَعُ عَبْدٌ أَفْضَلَ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ مِنْ جُرْعَةٍ غَيِظٍ يَكْظُمُهَا ابْتِغَاءَ وَجْهِ اللَّهِ تَعَالَى (رواه احمد)

(306/66) It is related by Abdullah ibn Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "No one drank a draught superior, in the sight of Allah, to the draught of anger that was drunk with the intention of earning His good pleasure." (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: To 'drink' anger is an idiom in the Arabic language, as it is in Urdu, and perhaps, it has been borrowed in Urdu from Arabic. What the above Tradition seeks to convey is that though there are many things which people drink and it is pleasing to the Lord when they do so, nothing gives Him greater pleasure than that a person 'drank' anger for His sake.

In the words of the Qur'an, one of the distinguishing qualities of the virtuous bondsman for whom Paradise has been laid:

وَالْكَاظِمِينَ الْغَيْظَ وَالْعَافِينَ عَنِ النَّاسِ (آل عمران ٣: ١٣٤)

"they control their wrath, and are forgiving towards mankind....." (Aal-e-Imran 3:134)

(٣٠٧/٦٧) عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ مَعَاذٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَنْ كَظَمَ غَيْظًا وَهُوَ يَقْدِرُ عَلَى أَنْ يُنْفِذَهُ دَعَاهُ اللَّهُ عَلَى رُؤْسِ الْخَلَائِقِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ حَتَّى يُخَيَّرَ فِي آيِ الْحُورِ رِشَاءً (رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد)

(307/67) It is related by Sahl ibn Mu'az, on the authority of his father, that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Whoever drinks his anger when he is in a position to quench it, i.e., suppresses anger, solely for the sake of Allah, although he can give vent to his feelings, and refrains from visiting his wrath upon the person who incurs it, Allah will call him to Himself, in the presence of everyone, on the Day of Resurrection, and tell him to choose whichever bride he like from among the brides of Heaven."

(Tirmizi and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: As we all know, when a man is enraged, his foremost desire is to give expression to his anger. Thus, anyone who will control his feelings and forgive the person or persons who have angered him, for the sake of Allah, and in spite of having the power to punish them, his reward, in the Hereafter, will be that the Almighty will summon him to His presence, before the whole creation, and tell him to select, in return for the sacrifice, whoever he liked from among the brides of Paradise.

(٣٠٨/٦٨) عَنْ أَنَسٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَنْ خَرَنَ لِسَانَهُ سَتَرَ اللَّهُ عَوْرَتَهُ وَمَنْ كَفَّ غَضَبَهُ كَفَّ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ عَذَابَهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ وَمَنْ إِغْتَدَرَ إِلَى اللَّهِ قَبْلَ اللَّهِ عُدْرَةً (رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(308/68) Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: If one guards his tongue, Allah will conceal his secrets; if one restrains his anger, Allah will keep His punishment from him on the Day of Resurrection; and if one makes his excuse to Allah, He will accept his excuse." (Baihaqi)

Restraint

(٣٠٩/٦٩) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَا شَجَّ عَبْدٌ الْقَيْسِ إِنْ فِيكَ لَخَصْلَتَيْنِ يُحِبُّهُمُ اللَّهُ الْهَلُمُّ وَالْأَنَاءُ (رواه مسلم)

(309/69) Ibn-i-Abbas relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to Ashajj, leader of the tribe of Abd al Qays, "There are two habits of yours that are pleasing to Allah: one is forbearance, i.e., not to be overcome with anger, and the other is not to act in a hurry." (Muslim)

Commentary: Once a deputation of the tribe of Abd Al-Qays had come to meet the holy Prophet ﷺ in Madinah, and, it so happened, that all the members of it jumped down from their mounts and rushed to the place where the Prophet ﷺ was sitting except their leader, Munzir, who was, also, known as Ashajj. Instead of showing impatience, Ashajj calmly collected his luggage, and put it at a safe place, and, then, took a bath and changed his clothes, before going to meet the Prophet ﷺ. The Prophet ﷺ appreciated his cool and dignified way of doing things and showed it by making the remark we have seen above.

Acting In A Cool And Collected Manner

(٣١٠/٧٠) عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ السَّاعِدِيِّ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ

الْإِنَانَةُ مِنَ اللَّهِ وَالْعُجْلَةُ مِنَ الشَّيْطَانِ (رواه الترمذی)

(310/70) It is related by Sahl ibn Sa'ad Sa'idi that the Prophet ﷺ said: "To act in a calm and collected manner (deliberation) is from the side of Allah, while to act in haste is from the side of the devil." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: What it tells is that to perform one's duties in a steady and composed manner is a commendable quality and a Divine gift, whereas unseemly haste is a bad habit and bears the stamp of the devil.

(٣١١/٧١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ سَرْجِسَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ

الْتِمْتُ الْحَسْنَ وَالتَّوَدُّةَ وَالْإِقْتِصَادَ جُزْءَ مِنْ أَرْبَعٍ وَعَشْرِينَ جُزْءَ مِنَ النَّبُوءَةِ

(رواه الترمذی)

(311/71) Abdullah ibn Sarjis ؓ has quoted the Prophet ﷺ as saying: "A good manner of conduct, deliberation and moderation are a twenty-fourth part of prophecy." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: The objective of the hadith is to exhort people to adopt these three things. They are part of the characteristics of the Prophets عليهم السلام.

Moderation: It calls upon us to shun extreme limits of omission or exaggeration. Some of the Companions ؓ resolved to carry the worship of Allah to the limits by fasting every day and staying awake all night. The Prophet ﷺ cautioned them against that and disallowed them to do so. Similarly, he prevented some of his Companions from spending all their money in the cause of Allah and allowed them to spend only one-third. We have seen the Prophet's ﷺ exhortation in the Kitab Ar-Riqaq in many of the ahadith:

الاقتصاد فى الفقر و الغنى

(Moderation in poverty and richness).

Gentleness of Speech

Gentleness or otherwise of speech is among the attributes of highest social significance and can have far-reaching effects. The holy Prophet ﷺ, as such, has urged upon his followers to speak politely and gently and warned them against the use of intemperate language, to the extent that he did not even like them to return abuse with abuse.

(٣١٢/٧٢) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أَنَّ يَهُودَ أَتَوْا النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالُوا أَلْسَامُ عَلَيْكُمْ فَقَالَتْ عَائِشَةُ عَلَيْكُمْ وَلَعَنَكُمْ اللَّهُ وَغَضِبَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْكُمْ قَالَ مَهْلًا يَا عَائِشَةُ عَلَيْكَ بِالرِّفْقِ وَإِيَّاكَ وَالْعُنْفَ وَالْفَحْشَ (رواه البخارى)

(312/72) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها related to us that (once) some Jews called on the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, and (out of viciousness), they greeted him with As-saam-o-Alaikum (Instead of As-Salam-u-Alaikum) (Peace be with you). On realising the meaning and intention of their salutation, she retorted, "May it be with you, and the curse of Allah." Upon it the Prophet ﷺ observed: "(No, Ayshah, No). Control your tongue, and be polite, and guard yourself against foulness of speech." (Bukhari)

The Prophet ﷺ did not allowed her to retaliate harshly to the vicious manner of the Jews. He advised her to be mild.

(٣١٣/٧٣) عَنِ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَيْسَ الْمُؤْمِنُ بِطَعَّانٍ وَلَا لَعَّانٍ وَلَا فَاحِشٍ وَلَا بَذِيٍّ (رواه الترمذى)

(313/73) It is related by Abdullah ibn Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A faithful believer neither attacks with his tongue nor utters a curse nor speaks ill of anyone nor calls names." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: It shows that to indulge in indecent language is below the dignity of a true Believer. We have, already, seen the Tradition denoting that to revile and resort to coarse and insulting speech at the time of a dispute is the quality of a hypocrite¹.

(٣١٤/٧٤) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ إِسْتَأْذَنَ رَجُلٌ عَلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ بِنْسٍ ابْنِ الْعَشِيرَةِ أَوْ بِنْسٍ رَجُلُ الْعَشِيرَةِ ثُمَّ قَالَ أَتَذْنُونَا لَهُ فَلَمَّا دَخَلَ الْآنَ لَهُ الْقَوْلُ فَقَالَتْ عَائِشَةُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَلَأَنْتَ لَهُ الْقَوْلُ وَقَدْ قُلْتَ لَهُ مَا قُلْتَ قَالَ إِنَّ شَرَّ النَّاسِ مَنْزِلَةً عِنْدَ اللَّهِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ مَنْ وَدَّعَهُ أَوْ تَرَكَهُ النَّاسُ لِإِتْقَاءِ فُحْشِهِ.

(314/74) Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها related to us, that (once), a man asked for permission to meet the Prophet ﷺ. The Prophet ﷺ said to us that he was a bad son (or member) of his tribe, and asked us to let him come. When he came, the Prophet ﷺ spoke to him very politely. (After he had gone), Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها said: 'Messenger of Allah ﷺ! You spoke to him cheerfully although earlier you had expressed a poor opinion of him — that he was a bad representative of his tribe.' 'The Prophet ﷺ replied: "In the judgement of Allah, the worst man, on the Day or Resurrection, in terms of rank, will be whom people may leave, i.e., avoid meeting on account of his rudeness." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The sum and substance of the above Tradition is that even if a man is not good, we should speak to him with politeness, otherwise people may begin to avoid our company on account of our incivility, and such a man is worthless in the sight of Allah, and he will be in great loss in the Hereafter.

A few points are worth elaborating in this context.

(a) The holy Prophet ﷺ had, probably, wanted to tell those who were with him, at that time, about the man who wanted to come in that he was an undesirable person, and, therefore, they should take care not to say or do anything that was not to be said or done in the presence of such a man. To warn, with such an intention, against the wickedness or depravity of anyone does, of course, not amount to back-biting. On the other hand, it is our duty to do so, as the following Tradition denotes:

اذكروا الفاجر بما فيه لى يحذره الناس

"Tell people of the evil that may be present in a corrupt and unprincipled person so that they take care to protect themselves from his mischief."
(KanzulUmmal)

(b) We should talk gently even to those about whom we know that they are not good people. In another account of the same incident, mentioned in Bukhari, it is, distinctly, stated:

فلما جلس تطلق النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم في وجهه انبسط إليه

The holy Prophet ﷺ received the man with a smile and talked to him pleasantly. It goes to show how wrong they are who suppose that one should not behave decently with men who are bad or vicious in one's judgement.

Imam Bukhari, further, has quoted it directly from Sayyidina Abu Darda ؓ, a celebrated Companion of the Prophet ﷺ, "we meet and speak to many people in a pleasant and courteous manner whom we curse in our hearts on account of their deeds and character."

If at any time, however, the expression of severity and displeasure is necessary or expedient, it will be proper to disregard the advice given above.

(c) In yet another version of this Tradition in Abu Dawood, it is stated, that when Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها inquired from the sacred Prophet ﷺ why he had met and spoken so politely to the man about whom he had said that he was not good, he replied: "Allah does not hold him dear who uses foul or hurtful language." Meaning, how could the Prophet ﷺ be discourteous and impolite when it was apparent that a vulgar or bitter tongue deprived a man of the love of Allah.

(٣١٥/٧٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْكَلِمَةُ الطَّيِّبَةُ

(رواه البخارى)

صَدَقَةٌ

(315/175) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "To speak gently is (a kind of) charity." (Bukhari)

Commentary: This saying is a part of a long narrative. Imam Bukhari has reproduced the whole of the report while, at one place, he has quoted only this one sentence. The meaning is obvious. To talk to anyone in a polite and pleasing manner is to bring joy to his heart which, evidently, is an act of virtue.

The Virtue of Talking Less And Avoiding Vain And Rotten Speech

Most of the quarrels arise out of evil and irresponsible talk, and the major sins that are commonly committed, also, are related, for the most part, to the tongue. The holy Prophet ﷺ, thus, has stressed upon his followers the need to keep their tongues under control and avoid gainless and rotten conversation. It is better to keep quiet if one had nothing good or useful to say. It is among the important teachings of the Prophet ﷺ upon which, as he tells, depends the salvation of man. The acceptance of the fundamental duties like prayers, fasting, *Zakah*¹ and *Hajj*², and their effulgence, too, is contingent on the control of the tongue.

(٣١٦/٧٦) عَنْ مَعَاذٍ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ (صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ) أَخْبِرْنِي بِعَمَلٍ يَدْخِلُنِي الْجَنَّةَ وَيُبَاعِدُنِي مِنَ النَّارِ قَالَ لَقَدْ سَأَلْتَ عَنْ أَمْرٍ عَظِيمٍ وَإِنَّهُ لَيْسَ بِشَيْءٍ عَلَى مَنْ يَسْرُهُ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى عَلَيْهِ تَعَبُدُ اللَّهَ وَلَا تُشْرِكُ بِهِ شَيْئًا وَتَقِيُمُ الصَّلَاةَ وَتُؤْتِيَ الزَّكَاةَ وَتَصُومُ رَمَضَانَ وَتَحُجَّ الْبَيْتَ، ثُمَّ قَالَ إِلَّا أَذْلَكَ عَلَى أَبْوَابِ الْخَيْرِ؟ الصَّوْمُ جَنَّةٌ وَالصَّدَقَةُ تُطْفِئُ الْخَطِيئَةَ كَمَا يُطْفِئُ الْمَاءُ النَّارَ وَصَلَاةُ الرَّجُلِ فِي جَوْفِ اللَّيْلِ ثُمَّ تَلَاَتَجَافَى جُنُوبَهُمْ عَنِ الْمَصَاجِعِ حَتَّى بَلَغَ يَعْمَلُونَ ثُمَّ قَالَ إِلَّا أَذْلَكَ بِرَأْسِ الْأَمْرِ وَعَمُودِهِ وَذُرْوَةِ سَنَامِهِ قُلْتُ بَلَى يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ رَأْسُ الْأَمْرِ الْإِسْلَامُ وَعَمُودُهُ الصَّلَاةُ وَذُرْوَةُ سَنَامِهِ الْجِهَادُ. ثُمَّ قَالَ إِلَّا أَخْبَرَكَ بِمَلَكَ ذَلِكَ كُلِّهِ قُلْتُ بَلَى يَا نَبِيَّ اللَّهِ فَأَخَذَ بِلِسَانِهِ فَقَالَ كَفَّ عَلَيْكَ هَذَا فَقُلْتُ يَا نَبِيَّ اللَّهِ وَإِنَّا لَمُؤَاخِدُونَ بِمَا نَتَكَلَّمُ بِهِ قَالَ ثَكَلْتِكَ أُمُّكَ يَا مَعَاذُ وَهَلْ يَكُفُّ النَّاسَ فِي النَّارِ عَلَى وُجُوهِهِمْ أَوْ عَلَى مَنَاخِرِهِمْ إِلَّا حَصَائِدُ السِّنِّيَةِ.

(316/76) Sayyidina Mu'az ﷺ one day asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ: "Tell me of something on account of which I may gain admission to Heaven and stay away from Hell." "You asked a great thing", replied the Prophet ﷺ. "But, (in spite of its gravity and magnitude), it is easy for whom Allah makes it easy. Now, listen. First of all, worship Allah and associate no one with Him, and offer prayer correctly, and pay Zakah, and keep fasts, and perform Hajj." The Prophet ﷺ, then, asked: "May I also, tell you about the doors of goodness?"¹ Seeing the keenness of Sayyidina Mu'az رضي الله عنه, he went on to say: "Fasting is a shield (to protect against sins, and against the Fire of Hell), and charity puts out the sins, (and the fire that results from them), in the same way as water extinguishes the fire, and the same is the case with prayer of the middle part of the night (Tahajjud)". Then he recited the following verse from Surah Sajda regarding the superiority of Tahajjud and Sadqa (Charity):

تَتَجَا فِى جُنُوبِهِمْ عَنِ الْمَضَاجِعِ يَدْعُونَ رَبَّهُمْ خَوْفًا وَطَمَعًا وَمِمَّا رَزَقْنَاهُمْ يُنفِقُونَ ۝ فَلَا تَعْلَمُ نَفْسٌ مَّا أُخْفِيَ لَهُمْ مِنْ قُرَّةِ أَعْيُنٍ جَزَاءُ كِيمًا كَانُوا يَعْمَلُونَ ۝

Who forsake their beds (in the night) to cry unto their Lord, in fear and hope, and spend of what We have bestowed upon them.

(Al-Sajadah 32:16)

The Prophet then asked, "May I (also) tell you of the heads of matter (Faith), and its pillar and highest peak?" "Do, please", replied Mu'az. Thereupon, he said: "The head or upper end of Faith is Islam, and its pillar is prayer, and highest peak is *Jihad*²." He, further, asked: "May I tell you of the thing upon which it all rests, i.e., without which these things are of no value?" "Do, please", Mu'az replied. The Prophet ﷺ, then, held his tongue (between his fingers), and said: "Check it. (Keep the tongue under control and do not let it function freely and without restraint)". Upon it, Sayyidina Mu'az enquired: "Will we, also, be called to account for what we say?" "May my mother weep over you³", exclaimed the Prophet ﷺ. "People will be cast head foremost (or nose foremost?) into Hell mainly

- ①. The holy Prophet صلی اللہ علیہ وسلم had, as it were so far told Sayyidina Mu'az رضی اللہ عنہ about the basic tenets of Islam. He, latter on, asked him if he wanted to know about the other sources of goodness by which, he probably, meant the supererogatory deeds of worship.
- ②. Meaning to exert oneself to the utmost, even to the extent of laying down one's life, in the path of Allah. In common parlance, it denotes a war fought in the defence of Faith.
- ③. An expression of affection in the Arabic language.

owing to the indiscretions of their tongues."

(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: In it, reference of fasting and Sadaqa by the sacred Prophet ﷺ, as the "doors of goodness", after he had spoken of the principal tenets of Islam, denotes, in our view, the supererogatory fasts and charity, and, that is, probably, why he has included Tahajjud as well which is the most superior of all the supererogatory prayers.

The Prophet ﷺ has, further, declared that Islam was the 'head of the Faith'. Apparently, Islam, here, signifies the acceptance of it as one's religion, and its purport is that if a person does good deeds and his moral conduct and monetary dealings, too, are up to the mark, but he does not confess his faith in Islam, he will be like a body whose arms, legs etc., may be intact, but it is headless.

Besides the holy Prophet ﷺ has described prayer as 'pillar of Faith', which shows that just as a building cannot endure without the pillar, Faith, also, does not last without prayer. The Prophet ﷺ, again, said that Jihad, was the 'highest peak of Faith.' The glory of Faith, obviously, is dependent on Jihad.

The last part of the saying, for which it has been reproduced here, tells that all the things mentioned in it are subject to the condition that one guards one's tongue. The indiscretions of the tongue deprive the good acts of their virtue. When Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ expressed his surprise at it and wanted to know if men will, also, be called to account for what they say, the Prophet ﷺ exclaimed that people will go to Hell mostly owing to the sins they commit with their tongues. In our time, we can see that the major evils and transgressions that are prevalent in the society, and in respect of which we, on the whole, are negligent are mostly related to the tongue.

(٣١٧/٧٧) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ رَفَعَهُ قَالَ إِذَا أَصْبَحَ ابْنُ آدَمَ فَإِنَّ الْأَعْضَاءَ كُلَّهَا

تُكْفِرُ اللِّسَانَ فَتَقُولُ اإِنِّي اللَّهُ فَيُنَا نَحْنُ بِكَ فَإِنْ اسْتَقَمْتَ اسْتَقَمْنَا وَإِنْ

(رواه الترمذی)

اغْوَجَّتْ اغْوَجَّجْنَا

(317/77) Sayyidina Abi Sa'eed ؓ reported the Prophet ﷺ as saying that when a man gets up in the morning all the limbs humble themselves before the tongue and say, "Fear Allah for our sake, for we are dependant on you; if you are straight we are straight, but if you are crooked we are crooked¹." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: The hadith preceeding this one told us that many people will go to Hell because of the wrong use of the tongue. This hadith informs us that all the limbs request the tongue very humbly that it should control itself for their success or failure depended on how it conducted itself, hence it must show mercy to them.

Another hadith singles out the heart with this peculiarity.

إِذَا صَلَحَ صَلَحَ الْجَسَدُ كُلُّهُ وَإِذَا فَسَدَ فَسَدَ الْجَسَدُ كُلُّهُ

It means that all the limbs of a man depended on the heart for their well-being or otherwsie. There is, however, no contradiction in the two. It is the heart actually but the tongue as its representative is mentioned in the above hadith as a limb that can be seen.

(٣١٨/٧٨) عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ

يُضْمِنُ لِي مَا بَيْنَ لَحْيَيْهِ وَمَا بَيْنَ رِجْلَيْهِ أَضْمِنَ لَهُ الْجَنَّةَ (رواه البخارى)

(318/78) Sahi ibn Sa'ad relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever undertakes to guard his tongue and his private parts, I take for him the responsibility of Paradise." (Bukhari)

Commentary: Apart from the tongue, it is the private parts, among the limbs of a man, whose protection against improper use is of highest importance. Hence, in this Tradition, the holy Prophet ﷺ has stated that he could give the assurance of Paradise, on behalf of Allah, to anyone who promised not to use his tongue improperly as well as to keep his sexual desires within the limits of the Divine law.

It may be advisable, again, to stress that exhortations like these of the sacred Prophet ﷺ, are addressed to believing men and women who have realised the basic truth, through his teachings, that such assurances hold good only for the bondsmen who believe and observe the fundamental duties.

(٣١٩/٧٩) عَنْ سُفْيَانَ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ الثَّقَفِيِّ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ مَا أَخَوْفُ مَا

تَخَافُ عَلَيَّ قَالَ فَأَخَذَ بِلِسَانِ نَفْسِهِ وَقَالَ هَذَا (رواه الترمذی)

(319/79) Narrates Sufyan ibn Abdullah Thaqafi that he asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ: Which is the most dangerous among the things in respect of which you have the fear concerning me (that I will be guilty of them)"? The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, held his tongue (between the fingers), and said: "The greatest danger is from it." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: What it shows is that there was no greater danger to Sayyidina Sufyan ibn Abdullah Thaqafi from another evil than that he indulged in filthy, vicious or fruitless talk. He should, hence, be careful about it. Maybe, the questioner was a sharp-tongued fellow, and, hence, the holy Prophet ﷺ thought it necessary to sound the warning.

مَنْ صَمَتَ نَجَا (رواه احمد والترمذى والدارمى والبيهقى فى شعب الایمان)

(320/80) It is related by Abdullah ibn Amr ibn al-'Aas that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever observes silence will attain salvation." (Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi, Darami and Baihaqi)

Commentary: It denotes that a person guards his tongue against foolish and undesirable talk is saved from punishment in the life after death.

As we have, already, seen in Sayyidina Mu'az's narrative, people will be cast headlong into Hell owing to the misuse of their tongues.

(٣٢١/٨١) عَنْ عُقْبَةَ بْنِ عَامِرٍ قَالَ لَقِيتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

فَقُلْتُ مَا النِّجَاةُ؟ فَقَالَ أَمْلِكْ عَلَيْكَ لِسَانَكَ وَلْيَسْعَكَ بَيْتُكَ وَابْكْ

عَلَى خَطِيئَتِكَ (رواه احمد والترمذى)

(321/81) 'Uqba ibn 'Aamir has narrated that when he met the Messenger of Allah ﷺ once, he asked him: "What is the secret of salvation?" The Prophet ﷺ replied: 'Keep your tongue under control and let there be room enough for you in your house, and shed tears over your sins before the Almighty. (Tirmizi)

Commentary: The meaning of exercising restraint over one's tongue and weeping over one's sins in the presence of Allah is clear. As for the second advice, that it should be that there was enough space for oneself in one's house, it denotes that people should better stay at home and take an interest in their household affairs devote themselves to worship instead of wasting their time in aimless wandering.

As we know, the habit of staying out unnecessarily and moving here and there pruposelessly can lead to numerous ills and evils.

(٣٢٢/٨٢) عَنْ أَنَسٍ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ يَا أَبَا ذَرٍّ أَلَا أَذْلُكَ عَلَىٰ خَصْلَتَيْنِ هُمَا أَخَفُ عَلَى الظَّهْرِ وَ أَثْقَلُ فِي الْمِيزَانِ؟ قَالَ قُلْتُ بَلَى قَالَ طَوْلُ الصَّمْتِ وَحُسْنُ الْخُلُقِ وَالَّذِي نَفْسِي بِيَدِهِ مَا عَمِلَ الْخَلَائِقُ بِمِثْلِهِمَا

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(322/82) Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه quoted the Messenger of Allah ﷺ as saying: "Shall I not guide you, Abu Zarr, the two qualities that are very light on the back, but very heavy in the scale?" On his replying, "Certainly", he said: "Long silence and a good character. By Him in whose hand my soul is, mankind can do nothing to compare with them."¹ (Baihaqi)

Commentary: As, indeed, we have pointed out, the meaning of long silence is to refrain from unnecessary and undesirable speech. Such a person will automatically speak less. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ needed to speak much to guide people, even those who are born later upto the Day of Resurrection; therefore, he did not diminish on the necessary speaking. He taught every minor and major thing.

In spite of that, the Companions رضي الله عنهم described him in these words:

كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ طَوِيلَ الصَّمْتِ

The Messenger of Allah ﷺ observed long silence.² and وَلَا يَتَكَلَّمُ إِلَّا فِيمَا يَرْجُو ثَوَابَهُ

He spoke only when he hoped for reward on his speech.³

(٣٢٣/٨٣) عَنْ عِمْرَانَ بْنِ حِطَّانَ قَالَ أَتَيْتُ أَبَا ذَرٍّ فَوَجَدْتُهُ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ مُحْتَبِيًا بِكَسَاءٍ أَسْوَدَ وَحَدَهُ فَقُلْتُ يَا أَبَا ذَرٍّ مَا هَذَا الْوَحْدَةُ؟ فَقَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ الْوَحْدَةُ وَإِمْلَاءُ الْخَيْرِ خَيْرٌ مِنَ السُّكُوتِ وَالسُّكُوتِ خَيْرٌ مِنْ إِمْلَاءِ الشَّرِّ (رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(323/83) Imran ibn Hittan, a taba'ee¹, related to us, saying: '(One day), as I went to see Abu Zarr Ghiffari, I found him sitting alone in the mosque, wrapped in a black blanket. 'Oh, Abu Zarr!' I said to him. 'Why this seclusion?' He replied: 'I have heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: 'To be alone is better than to sit with bad companions, and to sit with a good companion is better than to be alone, and to tell a good thing to anyone is better than to keep quiet, and to keep quiet is better than to tell a bad thing'."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: The virtue of silence lies only in comparison to foolish or vicious speech, otherwise to tell a good and useful thing is better than to keep quiet. Similarly, it tells that though solitude is better than the company of undesirable persons, the society of good and virtuous men is preferable to remaining alone.

Note: As we know that the nature of different people as also their inclinations vary. The teachings of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ take into account these variations. For instance, some people find it unbearable to meet those people whom they do not like and they find it damaging to meet such people. The foregoing hadith has instructions for such people. However there are some who tolerate meeting those that they do not like and try to reform them thereby. They are able to protect themselves from the evil influences of those people. There are instructions for such in other ahadith of the Prophet ﷺ which we will see later.

This is what we see in the lives of the different Companions and those that followed them. And, this variation in human nature is accommodated in the teachings of the Prophet ﷺ. Those narrow-minded people who wish to see everyone in colour have

On Giving Up What Is Foolish And Absurd

(٣٢٤/٨٤) عَنْ عَلِيِّ بْنِ الْحُسَيْنِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
 مِنْ حُسْنِ إِسْلَامِ الْمَرْءِ تَرْكُهُ مَا لَا يَغْنِيهِ (رواه مالك و احمد، ورواه ابن ماجه عن
 ابى هريرة و الترمذى و البيهقى فى شعب الايمان عنهما)

(324/84) It is related by Ali Ibn al-Husain Zainul Abedin عليه السلام that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "It, also, is a part of the beauty and perfection of Faith that one abandoned what was not necessary and useful to him."

(This Tradition has been quoted, as a *Mursal*¹, by Imam Maalik in Muwatta, and by Imam Ahmad in Musnad, on the authority of Sayyidina Ali ibn al-Husain عليه السلام and by Ibn Majah رحمته الله, in the Sunan, on the authority of Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه, and by Imam Tirmizi, in his Jam'aa, and Baihaqi in Sh'ab-al-Iman, in the same form and from the same narrators).

Commentary: It shows that to give up or desist from what is worthless is a sign of perfection in Faith.

Tale-Bearing

Among the detestable habits that are related to the tongue and have been condemned by the holy Prophet ﷺ as a grievous sin, a most common is tale-bearing or carrying of reports from one person to another with a view to poisoning their relations and making them mistrustful of each other. Since promotion of mutual affection and sympathy is among the aims and objects of raising up of the Prophet ﷺ, to the extent that, in some Traditions, these social moral attributes have been described as more important than duties of worship, anything that creates bad blood between two persons and gives rise to suspicion and hatred must be a sin of the highest order. Anyhow, tale-bearing has been denounced by the sacred Prophet ﷺ as a most hateful offence against the law of

①. Some times a Taba'ee relates a Tradition, but does not mention the name of the Companion through whom it had reached him. Such a Tradition is called Mursal in the special terminology of Islam.

Allah and warned the perpetrators of it of a painful sequel in after-life.

(٣٢٥/٨٥) عَنْ حَدِيقَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ لَا

يَدْخُلُ الْجَنَّةَ قَتَاتٌ (رواه البخارى وفى رواية مسلم تمام)

(325/85) It is related by Huzaifah ؓ that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, "The tale-bearer shall not enter Heaven."
(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that tale-bearing is such a despicable habit that no one possessing it will be able to gain admission to Paradise except, of course, that Allah may forgive him out of His Mercy.

(٣٢٦/٨٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ غَنَمٍ وَأَسْمَاءَ بِنْتِ يَزِيدَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ

عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ خِيَارُ عِبَادِ اللَّهِ الَّذِينَ إِذَا رَأَوْا ذِكْرًا لِلَّهِ وَشَرَارَ عِبَادِ اللَّهِ الْمَشَاوِينَ بِالنَّمِيمَةِ الْمُفْرِقُونَ بَيْنَ الْأَحْيَةِ الْبَاغُونَ الْبِرَاءَ الْعَنَتِ

(رواه احمد والبيهقى فى شعب الايمان)

(326/86) Abdur Rahman ibn Ghanam ؓ and Asma bint Yazid رضى الله عنها have reported the Prophet ﷺ as saying, "The best slaves of Allah are those who when they are seen cause Allah to be remembered and the worst slaves of Allah are those who go about slandering, who separate friends, and seek to distress or lead to sin the upright."¹

(Masnad Ahmad, Baihaqi)

Commentary: This hadith tells us of the distinctive signs of the slaves of Allah. The worst of them are those who are tale-bearers, separators of friends and who distress slaves of Allah. Thus we must make friends with the first type of people and shun the evil type.

(٣٢٧/٨٧) عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا

يُلَافِي أَحَدٌ مِنْ أَصْحَابِي عَنْ أَحَدٍ شَيْئًا فَإِنِّى أُحِبُّ أَنْ أُخْرَجَ إِلَيْكُمْ وَأَنَا سَلِيمٌ

(رواه ابو داؤد)

الصَّادِرِ

(327/87) It is related by Abdullah ibn Mas'ud ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "None of my Companions should carry tales concerning another (Companion) to me. I want that when I met you, my heart should be free from taint (against everyone)." · (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Its purport is that people should avoid even listening to things against others that are likely to produce the feelings of anger or enmity in their hearts. It should, however, be clear that there can be occasions on which it may be in the interest of the Faith or necessary from the viewpoint of the Shari'ah to say or hear such a thing. In such an event, the rule will not apply.

Slander And Back-Biting

Speaking ill of others behind their backs, scandal-mongering, slander and vilification are moral vices that are more woeful in their consequence than tale-bearing. Back-biting, malicious upbraiding, and spreading false reports against anyone that tend to cause him pain or injures his reputation is the height of perversitive. To stress the foulness of back-biting, it has been likened in the Qur'an and the Traditions to eating the flesh of one's dead brother'.

(٣٢٨/٨٨) عَنْ أَبِي بَرْزَةَ الْأَسْلَمِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
يَا مَعْشَرَ مَنْ آمَنَ بِلِسَانِهِ وَلَمْ يَدْخُلِ الْإِيمَانُ قُلُوبَهُ لَا تَغْتَابُوا الْمُسْلِمِينَ وَلَا
تَتَّبِعُوا عَوْرَاتِهِمْ فَإِنَّهُ مَنْ اتَّبَعَ عَوْرَاتِهِمْ يَتَّبِعِ اللَّهُ عَوْرَتَهُ وَمَنْ يَتَّبِعِ اللَّهُ عَوْرَتَهُ
يَفْضَحْهُ فِي بَيْتِهِ (رواه ابو داود)

(328/88) It is related by Abu Barzah Al Aslami رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "O people who have affirmed Faith (only) with the tongue, and Islam has not yet entered into their hearts! Do not speak ill of Muslims behind their backs, and do not pry into their secrets, for whoever does so, Allah, too, will treat him in the same manner, and whoever will be treated like that, from the side of Allah will be made lowly and debased, by Him, in his own house." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that to malign and vilify a Muslim and speak ill of him behind his back is the characteristic of a hypocrite and only those will do so who are Muslims simply in name and their hearts are devoid of real Faith.

(329/89) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "During *Mi'raj*¹, I passed by some people whose nails were red like copper, (and) they were scratching their faces and breasts with them. I enquired about them from Jibril as to who they were that such a terrible punishment was being inflicted upon them. Jibril replied that they used to eat the flesh of men in their lives i.e., spoke ill of them and played foul with their reputations."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Apparently, the nails of these persons had become red like copper in the heat of the fire of Hell and it was with them that they were scratching and wounding their faces and chests. In *Barzakh*², this punishment was, particularly, prescribed for them because back-biting was their favourite pastime in the world which, as we have just seen, was similar to eating the flesh of one's brother.

(٣٣٠/٩٠) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ وَجَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَلْغِيَّةُ أَشَدُّ مِنَ الزِّنَا، قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَكَيْفَ أَلْغِيَّةُ أَشَدُّ مِنَ الزِّنَا؟ قَالَ إِنَّ الرَّجُلَ لَيَزْنِي فَيَتُوبُ فَيَغْفِرَ اللَّهُ لَهُ (وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ فَيَتُوبُ فَيَغْفِرَ اللَّهُ لَهُ) وَإِنْ صَاحِبَ أَلْغِيَّةٍ لَا يَغْفِرُ لَهُ حَتَّى يَغْفِرَهَا لَهُ صَاحِبُهُ (رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(330/90) It is related by Abu Sa'eed Khudri and Jaber رضي الله عنهما that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Back-biting is worse than adultery". He was asked: Messenger of Allah ﷺ! How can back-biting be worse than adultery?" He explained: "If a person, unfortunately, commits adultery, he can be forgiven by Allah if he offers repentance but a back-biter will not be forgiven until he is forgiven by the person he had spoken ill of behind his back."

(Baihaqi)

1. The ascension of the Holy Prophet to Heaven; the Journey by Night
2. The interval between death and the resurrection on the Day of Resurrection.

(٣٣١/٩١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ اتَذَرُونَ مَا لِيْغِيَّةٌ؟ قَالُوا اللَّهُ وَرَسُولُهُ أَعْلَمُ قَالَ ذِكْرُكَ أَخَاكَ بِمَا يَكْرَهُ قِيلَ أَفَرَأَيْتَ إِنْ كَانَ فِي أَخِي مَا أَقُولُ؟ قَالَ إِنْ كَانَ فِيهِ مَا تَقُولُ فَقَدْ اغْتَبْتَهُ وَإِنْ لَمْ يَكُنْ فِيهِ مَا تَقُولُ فَقَدْ بَهْتَهُ
(رواه مسلم)

(331/91) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه related to us that one day the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Do you know what is back-biting?" "Allah and His Messenger know best", the Companions رضي الله عنهم replied. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ, thereupon, observed : "When you talk about a brother in a way that hurts or harms him, it is back-biting". "Would it, also, amount to back-biting if I spoke of an evil of my brother that was, actually, present in him?" asked the Companion. "It will be back-biting only when the evil is present in him, while if it is not present (in him), it will be slander (which is even worse than back-biting)," the Prophet ﷺ replied. (Muslim)

Commentary: This hadith tells us of the difference between back-biting and slander. It should, however, be noted that in case, it became necessary to relate, truthfully, the fault or viciousness of an individual or group to others out of goodwill and sincerity to the bondsmen of Allah or for the eradication of an evil or mischief, or should the realisation of an objective relating to the Shari'ah or morality be dependent on it then it will not amount to the back-biting which is forbidden by the Shari'ah and is a major sin. On the other hand, in certain circumstances, it will be a virtuous act, meriting reward in the future.

Thus to depose against a criminal before an officer of the realm or to warn the people against a professional cheat or the rebutting of evidence of false and unreliable narrators by the scholars of the Traditions, or the acquaint the people with the errors of treacherous pedlars in Faith by religious docotrs, will all, belong to the same category.

Double-Dealing

It is the habit of some people that when there is a dispute or enmity between two persons or groups they speak to each of them in an unfavourable way about the other. In the same way, some people show friendliness and sincerity when they meet a person, but speak ill of him or act against his interests behind his back. It is a form of hypocrisy and has been condemned in the severest terms by the sacred Prophet ﷺ.

(٣٣٢/٩٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَجِدُونَ شَرَّ النَّاسِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ ذَا لَوْجَهَيْنِ الَّذِي يَأْتِي هَؤُلَاءِ بِوَجْهِهِ وَهَؤُلَاءِ بِوَجْهِهِ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(332/92) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "On the Day of Resurrection, the biggest loser will be the double-faced person who talks in one voice when he goes to one party, and, in another voice when he goes to the other party."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: We can imagine the frightful sequel that awaits a dissembler and hypocrite of that class, in the Hereafter, from the Tradition that follows.

(٣٣٣/٩٣) عَنْ عَمَّارٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ كَانَ ذَا لَوْجَهَيْنِ فِي الدُّنْيَا كَانَ لَهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ لِسَانَانِ مِنْ نَارٍ.

(رواه ابو داود)

(333/93) It is related by Ammar ibn Yaasir that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever is double-faced in the world, i.e. talks to different people in different voices, there will be two tongues of fire in his mouth on the Day of Resurrection.

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Good manners and good deeds on which there is the promise of a reward in the Hereafter are of different kinds and belong to different grades. Similarly, bad manners are evil deeds on which there is the warning of a penalty in After-life, too, are of different kinds and grades. The Almighty, in His infinite wisdom, has prescribed a reward or punishment on every good or evil act in proportion to its goodness or evilness. Thus, for double-dealing, the punishment on the Day of Reckoning will be that there will be two tongues of fire in the mouth of such a man.

It is significant to note that some snakes, also, have two tongues.

There are, in fact, some faults and weaknesses that are most dangerous and a grave misdeed in the judgement of Allah, but we do not, generally, attach much importance to these vices, nor take enough care to avoid them. It is about such acts and iniquities that the Qur'an has said:

وَلَحَسْبُؤُنَا هَيْنًا وَهُوَ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ عَظِيمٌ (النور ٢٤: ١٥)

"Ye counted it a trifle, (but) in the sight of Allah it is very great."

(Al-Nur 24:15)

The evil habit of hypocrisy and double-dealing, too, is one of them. Many of us are apt to regard it an ordinary matter though both the aforementioned Traditions tell how sinful it is to indulge in it and what a grievous penalty has been readied in the Hereafter for those who play a double game or speak in two voices.

TRUTHFULNESS AND TRUSTWORTHINESS

Truthfulness and Trustworthiness are virtues of foremost importance in Islam. In the words of the sacred Prophet ﷺ, these are the pre-requisites of Faith. Without them, no one can be a true Muslim. In Kitab al-Iman we have seen the Tradition that to tell a lie, to betray a trust and to break a pledge are the special signs of a hypocrite. A person in whom these attributes are present is a dissembler, not a faithful Believer. We have, again, examined the Traditions that "in whom there is no trustworthiness, in him there is no Faith", and "a true Believer can never be a habitual liar."

We now, proceed to take up the Traditions in which the holy Prophet ﷺ has directly exhorted us to cultivate these qualities, and keep away from the filthy habits of falsehood and unfaithfulness to a trust.

Truthfulness And Falsehood

(٣٣٤/٩٤) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَيْكُمْ بِالطِّبْقِ فَإِنَّ الصِّدْقَ يَهْدِي إِلَى الْبِرِّ وَالْبِرُّ يَهْدِي إِلَى الْجَنَّةِ وَمَا يَزَالُ الرَّجُلُ يَصْدُقُ وَيَتَحَرَّى الصِّدْقَ حَتَّى يُكْتَبَ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ صِدِّيقًا وَإِنَّمَا الْكُذْبُ فَإِنَّ الْكُذْبَ يَهْدِي إِلَى الْفُجُورِ وَإِنَّ الْفُجُورَ يَهْدِي إِلَى النَّارِ وَمَا يَزَالُ الرَّجُلُ يَكْذِبُ وَيَتَحَرَّى الْكُذْبَ حَتَّى يُكْتَبَ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ كَذَّابًا

(رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(334/94) It is related by Abdullah ibn Mas'ud ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Observe truthfulness as a duty and always speak the truth, for truthfulness puts you on the path of virtue, and virtue leads you to Heaven, and when a person tells the truth as a rule, and makes truthfulness a way of life, he attains the place of sincerity and faithfulness, and, with Allah, his name is written as a truthful. And stay strictly away from falsehood, for falsehood puts you on the path of immorality, and leads you to Hell, and when a man takes to lying, the sequel is that his name is written, with Allah, as a great liar."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: What it seeks to convey is that truthfulness, besides being a noble habit, in itself, makes a man virtuous in other spheres of life as well, and one who habitually, speaks the truth attains the high station of those who are eminently truthful, in the sight of Allah. Conversely, falsehood, apart from being a filthy habit, in itself, gives rise to viciousness and evil doing in the other fields of existence, too, and makes him deserving of Hell, and the ultimate end of a habitual liar is identical to that of men on whom there is the eternal curse of Allah.

(٣٣٥/٩٥) عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ أَبِي قُرَادٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَوَضَّأَ يَوْمًا فَجَعَلَ أَصْحَابُهُ يَتَمَسَّحُونَ بِوَضُوئِهِ فَقَالَ لَهُمُ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا يَعْملُكُمْ عَلَى هَذَا قَالُوا أَحَبُّ إِلَهُ وَرَسُولِهِ فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ سَرَهُ أَنْ يُحِبَّ اللَّهَ وَرَسُولَهُ أَوْ يُحِبَّهُ اللَّهُ وَرَسُولُهُ فَلْيَصْدُقْ حَدِيثَهُ إِذَا حَدَّثَ وَلْيُؤَدِّ أَمَانَتَهُ إِذَا تَمَنَّيَ وَلْيُحْسِنْ جَوَارَ مَنْ جَاوَرَاهُ. (رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(335/95) Narrates Abdur Rahman ibn Abu Qurad that, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ Performed wudu one day, and the Companions ﷺ began to wipe themselves with the water he used for it. The Prophet ﷺ enquired (from them): "What makes you do it?" "The love of Allah and His Messenger", they replied. The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, observed: "Whoever sincerely wishes to love Allah and His Messenger or that Allah and His Messenger loved him should always speak the truth when he speaks, and restore honesty what he has received in trust to whom it is due, and be good and courteous to the neighbours."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: It tells that an essential condition of sincere devotion to Allah and the Prophet ﷺ is that a man should always speak the truth, observe trustworthiness, and abstain from falsehood and violation of faith.

(٣٣٦/٩٦) عَنْ عُبَادَةَ بْنِ الصَّامِتِ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ
 إِضْمِنُوا لِي سِتًّا مِنْ أَنْفُسِكُمْ أَضْمِنَ لَكُمْ الْجَنَّةَ أَصْدُقُوا إِذَا حَدَّثْتُمْ وَأَوْفُوا
 إِذَا وَعَدْتُمْ وَأَدُّوا إِذَا تَمِيتُمْ وَاحْفَظُوا أَرْوَاجَكُمْ وَغَضُّوا أَبْصَارَكُمْ وَكَفُّوا
 أَيْدِيَكُمْ (رواه احمد والبيهقى فى شعب الايمان)

(336/96) It is related by Ubadah ibn Saamit ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "You promise six things (to me), and I (shall) give you the guarantee of Paradise. (These are): speak the truth when you speak; fulfil a promise when you make one; render back honestly when a trust is placed in your charge; protect your private parts from a forbidden act (specially fornication and adultery); shut your eyes to things to look at which is prohibited; (and) holdback your hands on occasions on which you are commanded to hold them back, (as for instance, do not hurt or harm anyone unjustly or stretch the hand to seize a thing unlawfully." (Musnad Ahmad and Baihaqi)

Commentary: It shows that if a person has affirmed his faith in Islam, and observes his duties, and, also, pays attention to the six moral virtues indicated in it, for him there is the assurance of Paradise from Allah and His Messenger, and he is destined to attain salvation.

Honesty In Trade

(٣٣٧/٩٧) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
 التَّاجِرُ الصَّدُوقُ الْأَمِينُ مَعَ النَّبِيِّينَ وَالصِّدِّيقِينَ وَالشُّهَدَاءِ
 (رواه الترمذى والدارقطنى)

(337/97) It is related by Abu Sa'eed Khudri ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The honest trader will be with the Prophets, the Truthful and the Martyrs."

(Tirmizi, Darami, and Dara Qurni)

Commentary: We learn from the above Tradition that it is not necessary for spiritual advancement and gaining propinquity to the Lord to renounce the world and abjure its affairs and interests. Even a trader, sitting in the market or working diligently in his shop or office, can win the company of the Prophets, the Truthful and the Martyrs, in the Hereafter, if he abides by the commandments of Allah and His Messenger and fulfils the religious obligations of honesty and trustworthiness.

(۳۳۸/۹۸) عَنْ عُيَيْبِ بْنِ رِفَاعَةَ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ
التَّجَارُ يُحْشَرُونَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ فُجَارًا إِلَّا مَنْ اتَّقَى وَتَرَوَّصَدَقَ

(رواه الترمذى وابن ماجه و الدارمى)

(338/98) Ubayd ibn Rifa'ah has reported on the authority of his father, Rifa'ah رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said, "The traders will be resurrected on the Day of Resurrection with the sinners except those of them who were Allah-fearing, pious and truthful."

(Tirmizi, Ibn Majah, Darami)

Falsehood And Breach of Trust Are Inimical to Faith

(۳۳۹/۹۹) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
يُطْبِعُ الْمُؤْمِنُ عَلَى الْخِلَالِ كُلِّهَا إِلَّا الْخِيَانَةَ وَالْكَذِبَ

(رواه احمد والبيهقى فى شعب الايمان)

(339/99) Abu Umama Bahili relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There is a place for any habit in the nature of Believer except falsehood and breach of faith." (Musnad Ahmad and Baihaqi)

Commentary: What it denotes is that Faith and the shameless habit of lying cannot co-exist. A true Muslim may have any other weakness, but he can never be a habitual liar and a false-hearted and untrustworthy person. Should, however, an evil like that be present in a Believer, it will show that the reality of Islam has not yet dawned upon him and he must cure himself of the vicious habit if he is not to rest content with the state of imperfection in Faith.

Filth of Falsehood

(۳۴۰/۱۰۰) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا

كَذَبَ الْعَبْدُ تَبَاعَدَ عَنْهُ الْمَلَكُ مِيلًا مِنْ ثَنِي مَا جَاءَ بِهِ

(رواه الترمذى)
(340/100) It is related by Abdullah ibn Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When a bondsman tells a lie, the Angel goes a mile away (from him) owing to the stench." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Just as material things give out a pleasant or foul odour, good or evil words or deeds, too, have their own smell, though, generally, it is felt by the Angels alone. Sometimes, however, spiritually evolved men, also, can perceive it in this world.

A Most Serious Form of Perfidy

(٣٤١/١٠١) عَنْ سُفْيَانَ بْنِ أَصِيدٍ الْحَضْرَمِيِّ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ كَبُرَتْ خِيَانَةٌ أَنْ تُحَدِّثَ أَخَاكَ حَدِيثًا وَهُوَ لَكَ بِهِ مُصَدِّقٌ وَأَنْتَ بِهِ كَاذِبٌ

(رواه ابو داود)

(341/101) Sufyan bin Aseed al-Hadrami related to us that he heard it directly from the lips of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ: A most serious form of betrayal of faith is that you tell a lie to a brother while he believes that you are truthful in what you say."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Lying is a sin, in any case, and a very grave one, indeed, but, in certain circumstances, its seriousness becomes even greater. One of these is that a person trusts you and regards you a truthful man, but you take advantage of his confidence and tell him a lie and play false by him.

Bearing False Witness And Swearing A False Oath

(رواه ابو داود ابن ماجه)

(342/102) Khuraym ibn Fatik has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ offered the morning prayer (Fajr) once and then stood up suddenly and said, "To bear false witness is equivalent to ascribing a partner to Allah." He said this three times, and then recited the verse:

فَاجْتَنِبُوا الرَّجْسَ مِنَ الْأَوْتَانِ وَاجْتَنِبُوا قَوْلَ الزُّورِ حُنَفَاءَ لِلَّهِ غَيْرَ مُشْرِكِينَ بِهِ

(الحج ٢٢: ٣١)

"So shun the filth of idols, and shun lying speech, turning to Allah (only) not ascribing partners to Him." (Al-Hajj, 22:30/31)

Commentary: We have seen earlier that falsehood is a sin but some of its forms are very grave sin. False witness is one of those, and to harm someone thereby. It is bracketed with polytheism and idol-worship in the verse of Surah Hajj cited above. The same word is used to tell us to shun both the evils. This is what the Prophet ﷺ emphasised by standing up.

In another hadith in Tirmizi we are told that one day he said to his Companions and repeated it three times, "Shall I tell you what the gravest sins are". He then said, "To join partners with Allah, to disobey parents, and to bear false witness and to lie." The narrator has said that he was first sitting in a reclining position, then he sat straight and he repeated his message frequently until the Companions thought that he was under a heavy pressure and should not burden himself.

False Oath

(٣٤٣/١٠٣) عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ حَلَفَ عَلَى يَمِينٍ صَبْرٍ وَهُوَ فِيهَا فَاجِرٌ يَقْتَطِعُ بِهَا مَالَ امْرِئٍ مُسْلِمٍ لَقِيَ اللَّهَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ وَهُوَ عَلَيْهِ غَضْبَانٌ
(رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(343/103) According to Sayyidina Ibn Mas'ud ؓ the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "If anyone swears a firm oath acting wickedly thereby and appropriates by it property belonging to a Muslim, Allah will be angry when he meets Him on the Day of Resurrection."¹ (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٣٤٤/١٠٤) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ اقْتَطَعَ حَقَّ امْرِئٍ مُسْلِمٍ بِيَمِينِهِ فَقَدْ أَوْحَبَ اللَّهُ لَهُ النَّارَ وَحَرَّمَ عَلَيْهِ الْجَنَّةَ فَقَالَ لَهُ رَجُلٌ وَإِنْ كَانَ شَيْئًا يَسِيرًا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ وَإِنْ كَانَ قِضِيًّا مِنْ أَرَاكِ
(رواه مسلم)

(344/104) Abu Umamah ؓ reported the Messenger of Allah ﷺ as saying: "If anyone appropriates by his oath what rightly belongs to a Muslim, Allah has made Hell necessary for him and deprived him of Paradise." A man asked him whether that applies even if it were a small amount, and he said, "Even if it were a stick from an arak tree.¹

(Muslim)

Commentary: That is, even if it is an ordinary and worthless thing that he appropriates, he will go to Hell.

(٣٤٥/١٠٥) عَنْ الْأَشْعَثِ بْنِ قَيْسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَقْتَطِعُ أَحَدٌ مَالًا يَمِينٍ إِلَّا لَقِيَ اللَّهَ وَهُوَ أَجْدَمٌ.
(رواه ابو داؤد)
(345/105) Al-Ash'ath ibn Qays said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Anyone who appropriates property by an oath will meet Allah in maimed condition."²

Commentary: All these three ahadith tell us of the consequences of swearing false oath. The first one tells us that such a person will meet Allah on the Day of Resurrection and He will be angry and the second tells us that Paradise is disallowed to such people while he will be sent to Hell. The third hadith narrated by Al-Ash'ath ibn Qays that such a man will be raised as a maim on the Day of Resurrection. There is no contradiction in these three ahadith, and anyone who dies before he could make amends, may undergo each of these forms of punishment.

Indeed, it is a grave sin liable to grave punishment to swear a false oath before a judge and, in this way, call Allah to witness to the lie, simply to appropriate someone's property or to dishonour him.

(٣٤٦/١٠٦) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ ثَلَاثَةٌ لَا يُكَلِّمُهُمُ اللَّهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ وَلَا يَنْظُرُ إِلَيْهِمْ وَلَا يُزَكِّيهِمْ وَلَهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ قَالَ أَبُو ذَرٍّ خَابُوا وَخَسِرُوا مَنْ هُمْ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ الْمُسْبِلُ وَالْمُنَانُ وَالْمُنْفِقُ سَلَعَتْهُ بِالْحَلْفِ الْكَاذِبِ.
(رواه مسلم)

(346/106) Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضي الله عنه said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said that there were three people to whom Allah will neither speak on the Day of Resurrection, nor cast a graceful look on them nor purify them of sins and filth. And for them is a painful punishment. Abu Zarr Ghifari رضي الله عنه asked: "These people, then, are at a loss and hopeless." Who are they, Messenger of ①. Mishkat Al-Masabih, V1 p 800.

②. Mishkat Al-Masabih. V1 p 803

Allah ﷻ? He said: "He who drags his trousers below ankles, he who reminds of his favours and he who swears false oath to transact his business."
(Muslim)

Commentary: Just as it is a wrong use of Allah's name to swear a false oath before a judge so too it is wrong to swear before a customer to sell one's wares. It is also a grave kind of lie calling for a sever punishment on the Day of Resurrection. A trader who is a liar will be deprived of speaking with Allah, His kind glance and Forgiveness of his sins.

Disguised Or Imperceptible Falsehood

We have seen a few major and more serious forms of falsehood in the previous sections. But there are some kinds of untruth which many people do not regard a lie. The sacred Prophet ﷺ has enjoined upon us to abstain from them as well.

(٣٤٧/١٠٧) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَامِرٍ قَالَ دَعَتْنِي أُمِّي يَوْمًا وَرَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَاعِدٌ فِي بَيْتِنَا فَقَالَتْ مَا تَعَالِ أُعْطِيكَ فَقَالَ لَهَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا أَرَدْتَ أَنْ تُعْطِيَهُ؟ قَالَتْ أَرَدْتُ أَنْ أُعْطِيَهُ تَمْرًا فَقَالَ لَهَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَمَا أَنْتِ لَوْ لَمْ تُعْطِهِ شَيْئًا كُتِبَتْ عَلَيْكَ كَذِبَةٌ.

(رواه ابو داود و البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(347/107) It is related, on the authority of Abdullah ibn 'Aamir, "Once when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was present in our house, my mother said to me: 'Come quickly, I will give you something.' The Messenger of Allah thereupon, asked my mother what she was going to give me. 'A date', replied my mother. 'Remember', observed, the Prophet, "If you had not given anything to the child after promising to do so, a lie would have been written down in your Scroll of Deeds."

(Abu Dawood and Baihaqi)

Commentary: The moral of it is that a lie should not be uttered even to coax or cajole a child, for a Muslim's tongue must always be free from the filthiness of falsehood. Another wisdom of it is that if parents will tell lies before their children, even to please them or make them do something, they, too, will develop the habit of lying, and not relaise the filthiness of lie.

(٣٤٨/١٠٨) عَنْ بَهْزِ بْنِ حَكِيمٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَيْلٌ لِمَنْ يُحَدِّثُ فَيَكْذِبُ لِيَضْحَكَ بِهِ الْقَوْمُ وَيْلٌ لَهُ وَيْلٌ لَهُ.

(رواه احمد والترمذى و ابو داود والدارمى)

(348/108) Bahz ibn Hakeem related from his father, Mu'awiya, on the authority of his grandfather, Haidah, that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Fie upon him who tells lie to make people laugh." (Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi, Abu Dawood and Darami)

Commentary: It shows that it is forbidden to tell a lie even for entertainment

(٣٤٩/١٠٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَفَى

بِالْمَرْءِ كَذِبًا أَنْ يُحَدِّثَ بِكُلِّ مَا سَمِعَ

(رواه مسلم)

(349/109) It is related by Abu Hurairah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "It is enough falsehood in a man to go about circulating what he hears (from others)." (Muslim)

Commentary: It tells that to spread a report among the people, without confirmation, also, is a form of falsehood, and as a person with the habit of telling a deliberate lie is, commonly, treated as unreliable, in the same way, such a man, too, will not be worthy of trust.

Anyway, a Believer should, also, guard his tongue against all the forms of concealed or imperceptible falsehood.

Covert Or Concealed Perfidy

Just as people do not regard some untruth as lie, so too they do not consider betrayal as treacherous sometimes .

(٣٥٠/١١٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا بِي

الْهَيْثَمِ بْنِ التَّيْهَانِ إِنْ الْمُسْتَشَارُ مُؤْتَمَنٌ.

(رواه الترمذى)

(350/110) Abu Hurayrah ؓ relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, once, said to Abu Al-Haysham ibn Tayhan: "Whoever is consulted in a matter is a trustee in respect of it, and a trust, (thereby), is committed to his charge." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: This remark was made by the Prophet ﷺ when Abu Al-Haysham had sought his advice on something. What it signifies is that when a person is consulted in a matter, he should realise that the man who had sought his advice had placed his confidence in him and it was his duty to prove worthy of the trust and give the best advice he could, and keep the whole thing to himself, otherwise he will, to an extent, be guilty of breach of faith.

(٣٥١/١١١) عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ

إِذَا حَدَّثَ الرَّجُلُ الْحَدِيثَ ثُمَّ أَلْفَتَ فِيهِ أَمَانَةً (رواه الترمذى وأبو داود)

(351/111) Jabir ibn Abdullah رضي الله عنه relates that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "When anyone says something and looks around then it becomes a trust." (Tirmizi and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that if a person tells us something and does not ask, in so many words, to keep it a secret, but by his behaviour it appears that he does not want others to know it, it becomes a trust and should be guarded in that spirit.

Nevertheless, in another Tradition, it is candidly stated that if a plot to kill anyone or to swindle or defraud him or cause him financial loss in any other way or injure his reputation comes to our knowledge, we should not keep it a secret, but inform the person concerned in due time and manner. Let us see that hadith.

(٣٥٢/١١٢) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْمَجَالِسُ

بِالْأَمَانَةِ إِلَّا ثَلَاثَةً مَجَالِسُ سَفْكَ دَمٍ حَرَامٍ أَوْ فَرْجٍ حَرَامٍ أَوْ إِفْطَاعٍ مَالٍ بِغَيْرِ حَقٍّ.

(رواه أبو داود)

(352/112) It is related by Jabir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Meetings should be held with trust. (If a consultation is held at a meeting or a decision is taken in strict confidence, those who participate in it should hold themselves bound in trust not to disclose it). But the following meetings are excluded from it: one, in which it is conspired to shed anyone's blood unjustly; two, which is concerning the violation of anyone's modesty; and, three, which is aimed at acquiring anyone's property by force or fraud."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: The three conditions indicated above should be taken as an example. The object of the Tradition is to show that if some persons collect together with the purpose of committing an offence, and we, too, are present there, our duty will lie not in keeping it a secret, but in foiling it and informing whom it may be necessary to inform.

To Say Something on One's Own In Order To Bring A Dispute Or Mischief To An End Is Not Falsehood

(٣٥٣/١١٣) عَنْ أُمِّ كَلْثُومٍ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَيْسَ

الْكُذَّابُ الَّذِي يُصْلِحُ بَيْنَ النَّاسِ وَيَقُولُ خَيْرًا وَيَنْمِي خَيْرًا (رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(353/113) It is related by Umm Kulsoom (daughter of 'Uqba ibn Abu Mu'ayt), that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "He is not a liar or a sinner who tries to make peace among people who are on bad terms with one another, and, with that end, carries reports of goodwill and well-wishing from one party to the other and says good things (that may have a conciliatory effect)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Sometimes it happens that there is a great deal of ill-will between two persons or groups which may even lead to bloodshed. When passions are aroused, each party, in fact, considers itself justified in causing as much loss and suffering to the other as possible. If, in these circumstances, someone strives to bring about reconciliation between them, and, with that object, conveys things of friendliness and amity from one party to another which it may not have actually not been said or done, then this act of his will not amount to falsehood.

Fulfilling A Promise

To fulfil a promise is a practical form of trustworthiness while to break it is identical, in effect, to untruthfulness. The holy Prophet ﷺ has, thus, stressed upon us the need to discharge every engagement and keep a promise when we make one.

We have, earlier, seen the Tradition that to fulfil one's promises is among the few moral virtues about which the holy Prophet ﷺ has said that he could give the assurance of forgiveness in After-life to those who possessed them.

Likewise, we have quoted earlier the Tradition denoting that "he who does not fulfil his promise has no share in Faith."

(٣٥٤/١١٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ آيَةُ الْمُنَافِقِ ثَلَاثٌ إِذَا حَدَّثَ كَذَبَ وَإِذَا وَعَدَ أَخْلَفَ وَإِذَا أُؤْتِمِنَ خَانَ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(354/114) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The signs of a hypocrite are three: "When he speaks, he is false; when he promises, he fails; and, when he is trusted, he betrays."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: While commenting on an almost identical Tradition, related on the authority of Sayyidina Abdullah ibn Umar, we have, already, indicated, at length, what is actually meant by these acts or habits being the signs of a hypocrite. These practices, as we said, bear a close relationship with hypocrisy and a sincere Believer should stay clear of them. Whoever possesses these habits is a hypocrite, if not in the sphere of faith, at least in the sphere of conduct.

In another version of the same Tradition, reproduced in Sahih Muslim, it is added that though such a person may be observing prayer and fasting, and he may, also, be professing to be a Muslim, he is a hypocrite, all the same, owing to these habits.

(٣٥٥/١١٥) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ وَعَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

(رواه الطبراني في الاوسط)

وَسَلَّمَ الْعِدَّةُ دَيْنٌ

(355/115) It is related, on the authority of Sayyidina Ali and Abdullah ibn Mas'ud رضي الله عنهما, that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Promise, too, is a kind of debt, (and should, therefore, be repaid)."

(Tabarani)

Commentary: It denotes that if a person promises to give anything to anyone or do him some other favour or enters into an arrangement with him, he should fulfil it, as a matter of duty. Nevertheless, should the promise be relating to a thing which is forbidden by the Shari'ah or involves the violation of the rights of anyone, it will not be binding. The duty will, then, lie in ignoring it and there will be no sin on its non-fulfilment, but reward for compliance with the holy law.

(٣٥٦/١١٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَبِي الْحَمَسَاءِ قَالَ بَايَعْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُبْعَثَ وَيَقِيَتْ لَهُ بَقِيَّةٌ فَوَعَدْتُهِ أَنْ آتِيَهُ بِهَا فِي مَكَانِهِ فَنَسِيتُ فَذَكَرْتُ بَعْدَ ثَلَاثٍ فَإِذَا هُوَ فِي مَكَانِهِ فَقَالَ لَقَدْ حَقَّقْتُ عَلَى أَنَا هُنَا مِنْذُ ثَلَاثٍ أَنْتَظِرُكَ
(رواه ابو داؤد)

(356/116) Abdullah ibn Abul Hamsa has said, "I bought something from the Prophet ﷺ before he received his prophetic commission, and as there was something still due to him I promised him I would bring it to him at his place, but I forgot. When I remembered three days later, I went to that place and found him there. He said, "You have vexed me; I have been here three days waiting for you."
(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: This shows that he was true to his promise even before he became a Prophet and waited for that man for three days. We must know that it is not necessary to observe a promise to this limit according to Shari'ah but the nature of the Messenger demanded that.

(٣٥٧/١١٧) عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ أَرْقَمَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَنْ وَعَدَ رَجُلًا فَلَمْ يَأْتِ أَحَدَهُمَا إِلَى وَقْتِ الصَّلَاةِ وَذَهَبَ الَّذِي جَاءَ لِيُصَلِّيَ فَلَا اِثْمَ عَلَيْهِ
(رواه رزين)

(357/117) Zayd ibn Arqam ؓ has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "If someone makes an appointment with a man and one of them does not come before the time of prayers, if the one who has come goes off to pray he is guilty of no sin!" (Razin)

Commentary: The one who has come has fulfilled his duty. If he goes away to pray when it is time of prayer, or goes away to attend to something else then he cannot be blamed for breaking his promise. There will be no sin on him.

(٣٥٨/١١٨) عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ أَرْقَمَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِذَا وَعَدَ الرَّجُلُ أَخَاهُ وَمِنْ بَيْنِهِ أَنْ يَقِيَ وَلَمْ يَخْبِئِ لِلْمِيعَادِ فَلَا اِثْمَ عَلَيْهِ
(رواه ابو داؤد والترمذی)

(358/118) It is related by Zayd ibn Arqam ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "If a person promises his brother to visit him, and it is, also, his intention to do so, but, (owing to some reason), he cannot go at the appointed time then there is no sin on him."

(Abu Dawood and Tirmizi)

Commentary: The emphasis, in it, is on intention. If the man really meant to fulfil the engagement, but could not do so on account of something or another, he will not be a defaulter in the sight of Allah. But if the intention was not there and it was only a deception then he would, doubtlessly, be called to account.

Humility

Humility is a virtue on which a special stress is laid in the Qur'an and the Traditions. Man, after all, is a slave of Allah, and, like a good slave, it is expected of him that every act of his is performed with humbleness. Meekness is a mark of servitude, while pride is the exclusive attribute of divinity. It, thus, does not become a bondsman to be haughty and vainglorious.

(٣٥٩/١١٩) عَنْ عِيَّاضِ بْنِ حِمَارٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ أَوْحَى إِلَيَّ أَنْ تَوَاضَعُوا حَتَّى لَا يَبْغَى أَحَدٌ عَلَى أَحَدٍ وَلَا يَقْهَرَ أَحَدٌ عَلَى أَحَدٍ (رواه ابو داؤد)

(359/119) It is related by Ayaz ibn Himar that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah has revealed to me, and commanded me to observe humility. The effect of it should be that no one should oppress or be unjust to others, nor give himself airs."

(Abu Dawood)

(٣٦٠/١٢٠) عَنْ عُمَرَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ وَهُوَ عَلَى الْمِنْبَرِ يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ تَوَاضَعُوا فَإِنِّي سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ مَنْ تَوَاضَعَ لِلَّهِ رَفَعَهُ اللَّهُ فَهُوَ فِي نَفْسِهِ صَغِيرٌ وَفِي أَعْيُنِ النَّاسِ عَظِيمٌ وَمَنْ تَكَبَّرَ وَضَعَهُ اللَّهُ فَهُوَ فِي أَعْيُنِ النَّاسِ صَغِيرٌ وَفِي نَفْسِهِ كَبِيرٌ حَتَّى لَوْ هَوَّنَ عَلَيْهِمْ مِنْ كُلِّ أَوْخَزِيرٍ (رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(360/120) It is related that Sayyidina Umar ibn Khattab ؓ one day, in the course of a sermon from the pulpit, said: "O people! Observe meekness for I have heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: 'Whoever observes meekness, (for the sake of Allah, i.e., with the aim of earning His good pleasure), Allah will exalt him, and though he is lowly in His own judgement, others will hold him in esteem, and whoever is proud and vainglorious, Allah will reduce him to a lower condition and he will become worthless in the eyes of others, and though he may be having a high notion of himself, others will consider him worse than dogs and pigs'.

(Baihaqi)

(٣٦١/١٢١) عَنْ حَارِثَةَ بْنِ وَهْبٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
الْأَخْيَرُ كُمْ بِأَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ كُلُّ ضَعِيفٍ مُتَضَعِّفٍ لَوْ أَقْسَمَ عَلَى اللَّهِ لَا بَرَّةَ إِلَّا أُخْبِرُ
كُم بِأَهْلِ النَّارِ كُلُّ عُتْلٍ جَوَاطِ مُسْتَكْبِرٍ
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(361/121) Haritha ibn Wahb رضي الله عنه has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Shall I not tell you about the inhabitants of Paradise? They are every weak one who if considered weak who if he were to swear an oath by Allah, He would keep it. Shall I not tell you about the inhabitants of Hell? They are very surely, uncivil and proud one. "¹

(Bukahri and Muslim)

Commentary: This hadith describes the people of Paradise as weak. It is not the weakness of health for one hadith says:

المؤمن القوى خير وأحب إلى الله تعالى من المؤمن الضعيف

(Strong believers are better and more dear in the sight of Allah than the weaker ones).

Rather, here, weak means a noble, humble and mild person who deals humbly with others whom others regard as weak. In comparison, the proud and arrogant will go to Hell.

Another characteristic of these weak people of Paradise is that if they swear on Allah, Allah fulfils their promise. The Prophet ﷺ wishes to emphasise that if anyone draws himself near to Allah by negating his own self then Allah would help him keep his promise. Or, if he swears an oath that Allah must help him and approve his supplication then He will do so.

(٣٦٢/١٢٢) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَا
يَدْخُلُ الْجَنَّةَ مَنْ كَانَ فِي قَلْبِهِ مِثْقَالُ ذَرَّةٍ مِنْ كِبَرٍ
(رواه مسلم والبخارى)

(362/122) It is related by Abdullah ibn Masud رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever will have pride in his heart, even of the weight of an atom, shall not enter Heaven."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Greatness is for Allah in whose hands is the life and honour of everyone. He is Eternal and Everlasting, while everything else, living or non-living, is bound to perish one day. As the Qur'an says:

وَلَهُ الْكِبْرِيَاءُ فِي السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَهُوَ الْعَزِيزُ الْحَكِيمُ (جاثية ٤٥: ٣٧)

And unto Him (alone) belongeth majesty in the heavens and the earth, and He is the Mighty, the Wise. (Al-Jathiyah 45:37)

Thus, a proud and swollen-headed person who thinks too highly of himself and looks down upon others, so to speak, forgets his true state and begins to compete with the Almighty which is the height of insolence. It is about such a man that it is said that, owing to his arrogance, he will not be admitted to Paradise.

As we have seen on various occasions in the past, when it is told, in the Traditions, about a misdeed that whoever is guilty of it will not enter Heaven, it, generally denotes that it has the effect of making a man unworthy of entry into Paradise or that such a person will not be admitted to Heaven along with the faithful Believers, or straightaway like them, but will have to do a spell in Hell.

In the light of it, the above Tradition would mean that a vain and conceited person would not go to Heaven immediately, but pay the penalty of his pride in Hell, and it would be only after the element of vanity had been destroyed in him and he had been cleansed from it in the everlasting Fire, and was, also, a Believer, that he would enter Paradise.

(٣٦٣/١٢٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثَلَاثَةٌ لَا يُكَلِّمُهُمُ اللَّهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ وَلَا يُزَكِّيهِمْ — وَفِي رَوَايَةٍ وَلَا يُنْظَرُ إِلَيْهِمْ — وَلَهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ، شَيْخٌ زَانٌ وَمَلِكٌ كَذَّابٌ وَعَائِلٌ مُسْتَكْبِرٌ (رواه مسلم)

(363/123) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There are three men to whom Allah will not speak on the Day of Resurrection, nor will He purify them. (In another version of the same Tradition, it is stated that He will not even look at them). One, the aged adulterer (or fornicator); two, the lying ruler, and three, the proud pauper." (Muslim)

Commentary: Some sins are grave in themselves but their seriousness becomes even greater when they are committed by certain persons and in certain circumstances. As for instance, to steal is a great sin in itself, but if a wealthy person who has no need to do it or a policeman or watchman commits theft, it is unforgivable. In the above Tradition, it is told about three such offenders that, on the Day of Last Judgement, the Almighty will neither speak to them nor sanctify them and they will remain deprived of His benevolence, the aged adulterer, the lying ruler, and the proud pauper. The reason is not far to seek. If a person has an illicit sexual intercourse in his younger years, he can be excused for to yield to sexual passions during that period of life is a natural weakness. But if an old man does it, he is a shameless lecher. Likewise, if an ordinary person tells a lies, it is understandable, but if a man who is in power does so, it will mean that there is no fear of Allah in his heart and his viciousness is beyond measure. Again, human nature being what it is, if a rich man gives himself airs, one can understand it, but when a beggar begins to behave like that, it is pure meanness.

In sum, all the three kinds of men will have no share in Divine Mercy on the Day of Resurrection. That Allah will not 'purify' them, apparently, denotes that their misdeeds will not be forgiven and they will not be included among the faithful Believers merely on the ground of faith or some virtuous deeds. They will have to undergo chastisement in life to come.

Modesty

Modesty has a vital role to play in character-building. It restrains a man from behaving in an undesirable manner and acts as a shield against lewdness and immorality. It holds the key to piety and good-doing.

(۳۶۴/۱۲۴) عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ طَلْحَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ

لِكُلِّ دِينٍ خُلْفًا وَخُلُقُ الْإِسْلَامِ الْحَيَاءُ

(رواه مالك مرسلًا ورواه ابن ماجة والبيهقى فى شعب الايمان عن انس وابن عباس)
(364/124) It is related by Zayd ibn Talhah that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Every religion has a distinctive quality, and the distinctive quality of Islam is modesty."

(Mowatta, Ibn Majah and Baihaqi)

Commentary: It shows that in every faith or canonic law, some particular aspect of moral behaviour receives paramount attention and an extraordinary emphasis is laid on it. Thus, compassion and forbearance form the cardinal point of the teachings of Jesus. In Islam, in the same way, modesty is of fundameltal significance.

It needs, however, be emphasised that the word "modesty" is used in a very wide sense in the special terminology of the Qur'an and the Traditions. In the common usage, what it signifies, simply, is that a man avoided lewdness and kept away from lustful and indecent acts. But, in Islam, it appears that it stands for a state of feeling which is intolerant of everything that is not desirable and produces a reaction of disgust and agony within anyone who, knowingly or unknowingly, falls into an error or behaves in a manner having a semblance of sinfulness.

We learn, further, from the Qur'an and the Traditions that modesty is not in relation merely to our own species, but the greatest claim, on it, is of the Supreme Being who created man and is sustaining him, from moment to moment, and from whom nothing is hidden. Or, let us take it this way. A modest man is, generally, inclined to feel shy in the presence of his parents and other elders and benefactors, and Allah being the King of Kings and the Benefactor of Benefactors, the bondsman should, naturally, be modest and humble, in the highest degree, in respect of Him, the primary requirement of which will be that he felt pain and repugnance at everything that was displeasing to Allah and, therefore, abstained from it.

(٣٥٦/١٢٥) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَرَّ عَلَى رَجُلٍ
مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ وَهُوَ يَعْظُ أَخَاهُ فِي الْحَيَاءِ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
دَعُهُ فَإِنَّ الْحَيَاءَ مِنَ الْإِيمَانِ (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(365/125) It is related by Abdullah ibn Umar ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ passed by an Ansar who, [at that time], was advising his brother about modesty and admonishing him in that regard. The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, said to him: "Leave him to his state for modesty is a part of faith." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It tells that, among the Ansar, there was a man whom Allah had, particularly, blessed with the virtue of modesty owing to which he was very mild and lenient in his dealing with others. He avoided severity in the realisation of dues and did not like to be outspoken even when it seemed necessary. A brother of his who did not approve of it was, one day, reproaching him and telling him that it was not good to be so timid and diffident that the Sacred Prophet ﷺ happened to pass that way, and, on hearing the conversation, told the Ansar to leave his brother alone. His was a highly blessed condition. Modesty was a branch or fruit of Faith, and even if it was not profitable from the point of view of worldly interests, it would, surely, lead to elevation in ranks in the Hereafter.

(٣٦٦/١٢٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْحَيَاءُ مِنَ الْإِيمَانِ وَالْإِيمَانُ فِي الْجَنَّةِ وَالْبَدَأُ مِنَ الْجَفَاءِ وَالْجَفَاءُ فِي النَّارِ

(رواه احمد والترمذی)

(366/126) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Modesty is apart of faith, and faith is in Paradise. But obsenity is a part of hardness of heart and hardness of heart is in Hell."¹ (Ahmad and Tirmizi)

Commentary: This hadith and the preceeding one tell us that modesty is a branch of faith, or its fruit. In a hadith in Bukhari and Muslim which we have reproduced in Kitab al-Iman, we are told:

والحياء شعبة من الإيمان

(Modesty is a branch of Faith)

Anyway, there is a close relationship between modesty and faith. These are different ways to describe it and the next hadith does that too.

(٣٦٧/١٢٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِنَّ الْحَيَاءَ

وَالْإِيمَانَ قَرْنَاءُ جَمِيعًا فَإِذَا رُفِعَ أَحَدُهُمَا رُفِعَ الْآخَرُ (رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(367/127) It is related by Abdullah ibn Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Modesty and Faith exist together, and when one of them is removed, the other, too, is removed."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: It shows that Faith and modesty are so closely related to each other that either both will be present in an individual or community or none of them.

(٣٦٨/١٢٨) عَنْ عِمْرَانَ بْنِ حُصَيْنٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

الْحَيَاءُ لَا يَأْتِي إِلَّا بِخَيْرٍ (رواه البخاري و مسلم)

(368/128) It is related by Imran ibn Husain that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Modesty brings nothing but good."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: On superficial view, modesty may appear to act to one's disadvantage, but the above Traditions insist that it, invariably, does good and leads to beneficial results, and even when from a narrow, materialistic angle, it seems to be a drawback, there is nothing but gain in it from the larger Islamic view point.

Some people argue that modesty prevents some people from discharging their Islamic duties. This is not correct. Those people are prevented by their own timid nature to do so and ignorant people call it modesty.

(٣٦٩/١٢٩) عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ

مِمَّا أَدْرَكَ النَّاسُ مِنْ كَلَامِ النَّبِيِّ الْأُولَى إِذَا لَمْ تَسْتَحْيَ فَاصْنَعْ مَا شِئْتَ

(رواه البخاري)

(369/229) It is related by Abdullah ibn Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A familiar saying that has reached us from the former prophets is that when there is no modesty in you, do as you like."

(Bukhari)

Commentary: Though the complete teachings of the earlier Prophets could not remain intact, some of the sayings and precepts have withstood the ravages of time and become proverbial, one of which is what has been referred to by the holy Prophet ﷺ in the above Traditon: "When there is no modesty in you, do as you like". Which is translated in Persian: "Be shameless, and do what you like."

(٣٧٠/١٣٠) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اسْتَخِيُوا مِنْ اللَّهِ حَقَّ الْحَيَاءِ قُلْنَا إِنَّا نَسْتَخِي مِنْ اللَّهِ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ قَالَ لَيْسَ ذَلِكَ وَلَكِنَّ الْإِسْتِخْيَاءَ مِنَ اللَّهِ حَقَّ الْحَيَاءِ أَنْ تَحْفَظَ الرَّأْسَ وَمَاوَعِيَ وَالْبُطْنَ وَمَا حَوَى وَتَذْكُرَ الْمَوْتَ وَالْبَلَى وَمَنْ أَرَادَ الْآخِرَةَ تَرَكَ زِينَةَ الدُّنْيَا وَآثَرَ الْآخِرَةَ عَلَى الْأُولَى فَمَنْ فَعَلَ ذَلِكَ فَقَدْ اسْتَخِي مِنْ اللَّهِ حَقَّ الْحَيَاءِ. (رواه الترمذی)

(370/130) It is reported by Abdullah ibn Mas'ud ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Show modesty to Allah as it should be shown." Someone asked, "Al-Hamdulillah! We observe modesty with Him." He said, "Its not that (limited), but to show modesty to Allah demands that you be careful of your head and what it thinks, of your belly and what you fill it with, and that you remember death and what will happen in the grave. He who makes the Hereafter his objective will be free of the world and its luxuries and he will prefer for him success in the life to come to the luxury of this short life. He who does all that, shows modesty before Allah." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: This hadith expands on the meaning of modesty as given in the previous hadith. It also tells us that only he shows modesty who gives up the luxury of this world for success in the Hereafter. But he who does not do so is not modest no matter how he pretends to be.

Contentment

Among the moral virtues which make a man beloved of the Lord, and raise him, also, in the estimation of the world, and save him from a lot of frustration is contentment. What it denotes, in a nutshell, is that one should rest satisfied with what one has and be not greedy of more. He, indeed, is fortunate who is blessed with a contented heart. There is a special favour of Allah on him.

(٣٧١/١٣١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

قَدْ أَفْلَحَ مَنْ أَسْلَمَ وَرَزَقَ كَفَافًا وَقَنِعَ اللَّهُ بِمَا آتَاهُ

(رواه مسلم)

(371/131) It is related by Abdullah ibn Amr ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: 'Successful is he who is blessed by Allah with the reality of Islam, and is granted enough provision to sustain life, and Allah, also, made him satisfied with it.'

(Muslim)

Commentary: Happy is the man who is blessed with the wealth of Faith, and, with it, he, also, has enough worldly goods to meet his needs, and the Almighty has, further, favoured him with a contented heart. Contentment can make even the life of a beggar happier than that of a king.

A person may have heaps of wealth, but if his acquisitive desire is beyond reason and it is ceaselessly urging him on to acquire more, he can never enjoy peace of mind, and will, in fact, be no better than a beggar. On the contrary, if his worldly possessions are sufficient to keep him going, and he is satisfied with what he has, he is rich at heart in spite of poverty, and his life will be a life of comfort and cheerfulness.

(٣٧٢/١٣٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَيْسَ الْغِنَى

عَنْ كَثْرَةِ الْعُرُوضِ وَلَكِنَّ الْغِنَى غِنَى النَّفْسِ

(رواه البخارى)

(372/132) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Prosperity does not come from worldly possessions, but real prosperity is the contentment of the heart."

(Bukhari)

(٣٧٣/١٣٣) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قَالَ لِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَا أَبَا

ذَرٍّ تَقُولُ كَثْرَةُ الْمَالِ الْغِنَى قُلْتُ نَعَمْ، قَالَ تَقُولُ قَلْبُ الْمَالِ الْفَقْرُ؟ قُلْتُ نَعَمْ،

قَالَ ذَالِكَ ثَلَاثًا، ثُمَّ قَالَ الْغِنَى فِي الْقَلْبِ وَالْفَقْرُ فِي الْقَلْبِ

(رواه الطبراني في الكبير)

(373/133) Abu Zarr Ghiffari ؓ has said, "One day, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to me: "O Abu Zarr! Do you think prosperity is the name of abundance of worldly goods?" 'Yes,' I replied." (So it is supposed). The Prophet ﷺ then, asked: 'Do you think poverty is the name of scarcity of worldly goods?' 'Yes,' I replied. '(So it is supposed)'. The Prophet ﷺ said it thrice, and, then, observed: 'Real prosperity is in the heart, and so, also, is real poverty'." (Tabarani)

Commentary: In truth, prosperity and poverty are related more to the heart than to wealth. If the heart of a man is contented, he is rich, and if it is full of avarice, he will never know what well-being is and will always remain a grumbler though he may be possessing any amount of wealth.

(٣٧٤/١٣٤) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ أَنَّ نَاسًا مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ سَأَلُوا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَأَعْطَاهُمْ ثُمَّ سَأَلُوهُ فَأَعْطَاهُمْ حَتَّى إِذَا نَفَذَ مَا عِنْدَهُ قَالَ مَا يَكُونُ عِنْدِي مِنْ خَيْرٍ فَلَنْ أَدْخِرَهُ عَنْكُمْ وَمَنْ يَسْتَعِثَّ يَعْثَفُ اللَّهُ وَمَنْ يَسْتَغْنِ يُغْنِهِ اللَّهُ وَمَنْ يَتَصَبَّرْ يُصْبِرْهُ اللَّهُ وَمَا أُعْطِيَ أَحَدٌ مِنْ عَطَاءٍ أَوْسَعَ مِنَ الصَّبْرِ (رواه ابو داود)

(374/134) Sayyidina Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه said that some men of Ansar once asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ for something. He gave it to them. (But, their demand continued) and they asked again, and he again gave them what they had asked for, until whatever he had, he gave all of it. He was exhausted everything with him and had nothing left). Then he said to them. "Listen whatever I will have, and whatever I will receive from anywhere, I will not keep it away from you or hoard with myself. (But I will go on giving it to you and remember that sufficiency is not had by begging for it, the law of Allah that he who wishes to preserve himself from begging, Allah helps him and saves him from the ignominy of begging. He who preserves himself from speaking of his needs to the people, Allah makes him independent of them. And, he who wishes to be patient during difficult and trying time, then Allah makes him patient. And, no slave has received a blessing higher than patience."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: This hadith teaches us that a slave must try his best to refrain from begging, and be independent of other people and face difficulties boldly. If he does so, Allah will help him and he will get these characteristics.

Patience is a great blessing of Allah, and the Qur'an exhorts us to it:

اِسْتَعِينُوا بِالصَّبْرِ وَالصَّلَاةِ (البقرة ٢: ١٥٣)

Seek help in steadfastness and prayer (Al-Baqarah 2:153)

Patience or steadfastness is given priority over prayer.

(٣٧٥/١٣٥) عَنْ حَكِيمِ بْنِ حِزَامٍ قَالَ سَأَلْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَأَعْطَانِي ثُمَّ سَأَلْتُهُ فَأَعْطَانِي ثُمَّ قَالَ لِي يَا حَكِيمُ إِنَّ هَذَا الْمَالَ خِصْرٌ خَلَوْ فَمَنْ أَخَذَهُ بِسَخَاوَةٍ نَفْسٍ بُورِكَ لَهُ فِيهِ وَمَنْ أَخَذَهُ بِإِشْرَافٍ نَفْسٍ لَمْ يُبَارَكْ لَهُ فِيهِ وَكَانَ كَالَّذِي يَأْكُلُ وَلَا يَشْبَعُ وَالْيَدُ الْعُلْيَا خَيْرٌ مِنَ الْيَدِ السُّفْلَى قَالَ حَكِيمٌ فَقُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَالَّذِي بَعَثَكَ بِالْحَقِّ لَا أَرِزُ أَحَدًا بَعْدَكَ شَيْئًا حَتَّى أَفَارِقَ الدُّنْيَا

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(375/135) Hakeem ibn Hizam ؓ narrates "Once, I asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ for some money which He gave me. (After sometime), I, again, asked him for it, and he, again, gave it(to me). The Prophet ﷺ, then, observed (by way of an advice): 'Wealth is pleasant to everyone and it is sweet. So, whoever will obtain it with high-mindedness and without greed, for him there will be abundance and auspiciousness in it, and whoever will obtain it with greediness of the heart, for him there will be no abundance and auspiciousness, and his condition will be like that of a glutton who eats to excess and yet remains hungry. And the upper hand is better than the lower hand. (The place of the giver is higher while to stretch one's hand before others is degrading, and a person should avoid it as far as possible.)' "Hakeem ibn Hizam adds that "(on hearing it), I said to the holy Prophet ﷺ: 'By the Holy Being who raised you up as the Prophet with truth! I will not accept anything from anyone, after you, till the end of my days'." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In the version of this Tradition, in Sahih Bukhari it is told that Sayyidina Hakeem ibn Hizam ؓ remained true to his word to the extent that after the holy Prophet's ﷺ death, Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ and Sayyidina Umar ؓ sent for him repeatedly, during their tenures of office as the Caliph, (when grants and stipends were being given to everyone), and offered him something, but he declined.

It is, further, mentioned by Hafiz ibn Hajr in Fath-ul-Bari, on the authroity of Musnad Ishaq- ibn Rahwiyah that Hakeem bin Hizam did not accept a grant or allowance, also, during the Caliphate of Sayyidina Uthman ؓ and hadhrat Mua'wiyah ؓ till he passed a way at the age of 123 in 54 A.H.

(۳۷۶/۱۳۶) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ خَطَبَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ أَيَاكُمْ وَالشُّحُّ فَإِنَّمَا هَلَكَ مَنْ كَانَ قَبْلَكُمْ بِالشُّحِّ أَمَرَهُمْ بِالْبُخْلِ فَبَخِلُوا وَأَمَرَهُمْ بِالْقَطِيعَةِ فَقَطَعُوا وَأَمَرَهُمْ بِالْفُجُورِ فَفَجَرُوا. (رواه ابو داود)

(376/136) It is related by Abdullah ibn 'Amr ؓ "One day, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ delivered a sermon in which he said: 'Protect yourselves from greed because it has been the undoing of the earlier communities. It bade them to be miserly, and they became miserly ; it bade them to sever ties of kinship, i.e., infringe on the rights of relatives, and they severed the ties of kinship ; it bade them to evil-doing, and they took to evil-doing."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that avarice is not only a bad habit, but it, also gives rise to many other evils in society which eat into its vitals, and ultimately, destroy it. The Muslims should, therefore, guard themselves religiously against greediness.

(۳۷۷/۱۳۷) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ شَرُّمَا فِي رَجُلٍ شُحٌّ هَالِعٌ وَجَبْنِ خَالِعٌ (رواه ابو داود)

(377/137) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ as say: "The worst thing in a man is vexing greed and confounding cowardice."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: A greedy person is constantly tormented by the thought that he hasn't got this thing and that thing while such-and-such a man is doing so well and enjoying so much superiority or success. Likewise, a coward is always assailed by fears, real or imaginary, and there is no peace for him. The holy Prophet ﷺ has described the two states as exceedingly distressing.

Patient, Perseverance and Gratitude

In this world of ours there is joy as well as sorrow, comfort as well as pain, kindness as well as cruelty, and all this is from Allah, and by His will and command. A faithful bondsman should, therefore, neither feel grieved nor lose heart when misfortune befalls him, but accept it with good cheer and fortitude, believing that it is, after all, the working of Allah's will who is All-Wise and All-merciful, and it is He, alone, who could remove his distress.

In the same way, when the circumstances are favourable and a person is getting what he wants and leading a comfortable life, he should not attribute it to his own effort or skill, but to the benevolence of Allah and remember that the Almighty could withhold His favour whenever He liked. The bondsmen should, as such, feel thankful to Allah and express their gratitude to Him at every good turn of fortune.

These are among the special teachings of Islam and the sacred Prophet ﷺ has attached much importance to them. An advantage of it is that the bondsman remains devoted to Allah, in all circumstances, and another that he never gives way to despair.

(٣٧٨/١٣٨) عَنْ صُهَيْبٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَجَبًا لِأَمْرِ الْمُؤْمِنِ إِنَّ أَمْرَهُ كُلَّهُ لَهُ خَيْرٌ وَلَيْسَ ذَلِكَ لِأَحَدٍ إِلَّا لِلْمُؤْمِنِ إِنْ أَصَابَتْهُ سُرَاءٌ شَكَرَ فَكَانَ خَيْرًا لَهُ وَإِنْ أَصَابَتْهُ ضَرَاءٌ صَبَرَ فَكَانَ خَيْرًا لَهُ (رواه مسلم)

(378/138) It is related by Suayb that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Strange is the case with faithful bondsman. There is nothing but good for him in every circumstance. If joy or comfort reaches him, he feels grateful to Allah and there is nothing but good for him in it, and if he is visited by sorrow or an affliction, he endures it with patience, and perservance, and there is nothing but a source of goodness and welfare to him."

(Muslim)

Commentary: There is pain and pleasure for every one in this world, but to make it a means of gaining the propinquity of the Lord is given only to those who have forged such a living bond of faith with Allah that they give thanks to Him on all occasions of joy and success, and show forbearance and fortitude, as becomes a devoted slave, in adversity.

Besides, as the life is never free from pain and pleasure, or joy and sorrow, the hearts of such bondsmen, also, are always laden with the noble sentiments of patience and gratitude.

(٣٧٩/١٣٩) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ يَقُولُ اللَّهُ
تَبَارَكَ وَتَعَالَى يَا ابْنَ آدَمَ إِنْ صَبَرْتَ وَاحْتَسَبْتَ عِنْدَ الصَّلَامَةِ الْأُولَى لَمْ
أَرْضَ لَكَ ثَوَابًا دُونَ الْجَنَّةِ
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(379/139) It is reported by Abu Umamah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "O son of Aadam, if you show patience in the first signs of sorrow, I will not be pleased with any reward for you besides Paradise." (Ibn-e-Majah)

Commentary: When a man is grieved, the initial effects are very intense. After some days, the effect wears out. Hence, that patience only is reliable which is shown in the beginning with Allah in mind and hope for His pleasure and reward. Excellence is only for that patience and the promise for reward also applies to that. It is natural to resign to the damage later on and that is not valued in the eyes of Allah.

This hadith assures us that Allah will not be pleased to grant anything lesser than Paradise to anyone who patiently endures the loss he has suffered. He addresses his slaves directly in announcing for him this reward. In other words, there will emerge a close relationship between Allah and His slave when the latter shows patience in the beginning of his grief.

When anyone is grieved and he becomes patient, remembering this hadith then he will experience a particular delight on showing patience. In the Hereafter, Paradise is promised to him, definitely.

(٣٨٠/١٤٠) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ رَفَعَهُ مَنْ أَصِيبَ بِمُصِيبَةٍ فِي مَالِهِ أَوْ فِي نَفْسِهِ
فَكَتَمَهَا وَلَمْ يَشْكُهَا إِلَى النَّاسِ كَانَ حَقًّا عَلَى اللَّهِ أَنْ يَغْفِرَ لَهُ
(رواه الطبرانی فی الاوسط)

(380/140) It is related by Abdullah ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever is faced with an economic or physical distress and does not reveal it to anyone or gives utterance to his grief or discontent before the people, it is due from Allah that He will forgive him (his sin)." (Tabarani)

Commentary: A superior grade of patience is that one endures hardships and other strokes of ill-luck with resolute endurance and does not disclose his sorrow or suffering to others. To such bondsmen, a firm promise of forgiveness and deliverance in the Hereafter has been given in this Tradition.

(٣٨١/١٤١) عَنْ أُسَامَةَ بْنِ زَيْدٍ قَالَ أَرْسَلْتُ ابْنَةَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِلَيْهِ أَنْ إِنِّي لِيَأْتِي قَيْصٌ فَأَتَانَا فَأَرْسَلَ يَقْرَأُ السَّلَامَ وَ يَقُولُ إِنَّ لِلَّهِ مَا أَخَذَ وَلَهُ مَا أَعْطَى وَ كُلٌّ عِنْدَهُ بِأَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى فَلْتَصْبِرْ وَلْتَحْتَسِبْ فَأَرْسَلْتُ إِلَيْهِ تُقْسِمُ عَلَيْهِ لِيَأْتِيَنَهَا فَقَامَ مَعَهُ سَعْدُ بْنُ عُبَادَةَ وَمَعَادُ بْنُ جَبَلٍ وَأَبَى بْنُ كَعْبٍ وَزَيْدُ بْنُ ثَابِتٍ وَرَجُلٌ فَرَفَعَ إِلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الصَّبِيَّ وَنَفْسُهُ يَتَقَعَّقُ فَفَاضَتْ عَيْنَاهُ فَقَالَ سَعْدٌ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ مَا هَذَا فَقَالَ هَذِهِ رَحْمَةٌ جَعَلَهَا اللَّهُ فِي قُلُوبِ عِبَادِهِ فَإِنَّمَا يَرْحَمُ اللَّهُ مَنِ عِبَادِهِ الرَّحَمَاءَ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(381/141) Narrates Usama ibn Zayd that Zaynab, the daughter of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ (once), sent a message to the Prophet ﷺ asking him to come (to her house) as the condition of her child was critical. In reply, the Prophet ﷺ sent to her his Salaam¹ and the Message. "Oh daughter! Whatever Allah takes from anyone, He takes what is His, and whatever He gives to anyone He gives what is His. In short, everything belongs to Allah. And for everything, there is a time and a limit pre-determined by Allah. (When the time comes, it is taken away from the world). So, be patient, and pray to Allah for recompense." Zaynab, once again, sent him the message, imploring him, in the Name of Allah, to come. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ, hereupon, got up and left for Zaynab's house, and Sa'd ibn Ubada, Mu'az ibn Jabal, Ubayy ibn Ka'b, Thabit ibn Zayd and some other Companions, too, went with him. (When the Prophet reached there), the child was lifted and placed in his lap. It was gasping for breath. The Prophet ﷺ was moved to tear on seeing its condition, upon which Sa'd ibn Ubadah asked: "Messenger of Allah ﷺ! "What is it?" "It is the effect of compassion, Allah has bestowed upon the hearts of His

1. Salutation; greeting; compliments.

bondsmen, and the Mercy of Allah will be on the bondsmen in whose hearts there is pity. (They will not be deserving of His kindness whose hearts are devoid of compassion)," replied the Prophet ﷺ. (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: From the last part of the hadith, we learn that to react to a sorrowful happening and shed tears is not contrary to patience. What patience signifies, briefly, is that believing a hardship or calamity to be the Will of Allah, we should accept it as becomes a bondsman and despair not of His Mercy, but be mindful of the Divine injunctions and observe them.

As for the feeling of grief or pain and the shedding of tears at a distressing event, it is the natural outcome of the sentiments of kindness with which Allah has blessed the human heart.

Sa'd ibn Ubadah had made his enquiry, on seeing tears in the eyes of Prophet ﷺ, because he did not know, till then, that the shedding of tears and such other expression of grief were not opposed to the spirit of fortitude.

(٣٨٢/١٤٢) عَنْ مَعَاذٍ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ أَنَّهُ مَاتَ لَهُ ابْنٌ فَكَتَبَ إِلَيْهِ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ التَّغْزِيَةَ "بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ" مِنْ مُحَمَّدٍ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ إِلَى مَعَاذِ بْنِ جَبَلٍ سَلَامٌ عَلَيْكَ فَإِنِّي أَحْمَدُ إِلَيْكَ اللَّهُ الَّذِي لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا هُوَ أَمَا بَعْدُ فَأَعْظِمَ اللَّهُ لَكَ الْأَجْرَ وَاللَّهُمَّكَ الصَّبْرَ وَرَزَقْنَا وَإِيَّاكَ الشُّكْرَ فَإِنَّ أَنْفُسَنَا وَأَمْوَالَنَا وَأَهْلَنَا مِنْ مَوَاهِبِ اللَّهِ الْهَيْئَةِ وَعَوَارِيهِ الْمُسْتَوْدَعَةِ مَتَّعَكَ اللَّهُ بِهِ فِي غِبْطَةٍ وَسُرُورٍ وَقَبْضَةٍ مِنْكَ بِأَجْرٍ كَبِيرٍ، الصَّلَاةُ وَالرَّحْمَةُ وَالْهُدَى إِنْ احْتَسَبْتَهُ فَاصْبِرْ وَلَا يُحِبُّ جَزَعُكَ أَجْرَكَ فَتَتَدَمَّ وَاعْلَمْ أَنَّ الْجَزَعَ لَا يَرُدُّ مَيْتًا وَلَا يَدْفَعُ حَزَنًا وَمَا هُوَ نَارِلٌ فَكَانَ قَدْ وَالسَّلَامُ (رواه الطبرانی في الكبير والارسط)

(382/141) It is related by Mu'az ibn Jabal رضي الله عنه that when his son died, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ had this letter of condolence sent to him:

"In the Name of Allah, Most Kind, Most Merciful.

"From Muhammad, the Messenger of Allah, to Mu'az ibn Jabal.

"Salaam Alaik!

"First of all, I relate to you the Praise of Allah save whom there is no Diety. (After it), I pray that Allah may recompense you most bounteously on your loss, and endue you heart with patience, and grant you and me the good fortune to be thankful (to Him) for His favours. Our lives and our possessions and our children are the gifts of Allah and the trusts He has placed in our charge (Your son, also, was a trust of Allah, given in your keeping). As long as He wished, He gave you the opportunity to profit from him with joy and make yourself happy, and when He willed, He took the charge back from you. He is going to recompense you with a vast reward. (There are glad tidings of) the special favour of Allah, and benevolence and guidance from Him if you show patience, in confident expectation of the reward, and with the ideas of wholehearted surrender to His will. So, O Mu'az, be patient, and let not bewailing and loud lamentation ruin the recompense, and, then, you feel sorrow and shame (at suffering the loss, and, yet remaining deprived of the reward). And, believe it no dead person returns (to the earth) by mourning and lamentation, nor does it lessen the grief. And the will of Allah shall be done. In truth, it has been done already.

Was-Salaam!"

(Tabarani)

Commentary: In the Qur'an, glad tidings of three things are given to those who patiently persevere:

أُولَئِكَ عَلَيْهِمْ صَلَوَاتٌ مِّن رَّبِّهِمْ وَرَحْمَةٌ وَأُولَئِكَ هُمُ الْمُهْتَدُونَ

(البقرة ٢: ١٥٧)

Such are they on whom are blessings from their Lord and mercy. Such are the rightly guided. (Al-Baqarah 2:157)

Alluding to it, the holy Prophet ﷺ advised Sayyidina Mu'az, in his letter, that if he remained patient in his bereavement, with the intention of propitiating Allah and earning the Divine recompense, there was the promise, for him, of the blessings of Allah, and His mercy and guidance.

The letter contains a full provision of condolence, sympathy and good counsel for all bondsmen in moments of loss or grief.

(٣٨٣/١٤٣) عَنْ أُمِّ الدَّرْدَاءِ قَالَتْ سَمِعْتُ أَبَا الْقَاسِمِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ إِنَّ اللَّهَ تَبَارَكَ وَتَعَالَى قَالَ يَا عِيسَى ابْنِي بَاعِثْ مِنْ بَعْدِكَ أُمَّةً إِذَا أَصَابَهُمْ مَا يُحِبُّونَ حَمِدُوا اللَّهَ وَإِنْ أَصَابَهُمْ مَا

يَكْرَهُونَ إِخْتَسَبُوا وَصَبَرُوا وَلَا جَلْمَ وَلَا عَقْلَ فَقَالَ يَا رَبِّ كَيْفَ يَكُونُ هَذَا لَهُمْ
وَلَا جَلْمَ وَلَا عَقْلَ قَالَ أَعْطَيْتُهُمْ مِنْ جَلْمِي وَعِلْمِي (رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)
(383/143) Umm al-Darda رضى الله عنها has said that she heard Abu ad-Darda say that he heard Abul Qasim say that Allah Who is blessed and exalted said, "O Isa, I am sending after your time, a people who will praise Allah when what they like happens to them and seek their reward from Allah and show endurance when what they dislike afflicts them, though they do not possess forbearance and intelligence." He asked, "My Lord, how can this be when they do not possess forbearance or intelligence?"
Allah said, "I shall give them some of My forbearance and Knowledge."¹ (Baihaqi)

Commentary: It is a common weakness with human beings that they lose hope in difficult times and become overjoyed when they are blessed and prosperous. The Qur'an says about it:

إِنَّ الْإِنْسَانَ خَلِيقٌ هَلُوعًا إِذَا مَسَّهُ الشَّرُّ جَزُوعًا، وَإِذَا مَسَّهُ الْخَيْرُ مَنُوعًا.

Lo! Man was created anxious, fretful when evil befalls him, and, when good befalls him, grudging. (Al-Ma'arij 70:19-21)

Thus, if people are given to be patient in times of difficulty and grateful when blessed then Allah will be much pleased with them. That will be their distinction. The Companions رضي الله عنهم and the righteous believing men of the generation after them were blessed with these characteristics which was not the result of any knowledge or forbearance they possessed but of the favour of Allah bestowed on them.

Allah had informed some of the earleir Prophets عليهم السلام of the outstanding characteristics of this ummah so that they may know that their mission would be perfected with this last ummah.

Reliance on Allah

One of the fundamental truths we have learnt through the Prophets عليهم السلام is that whatever is taking place in the world and everything that is reaching us or not, is from Allah, and by His leave. The causes which, apparently, bring about a result are, simply, the ways and means, decreed by the Lord Himself, of carrying the things to us in the same way as the pipes through which water is brought into our homes are, merely, the means to carry the water, but they do not specify or determine its distribution, nor can they interfere with it in any manner. The causes are not the 'author' of things. Allah, alone, is the doer, and it is His writ that runs in the world.

To put one's trust in Allah, to be steadfast in one's loyalty towards Him, to keep one's eyes set upon His Pwoer and Beneficence, to make Him the centre of one's hopes and fears, and to supplicate to Him for one's needs, with a complete faith in the reality we have just indicated, this is what is called Tawakkul (Reliance on Allah) in religious parlance.

It stands for just that: neither more nor less. The denial, rejection or abandonment of effort or means is not necessary for Tawakkul. This is the Tawakkul that has been practised by the Prophets عليهم السلام, particularly, Prophet Muhammad ﷺ, and his Companions and by men of high virtue and spirituality in all ages. They all believed that the law of cause and effect was under the control of the Divine Will, and, normally, made use of the means as well, in accordance with that belief, and considering that Allah, in His Infinite wisdom, had so willed it, but put their trust wholly in what has been decreed by the Alimghy. The causes, to them, were no more than the water-pipes, as we have explained. Hence, they paid the fullest regard to the good pleasure of Allah and His commandments while making use of worldly means and resources, and believed that the Divine Will and Power was not bound by the causes, and the Lord could do anything without or outside of them, also, if He liked, and sometimes, they even had an experience of it in their lives.

In sum, repudiation or relinquishment of earthly means is neither a part of Tawakkul nor an essential condition of it. However, if anyone is overwhelmed by the inner state of Allah-realisation and forsakes the causes, no blame will attach to him. It will, on the other hand, be a sign of perfection in his case. Similarly, it will be quite proper and justifiable for a man to take to the path of rejection of the causes with the object of freeing himself from their hold and placing reliance wholly upon Allah or setting an example to others. But the actual significance of Tawakkul is just the same as we have indicated, and it is what has been advised and set forth in the Qur'an and Traditions.

In any case, Tawakkul is the logical effect and outcome of perfection in faith and monotheism, and whoever is not blessed with it, his faith and belief in the doctrine of Divine Oneness is incomplete.

The place of submission to Divine Will is even higher than that of Tawakkul. It denotes that a bondsman resigns himself with a willing heart to whatever happens to him and in whichever state he finds himself, believing that everything, agreeable or disagreeable, that reaches him is from Allah, and, therefore, it is for his good.

(٣٨٤/١٤٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَدْخُلُ الْجَنَّةَ مِنْ أُمَّتِي سَبْعُونَ أَلْفًا بِغَيْرِ حِسَابٍ هُمْ الَّذِينَ لَا يَسْتَرْقُونَ وَلَا يَتَطَيَّرُونَ وَعَلَى رَبِّهِمْ يَتَوَكَّلُونَ
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(384/144) It is related by Abdullah ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Seventy thousand of my followers will be admitted to Heaven without Reckoning, i.e., without the Balance-sheet of their deeds being examined on the Day of Judgement. They will be the bondsmen who do not take recourse to sorcery or augury, but place reliance on their Lord and Creator."
(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Two evils were most common among the Arabs at the time of the advent of the Prophet ﷺ. One was that when anyone or his children fell ill, he went to the sorcerer imagining that magical formulas and other forms of exorcism were the easiest and most effective way to drive off the disease or any other distress, and, secondly, when they intended to do a thing that could be both, beneficial and harmful, and end up in success as well as failure, they resorted to augury, and if it did not augur well, they gave up the idea, thinking that it was ill-omened. The holy Prophet ﷺ condemned both the practices on various occasions, and advised the people not to have recourse to witch-craft in illness or to augury or divination for knowing beforehand whether the step they were going to take would be fruitful or not, but to believe that health and sickness, and gain and loss, were wholly in the control of Allah, and, as such, reliance ought to be placed on Him alone, and only such measures adopted to gain an object that were not displeasing to Him. The world is governed by the Will and Command of Allah, and not by causes, and it would be the height of folly, indeed, to adopt ways and methods He did not approve of for the accomplishment of a purpose.

From it, some people have concluded that the bondsmen to be admitted to Paradise without Reckoning will be those who observe Tawakkul by totally renouncing material means and resources and forsaking the causes, but it is not correct. The holy Prophet ﷺ would, certainly, have made it clear had it been in his mind while, in this Tradition, he has mentioned only two things, exorcism and augury, from the whole range of means that are supposed to help one to attain a purpose. It, distinctly, shows that the bondsmen referred to in it will be those who place their trust solely in Allah in their needs, and as a result of it, do not resort to practices that are repugnant to Him.

The above Tradition thus, is enough to show that the denial and rejection of means for the accomplishment of an end or purpose for which the Lord Himself has prescribed them and are, also, not forbidden in the Shari'ah is not what is required by Tawakkul, but only the means that are abhorrent to Him, and, also, not have been permitted in the Shariah.¹

Nevertheless, for Tawakkul it is necessary that means are considered merely to be a route or a path, and a veil or curtain of the wisdom of Allah, and real trust is put in Him, and this is what, basically, distinguishes between the conduct of a man who believes in and practices Tawakkul and a man who does not.

As for the 'seventy thousand' bondsmen, as we have had occasions to remark in the earlier volumes, this figure is, generally, used in Arabic to emphasise the abundance of a thing, and here, too, it, apparently, has been employed in the same sense, i.e., to denote that a large number of Muslims will enter Heaven, without the scrutiny of their deeds, and as a result of abstention from the sinful practices of witchery, fetishism and divination.

①. The same explanation of the above Tradition has been given by Shah Waliullah in Hujjatullah-il-Baligha. Vol: II. p.92.

Hence, in another version of the same narrative it is added that "with each of these seventy thousand bondsmen, another seventy thousand will be admitted to Heaven without Reckoning."

It is, further, worthy of note that this Tradition is not simply by way of a prophecy, foretelling an event that is going to happen on the Day of Resurrection, but its real purpose is to stress upon the Muslims the need to lead a life of Tawakkul so that they are included among the bondsmen who will enter Paradise without a close examination of their deeds.

(٣٨٥/١٤٥) عَنْ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ لَوْ أَنَّكُمْ تَتَوَكَّلُونَ عَلَى اللَّهِ حَقَّ تَوَكُّلِهِ لَرَزَقَكُمْ كَمَا يَرْزُقُ الطَّيْرَ تَغْدُو خِمَاصًا وَتَرُوحُ بِطَانًا
(رواه الترمذی وابن ماجه)

(385/145) It is related by Umar ibn Khattab رضی اللہ عنہ "I heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ Say, "If you put your trust in Allah, as is His due, He will give you sustenance in the same way as He gives to the birds which come out of their nests hungry in the morning, and return in the evening with a full stomach."

(Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: It shows that if people placed reliance on Allah for the necessities of life as they ought to, Allah would treat them in the same manner as He treats the birds which get their sustenance without having to toil hard for it as they have to do now.

(٣٨٦/١٤٦) عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْعَاصِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ لِقَلْبِ ابْنِ آدَمَ بِكُلِّ وَادٍ شُعْبَةً فَمَنْ اتَّبَعَ قَلْبُهُ الشُّعْبَ كُلَّهَا لَمْ يَبَالِ اللَّهُ بِآيِ وَادٍ أَهْلَكَهُ وَمَنْ تَوَكَّلَ عَلَى اللَّهِ كَفَّاهُ الشُّعْبَ
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(386/146) Sayyidina Amr ibn Al-'Aas رضی اللہ عنہ said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The heart of the son of Aadam has a piece in every wadi, and if anyone lets his heart follow all the pieces, Allah will not care in which wadi He destroys him: but to anyone who trusts in Allah He will supply enough for all the pieces."¹¹

(Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Man has an eye on every field and if pursues his desires all round then Allah does not care about it and where he perishes. Man must depend on Allah for all his needs and observe his commands. Allah will then be enough for him and he will fulfil his needs.

(٣٨٧/١٤٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ كُنْتُ خَلْفَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَوْمًا فَقَالَ يَا غُلَامُ احْفَظِ اللَّهَ يَحْفَظْكَ، احْفَظِ اللَّهَ تَجِدْهُ تُجَاهَكَ وَإِذَا سَأَلْتَ فَاسْأَلِ اللَّهَ وَإِذَا اسْتَعَنْتَ فَاسْتَعِنْ بِاللَّهِ وَاعْلَمْ أَنَّ الْأُمَّةَ لَوِ اجْتَمَعَتْ عَلَى أَنْ يَنْفَعُوكَ بِشَيْءٍ لَمْ يَنْفَعُوكَ إِلَّا بِشَيْءٍ قَدْ كَتَبَهُ اللَّهُ لَكَ وَلَوْ اجْتَمَعُوا عَلَى أَنْ يَضُرُّوكَ بِشَيْءٍ لَمْ يَضُرُّوكَ إِلَّا بِشَيْءٍ قَدْ كَتَبَهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْكَ رُفِعَتِ الْأَقْلَامُ وَجَفَّتِ الصُّحُفُ
(رواه احمد والترمذی)

(387/147) Abdullah ibn Abbas رضی اللہ عنہ related "One day as I was riding on the same camel with the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, sitting at his back, he turned to me and said: My boy! You take care of Allah, i.e. observe your duty to Him as one should, and He will take care of you, and protect you from the calamities of this world as well as the next. Remember Allah as he ought to be remembered, and you will find Him right in front of yourself, and if you wish to ask for anything, ask only from Him, and if you need help at any time, ask for help only from Him and remember well that if all mankind joins to do good to you with anything, it will be able to do good only with the thing that has been determined beforehand for you by Allah, and if all mankind joins to do harm to you with anything, it will be able to harm only with the thing that has been determined beforehand for you by Allah, and with no other thing. The pens have been done away with, and the leaves have become dry'."

(Musnad Ahmad and Tirmizi)

Commentary: The gist and substance of this Tradition is that every kind of gain or loss is in the control of Allah, and, aside of Him, there is no one who has anything in his power, so much so that if all the men in the world got together to do a harm or good to anyone, they could do nothing against the will and command of Allah. Only what has been foreordained by Him and written down by the 'pen of desitny' much in advance even the writing has, now, dried up-can and will happen. Such being the case, it is pure foolishness to address one's petitions to anyone save Allah. We should supplicate only to Him and stretch our hand before no one else for our needs, and the way to have our petitions granted and prayers answered is that we remembered His injunctions and fulfilled His rights. He will, also, remember us, and fulfil our needs and be kind and merciful to us both in this world and the next.

: The doctrine of predestination has been discussed by us in earlier pages, and it has been explained why it was necessary to make efforts, the creed of destiny notwithstanding. It would be futile to go here, again, into the doubts that are, generally, expressed in that regard.

(رواه البغوي في شرح السنة والبيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(388/148) It is related by Abdullah ibn Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There is nothing that takes you close to Heaven and away from Hell and I have not told you to observe it, and, in the same way, there is nothing that takes you close to Hell and away from Heaven that I have not told you to avoid it. (I have imparted to you to the knowledge of all good and evil deeds, and taught you, in detail, what is legitimate and what is forbidden, and conveyed to you all the positive and negative commandments of Allah that were revealed to me). And Rooh-ul-Amin, (the Trustworthy Spirit), (and according to another report, Rooh-ul-Quddus the Holy Spirit), (both of which denote the Angel Jibril), has just brought to me the Revelation that no living creature dies until he has eaten up the sustenance decreed for him. (The appointed provision reaches everyone, without fail, before he dies, and death, in any case, cannot come until it, consumed). Thus, O People! Fear Allah and be honest and Allah-fearing in seeking your livelihood, and let not a little delay in sustenance induce you to try to obtain it through unlawful means and by transgression of the Law of Allah for what lies in the power of Allah can be obtained only through submission and obedience to Him." (Baghawi and Baihaqi)

Commentary: The opening part is introductory. The holy Prophet ﷺ, in fact, wanted to convey to his listeners what Jibril had instilled into his heart at that time, but in order to give a special force to what he was going to tell, he, first, said that he had taught them all that there was to be taught concerning what was allowed and what was forbidden by the Shari'ah, and now he wanted to inform them of a thing just revealed to him by Jibril which, in a nutshell, was that the sustenance of everyone had been determined beforehand and it was sure to reach him before he died, and, thus, a faithful bondsman should abstain from doing anything with regard to his livelihood that was displeasing to Allah, and if there was a delay or hardship in it, even then he should not act in violation of a Allah-given law, but believing in the Almgihy as the Great Provider of the daily bread, try to earn it only through fair and legitimate means as the favour of Allah and His blessings could be gained only through submission.

Suppose a man is hungry and he has no money to buy food. At that moment, he sees someone who is fast asleep and the devil tempts him to steal his goods and go and sell them and purchase for himself something to eat. It is for such an occasion that the sacred Prophet ﷺ has taught that the bondsman should take it for granted that the provision that is to reach him shall reach him in any event. So, why should he incur the displeasure of the Lord, defile his soul and ruin his prospects in the world to come by committing theft? His aim and endeavour ought to be to earn his livelihood through honest means instead of despicable act like stealing. The scope for earning an honest living is not limited by any means.

(٣٨٩/١٤٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ دَخَلَ رَجُلٌ عَلَى أَهْلِهِ فَلَمَّا رَأَى مَا بِهِمْ مِنَ
الْحَاجَةِ خَرَجَ إِلَى الْبَرِيَّةِ فَلَمَّا رَأَتْ امْرَأَتُهُ قَامَتْ إِلَى الرَّحَى فَوَضَعَتْهَا وَإِلَى

التُّنُورِ فَسَحَرَتْهُ ثُمَّ قَالَتْ اٰللهُمَّ ارْزُقْنَا فَنَظَرَتْ فَاِذَا الْجَفْنَةُ قَدِ امْتَلَاَتْ قَالَ
وَذَهَبَتْ اِلَى التُّنُورِ فَوَجَدَتْهُ مُمْتَلِئًا قَالَ فَرَجَعَ الزَّوْجُ قَالَ اَصَبْتُمْ بَعْدِي شَيْئًا
قَالَتْ اَمْرَاتُهُ نَعَمْ مِنْ رَبِّنَا وَقَامَ اِلَى الرَّحَى فَذَكَرَ ذٰلِكَ لِلنَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللّٰهُ عَلَيْهِ
وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ اَمَّا اَنْتَ لَوْ لَمْ يَرْفَعْهَا لَمْ تَزَلْ تَدُوْرُ اِلَى يَوْمِ الْقِيَمَةِ (رواه احمد)

(389/149) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه said that when a man went to his family and saw their needy condition, he went out to the desert (to pray to Allah humbly). When his wife saw his embarrassment she got up and when she had made the mill ready and lit a fire under the oven she said: "O Allah, grant us provision." She then looked and saw that the platter had become full, and when she went to the oven she found it had become full. The husband returned, and on his asking if they had got something since his departure, his wife replied, "Yes, from our Lord," and the man went and lifted the mill-stone. The matter was reported to the Prophet ﷺ who said: "If he had no raised it, it would have kept turning till the Day or Resurrection." ¹ (Ahmad)

Commentary: This incident concerns items of sustenance. Generally, Allah grants through some means but sometimes we see His all-embracing power when He gives directly without intermediaries.

When such things are witnessed at the hands of a Prophet that is called a (mu'jizah) miracle. Again, when a righteous follower of a Prophet performs such a deed it is called a karamat.

The couple in the above incident had shown exemplary reliance on Allah, and He approved their supplication.

Those people who are deprived of Faith and reliance on Allah and unaware of the powers of Allah do not find it easy to understand such and they doubt the reports. However, those who are blessed with belief they understand these happenings and believe in them. Allah has said:

وَمَنْ يَتَوَكَّلْ عَلَى اللّٰهِ فَهُوَ حَسْبُهُ (الطلاق ٣:٦٥)

And whoever puts his trust in Allah, He will suffice him.

(At-Talaq 65:3)

(٣٩٠/١٥٠) عَنْ سَعْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِنْ سَعَادَةٍ ابْنِ آدَمَ رِضَاهُ بِمَا قَضَى اللَّهُ لَهُ وَمِنْ شَقَاوَةِ ابْنِ آدَمَ تَرْكُهُ اسْتِخَارَةَ اللَّهِ وَمِنْ شَقَاوَةِ ابْنِ آدَمَ سَخَطُهُ بِمَا قَضَى اللَّهُ لَهُ (رواه احمد والترمذی)

(390/150) It is related by Sa'd رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "It is from the good fortune of a man that he is contented with the decision of Allah with regard to himself, and it is from the ill-fortune of a man that he does not seek from Allah what is good, and, it too, is from his ill-luck not to remain satisfied with the decision of Allah with regard to himself."

(Musnad Ahmad and Tirmizi)

Commentary: Occasionally, a man has to pass through events and experiences that are not to his liking. In these circumstances, his felicity and good fortune would lie in reconciling himself to adversity and quietly submitting to the Divine Will, believing that Allah is Omniscient and All-wise, and Most Kind and Gracious to His bondsmen. It is set forth in the Qur'an:

”عَسَىٰ أَنْ تَكْرَهُوا شَيْئًا وَهُوَ خَيْرٌ لَّكُمْ وَعَسَىٰ أَنْ تُحِبُّوا شَيْئًا وَهُوَ شَرٌّ لَّكُمْ وَاللَّهُ يَعْلَمُ وَأَنْتُمْ لَا تَعْلَمُونَ“
(البقرة ٢: ٢١٦)

But it may happen that you hate a thing which is good for you, and it may happen that you like a thing which is bad for you. Allah knows, you know not. (Al-Baqarah 2:216)

Besides, the bondsman should always beseech Allah to decide what is good for him in His judgement. The holy Prophet ﷺ, has said that it was the height of misfortune for a man not to entreat Allah for prosperity and welfare. In the same way, it is most lamentable for a bondsman to feel sore and unhappy over what the Almighty decides or prefers for him.

The state of wholehearted submission to the Divine Will be attained only when a man has a complete faith in Divine Attributes, as mentioned in the Qur'an, and the love for Allah pervades his heart and takes hold of it as a result of this belief and conviction.

SINCERITY IN ACTION AND SINGLE-MINDED DEVOTION

The moral guidance furnished to mankind by the sacred Prophet ﷺ attains fulfilment, in our humble view, in the teaching of Ikhlas (Sincerity in Action) and Lillahiyyat (Single-minded Devotion). Or, in other words, sincerity and singl-minded devotion to Allah mark the culminating lesson of the Book of Morality, and the highest stage of moral and spiritual advancement.

What Ikhlas and Lillahiyyat denote, in short, is that every good deed should be performed for the sake of Allah and for his propitiation, i.e., so that our Lord and Master might be pleased with us and bestowed His good graces and we remained safe from His indignation.

The Holy Prophet ﷺ has stressed that single-minded devotion is the most essential part- the inner reality — of all good and virtuous acts and behaviour. Should the apparently good deeds and morals be bereft of the spirit of sincerity and soundness of intention and prompted by any other urge, desire or motive, apart from the seeking of Divine good pleasure and reward, such as, the earning of good name, they would carry no merit in the sight of Allah.

To put it differently, the countenance of the Lord and the reward of the Hereafter that are the real fruit and outcome of all good deeds and ought to be the chief aim and objective of all believing men and women are not gained simply on good-doing, but when these acts, also, are performed with the intention of earning the favour of Allah and the reward of the hereafter. It could, of course, not be otherwise, for do we not follow the same principle in our own affairs? Suppose anyone serves us devotedly and does all sorts of things for our comfort, but, somehow, we realise that there is no sincerity in his heart and his attachment and dutifulness are motivated by a selfish desire, will it make a favourable impression on us? The same is the case with Allah with the added difference that while we do not know what is hidden in the hearts, Allah is present everywhere, at once, and sees all things. Thus, He only accepts the deeds of bondsmen who perform good and virtuous acts for His sake and confers His blessings on them, and the full display of His Mercy and Benevolence will take place in the Hereafter which is the place of Final Requit. On the contrary, those who practise virtue and do good deeds to make a name or with a similar purpose may gain their objects in this world, but they will remain deprived of the beneficence of the Lord and it will be made wholly manifest on the Last Day.

Of fundamental significance, in this regard, is the well-known saying of the Prophet: "Actions are but judged according to the intentions." We have placed it at the head of the present book along with detailed explanatory note. It will be unnecessary to go over it here, once again, but a few other Traditions of a like nature are reproduced below.

Allah Regards What Lies In The Hearts

(٣٩١/١٥١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَنْظُرُ إِلَى صَوْرِكُمْ وَأَمْوَالِكُمْ وَلَكِنْ يَنْظُرُ إِلَى قُلُوبِكُمْ وَأَعْمَالِكُمْ (رواه مسلم)
(391/151) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah does not regard your fine visages or wealth, but of your hearts and deeds." (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that Divine favour or acceptance does not depend on anyone's form and figure or wealth, but on the state of his heart and mind. Allah judges and requites only on the basis of our motives and intentions. In some other versions of the same Tradition, it is stated a little more candidly:

إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَنْظُرُ إِلَى أَجْسَادِكُمْ وَلَا إِلَى صَوْرِكُمْ وَأَعْمَالِكُمْ وَلَكِنْ يَنْظُرُ إِلَى قُلُوبِكُمْ
(جمع الفوائد ج ٢ ص ١٦٠)

"Allah is regardful not of your form and figure and apparent deeds, but of you hearts¹."

It makes it abundantly clear that goodness or badness, and acceptability or otherwise of a deed is dependent on the intention, and however good and noble an act may apparently be, it is worthless in the judgement of the Lord if the heart is lacking in earnestness, and the aim, wholly, in not His propitiation.

Propitiousness of Single-Minded Devotion

(٣٩٢/١٥٢) عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ بَيْنَمَا ثَلَاثَةٌ نَفَرٍ يَتَمَشُّونَ أَخَذَهُمُ الْمَطَرُ فَمَا لَوْا إِلَى غَارٍ فِي الْجَبَلِ فَانْحَطَّتْ عَلَى فَمِ غَارِهِمْ صَخْرَةٌ مِنَ الْجَبَلِ فَاطْبَقَتْ عَلَيْهِمْ فَقَالَ بَعْضُهُمْ لِبَعْضٍ انْظُرُوا أَعْمَالًا عَمِلْتُمُوهَا لِلَّهِ صَالِحَةً فَادْعُوا اللَّهَ بِهَا لَعَلَّهُ يُفَرِّجُهَا فَقَالَ أَحَدُهُمُ اللَّهُمَّ إِنَّهُ كَانَ لِي وَلِذَانِ شَيْخَانِ كَبِيرَانِ وَلِي صَبِيَّةٍ صَغِيرَةٍ كُنْتُ أُرْعِي عَلَيْهِنَّ فَإِذَا رُحْتُ عَلَيْهِمْ فَحَلَبْتُ بَدَاثَ بَوَالِدَيَّ أَسْقِيهِمَا قَبْلَ وَلَدِي وَإِنَّهُ قَدْ نَأَى بِي الشَّجَرُ فَمَا أَتَيْتُ حَتَّى أَمْسَيْتُ فَوَجَدْتُهُمَا قَدْ نَامَا فَحَلَبْتُ كَمَا كُنْتُ أَحْلُبُ فَجِئْتُ بِالْحَلَابِ فَقُمْتُ عِنْدَ رُؤُسِهِمَا أَكْرَهُ أَنْ أُوقِظَهُمَا وَأَكْرَهُ أَنْ أَبْدَأَ بِالصَّبِيَّةِ قَبْلَهُمَا وَالصَّبِيَّةُ تَبْتَاعُونَ عِنْدَ قَدَمِي فَلَمْ يَزَلْ ذَلِكَ دَائِبِي وَذَائِبُهُمْ حَتَّى طَلَعَ الْفَجْرُ فَإِنْ كُنْتُ تَعْلَمُ إِنِّي فَعَلْتُ ذَلِكَ ابْتِغَاءً وَجْهَكَ فَأَفْرِجْ لَنَا فُرْجَةً نَرَى مِنْهَا السَّمَاءَ فَفَرَّجَ اللَّهُ لَهُمْ حَتَّى يَرَوْنَ السَّمَاءَ قَالَ الثَّانِي اللَّهُمَّ إِنَّهُ كَانَتْ لِي بِنْتُ عَمٍّ أَحْبَبْتُهَا كَأَشَدِّ مَا يُحِبُّ الرِّجَالُ النِّسَاءَ فَطَلَبْتُ إِلَيْهَا نَفْسَهَا فَأَبَتْ حَتَّى آتَيْتَهَا بِمِائَةِ دِينَارٍ فَسَعَيْتُ حَتَّى جَمَعْتُ مِائَةَ دِينَارٍ فَلَقِيْتُهَا بِهَا فَلَمَّا قَعَدْتُ بَيْنَ رِجْلَيْهَا قَالَتْ يَا عَبْدَ اللَّهِ اتَّقِ اللَّهَ وَلَا تَفْتَحِ الْخَاتَمَ فَقُمْتُ عَنْهَا اللَّهُمَّ فَإِنْ كُنْتُ تَعْلَمُ إِنِّي فَعَلْتُ ذَلِكَ ابْتِغَاءً وَجْهَكَ فَأَخْرِجْ لَنَا مِنْهَا فَرَجًا لَهُمْ فُرْجَةً وَقَالَ الْآخَرُ اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي كُنْتُ اسْتَأْجَرْتُ أَجِيرًا بِفَرَقِ أَرْضٍ فَلَمَّا قَضَى عَمَلَهُ قَالَ أَعْطِنِي حَقِّي فَعَرَضْتُ عَلَيْهِ حَقَّهُ فَتَرَكَهُ وَرَغِبَ عَنْهُ فَلَمْ أَزَلْ أَرْزَعُهُ حَتَّى جَمَعْتُ مِنْهُ بَقْرًا وَرَاعِيهَا فَبَجَاءَ نَبِيٌّ فَقَالَ اتَّقِ اللَّهَ وَلَا تَظْلِمْنِي وَأَعْطِنِي حَقِّي فَقُلْتُ إِذْهَبْ

ابْتِغَاءَ وَجْهِكَ فَأَقْرِجْ مَا بَقِيَ فَقَرَّجَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمْ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(392/152) It is related by Abdullah ibn Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "(Once), three men were going somewhere when it began to rain. They took shelter in a cave. In the meantime, a rock fell, covering completely the opening of the cave. Of the three men, one said to the others: 'Think of the good deeds you may have done and pray to Allah through the propitiousness of the deed you may have done particularly for His sake to remove the rock (and relieve us of the distress).' Upon it, one of them said: 'O Allah! My parents were very old and I had many children. I used to graze goats etc, in order to provide milk for them. I would return (home) in the evening, milk the goats and give the milk, first, to my parents, and, then, to the children. One day, it so happened that the trees of the pasturage took me far. (I lost the sense of distance and went a long way off grazing the goats), and could not return on time till it grew dark. When I reached home, I found that both my father and mother were asleep. I milked the goats, as usual, and went to my parents with the milk vessel [in my hands], and stood at the head of their beds. I neither liked to wake them up nor to give milk to the children before my parents had drunk it. My children were crying at my feet owing to hunger and I was standing still with the milk. It went on like that until it was morning. O Allah! If you know that I had done it solely for Your sake, move the rock a little so that we could see the sky.' The Almighty, thereupon, moved the rock to the extent that the sky could be seen. The second man, then, said: 'O Allah! My uncle had a daughter with whom I was madly in love. I asked her for sexual intercourse, but she replied that it could take place when I paid her a hundred sovereigns. I tried and collected the sovereigns and took them to her. Then, as I sat between her legs (to commence the act), she said: 'O bondsman of Allah! Fear Allah and don't brake the seal.' I, at once, got up out of the fear of Allah, and did not perform the act. My Lord! If that act of mine was wholly for Your pleasure, remove the rock and open the way for us. Allah thereupon, moved the rock a little further.

After it, the third man said: "I had, (once), engaged a labourer on a Faraq¹ of rice. When he had completed the work, he came to me and demanded the wage, but as I was about to pay, he disappeared and did not return. I then, began to do farming with the rice, i.e., paddy and went on with it for years until, with the money thus earned, I had collected several bullocks and men to look after them. After a long time, the man returned, and said:

'Fear Allah, and do not be unjust, and give me back my due'. I told him to take the bullocks and the labourers (as they belonged to him), upon which he remarked: "O man! Fear Allah, and don't joke with me." "I am not joking." I replied, 'All these are yours.' He, thereupon, took them away, O Allah! If, in Your sight, that act of mine was wholly for Your sake, remove the rock completely. ' The Lord, thereupon, removed the rock and opened the way (for them)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The three persons mentioned in it were, perhaps, the followers of an earlier Prophet and the holy Prophet ﷺ has related the parable for his own followers to draw a lesson from it.

A few noteworthy features of the deeds narrated above are:

Firstly, as it is clearly stated in the report as well, all the three acts had been performed solely for the sake of Allah and for earning His good pleasure, and it was for that reason that the men had placed them before the Almighty and beseeched Him for mercy.

Secondly, the deeds offer a marvellous example of subordinating one's desires to the will and command of Allah. Just imagine, how severe is the struggle of the first man, mentioned in the parable, against the urges of the self. He has been grazing cattle, throughout the day, in the jungle, and returns home late in the evening, tired out and fatigued. He will, naturally, be wanting to go to bed soon. But since his parents have fallen asleep without taking the milk, he feels that the pleasure of Allah lies in giving them the milk when they wake up, and spends the whole night standing by the bed-side, with the milk-vessel in his hand. His children cry due to hunger at his feet but he gives priority to the right of the parents, and to the good pleasure of Allah, and willingly restrains himself from giving the milk to his children before he has fed the aged parents with it, until it is daybreak.

The same quality is evident from the deed of the second man. He is passionately in love with a girl and when a large amount of money is settled between them as her charge for the sexual act, and he has, also, paid it and is about to fulfil the greatest desire of his life, the Name of Allah comes in at that very moment, and, out of the fear of Allah and eagerness to earn His good graces, he stands up and leaves the girl alone. Now, anyone who is not altogether dead to the cravings of the flesh can imagine what it means and what a glorious instance of subduing the carnal self for the sake of Allah does it offer.

The case of the third man, too, is identical. A laborer leaves behind a few sheers of paddy with him. He sows it on his land, and regarding the crop it yields to be the property of the labourer, saves it back year after year and invests the money in some other business as well until he acquires a whole herd of cattle. When, however, the labourer returns after a long time, the honest and trustworthy bondsman hands over to him the entire wealth he had earned by the sweat of his brow and careful planning. What temptations would the devil not have thrown in his path? How would he not have tried to induce him to keep the property he had thus acquired with himself, and of which the labourer had no knowledge? But the bondsman stood firm against all the inducements of the devil and his own base self, and handed over the whole property to the poor laborer out of the fear of Allah.

Besides, an additional peculiarity of all the three acts is that none of them belongs to the class and category of traditional worship. One is related to Mu'ashirat (social conduct), one to Mu'amilat (monetary dealings), while the special feature of another -the second deed- is that a bondsman abstained from a sin wholly for earning the countenance of Allah although it was the ruling passion of his life and he had, also, made the necessary arrangement.

We, moreover, learn from the above Tradition that if a person feels about a good deed of his that it had been performed with earnestness and whole-hearted devotion to Allah, he can present it before Him, in his prayer, as a means of conciliating His favour.

Riya Is A Form Of Polytheism

As sincerity and singleness of purpose, i.e., the intention to earn the favour and good pleasure of Allah while performing a good deed is the pre-requisite of Faith and Monotheism, Riya, or in other words, hypocrisy, deceit, duplicity and dissimulation, i.e., the doing of a good act with an eye on popularity or renown is the reverse of it and a kind of polytheism.

(٣٩٣/١٥٣) عَنْ شَدَّادِ ابْنِ أَوْسٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ صَلَّى يُرَائِي فَقَدْ أَشْرَكَ وَمَنْ صَامَ يُرَائِي فَقَدْ أَشْرَكَ وَمَنْ تَصَدَّقَ يُرَائِي فَقَدْ أَشْرَكَ (رواه احمد)

(393/153) It is related by Shaddad Ibn Aus رضي الله عنه that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "Whoever offered prayer for display is guilty of polytheism, and whoever observed fasting for display is guilty of polytheism, and whoever practised charity for display is guilty of polytheism." (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: Real polytheism lies in associating anyone with Allah in His Being, Attributes and Functions, and in His Special rights, and yielding obedience and offering worship to anyone aside of Him. This is the 'actual', 'open' or 'major' polytheism about which it is stated in the Qur'an and is an Article of Faith with us, the Muslims, that whoever is guilty of it shall never be admitted to Heaven. But there are some acts and morals which though they do not amount to polytheism in that sense, are related to it, one way or the other. One of these is that a person offered worship or did another virtuous act not with the intention of pleasing Allah and seeking His good graces, but for impressing others so that people might say that he was a godly man and become his disciples. This is what is called Riya, and despite the fact that it is not polytheism in the true sense it does represent a grade of it. It is a kind of hypocrisy and a highly sinful practice. In another narrative, it has been described as 'concealed', and, in yet another as 'major' polytheism. We shall take up both the reports later.

It should, however, be noted that prayer, fasting and charity have been mentioned in this Tradition merely as an example or else any good deed which is performed with an eye on renown or any other worldly advantage is equivalent in significance to polytheism and will merit severe chastisement in place of reward.

(رواه ابن ماجه)

(394/154) Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه narrates "One day, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ came to us, i.e., to the place where we were sitting, from his apartment. At that time, we were talking about Dajjal, the Imposter. The Prophet ﷺ remarked: 'May I tell you of something which is even more dangerous for you than Dajjal?' 'Do please', we replied. The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, said: 'It is concealed polytheism, (an example of which is that) a man stood up for prayer, and, then, extended the prayer because, someone was seeing him offering it.' (Ibn Majah)

Commentary: What the holy Prophet ﷺ, probably, wanted to stress was that he had no great fear of the open polytheism and apostasy to which Dajjal will try to lead the people through various artful and ingenious expédients as he was confident that his true followers will not fall a prey to his deception, but he, indeed, was afraid that the devil succeeded in pushing them into disguised polythesim, an example of which was that prayer was prolonged simply to impress others.

In another Tradition quoted, again, in Sunan Ibn Majah, it is stated that, once, as the Prophet ﷺ expressed his fear of the Muslims falling into polytheism, some Companions رضي الله عنهم remarked, "O Messenger of Allah! How can it be that after you, did your followers take polytheism?" The holy Prophet ﷺ replied, "I am confident my followers will not worship the sun, the moon, the stones and the idols, but it can and will be that they fall a prey to concealed polytheism of the class of Riya."

(٣٩٥/١٥٥) عَنْ مَحْمُودِ بْنِ لَبِيدٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِنَّ أَحَوْفَ مَا أَخَافُ عَلَيْكُمْ الشِّرْكَ الْأَصْغَرَ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَمَا الشِّرْكَ الْأَصْغَرُ؟ قَالَ الرِّيَاءُ

(رواه احمد)

(395/155) Mahmood ibn Labeed relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The greatest fear I have concerning you is of 'minor' polytheism." "What is 'minor' polytheism?" asked the Companions." "Riya", the Prophet replied "(The doing of a virutous act for show or display)."

(Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: The Prophet ﷺ wished to caution them that they may protect themselves from minor polytheism let, the devil tempt them into it.

Any Act With The Slightest Trace of Polythesim is Not Worthy of Acceptance

(٣٩٦/١٥٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ

اللَّهُ تَعَالَى أَنَا أَغْنَى الشُّرَكَاءِ عَنِ الشِّرْكِ فَمَنْ عَمِلَ عَمَلًا أَشْرَكَ فِيهِ مَعِيَ غَيْرِي تَرَكْتُهُ وَشِرْكُهُ — وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ فَأَنَا مِنْهُ بَرِيٌّ هُوَ لِلدُّيِ عَمَلُهُ (رواه مسلم)

(396/156) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said that Allah has said: "I am absolutely independent of the need of polytheism and partnership. (I cannot put up with parners and assocaites, in any case, as others do. Every kind of polytheism and ascribing of partners is extremely repugnant to Me). Thus, whoever performs an act (like worship) in which he associates anyone with Me, (i.e., apart from My favour and good pleasure, his motive is to gain something from anyone else or make him his disciple or follower). I reject him and his polytheism wholly and altogether." In another Tradition referring to the same incident it is stated that "I have nothing to do with him. That act of his (is not for Me), but for the person for whom it is done, (i.e., who is associated with Me in it)." (Muslim).

(٣٩٧/١٥٧) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ بْنِ أَبِي فَضَالَةَ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ

وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِذَا جَمَعَ اللَّهُ النَّاسَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ لِيَوْمٍ لَا رَيْبَ فِيهِ نَادَى مُنَادٌ مَنْ كَانَ أَشْرَكَ فِي عَمَلٍ عَمِلَهُ لِلَّهِ أَحَدًا فَلْيَطْلُبْ ثَوَابَهُ مِنْ عِنْدِ غَيْرِ اللَّهِ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ أَغْنَى الشُّرَكَاءِ عَنِ الشِّرْكِ (رواه احمد)

(397/157) Abu Sa'eed ibn Abu Fadalrah ؓ relates it from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ that he said: "When Allah will gather all men, (both the former and the latter ones), on the Day of Resurrection, which is absolutely certain, a herald will proclaim: 'Whoever associated anyone else in a deed he performed for Allah should claim the reward for it from that other, for Allah is more independent of polytheism, i.e., partnership than all the partners.'" (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: The moral of the above Tradition is that Allah accepts only the deed and gives the reward on it which is performed with single-minded devotion and in quest of His pleasure, and no one aside of Him is associated with it. As against it, if the winning of the favour of anyone else, too, apart from the Almighty, or the gaining of an advantage from him be the aim, it will, definitely, not find acceptance with Allah who is exceedingly intolerant of polytheism.

This is the effect and consequence of deeds that are performed for the sake of Allah, but the intention is not pure, and anyone besides Him is made a partner in it by any means. The good deeds that are done merely to make a name or a favourable impression on others will not only be rejected with disdain, but the faithless traders in duplicity and deception will, also, be thrown into Hell.

Disgrace And Ignominy Will Be The Lot of The Dissembler

(٣٩٨/١٥٨) عَنْ جُنْدُبٍ قَالَ قَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ سَمِعَ سَمِعَ

اللَّهُ بِهِ وَمَنْ يُرَآئِي يُرَآئِي اللَّهُ بِهِ (رواه البخاري و مسلم)

(398/158) It is related by Jundub رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever will do a good deed for fame and repute, Allah will make him famous, and whoever will do a good deed for exhibition, Allah will show him much."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that a punishment that will be meted out to those who do good deeds for renown or display will be that their falseness and hypocrisy will be laid open and everyone will come to know that their good-doing was not for the sake of Allah, but for publicity.

In short, the insincerity and hollowness of these wretched men will be laid bare on the Day of Last Judgement and they will be put to shame and humiliation before undergoing the punishment of Hell.

Stern Warning to Those Who Seek Worldly Gain in The Name of Faith

(٣٩٩/١٥٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَخْرُجُ

فِي آخِرِ الزَّمَانِ رِجَالٌ يَخْتَلُونَ الدُّنْيَا بِالْإِيمَانِ يَلْبَسُونَ لِلنَّاسِ جُلُودَ الصَّانِ مِنَ اللَّيْلِ أَلْسِنَتَهُمْ أَهْلَى مِنَ السُّكْرِ قُلُوبُهُمْ قُلُوبُ الدِّيَابِ يَقُولُ اللَّهُ أَبِي يَغْتَرُونَ

أَمْ عَلَىٰ يَبْجَتِرُونَ فَبِئْسَ خَلْقٌ لَّا يَبْعَثَنَّ عَلَىٰ أَوْلَٰئِكَ مِنْهُمْ فِتْنَةً تَدْعُ الْحَلِيمَ فِيهِمْ
حَيْرَانَ (رواه الترمذی)

(399/159) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "During the Last Phase, deceivers and dissemblers will be born who will seek after the world in the garb of Faith. They will wear sheepskin to impress the people with their asceticism and meekness, (and) their speech will be sweeter than sugar, but in their breasts there will be the hearts of wolves. Allah says about them : 'Are they being mistaken by My tolerance or have they become so bold as to contend against Me? I swear by Myself that I shall raise from among them a mischief that will confound even the wise and the learned in their midst.'" (Tirmizi)

Commentary: It shows that the worst kind of fraud and double-dealing is to pose before the people as holy men and exploit their simplicity and credulousness for worldly gain. These pedlars in faith and spirituality who by their glib tongue and soft speech ensnare the simple-minded folk are guilty of both deception and trading in religion. For them the warning of Allah is that they will be caught in various troubles and afflictions even in their self-time.

Severest Chastisement of Hell For Deceitful Worshippers And Theologians

(٤٠٠/١٦٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَعَوَّذُوا بِاللَّهِ مِنْ جُبِّ الْحُزْنِ! قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَمَا جُبُّ الْحُزْنِ؟ قَالَ وَادٍ فِي جَهَنَّمَ يَتَعَوَّذُ مِنْهُ جَهَنَّمُ كُلَّ يَوْمٍ أَرْبَعَ مِائَةِ مَرَّةٍ، قِيلَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَمَنْ يَدْخُلُهَا؟ قَالَ الْفَرَاءُ الْمُرَاوُنُ بِأَعْمَالِهِمْ. (رواه الترمذی)

(400/160) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Beg (the Lord) for refuge from Jubbul Huzn (Pit or Well of Sorrow)". "What is Jubbul Huzn?" Some Companions enquired. "It is a valley (or pit) of Hell (which is so terrible that) even the Hell seeks protection from it four hundred times each day," replied the Prophet ﷺ. It was, again, asked for him: "Who will go to it?" "The great worshippers or reciters of the Qur'an who do good deeds to show off to others," the Prophet ﷺ said. (Tirmizi)

Commentary: In it, the sacred Prophet ﷺ has used the word, Qurra for people who will be cast into Jubbul Huzn. It can mean those who observe worship much as well as those who are distinguished for the study and recitation of Qur'an. What this Tradition, thus, denotes is that those who, apparently, are great adorers of Allah and reciters of the Qur'an, but, in fact, all their religiousness and piety is hypocritical and intended for display will be condemned to it.

The First to Be Awarded The Punishment of Hell On the Day of Judgement Will be The Hypocritical Theologian, Martyr And Doer of Charity

(٤٠١/١٦١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ أَوَّلَ النَّاسِ يُقْضَىٰ عَلَيْهِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ رَجُلٌ أَسْتَشْهَدُ فَأَتَىٰ بِهِ فَعَرَفَهُ نِعْمَتَهُ فَعَرَفَهَا فَقَالَ فَمَا عَمِلْتُ فِيهَا؟ قَالَ قَاتَلْتُ فِيكَ حَتَّى اسْتَشْهَدْتُ قَالَ كَذَبْتَ وَلَكِنَّكَ قَاتَلْتَ لِأَنْ يُقَالَ جَرِي فَقَدْ قِيلَ، ثُمَّ أُمِرَ بِهِ فَسُحِبَ عَلَىٰ وَجْهِهِ حَتَّى أُلْقِيَ فِي النَّارِ وَ رَجُلٌ تَعَلَّمَ الْعِلْمَ وَعَلَّمَهُ وَقَرَأَ الْقُرْآنَ فَأَتَىٰ بِهِ فَعَرَفَهُ نِعْمَتَهُ فَعَرَفَهَا قَالَ فَمَا عَمِلْتُ فِيهَا؟ قَالَ تَعَلَّمْتُ الْعِلْمَ وَعَلَّمْتُهُ وَقَرَأْتُ فِيكَ الْقُرْآنَ، قَالَ كَذَبْتَ وَلَكِنَّكَ تَعَلَّمْتَ الْعِلْمَ لِيُقَالَ إِنَّكَ عَالِمٌ وَقَرَأْتَ الْقُرْآنَ لِيُقَالَ هُوَ قَارِئٌ فَقَدْ قِيلَ ثُمَّ أُمِرَ بِهِ فَسُحِبَ عَلَىٰ وَجْهِهِ حَتَّى أُلْقِيَ فِي النَّارِ، وَ رَجُلٌ وَسَّعَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَأَعْطَاهُ مِنْ أَصْنَافِ الْمَالِ كُلِّهِ فَأَتَىٰ بِهِ فَعَرَفَهُ نِعْمَتَهُ فَعَرَفَهَا قَالَ فَمَا عَمِلْتُ فِيهَا قَالَ مَا تَرَكْتُ مِنْ سَبِيلٍ تُحِبُّ أَنْ يُنْفَقَ فِيهَا إِلَّا أَنْفَقْتُ فِيهَا لَكَ قَالَ كَذَبْتَ وَلَكِنَّكَ فَعَلْتَ لِيُقَالَ هُوَ جَوَادٌ فَقَدْ قِيلَ ثُمَّ أُمِرَ بِهِ فَسُحِبَ بِهِ عَلَىٰ وَجْهِهِ ثُمَّ أُلْقِيَ فِي النَّارِ (رواه مسلم)

(401/161) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The first whom the sentence (of Hell) will be pronounced in the Court of the Almighty, on the Day of Judgement, will be a man who would have been martyred (in the field of Jihad). He would be produced before Allah, and He would tell him what blessings He has bestowed upon him. The man would acknowledge them, Upon it, Allah would say: 'Now, tell Me, what have you done with the blessings I had conferred?' He will answer. 'I did Jihad in your path until I was killed.'" 'You are a liar,' Allah would say. 'You desired that people should say that such a one was a brave man, and that has been said already'. He would then, be cast headlong into Hell at the command of Allah. with him there would be another man who would have acquired the knowledge of Faith and taught it to others as well, and, also, got the whole of the Qur'an by heart. Allah would remind him, too of His blessings, and he would acknowledge them. Allah would ask, 'And what have you done with regard to My blessings? (to what use did you put them)?' He would reply, 'I learnt all that was to be learnt about You and Your Faith and taught it to others, also, and was, continually, at it during the hours of the day and the night, and I did it for Thy sake alone.' 'You are a liar', Allah would say. 'You did only desire that people should say such a one was a learned man and a reciter of the Qur'an, and that has been said already. He would, then, be cast headlong into Hell at the command of Allah. And with them, there would be a third man whom Allah had blessed with an abundance of wealth, and Allah would remind him, also, of His blessings, and he would acknowledge everything. Thereupon, Allah, would say, 'And what have done with what I gave you?' He will reply, 'I spent the wealth bestowed by You in the paths and on the acts that were to Your liking, and I did it wholly for Your sake.' 'You are a liar', Allah would say. 'You only desired that people should say that such a one was a generous man, and that has been said already.' After it, he, too, would be cast headlong into Hell at the command of Allah."

(Muslim)

Commentary: How frightful, indeed is the purport and significance of this Tradition! It is reported that Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه, sometimes, used to faint while relating it. It is, also, said that, once, as it was being related before Sayyidina Mu'awiya رضي الله عنه, he cried so much that he was taken ill.

The three deeds mentioned above are, evidently, good deeds of the highest order and if these are performed with unalloyed sincerity and earnestness, the recompense on them, surely, is the attainment of Divine good pleasure and elevation in ranks in the Hereafter. But if these very acts are done to earn renown or for obtaining any other worldly advantage, they are so intensely wrong and sinful in the judgement of Allah that the punishment of Hell will be awarded to those who are guilty of them ahead of all the other evil-doers, like the thieves, robbers and adulterers, and they will be the first to be sent to that infernal place.

To Be Respected For Good-Doing is A Favour of The Lord

(٤٠٢/١٦٢) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قِيلَ لِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَرَأَيْتَ الرَّجُلَ يَعْمَلُ الْعَمَلَ مِنَ الْخَيْرِ وَيَحْمَدُهُ النَّاسُ عَلَيْهِ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ وَيُحِبُّهُ النَّاسُ عَلَيْهِ قَالَ تِلْكَ عَاجِلُ بُشْرَى الْمُؤْمِنِ
(رواه مسلم)

(402/162) Narrates Abu Zarr Ghiffari ؓ that , once, it was enquired from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ "What is the command about a man who does a good deed and people speak highly of him because of it?" (In another version of it, it is stated that the questioner had asked: "What is the command about a man who does a good deed and people love him on account of it?") "It is the ready glad tiding for the faithful bondsman." The Prophet ﷺ replied. (Muslim)

Commentary: The sayings of the sacred Prophet ﷺ concerning dissimulation and the seeking of praise and honour had made the Companions ؓ so greatly afraid that some of them felt that if people started admiring anyone for a good deed, and his devoutness and well-doing began to be talked about, the deed might not find acceptance with Allah as he had been recompensed already, in this world, in the form of affection and admiration. It was as a result of this fear and anxiety that the enquiry was made. The Prophet ﷺ replied that there was nothing wrong if a person was held in high esteem owing to his virtue and good-doing. On the contrary, it should be taken as an indication of his worthiness, in the sight of Allah, and a ready recompense, in the present existence, and in advance of the real reward that awaited him in the Hereafter.

In the same way, once, as Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ was offering prayer, some chanced to come and see him in that state. The celebrated Companion tells that he felt pleased at being seen while engaged in a virtuous act like prayer. He narrated it to the holy Prophet ﷺ so that if his reaction, too, was a form of Riya, he might repent for it and seek the forgiveness of the Lord. But the Prophet ﷺ assured him that it was not so, and he will be rewarded both for doing a good in private and in public.

We, thus, learn from it that if a virtuous act is performed for the sake of Allah and without the intention of being seen during it, but the others come to know about it, and the person who does so feels happy over it, it will not be opposed to single-minded devotion.

Moreover, if anyone does a virtuous deed in the presence of others with the idea that they learn about it and try to emulate his example, it would not be hypocrisy. In fact, he will be rewarded for the preaching and propagation of Faith.

As many Traditions show, the holy Prophet ﷺ had the same purpose, also, in the mind while performing an act on a number of occasions.

(BOOK OF PURIFICATION)

THE PLACE OF CLEANLINESS IN ISLAM

Cleanliness and purification, in Islam, is not merely an essential condition for the performance of an act of worship like prayer, recitation of Qur'an and *Tawaf*¹, but as the Qur'an and the Traditions tell, it constitutes a permanent department of Faith and possess a significance of its own as well.

It is set forth in the Qur'an:

إِنَّ اللَّهَ يُحِبُّ التَّوَّابِينَ وَيُحِبُّ الْمُتَطَهِّرِينَ (البقرة ٢: ٢٢٢)

Truely Allah loveth those who turn unto Him, and loveth those who have a care of cleanness. (Al-Baqarah 2:222)

Besides, in praise of the residents of Quba, the Qur'an says:

“فِيهِ رِجَالٌ يُحِبُّونَ أَنْ يَتَطَهَّرُوا وَاللَّهُ يُحِبُّ الْمُطَهَّرِينَ” (التوبة ٩: ١٠٨)

"Where in are men who love to purify themselves. Allah loves the purifiers. " (At-Tawbah 9:108)

One can imagine from these two verses what importance cleanliness enjoys in the Islamic scheme of things.

In the same way, the first Tradition we are going to quote from Sahih Muslim shows that cleanliness is not only a tenet and requirement of Islam but, also, forms a principal branch of it. Another hadith teams cleanliness as a half of faith.

The mentor of mentors, Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه, remarks in his monumental work, *Hujjatullah-il-Baligha*²:

"By His special grace, the Almighty has explained to me the truth that the path of felicity for giving the call of which the Prophets عليهم السلام were raised up, and which is called Shari'ah, consists of many chapters and there are tens and thousands of commands under each chapter, all these can be assembled, in spite of their vast multiplicity, under the four fundamental headings of *Taharah*¹, *Ikbat*², *Samahat*³, and *'Adalat*⁴.

Proceeding, he explains the meaning of each of the titles indicated above from which it distinctly follows that the Shari'ah, on the whole, is divided into these four parts.

Here we shall summarise only the part of Shah Waliullah's رحمة الله عليه Hujjah in which he expounds the significance of cleanliness. A right-minded person, it reads, whose heart is not ruled over by bestial urges and filthy propensities feels a peculiar type of uneasiness and gloom within himself when he is involved in an impurity or seized with a strong desire for defecation or urination or has just had sexual intercourse. On the other hand, when he comes out of this state i.e., gets done with the urge for a natural evacuation and purifies himself after it, or if he has copulated, takes a bath, changes his clothes and applies perfume, the feeling of discomfort and depression disappears his cheerfulness returns and he is in good spirits again. The former state is called hads (i.e. impurity) and the latter, Taharah (i.e. cleanliness). People who possess a wholesome disposition and whose natural instincts are sound realise clearly the difference between the two states. They instinctively dislike the condition, of impurity and find the other one, i.e., of cleanliness and purification agreeable. The state of the cleanliness of the human spirit bears a close resemblance to the state of the celestial world, i.e., of the angels because they are eternally free from animal impurities and remain happy and at ease owing to the heavenly state of feeling, and it is for this reason that solicitude for perpetuity of cleanliness, to the extent to which it is possible, enables the soul to attain angelic heights and profit from the celestial world through inspiration and revelation. On the contrary, when a person is sunk in the state of uncleanness and impurity, he develops a resemblance and affinity with the devils and a typical susceptibility is created within him of responding to satanic desires and passions¹.

It is, thus, evident that cleanliness or purity and uncleanness or impurity are the names of the two states of the soul or moral and spiritual being we have just mentioned and what we call as such are their causes and origins. The Shari'ah, in fact, deals with them and prescribes necessary rules and regulations. Purity has rightly been described as one-fourth of the Shari'ah.

Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه, further, writes:

"Cleanliness is of three kinds. One, purification from impurity (i.e., to attain purity or cleanliness, by taking a bath or performing ablution in states in which they become necessary or desirable according to the Shari'ah); two, to cleanse one's body, dress or place from an apparent impurity or filth; and, three: to remove the dirt or grime that collects in various parts of the body, such as, the cleaning of teeth and nostrils, the pairing of nails and the removing of the hair below the navel²".

Among the Traditions we are now going to discuss a few dealing with cleanliness as a whole, which covers all the three categories, while the rest are related to a particular category of it or the other.

Cleanliness is A Part of Faith

(٤٠٣/١) عَنْ أَبِي مَالِكٍ الْأَشْعَرِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
الطُّهُورُ شَطْرُ الْإِيمَانِ وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ تَمْلَأُ الْمِيزَانَ وَسُبْحَانَ اللَّهِ وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ
تَمْلَأَانِ أَوْ تَمْلَأُ مَا بَيْنَ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَالصَّلَاةُ نُورٌ وَالصَّدَقَةُ بُرْهَانٌ
وَالصَّبْرُ ضِيَاءٌ وَالْقُرْآنُ حُجَّةٌ لَكَ أَوْ عَلَيْكَ كُلُّ النَّاسِ يَغْدُو فَبَائِعٌ نَفْسَهُ
فَمُعْتِقُهَا أَوْ مُوْبِقُهَا (رواه مسلم)

(403/1) It is related by Abu Maalik Al-Ash'ari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Cleanliness is a part of Faith. To say الحمد لله 'Praise belongs to Allah' fills the scale, to say الحمد لله and سبحان الله 'Glory be to Allah' and Praise belongs to

①. Hujjah v I, p 54

②. Hujjah, Vol I, p 173

Allah' fill the space between the heavens and the earth, prayer is a light, Sadaqah is a proof (of sincere faith), endurance is a shining glory, and the Qur'an is a proof on your behalf or against you. All men go out easily and sell themselves, thereby setting themselves free or destroying themselves".¹ (Muslim)

Commentary: In it cleanliness has been spoken of as Shutrul Iman which means half of faith while in another report conveying the same subject idea, which has been quoted by Tirmizi, on the authority of another Companion, the words Nisful Iman (Half of Faith) explicitly occur. In our view, however, what the words Shutr and Nisf denote here is that cleanliness is a principal part and most significant branch of faith. The lines quoted earlier from Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه are so clear that no further elucidation is needed.

It should be remembered that the narrative of Abu Maalik Al-Ash'ari is a long one, being the report of one of the Prophet's ﷺ sermons.

The Prophet ﷺ has then spoken of the reward against the tasbih (glorifying) and Tahmid (praising) of Allah. Tasbih is to say Subhan Allah. It is to express one's faith in and to bear witness that Allah is free from every kind of blemish and is above everything that is not in conformity with His divinity. Tahmid is to say Al-Hamdu lillah which is to express one's faith in and to bear witness that only Allah is perfect and only He has all the good things for which one is praised. The tasbih and tahmid is the *wazifah*² of the angels. The Qur'an quotes the angels as saying (We Glorify Your Praise.)

(البقره ٢:٣٠) نَحْنُ نُسَبِّحُ بِحَمْدِكَ (Al-Baqarah 2:30)

Thus, man too may only occupy himself in this best wazifah, and sacred task and praise and glorify his and everyone else's Creator and Sustiner. It was to exhort us to this task that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said that one phrase Subhan Allah fills in the scale of deeds and if Alhamdu lillah is also recited the light from the two illuminates the entire earth and heavens.

Our senses cannot perceive this illumination but Allah does disclose it to some of His close slaves sometimes. We must, however, sincerely believe in whatever the Holy Prophet ﷺ says, and we must conduct ourselves accordingly. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ next said that prayer is light. Those of the slaves of Allah whose prayers are sincere feel the light and blessings within their hearts and the result is that they ward away immorality and the forbidden things. This is what the Qur'an means to tell us when it says:

②. Recantation.

إِنَّ الصَّلَاةَ تَنْهَى عَنِ الْفَحْشَاءِ وَالْمُنْكَرِ (العنكبوت ٤٥:٢٩)

"Surely, as salah, preserves from lewdness and iniquity".

(Al-Ankabut, 29:45)

In the hereafter, this light of prayer will brighten and illuminate the darkness and accompany the worshipper. The Qur'an says:

نُورُهُمْ يَسْعَىٰ بَيْنَ أَيْدِيهِمْ وَبِأَيْمَانِهِمْ (التحریم ٨:٦٦)

"Their light will run before them and on their right hands."

(Al-Tahreem, 66:8)

The Prophet ﷺ then said taht sadaqah, is clear proof, meaning that it is evidence of faith without which it is not easy to give sadaqah. In the next world, it will be proof of his faith and piety and earn him reward.

The prophet ﷺ then said that the endurance was shinning glory. Some scholars suggest that, having spoken of prayer and sadaqah, the reference here is to fasting but I feel that the word endurance is taken in its original sense and wide meaning. In the terminology of the Qur'an and hadith patience encompasses 'controlling temptations and enduring hardships, in the cause of Allah'. In this sense, endurance will cover the whole of religious life and worship whether prayer, sadaqah, fasting, pilgrimage, jihad or facing hardship for the sake of Allah and , at the same time, controlling selfish desires and wrong urges. The Prophet ﷺ has called it ضياء (a shining golry) and the Qur'an refers to the light of the moon as nur, and of the sun as ضياء.

وَهُوَ الَّذِي جَعَلَ الشَّمْسَ ضِيَاءً وَالْقَمَرَ نُورًا (يونس ٥:١٠)

The Prophet ﷺ then said that the Qur'an is a proof in one's favour or against. If anyone holds it in respect and obeys it is an evidence for him otherwise it is against him.

The Prophet ﷺ concluded his saying with the remark that every man in this world no matter how he lives, sells himself everyday so that he either earns salvation or destroys himself. If he obeys Allah and worships Him then he earns abundant reward for himself ensuring deliverance, but if he obeys his base self and neglects his duty to Allah then he destroys himself preparing to go to Hell.

May Allah help us to believe in these facts and to earn from the knowledge.

Punishment of The Grave Due to Impurity.

(٤٠٤/٢) عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ مَرَّ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِقَبْرَيْنِ فَقَالَ إِنَّهُمَا لَيُعَذَّبَانِ وَمَا يُعَذَّبَانِ فِي كَبِيرٍ أَمَّا أَحَدُهُمَا فَكَانَ لَا يَسْتَتِرُ (وَفِي رَوَايَةٍ لِمُسْلِمٍ لَا يَسْتَنْزِلُهُ) مِنَ الْبَوْلِ وَأَمَّا الْآخَرُ فَكَانَ يَمْشِي بِالنَّمِيمَةِ ثُمَّ أَخَذَ جَرِيدَةً رَطْبَةً فَشَقَّهَا بِنِصْفَيْنِ ثُمَّ غَرَزَ فِي كُلِّ قَبْرٍ وَاحِدَةً قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ لِمَ صَنَعْتَ هَذَا؟ فَقَالَ لَعَلَّهُ أَنْ يُخَفَّفَ عَنْهُمَا مَا لَمْ يَنْسِبَا (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(404/2) Abdullah Ibn Abbas ؓ has narrated that as the Messenger of Allah ﷺ happened to pass by two graves, he remarks: "The two persons who are buried in these graves are being punished, and the punishment is not owing to a sin that was a difficult matter (i.e., hard to avoid. Both of them, on the other hand, are receiving the chastisement for a misdeed from which it was quite easy to keep away). The sin of one of them was that he never tried to save himself from being soiled with urine, and the other used to speak ill of others in their absence." The Prophet ﷺ, then, took a green branch of date-palm, spilt it into two and fixed one piece (of it) on each grave. The Companions ؓ (thereupon) enquired: "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! Why have you done that?" "It is hoped," replied the Prophet, "that the punishment of these persons will be abated till such time as the two pieces become completely dry."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: A doctrinal discussion on the punishment of the grave has already been attempted in the preceding chapters. In the course of it we also took up the Traditions in which it was revealed that the sharp cries of agony rising from the graves of those who are being punished were heard by all creatures that were around save men and jinn. The wisdom of it, too, was explained by us in the commentary. A Tradition contained in Sahih Muslim which showed how the sacred Prophet ﷺ became aware of the punishment that was being sent down to some of the graves was, also, included in it. The incident referred to in the above report is of an identical nature. The Lord makes it possible for His Messengers عليهم السلام to see things of the unseen world and hear sound that are, generally, not seen or heard by mortals like us.

In this Tradition the Prophet ﷺ has indicated the specific sins and transgressions of the occupiers of the two graves. The fault of one of them was that he was given to tale-bearing which is a grave moral offence and has been condemned in the Qur'an as a paganish habit and a sign of the hypocrites. It says:

وَلَا تُطْع كُلَّ حِدَافٍ مَّهِينٍ، هَمَّازٍ مَّشَاءٍ بَنَمِيمٍ (القلم ١٠:٦٨-١١)

"Neither obey thou each feeble oath-monger, detractor, spreader abroad of slanders. (Al-Qalam 68:10-11)

About the other person the Prophet ﷺ disclosed that punishment was being inflicted upon him because he did not take proper care to observe cleanliness and save himself from being polluted with his urine.

It shows that to protect oneself against the impurity of urine (as of other foul and dirty things) i.e., to save one's body or clothes from being soiled with them is one of the principal commands of Allah and negligence in these matters is a sin of such a high order as to entail the chastisement of the grave.

As for the concluding part of the Tradition indicating that the holy Prophet ﷺ took a green branch of a date-palm and broke it into two parts and fixed a piece of it on each of the two graves, it has been explained in various ways by the Commentators but, in our humble opinion, the most plausible explanation is that the Prophet ﷺ prayed reduction in the punishment of the occupiers and he was bidden to do what he did with the assurance that the chastisement would remain abated as long as the two pieces did not dry up altogether.

A long report, appearing at the end of Sahih Muslim, and related on the authority of Sayyidina Jabir , also speaks of two graves but it refers to another event. Sayyidina Jabir  narrates that the Messenger of Allah  once ordered him to cut two branches from two particular trees and to throw them at such-and-such a place. He goes on to relate, "I carried out the command and when I enquired from the Prophet  about it he said, 'There are two graves over there upon which punishment is being sent down. I prayed to God for reduction in the chastisement and He granted the prayer to the extent that the punishment would stay lowered in degree as long as the branches remained green.'

Be that as it may, Sayyidina Jabir's  narrative distinctly shows that the branches of the trees or their freshness had nothing to do with the abatement of chastisement. It had been made known by the Lord to the Prophet  that as a result of his supplication the punishment would be lessened for a certain time. The real thing, thus, was the prayer of the Prophet  and its acceptance. Those who seek it a justification for laying flowers on the graves, surely, do a great injustice to the spirit of Islam.

Commentators, also, have raised the point whether the graves upon which the sacred Prophet  had fixed the branches of the date-palms were of Muslims or non-Muslims and referred the view that these were of Muslims. An indirect suggestion of it is conveyed by the Tradition itself when it tells that the Prophet had ascribed their punishment to the habits of backbiting and carelessness in purification after passing the urine. Had the graves been of the infidels, infidelity or polytheism would have been stated as the cause of chastisement. Moreover, a Tradition quoted in Musnad Ahmad, on the authority of Sayyidina Abu Hurairah , shows that the graves were situated in Baqui'e and the Prophet  had felt the infliction of punishment on them while passing through it and Baqui'e is exclusively the graveyard of Muslims in Madinah.

The moral of the above Tradition is that utmost care should be taken to protect oneself from being soiled with urine and abstain from vicious and polytheistic habits like backbiting, otherwise the chastisement of the grave is certain.

Purification After A Natural Evacuation

(٤٠٥/٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّمَا أَنَا لَكُمْ مِثْلُ الْوَالِدِ لِوَلَدِهِ أَعَلِمَكُمْ إِذَا أَتَيْتُمُ الْغَائِطَ فَلَا تَسْتَقْبِلُوا الْقِبْلَةَ وَلَا تَسْتَدْبِرُوهَا، وَأَمَرَ بِثَلَاثَةِ أَحْجَارٍ وَنَهَى عَنِ الرُّوثِ وَالرِّمَّةِ وَنَهَى أَنْ يَسْتَطِيبَ الرَّجُلُ بِيَمِينِهِ.

(رواه ابن ماجه والدارمي)

(405/3) It is related by Abu Hurairah رضي الله عنه that he Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I am like a father to you (in the same way as it is the duty of a father to teach good manners to his children and the proper way in which things are done in life), I tell you that when you sit for answering the call of nature, do not face or turn your back towards the *Qiblah*¹". Abu Hurairah further said, "The Prophet ordered (us) to use three stones for cleaning the private parts, and he forbade (us) against using a bone or piece of dung, and he forbade (us) against cleaning the private parts with the right hand."

(Ibn Majah and Daarami)

(٤٠٦/٤) عَنْ سَلْمَانَ قَالَ قِيلَ لَهُ قَدْ عَلَّمَكُمْ نَبِيُّكُمْ (صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ) كُلَّ شَيْءٍ حَتَّى الْخِرَاءَةِ قَالَ فَقَالَ أَجَلٌ لَقَدْ نَهَانَا أَنْ نَسْتَقْبِلَ الْقِبْلَةَ لِغَائِطٍ أَوْ بَوْلٍ أَوْ أَنْ نَسْتَنْجِيَ بِالْيَمِينِ أَوْ أَنْ نَسْتَنْجِيَ بِأَقْلٍ مِنْ ثَلَاثَةِ أَحْجَارٍ أَوْ أَنْ نَسْتَنْجِيَ بِرَجِيعٍ أَوْ بِعَظْمٍ..

(رواه مسلم)

(406/4) Salman Farsi رضي الله عنه related to us, "(Some polytheists remarked to me by way of a joke or sarcasm) 'Your Prophet ﷺ has taught you everything, even the (proper) way of attending the call of nature.' I replied: '(Of course), he has taught us everything and given necessary instructions, also, regarding purification after defecation. He has advised us never to face the Qiblah while urinating or defecating or clean the private parts with the right hand or use less than three stones for it or clean the private parts with a bone or the dung of an animal (like a camel, horse or cow).'"

(Muslim)

Commentary: Like eating and drinking, defecation and urination, also, are essential to a man's life. The Prophet ﷺ has, therefore, indicated precisely what is proper or improper as regards a natural evacuation and purification after it in the same way as he has done about our other needs and functions.

Four instructions are given by the Prophet ﷺ in the two aforementioned Traditions.:

(i) One should neither sit facing the Qiblah nor with his back turned towards it while defacating or urinating. This is the claim of reverence for the House of Allah the Ka'bah in Makkah upon us. Every civilised person, possessing some awareness of the finer and spiritual values of life, avoids sitting with his face or back turned towards a holy place or a sacred thing at such a time.

(ii) The right hand which is, generally, used for eating, drinking or writing and two which God has granted greater strength and capability than the left should not be employed for cleaning the private parts.

(iii) At least three stones ought to be used for purification after defacation as common experience is that complete cleanliness is not obtained with a lesser number of them. If, however, anyone requires more than three stones he is free to do so.

It should be noted that stones are specifically mentioned in the Traditions concerning purification for the simple reason that it was the usual practice among the Arabs during those days. Otherwise, there is nothing peculiar with the stones. Other articles that can serve the purpose, and it is also not improper to put them to such a use, can be freely employed.

(iv) The bone or dried-up dung of an animal must not be used for purification after answering the call of nature. The Prophet ﷺ took pains to prohibit the use of such things plainly because in the older days, the Arabs, sometimes took resort to them for cleaning the private parts after easing themselves.

Purification With Water

(٤٠٧/٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا أَتَى الْخَلَاءَ

أَتَيْتُهُ بِمَاءٍ فِي تَوْرٍ أَوْ رَكْوَةٍ فَاسْتَنْجَى ثُمَّ مَسَحَ يَدَهُ عَلَى الْأَرْضِ ثُمَّ أَتَيْتُهُ بِأَنْاءٍ

أَخْرَجْتُوَصًّا (رواه ابو داؤد)

(407/5) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ "When the Messenger of Allah ﷺ went for answering the call of nature, I used to carry water for him in a Tur (tumbler) or Rakoh (a small water-skin). He washed his private parts with it and then, rubbed his hands on the ground, and, after it, I brought another vesself of water and he performed wudu with it." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that the sacred Prophet ﷺ used to wash his private parts after cleaning them with the stones, and, then, rubbed his hands on the ground after which he washed them again, and performed the wudu.

It, again, appears from this Tradition that it, usually fell to the blessed lot of Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ to carry water for the sacred Prophet ﷺ to perform *istinja*¹. From another report we learn that Sayyidina Anas ؓ, also, sometimes carried out this duty.

It, also, tells us that the usual practice of the Prophet ﷺ was to perform wudu after istinja. Sometimes, in order to indicate that it was only desirable and not obligatory, he used to forgo it. Thus, it is mentioned in Ibn Majah and Abu Dawood, on the authority of Sayyidah Aysha رضى الله عنها, that once, as the Prophet ﷺ had made water and cleaned himself, Sayyidina Umar ؓ brought water for wudu. The Prophet ﷺ, asked him, "What is it, Umar? Why have you brought the water?" "I have brought it so that you may perform wudu", replied Sayyidina Umar ؓ. "It is not necessary for me", observed the Prophet ﷺ, "to perform wudu everytime I pass urine. If I did so regularly it would become a law for the ummah"².

It is, further, apparent from the above that the holy Prophet ﷺ, occasionally, refrained from doing what was preferable in order to demonstrate the real nature of an issue or principle by his conduct and save the ummah from misunderstanding or unnecessary hardship.

(٤٠٨/٦) عَنْ أَبِي أَيُّوبَ وَ جَابِرٍ وَ أَنَسٍ أَنَّ هَذِهِ الْآيَةَ لَمَّا نَزَلَتْ فِيهِ رَجُلٌ يُحِبُّونَ أَنْ يَتَطَهَّرُوا وَاللَّهُ يُحِبُّ الْمُطَهَّرِينَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَا مَعْشَرَ الْأَنْصَارِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ قَدْ آتَى عَلَيْكُمْ فِي الطُّهُورِ فَمَا طَهُرُوكُمْ؟ قَالُوا نَتَوَضَّأُ لِلصَّلَاةِ وَنَغْتَسِلُ مِنَ الْجَنَابَةِ وَنَسْتَنْجِي بِالْمَاءِ قَالَ فَهُوَ ذَاكَ فَعَلَيْكُمْوه
(رواه ابن ماجه)

①. Meaning pruiification after a natural evacuation

②. Meaning the Muslim community.

(408/6) Abu Ayyub Ansari, Jabir and Anas رضي الله عنهم said that when this verse was revealed:

فِيهِ رِجَالٌ يُحِبُّونَ أَنْ يَتَطَهَّرُوا وَاللَّهُ يُحِبُّ الْمُطَهَّرِينَ (التوبة ٩: ١٠٨)

Wherein are men who love to purify themselves, Allah loves the purifiers. (Al-Tawbah 9:108)

The Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "Allah has praised you, Ansari, for purification. What does your purification consist of?" They replied, "We perform ablution for prayer, wash ourselves after seminal emission and cleanse ourselves with water." He remarked, "That is it! so, keep on doing it." (Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Many of the Arabs cleansed themselves only with stone after defecation. According to Sayyidina Ali رضي الله عنه their diet was such that their digestion was good so that their defecation was dry like that of camels. Hence, they did not need to wash with water so they used only stones. But, the Ansari were used to water also. The Qur'an praised them for their purification and the Prophet ﷺ instructed them to continue to practice that habit. He himself was already used to doing that. The Qur'an and the Messenger of Allah ﷺ teach the Muslims to adopt this practice which is a sign of love for purification.

Where Not to Defecate?

(٤٠٩/٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اتَّقُوا لِلْعَيْنَيْنِ قَالُوا وَمَا اللَّاعِنَانِ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ الَّذِي يَتَخَلَّى فِي طَرِيقِ النَّاسِ أَوْ فِي ظِلِّهِمْ (رواه مسلم)

(409/7) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Save yourselves from two things which invite the curse of Allah." What are those things?" enquired the Companions رضي الله عنهم. The Prophet replied: "One is to defecate on the thorough fare and the other is to do so at a shady place." (Muslim)

Commentary: If a person defecates in a street or a shady place where people sit for repose or shelter from sun it will, naturally, be a source of general inconvenience and people will curse him for it.

In another Tradition quoted in Abu Dawood, on the authority of Sayyidina Mu'ar, a third place is mentioned, in addition to these, namely, Maward, which means places where water is found and people frequent them because of it.

What really, is intended to convey here is that should a person feel the urge to defacate when he is away from home he should look for a place which people do not frequent or through which they do not pass habitually, so that, no annoyance or discomfort is caused to them.

(٤١٠/٨) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا أَرَادَ الْبَرَازَ انْطَلَقَ حَتَّى لَا يَرَاهُ أَحَدٌ
(رواه ابو داود)

(410/8) Jabir رضي الله عنه has related that it was the practice of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ that when he had to go out of doors for easing himself he went to a place where he could not be seen by anyone."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Modesty and good manners demand that a man should satisfy his natural urges of that kind in such a way that he is not seen by anyone though he has to go a long way for it.

Choice Of The Place For Urination

(٤١١/٩) عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى قَالَ كُنْتُ مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ذَاتَ يَوْمٍ فَأَرَادَ أَنْ يَبُولَ فَاتَى دِمْنًا فِي أَصْلِ جِدَارٍ فَبَالَ ثُمَّ قَالَ إِذَا أَرَادَ أَحَدُكُمْ أَنْ يَبُولَ فَلْيُرْتَدْ لِبَوْلِهِ
(رواه ابو داود)

(411/9) Abu Musa Ash'ari رضي الله عنه has narrated "(Once I was in the company of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ that he felt the need to urinate. He went to a soft low ground under a wall and discharged the urine there. After it, he observed: 'When anyone of you has the need to urinate, he should seek a suitable place for it.'"

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that one should sit for urination at a place which was secluded and there was no danger of his getting soiled with urine, and the direction in which he sat, also, was not inappropriate.

(٤١٢/١٠) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَعْقِلٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَبُولَنَّ أَحَدُكُمْ فِي مُسْتَحِمِّهِ ثُمَّ يَغْتَسِلُ فِيهِ أَوْ يَتَوَضَّأُ فِيهِ فَإِنَّ عَامَّةَ الْوَسْوَاسِ

(رواه ابو داؤد)

مِنْهُ

(412/10) Abdullah bin Mughaffal رضي الله عنه has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "No one must pass urine where he bathes and then wash there or perform ablution for all evil promptings come from it." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: To do such a thing is very wrong and there are doubts of being soiled with urine. It means that if a man urinates in a bathroom and then performs ablution or has a bath then there are chances of his being soiled with urine. However, if there is a separate place in the bathroom or if it is made such a way that traces of urine can be washed off by pouring water then it is not wrong to use it for that.

(٤١٣/١١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ سَرْجِسَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

(سنن ابن داؤد سنن نسائي)

لَا يَبُولَنَّ أَحَدُكُمْ فِي جُحْرٍ

(413/11) It is reported by Abdullah bin Sarjis رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "None of you must pass urine in a (snake's) hole." (Abu Dawood, Nasa'i)

Commentary: Often these holes are haunts of reptiles which will be troubled unnecessarily. There will also be the risk of being attacked by a venomous snake if it is inside.

Prayer Before Entering The Lavatory

(٤١٤/١٢) عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ أَرْقَمَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ هَذِهِ

الْحُشُوشُ مُحْتَضِرَةٌ فَإِذَا أَتَى أَحَدُكُمْ الْخَلَاءَ فَلْيَقُلْ أَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنَ الْخُبْثِ

(رواه ابو داؤد و ابن ماجه)

وَالْخَبَائِثِ

(414/12) It is related by Zayd bin Arqam رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Wicked creatures like the devils haunt the places that are used for answering the Call of Nature. Thus, when anyone goes to the lavatory, he should first make the prayer:

أَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنَ الْخُبْثِ وَالْخَبَائِثِ

"O Lord! I seek refuge in Thee from the wicked devils, both male and female". (Ibn Majah and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: In the same way as the angels have a special association with the places that are clean and holy and where the Names, Praises and the Attributes of Allah are recited and worship is offered, filthy and repellently dirty places hold a peculiar attraction for wicked creatures like the devils. The Prophet ﷺ, hence, advised his followers that when they had to go to a privy for answering the call of nature they should beg for the protection of Allah against the mischief of the evil spirits before stepping into it. With us the case is that we neither feel the presence or descension of the angels at places of worship nor the existence of the devils at unclean places. But the sacred Prophet ﷺ has informed us about it and some bondsmen of Allah, also, occasionally, perceive such things, by His grace, which leads to an advancement in their faith.

(٤١٥/١٣) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا خَرَجَ مِنَ

الْحَلَاءِ قَالَ "غُفْرَانُكَ" (رواه الترمذى و ابن ماجه)

(415/13) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها said that when the Prophet ﷺ came out of the privy He said غُفْرَانُكَ (Grant your forgiveness). (Tirmizi, Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Many reasons have been suggested for seeking forgiveness of Allah after relieving oneself. Until one empties one's bowels he feels uneasy but once he relieves himself he has a sense of relief. It is the same thing with pious men that they are concerned with relieving themselves of one burden of sin. Thus, the Prophet ﷺ when he relieved himself prayed to Allah to forgive him the sins and purify and cleanse his soul and relieve him of the burden of sin.

There is the question why he sought forgiveness when he as innocent of sin and was also assured in Surah al-Fath

لِيَغْفِرَ لَكَ اللَّهُ مَا تَقَدَّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِكَ وَمَا تَأَخَّرَ (الفتح ٢:٤٨)

That Allah may forgive you of your sin that which is past and that which is to come, and may perfect His favour unto you, and may guide you on a right path. (Al-Fath, 48:2)

We will answer this question in the Book of Prayer.

Prayer on Coming Out of The Lavatory

(٤١٦/١٤) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا خَرَجَ

مِنَ الْخَلَاءِ قَالَ الْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ الَّذِي أَذْهَبَ عَنِّي الْأَذَى وَعَافَانِي (رواه النسائي)

(416/14) Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضي الله عنه has narrated that, "When the Messenger of Allah ﷺ came out of the lavatory, after answering the call of nature, he used to say:

الْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ الَّذِي أَذْهَبَ عَنِّي الْأَذَى وَعَافَانِي

Akhamdulilla hil lazi Azhaba 'Anni Al-Azae wa 'Afaani

(Praise be to Allah Who relieved me of the faeces and gave health).
(Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها had said in the earlier hadith that the Prophet ﷺ made the supplication غفرانك when coming out of the privy and here Abu Zarr رضي الله عنه has mentioned another prayer. The Prophet ﷺ may be alternating between the two prayers making that supplication sometimes and this one sometimes. But Allah knows best.

VIRTUE OF WUDU

In the preceding Chapter we had referred to Shah Waliullah's رحمه الله عليه observation that right-minded persons whose spirituality has not been blunted by surrendering thoughtlessly to beastly urges experience a feeling of filthiness and a sort of gloom and dullness within themselves in the state of Hads, i.e., when their wudu has been void due to a natural evacuation or some other reason. It gives place to a sense of spiritual cleanliness and effulgence after they have performed wudu. Herein lies the chief purpose and significance of wudu, and it is because of it that it has been made a pre-requisite of offering up prayer, or, in other words, of making one's special presence in the Court of the Almighty. A part from it, Allah has also vested it with a unique auspiciousness. The sacred Prophet ﷺ has delineated the virtues of wudu in the same way as he has indicated the method of performing it and laid down its rules and properties for the ummah.

Source of Purification From Sins And Forgiveness

(٤١٧/١٥) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ تَوَضَّأَ فَأَحْسَنَ الْوُضُوءَ خَرَجَتْ خَطَايَاهُ مِنْ جَسَدِهِ حَتَّى تَخْرُجَ مِنْ تَحْتِ أَظْفَارِهِ
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(417/15) It is related by Uthman رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever performed wudu and performed it well (i.e., according to the prescribed rules) all his sins will go out, even from under his nails."
(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that anyone who performs wudu properly (i.e., as taught by the Prophet ﷺ and in conformity with his own regular practice) and with the object of attaining purity not only will the dirt and grime be washed away from his body and the state of inner uncleanness called Hadis disappear, but the filthiness of the sins will also be removed from him, owing to its auspiciousness and besides purification from Hads, he will be cleansed of his sins as well.

(٤١٨/١٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا تَوَضَّأَ الْعَبْدُ الْمُسْلِمُ أَوْ الْمُؤْمِنُ فَغَسَلَ وَجْهَهُ خَرَجَ مِنْ وَجْهِهِ كُلُّ خَطِيئَةٍ نَظَرَ إِلَيْهَا بِعَيْنَيْهِ مَعَ الْمَاءِ أَوْ مَعَ آخِرِ قَطْرِ الْمَاءِ فَإِذَا غَسَلَ يَدَيْهِ خَرَجَ مِنْ يَدَيْهِ كُلُّ خَطِيئَةٍ كَانَ بَطَشَتْهَا يَدَاهُ مَعَ الْمَاءِ أَوْ مَعَ آخِرِ قَطْرِ الْمَاءِ فَإِذَا غَسَلَ رِجْلَيْهِ خَرَجَ كُلُّ خَطِيئَةٍ مَشَتْهَا رِجْلَاهُ مَعَ الْمَاءِ أَوْ مَعَ آخِرِ قَطْرِ الْمَاءِ حَتَّى يَخْرُجَ نَقِيًّا مِنَ الذُّنُوبِ
(رواه مسلم)

(418/16) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When a Muslim bondsman performs wudu and, during it, washes his face and pours water over it, all the sins he has committed with the eyes are removed from his face (i.e., are washed away) with the water; after it, when he washed his hands, all the sins he has committed with the hands are washed away from them; and, after it, when he washes his feet all the sins he has committed with the feet (i.e., by using them for that purpose) go out of them till by the time he has finished wudu he becomes completely purified from sin." (Muslim)

Commentary: A few points need to be clarified with reference to the above Traditions:

(i) In both of these Traditions the going out or washing away of the sins with the water used for wudu has been mentioned though the sins do not possess a visible or external impurity that can be removed by the use of water. Some commentators have explained it by saying that going out of sins simply signifies pardon and forgiveness while others hold that when a person commits a sin its unholy effects settle, at first, on the limbs with which he perpetrates it, and, then, in his heart. Afterwards, as in obedience to the command of Allah and in order to purify himself, he performs wudu the foulness of the misdeeds he has been guilty of and the filthiness that has come to defile and contaminate his limbs as a result of it is washed away and the transgression are forgiven by Allah. We, however, believe that the latter view conveys more accurately the sense and significance of the report.

(ii) In Abu Hurairah's narrative, only the removal of the sins of the eyes is mentioned in connection with the washing of the face in wudu though there are other organs, too, of the face, like the mouth and the tongue, and some sins are solely related to them. This is so because all the organs of ablution have not been enumerated in this Tradition, and the eyes, hands and feet have been referred to by the Prophet ﷺ, only by way of an Illustration. In another hadith, the other organs of the face are also mentioned.

(iii) It is stated in the Qur'an as well that good and virtuous deeds possess the quality of destroying evil deeds and blotting out their traces:

إِنَّ الْحَسَنَاتِ يُذْهِبْنَ السَّيِّئَاتِ (هود ١١:١١٤)

(Verily, good deed annul ill deeds (Hud, 11:114))

In the Traditions, the Prophet ﷺ has specifically mentioned that such-and-such a good deed nullifies sins, leads to forgiveness or becomes an atonement for them. A few of such Traditions have already been discussed in the earlier volume and more will be taken up later under various headings. In some of the Traditions, the Prophet ﷺ has also made it clear that only minor transgressions are forgiven owing the blessedness of virtuous acts, and, on the basis of it, *Ahl-us-sunnah*¹ hold that cleansing and purification from smaller misdeeds alone takes place through the auspiciousness of virtuous deeds. In the Qur'an, too, it is set forth:

إِنْ تَجْتَنِبُوا كَبَائِرَ مَا تُنْهَوْنَ عَنْهُ نُكَفِّرْ عَنْكُمْ سَيِّئَاتِكُمْ (النساء ٤: ٣١)

If ye avoid the great (things) which ye are forbidden, We will remit from you your (minor) evil deeds. (Al-Nisaa 4:31)

Anyway, only minor sins are meant when it is said in these Traditions that they are washed away when one performs Wudu properly. As for the major transgressions, these are a very serious matter and can be nullified only by the means of sincere repentance.

Wudu is The Key of All The Gates of Heaven

(٤١٩/١٧) عَنْ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِمَّنْكُمْ مَنْ أَحَدٍ يَتَوَضَّأُ فَيُبَلِّغُ أَوْ فَيُسْبِغُ الْوُضُوءَ ثُمَّ يَقُولُ أَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا عَبْدُهُ وَرَسُولُهُ إِلَّا فُتِحَتْ لَهُ أَبْوَابُ الْجَنَّةِ الثَّمَانِيَةِ يَدْخُلُهَا مِنْ أَيِّهَا شَاءَ (رواه مسلم)

(419/17) It is related by Umar bin Khattab رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "whoever performs wudu and a complete wudu, and, after it, says: Ash-hadu an laa ilaaha il-lal-laah wa ash-hadu an-na Mohammadan 'abduhu wa rasooluh (I attest that there is no god save Allah and that Muhammad ﷺ is His bondsman and Messenger), all the eight gates of Heaven will open for him and he will be able to enter it by whatever gate he likes." (Muslim)

Commentary: Only the organs of ablution are, apparently, cleaned when one performs wudu. The faithful bondsman, as such, feels that though he has washed those organs in compliance with the command of Allah, the real impurity is that of the imperfection of faith, want of sincerity in action and evilness of conduct. When, with this awareness, the bondsman affirms his faith by reciting the Confessional Formula of unalloyed loyalty to Allah and implicit adherence to the Prophet ﷺ, Allah grants him complete forgiveness and all the gates of Paradise opens for him.

In another version of the same Tradition and quoted, also, in Sahih Muslim the words of the Confessional formula are given as follows:

Ash-hadu an laa ilaaha il-lal-laahu wahdahu laa sharika lahu wa ash-hadu an-na Mohammadan 'abduhu wa rasooluh (I attest that there is no god save Allah, One and without a partner, and I attest that Muhammad ﷺ is His bondsman and Prophet). In yet another version, quoted in Tirmizi, the following words are added after the Formula:

Allahummaj 'alni minat-tawwabeena waj' alni minal muta-tahhireen (O God! Make me one from among those who repent for their sins and from among those who keep themselves pure).

Effulgence of Organs of Wudu on Day of Resurrection

(٤٢٠/١٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ أُمَّتِي يُدْعَوْنَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ غُرًّا مُحَجَّلِينَ مِنْ آثَارِ الْوُضُوءِ فَمَنْ اسْتَطَاعَ مِنْكُمْ أَنْ يَطِيلَ غُرَّتَهُ فَلْيَفْعَلْ
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(420/18) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When my followers will be summoned on the Day of Resurrection, their faces, hands and feet will be radiant with the effects of wudu. Thus, whoever (of you) can increase this radiance and make in perfect, he must do so."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In this world, the effect of wudu is only this much that the face, hands and feet become cleaner, and the enlightened ones also derive a special feeling of peace and happiness from it. But, as the Prophet ﷺ has said in this and many other Traditions, a propitious effect of it on the Day of Resurrection will be that the faces, hands and feet of his followers will give light, which will be their distinguishing mark in the Hereafter.

Moreover the more perfect one's wudu is, the greater will be the radiance. The Prophet ﷺ, therefore, has advised, at the end of the narrative, that everyone should strive to the utmost to perfect the effulgence by performing wudu thoroughly and well.

Complete And Faultless Wudu Despite Inconvenience

(٤٢١/١٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا أَذْكَكُمْ عَلَى مَا يَمْحُو اللَّهُ بِهِ الْخَطَايَا وَيَرْفَعُ بِهِ الدَّرَجَاتِ قَالُوا بَلَى يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ إِنْ سَبَّحَ الْوُضُوءُ عَلَى الْمَكَارِهِ وَكَثُرَ الْخَطَا إِلَى الْمَسَاجِدِ وَانْتَظَرَ الصَّلَاةَ بَعْدَ الصَّلَاةِ فَذَا لَكُمْ الرِّبَاطُ فَذَا لَكُمْ الرِّبَاطُ
(رواه مسلم)

(421/19) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "May I tell you three things owing to the auspiciousness of which Allah removes sins and causes elevation in ranks?" "Do please", replied the Companions رضي الله عنهم. The Prophet ﷺ said: "(i) To perform wudu thoroughly despite inconvenience; (ii) To bend one's steps more frequently towards the mosque; and (iii) To wait for the next prayer after offering one. This is the real Ribat,¹ the true Ribat." (Muslim)

Commentary: In this Tradition the Prophet ﷺ has laid stress on three things and told that these lead to the remission of sins and promotion in ranks.

Firstly, wudu should be performed thoroughly and it must not be cut short even if, for some reason, it may be a source of discomfort. For instance, it is winter and the water is cold or is not readily available in sufficient quantity and one has to go some distance to fetch it; in such a case to bear the hardship and perform the Wudu properly is an act of such a high merit that sins are forgiven as a result of it and elevation in ranks takes place.

Secondly, to go to the mosque regularly for offering up the prayers, and, evidently, the farther one lives, the greater will be the reward.

Thirdly, to wait eagerly for the next prayer. This, surely, will be the state of the bondsman whose heart derives peace and comfort from prayer, and who has been blessed, in some measure, with the feeling so eloquently expressed by the Prophet ﷺ in these few words: "The coolness of my eyes lies in prayer."

The word ribat occurring in the last sentence of the Tradition denotes "The detachment of soldiers stationed at the border for defence against an invasion by the enemy." Hence, it, probably, shows that these acts serve as defensive installations on the frontier against the assault by the devil.

Solicitude For Wudu is A Sign of Perfection of Faith

(٤٢٢/٢٠) عَنْ ثَوْبَانَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اسْتَقِيمُوا وَلَنْ تُخْصُوا وَاعْلَمُوا أَنَّ خَيْرَ أَعْمَالِكُمُ الصَّلَاةُ وَلَا يُحَافِظُ عَلَى الْوُضْوءِ إِلَّا مُؤْمِنٌ
(رواه مالك و احمد و ابن ماجه و الدارمي)

(422/20) Thauban رضي الله عنه related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Walk upright; remain steadfast on the Straight Path (but this steadfastness being very difficult), you will never be able to have a full control over it. (You should, therefore, always consider yourself at fault and blameworthy). And know well that the best deed among all your deeds is prayer (hence, pay the greatest attention to it), and only a truthful Believer can take full care of wudu." (Muwatta, Musnad Ahmad, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

①. Meaning outpost.

Commentary: "Taking full care of wudu", occurring in the above Tradition, can mean performing it in the correct manner, as required by the sunnah well as remaining permanently in that state. Commentators say it signifies both. In any case, the Prophet ﷺ has, here, described concern for wudu and its observance as a sign of perfection in faith and the way of truthful Believers.

Wudu Upon Wudu

(١٢٣/٢١) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ تَوَضَّأَ عَلَى طَهْرٍ كُتِبَ لَهُ عَشْرُ حَسَنَاتٍ .
(رواه الترمذی)

(423/21) It is related by Ibn Umar رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever performed wudu notwithstanding pruity (i.e., although he was with wudu), ten good deeds will be written down for him." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: What it, apparently, denotes is that to perform a fresh wudu while the earlier one still holds good should not be considered futile. On the other hand, it is such a meritorious act that ten good deeds are written in the account of anyone who does so.

Some of the commentators have expressed the view that it appertains to the situation in which a worship for which wudu is necessary has been offered up with the earlier ablution. Otherwise, a fresh wudu should not be performed by anyone who performs wudu but does not offer any worship with it or do anything after which the renewal of wudu becomes essential or is preferable.

Harmful Effects of A Defective Wudu

(٤٢٤/٢٢) عَنْ شَيْبِ بْنِ أَبِي رَوْحٍ عَنْ رَجُلٍ مِنْ أَصْحَابِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ صَلَّى صَلَاةَ الصُّبْحِ فَقَرَأَ الرُّومَ فَالْتَبَسَ عَلَيْهِ فَلَمَّا صَلَّى قَالَ مَا بَالُ أَقْوَامٍ يُصَلُّونَ مَعَنَا لَا يُحْسِنُونَ

الطُّهُورَ وَإِنَّمَا يُلِيسُ عَلَيْنَا الْقُرْآنَ أَوْلَيْكَ . (رواه النسائي)

(424/22) It is related by Shabib bin Abi Rooh, on the authority of a Companion رضي الله عنه, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ once offered the *Fajr*¹ prayer in which, as he began reciting Surah-Ar-Rum, he fell in doubt (about its actual wording) and there was an interruption. When the prophet ﷺ had finished the prayer, he observed: 'How is it that some people join us in prayer but do not carry out purification (i.e., wudu etc) properly? These are the men who cause disturbance in our recitation of the Qur'an'."

(Nasai)

Commentary: It shows that harmful effects of failure to observe cleanliness and perform wudu etc, properly fall even on pure hearts, so much so that it can cause disturbance in the recitation of the Qur'an. When the blessed heart of the Prophet ﷺ could be affected to such an extent by the failings of others, one can imagine its effect on commoners like us. But since our hearts have grown insensitive owing to persistent negligence we do not feel these things.

MISWAK

One of the things upon which the holy Prophet ﷺ has laid special stress in relation to cleanliness and purification is *Miswak*¹. He is even reported to have remarked, once, "but for the fear of adding to the hardship of my followers I would have ordered them to use miswak at each prayer time."

The medical advantages of using miswak regularly and the protection it gives against a number of diseases are now common knowledge. From the religious point of view, however, its importance lies in being highly pleasing to Allah.

Importance

(٢٢٥/٢٣) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ السِّوَاكُ
مَطَهْرَةٌ لِلْفَمِ مَرْضَاةٌ لِلرَّبِّ .

(رواه الشافعي احمد والدارمي والنسائي وروى البخارى فى صحيحه بلا اسناد.)

(225/23) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Miswak cleans the mouth thoroughly and is (also) greatly pleasing to the Lord."

(Daarami and Nasai)

Commentary: There are two aspects of goodness in every thing: one which is beneficial from the worldly point of view and is considered agreeable by the people, on the whole, and the other which is pleasing to Allah and a source of reward in Hereafter. The above Tradition tells that Miswak possesses both the qualities. It cleans the mouth and removes bad odour; these are its ready material advantages. The other heavenly and eternal benefit is that it is a unique means of earning the good pleasure of the Lord.

1. A twig or tender shoot of the branch of a tree which was, generally, used by the Arabs for brushing the teeth in the olden days and a number of Muslims do so even today.

(٤٢٦/٢٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَوْلَا أَنْ أَشَقُّ

عَلَى أُمَّتِي لَأَمَرْتَهُمْ بِالسَّوَاكِ عِنْدَ كُلِّ صَلَاةٍ (رواه البخارى ومسلم، واللفظ لمسلم)

(426/24) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "If I did not fear that my followers would be put to much hardship, I would have made it compulsory for them to use miswak at every prayer-time." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The above Tradition tells that seeing the advantages of miswak and the liking Allah has for it, the Prophet ﷺ wanted to make it obligatory for the Muslims to use it at every prayer-time but if he did not do so it was simply because he felt it would add to their difficulty and many people would not find it easy to observe it.

On further consideration, it, also, is a most effective way of persuasion and exhortation.

(٢٢٧/٢٥) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَا جَاءَنِي

جِبْرِيلُ عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ قَطُّ إِلَّا أَمَرَنِي بِالسَّوَاكِ لَقَدْ خَشِيتُ أَنْ أَحْفِيَ مُقَدَّمَ فِي

(رواه احمد)

(227/25) It is related by Abu Umamah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whenever Jibril, the Angel of Allah, came to me, he invariably told me about miswak. I fear that (as a result of constant exhortation by Jibril) I might abrade the front part of my mouth by using miswak all the time." (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: The repeated urging by Jibril was, in fact, at the behest of Allah, the idea being that it was particularly essential for a person who was constantly in communion with Allah and engaged in paying homage to Him and to whom His Angel used to come frequently and who had made the recitation of the Divine Word and its preaching and propagation the sole aim and mission of his life that he took exceptional care to keep his mouth clean. It was for that reason that the sacred Prophet ﷺ used miswak much and often.

Special Occasions

(٤٢٨/٢٦) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَرْقُدُ مِنْ لَيْلٍ

وَلَا نَهَارٍ فَيَسْتَقِظُ الْإِيْتَسَوَكَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَتَوَضَّأَ . (رواه احمد و ابو داؤد)
 (428/26) Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها related to us that the usual practice of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was that whenever he slept, during the day or the night, on waking from sleep and before performing wudu, he used the miswak. (Abu Dawood)

(٤٢٩/٢٧) عَنْ حُذَيْفَةَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا قَامَ لِلتَّهَجُّدِ مِنَ اللَّيْلِ يَشُورُ فَاهُ بِالسَّوَاكِ . (رواه بخارى و مسلم)
 (429/27) Huzaifah رضى الله عنه narrated that it was the custom of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ to clean his mouth thoroughly with miswak when he got up in the night for Tahajjud prayer.
 (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٤٣٠/٢٨) عَنْ شُرَيْحِ بْنِ هَانِيٍّ قَالَ سَأَلْتُ عَائِشَةَ بِأَيِّ شَيْءٍ كَانَ يَبْدَأُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا دَخَلَ بَيْتَهُ قَالَتْ بِالسَّوَاكِ . (رواه مسلم)
 (430/28) It is related by Shuraih bin Hani, "(Once) I enquired from Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها what was the first thing the Messenger of Allah ﷺ did on returning home from anywhere. She replied: 'First of all, he used miswak.'"
 (Muslim)

Commentary: The above Traditions tell that the Prophet ﷺ used to bursh his teeth with miswak whenever he rose from bed, specially at night for Tahajjud. It was, also, the first thing he did not coming back from any place. We, thus, learn that miswak is not related to wudu alone but it should be used habitually on rising and even before wudu if a long time has elapsed since one had cleansed the teeth. These reports have led the theologists to conclude that though it is commendable and pleasing to Allah to use miswak at all times, five occasions specially call for it: (i) on performing wudu; (ii) at the time of standing up for prayer (if a long time has passed since the last wudu and prayer; (iii) while reciting the Qur'an; (iv) on rising from bed; and (v) when bad odour has been produced in the mouth or the colour of teeth has changed.

Miswak is the Sunnah of Prophets عليهم السلام

(٤٣١/٢٩) عَنْ أَبِي أَيُّوبَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَرْبَعٌ مِنْ

سَنَّ الْمُرْسَلِينَ الْحَيَاءَ وَالتَّعَطُّرَ وَالسَّوَاكُ وَالنِّكَاحُ. (رواه الترمذی)
 (431/29) Abu Ayyub Ansari رضی اللہ عنہ reported that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "Four characteristics pertain to the practices of the Messengers عليهم السلام: modesty, use of perfume, use of miswak and marriage." (Tirmizi)

Commnetary: The Holy Prophet ﷺ exhorted the Ummah to observe these four characteristics which pertain to Allah's Messengers عليهم السلام. We have already spoken about modesty in the relevant chapter. We shall write on marriage later in this book. Use of perfume is indeed a good habit and gives man a particular spiritual activity and enlightenment.

Ten Personal Charateristics

(٤٣٢/٣٠) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَشْرٌ مِنَ الْفِطْرَةِ قَصُّ الشَّارِبِ وَ إِغْفَاءُ اللَّحْيَةِ وَالسَّوَاكُ وَ اسْتِنْشَاقُ الْمَاءِ وَقَصُّ الْأَظْفَارِ وَ غَسْلُ الْبَرَاجِمِ وَنَتْفُ الْإِبِطِ وَ حَلْقُ الْعَانَةِ وَانْتِقَاصُ الْمَاءِ قَالَ ذَكَرَ يَا قَالَ مَضَعَبٌ وَ نَسِيتُ الْعَاشِرَةَ إِلَّا أَنْ تَكُونَ الْمَضْمَضَةُ. (رواه مسلم)

(432/30) It is related on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضی اللہ عنہا that the Mesenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Ten things are among natural acts: cutting (or tirmming) of moustaches; growing of beard; brushing of teeth with miswak; snuffing water into the nose and cleaning it; washing of phalanges of fingers; plucking of the hair of armpits; removal of the hair under the navel; and purification with water after a natural evacuation." The narrator, Zakaria, tells that his mentor, Saheikh Mus'ab, had mentioned only those nine things and said that he had forgotten the tenth, but believed that it was the rising of the mouth. (Muslim)

Commnetay: These ten items have been described in the above Tradition as Min-Al-fitrah (meaning among the natural acts) but some authorities say that Al fitrah here means the Sunnah, i.e., the confirmed practice of the the Messengers عليهم السلام and they are strengthened in their view by the fact that in Mistakhraj Abu Uwanah's account of the Tradition, the word sunnah has been used in place of fitrah. According to them, the way of Messengers عليهم السلام has been characterised as fitrah because it ideally conforms to nature. Hence, this Tradition would mean that the ten points formed a part of the way of life led by the Prophets عليهم السلام and prescribed by them for their followers.

Some commentators have, further, held that Al-fitrah, in it, signifies Deen-i-Fitrah (the Natural Religion) i.e., Islam. In the Qur'an, Faith has been described as Nature. It is started in Surah-i-Rum:

فَأَقِمْ وَجْهَكَ لِلدِّينِ حَنِيفًا فِطْرَتَ اللَّهِ الَّتِي فَطَرَ النَّاسَ عَلَيْهَا لَا تَبْدِيلَ لِخَلْقِ اللَّهِ ذَلِكَ الدِّينُ الْقَيِّمُ
(الروم ٣٠: ٣٠)

So set thy purpose for religion as a man by nature upright — the nature (framed) by Allah — in which He hath created man. There is no altering (the laws of) Allah's creation. That is the right religion. (Al-Rum 35:30)

It would, in that case, mean that the ten things are among the tenets of the Islamic faith.

It is, again, suggested that Al-fitrah denotes human nature. The above saying would, thus, show that the ten points conform to the instinctive human behaviour as fashioned and designed by Allah. Just as it is natural for man to feel attracted to faith, virtue, cleanliness and purity, and to find infidelity, lewdness and filthiness abhorrent and repulsive, he; also, instinctively likes these ten things (provided that his natural inward impulses have not been prevented by external influences), and, as all enlightened people will agree, the faith and way of life the Prophets عليهم السلام bring with them is nothing but an authentic and disciplined elucidation of human instincts and desires.

Writes Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه: "The ten acts which, in fact, belong to the realm of purity and cleanliness and attributed to Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام, the founder and progenitor of Millet Hanifia¹, and have, generally, been current in all the Hanafi communities. They have believed in them and observed them in daily life. For centuries they have been living and dying in compliance with these things. That is why, they are called fitrah, i.e., Nature and are the regular practices of Millet Hanifi². It is necessary for every community to have some definite and well-known characteristics which are so clear that it can be recognised through them, and, also, taken to task for negligence in their regard so that faithfulness and faithlessness of the community can be determined easily. Moreover, it is advisable that the distinguishing features are such that they are not rare, and are, also, manifestly beneficial, and the people's minds accept them unreservedly. Allah these aspects are present in these things. One should ponder over the following points in order to appreciate its meaning:

①. Meaning a community that is committed exclusively to Allah.

②. Same is Millet-i-Hanfia.

"By the growth of the hair that are peculiar to some parts of the human body the sound and wholesome nature of a cleanliness-loving man of good taste feels the same kind of revulsion and uneasiness as in the state of Hadith i.e., when some foul matter is discharged from the body. Such is the case with the hair growing in the armpit and under the navel. Hence, by removing it, a right-minded person feels a sort of relief and cheerfulness as if it is a special claim of his nature. The same is true of the nails, and the position of the beard is that it distinguishes between a grown-up man and a youth and it is the pride and ornament of men and marks the completion of their manly form and appearance, and to grow it, also, is the confirmed practice of the Messengers. It is, therefore, obligatory to grow the beard¹, and to shave it off is the characteristic of non Muslim communities, like the fire-worshippers and the Hindus. Moreover, as people of lower-rank and having a vulgar taste do not, generally, grow the beard, not to grow it is to bring oneself down to their level.

"And the distinct harm in growing the moustaches and keeping them long is that whatever is eaten or drunk comes into contact with them if these are long enough to reach the mouth and the way of nasal discharge is, also, the same. Cleanliness, therefore, demands that moustaches should not be too long and it is for that reason that one is required to keep them trimmed. The need and importance of rinsing the mouth and cleaning the nose with water after a natural evacuation and the washing of the phalanges of fingers where the grime collects is self-evident from the point of view of cleanliness and purification."¹

- ①. In many Traditions the command to grow the beard has been given explicitly and in the imperative mood form which the theologistic have inferred that it is essential. But in no Tradition has its length been specified. The jurists, however, have concluded through the process of evidence and reasoning that it should be grown upto the length of a fist.

In the view of some theologists, the above Tradition, further, enunciates the principle that cleanliness of the body, taking care of one's appearance and keeping away from or getting rid of anything that excites the feelings of disgust and aversion is the law of nature and the way of the Messengers عليهم السلام.

This hadith has been narrated by Abdullah bin Zubayr رضي الله عنه who heard it from his aunt Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها. Talqq bin Habib transmitted it from him and Mus'ab bin Shaybah reported it from him. Zakaria bin Abu Za'idah was his student and he transmitted the hadith from him, saying that the hadith from him, he had forgotten the tenth characteristic but believed it might be rising the mouth.

Miswak Adds to The Value of Namaz

(٤٣٣/٣١) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَفْضُلُ الصَّلَاةِ الَّتِي يُسْتَاكُ لَهَا عَلَى الصَّلَاةِ الَّتِي لَا يُسْتَاكُ لَهَا سَبْعِينَ ضِعْفًا .

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(433/31) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The prayer of which miswak is done is seventy times superior to the prayer offered without miswak."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: In the Arabic language and idiom, as we have remarked previously, the figure of seventy, like some other figures, is used to denote excess or profusion. Here, too, it has, probably, been employed in the same sense. The above Tradition will, thus, mean that prayer which is offered after cleaning the teeth with miswak is of a much higher value than the one celebrated without it.

When a bondsman decides to present himself in the audience of the King of Kings and to glorify Him and hold communion with Him through prayer and imagines that His Glory and Magnificence demands that the tongue should be washed with musk and rose water before uttering this name, but as, out of Mercy, the Lord of Lords has enjoined only the miswak, he is using it, is it not fitting that Prayer for which miswak is used with those sentiments of reverence and deep tenderness should be those sentiments of reverence and deep tenderness should be seventy times, or even more, superior to the one offered without it.

This hadith is also transmitted by Ahmad, Bazzar, Abu Ya'la, Ibn Khazimah, Hakim as mentioned in Targhib. Another hadith of the same purport is transmitted by Abdullah bin Abbas  and Jabir .

WUDU

Among the instructions given by the holy Prophet ﷺ concerning cleanliness and purification there are some like those appertaining to Istinja cleanliness of the body and dress, and purity and impurity of water that are of general and all-time application and other which are related exclusively to prayer and can be described as its pre-requisites. The command of wudu belongs to the latter category. Says the Qur'an:

”إِذَا قُمْتُمْ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ فَاغْسِلُوا وُجُوهَكُمْ وَأَيْدِيَكُمْ إِلَى الْمَرَافِقِ وَامْسَحُوا بِرُءُوسِكُمْ وَأَرْجُلَكُمْ إِلَى الْكَعْبَيْنِ ۝“
(المائدة ٦:٥)

When you rise up for prayer, wash your faces, and your hands up to the elbows, and lightly rub your heads and (wash) your feet up to the ankles.
(Al-Ma'idah 5:6)

To be with wudu is, thus, an essential condition of this unique form of presence in the Court of the Almighty and of holding communion with Him. Whoever is not with wudu (i.e., is in the state of Hads) must perform ablution before offering up prayer.

No Prayer Without Wudu

(٤٣٤/٣٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تُقْبَلُ صَلَاةٌ مَنْ أَحْدَثَ حَتَّى يَتَوَضَّأَ.
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(434/32) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever is not with wudu, his prayer shall not be accepted until he performs the wudu." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٤٣٥/٣٣) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تُقْبَلُ صَلَاةٌ بِغَيْرِ طَهْوَرٍ وَلَا صَدَقَةٍ مِنْ غُلُولٍ
(رواه مسلم)

(435/33) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "No prayer can be accepted without purification and no *Sadaqah*¹ can be accepted which is given away from goods that are acquired illegitimately." (Muslim)

(٤٣٦/٣٤) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِفْتَاحُ الصَّلَاةِ الطُّهُورُ وَتَحْرِيمُهَا التَّكْبِيرُ وَتَحْلِيلُهَا التَّسْلِيمُ .

(رواه ابو داؤد والترمذى والدارمى ورواه ابن ماجه عنه وعن ابى سعيد)

(436/34) It is narrated by Sayyidina Ali رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The key to prayer is purification on (wudu), its tahrim (prohibition) is the takbir (that is, when anyone begins the prayer with Allahu Akbar the other permitted things are forbidden to him, like talking, eating, and drinking etc.). And its Tahlil (permission) is to end prayer with as-salamu alaykum wa rahmatul Allah (when all these things which he was forbidden during prayer become allowed to him).

(Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Daarami, Ibn majah.)

(٤٣٧/٣٥) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِفْتَاحُ الْجَنَّةِ الصَّلَاةُ وَمِفْتَاحُ الصَّلَاةِ الطُّهُورُ

(رواه احمد)

(437/35) It is related by Jabir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The key to Heaven is prayer and the key of prayer is ablution." (Musnad-i-Ahmad)

Commnetary: In these two hadith, ablution has been described as the key of prayer showing that just as no one can enter a locked house without opening the lock with the key so, also, it is not possible to gain admission to prayer without wudu. All these reports denote, with a slight variation of words, that ablution is a necessary of offering prayer worthy of acceptance. Since prayer is the highest form of presence before Allah and of paying divine honours, respect and regard for it would demand that the command to take a bath and wear a good, clean dress was given for every prayer but as it would have entailed much hardship, Allah in His Infinite Kindness, has enjoined only this much that prayer should be offered in clean clothes and with wudu in which all the visible organs that have a special place in the physical structure of man and can be said to symbolise the whole of the body get washed. Moreover, hands, feet, face and head are the parts that, generally, remain uncovered, and, hence, these alone are required to be washed or rubbed lightly in wudu.

The bondsmen who normally experience the dullness of spirit and uneasiness that is the characteristic of the state of Hadth and the feeling of freshness and effulgence which is produced on performing the ablution know well why wudu has been prescribed as an essential preparation for offering prayer. But this much even we, the common people, can realise that it is a solemn act of preparation of presenting oneself in the Court of the Supreme Being. People who perform wudu even with this little awareness will, Insha Allah, feel a rare joy and effulgence in it.

Method

(٤٣٨/٣٦) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ أَنَّهُ تَوَضَّأَ فَافْرَعَ عَلَى يَدَيْهِ ثَلَاثًا ثُمَّ تَمَضَّمَصَّ وَاسْتَنْشَرَّ ثُمَّ غَسَلَ وَجْهَهُ ثَلَاثًا ثُمَّ غَسَلَ يَدَهُ الْيُمْنَى إِلَى الْمِرْفَقِ ثَلَاثًا ثُمَّ غَسَلَ يَدَهُ الْيُسْرَى إِلَى الْمِرْفَقِ ثَلَاثًا ثُمَّ مَسَحَ بِرَأْسِهِ ثُمَّ غَسَلَ رِجْلَهُ الْيُمْنَى ثَلَاثًا ثُمَّ الْيُسْرَى ثَلَاثًا ثُمَّ قَالَ رَأَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَوَضَّأَ نَحْوَ وَضُوءِي هَذَا ثُمَّ قَالَ مَنْ تَوَضَّأَ وَضُوءِي هَذَا ثُمَّ يُصَلِّي رَكَعَتَيْنِ لَا يُحَدِّثُ نَفْسَهُ فِيهِمَا بِشَيْءٍ غُفِرَ لَهُ مَا تَقَدَّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِهِ (رواه البخارى ومسلم واللفظ للبخارى)

(438/36) It is related by Sayyidina Uthman رضي الله عنه that, once, he performed wudu in this manner that, first, he poured water over the palms of both his hands thrice, and, after it, rinsed his mouth and washed his nose by snuffing in water, and, then, blowing it out. Then, he washed his face thrice, and, after it, washed his right arm up to the elbow three times, and, then, in the same way, washed his left arm up to the elbow three times. Then, he passed his wet hand over his head and washed his right foot up to the ankle thrice, and, then, his left foot, in the same way, up to the ankle thrice. (After thus performing wudu) he remarked: "I saw the Messenger of Allah ﷺ performing wudu exactly as I have done just now, and I heard him say: 'Whoever performs wudu in this manner and, after it, offers two *Raka't*¹ of prayer which remains free from promptings of the self (i.e. during which he does not think of anything not related to prayer), all his previous sins are forgiven." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The Prophet's ﷺ method of performing Wudu described, or, rather, demonstrated by Sayyidina Uthman ؓ here is the most perfect way of carrying out ablution. About rinsing the mouth and cleaning the nose with water it has not been specified in it as to how many times he did that, but in some other accounts of the same event it is clearly stated that these, too, were done thrice.

It is not necessary that the two Rak'at of prayer the offering of which with due reserve and humility is mentioned in the above narrative are optional prayers but if one is fortunate enough to offer, after performing wudu as ordained by Allah, even a *Fard*² or *Sunnah*³ prayer free from "conversation with the self", i.e., during which distracting thoughts do not crowd the mind, he will, Insha Allah, gain the forgiveness promised in this report.

Commentators and godly men with an evolved spiritual awareness and insight have remarked that "conversation with the self" denotes the creeping of stray thoughts into the mind to the extent that the heart gets engrossed in them. There is, nevertheless, no harm if a doubt or an outside idea crops in the mind at the time of prayer but does not absorb the devotee's attention and he tries earnestly to shut it out or to drive it away. It happens even to those who are perfect in faith.

(٣٣٩/٣٧) عَنْ أَبِي حَيَّةَ قَالَ رَأَيْتُ عَلِيًّا تَوَضَّأَ فَغَسَلَ كَفَّيْهِ حَتَّى انْقَاهُمَا ثُمَّ مَضْمَضَ ثَلَاثًا وَاسْتَنْشَقَ ثَلَاثًا وَغَسَلَ وَجْهَهُ ثَلَاثًا وَذَرَاغِيهِ ثَلَاثًا وَمَسَحَ بِرَأْسِهِ مَرَّةً ثُمَّ غَسَلَ قَدَمَيْهِ إِلَى الْكَعْبَيْنِ ثُمَّ قَامَ فَأَخَذَ فَضْلَ طَهُورِهِ فَشَرِبَهُ وَهُوَ قَائِمٌ ثُمَّ قَالَ أَحَبُّتُ أَنْ أُرِيَكُمْ كَيْفَ كَانَ طَهُورُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ.
(رواه الترمذى والنسائى)

(339/37) Abu Haiyyah narrated "I saw Sayyidina Ali ؓ. He

- ①. Prayer consists of a number of cyclic parts each ending with two prostrations. These parts are known as Raka'ah (pl. Raka't).
- ②. Obligatory Prayers.
- ③. The kind of prayer the Prophet offered aside of the Obligatory Prayers and desired his followers to do the same.

performed wudu in this manner; first, he washed the palms of his hands thoroughly till he had cleansed them completely; then, he rinsed his mouth thrice; then, he snuffed water in his nose thrice; then he washed his face and both arms (up to the elbows) thrice; then he passed his wet hands over the head once; and, then, he washed both the feet up to the ankles thrice. After it, he got up and drank, in the standing position, the water left in the vesse after wudu. Later, when he had completed wudu before us in this way, he remarked: 'I thought I would show you how the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to perform wudu.'

(Tirmizi and Nassai)

Commentary: As we have learnt from the afore-mentioned narratives of Sayyidina Uthman ؓ and Sayyidna Ali ؓ, the Prophet ﷺ, generally, washed the parts that were to be washed in wudu three times, but he did the *Masah*¹ of the head only once. It, also, sometimes, happened that he washed the organs of wudu only once or twice with the object of indicating that the ablution could be performed that way as well. In the terminology of the jurists it is called bay fawaz (i.e., to make clear or show publicly the permission or lawfulness of a thing). It is, further, possible that the Prophet ﷺ, at certain times, did so owing to the scarcity of water. Allah knows best.

(٤٤٠/٣٨) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ تَوَضَّأَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ

وَسَلَّمَ مَرَّةً مَرَّةً لَمْ يَزِدْ عَلَى هَذَا . (رواه البخارى)

(440/38) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ, "(One day) the Messenger of Allah ﷺ performed wudu by washing the parts only once (and) no more." (Bukhari)

(٤٤١/٣٩) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَوَضَّأَ مَرَّتَيْنِ

مَرَّتَيْنِ (رواه البخارى)

(441/39) It is related by Abdullah bin Zaid bin 'Asim ؓ "(Once) the Messenger of Allah ﷺ performed wudu by washing the parts twice." (Bukhari)

Commentary: As for washing the parts only once or twice, the Prophet ﷺ did so, as explained earlier, merely to show that wudu

①. Act of passing wet hands over a part of the body with a view to cleaning it.

could, also, be performed like that or else his usual practice was to wash the hands, forearms and face and feet thrice, and he taught his followers to do the same. It is the better and masnun method of performing the ablution. The Tradition that follows elucidates the matter.

(٤٤٢/٤٠) عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ قَالَ جَاءَ أَعْرَابِيٌّ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَسْأَلُ عَنِ الْوُضُوءِ فَأَرَاهُ ثَلَاثًا ثُمَّ قَالَ هَكَذَا الْوُضُوءُ فَمَنْ زَادَ عَلَى هَذَا فَقَدْ آسَأَ وَتَعَدَّى وَظَلَمَ . (رواه النسائي وابن ماجه)

(442/40) Amr bin Shu'ayb quoted his father on the authority of his grandfather that a nomad Arab came to the prophet ﷺ and asked him about ablution. He demonstrated it to him, performing each detail three times (that is, those organs that are washed) and then said, "This is how wudu is performed. If anyone does more than this, he has done wrong, transgressed and done wickedly." (Nasa'i, Ibn Majah)

Commentary: The Prophet ﷺ has disallowed anyone to wash any part of the body more than three times implying that it is enough to obtain cleanliness that one wash his limbs three times. If anyone increases the number then he, as it were, suggests amendment to the Shari'ah and shows boldness.

(٤٤٣/٤١) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ تَوَضَّأَ وَاحِدَةً فِتْلِكَ وَطَيْفَةَ الْوُضُوءِ الَّتِي لَا بُدَّ مِنْهَا وَمَنْ تَوَضَّأَ اثْنَيْنِ فَلَهُ كِفْلَانِ وَمَنْ تَوَضَّأَ ثَلَاثًا فَذَلِكَ وَضُوءِي وَوُضُوءُ الْأَنْبِيَاءِ مِنْ قَبْلِي . (رواه احمد)

(443/41) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever washes the parts only once in wudu, it is the grade of wudu from which there is no escape (i.e., no wudu can be performed unless it is done), and whoever washes the parts twice will receive a two fold reward (as compared to him who washed the parts one time only), and whoever washes the parts thrice (which is better and masnun), then it is my wudu and the wudu of the Messengers before me (i.e., my method of performing wudu is to wash the parts three times over and the Messenger of Allah ﷺ who were raised up earlier, also, did the same)." (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: The above Tradition belongs to Musnad Ahmad. Another report also in it says "one day the Prophet ﷺ performed wudu before us in which he washed the parts only once and observed that it was the wudu of the lowest grade without which no one's prayer could find acceptance with Allah; then, he performed wudu before us in which he washed the part two times and observed that it would fetch twice as much reward as the former kind of wudu; and, then, he performed wudu before us in which he washed the parts thrice and observed that it was his wudu and the wudu of the Messengers عليهم السلام who preceded him." This report has also been reproduced in Dar Qutni, Baihaqi, Ibn Hibban and Ibn Majah.

Sunnah And Properties

In wudu, only the four acts mentioned in the verse of Surah Al-Maidah we have seen earlier are obligatory, i.e., washing of the face, washing of the arms up to the elbows, passing of wet hands over the head and washing of the feet upto the ankles. Apart from these, the other things the Prophet ﷺ did or exhorted others to do are known as the *sunnah*¹ and properties of wudu that carry it to both inward and outward perfection. These, for instance, are washing of the face, arms and feet, not once but thrice, passing the fingers through the beard and in between each-other and the toes, moving the rings, if it is worn, round the finger so that there remains no doubt about the water getting under it, rinsing the mouth and snuffing water in the nose, passing wet hands over the external and internal parts of the ears and reciting Bismillah at the beginning and the Kalima of Affirmation at the end of wudu, and, also, the supplication at its conclusion.

(٤٤٤/٤٢) عَنْ سَعِيدِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا

وُضُوءَ لِمَنْ لَمْ يَذْكُرِ اسْمَ اللَّهِ عَلَيْهِ . (رواه الترمذی و ابن ماجه)

(444/42) It is related by Sa'eed bin Zayd ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever performed wudu without taking the name of Allah, he performed wudu." (Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: According to the majority of legistis, wudu which

①. Meaning acts and observances mentioned by the practice of the Prophet is performed hurriedly and without taking the name of Allah will be defective and lustreless and the forbidding of a defective thing by declaring it void is a habitual mode of expression in the Traditions. We have had the occasion to discuss the point at some length in the Kitab Al-Iman.

In the Tradition coming immediately after it, it is distinctly stated that wudu performed without taking the name of Allah is most faulty and imperfect in its inner lusture and effectiveness, though not wholly futile.

(٤٤٥/٤٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ وَابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ وَابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَنْ تَوَضَّأَ وَذَكَرَ اسْمَ اللَّهِ فَإِنَّهُ يُطَهِّرُ جَسَدَهُ كُلَّهُ وَمَنْ تَوَضَّأَ وَلَمْ يَذْكُرِ اسْمَ اللَّهِ لَمْ يُطَهِّرْ إِلَّا مَوْضِعَ الْوُضُوءِ .
(رواه الدار قطنی)

(445/43) It is related on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ and Ibn Masood رضی اللہ عنہ that the Prophet ﷺ said, "Whoever performs wudu taking the name of Allah, the wudu purifies his whole body, and whoever performs wudu and does not take the name of Allah, wudu purifies only the parts washed." (Dar Qutni)

Commentary: It shows that when wudu is performed with the name of Allah, i.e., reciting Bismillah or any other formula of God-remembrance, the whole body is purified and becomes radiant, and when it is performed without it, only the parts that are washed are purified; in other words, it is a wudu of a very poor quality.

(٤٤٦/٤٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَا أَبَاهُ هُرَيْرَةَ إِذَا تَوَضَّأْتَ فَقُلْ بِسْمِ اللَّهِ وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ فَإِنْ حَفِظْتَكَ لَا تَبْرَحَ تَكْتُبُ لَكَ الْحَسَنَاتِ حَتَّى تُحْدِثَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ الْوُضُوءِ . (رواه الطبرانی فی الصغير)

(446/44) It is reported by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "O Abu Hurayrah, when you perform ablution say بِسْمِ اللَّهِ (Bismillah) and الْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ (Al Hamdu Lillah). As long as you retain the wudu, your guarding angels (who record your deeds) will go on writing piety to your credit." (Tabarani).

Commnetary: This hadith tells us that as long as a person's ablution is retained the angels will write down for him pious deed provided he had recited Bismillah and Al-Hamdulillah while performing ablution.

(٤٤٧/٤٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا لَبِسْتُمْ وَإِذَا تَوَضَّأْتُمْ وَقَابَدْتُمْ بِمَيَامِنِكُمْ .
(رواه احمد و ابو داؤد)

(447/45) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه has narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When you wear a dress or perform wudu, begin with the organs on the right side of your body."

(Musnad Ahmad and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It tells that when a person puts on clothes, shoes or socks he should first on the right side, and if he performs ablution, the washing of the parts should also be commenced from the right side.

(٤٤٨/٤٦) عَنْ لَقِيطِ بْنِ صَبْرَةَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَخْبِرْنِي عَنِ الْوُضُوءِ قَالَ أَسِغِ الْوُضُوءَ وَخَلِّلْ بَيْنَ الْأَصَابِعِ وَبَالِغْ فِي الْأَسْتِنَاقِ إِلَّا أَنْ تَكُونَ صَائِمًا
(رواه ابو داؤد و الترمذی و النسائي)

(448/46) Laqeet bin Sabirah related to us that (once) he asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ to tell him about wudu (i.e., particular). The Prophet ﷺ replied: "(One), perform wudu thoroughly and well (i.e., ensuring that nothing is left wanting), and, (secondly) pass the fingers in between them and the toes while washing them, and, (thirdly), clean the nostrils properly by drawing the water deep in them except when you are keeping fasting (i.e., do not draw in much water if you are fasting).

(Abu Dawood, Tirmizi and Nasai)

(٤٤٩/٤٧) عَنِ الْمُسْتَوْرِدِ بْنِ شَدَادٍ قَالَ رَأَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا تَوَضَّأَ يَذُلُّكَ أَصَابِعَ رِجْلَيْهِ بِخُنْصَرِهِ
(رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد و ابن ماجه)

(449/47) Mustaurid bin Shaddad رضي الله عنه narrated to us "I saw the Messenger of Allah ﷺ when he performed wudu he used to rub the toes (i.e., the space between them) with his little finger."

(Tirmizi, Abu Dawood and Ibn Majah)

(٤٥٠/٤٨) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا تَوَضَّأَ

أَخَذَ كَفًّا مِنْ مَاءٍ فَأَدْخَلَهُ تَحْتَ حَنَكِهِ فَخَلَّلَ بِهِ لِحْيَتَهُ وَقَالَ هَكَذَا أَمَرَنِي رَبِّي

(رواه ابو داؤد)

(450/48) Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه said that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ performed ablution, he took a handful of water and putting it under his chin made it go through his beard, saying, "Thus did my Lord command me." (Abu Dawood)

(٤٥١/٤٩) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَسَحَ بِرَأْسِهِ وَأُذُنَيْهِ

بِاطْنَهُمَا بِالسَّبَّاحَتَيْنِ وَظَاهِرَهُمَا بِإِبْهَامَيْهِ .

(رواه النسائي)

(451/49) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ performed the masah of his mead (in wudu), and, with it, of both his ears (in such a way) that he performed the masah of the internal parts of the ears with fore-fingers, and of the external parts with both the thumbs." (Nasai)

(٤٥٢/٥٠) عَنِ الرَّبِيعِ بْنِ مَعُوذٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَوَضَّأَ

فَادْخَلَ أَصْبَعَيْهِ فِي جُحْرَيْ أُذُنَيْهِ .

(رواه ابو داؤد و احمد و ابن ماجه)

(452/50) Sayyidah Ar-Rubaiyi' bint Mu'awwiz رضي الله عنها said that she saw the Prophet ﷺ performing ablution and he inserted his two wet fingers in his ear-holes when wiping the ears.

(Abu Dawood, Musnad Ahmad, ibn Majah).

(٤٥٣/٥١) عَنْ أَبِي رَافِعٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا تَوَضَّأَ وَضُوءَ الصَّلَاةِ حَرَّكَ خَاتَمَهُ فِي أَصْبَعِهِ .

(رواه الدار قطنى و ابن ماجه)

(453/51) It is narrated by Abi Rafi' "When the Messenger of Allah ﷺ performed wudu, he, also, moved his ring (to ensure that water reached the place covered by it as well)." (Dar Qutni and Ibn Majah)

(Dar Qutni and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: In the forgoing ahadith the Prophet ﷺ exhorted his companions to observe the etiquettes under which he himself was particular about.

Water Should Not be Spent Wastefully

(٤٥٤/٥٢) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو بْنِ الْعَاصِ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

مَرَّبِسْعِدٍ وَهُوَ يَتَوَضَّأُ فَقَالَ مَا هَذَا السَّرْفُ يَا سَعْدُ! قَالَ أَفِي الْوُضُوءِ سَرْفٌ؟
قَالَ وَإِنْ كُنْتُ عَلَى نَهْرٍ جَارٍ .
(رواه احمد وابن ماجه)

(454/52) Abdullah bin Amr bin Al-'Aas رضي الله عنه related to us that (once) Sa'd bin Abu Waqas رضي الله عنه was performing wudu (and he was using water wastefully in it) the Messenger of Allah ﷺ happened to pass by him. (As he saw it), he remarked, Sa'd, what extravagance is it (i.e., why are you wasting the water)?" 'Messenger of Allah ﷺ! replied Sa'd bin abi Waqas رضي الله عنه, 'Can there be a waste of water even in wudu? "Yes", said the Prophet ﷺ, "It is wastefulness even though you are performing the ablution on the bank of a running stream'."

(Musnad Ahmad and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: The above tradition denotes that it is among the properties of wudu that water is not spent wastefully in it.

Use of Towel or Handkerchief

(٤٥٥/٥٣) عَنْ مَعَاذِ بْنِ جَبَلٍ قَالَ رَأَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا
تَوَضَّأَ مَسَحَ وَجْهَهُ بِطَرَفِ ثَوْبِهِ .
(رواه الترمذی)

(455/53) It is related on the authority of Mu'az bin Jabal رضي الله عنه "I saw that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ performed wudu he wiped his face with a corner of his dress." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: It denotes that, after performing ablution, the holy Prophet ﷺ used to wipe his face with the corner of his clothing (mantle etc.). It is, again, quoted in Tirmizi, on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها, that a piece of cloth was kept for the Prophet ﷺ to dry up the parts after ablution. In the narratives of some of other Companions, as well, a mention is made of such a cloth or handkerchief.

Taking into account all the reports it would appear that there used to be a special piece of cloth like a handkerchief with which the Prophet wiped his face, hands, feet and other parts after wudu, and, sometimes, he, also, did that with the corner of his garment. Allah knows best.

Supplication At The End of Wudu

We have seen a hadith telling us that at the end of wudu we must recite the Kalimah Shahadah and make a supplication:

اللَّهُمَّ اجْعَلْنِي مِنَ التَّوَّابِينَ وَاجْعَلْنِي مِنَ الْمُتَطَهِّرِينَ

We have also seen a hadith exhorting us to offer two raka'at after that. This will atone for our past sins. Let us see one more hadith in this regard.

Reciting After Ablution

(٤٥٦/٥٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لِبِلَالٍ عِنْدَ صَلَاةِ الْفَجْرِ حَدَّثَنِي بَارِجِي عَمَلٍ عَمِلْتَهُ فِي الْإِسْلَامِ فَإِنِّي سَمِعْتُ دَفَّ نَعْلَيْكَ بَيْنَ يَدَيَّ فِي الْجَنَّةِ قَالَ مَا عَمِلْتُ عَمَلًا أَرْجَى عِنْدِي إِنِّي لَمْ أَتَطَهَّرْ طَهُورًا فِي سَاعَةٍ مِنْ لَيْلٍ أَوْ نَهَارٍ إِلَّا وَصَلَيْتُ بِذَلِكَ الطَّهُورِ مَا كُتِبَ لِي أَنْ أُصَلِّيَ.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(456/54) It is reported by Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that one day after the Fajr prayer the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to Sayyidina Bilal رضي الله عنه, "Tell me Bilal, of the action that you have done since becoming a Muslim which is most calculated to cause hope in you, for I heard the sound of your sandals in front of me in Paradise." Bilal رضي الله عنه replied, "I have done no such action calculated in my opinion to cause hope than that I have never performed ablution at any hour of the night or day without immediately praying what was ordained for me to pray."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The Prophet ﷺ had heard Sayyidina Bilal's رضي الله عنه footsteps in Paradise in his dream. Hence the question of his going to Paradise in this life does not arise. However, the fact that the Prophet ﷺ saw him in his dream in Paradise ensures that Sayyidina Bilal رضي الله عنه will go to Paradise. In fact, he will enjoy the highest rank there.

Hence, we must offer prayer after performing ablution, even if it is the fard, sunnah, or optional prayer.

JANABAT AND ITS GHUSL

We have seen how a person with a sound disposition and a spiritual outlook feels a sort of gloom and uneasiness when he passes out filthy matter from his body or satisfies a cranal urge which is far removed from the celestial aspects of his personality and regards himself unworthy of a sacred act like worship as long as he is in that state. Such a condition, which is called Hads, is of two kinds, or rather, it has two grades. One is Hads Asghar (i.e., minor impurity) for getting rid of which wudu is sufficient, i.e., the feeling of depression and filthiness gets removed on performing wudu. The other is Hads Akbar (i.e., major impurity) whose effects are much deeper and can be nullified only by *Ghusl*¹. Defaction, urination and passing of flatus belong to the former category of Hads while cohabitation, menstruation and labour and childbirth offer the instances of the latter category.

A right-minded person considers a bath necessary for dispelling the feeling of spiritual distress and uncleanness produced by sexual intercourse, menstruation or child-birth and does not regard himself or herself to be in a fit state to engage in religious acts, such as, prayer and God-remembrance or even to go to a sacred place like mosque unless he or she has taken a bath. This is required of man by his untainted inward impulse and the Shari'ah (i.e., the Islamic Canonic Law), too, has prescribed a bath in such circumstances and prohibited its followers from carrying out an act of worship or entering a mosque or any other sanctified place without ghusl.

When Ghusl is Obligatory

(٤٥٧/٥٥) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا

①. Ritual washing of the whole body; a bath in common usage.

تَقْرَأُ الْحَائِضُ وَلَا الْجُنُبُ شَيْئًا مِنَ الْقُرْآنِ . (رواه الترمذی)

(457/55) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: No menstruating woman or *Junubi*¹ person should recite anything from the Qur'an." (Tirmizi)

(٤٥٨/٥٦) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

وَجْهُوا هَذِهِ الْبُيُوتَ عَنِ الْمَسْجِدِ فَإِنِّي لَا أَحِلُّ الْمَسْجِدَ لِحَائِضٍ وَلَا جُنُبٍ .

(رواه ابو داود)

(458/56) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضی اللہ عنہا that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Turn the direction of these houses from the mosque (i.e., shut their doors that open into the mosque and open them on the other side) for there is absolutely no justification for a menstruating woman or a Junubi to enter the mosque (i.e., it is strictly forbidden to them to go into it)."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: When the Prophet's ﷺ Mosque was built at first, the doors of a large number of neighbouring houses opened in its courtyard. After some time the command came that the sanctity of the mosque demanded that woman during menses and persons who were in the condition of Janabat must not come into it. The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, ordered that the doors of all the houses that opened into mosque should be closed and new door made on the other side.

Method

(٤٥٩/٥٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَحْتَ

كُلِّ شَعْرٍ جَنَابَةٌ فَاغْسِلُوا الشَّعْرَ وَانْقَوِ الْبَشْرَةَ . (رواه ابو داود والترمذی وابن ماجه)

(459/57) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The effect of janabat is under every hair of the body. Thus, the hair should be washed thoroughly in Ghusl Janabat (so that the parts of the body that are covered with hair are cleaned and purified), and the part of the skin which is visible (i.e., is not covered with hair) should, also, be cleansed

①. The state of uncleanness caused by sexual discharge whether as a result of copulation or in a dream etc., is called Janabat while a person who is in the state is called a Junubi.

and purified properly." (Abu Dawood, Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

(٤٦٠/٥٨) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ تَرَكَ مَوْضِعَ شَعْرَةٍ مِنْ جَنَابَةٍ لَمْ يَغْسِلْهَا فُעِلَ بِهَا كَذَا وَكَذَا مِنَ النَّارِ ، قَالَ عَلِيٌّ فَمِنْ ثَمَّ عَادَيْتُ رَأْسِي فَمِنْ ثَمَّ عَادَيْتُ رَأْسِي ثَلَاثًا .

(رواه ابو داؤد و احمد و الدارمى الا انهما لم يكر رافمن ثم عاديت راسي.)

(460/58) It is related by Sayyidina Ali عليه السلام that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever left unwashed even the place equal to a hair in the Ghusl of janabat shall receive such-and-such punishment of Hell." The narrator, Sayyidina Ali عليه السلام added "owing to this warning of the Prophet ﷺ I became an enemy of my hair i.e., made it a principle to shave it off as soon as it started growin)." According to the narrative quoted in Abu Dawood, Sayyidina Ali عليه السلام said it thrice. (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Both of these Traditions show that in the Ghusl of Janabat the whole body should be washed in such a way that nothing, not even a place equal to a hair, was left out.

Some commentators have remarked that Sayyidina Ali's عليه السلام habitual course of action of having the hair of his head shaved as soon as it began to grow long in order to make it easy to take a bath signifies that it is also lawful and commendable to have a shaven head though the growing of the hair of the head is more desirable as was the custom of the sacred Prophet ﷺ and the rest of the rightly guided Companions رضي الله عنهم.

(٤٦١/٥٩) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا اغْتَسَلَ مِنَ الْجَنَابَةِ يَبْدَأُ فَيَغْسِلُ يَدَيْهِ ثُمَّ يُفْرِغُ بِيَمِينِهِ عَلَى شِمَالِهِ فَيَغْسِلُ فَرْجَهُ ثُمَّ يَتَوَضَّأُ وَضُوءَهُ لِلصَّلَاةِ ثُمَّ يَأْخُذُ الْمَاءَ فَيُدْخِلُ أَصَابِعَهُ فِي أَصُولِ الشَّعْرِ حَتَّى إِذَا رَأَى أَنْ قَدِ اسْتَبْرَأَ حَفَنَ عَلَى رَأْسِهِ ثَلَاثَ حَفَنَاتٍ ثُمَّ أَقَاضَ عَلَى سَائِرِ جَسَدِهِ ثُمَّ غَسَلَ رِجْلَيْهِ .

(رواه البخارى و مسلم و اللفظ لمسلم)

(461/59) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to take the bath of janabat, he, first, washed both the hands, then cleaned the private parts with the left hand and poured water over them with the right hand, and, then performed wudu as is done for prayer. After it, he took water (in his hands) and made it reach the roots of the hair (of his head and beard) by moving the roots of the hair with his fingers till he was sure that the water had got to every place, and, then, poured three handfuls of water over his head. He, then, poured water all over the body, and, afterwards, washed both his feet." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٤٦٢/٦٠) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ حَدَّثَنِي خَالَتِي مَيْمُونَةُ قَالَتْ أَدْنَيْتُ لِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ غُسْلَهُ مِنَ الْجَنَابَةِ فَعَسَلَ كَفَّيْهِ مَرَّتَيْنِ أَوْ ثَلَاثًا ثُمَّ ادَّخَلَ يَدَهُ فِي الْإِنَاءِ ثُمَّ أَفْرَغَ بِهِ عَلَى فَرْجِهِ وَغَسَلَهُ بِشِمَالِهِ ثُمَّ ضَرَبَ بِشِمَالِهِ الْأَرْضَ فَدَلَّهَا لَهَا شَدِيدًا ثُمَّ تَوَضَّأَ وَضُوءَهُ لِلصَّلَاةِ ثُمَّ أَفْرَغَ عَلَى رَأْسِهِ ثَلَاثَ حَفَنَاتٍ مَلَأَ كَفَّهُ ثُمَّ غَسَلَ سَائِرَ جَسَدِهِ ثُمَّ تَخَيَّ عَنْ مَقَامِهِ ذَلِكَ فَغَسَلَ رِجْلَيْهِ ثُمَّ أَتَيْتُهُ بِالْمِنْدِيلِ فَرَدَّهُ . (رواه البخارى و مسلم و هذا اللفظ مسلم)

(462/60) Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه related his aunt (i.e., mother's sister), Sayyidah Maimoona رضي الله عنها, had told him "Once I placed the water for the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, first of all, he washed his hands twice or thrice, and, then, put his washed hand into the vessel which contained the water, and, taking water from it, poured it on his private part and washed them with the left hand. After it, he rubbed his left hand on the earth (and cleaned it properly), and, then poured water over his head thrice, and, then, washed the whole body. He, then, moved away from that place and washed his feet. Afterwards, I gave him a piece of cloth (i. e., a towel or handkerchief) but he returned it." (In another account of the same incident appearing in *Sahihain*¹, it is stated that instead of using the towel the Prophet removed the water from the body with both the hands.) (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: A complete description of the manner in which the holy Prophet ﷺ took the bath of janabt is contained in the two narratives of Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها and Sayyidah Maimoona رضي الله عنها. The Prophet ﷺ began the bath with washing his hands two or three times (since the hands were going to be used for washing the whole body). After it, he cleaned the private parts with the left hand and poured water over them with the right hand, and, then, rubbed, the left hand over them with the right hand, and, then, rubbed, the left hand on the earth vigorously and cleansed it by the use of water. The Prophet ﷺ, then performed wudu (during which he rinsed the mouth thrice and drew water into the nose, and, thus, cleansed the internal parts). He, further, washed every hair of his beard by moving his wet fingers through it and making the water reach the roots of the hair, and, then, washed the hair of his head in the same way. Afterward, he washed the whole body. In the end, he withdrew from that place and washed his feet. It was, evidently, the most proper method of taking a bath. The Prophet ﷺ moved aside from the place where he was bathing to wash his feet, probably, because that place was not covered with concrete.

①. Denoting the two compilations of Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim.

(٤٦٣/٦١) عَنْ يَعْلَى قَالَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ رَأَى رَجُلًا يَغْتَسِلُ بِالْبَرَّازِ فَصَعِدَ الْمِنْبَرَ فَحَمِدَ اللَّهَ وَاثْنَى عَلَيْهِ ثُمَّ قَالَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ حَيٌّ سَتِيرٌ يُحِبُّ الْحَيَاءَ وَالتَّسْتُرَ فَإِذَا اغْتَسَلَ أَحَدُكُمْ فَلْيَسْتِرْ . (رواه ابو داؤد و النسائي)

(463/61) It is related by Sayyidina Ya'la (رضي الله عنه) (Once) the Messenger of Allah ﷺ happened to see a man who was bathing (naked) in the open. (Soon afterwards, at a suitable time), the Prophet ﷺ delivered a sermon from the pulpit in which, as was his custom, he first praised Allah, and, then, said: "Allah is modest Himself and the one who covers (i.e., hides the shameful acts of the bondsmen to disclose which is against modesty) and He likes His bondsmen, also, to be modest. His command, therefore, is, and I, too, exhort you that when anyone of you takes a bath he should screen himself from the people."

(Abu Dawood and Nasai)

MUSTAHAB AND MUSNOON GHUSL

The situations in which a bath is enjoined by Shari'ah as a duty have been explained and the sayings of the Prophet ﷺ pertaining to it was discussed in the foregoing pages. Besides, there are some other occasions on which the Prophet ﷺ has exhorted his followers to take a bath but it is not obligatory and belongs to the class of *Mustahab*¹ or *Musnoon*².

Ghusl of Friday

(٤٦٤/٦٢) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا جَاءَ أَحَدُكُمْ الْجُمُعَةَ فَلْيَغْتَسِلْ ...
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(464/62) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you comes for a Friday (i.e., for the Friday prayer), he should take a bath (i.e., no one should come for the Friday prayer without taking a bath)".
(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٤٦٥/٦٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَقٌّ عَلَى كُلِّ مُسْلِمٍ أَنْ يَغْتَسِلَ فِي كُلِّ سَبْعَةِ أَيَّامٍ يَوْمًا يَغْسِلُ فِيهِ رَأْسَهُ وَجَسَدَهُ
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(465/63) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "It is the claim on a Muslim (i.e., it is required of him) to take a bath on one of the seven days of the week (i.e., on Friday), and wash the hair of his head and his whole body thoroughly in it."
(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In both of these reports an exhortatory command is contained concerning the Friday ghusl, and in another Tradition

① Something that is commendable in Islam but not obligatory.

② Signifying an act or observance confirmed by the practice of the sacred Prophet.

quoted, again, in Sahihain, on the authority of Sayyidina Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه, the word wajib (meaning necessary, proper or expedient) has been preferred, but according to most commentators and theologists it does not signify wujub (i.e., compulsion or obligatoriness) in the strict sense of the term, but exhortation, as shown by the aforementioned narratives of Sayyidina Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه and Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه.

The point has been discussed at length by Sayyidina Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه in the reply he gave to the people of Iraq who had come to see him. Ikramah رضي الله عنه the celebrated pupil of Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه, has left a detailed account of the conversation that passed between them and it is preserved in Sunnan Abu Dawood. It reads:

Some inhabitants of Iraq came to Sayyidina Ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه and asked, "Is the bath of Friday obligatory in your view?" He replied, "I think it is not obligatroy but there is a great deal of cleanliness and purification in it and a lot of good for him who takes it. And he who does not take a bath (for some reason) on that day (i.e., Friday) will not be committing a sin for it is not compulsory." (After it, Sayyidina Ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه added): "I shall tell you about the orgin of the command concerning the bath on a Friday. (The fact is that during the early days of Islam) the Muslims were poor and hardworking manual labourers. They wore rough clothes made of the hair of sheep or camel and carried loads on their back and their mosque (i.e., the Mosque of the Prophet), too, was very small. Its roof was very low and there was only one thatched shed in the whole mosque (on account of which it used to be extremely hot and stuffy in it). Thus, when on a Friday, which was a very hot day, the Prophet ﷺ came to the mosque from his apartment and the condition of the people was that they were perspiring profusely in the coarse dresses of *Suf*¹ and all these things had combined to make the atmosphere in the mosque foul and evil smelling, to the distress of everyone, he observed:

"O people! when a Friday comes you should take a bath and use a good, sweet-scented

يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ إِذَا كَانَ هَذَا الْيَوْمُ فَاغْتَسِلُوا وَلِيَمَسَّ أَحَدُكُمْ أَفْضَلَ oil and apply a good perfume that might be available to you'."

مَا يَجِدُ مِنْ دُهْنِهِ وَطِيبِهِ

(Hazrat Ibn-I-Abbas) went on to say:

"After it, the period of poverty and starvation came to an end, by the grace of God, and He granted prosperity to the Muslims. The garments of Suf which produced the bad odour disappeared, and the hard work and drudgery ceased, and the mosque, also, no longer remained small--extensions were made in it — with the result that the disgusting smell that used to prevade the atmosphere of the mosque due to the sweating of the people became a thing of the past."

From the above it is clear that the bath of Friday was prescribed to Muslims in the earliest phase of Islam owing to the unusual circumstances explained by Sayyidina Ibn Abbas. With the change in the conditions, the grade of the command did not remain the same. There is, nevertheless, purification in the bath of Friday which is pleasing to Allah, and, now, it is Musnoon and Mustahab to take a bath on Friday.

(٤٦٦/٦٤) عَنْ سَمُرَةَ بْنِ جُنْدُبٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
مَنْ تَوَضَّأَ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ فَبِهَا وَنِعْمَتْ وَمَنِ الْغَتَّسَلَ فَالْغُسْلُ أَفْضَلُ .

(رواه احمد و ابو داود و الترمذى و النسائى و الدارمى)

(466/64) It is related by Samurah bin Jundub that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever performs wudu on Friday (i.e., for Friday prayers), it is correct and adequate, and whoever takes a bath, then to take a bath is better."

(Msunad Ahmad, Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Nasai and Daarami)

(More will be said about the Friday bath during the discussions on the Traditions apperating to the Friday prayers).

Ghusl After Bathing The Dead Body

(٤٦٧/٦٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ

غَسَلَ مَيِّتًا فَلْيَغْتَسِلْ . (رواه ابن ماجه و زاد احمد و الترمذى و ابو داود "وَمَنْ حَمَلَهُ
فَلْيَتَوَضَّأْ")

(467/65) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "Anyone who has washed a dead body must bathe himself."

Only this much is found in Ibn Majah but Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi, and Abu Dawood have added more: "And he who carries the dead body must perform ablution."

Commentary: The scholars suggest that this command is optional. there is a possibility that in giving bath to a dead body, he may have had drops of water over him. Another hadith in Bayhaqi narrated by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه rejects the obligatory nature of this bath. Therefore, the Ulama generally hold that it is merely mustahabb to have a bath after bathing the dead. As for performing ablution before carrying the dead body, that too is optional. Perhaps it may have been suggested to enable preparedness to offer the funeral prayer.

Ghusl of 'Id

(٤٦٨/٦٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَغْتَسِلُ يَوْمَ الْفِطْرِ وَيَوْمَ الْأَضْحَى .
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(468/66) Abdulalh bin Abbas رضي الله عنه relates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to take a bath on the days of 'Idul Fitr¹ and 'Idul Azha².

Note: To take a bath on 'Idul Fitr and 'Idul 'Azha and to put on clean clothes and apply perfume are among the practices that have prevalent among the Muslims from the earliest days. The Muslims would, evidently, have learnt about them from the Prophet ﷺ but the proof of the authenticity of these reports is weak according to the canons laid down by the Muslim scholars. the chain of narrators of the above Tradition, too, is not wholly reliable. It goes to illustrate the truth that there are some narratives whose chain of narrators is technically defective but their subject-matter is beyond question. Thus, if the chain of narrators of a report is not of the required standard but its purport is proved to be correct by evidence and reasoning it will be deemed to be authoritative and wrothy of acceptance as a genuine and authentic Tradition.

① & ②. Names of the two annual festivals of Muslims. More will be said about them later.

TAYAMMUM

Sometimes a person is suffering from some disease or infirmity due to which it may be harmful for him to take a bath or perform wudu. In the same way, he may, occasionally, find himself at a place where access cannot be had to water. If, in such circumstances, it was allowed to offer prayer without ghusl or ablution, people would have grown lethargic and casual in their attitude towards purification, and, what was more, the sense of intentness and preparation in regard to the presence in the Court of the King of Kings that was felt as a result of the strict observance of the religious obligations of ghusl and wudu, and the awareness of the sanctity and sublimity of the presence generated by it would have lost its keenness.

Allah, as such, has made *Tayammum*¹ the substitute of ghusl or wudu in such conditions of constraint. Now as a person will do tayammum when he is unable to have a bath or perform wudu, no harmful effects of the kind indicated above will be produced in his heart or mind.

In plain words, tayammum means to strike the palms of both the hands lightly on clean earth, sand, clay or stone (i.e., on anything like them that are, generally, found on the surface of earth) and to pass the palms of the hands over the face and the forearms with the intention of purification. It is not necessary that particles of dust etc., touch or get spread over the arms or face. On the contrary, care should be taken that the parts remained free from them.

Philosophy of Tayammum

Water is used in a bath or ablution. In conditions of constraint or ① Meaning pruying before prayer with sand or dust when a person is sick or water is not available.

inability, Allah has prescribed tayammum in which dust or stones are used. The wisdom of it, according to some authorities, is the entire planet inhabited by man consists of two parts, the surface of one of which is formed by water and of the other by earth. There is, thus, a close relationship between water and earth. Besides, man has been created from clay and water. Dust and sand are, further, found everywhere excepts, of course, on the sea. Again, to pass the hands over the face after touching the earth is a special sign of humbleness. Earth being the last resting place of man and everyone having to return to dust on day, Tayammum also, reminds us of death and the grave.

The Command

(٤٦٩/٦٧) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ خَرَجْنَا مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي بَعْضِ أَسْفَارِهِ حَتَّى إِذَا كُنَّا بِالْبَيْدَاءِ أَوْ بِذَاتِ الْحِشْرِ انْقَطَعَ عَقْدٌ لِي فَأَقَامَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَى التَّمَاسِهِ وَأَقَامَ النَّاسُ مَعَهُ وَلَيَسُوا عَلَى مَاءٍ فَاتَى النَّاسُ إِلَى أَبِي بَكْرٍ فَقَالُوا الْآتَرَى إِلَى مَا صَنَعَتْ عَائِشَةُ أَقَامَتْ بِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَبِالنَّاسِ مَعَهُ وَلَيَسُوا عَلَى مَاءٍ وَلَيْسَ مَعَهُمْ مَاءٌ فَجَاءَ أَبُو بَكْرٍ وَرَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَاضِعَ رَأْسَهُ عَلَى فِجْدَى قَدْ نَامَ فَقَالَ حَبَسَتْ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَالنَّاسُ وَلَيَسُوا عَلَى مَاءٍ وَلَيْسَ مَعَهُمْ مَاءٌ قَالَتْ فَعَاتَبَنِي أَبُو بَكْرٍ وَقَالَ مَا شَاءَ اللَّهُ أَنْ يَقُولَ وَجَعَلَ يَطْعَنُنِي بِيَدِهِ فِي خَاصِرَتِي فَلَا يَمْنَعُنِي مِنَ التَّحْرُكِ إِلَّا مَكَانَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَى فِجْدَى فَنَامَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَتَّى أَصْبَحَ عَلَى غَيْرِ مَاءٍ فَانْزَلَ اللَّهُ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ آيَةَ التَّيَمُّمِ فَتَيَمَّمُوا فَقَالَ أَسِيدُنُ الْحَضِيرِ وَهُوَ أَحَدُ النُّقَبَاءِ مَا هِيَ بِأَوَّلِ بَرَكَتِكُمْ يَا أَلِ أَبِي بَكْرٍ فَقَالَتْ عَائِشَةُ فَبَعَثْنَا الْبُعَيْرَ الَّذِي كُنْتُ عَلَيْهِ فَوَجَدْنَا الْعَقْدَ تَحْتَهُ.

(رواه البخارى والمسلم واللفظ لمسلم)

"We went out with the Messenger of Allah ﷺ on one of his journeys (according to scholarly investigation it was in connection with the Battle of Zaat-ut-Riqa'a) till we reached Al-Baida or Zaat-ul-Jaish (both of these places lies between Madinah and Khaybar) where my necklace (which was really not mine but my elder sister Asma's from whom I had borrowed it) broke and fell down (and was lost). I informed the Prophet ﷺ (upon which) he halted there to have it searched for and the people who were accompanying him, also, made the halt. There being no supply of water at that place people went to (my father) Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه and said: 'Don't you see what your daughter (Ayshah رضي الله عنها) has done? She has forced the Prophet ﷺ and all the other people (by losing her necklace) to stop at this place though there is no water over here nor with the army; Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه, thereupon, came to me while the Prophet ﷺ was asleep and his head was resting on my thigh and said: 'You have made Allah's Messenger ﷺ and his Companions رضي الله عنهم stop at a place where no water is to be found and they don't hav a stock of it with them either.' My father rebuked me severely and said everything that Allah willed and (in anger) he, also, jabbed me in the ribs but I did not wince as the Prophet ﷺ was resting (his head) on my thigh (for fear that he might be distrubed in his sleep). So, the Propeht ﷺ slept on till he woke up in the morning at a place and in the cirumstances that no water was available, and, at that time, Allah revealed the verse of Tayammum upon which everyone performed the tayammum (and prayer was offered after it). Usayd bin Hudayr (who was among the Ansars who had taken the vow of allegiance at the Porphet's رضي الله عنه hand before Migration), thereupon, exclaimed: 'O People of Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه! The command of tayammum is not the first blessing of yours. (Many other blessings have been conferred because of you).' Afterwards, as the camel on which I rode was made to rise, the necklce was found under it." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The verse of tayammum Sayyidina Ayshah رضي الله عنها has spoken of here, perhaps, denotes the following verse of Surah-An-Nisa:

And if ye are sick (and the use of water is harmful for you) or on a journey, or anyone of you cometh from the closet, or ye have had contact with your wives, and ye find not water, then go to clean, high ground

وَإِنْ كُنْتُمْ مَرْضَىٰ أَوْ عَلَىٰ سَفَرٍ أَوْ جَاءَ أَحَدٌ مِّنْكُمْ مِنَ الْغَائِطِ أَوْ
لَمَسْتُمُ النِّسَاءَ فَلَمْ تَجِدُوا مَاءً
فَتَيَمَّمُوا صَعِيدًا طَيِّبًا فَامْسَحُوا

and rub your faces and your hands with some of it. Allah would not place a burden on you, but He would purify you and would perfect His grace upon you, that ye may be grateful. (النساء . ٤:٤٣) (Al-Nisaa 4:43)

The same thing has been said, with a slight variation of words, in the second section of Surah Al-Maidah and some authorities hold that it was this verse that was revealed on that occasion. But a majority of the commentators assert that the aforementioned verse of Surah Al-Nisa was revealed earlier than that of Surah Al-Maidah.

(٤٧٠/٦٨) عَنْ عُمَارٍ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ فَقَالَ إِنِّي أَجَنَّبْتُ فَلَمْ أُصِبِ الْمَاءَ فَقَالَ عُمَارٌ لِعُمَرَ أَمَا تَذَكُرَانَا كُنَّا فِي سَفَرٍ أَنَا وَأَنْتَ فَمَا أَنْتَ فَلَمْ تَصَلِّ وَأَمَّا أَنَا فَتَمَعَّكَتُ فَصَلَّيْتُ فَذَكَرْتُ ذَلِكَ لِلنَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ إِنَّمَا يَكْفِيكَ هَذَا فَضَرَبَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِكَفِّهِ الْأَرْضَ وَنَفَخَ فِيهِمَا ثُمَّ مَسَحَ بِهِمَا وَجْهَهُ وَكَفِّهِ . (رواه البخارى و مسلم نحوه)
(470/68) It is related by Ammar bin Yasir رضي الله عنه that a man came to Umar رضي الله عنه and said: "I am in the state of Janabat and no water is available. (What am I to do then)?" Upon it Ammar said (to Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه) "Do you not remember that once you and I were together on a journey (and it had become necessary for both of us to take a bath). You did not pray in that condition but I rolled on the ground (and offered prayer), thinking that like a bath, the taymmum of Janabat, too, was of the whole body. When we returned from the journey I told about it to the Prophet ﷺ, and he said: '(It was not, at all, necessary to roll on the ground). For you it would have been sufficient if you did like this.' On saying it, the Prophet ﷺ stroked lightly the earth with his hands, and, then, blew off the dust and passed his hands over his face and forearms." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Commentators have offered various explanations for Sayyidina Umar's رضي الله عنه not offering the prayer on that occasion. The most reasonable of these, however, is that, probably, he was waiting for water to be found and had some hope that it would be found. That is why, he did not think it proper to offer prayer by performing tayammum.

As for Sayyidna Ammar رضي الله عنه, he did not know till then that the method of tayammum which was performed in the place of the bath of janabat was the same as that of tayammum that was done in the place of wudu. He, therefore, exercised his own judgement and rolled on the ground. But when he related it to the Prophet ﷺ, he corrected him and explained that the two tayammums were performed in an indential way and there was no difference in the manner of doing them.

We, moreover, learn from Sayyidina Ammar's رضي الله عنه narrative that it is not necessary for the dust to touch the face or hands in tayammum. On the contrary, if the dust clung to the hands as a result of stroking the earth it should better be blown out.

(٤٧١/٦٩) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ الصَّعِيدَ الطَّيِّبَ وَضُوءُ الْمُسْلِمِ وَإِنْ لَمْ يَجِدِ الْمَاءَ عَشْرَ سِنِينَ فَإِذَا وَجَدَ الْمَاءَ فَلْيَمْسَهُ بَشْرَهُ فَإِنَّ ذَلِكَ خَيْرٌ.
(رواه احمد و الترمذى و ابو داود)

(471/69) It is related by Abu Zarr Ghiffari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Clean earth is the means of purification for a Muslim if water is not available even for ten years. When he finds water he should pour it over the body, i.e., perform wudu or bathe himself with it for there is much good in it."

(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi and Abu Dawood)

Note: Almost all the legist-doctors are agreed that if a person who is obliged to take a bath performs tayammum owing to sickness or non-availability of water, it will be binding upon him to bathe himself when the excuse of illness ends or water is found.

(٤٧٢/٧٠) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ خَرَجَ رَجُلَانِ فِي سَفَرٍ فَحَضَرَتِ الصَّلَاةُ وَلَيْسَ مَعَهُمَا مَاءٌ فَتَيَمَّمَا صَعِيدًا طَيِّبًا فَصَلَّيَا ثُمَّ وَجَدَا الْمَاءَ فِي الْوَقْتِ فَأَعَادَا أَحَدُهُمَا الصَّلَاةَ بِوَضُوءٍ وَلَمْ يُعِدِ الْآخَرُ ثُمَّ أَتَيَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَذَكَرَا ذَلِكَ فَقَالَ لِلَّذِي لَمْ يُعِدِ أَصَبْتَ السُّنَّةَ وَأَجْزَأُكَ صَلَاتُكَ وَقَالَ لِلَّذِي تَوَضَّأَ وَاعَادَكَ الْآجُرُ مَرَّتَيْنِ.
(رواه ابو داود والدارمي)

(472/70) Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه narrated to us that two Companions ﷺ went on a journey. It so happened that the time for prayer came and they were without water. So, they both offered prayer by doing tayammum with clean earth but water was found before the time of prayer had elapsed. Upon it, one of them offered prayer again after performing wudu while the other did not offer prayer for the second time. Afterwards when they returned and went to the Prophet ﷺ, they related the incident to him. The Prophet ﷺ told Companions ﷺ who had not offered prayer again: "You did the right thing and the prayer you had offered by doing tayammum will suffice for you.¹" And to the Companion ﷺ who had offered prayer once again by performing wudu, Prophet ﷺ said: "You will get a double reward (because the prayer you offered for the second time became a superegatory prayer). Allah does not allow a good deed to be wasted."

(Abu Dawood and Daarami)

①. According to the Shari'at it is enough to offer prayer by doing tayammum on an occasion like that. To offer it again if water is found in time is unnecessary.

وَلِلْمُؤْمِنِينَ يَوْمَ يَقُومُ الْحِسَابُ ۝

أَمِينَ يَا أَرْحَمَ الرَّاحِمِينَ!

PRE-EMINENCE OF SALAH

The primary and most natural requirement of believing in what the Divine Messengers عليهم السلام have taught about the Being and Attributes and Unity and Sublimity of Allah is that the bondsman seek His good pleasure by making a whole-hearted expression of love, loyalty and humbleness and obtain joy and effulgence for his soul through His remembrance. This, in sum, is the meaning and purpose of *salah*¹, and undoubtedly, it is the most perfect means to the realisation of this end and object. Hence, the first command, after the acknowledgement of faith, in the teachings of all the Prophets عليهم السلام and in every Divine law is that of prayer, and in the last of the *Shari'ah*² (i.e., the Shari'ah brought by the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ) more emphasis is laid upon it than upon any other mode of worship, and its essential requisites, rules and properties and divisions and components, as also the things that nullify it or make it void, have been described in the greatest detail.

Says Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه in Hujjat,

اعلم ان الصلوة اعظم العبادات شأنًا واوضحها برهانًا واشهرها في الناس و
انفعها في النفس ولذلك اعتنى الشارع ببيان فضلها و تعيين اوقاتها و
شروطها و اركانها و ادابها و رخصها و نوافلها اعتناء عظيمًا لم يفعل سائر
انواع الطاعات وجعلها من اعظم شعائر الدين. (ص ١٨٦)

"By its grandeur and conformability with human nature and intellect prayer occupies a place of special eminence among all the forms of worship and it is most popular and widely celebrated among those who believe in Allah and perform religious service. It is highly efficacious for purification and disciplining of the self. The Shari'ah has, thus taken such care to set forth its hours, essential factors, stipulations and properties as it has not done for any other kind of worship and prayer has been declared to be the foremost observance and mark of faith because of these distinctive qualities."¹

In the same book, Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه observes:

”واصل الصَّلوة ثلاثة اشياء ان يخضع القلب عند ملاحظة جلال الله و عظمته ويعبر اللسان عن تلك العظمة و ذالك الخضوع بافصح عبارة وان يودب الجوارح حسب ذالك الخضوع.“

"The basic constituents of prayer are three: (i) humility of heart (spirit) consequent on the feeling of the presence of the Majesty and Magnificence of the Lord: (ii) Employment of all the other external organs, also, for the affirmation of the Glory and Greatness of Allah and the bondsman's servility and submission."

And, again:

”اما الصَّلوة فهي المعجون المركب من الفكر المصروف تلقاء عظمة الله ... ومن الادعية الميينة اخلاص عمله لله و توجيهه وجهه تلقاء الله وقصر الاستعانة في الله ومن افعال تعظيمية كالسجود والركوع يصير كل واحد عضد الاخر ومكمله والمنبه عليه.“

"The reality of prayer is made up of three things: (i) calling to the mind and reflecting upon the Majesty of Allah; (ii) Some prayers and invocations signifying that the submission of the bondsman and all his deeds and actions are solely for Allah, and he has turned his face, once for all, towards Him, and it is His help alone that he seeks in his needs; (iii) A few reverential postures like those of *ruku*² and *sajdah*³. Each of these three things supplements the others and serves as exhortation to them."

Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه concludes the discussion on prayer with these words:

①. Hujjat, p. 186

②. Bowing low.

③. Bending forward in adoration with the forehead placed on the ground.

وَالصَّلَاةُ معراج المومنين معدة للتجليات الاخروية ... وسبب عظيم
 لمحبة الله ورحمته ... واذا تمكنت من العبد اضمحل في نور الله وكفرت
 عنه خطاياه ... ولا شئ انفع من سوء المعرفة منها اذا فعلت افعالها واقوالها
 على حضور القلب والنية الصالحة ... واذا جعلت رسماً مشهوراً نفعت من

 ص ٧٢، ٧٣ جلد (١)

"The special characteristics of prayer are: (i) It is the ascension of the Believers and a special means to the cultivation of worthiness for an uninterrupted view of the lustres of Allah with which the faithful Believers will be favoured in the Hereafter; (ii) It enables a man to gain the Love and Benevolence of Allah: (iii) When the bondsman attains the reality of prayer he is purified of sins by getting drowned in the waves of the affluence of Allah (in the same way as a soiled and dirty article is cleansed when it falls into the waves of a river or iron is made pure by casting it into the furnace); (iv) Prayer offered with devotion of the heart and purity of intention is most effective for overcoming negligence and dispelling unwholesome ideas and doubt and misgivings: (v) When prayer was made the regular practice of the Ummah, it, apart from other things, afford it protection against polytheistic and sinful practices and became a religious symbol of the Muslims by which they could easily be identified from the apostates; and (vi) the structure of prayer is the aptest way to subordinate one's inward impulses to the guidance of the intellect."¹

Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه has drawn the above conclusions from the Traditions of the sacred Prophet ﷺ, and he has, also, indicated their sources but we have omitted the references as the full reports of these sayings are going to be discussed later.

Omission of Prayers is Inimical To Faith And An Act of Apostasy

(٤٧٣/١) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بَيْنَ الْعَبْدِ وَبَيْنَ الْكُفْرِ تَرْكُ الصَّلَاةِ ..
(رواه مسلم)

(473/1) It is related by Jaber رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Between a bondsman and disbelief there is only the giving up of prayer."
(Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that prayer is such a fundamental tenet of Islam and is so closely related to the reality of faith that, on leaving it out, a bondsman, one would say, ceases to be a Believer.

(٤٧٤/٢) عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَلْعَهْدُ الَّذِي بَيْنَنَا وَبَيْنَهُمْ تَرْكُ الصَّلَاةِ فَمَنْ تَرَكَهَا فَقَدْ كَفَرَ .

(رواه احمد والترمذى والنسائى وابن ماجه)

(474/2) It is related by Abu Buraidah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The covenant between me and these people is that of prayer (i.e., I take the pledge of prayer from everyone who accepts Islam which is a special sign and a basic requirement of faith). Thus, whoever gives it up, turns aside (so to speak), from the course of Islam and takes to disbelief."

(Ibn-i-Maja)

(٤٧٥/٣) عَنْ أَبِي الدَّرْدَاءِ قَالَ أَوْصَانِي خَلِيلِي أَنْ لَا تُشْرِكَ بِاللَّهِ شَيْئًا وَإِنْ قُطِعَتْ وَحُرِّقَتْ وَلَا تَتْرَكَ صَلَاةً مَكْتُوبَةً مُتَعَمِّدًا فَمَنْ تَرَكَهَا مُتَعَمِّدًا فَقَدْ بَرِئَتْ مِنْهُ الدِّمَةُ وَلَا تُشْرَبِ الْخَمْرَ فَإِنَّهَا مِفْتَاحُ كُلِّ شَرٍّ .
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(475/3) Abu Darda رضي الله عنه "My friend and beloved (peace and blessing of Allah be upon him) has exhorted me (in these terms): 'Do not associate anyone with Allah even if you are cut into pieces and roasted on fire, and beware, never omit prayer intentionally for whoever, willingly and knowledge, omits prayer for him the responsibility that rests with Allah regarding His truthful and believing bondsmen comes to an end, and, (also) take care not to drink (wine) that all for it is the key to every evil (thing or act)'."
(Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Just as the subjects have some claims on the government under which they live and they are deemed to be entitled to them unless they are guilty of a grave crime like treason, Allah, too, by His grace, has taken upon Himself the responsibility of bestowing some unique rewards and favours upon all the Believers and followers of Islam which will be made evident in the Hereafter.

In this Tradition the Prophet ﷺ has stressed that deliberate and wilful neglect of prayer is not merely a sin, like any other sin, but an act of open defiance after which a person stops being worthy of Divine Mercy and Benevolence.

A similar Tradition has, also, been quoted in some compilations, on the authority of Ubaidah bin Samit رضي الله عنه, the concluding words of which in respect of the habitual defaulter of prayer are:

فَمَنْ تَرَكَهَا مُتَعَمِّدًا فَقَدْ خَرَجَ مِنَ الْمِلَّةِ .

"Whoever intentionally neglects prayer goes out of my fold."¹

In the above sayings deliberate omission of prayer has been characterised as infidelity and egress from the Muslim Millah because prayer is such a distinctive sign of faith and exclusive practice of Islam that to give it up wilfully would imply, as a matter of course, that one had served one's bond of loyalty with Allah's hand the Prophet ﷺ, and ceased to be a Muslim. Particularly, since during the glorious days of the Messenger ﷺ it was beyond imagination that anyone who was a Believer and a Muslim could be a habitual defaulter of prayer if a person did not offer prayer, it was taken for granted, on the whole, that he was not a Muslim. In our view, the remark of the celebrated *Taba'ee*², Abdullah bin Shafiq, about the Companions رضي الله عنهم that:

"They did not consider the persistent neglect of any act except prayer to be amounting to apostasy."

كَانَ أَصْحَابُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى
اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَرَوْنَ شَيْئًا مِنْ
الْأَعْمَالِ تَرَكَهُ كُفْرًا غَيْرَ الصَّلَاةِ

Shows that while the holy Companions رضي الله عنهم believed the disregard and neglect of the other tenets like zakah (regular charity), fasting, Hajj (pilgrimage to Makkah), and Jihad (Holy War), and, in the same way, of the commands and injunctions concerning social conduct and monetary dealings as merely sinful, they held the omission of prayer to be a proof of the repudiation of the Islamic faith and severance of ties with the Muslim Millah. But Allah knows best.

Some jurists like Imam Ahmad bin Hanbal have inferred from these narratives that a person becomes an infidel and an aspostate and forfeits his title to Islam when he habitually leaves out prayer to the extent that if he dies in that state his funeral service will not be performed and he will not be allowed to be buried in a Muslim graveyard. In other words, deliberate neglect of prayer by a Muslim is identical to prostrating oneself before an idol or the crucifix or offending the honour and dignity of Allah and the Prophet ﷺ no matter whether he formally changes his creed or not. But many theologians say that though deliberate omission of prayer is a paganish act for which there is no place in Islam, if a person does not offer prayer only due to negligence but has not rejected it in his heart and is not guilty of defiance in his creed then, in spite of the fact that he is deserving of severest chastisement both in this world and the next, his connection with Islam and the Muslim Millah will not stand terminated and the law laid down for an apostate will not apply to him. In their opinion if the intentional disregard of prayer has been denounced as apostasy in these sayings it is simply to show that it is a paganish act and this mode of expression has been preferred to emphasise the gravity of the offence in the same way as a harmful food or medicine is, often, described as poison.

(٤٧٦/٤) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو بْنِ الْعَاصِ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّهُ ذَكَرَ أَمْرَ الصَّلَاةِ يَوْمًا فَقَالَ مَنْ حَافَظَ عَلَيْهَا كَانَتْ لَهُ نُورًا وَ بُرْهَانًا وَ نَجَاةً يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ وَمَنْ لَمْ يُحَافِظْ عَلَيْهَا لَمْ تَكُنْ لَهُ نُورًا وَلَا بُرْهَانًا وَلَا نَجَاةً وَكَانَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ مَعَ قَارُورٍ وَ فِرْعَوْنٍ وَ هَامَانَ وَ أَبِي بَنٍ خَلْفٍ .

(رواه احمد والدارمي و البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(476/4) Abdullah bin 'Amr bin Al-'Aas ؓ has said that the Prophet ﷺ mentioned prayer one day and said, "If anyone keeps to it, it will be a light, evidence and salvation for him on the Day of Resurrection; but if anyone does not keep to it, it will not be for him light, evidence or salvation, and on the Day of Resurrection he will be with Qarun, Fir'awn, Haman and Ubayy bin Khalaf." (Ahmad, Darami, Bayhaqi)

Commentary: Neglect of prayer is that grave crime which will make the neglecter liable to admittance to Hell where such great rebels as Fir'awn, Haman, Qarun and Ubayy bin Khalaf will be consigned. However, all those who are sent to hell will not suffer similar punishment just as all prisoners will not face the same punishment in the prison. The Qur'an says:

"Layer upon layer of darknes¹."

Obligation of The Five Daily Prayers And The Promise of Forgiveness

(٤٧٧/٥) عَنْ عَبْدِ بْنِ الصَّامِتِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ خَمْسُ صَلَوَاتٍ افْتَرَضَهُنَّ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى مِنْ أَحْسَنِ وُضُوءٍ هُنَّ وَصَلًا هُنَّ لَوْ قُتِهِنَّ وَأَتَمَّ رُكُوعَهُنَّ وَخُشُوعَهُنَّ كَانَ لَهُ عَلَى اللَّهِ عَهْدٌ أَنْ يَغْفِرَ لَهُ وَمَنْ لَمْ يَفْعَلْ فَلَيْسَ لَهُ عَلَى اللَّهِ عَهْدٌ أَنْ يَغْفِرَ لَهُ وَإِنْ شَاءَ عَذَّبَهُ . (رواه احمد و ابو داود)

(477/5) It is related by Ubaidah bin Samit رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah has prescribed five prayers, whoever performs wudu properly for them and offers them up at the right time and carries out ruku and *sujood*² as they ought to be and offers them with the feeling of deep reverence, for him it is the firm promise of Allah that He will forgive him (his sins), and whoever does not do so, for him there is no promise of Allah. He will forgive or punish him as He likes."

(Musnad Ahmad and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that a believing person who takes care to offer prayer in a fitting manner will, in the first instance, do his best not to violate a God-given law and should he ever fall into error and commit a sin he will be granted the good fortune to repent earnestly for his misdeeds and seek the forgiveness of Allah as the common experience is — owing to the propitiousness of prayer. Apart from it, prayer will act towards the atonement of his sins. It is a propitiatory and purificatory worship of such a high order as to arouse the envy of the angels. Forgiveness is, thus, assured for those who habitually offer prayer with devotion and humility and with a due regard for rules and proprieties. As for those who neglect prayer, in spite of claiming to be Muslims, the Almighty will decide about them as He please. He may punish or pardon them. In any case, they are in grave peril and there is no assurance of forgiveness for them.

Source of Forgiveness And Purification

(٤٧٨/٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَرَيْتُمْ لَوْ أَنَّ نَهْرًا بَبَابِ أَحَدِكُمْ يَغْتَسِلُ فِيهِ كُلَّ يَوْمٍ خَمْسًا هَلْ يَبْقَى مِنْ ذَرْبِهِ شَيْءٌ قَالُوا لَا يَبْقَى مِنْ ذَرْبِهِ شَيْءٌ قَالَ فَذَلِكَ مَثَلُ الصَّلَوَاتِ الْخَمْسِ يَمْحُو اللَّهُ بِهِنَ الْخَطَايَا
(رواه البخاري و مسلم)

(478/6) It is related on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that, one day, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to his companions: "Tell me, if a stream flows at the door of anyone of you and he takes a dip in it five times a day, will any grime be left on his body." "No Messenger of Allah ﷺ!", The Companions رضي الله عنهم replied. "No grime will be left." The Prophet, thereupon, remarked: "It is the same with the five daily prayers. Allah removes sins and impurities through them." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: When a truthful Believer, mentally and spiritually aware of the reality of prayer occupies himself with it, his soul so to speak, dives deep into the ocean of Divine Power and Majesty, and just as a dirty garment is washed clean when it is dipped into the waves of the river, the rays of Divine Glory washes away all his filthiness, and if it is repeated five times a day, not a trace of dirt or impurity will be left on him.

(٤٧٩/٧) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ خَرَجَ زَمَنَ الشِّتَاءِ وَالْوَرَقُ يَتَهَافُ فَأَخَذَ بَعْضَيْنِ مِنْ شَجَرَةٍ قَالَ فَجَعَلَ ذَلِكَ الْوَرَقُ يَتَهَافُ

قَالَ فَقَالَ يَا أَبَا ذَرٍّ قُلْتُ لَبَّيْكَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ إِنَّ الْعَبْدَ الْمُسْلِمَ لَيُصَلِّي الصَّلَاةَ يُرِيدُ بِهَا وَجْهَ اللَّهِ تَتَهَافَّتُ عَنْهُ ذُنُوبُهُ كَمَا تَهَافَّتُ هَذِهِ الْوَرَقُ عَنْ هَذِهِ الشَّجَرَةِ
(رواه احمد)

(479/7) Abu Zarr رضي الله عنه narrated "Once during the cold weather the Messenger of Allah ﷺ went out and the leaves of the trees were falling (as it was the autumn). The Prophet ﷺ caught hold of two branches of a tree (and shook them) and its leaves began to fall suddenly. Addressing me, he said, 'Abu Zarr رضي الله عنه. 'I am here, O Messenger of Allah ', I replied. When a person offers prayer solely for the sake of Allah,' said the Prophet, 'his sins fall away like these leaves.'
(Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: Just as the leaves are dried by the rays of the sun and winds, so too the sins and lapses of anyone who prays five times a day are dried up by the rays of Divine light and mercy of Allah.

(٤٨٠/٨) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ أَمْرٍ مُسْلِمٍ تَحْضُرُهُ صَلَاةٌ مَكْتُوبَةٌ فَيُحْسِنُ وُضُوءَهَا وَخُشُوعَهَا وَرُكُوعَهَا إِلَّا كَانَتْ كَفَّارَةً لِمَا قَبْلَهَا مِنَ الذُّنُوبِ مَا لَمْ يَأْتِ كَبِيرَةً وَذَلِكَ الدَّهْرُ كُلُّهُ
(رواه مسلم)

(480/8) It is related by Uthman رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A Muslim who performs wudu properly for a fard prayer when the time for it comes, and, then, offers it with humbleness and with good ruku and sujood, that prayer will become an atonement for his previous sins unless he has been guilty of a major transgression, and this propitiousness of prayer will reach him forever.
(Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that prayer can become an atonement for previous sins and remove the impurity of earlier misdeeds only when a person has not committed a grievous sins. The unholy effects of a major transgression are so great that sincere repentance alone removes them. Allah, however, can wipe them out even without a cause or reason. There is no one to check or restrain Him, indeed.

The Promise of Forgiveness And Paradise

(٤٨١/٩) عَنْ عُقْبَةَ بْنِ عَامِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ مُسْلِمٍ يَتَوَضَّأُ فَيُحْسِنُ وُضْوءَهُ ثُمَّ يَقُومُ فَيُصَلِّي رَكْعَتَيْنِ مُقْبِلًا عَلَيْهِمَا بِقَلْبِهِ وَوَجْهِهِ إِلَّا وَجَبَتْ لَهُ الْجَنَّةُ — (رواه مسلم)

(481/9) It is related by Uqbah bin 'Aamir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Paradise shall be granted (as of right) to the Muslim bondsman who performs Wudu thoroughly, and, then, stands up before Allah and offers two rak'ats of prayer with single-minded devotion." (Muslim)

Commentary: It tells that even if two Rak'ats are offered earnestly and attentively and care is, also, taken to perform the ablution for the prayer according the method prescribed by the sacred Prophet ﷺ, their value is so high in the Judgement of Allah that the devotee who is fortunate enough to do so shall be admitted to Heaven.

(٤٨٢/١٠) عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ خَالِدٍ الْجُهَنِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ صَلَّي سَجْدَتَيْنِ لَا يَسْهُو فِيهِمَا غُفِرَ اللَّهُ لَهُ مَا تَقَدَّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِهِ . (رواه احمد)

(482/10) It is related by Zayd bin Khalid Juhani رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The bondsman who offers two rak'ats of prayer in such a way that there is not a trace of negligence in it, Allah will forgive all his previous sins in return for them." (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: The comments on the forgoing hadith apply here too. A SAD COMMENTARY It is very sad that in spite of these clear sayings of the Holy Prophet ﷺ a large number of Muslims neglect prayer and deprive themselves of its blessings.

وَمَا ظَلَمَهُمُ اللَّهُ وَلَكِنْ كَانُوا أَنْفُسَهُمْ يَظْلِمُونَ ه (النحل ١١٦)

Most Pleasing Deed

(٤٨٣/١١) عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ سَأَلْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَيُّ الْأَعْمَالِ أَحَبُّ إِلَى اللَّهِ قَالَ الصَّلَاةُ لَوْ قُتِلَ بِرُؤَاكِنِ قُلْتُ ثُمَّ أَيُّ قَالَ قَالَ بَرُّ الْوَالِدَيْنِ قُلْتُ ثُمَّ أَيُّ قَالَ الْجِهَادُ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ .
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(483/11) Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه related to us that he once asked the Holy Prophet ﷺ which act, among all religious duties, was most Pleasing to Allah . The Prophet ﷺ said: 'To offer prayer at the right time'. I , then, asked: 'Which act is most pleasing (to Him) after it?' 'To serve one's parents', replied the Prophet ﷺ. I, again, asked: "Which act is most pleasing (to Him) after it?" 'To do Jihad in the path of Allah,' came the reply."
(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The Prophet ﷺ has said here that prayer is more dear to Allah than even serving parents and engaging in jihad. Indeed, such is the station of As-salah. I have writtten a detailed account about this in my booklet, Haqiqat-e-Namaz (Urdu).

HOURS OF SALAT

The lofty aims, ideals and advantages associated with as-salah and the unique joy and satisfaction the fortunate bondsmen of Allah derive from it would require that it was enjoined upon them as an obligatroy duty to devote most of the hours of the day and night, if not the whole lifetime, to its performance. But since Allah, in His Infinite Wisdom, has assigned many other duties too, to mankind, only five daily prayers have been prescribed and their hours have been determined so judiciously that the objects of prayer are fulfilled and the other obligations, also, do not suffer from negligence.

The *Fajr*¹ prayer is enjoined on waking up in the morning (i. e., after dawn and before the rising of the sun) so that the day should begin with presence in the celestial Court of the Almighty and the renewal of the covenant of sumission and surrender. There is, then, no prayer till noon (i.e., till the declining of the sun) in order that people attend to their worldly tasks and other responsibilities during the long stretch of time. After the interval of half-a-day, the prayer of *Zuhr*² is to be offered, and it, too, with the option that one can do it at the beginning of the specified time or an hour or so later according to the circumstances. Anyhow it is necessary that the Zuhr prayer offered after this extended gap so that the period of negligence or absence from the Divine Court should not be longer. Again, the *Asr*³ prayer is to be offered when the evening begins to set in so that believing men and women present themselves in the Court of Almighty Allah and offer adoring prayer to Him at a time when people, generally, lay aside the day's work and take to relaxation and entertainment. When the day is done and the sun has set the *Maghrib*¹ prayer is performed in order that we, again, adore and pay homage to Allah and renew the covenant of servility at the end of the day and the beginning of the night. After it, the Prayer of *Isha*² is enjoined so that it is the last act of our daily life and we go to sleep after establishing the contact of humility and renewing the compact of faith and bondage with our Master.

Sufficient latitude has, further, been given for our convenience in the hours of the five obligatory prayers. We can offer them at the beginning or the middle of the specified time or towards the end of it.

As a little thought on this arrangement will show, the intervals between the prayers from Zuhr to Isha, are so brief that a faithful Believer who is aware of the worth and importance of prayer and has experienced the felicity and blessedness that goes along with it is obliged to wait anxiously for the 'Asr after the Zuhr for the Maghrib after the 'Asr, and for the Isha after the Maghrib prayer. Thus, during all this time, his heart will, so to speak, remain oriented towards Allah and attuned to prayer. The gap between the Fajr and Zuhr prayers is to enable the bondsmen to attend to their material interests and other needs. The exhortation, however, is there for the bondsmen who can manage it to offer, as well, four Rak'ats of *Chasht*³ during the intervening period. Similarly considering sleep to be a necessity, no prayer has been prescribed for the period between Isha and Fajr and this interval has been made the longest. But here, too, the bondsmen have been urged to get up and offer a few Rak'ats of *Tahajjud*⁴ at any time after the passage of first half of the night. The Prophet ﷺ has described great virtues in it and he had made such a regular practice of it with himself that he did not miss it even when on a journey.

The exhortatory sayings of the holy Prophet ﷺ about the Chasht and Tahajjud prayers will be taken up at the proper place. The introductory remarks, here, have been confined to the five daily obligatory prayers.

①. The evening prayer

②. The night prayer before one goes to bed.

③. A supererogatory prayer said during the earlier part of the day. The word Chasht denotes the middle hour between sunrise and the meridian.

④. A supererogatory prayer said during the later part of the night.

Timetable of The Daily Prayers

(٤٨٤/١٢) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو بْنِ الْعَاصِ أَنَّهُ قَالَ سُئِلَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ وَقْتِ الصَّلَاةِ فَقَالَ وَقْتُ صَلَاةِ الْفَجْرِ مَا لَمْ يَطْلُعْ قَرْنُ الشَّمْسِ الْأَوَّلُ وَوَقْتُ صَلَاةِ الظُّهْرِ إِذَا زَالَتِ الشَّمْسُ عَنْ بَطْنِ السَّمَاءِ مَا لَمْ تَحْضُرِ الْعَصْرُ وَوَقْتُ صَلَاةِ الْعَصْرِ مَا لَمْ تَضْفَرِ الشَّمْسُ وَيَسْقُطَ قَرْنُهَا الْأَوَّلُ وَوَقْتُ صَلَاةِ الْمَغْرِبِ إِذَا غَابَتِ الشَّمْسُ مَا لَمْ يَسْقُطِ الشَّفَقُ وَوَقْتُ صَلَاةِ الْعِشَاءِ إِلَى نِصْفِ اللَّيْلِ . (رواه البخارى ومسلم واللفظ لمسلم)

(484/12) It is related by Abdullah bin 'Amr bin al 'Aas رضي الله عنه that (once) the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was asked about the (specified) time of prayers upon which he said: 'The time for the Fajr prayer lasts till the first edge of the sun appears (i.e., it comes to an end when the sun begins to rise in the morning and its outer extremity becomes visible on the horizon), and the time for Zuhr comes when the sun declines towards the West from the middle of the sky (i.e., the meridian) and lasts till the time of 'Asr commences, and the time for 'Asr lasts till the sun turns pale and its first edge begins to set, and the time for Maghrib comes when the sun sinks below the horizon altogether and lasts till the twilight disappears, and the time for Isha lasts upto midnight.' (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In this Tradition the Prophet ﷺ has mostly mentioned the furthest limit of the hours of prayer-services which denotes that the questioner, probably, wanted only to know how far did the time for the five daily services extend and up to when could each prayer be offered. The time the prayers began was, perhaps, already known to him.

About the Maghrib prayer it tells that its time remains till the twilight disappears. The legist-doctors have differed over the significance of 'twilight'. Every one knows that a faint diffused light is visible in the west after sunset which disappears after some time and a sort of whiteness takes its place. This whiteness also fades away quickly and it grows dark. According to a majority of the authorities, the word 'twilight' signifies the glow which is seen after sunset, and, as such, the time for Maghrib ends and that of Isha begins when the glow after sunset and the whiteness that follows are covered by 'twilight'. Thus, horizon ends and darkness spreads. It is only then that, according to him, the time for Isha begins. But another report, also, attributed to Imam Abu Hanifa conforms to the view point of the other doctors and has been upheld by both of his celebrated pupils, Imam Abu Yusuf and Imam Muhammad as well. In fact, most of the Hanafi authorities have based their judgement upon it.

The time for Isha has been indicated in the above and some other narratives as lasting till the middle of the night but from a few other sayings it appears that it lasts till the dawn of day. The Traditions in which the time for Isha has been specified however, have been taken to mean, on the whole, that it is legitimate to offer the Isha prayer up to the middle of the night and *Mukrooh*¹ after that.

(٤٨٥/١٣) عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ قَالَ إِنَّ رَجُلًا سَأَلَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ وَقْتِ الصَّلَاةِ فَقَالَ لَهُ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَعَنَا هَذَيْنِ يَعْنِي الْيَوْمَيْنِ فَلَمَّا زَالَتْ الشَّمْسُ وَامْرَبِلَا فَأَذَّنَ ثُمَّ أَمَرَهُ فَأَقَامَ الظُّهْرَ ثُمَّ أَمَرَهُ فَأَقَامَ الْعَصْرَ وَالشَّمْسُ مُرْتَفِعَةٌ بَيْضَاءُ نَقِيَّةٌ ثُمَّ أَمَرَهُ فَأَقَامَ الْمَغْرِبَ حِينَ غَابَتِ الشَّمْسُ ثُمَّ أَمَرَهُ فَأَقَامَ الْعِشَاءَ حِينَ غَابَ الشَّفَقُ ثُمَّ أَمَرَهُ فَأَقَامَ الْفَجْرَ حِينَ طَلَعَ الْفَجْرُ فَلَمَّا أَنْ كَانَ الْيَوْمَ الثَّانِي أَمَرَهُ فَأَبْرَدَ بِالظُّهْرِ فَأَبْرَدَ بِهَا فَأَنْعَمَ أَنْ يُبْرَدَ بِهَا وَصَلَّى الْعَصْرَ وَالشَّمْسُ مُرْتَفِعَةٌ آخَرَهَا فَوْقَ الَّذِي كَانَ وَصَلَّى الْمَغْرِبَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَغِيْبَ الشَّفَقُ وَصَلَّى الْعِشَاءَ بَعْدَ مَا ذَهَبَ ثُلُثُ اللَّيْلِ وَصَلَّى الْفَجْرَ فَاسْفَرَ بِهَا ثُمَّ قَالَ آيْنَ السَّائِلُ عَنْ وَقْتِ الصَّلَاةِ فَقَالَ الرَّجُلُ أَنَا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ وَقْتُ صَلَاتِكُمْ بَيْنَ مَا رَأَيْتُمْ (رواه مسلم)

(485/13) It is related by Sayyidina Buraidah رضي الله عنه that (once) someone enquired from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ about the hours of prayers and the Prophet ﷺ told him to offer prayer with him on the two following days (i.e., on that day and the next). Then, as soon as the sun declined (after mid-day) the Prophet ﷺ ordered Bilal رضي الله عنه and Bilal رضي الله عنه gave the *Azan*².

①. Any act or thing forbidden not absolutely by the Shari'ah but from which it is advisable to abstain.

② The Summons to prayers, generally proclaimed from the minarets of a mosque.

Thereafter, he ordered Bilal رضي الله عنه and Bilal رضي الله عنه called the *Iqamat*¹ for Zuhr (and the prayer of Zuhr was observed), and this Azan and prayer took place at a time when the sun was quite high, clear and bright. Then, immediately after sunset, the Prophet ﷺ ordered Bilal رضي الله عنه and Bilal رضي الله عنه called upon the Iqamah of Maghrib (and the Maghrib prayer was offered). Then, after the twilight had disappeared, the Prophet ﷺ ordered Bilal رضي الله عنه and Bilal رضي الله عنه called the Iqamah of Isha (and the Isha prayer was offered). Then, as soon as it was dawn and the night had ended, the Prophet ﷺ ordered Bilal رضي الله عنه and Bilal رضي الله عنه called the Iqamah for Fajr (and the Fajr prayer was offered). Afterwards, on the day after it, the Prophet ﷺ ordered Bilal رضي الله عنه to establish the Zuhr prayer when it had become cooler and said that the Zuhr (should, today, be delayed) till it was cooler. So, in compliance with the Prophet's ﷺ command, Bilal رضي الله عنه called the Iqamah of Zuhr when it had grown cooler and allowed the day was offered up pretty late, when the time for it was about to end), and the Asr prayer was offered at such a time that though the sun was still bright, it was later than on the previous day, and the Prophet ﷺ offered the Maghrib prayer before the fading away of the twilight and Isha after one-third of the night has passed, and the prayer of Fajr at the time of Isfar (i.e., when the light of day had spread). The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, enquired, 'Where is the man who wanted to know about the hours of prayer?' 'O Messenger of Allah! Here am I', replied the man. 'The time for your prayer is between what you saw' "

(Muslim)

Commentary: To make the questioner understand when the hours of the five daily prayers began and ended, the holy Prophet ﷺ thought it advisable to demonstrate the whole thing by his own action. He, therefore, told him to offer prayer with him for two days. On the first day the Prophet ﷺ offered every prayer during the early part of the specified time and on the next delayed it as far as it could be done legitimately and explained to the questioner that the beginning and the end of the time for each service was when he had seen him observing it.

(٤٨٦/١٤) عَنْ سَيَّارِ بْنِ سَلَامَةَ قَالَ دَخَلْتُ أَنَا وَآبِي عَلَى أَبِي بَرَزَةَ الْأَسْلَمِيِّ

①. The second call to prayer which is uttered immediately before the beginning of congregation.

فَقَالَ لَهُ أَبِي كَيْفَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُصَلِّي الْمَكْتُوبَةَ
فَقَالَ كَانَ يُصَلِّي الْهَجِيرَ الَّتِي تَدْعُونَهَا الْأُولَى حِينَ تَدْحَضُ الشَّمْسُ وَيُصَلِّي
الْعَصْرَ ثُمَّ يَرْجِعُ أَحَدُنَا إِلَى رَحْلِهِ فِي أَقْصَى الْمَدِينَةِ وَالشَّمْسُ حَيَّةٌ وَنَسِيتُ
مَا قَالَتْ فِي الْمَغْرِبِ وَكَانَ يَسْتَحِبُّ أَنْ يُؤَخِّرَ الْعِشَاءَ الَّتِي تَدْعُونَهَا الْعُتْمَةَ
وَكَانَ يَكْرَهُ النَّوْمَ قَبْلَهَا وَالْحَدِيثُ بَعْدَهَا وَكَانَ يَنْفَتِلُ مِنْ صَلَاةِ الْغَدَاةِ حِينَ
يَعْرِفُ الرَّجُلُ جَلِيسَهُ وَيَقْرَأُ بِالسِّتِينَ إِلَى الْمِائَةِ .
(رواه البخارى)

(486/14) It is narrated by Sayyar bin Salamah, My father and I visited Abu Barzah al-Aslami and my father asked him how the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to observe the prescribed prayer. He replied, "He used to pray the Zuhr (noon) prayer (al-hajeer), which you call the first, when the sun was past the meridian; he would pray the Asr (afternoon) prayer, after which one of us would return to his dwelling in the outskirts of Madinah while the sun was still bright. (I forget what he said about the Maghrib [sunset] prayer); he liked to postpone the Isha (night) prayer, which you call al-'atama, objecting to sleeping before it or taking after it; and he would turn away from (finish) the Fajr (morning) prayer when a man could recognise his neighbour, and he would recite from sixty to a hundred verses during it."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The narrator of the hadith, Sayyar bin Salamah forgot what Abu Barzah had said about the time of the Maghrib prayer. We know, however, from the other ahadith that the Prophet ﷺ generally offered this prayer at the initial time as the sunset. It was only for certain extra ordinary reasons that he sometimes delayed it.

(٤٨٧/١٥) عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْحَسَنِ بْنِ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ سَأَلْنَا جَابِرَ بْنَ
عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ صَلَاةِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ كَانَ يُصَلِّي الظُّهْرَ
بِالْهَاجِرَةِ وَالْعَصْرَ وَالشَّمْسُ حَيَّةٌ وَالْمَغْرِبَ إِذَا وَجِبَتْ وَالْعِشَاءَ إِذَا أَكْثَرَ
النَّاسُ عَجَلَ وَإِذَا قُلُّوا آخِرَ وَالصُّبْحَ بَغْلَسَ .
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(487/15) It is related by Muhammad bin Amr bin Al-Hasan, the grandson of Hasan bin Ali رضي الله عنه, I enquired from Jابر bin Abdullah رضي الله عنه about the prayer of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ

(i.e., about their timings) and he replied, "The Prophet offered the prayer of Zuhr at midday (as soon as the sun began to decline), and of Asr when the sun was still fully alive (i.e., its light and heat had not diminished), and Maghrib at sunset, and about the Isha service (his custom was to) offer it early (when people came in a large number to join the congregation) but late when the people were few, and he offered up the prayer of Fajr when it was still dark'." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: From it we learn about Zuhr that Prophet ﷺ offered it up as soon as the sun began to decline but from the other reports reproduced below it is clear that he did so on days besides the summer. When it was very hot, the Prophet ﷺ used to delay the prayer till it became cooler and he has, also, commended it to the Ummah.

(٤٨٨/١٦) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا كَانَ الْحَرُّ أَبْرَدَ بِالصَّلَاةِ وَإِذَا كَانَ الْبَرْدُ عَجَّلَ . (رواه النسائي)

(488/16) It is related on the authority of Anas رضي الله عنه that it was the custom of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ that when it was hot he delayed the Zuhr prayer until it had grown cooler, and when it was winter he offered it early (i.e., at the beginning of the specified time)". (Nasai)

(٤٨٩/١٧) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا اشْتَدَّ الْحَرُّ فَأَبْرِدْ دُونَ الظُّهْرِ فَإِنَّ شِدَّةَ الْحَرِّ مِنْ فَيْحِ جَهَنَّمَ . (رواه البخاري)

(489/17) Abi Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When it is too hot, offer Zuhr when it becomes cooler for the intensity of heat is from the fury of the fire of Hell." (Bukahri)

Commentary: There are some apparent causes of what we see and reproduced earlier, shows that when the proposal of the bell was made the Prophet ﷺ remarked that it was the thing of the Charistians.

We suppose that the correct explanation of the divergence between the two statements is that among the few suggestions made to the Prophet ﷺ for summoning the faithful to prayer those of hoisting the flag, lighting the fire and blowing the horn were rejected by him outright and that was why one suggestion was made quickly after the other. But about the last proposal of ringing the bell the Prophet ﷺ had simply observed that it was the thing of the Charistians and said no other word that could be taken for a distinct expression of disapproval.

It is, moreover, quite possible that from the Prophet's ﷺ reaction some Companions ؓ had imagined that he preferred, in some degree the idea of the bell and concluded, on the basis of it, that the bell would be used till a better method was discovered.

Be that as it may, in our view Sayyidina Abdullah bin Zayd ؓ has used the phrase Amra bin naqoos, in the above Tradition, to describe the same situation. Sometimes, the word Amr is also employed to denote 'permission' or 'authorisation', numerous instances of which can be found in the Qur'an and the Traditions.

Secondly, in this report, the *Kalimas*¹ occurring four times in the Azan have been mentioned only twice in Iqamah. From Sayyidina Anas bin Maalik's ؓ narrative we are going to quote later, it, again, appears that these words were to be pronounced only once. But in other reports, a few of which will be taken up here and about whose genuineness, too, there can be no doubt, it is stated that these Kalimas will be said twice in Iqamah as in Azan. Some authorities have shown preference for the reports for those that want them to be pronounced twice. It is, however, clear that the validity of both the forms of Iqamah is undeniable and the distinction can only be made on the ground of preference.

①. A Kalima is a group of words forming a sub-section of a section or functioning as a single part of speech.

حَيَّ عَلَى الصَّلَاةِ، حَيَّ عَلَى الصَّلَاةِ، حَيَّ عَلَى الْفَلَاحِ ، حَيَّ عَلَى الْفَلَاحِ .
 اللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ اللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ . لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ .
 (رواه مسلم)

(506/34) Abu Mahzurah رضي الله عنه related to us: "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ taught me the Azan personally. He told me to say: Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar; Ash-hadu Allaa-ilaaha il-lal-laah, Ash-hadu al-laa-ilaaha il-lal-laah; Ash-hadu an-na Muhammadar-rasoo-lul-laah, Ash-hadu an-na Muhammadar-Rasoo-lul-laah; He then, told me to repeat it: Ash-hadu allaa-ilaaha il-lal-laah, Ash-hadu al-laa-ilaaha il-lal-laah; Ash-hadu an-na Muhammadar-Rasoo-lul-laah, Ash-hadu anna-Muhammadar-Rasoo-lul-laah; Hayya alas-Salaah, Hayya alas-Salaah; Hayya alal-falaah, Hayya alal-falaah; Allahu Akbar, allahu akbar; laa-ilaaha il-lal-laah. (Muslim)

(٥٠٧/٣٥) عَنْ أَبِي مَحْذُورَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَّمَهُ الْآذَانَ
 تِسْعَ عَشْرَةَ كَلِمَةً وَالْإِقَامَةَ سَبْعَ عَشْرَةَ كَلِمَةً .

(رواه احمد و الترمذی و ابو داؤد و النسائی و الدارمی و ابن ماجه)

(507/35) Narrates Abu Mahzurah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ taught me Azan, 19 Kalimas, and iqamah, 17 Kalimas."

(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi, Abu Dawood, Nasai, Daarami, and ibn Majah)

Commentray: Of the two Traditions given above, the former contains the full 19 Kalimas of Azan, the four Kalimas of Affirmation having occurred twice, and the Kalimas of Iqamah are 17 in it because the Kalimas of Affirmation are not to be repeated. The number of Kalimas will, thus, be reduced by four and with the addition of the two Kalimas of Qad Qaamatis Salah, qad qaamatis salaah, it will come to 17.

The event of the teaching of Azan by the sacred Prophet ﷺ to Abu Mahzurah رضي الله عنه took place in *Shawwal*¹, 8 AH., when the Prophet ﷺ was returning from the battle of Hunayn. The details of it, as collected from various sources, will, perhaps, bear reproduction.

When, after the victory of Makkah, the Prophet ﷺ marched with his army towards Hunayn, a number of Makkans he had pardoned and set free accompanied him. Abu Mahzurah ﷺ, who was a hot-headed young man and had not embraced Islam had, also, left for Hunayn with nine other like-minded friends. He relates "the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was returning from Hunayn when we met him on the way. When the time for prayer came, the Muazzin of the Prophet ﷺ gave the Azan. We hated Azan, (or, rather, the religion of Azan). So, we began to imitate the Azan scornfully, and I gave the Azan, like the Muazzin, with a very loud voice. As our voice reached the Prophet ﷺ, he sent for us and we were produced before him. Tell me, he asked, 'Whose voice among you is the loudest'. My friends, thereupon, pointed towards me, and it was, also, a fact. The Prophet ﷺ detained me and ordered the rest of us to be released. He, then told me to stand up and give the Azan again. My condition, at that time, was such that nothing (in the world) was more abhorrent to me than the Prophet ﷺ and the Azan he had commanded me to pronounce. My heart, God be our refuge, was filled with repugance for him. But I was helpless. So I stood up unwillingly to carry out the command. The Prophet ﷺ, himself, began to teach me the Azan and told me to say: Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar.....(The Azan has already been given in Tradition above — Author). When I had finished the Azan, the Prophet ﷺ gave me a purse which contained some silver and placed his hands on the front part of my head, and, then, he moved his blessed hand over my face and the front upper part of my body i.e., chest, heart and liver and, after it, lower down up to the navel. He, then, blessed me with these words: Barak Allah feeh wa barak Allah alaik (May God bestow blessing upon thee)! He made the invocation thrice. (By the blessedness of the Prophet's ﷺ prayer and his hand, the curse of infidelity and hatred disappeared from my heart and I attained the wealth of Faith and love.) I begged him to make me the Muazzin of the mosque of Makkah. The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'Go I order you to give Azan in the mosque of Makah from now on'."

①. The tenth month of the Mohammedan year.

It is evident from the above why the Prophet ﷺ had made Abu Mahzurah ﷺ pronounce the Kalimas of Affirmation, i.e., Ashdu al-laa ilaaha illallah and Ash-hadu an-na Mhuammadar rasool ul-laa not twice but four times. Till then, Faith had not permeated his heart and he had stood up to give the Azan merely under compulsion and the two Kalimas of Affirmation were exceedingly revolting to him. After Abu Mahzurah had pronounced them once the Prophet ﷺ told him to repeat them in a full-throated manner. We, also, believe that the holy Prophet ﷺ was imploring Allah inwardly, while he was making Abu Mahzurah utter the Kalima, to instil and infuse them into the heart of the bondsman. Anyway, it is not inconceivable that owing to the peculiar case of Abu Mahzurah the Prophet ﷺ had made him pronounce those Kalima over a second time otherwise from an authentic report does it appear that the Prophet ever bade his permanent Muazzin, Bilal ؓ, to say them four times each. Similarly, in reliable reports of Abdullah bin Zayd's dream the two Kalima of Affirmation occur only twice.

Nevertheless Sayyidina Abu Mahzurah ؓ continued to pronounce the aforesaid Kalimas four times over in the Azan in Makkah perhaps for the reason that he had been taught that by the Prophet ﷺ and it was through its propitiousness that the boon and blessing of Faith had reached him. Like a true lover, it was his heart's desire to give the Azan exactly as the Prophet ﷺ instructed or else he must have known how the Prophet's ﷺ Muazzin, Bilal ؓ, did it.

In other Traditions referring to the same incident it is, also, stated that Abu Mahzurah never shaved or cut the hair growing just above the forehead where the Prophet ﷺ had been pleased to place his hand. Just as it was love's idiosyncrasy, in the same way he always gave the Azan by uttering four times both the Kalima of Affirmation. The Prophet ﷺ must have known it but he never forbade him which should be enough to leave on one in doubt about its allowability. We are again reminded of the suggestion of Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه that the different versions of azan and iqamah are like the differences in the recital of Qur'an.

Principles of Religion Lie in Azan & Iqamah

Apparently, both Azan and iqamah are a means of announcing to the faithful that the time for the obligatory prayer was near and summoning them to it. Allah however, has inspired such comprehensive Kalima for it as are symbolic of the entire spirit of Faith. The question of the Being and Attributes of Allah forms the starting point of the entire religious scheme of things and for the proclamation of the Islamic view-point there could be no better and more trenchant words than Allah-u-Akbar, Allah-u-Akbar. Then comes the creed of Divine Unity which elaborates and brings to completion the question Attributes. Nothing could signify it more effectively and admirably in a few words than the Kalima of Ash-hadu al-laa-ilaaha illAllah-laaah. When it has been known, positively, that Allah alone is our Lord and Diety and no one aside of Him is worthy of worship and submission, the question automatically arises from where one can know about the path that leads up to Him or the method through which the correct bond of servility and obedience is forged. The Kalima of Ash-hadu an-na Muhammadar Rasool ul-laaah provides the aptest answer to it. Through Hayya alas Salaah the bondsman is summoned to prayer which is the first step towards Allah and the most sublime way to establish the contact of devotion and obeisance with Him. Next, it is proclaimed through Hayya alal-falaah that this is the path of success and salvation, and those who will leave it and follow any other path shall never attain felicity. It, thus, asserts and makes known the doctrine of the Hereafter and in the words that not only affirm it but also confront us with the most fundamental problem of life. In the end, it is, again, announced through Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, Laa ilaaha illAllah that Allah alone is great, the Supreme Being, Unequalled and Unpartnered, and, therefore, it is His countenance and good pleasure the seeking of which ought to be the aim and object of all our aspirations and endeavours.

How wonderful, comprehensive and puissant this proclamation of the principal tenets of Islam is and how soul-stirring is the invitation to it contained in the few, short Kalima of Azan and iqamah! This powerful, heart-stirring call of Faith is given from every mosque five times a day.

If we, the Muslims, could only make our children learn the Azan by heart, and, also, explain to them its meaning, specially that of:

أَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ

Ash-hadu an-laa ilaaha illAllah, and;

أَشْهَدُ أَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ

Ash-hadu an-na Muhammadar-rasool ul-laah, in relation to the times and the environment, they would Insha Allah, never fall a prey to an un-Islamic nation or movement.

Some Commands And Directives

(٥٠٨/٣٦) عَنْ جَابِرٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لِبِلَالٍ إِذَا أَدْنَتْ فَتَرَسَّلْ وَإِذَا أَقَمْتَ فَأَحْدَرْ وَاجْعَلْ بَيْنَ أَدَانِكَ وَإِقَامَتِكَ قَدْ رَمَا يَفْرُغُ الْأَكْلَ مِنْ أَكْلِهِ وَالشَّارِبُ مِنْ شَرْبِهِ وَالْمُعْتَصِرُ إِذَا دَخَلَ لِقَضَاءِ حَاجَتِهِ وَلَا تَقُومُوا حَتَّى تَرَوْنِي . (رواه الترمذی)

(508/36) It is related by Sayyidina Jabir رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to his Muazzin, Bilal رضی اللہ عنہ: "When you give the Azan, give it slowly (i.e., by stopping for a few moments and taking afresh breath after every Kalima), and when you call the Iqamah, say it flowingly, and let there be such an interval between your Azan and Iqamah that a person who is eating may finish his meal and a person who has to answer the call of nature may ease himself, and do not stand up till you have seen me." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: The instructions contained in the above Tradition regarding Azan and Iqamah are clear and unambiguous except, of course, the last one which says: "And do not stand up till you have seen me." Perhaps, people, occasionally, stood up for prayer before the Holy Prophet ﷺ had emerged from his apartment, thinking that he was about to come to lead the congregation. The Prophet ﷺ forbade it and said that the devotees should not stand up until he had arrived in the mosque. For the worshippers to stand up beforehand was to put themselves to unnecessary trouble, and, then, there was always the possibility of the Prophet ﷺ being held up for some reason and taking a little more time in coming. It would, again, not have been pleasing to his modest and unassuming nature that the bondmen of Allah waited for him, drawn up in ranks.

(٥٠٩/٣٧) عَنْ سَعْدِ مُوَدَّنٍ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ

صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَمْرَبَلًا لَا أَنْ يَجْعَلَ اصْغَعِيهِ فِي أُذُنَيْهِ قَالَ إِنَّهُ أَرْفَعُ لَصَوْتِكَ .
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(509/37) It is related by Sa'd رضي الله عنه who was appointed the Muazzin of the mosque of Quba that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ commanded Bilal رضي الله عنه to place his fingers in his ears when giving the Azan. "In this way", he said to Bilal رضي الله عنه, "your voice will be stronger."
(Ibn-i-Majah)

(٥١٠/٣٨) عَنْ زِيَادِ بْنِ الْحَارِثِ الصُّدَائِيِّ قَالَ أَمَرَنِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنْ أَذِّنَ فِي صَلَاةِ الْفَجْرِ فَأَذَنْتُ فَأَرَادَ بِلَالٌ أَنْ يَقِيمَ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ أَحَاضِدًا قَدْ أَذَّنَ وَمَنْ أَذَّنَ فَهُوَ يَقِيمُ .

(رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد و ابن ماجه)

(510/38) It is related by Ziyad bin Harith رضي الله عنه that, once, at the time of the Fajr prayers the Messenger of Allah ﷺ bade me to give Azan which I did. Afterwards, when the time for pronouncing Iqamah came, Bilal wanted to say it but the Prophet ﷺ said about me, "This Sa'd has given Azan and the rule is that whoever gives the Azan should (also) say Iqamah."

(Tirmizi, Abu Dawood and Ibn Majah)

(٥١١/٣٩) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ بْنِ أَبِي الْعَاصِ قَالَ إِنَّ مِنْ آخِرِمَا عَهْدَ إِلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنْ اتَّحَدُمُودُنَا لَا يَأْخُذُ عَلَيَّ إِذَا نِهَ أَجْرًا .

(رواه الترمذی)

(511/39) Uthman bin Abi Al-Aas رضي الله عنه related "When the Messenger of Allah sent me to Taif as the Governor, one of the instructions he gave (at the time of my departure) was to appoint such a (man as) Muazzin who did not accept a remuneration for giving Azan (but did it wholly for the sake of Allah and with the object of earning the reward of the Hereafter)."

(Tirmizi)

Commentary: Many legist-doctors, including Imam Abu Hanifah, have concluded from this Tradition that it is improper to accept remuneration for calling the Azan. Others have ascribed the insturction contained in it to pitey and devotion. Some latter-day jurists of the Hanfi school, also, have held that, in the changed conditions of the times, justification can be found for remuneration. The dignity and sublimity of acts like Azan and *Imamat*¹, anyhow, demand that they should be performed solely for the sake of Allah and if it was unavoidable to agree to an emolument is ought to be accepted for the other related duties and the matter should be settled explicitly at the time of taking up the appointment.

(٥١٢/٤٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْإِمَامُ ضَامِنٌ وَالْمُؤَذِّنُ مُؤْتَمَنٌ اللَّهُمَّ ارْشِدِ الْإِمَمَةَ وَاعْفِرْ الْمُؤَذِّنِينَ .

(رواه احمد و ابو داؤد والترمذى و الشافعى)

(512/40) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "*Imam*² is the surety and Muazzin is trustee. O Allah! Guide the Imams and forgive the Muazzins."

(Musnad Ahmad, Abu Dawood, Tirmizi and Musnad Shafi'i)

Commentary: It shows that upon the Imams rests the responsibility of their own prayer as well of those who offer it behind them. Their endeavour should, therefore, be to observe prayer in the best possible manner, both inwardly and outwardly. As for the Muazzin, people rely upon him for Azan and so he should discharge the duty with the fullest sense of responsibility by giving the Azan at the right time, regardless of his own convenience. This hadith mentions the responsibility of both of them and the Prophet has prayed for both.

(٥١٣/٤١) عَنْ مَالِكِ بْنِ الْحُوَيْرِثِ قَالَ أَتَيْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَا وَابْنُ عَمِّ لِي فَقَالَ إِذَا سَافَرْتُمَا فَادْنَا وَاقِيْمَا وَلْيُؤْمِكُمَا أَكْبَرُ كَمَا .

(رواه البخارى)

(513/41) It is related by Maalik bin Huwayrith رضي الله عنه "(Once) I went to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and my cousin (i.e., uncle's son), also, was with me. The Prophet ﷺ said: 'When you are on a journey, say Azan and Iqamah for prayer, and the eldest of you should act as Imam and lead the service.'" (Bukahri)

Commentary: In another version of the same incident, appearing, also, in Sahih Bukhari, it is stated that Maalik bin Huwayrith had

- ❶. Leading the congregational
- ❷. One who leads congregational gone to the Prophet with some other men of his tribe and stayed with him for about twenty days with the object of learning about Faith and profiting from his blessed company. The Prophet's remark mentioned by Maalik bin Huwayrith was, probably, made when he was taking leave of him. Two things have been stressed in it: (i) care should be taken to call the Azan and the Iqamah for prayer even during a journey, and (ii) the oldest man in the party should lead the service. Since from the point of view of Faith and its knowledge Maalik bin Huwayrith and his companions were, apparently, of the same level and standard and on one enjoyed superiority over the other, the Prophet ﷺ advised that the eldest of them should function as the Imam and lead the service. In fact, it is the general rule for a situation like this.

Merit And Pre-eminence of Azan and Muazzin

(٥١٤/٤٢) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَسْمَعُ مَدَى صَوْتِ الْمُؤَذِّنِ جِنَّ وَلَا إِنْسٌ وَلَا شَيْءٌ إِلَّا شَهِدَ لَهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ. (رواه البخاري)

(514/42) Abi Sa'eed al-Khudri رضي الله عنه had narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Within the range of the Muazzin's voice, whoever hears him — man, jinn or anything--shall testify on his behalf on the Day of Resurrection." (Bukhari)

Commentary: Allah has granted, in some measure, the awareness of Himself to everything that exists.

وَأِنْ مِنْ شَيْءٍ إِلَّا يُسَبِّحُ بِحَمْدِهِ (الاسراء ١٧: ٢٢)

And there is not a thing but hymneth His praise. (Al-Isra'a 17:44)

Hence, when the Muazzin calls the Azan and proclaims the Glory and Greatness of Allah and His Oneness, and the mission of His messenger and his Call, all the creatures, along with men and jinn, hear it, and they shall testify to it on the Day of Resurrection. Indeed, this is an enviable merit of Azan and the Muazzin.

(٥١٥/٤٣) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ إِنَّ

الشَّيْطَانُ إِذَا سَمِعَ النِّدَاءَ بِالصَّلَاةِ ذَهَبَ حَتَّى يَكُونَ مَكَانَ الرَّوْحَاءِ.

(رواه مسلم)

(515/43) Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه has said that the Prophet ﷺ said, "When the devil hears the call of prayer, he flees as far as Ar-Rawha."
(Muslim)

Commentary: Among the creations of Allah some things are not tolerated by others. For example, darkness cannot stand the sun. Just as the sun rises, darkness disappears. Again, fire is not tolerated by cold; for as the fire is kindled, cold disappears. It is something like that between the devil and the azan. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ has said that as he hears the call to prayer he flees far away, say as far as Ar-Rawha is from Madinah. (Talha bin Nafi' who is one of those who have transmitted this hadith from Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه has said that Ar-Rawha is 36 miles from Madinah).

The gist of the hadith is that the azan is the call to prayer and faith. It is much dear to Allah and His pious slaves rush towards the mosque on hearing it but it is like an explosive for the devil who flees from it on hearing it.

(٥١٦/٤٤) عَنْ مُعَاوِيَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ

الْمُؤَذِّنُونَ أَطْوَلُ النَّاسِ أَعْنَاقًا يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ .

(رواه مسلم)

(516/44) Sayyidina Mu'awiyah رضي الله عنه said that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, "The mu'azzin will have the longest necks on the Day of Resurrection."
(Muslim)

Commentary: That they will have the longest neck is the literal meaning of the hadith but scholars have extended various explanations for it. In my opinion it means that they will have their heads raised on that day. On the Day of Resurrection, they will be on mounds of musk as the next hadith says. This will be their distinction that day.

(٥١٧/٤٥) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

ثَلَاثَةٌ عَلَى كُتُبَانِ الْمُسْكِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ عَبْدَاذَى حَقَّ اللَّهُ وَحَقَّ مَوْلَاهُ وَرَجُلٌ أَمَّ

قَوْمًا وَهُمْ بِهِ رَاضُونَ وَرَجُلٌ يُنَادِي بِالصَّلَاةِ الْخَمْسِ كُلَّ يَوْمٍ وَلَيْلَةٍ

(رواه الترمذی)

(517/45) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar that the Messenger of Allah said: "On the Day of Final Resurrection three of (kinds of) men will be on mounds of musk: (i) the worthy slave who gives the rights of Allah and of his master: (ii) the man who leads a party (or community) and they are pleased with him (on account of his integrity and good behaviour); and (iii) the bondsman who called the Azan five times every day and night."

(Tirmizi)

(٥١٨/٤٦) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ أَذَّنَ سَبْعَ سِنِينَ مُحْتَسِبًا كُتِبَ لَهُ بَرَاءَةٌ مِنَ النَّارِ.

(رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد و ابن ماجه)

(518/46) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Freedom from the Fire of Hell is written down for the bondsman who calls Azan for seven years for the sake of Allah." (Tirmizi, Abu Dawood, and Ibn Majah)

(٥١٩/٤٧) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ الْمَوَدَّيْنِ وَالْمَلَبَّيْنِ يَخْرُجُونَ مِنْ قُبُورِهِمْ يُؤَذِّنُ الْمُؤَذِّنُ وَيَلْبِي الْمُلَبِّي.

(رواه الطبرانی فی الاوسط)

(519/47) It is related on the authority of Jabir رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Those who give the Azan and those who recite *Talbiya*¹ shall rise from their graves in such a state that the graves of Azan will be giving Azan and the reciters of Talbiya will be reciting Talbiya." (Tabrani)

Commentary: The secret of the exceptional virtues of Azan and Muazzin lies in the fact that Azan is a distinguishing feature and practice of Islam and makes a most eloquent and comprehensive call of Faith, and the Muazzin is its giver, and, so to speak, the herald and proclaimer of Allah.

We, alas, have grown heedless of it and the calling of Azan in now regarded a lowly profession. May Allah forgive us this sin

- ①. Talbiya is the special recital of the pilgrims performing the Hajj or Umra. The words of Talbiya are: Labbaik allahumma labbaik; labbaik la sharika lak labbaik; in-nal hamda wan-nimata laka wal mulk; la shrika lak (O Allah! Here I am in your presence! You have no partner! Here I am! All praise is for You and from You are all Blessing! To You alone belongs all Power (and Rule)! You are without a partner!)

which is common to all of us. And, may He inspire us to repent and reform!

Responding to Azan And The Supplication Made After It

(٥٢٠/٤٨) عَنْ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا قَالَ الْمُؤَذِّنُ اللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ اللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ فَقَالَ أَحَدُكُمْ اللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ اللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ ثُمَّ قَالَ أَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ قَالَ أَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ ثُمَّ قَالَ أَشْهَدُ أَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ قَالَ أَشْهَدُ أَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ ثُمَّ قَالَ حَيَّ عَلَى الصَّلَاةِ قَالَ لَا حَوْلَ وَلَا قُوَّةَ إِلَّا بِاللَّهِ ثُمَّ قَالَ حَيَّ عَلَى الْفَلَاحِ قَالَ لَا حَوْلَ وَلَا قُوَّةَ إِلَّا بِاللَّهِ ثُمَّ قَالَ أَكْبَرُ اللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ ثُمَّ قَالَ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ قَالَ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ مِنْ قَلْبِهِ دَخَلَ الْجَنَّةَ . (رواه المسلم)

(520/48) It is related on the authority of Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When the Muazzin calls out Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, and (in reply to it) one of you should say, Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar; and after it, when the Muazzin says, Ash-hadu al-laa ilaaha illAllaah, and (in reply to it) he, too, must say, Ash-hadu al-laa ilaaha illAllaah; and after it, when the Muazzin calls, Ash-hadu an-na Muhammadar Rasoolul-laah, and (in reply to it) he, too, should say, Ash-hadu an-na Muhammadar Rasoolul-laah; and after it, when Muazzin says, Hayya alas-Salaah, and (in reply of it) he must say, Laa hawla wa laa quwwata il-lla bil-laah; and, after it, when the Muazzin says, Hayya alal falaah, and (in reply to it) he must say, Laa hawla wa laa quwwata il-lla bil-laah; and, after it, when the Muazzin says, Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, and (in reply to it) he, too, should say, Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, and, after it, when the Muazzin says, Laa-ilaaha, il-lal-laah, and (in reply of it) he, too must say Laa-ilaaha, il-lal-laah, if all this is said from the heart, he shall go to Heaven." (Muslim)

Commentary: As we have seen earlier, there are two aspects of Azan. One is that it is the summons to prayers, and the other is that it is the call of Faith and a public declaration of Islam. In the former case, it is the duty of a Muslim to get ready for observing prayer as soon as he hears the Azan and reaches ther mosque in time while, in the latter, he is called upon when he hears it. All the Muslims are, thus, to renew the bond and covenant of Faith at the time of every Azan. It shows why Azan though, apparently, it is a minor effect on the post of the listner.

(٥٢١/٤٩) عَنْ سَعْدِ بْنِ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ قَالَ حِينَ يَسْمَعُ الْمُؤَذِّنَ أَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَحْدَهُ لَا شَرِيكَ لَهُ وَأَشْهَدُ أَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا عَبْدُهُ وَرَسُولُهُ رَضِيتُ بِاللَّهِ رَبًّا وَبِمُحَمَّدٍ رَسُولًا وَبِالْإِسْلَامِ دِينًا غُفِرَ لَهُ ذَنْبُهُ. (رواه مسلم)

(521/49) It is related by Sa'd bin Abu Waqqas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever, on hearing the Azan (i.e., when the Azan comes to an end) says: Ash-hadu al-laa ilaaha illAllaah wahdahu laa sharika lahu wa ash-hadu an-na Muhammadan abduhu wa rasooluhu; raditu bil-laahi rabba wa bi Muhammadar rasoola wa bil-Islam-i-deena. (I affirm that there is no god but Allah, One and Unpartnered, and Muhammad is His slave and Messenger ﷺ, and I am pleased with Allah as Lord, and in Muhammad as Messenger, and in Islam as the religion), his sins will be forgiven." (Muslim)

Commentary: We have spoken on sins being forgiven on doing righteous deeds when we discussed the Wudu, the same principle applies here.

(٥٢٢/٥٠) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ قَالَ حِينَ يَسْمَعُ النِّدَاءَ اللَّهُمَّ رَبِّ هَذِهِ الدَّعْوَةُ التَّامَّةُ وَالصَّلَاةُ الْقَائِمَةُ أَيْتَ مُحَمَّدٍ الْوَسِيلَةَ وَالْفَضِيلَةَ وَابْعَثْهُ مَقَامًا مَحْمُودًا فِي الدُّنْيَا وَعَدَنَهُ حَلَّتْ لَهُ شَفَاعَتِي يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ (رواه البخارى)

(522/50) It is related by Jabir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever will, at the time of hearing Azan, make the prayer to Allah: Allahumma rab-ba haathihid-da'wat-it-ta-ammati was-salaat-il-qa-imati aati Muhammada nil-waseelata wal-fazeelata wab-as-hu muqaman mahmuda nil-lazi wa'a-tahu (O God, the Lord of this perfect Call and the long-lasting and unchanging prayer, bestow upon Muhammad ﷺ the place of special honour and intercession and elevate him to the place of choicest favour and worthiness which You have promised for him), that bondsman will be worthy of my intercession on the Day of Resurrection." (Bukahri)

Commentary: In this Tradition we are exhorted to pray for three things for the sacred Prophet ﷺ and assured that the bondsmen who will act accordingly on hearing the Azan will have a special claim to his intercession. These three things are, intercession, honour and place of choicest favour and worthiness. In a Tradition quoted in Sahih Muslim it is explained about the 'place of intercession' that it is a most distinctive station of Divine esteem and affection and a rank of unparalleled glory and exaltation in Paradise which is going to be conferred upon only one bondsman of the Lord, and the 'place of honour' is another name for the same way, the 'place of choicest favour and worthiness' implies that one who will be honoured with it will be held in high respect by everyone and all men will praise and be grateful to him.

Traditions relating to Intercession have already appeared in the earlier part of this book in which it is stated that on the Day of Recompense which will be a special occasion for the display of Divine Majesty and Splendour, everyone, irrespective of his rank or station on the earth, will be seized with fear and anxiety, so much so that exalted Prophets عليهم السلام like Nuh, Ibrahim, Musa and Isa will not have the courage to plead with the Almighty. The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ will, then step forward with "I am for it. I am for it" on his lips and beseech Allah humbly, first of all, for whole mankind that the state of anxious, uncertainty and expectation may be ended, the Reckoning done and the Judgement pronounced. After it, the door of intercession on behalf of the sinners and of their being taken out of Hell will, also, open at his request and initiative. As the Prophet ﷺ himself has said, "I will be the first intercessor and my intercession will be accepted in the first place", and, also, "On the Day of Resurrection, the Banner of Praise will be in my hand, and Adam, and, in addition to him, all the Prophets and Messengers عليهم السلام and their followers will be under it." This is the place of choicest favour and worthiness' about which it has been said to the Prophet ﷺ in the Qur'an:

عَسَىٰ أَنْ يَبْعَثَكَ رَبُّكَ مَقَامًا مَّحْمُودًا (الاسراء ١٧: ٧٩)

It may be that thy Lord will raise thee to the praised estate
(Al-Asra' 17:79)

In fine, the singular rank that has been referred to as 'Intercession' and 'Honour' in above saying and the praised estate mentioned in the Qur'an are going to be bestowed upon the holy Prophet. It has been decreed beforehand by Allah and it is out of sheer kindness that the Prophet ﷺ has exhorted us to pray to God to raise him to those ranks and station and promised that whoever will do so will earn a special claim to his intercession on the Day of Reckoning.

Note: The method of acting on it is that every Kalima of Azan should be repeated after the muazzin, as mentioned in the narrative of Sayyidina Umar ؓ, and, afterwards,

أَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ

Ash hadu an la' ilaha illal-lah uttered, as shown in the report by Sa'd bin Abu Waqas ؓ, and, finally, the supplication,

اَللّٰهُمَّ رَبَّ هَذِهِ الدَّعْوَةِ التَّامَّةِ وَالصَّلٰوةِ الْقَائِمَةِ اٰتِ مُحَمَّدًا الْوَسِيْلَةَ
وَالْفَضِيْلَةَ وَاَبْعَثْهُ مَقَامًا مَّحْمُوْدًا الَّذِي وَعَدْتَهُ

Allahumma rab-ba haazihid-da'wat-it-ta-ammati was-salaat-il-qa-imati aati Muhammada nil-waseelata wal-fazeelata wab-as-hu muqamam mahmuda nil-lazi wa'a-tahu

made, as indicated in the above saying, for the Prophet ﷺ

It is stated by Ibn Hajr in Fath-ul-Bari that in the Tradition quoted in Baihaqi, the words,

”إِنَّكَ لَا تُخْلِفُ الْمِيْعَادَ“

In-naka laa tukhliful miyad

(Verily, you do never break your promise), are added at the end of the prayer.

MOSQUES

Their Grandeur & Significance, Rights & Proprieties.

For the realisation of sublime aims and ideals associated with prayer, some of which have been indicated in the preceding Chapter with reference of Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه, it is essential to give it a collective design and character. In the Islamic Shari'ah, the mosque and the congregation have been provided the instruments of it, and it is hard to over-emphasise the role these two things play in the generation, organisation and protection of the religious life of Muslims.

The Prophet ﷺ has, on one hand, taken utmost pains to enjoin the observation of prayer with a collective arrangement and given stern warnings of punishment to those who act otherwise, and, on the other, laid an exceptional stress on the significance of the mosques and called them the House of Allah, next in importance only to the Ka'bah. He has made them the spiritual centres of the Ummah, and, explaining their glory and preciousness in the sight of Allah, urged upon his followers that wherever they are, and at whatever time, their hearts and souls should remain attached to them. Besides, the Prophet ﷺ has, also, taught us the rights of mosques and etiquettes to be observed there.

Significance

(٥٢٣/٥١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَحَبُّ

الْبِلَادِ إِلَى اللَّهِ مَسَاجِدُهَا وَأَبْغَضُ الْبِلَادِ إِلَى اللَّهِ أَسْوَاقُهَا . (رواه مسلم)

(523/51) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The parts of land dearest to Allah are the mosques and the most hateful, the market-places." (Muslim)

Commentary: Human life has two aspects. One is angelic and spiritual which is the celestial and the refined aspect and the other is material and bestial which is the terrestrial and the vulgar one. The angelic and spiritual aspect calls for virtuous deeds like Divine Worship and God-remembrance through which its disciplining and evolution takes place and a man becomes worthy of the good grace of Allah. The foremost centres of these acts are the mosques where divine honours are paid to Allah all the time and owing to which they bear a close association with the Bayt Allah / House of Allah. In cities and other human dwellings, the most pleasing to God, at all events, are mosques.

On the contrary, the market-places, by their very nature, are related to the material urges of man, and, in them, he generally grows negligent of his duty to Allah. On account of this apathy and abundance of sin and immorality, their atmosphere, on whole, is unhealthy and spiritually harmful. The markets are, therefore, the most detestable of all the places in the judgement of Allah.

The sustance of this Tradition is that the Believers should feel more attached to the mosques and go to the baaars only when it is necessary, taking care to protect themselves against the evils that are commonly associated with them, such as, falsehood and deceit. Within these limits, it is quite permissible to go to the market-places and engage in buying and selling goods for which people meet there. The Prophet ﷺ, indeed, has given the glad tidings of Paradise to those who carry on trade with honesty and due regard of the God-Given laws. It is like this that though the lavatory is, basically, a most abominable place, one cannot refuse to have anything to do with it. The bondsman, in fact, earns the Divine reward, in good measure if he is heedful of the commands of the Shari'ah and abides by the confirmed practice of the Prophet ﷺ while going to the toilet for answering the call of nature.

(٥٢٤/٥٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ سَبْعَةٌ يُظِلُّهُمُ اللَّهُ فِي ظِلِّهِ يَوْمَ لَا ظِلَّ إِلَّا ظِلُّهُ، إِمَامٌ عَادِلٌ وَ شَابٌّ نَشَأَ فِي عِبَادَةِ اللَّهِ وَ رَجُلٌ قَلْبُهُ مُعَلَّقٌ بِالْمَسْجِدِ إِذَا خَرَجَ مِنْهُ حَتَّى يَعُودَ إِلَيْهِ وَ رَجُلَانِ تَحَابَّا فِي

اللَّهُ اجْتَمَعَ عَلَيْهِ وَتَفَرَّقَ عَلَيْهِ وَرَجُلٌ ذَكَرَ اللَّهَ خَالِيًا فَفَاضَتْ عَلَيْهِ وَرَجُلٌ
دَعَتْهُ امْرَأَةٌ ذَاتُ حَسَبٍ وَجَمَالٍ فَقَالَ إِنِّي أَخَافُ اللَّهَ وَرَجُلٌ تَصَدَّقَ بِبَصِيقَةٍ
فَأَخْفَاهَا حَتَّى لَا تَعْلَمَ شِمَالُهُ مَا تُنْفِقُ يَمِينُهُ. (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(524/52) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger ﷺ of Allah said: "There are seven kind of men whom Allah will accord a place under the shadow of His Mercy on the Day, on which there will be no other shadow than that of His Mercy (i) the ruler who ruled with justice, (ii) the young man who grew up in worship (i.e. was worshipful in childhood as well as in youth and the desires and impulses that were peculiar to young age did not distract him); (iii) the truthful Believer whose condition was that even when he went out of the mosque his heart was attached to it (and felt restless) till he returned; (iv) the two persons who loved each other for the sake of Allah and remained united on it and parted (from one another) on it (i.e. the affection between whom was not conditional on presence, as the case, on the whole, was with the worldly people but they loved each other for the sake of Allah while they were together as well as out of one another's sight)' (v) the bondsman who wept when he remembered Allah in solitude, (vi) the man whom a beautiful, wealthy and respectable woman invited to sin but he said: 'I fear Allah, and, (therefore), I cannot proceed towards what is prohibited'; and (vii) the person who spent in the way of Allah and did it so secretly that his left hand did not know what he gave away with the right hand or to whom it was given."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In it the glad tidings of the shadow of Divine mercy have been given, in the third place, to the bondsman whose heart dwells in the mosque even when he is away from it. May Allah cause us to be one of the servants. Aameen!

(٥٢٥/٥٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ عَدَا
إِلَى الْمَسْجِدِ أَوْ رَاحَ أَعَدَّ اللَّهُ لَهُ نُزْلَهُ مِنَ الْجَنَّةِ كُلَّمَا عَدَا أَوْ رَاحَ .

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(525/53) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه said that the Messenger ﷺ of Allah said: "If anyone goes out in the morning or in evening to the mosque, Allah will prepare for him his food in Paradise as often as he goes out in the morning or in the evening."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: As many times as a worshipper goes to the Mosque in the morning or in the evening, or during the day, the Kind Lord looks at him as His dear guest and each time as feast is arranged for him. He will find it on reaching there. We cannot imagine what reception is arranged for us there. Kanz al-A'mal quotes Abdullah bin Abbas on the authority of Tareekh Hakim as narrating this hadith.

"Mosques are houses of Allah. The Believers who come there are visitors (and guests) of Allah. If anyone comes to meet someone then he must honour and serve the visitor."

الْمَسَاجِدُ بُيُوتُ اللَّهِ وَالْمُؤْمِنُونَ
زُؤَارُ اللَّهِ وَحَقُّ عَلَى الْمَزُورِ أَنْ
يُكْرِمَ زَائِرَهُ

(كنز العمال ص ١٢٤ ج ٤)

The ahadith of Tareekh Hakim are weak in the sight of scholars of hadith but the subject of the foregoing extract corresponds to the above hadith of Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه. Hence, it is quoted here.¹

(٥٢٦/٥٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ صَلَوةُ الرَّجُلِ فِي الْجَمَاعَةِ تُضَعَّفُ عَلَى صَلَوتِهِ فِي بَيْتِهِ وَفِي سُوقِهِ خَمْسَةً وَعِشْرِينَ ضِعْفًا وَذَلِكَ أَنَّهُ إِذَا تَوَضَّأَ فَأَحْسَنَ الْوُضُوءَ ثُمَّ خَرَجَ إِلَى الْمَسْجِدِ لَا يُخْرِجُهُ إِلَّا الصَّلَوةُ لَمْ يَخْطُ خُطْوَةً إِلَّا رُفِعَتْ بِهَا دَرَجَةٌ وَحُطَّ عَنْهُ بِهَا خَطِيئَةٌ فَإِذَا صَلَّى لَمْ تَزَلِ الْمَلَائِكَةُ تُصَلِّي عَلَيْهِ مَا دَامَ فِي مُصَلَّاهُ اللَّهُمَّ صَلِّ عَلَيْهِ اللَّهُمَّ ارْحَمْهُ وَلَا يَزَالُ أَحَدُكُمْ فِي صَلَوةٍ مَا انْتَهَرَ الصَّلَوةَ .

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(526/54) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "(The reward on) offering prayer congregationally in the mosque in twenty-five times as much as on saying it at home or in the market-placed and it is so because when the bondsman goes to the mosque, after performing wudu properly, and there is no other object of his going except (the offering up) prayer, he is elevated by one rank at each step and

1. Kanzal-A'mal has another hadith on this topic from Ibn Mas'ud رضي الله عنه on the authority of Mu'ajjam Tabarani.

one sin of his forgiven. Moreover, when he offers the prayer, the angles continuously pray for mercy and benevolence on his behalf as long as he remains at his place. The supplication of the angles is: "Our Lord! Bestow your special grace upon this bondsman, bestow upon him Your mercy. And all the time anyone waits (in the mosque) for prayer, in the sight of Allah and in His reckoning, he is as if engaged in prayer."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In another version of the same Tradition the supplication of the angles is mentioned with the addition that 'O God! Forgive this bondsman his sins and accept his repentance. It is also stated that the angles will continue to supplicate for him until he causes pain to anyone through his arm or tongue or his wudu is voided.

(٥٢٧/٥٥) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ بْنِ مَظْعُونٍ أَنَّهُ قَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ ائْذَنْ لَنَا فِي التَّهَرُّبِ
فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ تَرْهَبَ أُمَّتِي الْجُلُوسُ فِي الْمَسَاجِدِ
إِنْتَظَارَ الصَّلَاةِ .
(رواه في شرح السنة)

(527/55) Uthman bin Maz'oon رضي الله عنه narates that once he said to the Prophet ﷺ, "O Messenger of Allah! Please grant me permission to adopt monasticism." The Prophet ﷺ replied: "Monasticism for my followers lies in sitting in the mosque and waiting for prayer to begin."
(Sharah-as-Sunnah)

Commentary: Sometimes the Companions felt like withdrawing from the world and giving up its pleasures and they sought the Prophet's ﷺ advice about it. The inclination of Sayyidina Uthman bin Maz'oom, too, was very strong towards the monastic way of life and, once, he said several things like that to Prophet, the last of which was that he might be permitted to take up monasticism so that he could lead the life of a hermit. The above Tradition shows that the spiritual aims and the gains of the Hereafter for which monasticism was practised by the ancient communities could be attained by the Muslims by sitting in the mosque and waiting for prayer. As a matter of fact, to sit in the mosque and wait for prayer is a kind of *I'tikaf*¹.

①. Retiring to the mosque for sometime. In Ramazan, the I'tikaf in the last days is a collective obligation on every neighbourhood.

(٥٢٨/٥٦) عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
بَشِّرِ الْمَشَّائِينَ فِي الظُّلَمِ إِلَى الْمَسَاجِدِ بِالنُّورِ التَّامِّ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ

(رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد)

(528/56) It is related by Buridah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "To those who go to the mosques in darkness, give the glad tidings that (in return for it) perfect light will be granted to them on the Day of Resurrection." (Tirmizi Abu Dawood)

Commentary: To go the mosque regularly for prayer in the darkness of the night takes a lot of effort and is a sign of sincere devotion to Allah. Whoever does so has been given the good tidings by Allah, through the Prophet ﷺ that in the darkness of the Day of Resurrection perfect light will be made available to him.

Supplication to be Made on Entering and Coming Out of the Mosque (٥٢٩/٥٧) عَنْ أَبِي أُسَيْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا دَخَلَ أَحَدُكُمْ الْمَسْجِدَ فَلْيَقُلْ اللَّهُمَّ افْتَحْ لِي أَبْوَابَ رَحْمَتِكَ وَإِذَا خَرَجَ فَلْيَقُلْ اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَسْأَلُكَ مِنْ فَضْلِكَ .

(رواه مسلم)

(529/57) It is related by Abu Usad Sa'adi that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you enters a mosque he should supplicate Allah: Allahummafatah li abwaaba rahmatika (O Allah, open the gates of your mercy for me), and when he comes out of it, he should supplicate: Allahumma asaluka min fadlika (O Allah, I beseech You for Your grace)." (Muslim)

Commentary: In the Qur'an and the traditions, generally the word Rahmah (i.e. grace) is used for heavenly rewards of the Hereafter and Fadl (i.e. grace) for earthly blessings like sustenance. The Prophet ﷺ has, therefore, exhorted us to beseech the Lord for the opening of the gates of mercy as we go into the mosque, for it is the place for seeking religious and spiritual benefits and blessings of the hereafter and for His grace i.e. abundance in the material things of life as we leave it for it is the proper thing for the world outside the mosque. The Real object of it all it is the bondsman should not become negligent while going into the mosque or coming out of it but on both the occasions his thoughts should be directed towards Allah like a beggar.

Tahayyatul Masjid

(٥٣٠/٥٨) عَنْ أَبِي قَتَادَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ إِذَا دَخَلَ أَحَدُكُمْ الْمَسْجِدَ فَلْيَرْكَعْ رُكْعَتَيْنِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَجْلِسَ . (رواه البخارى و مسلم)
(530/58) It is related by Abu Qatadah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you enters the mosque he should offer two raka'at prayer before he sits down."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The mosques bear a close association with Allah. It is for this reason that they are known as the Houses of Allah. It is thus, among the proprieties of coming to the mosque that one should offer two raka'at prayer before sitting down. It is, so to stay, the act of salutation in the Court of Almighty. This prayer on account of it, is called Tahayyatul Masjid (i.e. Salutation to the Mosque). According to most of the authorities, however, this command belongs to the category of supererogatory acts the performance of which is meritorious but omission is not sinful.

Note: It is distinctly stated in the above Tradition that the two rak'at should be offered before one sits in the mosque. But it has been seen that some people, first, deliberately sit down in the mosque, on entering it, and then get up and offer the Tahayyatul Masjid. Allah alone knows how and when this erroneous practice began. We learn from Mulla Ali Qari that it existed even in his time, i.e. four hundred years ago.

(٥٣١/٥٩) عَنْ كَعْبِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَقْدُمُ مِنْ سَفَرٍ إِلَّا نَهَاراً فِي الصُّحَى فَإِذَا قَدِمَ بَدَأَ بِالْمَسْجِدِ فَصَلَّى فِيهِ رُكْعَتَيْنِ ثُمَّ جَلَسَ فِيهِ . (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(531/59) It is related by Ka'ab bin Maalik رضي الله عنه 'the practice of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was that when he returned from a journey, he entered Madinah during the day-light, at the time of Chasht, and the first thing he did was to go to the mosque where he offered two raka'at prayer and then sat down (for some time)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In some other Traditions it is mentioned in detail that when the Prophet ﷺ returned from a journey he, generally, made the last halt in the vicinity of Madinah owing to which people knew where he was staying and they came to him in the morning. Early on the next morning he would leave for Madinah, reaching there after the light of day had spread. He would then, go straight to the mosque, or, in other words, pay the tribute of submission in the court of the King of Kings before meeting the members of his family. He sat in the mosque for some time and met the people who came to see him.

Attachment to The Mosque is a Sign of Faith

(٥٣٢/٦٠) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

إِذَا رَأَيْتُمُ الرَّجُلَ يَتَعَاهَدُ الْمَسْجِدَ فَاشْهَدُوا لَهُ بِالْإِيمَانِ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ يَقُولُ إِنَّمَا

يَعْمُرُ مَسَاجِدَ اللَّهِ مَنْ آمَنَ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ. (رواه الترمذى وابن ماجه والدارمى)

(532/60) It is related by Abu Sa'eed Khudri ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When you see that a person is attached to the mosque and looks after it (devotedly), give the testimony of Faith for him because Allah says that only they frequent His mosques and keep them filled who believe in Him and the Last Day." (Tirmizi, Ibn-e-Majah and Daarmi)

Commentary: The mosque is the place of worship and a symbol of Faith. Sincere attachment to it, care and concern for its maintenance and anxiety to see it humming with worship and God-remembrance are, thus, the signs of true Faith.

Keeping the Mosques Clean and Supplied with a Pleasant Odour

(٥٣٣/٦١) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ أَمَرَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِنَاءَ

الْمَسْجِدِ فِي الدُّوْرِ وَأَنْ يُنْظَفَ وَيُطَيَّبَ. (رواه ابو داؤد و الترمذى وابن ماجه)

(533/61) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ gave the order for the construction of mosques in mohallas (i.e. quarters or paths) of the town, and he gave the order for keeping them clean and pleasantly smelling.

(Abu Dawood, Tirmizi and Ibn-e-Majah)

Commentary: It shows that if the different quarters of a town are wide apart, as it was in Madinah, mosques should be built in them according to need. The mosques should, further be kept free from dirt and supplied with perfume.

Reward on Construction of Mosques

(٥٣٤/٦٢) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ

وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ بَنَى لِلَّهِ مَسْجِدًا بَنَى اللَّهُ لَهُ بَيْتًا فِي الْجَنَّةِ (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(534/62) It is related by Uthman رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever builds a mosque for Allah (i.e. solely for His pleasure and with the aims of earning the Diving reward), Allah will have a mansion built for him in Paradise." (Bukhari & Muslim)

Commentary: It occurs repeatedly in the Qur'an and the Traditions that the recompense in the Hereafter will be proportionate to the deed. The grant of a mansion in the Paradise to anyone who builds a mosque should, therefore, seem natural.

Adornment and Embellishment of the Mosque

(٥٣٥/٦٣) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا

أَمَرْتُ بِتَشْيِيدِ الْمَسَاجِدِ قَالَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ لَتَزُخَّرَ فَنَهَا كَمَا زَخَرَفَتِ الْيَهُودُ وَالنَّصَارَى (رواه ابوداؤد)

(535/63) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I have not been commanded to build tall and imposing mosques." (After narrating it, Abdullah bin Abbas added by way of a prophecy): "Surely, you will begin decorating your mosques as the Jews and Christians have decorated their places of worship." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Its purport is that outward splendour and ornamentation is not desirable for the mosques. The emphasis ought to be on simplicity. As for the prediction made by Sayyidina Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه he would have, evidently, learnt about it from the sacred Prophet ﷺ some time or the other. The following saying of the Prophet ﷺ has, further, been quoted in Ibn-e-Majah on the authority of Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه himself.

"I am seeing that at a time (when I will not be present in your midst) you, too, will make your mosques as grand and imposing as the Jews have made their synagogues and the Christians their churches."

أَرَأَيْتُمْ سَتَشْرِقُ فَوْقَ مَسَاجِدِكُمْ
بَعْدِي كَمَا شَرَفَتِ الْيَهُودُ
كَنَائِسَهُمْ وَ كَمَا شَرَفَتِ
النَّصَارَى بِيَعَاهَا .
(كنز العمال بحواله ابن ماجه)

It is, also, possible that Sayyidina Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه, who lived for eight years after the death of the Prophet ﷺ, had made the prophecy on the basis of the direction of and the speed with which transformation had begun to take place in the mental character and way of life of the Muslims. Anyway, whatever the ground, the prediction has proved literally true. In some parts of our own country mosques are found which surpass even the churches and synagogues in grandeur.

(٥٣٦/٦٤) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ مِنْ أَشْرَاطِ
السَّاعَةِ أَنْ يَتَبَاهَى النَّاسُ فِي الْمَسَاجِدِ.

(رواه ابو داؤد ، و النسائي والدارمي و ابن ماجه)

(536/64) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "One of the protents of the Hour (of Doom) is that people will begin to excel one another (in the construction of) mosques." (Abu Dawood, Nasai, Daarmi and Ibn-e-Majah)

Commentary: Among the protents of the Day of Ressurrection there are some which will occur just on the eve of it, such as, the appearance of Dajjal and the rising of the sun in the west and others that will become evident some time before it. The evils and calamities the Prophet ﷺ has forecast as the precursors of the Last Day belong to the latter category and the keen-ness to surpass one another in the erection of mosques is some of them.

No one Should Come to the Mosque After Eating a Thing Giving out a Disagreeable Smell

(٥٣٧/٦٥) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ أَكَلَ مِنْ
هَذِهِ الشَّجَرَةِ الْمُتْنِنَةِ فَلَا يَقْرَبَنَّ مَسْجِدَنَا فَإِنَّ الْمَلَائِكَةَ تَتَأَذَى مِنْهَا
الْإِنْسُ
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(537/65) It is related by Jabir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever eats of this evil-smelling plant (i.e. onion or garlic) should not come to our mosques for what is disagreeable to men is, also, disagreeable to angles." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The religious significance of the mosques and the unique association they bear with Allah demands, among other things, that these should be protected from every kind of foul odour. Since onion and garlic possess a sort of unpleasant smell — and during the time of the Prophet ﷺ people often ate them raw — it was commanded by him that no one should come to the mosque after eating them and the reason he gave for it was that anything that was hurtful to men was hurtful to the angles of Allah as well, and, as the angles visit the mosques often and join men, particularly in prayer it is essential that distress is not caused to the holy and distinguished visitors by a thing like foul smell.

Another Tradition referring to the same incident and quoted in Abu Dawood, on the authority of Mu'awiya bin Qurrah, tells that the Prophet ﷺ distinctly mentioned onion and garlic as the thing people should avoid eating when they came to the mosque. It is, further, stated that if anyone wanted to eat them he should have them cooked so that their unpleasant smell was destroyed.

Though only onion and garlic are spoken of in this report, it, obviously, applies to all foul-smelling articles of food, or, rather, to everything repulsive to the people of good taste.

Forbidding The Recitation of Poetry and Buying and Selling of Goods in The Mosque

(٥٣٨/٦٦) عَنْ عُمَرَ وَبْنِ شُعَيْبٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ قَالَ نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ تَنَاشُدِ الْأَشْعَارِ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ وَعَنِ الْبَيْعِ وَالْإِشْتِرَاءِ فِيهِ وَأَنْ يَتَحَلَّقَ النَّاسُ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ قَبْلَ الصَّلَاةِ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ. (رواه ابوداؤد و الترمذی)

(538/66) Amr bin Shu'ayb reported on the authority of his father Shu'ayb that his grand father said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ forbade the recitation of poetry and the purchase and sale of goods in the mosque, and he, also forbade the sitting of people in circles in the mosques, on a Friday, before the commencement of the prayers. (Abu Dawood and Tirmizi)

Commentary: The sanctity of the mosques, again, requires that these should not be used for activities which though legitimate in themselves, are not closely related to Faith and worship, as for instance, the holding of a poetic symposium and the carrying out of trade. As for the last part of the above Tradition, concerning a Friday, it, apparently, shows that people who reached the mosque before time, which has of course, been urged in the Traditions, should occupy themselves with prayer and God-remembrance till the start of the service instead of becoming separate circles.

Protection From Little Children and Noise

(٥٣٩/٦٧) عَنْ وَائِلَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ جَنِّبُوا مَسَاجِدَكُمْ صِبْيَانَكُمْ وَمَجَانِينَكُمْ وَشُرَاءَكُمْ وَبَيْعَكُمْ وَخُصُومَاتِكُمْ وَرَفَعَ أَصْوَاتَكُمْ وَإِقَامَةَ حَدُودِكُمْ وَسَلَّ سَيُوفِكُمْ .
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(539/67) It is related by Wathilah bin al-Asqa' that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Keep away from your mosques your little children and the lunatics, and, in the same way, keep away from the mosques your buying and selling, and your mutual quarrels, and your hubbub, and (your) inflicting penalty (for a transgression of the law of Allah), and drawing swords. (Nothing of the sort should be done within the precincts of the mosques as all this is inimical to their sanctity and reverence)."

(Ibn-e-Maajah)

Forbidding of Wordly Talk in The Mosques

(٥٤٠/٦٨) عَنِ الْحَسَنِ مُرْسَلًا قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَأْتِي عَلَى النَّاسِ زَمَانٌ يَكُونُ حَدِيثُهُمْ فِي مَسَاجِدِهِمْ فِي أَمْرَدِنْيَاهُمْ فَلَا تُجَالِسُوهُمْ فَلَيْسَ لِلَّهِ فِيهِمْ حَاجَةٌ .
(رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(540/68) It is related, in the nature of Mursal,¹ by Hasan Basri that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A time will come when the conversation of the people in the mosques will centre around their wordly affairs. You must not sit with such people. Allah ①. A Tradition which is related by a Tabae'e without giving the name of the companion through whom it had reached him is called Mursal in the special terminology of Islam.

has nothing to do with them."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: The mosque being the House of Allah it is in the fitness of the things that nothing was said there which was not aimed at the propitiation of Allah or related to Him in any other way. Social and collective problems of the Muslims can, of course, be discussed in the mosques but due regard must be shown in it, also, to proprieties, and everything that is done must be within the frame work of Divine guidance.

Presence of Women in the Mosques

(٥٤١/٦٩) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا اسْتَأَذَنْتُكُمْ نِسَاءَكُمْ بِاللَّيْلِ فَأَذْنُو لَهُنَّ .
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(541/69) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When your wives ask you for permission to go to the mosque, give it to them."

(Bukhari And Muslim)

(٥٤٢/٧٠) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تَمْنَعُوا نِسَاءَكُمْ الْمَسَاجِدَ وَبُيُوتَهُنَّ خَيْرٌ لَهُنَّ .
(رواه ابو داود)

(542/70) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Do not stop your women from going to the mosques, but it is better for them in their homes."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: During the lifetime of the Prophet ﷺ, when he personally led all the five daily services, many pious and right-minded ladies wanted to be allowed to offer up at least the two nightly prayers of Isha and Fajr behind him though the Prophet ﷺ had repeatedly made it clear that it was better and more meritorious for women to offer prayers at home. But some people did not permit their wives to go to the mosque. It was, however, not due to any misgiving or fear of mischief as the moral and social stands in the Muslim society were very high at that time but a sense of pride which was wholly un-Islamic. Hence, the Prophet ﷺ felt that if women asked for permission to go to the mosque in the night it should be given to them but to the women, themselves, he always advised that it was better to offer Prayer at home.

(٥٣٤/٧١) عَنْ أُمِّ حُمَيْدٍ السَّاعِدِيَّةِ أَنَّهَا جَاءَتْ إِلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَتْ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِنِّي أُحِبُّ الصَّلَاةَ مَعَكَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَدْ عَلِمْتُ أَنَّكَ تُجِيبِينَ الصَّلَاةَ مَعِيَ وَصَلَوْتُكَ فِي بَيْتِكَ خَيْرٌ مِّنْ صَلَوَتِكَ فِي حُجْرَتِكَ وَصَلَوْتُكَ فِي حُجْرَتِكَ خَيْرٌ مِّنْ صَلَوَتِكَ فِي دَارِكَ وَصَلَوْتُكَ فِي دَارِكَ خَيْرٌ مِّنْ صَلَوَتِكَ فِي مَسْجِدِ قَوْمِكَ وَصَلَوْتُكَ فِي مَسْجِدِ قَوْمِكَ وَخَيْرٌ مِّنْ صَلَوَتِكَ فِي مَسْجِدِي .

(رواه احمد، كنز العمال)

(543/71) Narrated Umm-e-Humayd Sa'idiyah wife of Abu Humayd Sa'idi that once she went to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and said: "I wish that I offered prayer (congregationally) with you in the mosque." "I know", replied the Prophet ﷺ, "that you want very much to offer prayer with me (i.e. behind me in congregation), but the principles of the Shari'ah is that the prayer you offer in the inner part of your house is superior to the prayer you offer in the outer verandah of it, and the prayer you offer in the outer courtyard of your house is superior to the prayer you offer in the mosque of your tribe (which is nearer to your house), and the prayer you offer in the mosque of your tribe is superior to the prayer you offer in my mosque."

(Kanzul 'Amaal with reference to Musnad-e-Ahmad)

Commentary: From many other Traditions, too, it appears that the Prophet ﷺ often explained the above position to women as regards the offering of prayer in the mosque. Yet, many ladies ardently desired that though it was better in the judgement of the Lord for them to offer prayer at home, they might be allowed to go to the mosque, atleast in the night, and offer it behind the Prophet ﷺ and since the underlying sentiment was that of true religious devotion to the Prophet ﷺ and there was no apprehension of mischief during those days, the sacred Prophet ﷺ advised the Companions to allow their wives to go to the mosque at night if they wanted to do so. Anyhow, this command was given at a time when there was no fear of an unwanted thing taking place if the women went out and it was disliked by some Companions only because of a false sense of vanity or natural inclination. But as the state of the society underwent a change and social and moral evils crept into it, it no longer remained desirable¹. What no less a person than Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها had to say about it is given in the next Tradition.

(٥٤٤/٧٢) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ لَوْ أَدْرَكَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا حَدَّثَ النِّسَاءُ لَمَنَعَهُنَّ الْمَسَاجِدَ كَمَا مُنِعَتْ نِسَاءُ بَنِي إِسْرَائِيلَ.

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(544/72) It is related that Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها said: "Were the Messenger of Allah ﷺ to see the things women have now acquired (in their conduct and deportment), he would have forbidden them from going to the mosque in the same way as the women of Bani Israel had been forbidden (to go to their places of worship) during the days of the earlier Prophets."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: This observation was made by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها in her time (after the passing away of the holy Prophet ﷺ), and for this reason, according to Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه, the Companions رضي الله عنهم, generally, had come to hold that women should no longer be permitted to go to the mosque. With the rapid transformation of social values in the succeeding generations and in the context of our mournful moral degeneration it is now absolutely out of the question.

①. Comments on the above narratives are adapted from Shah Waliullah's Hujjat, Vol. II, p26.

CONGREGATION

We have seen how as-salah (prayer) is not merely an obligatory mode of worship but also a sign and symbol of Islam. To observe it is a proof of one's wholehearted allegiance to Islam and its omission denotes indifference to Faith and an attitude of inattention and unconcern towards Allah and the Prophet ﷺ. It was, therefore, essential to have an arrangement that enabled everyone to offer prayer openly and for all to see. The Prophet ﷺ, consequently, prescribed the method of congregation and made it compulsory for every Muslim who was not ill or had any other valid excuse to offer prayer individually or at home. We believe, the real wisdom behind the institution of congregational prayer is that the Muslims, in that way, were subjected to supervision and superintendence five times a day. Moreover, our everyday experience is that many Muslims who offer prayer regularly, thanks to congregational service, would not have maintained such regularity without it.

The institution of congregational prayer moreover, is a unique informal plan for the religious instruction of Muslims and offers them a wonderful opportunity to come into contact with one another and know about each-other's welfare regularly.

The atmosphere of worship, devotness and repentance that pervades the mosques and the effect it produces in the hearts, the bestowal of Divine favours that takes place when the hearts of the bondsmen of different religious and spiritual levels turn in unison towards Allah, and the company of the angels with which the devotees are blessed in congregational prayer, as a number of the Traditions tell, are, again, the singular advantages of the system of congregation.

Besides, it can be most helpful in the promotion of the sense of the solidarity and cooperation among the Muslims. It should not be difficult for any one to appreciate, in the modern times, the tremendous social and other benefits to which the five daily get-togethers in the mosques of the locality and the greater weekly congregation in the central mosque of the town on Fridays and even greater congregations of the 'Eids, twice in a year, can be put.

Be that as it may, it is owing to these blessing and advantages that everyone is required to offer prayers congregationally unless there is a genuine excuse like illness, and as long as the teachings of the Prophet ﷺ were sincerely observed, every Muslim, with the exception of the sick and the hypocrites, took care to offer prayers congregationally, and negligence concerning it was, commonly, considered to be a sign of hypocrisy.

Importance

(٥٤٥/٧٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ لَقَدْ رَأَيْتُنَا وَمَا يَتَخَلَّفُ عَنِ الصَّلَاةِ إِلَّا مُنَافِقٌ قَدْ عَلِمَ نِفَاقَهُ أَوْ مَرِيضٌ إِنْ كَانَ الْمَرِيضُ لَيْمَسِيٍّ بَيْنَ رَجُلَيْنِ حَتَّى يَأْتِيَ الصَّلَاةَ وَقَالَ إِنْ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَّمَنَا سُنَنَ الْهُدَى وَإِنْ مِنْ سُنَنِ الْهُدَى الصَّلَاةُ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ الَّذِي يُؤَدَّنُ فِيهِ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ إِنَّ اللَّهَ شَرَعَ لِنَبِيِّكُمْ سُنَنَ الْهُدَى وَإِنَّهُنَّ (أَيِ الصَّلَوَاتِ حَيْثُ يُنَادَى بِهِنَّ) مِنْ سُنَنِ الْهُدَى وَلَوْ أَنْكُمْ صَلَّيْتُمْ فِي بُيُوتِكُمْ كَمَا يُصَلِّي هَذَا الْمُتَخَلِّفُ فِي بَيْتِهِ لَتَرَكْتُمْ سُنَّةَ نَبِيِّكُمْ وَلَوْ تَرَكْتُمْ سُنَّةَ نَبِيِّكُمْ لَضَلَلْتُمْ (رواه مسلم)

(545/73) Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه related to us "I have seen ourselves (i.e., the Muslims) in the state that he who did not offer prayer in congregation was either a hypocrite whose hypocrisy was not hidden from anyone or an unfortunate sick invalid (who could not come to the mosque owing to illness), and even some sick people came to the mosque, supported by two men, and joined the congregation".....After it, Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه said, "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ has imparted to us the knowledge of Sunan Huda (i.e., of the things of Faith and Shari'ah on which our guidance and felicity are dependent or with which they are related) and one of these Sunan Huda is the offering of prayers in congregation in a mosque where Azan is called.

In another version of the same Tradition Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه is stated to have said: "O Muslims! Allah has prescribed Sunan Huda for your Prophet (i.e., enjoined upon him acts that are capable of taking one to the place of propinquity and good pleasure of Allah) and to offer the five daily prayers in congregation in the mosque in one of them. You will forsake the way of the Prophet ﷺ if you will start offering prayer at home and away from the congregation like this man (the reference is to some particular person who lived in those days), and if you forsook the way of the Prophet ﷺ, be sure you will forsake the path of Guidance and fall in the abyss of destruction." (Muslim)

Commentary: We are told by an illustrious Companion رضي الله عنه of the Prophet ﷺ, Sayyidina Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه, that offering of all the five daily prayers in congregation is among the Prophet's ﷺ teachings that are popularly known as Sunan Huda. In other words, it is a part of his more important precepts with which the guidance of the Ummah is closely connected.

Sayyidina Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه, further, said that to omit the congregation and offer prayer at home is to stray away from the path of the Prophet ﷺ, and that during the earliest days of Islam, which was the finest imaginable phase of the Ummah, everyone except the sick and the hypocrites offered prayer with the congregation and even the invalids came to the mosque, supported by others, to participate.

It is clear from the above Tradition that the opinion of Sayyidina Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه and the general body of the Companions رضي الله عنهم the position of congregation is similar to that of an obligatory duty. Thus, those who draw the inference from the term, Sunan Huda, that according to the jurisprudential usage congregation is no more than a Sunnah have, perhaps, not kept the whole of Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه narrative in mind.

(٥٤٦/٧٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَيْسَ صَلَاةٌ أَثْقَلَ عَلَى الْمُنَافِقِينَ مِنَ الْفَجْرِ وَالْعِشَاءِ وَلَوْ يَعْلَمُونَ مَا فِيهِمَا لَاتَوَهُمَا وَلَوْ حَبَوًّا لَقَدْ هَمَمْتُ أَنْ أَمُرَ الْمُؤَدِّنَ فَيَقِيمَ ثُمَّ أَمُرَ رَجُلًا يَوْمَ النَّاسِ ثُمَّ أَخَذَ شَعْلًا

مِنْ نَارٍ فَاحْرِقْ عَلَى مَنْ لَا يَخْرُجُ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ بَعْدُ. (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(546/74) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "No Prayer is more heavy on the hypocrites than Fajr and Isha, and if they knew what reward awaited them against these prayers, and what blessings, they would join them even if they had to drag themselves on their knees (i.e., they would come to the mosque crawling along the ground if they could not walk due to illness). I, sometimes, feel like asking the Muazzin to call the Iqamah, and, then, appointing someone to lead the prayers in my place, take a torch in my hand and set fire to the houses of the people who did not come out of their homes for joining the congregation even after hearing the Azan."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: An equally awe-inspiring Tradition has been quoted in Ibn Majah, on the authority of Sayyidina Usama رضي الله عنه. It reads:

"People must give up the habit of staying away from congegation otherwise I shall burn down their houses."

لَيْتَهُنَّ رِجَالٌ عَنْ تَرْكِ
الْجَمَاعَةِ أَوْ لَا حَرَقَنَّ بُيُوتَهُمْ
(كنز العمال بحواله ابن ماجه)

Whether the wilful defaulters of congregation against whom the Prophet ﷺ has expressed such a strong indignation be the hypocrites of belief or action, this warning is about the act of omitting the congregation. This has led some authorities of old, including Imam Ahmad Hanbal, to believe that it is obligatory for an able-bodied person to offer prayers with congregation. In other words, as the offering of prayer is a religious duty so, also, is the offering of it with congregation and he who neglects congegation, neglects a fundamental religious obligation. But the doctors of the Hanafi school have, after examining the relevant Traditions, concluded that it belongs to the class of *Wajib*¹, not Fard, and the remark of the sacred Prophet ﷺ contained in the above narrative is in the nature of a warning and admonition.

(٥٤٧/٧٥) عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ
سَمِعَ الْمُنَادِيَ فَلَمْ يَمْنَعْهُ مِنْ اتِّبَاعِهِ غُذِرَ قَالُوا وَمَا الْغُذْرُ قَالَ خَوْفٌ أَوْ مَرَضٌ

①. Meaning a thing requisite or proper to be done.

لَمْ تُقْبَلْ مِنْهُ الصَّلَاةُ الَّتِي صَلَّى . (رواه ابو داؤد و الدارقطني)
 (547/75) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever hears the call of the Muazzin for prayer with congregation and there is no genuine excuse for him for not responding to it (i.e., of not joining the congregation, and, in spite of it, he prays individually), prayer of his shall not find acceptance with Allah." (Upon it), some Companions ؓ said: Messenger of Allah ﷺ what can be a genuine excuse?" "Danger to life or property or sickness," replied the Prophet ﷺ. (Abu Dawood and Daarami)

Commentary: In it, too, a severe warning is administered to those who stay away from congregation. Some ancient legists have held, on the basis of it, that like wudu, congregation, also, is among the essential conditions of prayer and the prayer of anyone who offers it individually without a valid reason is as good as unoffered. But it is not the view of the majority of the doctors of Islamic jurisprudence. According to them, such a prayer is discharged but it is of a very poor quality, the reward on which is little and the real aim of seeking the countenance of Allah remains unfulfilled. This, in their view, is the meaning of not finding acceptance with Allah. Anyhow, the truth is that the omission of congregation without a cogent excuse is most improper.

عَنْ أَبِي الدَّرْدَاءِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ ثَلَاثَةٍ فِي قَرْيَةٍ وَلَا بَدْوٍ لَا تَقَامُ فِيهِمُ الصَّلَاةُ إِلَّا قَدْ اسْتَحْوَذَ عَلَيْهِمُ الشَّيْطَانُ فَعَلَيْكَ بِالْجَمَاعَةِ فَإِنَّمَا يَأْكُلُ الذِّئْبُ الْقَاصِيَةَ. (رواه احمد و ابو داؤد و النسائي)
 (548/76) It is related by Abu Darda ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "If there are three persons in a habitation or *Badiyah*¹ and they do not offer prayer in congregational form then Satan will, surely, obtain control over them. You should, therefore, make it obligatory for yourselves to observe congregation. The wolf devours only the sheep that strays away from the flocks." (Musnad Ahmad, Abu Dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: It shows that if only three praying persons live somewhere they should offer prayer congregationally or else they will fall an easy prey to the machinations of the devil

Superiority And Blessedness

(٥٤٩/٧٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ صَلَاةُ

الْجَمَاعَةِ تَفْضُلُ صَلَاةُ الْفَذِّ بِسَبْعٍ وَعِشْرِينَ دَرَجَةً. (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(549/77) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "To offer prayers with the congregation is twenty-seven times more meritorious than to offer it alone."

(Bukahri and Muslim)

Commentary: Just as there is a difference of grade and degree in the properties of the things of the material world, and their worth and utility varies in accordance with it, our deeds, too, belong to various grades and standards the detailed knowledge is which is possessed only by Allah. When the Prophet ﷺ tells about an act that it is superior to such-and-such an act by so many degrees he does so on the basis of the knowledge vouchsafed to him by the Almighty. Thus, the observation made in the above Tradition about prayer observed with the congregation to be twenty-seven times more deserving of Divine reward than the one said individually is a truth inspired by Allah to the Prophet ﷺ and conveyed by him to his followers. It is, now, the duty of the faithful bondsmen that, believing wholeheartedly in its varacity, they take care always to offer prayer with the congregation.

It, also, shows incidentally, that a prayer offered singly is not lost altogether but is of a lesser grade by twenty-seven times which, clearly, is a matter of great sorrow and misfortune in itself.

(٥٥٠/٧٨) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ صَلَّى لِلَّهِ

أَرْبَعِينَ يَوْمًا فِي جَمَاعَةٍ يُدْرِكُ التَّكْبِيرَةَ الْأُولَى كُتِبَ لَهُ بَرَاءَةٌ تَنْ بَرَاءَةٌ مِنَ

النَّارِ وَبَرَاءَةٌ مِنَ الْبِقَاقِ. (رواه الترمذى)

(550/78) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever offers every prayer for forty days like this that even the first *Takbir*¹ is not missed by him, freedom from two things is decreed for him: the Fire of Hell and hypocrisy."

(Tirmizi)

Commentary: It tells that to offer prayers for full forty days with such regularity that not even the first Takbir omitted is so pleasing to Allah that it can be taken for granted about him that his heart is not tainted with hypocrisy and he is the dweller of Paradise of such a class that he shall never know what the Fire of Hell is. If we form a sincere intention to do it then surely Allah will make it easy for us.

We, further, learn from it that to do a virtuous thing consistently for forty days possesses a usefulness and efficacy of its own.

Full Reward on Intention

(٥٥١/٧٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ تَوَضَّأَ فَأَحْسَنَ وُضْوءَهُ ثُمَّ رَاحَ فَوَجَدَ النَّاسَ قَدْ صَلُّوا أَعْطَاهُ اللَّهُ مِثْلَ أَجْرِ مَنْ صَلَّاهَا وَحَضَرَهَا، لَا يَنْقُصُ ذَلِكَ مِنْ أَجُورِهِمْ شَيْئًا. (رواه ابو داود والنسائي)

(551/79) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever performed wudu and performed it well, and, then, went to the mosque (with the intention of offering prayer congregationally), but on reaching there found that the people had already offered the congregational prayer, Allah would bestow upon him the same reward as upon those who participated in the congregation and there would be no reduction in their reward as well." (Abu Dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: It shows that if a person who takes due care to offer prayer congregationally goes to the mosque to say the prayers in congregation, after performing the ablution properly, and finds that the prayer was over, he will, as a result of his intention and preparation for offering the prayers congregationally, receive, in full, the reward promised on the congregation as he had not missed it deliberately but owing to some error like miscalculation of time.

When it is Premissible to Say Namaz Individually or At Home

(٥٥٢/٨٠) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّهُ أَذَّنَ بِالصَّلَاةِ فِي لَيْلَةٍ ذَاتِ بَرْدٍ وَرِيحٍ ثُمَّ قَالَ لَا صَلُّوا فِي الرِّحَالِ ثُمَّ قَالَ إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يَأْمُرُ الْمُؤَذِّنَ إِذَا كَانَتْ لَيْلَةٌ ذَاتُ بَرْدٍ وَمَطَرٍ يَقُولُ لَا صَلُّوا فِي الرِّحَالِ.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(552/80) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه has narrated that one night when it was very cold and a strong breeze was blowing he called the Azan, and, then, called, out, "Oh people! offer prayers in your houses." He said further, "It was the custom of the Prophet ﷺ that when it was very cold in the night and rain as falling he ordered the Muazzin also to announce to the people to offer prayers at home."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In it, it is said about the weather that when it is unusually inclement, cold and stormy. In the same way, when it is raining so heavily that there is the danger of getting wet in going to the mosque or the path is slippery or under water or covered with mud, one can offer prayers at home. It is not necessary, then, to go to the mosque for the congregation.

(٥٥٣/٨١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا وَضَعَ عَشَاءَ أَحَدِكُمْ وَ أَقِيَمَتِ الصَّلَاةُ فَأَبْدُوا بِالْعَشَاءِ وَلَا يُعْجَلْ حَتَّى يَفْرُغَ مِنْهُ.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(553/81) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When the meal of the night is laid for anyone of you and the worshippers stand up for the prayers (in the mosque), he should, first, eat his meal and refrain from hurrying till he has eaten."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Commentators are agreed that the aforesaid command applies to the situation in which a man is feeling hungry and the food has been served for him. If, in such a case, he is commanded to leave the meal and hurry to the mosque it is quite possible that his heart would remain attached to the food while he was saying the prayers. The Divine Law and commonsense both demand that, in circumstances like these, a man, first, has his meal, and, then, offers prayers.

It is mentioned about the narrator himself, in Bukhari as well as Muslim, in connection with the above Tradition, that, sometimes, it happened that as the meal was laid before him, the congregation stood up in the mosque. He, then, would not leave the food and rush to the mosque but finish it. Since the mosque was very close to his house, he could hear the recital as he went on with the meal.

(٥٥٤/٨٢) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا قَالَتْ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ لَا صَلَاةَ بِحَضْرَةِ الطَّعَامِ وَلَا وَهُوَ يُدَا فِعْعَةُ الْأَخْبَانِ .

(رواه مسلم)

(554/82) Sayyidah Ayshah رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا said that she heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, "Prayer is not to be offered when food is served, or when calls of nature prevent it." (Muslim)

(٥٥٥/٨٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَرْقَمَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ إِذَا أُقِيمَتِ الصَّلَاةُ وَوَجَدَ أَحَدُكُمْ الْخَلَاءَ فَلْيَبْدَأْ بِالْخَلَاءِ .

(رواه الترمذى و روى مالك و ابو داؤد والنسائى نحوه)

(555/83) It is narrated by Abdullah bin Arqam رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "When the congregation stands up and anyone of you has the need to answer the call of nature, he should, first, get done with it."

(Tirmizi, Muwatta, Abu Dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: The above Traditions go to show how Shari'ah makes allowance for the needs and difficulties of the people.

He has not laid upon you any impediment in religion.

Arrangement of Rows

For the congregation of prayers the Prophet ﷺ has decreed that the devotees should stand, side by side, in rows. No better and more dignified arrangement could be imagined for collective worship like prayer. The Prophet ﷺ has urged that the rows must be perfectly straight with no one being ahead or in the rear even by an inch. The front row should be completed before the second is formed behind it. Eminent and responsible members of the community and men of learning and understanding should try to secure a place in the front rows, nearer to the Imam¹, and small children should stand in the rear, and if ladies were participating in the congregation, they should from the last row, at the back of all the male worshippers. The Imam is to stand in the centre, in front of everyone.

The aim of it all is to make the congregation flawless and more beneficial. The Prophet ﷺ gave due attention to these things and, also, exhorted the Ummah to be particular about them. Occasionally, he would speak of the divine reward that was promised on observing these directions and warn those who disregarded them of severe chastisement in the life to come.

(٥٥٦/٨٤) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

سَوُّوا صُفُوفَكُمْ فَإِنَّ تَسْوِيَةَ الصُّفُوفِ مِنْ إِقَامَةِ الصَّلَاةِ. (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(556/84) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that he Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Oh people! Keep the rows straight and orderly in prayer for keeping the rows straight and in order is a part of observing prayer properly." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In another report quoted in Abu Dawood etc., again on the authority of Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه, it is stated, "When the Prophet ﷺ stood up to lead the service he would, first, turn his face towards the right and tell the people: 'Stand abreast and make the rows straight,' and, then, towards the left and tell the people: 'Stand abreast and make the rows straight.' From other reports, too, it appears that the Prophet ﷺ used, often, to exhort the people to take care of the rows in prayer, specially at the time he stood up to lead the congregation.

(٥٥٧/٨٥) عَنِ النُّعْمَانِ بْنِ بَشِيرٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

يُسَوِّي صُفُوفَنَا حَتَّى كَأَنَّمَا يُسَوِّي بِهَا الْقِدَاحَ حَتَّى رَأَى أَنَا قَدْ عَقَلْنَا عَنْهُ ثُمَّ

خَرَجَ يَوْمًا فَقَامَ حَتَّى كَادَ أَنْ يُكَبِّرَ فَرَأَى رَجُلًا بَادِيًا صَدْرُهُ مِنَ الصَّفِّ فَقَالَ

عِبَادَ اللَّهِ لَتَسَوْنَ صُفُوفَكُمْ أَوْ لَيُخَالِفَنَّ اللَّهُ بَيْنَ وَجُوهِكُمْ. (رواه مسلم)

①. One who leads the service

(557/85) An-Nu'man bin Bashir رضي الله عنه has said, "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to straighten our rows as if he were trying to make them as straight as arrows until he saw that we had learned it from him. One day he came out, stood up, and was just about to say Allahu Akbar when he saw a man whose chest projected from the row, so he said, 'Servants of Allah, you must straighten your rows, or Allah will certainly put your faces in contrary directions.' "

(Muslim)

Commentary: The words as straight as arrows in the hadith may be understood if we bear in mind the Arab practice of keeping their arrows absolutely straight when they went to hunt or waged a war. Thus this came to be used in their language as an example. The narrator emphasises that the Prophet ﷺ made them straighten their rows to such an extent that they did not dis-align even by a fraction of an inch. With regular emphasis, it came naturally to the worshippers and they stood straight in the rows. However, when once someone made a mistake, the Prophet ﷺ reprimanded him severely and remarked that Allah will cause them to differ if they did not keep their rows straight. This warning is found in a number of ahadith. There is a definite relation between the carelessness and the punishment but, as in all other things, we have become negligent in observing this command too.

(٥٥٨/٨٦) عَنْ أَبِي مَسْعُودٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَمْسَحُ مِنَّا كِبْنًا فِي الصَّلَاةِ وَيَقُولُ اسْتَوُوا وَلَا تَخْتَلِفُوا فَتَخْتَلِفَ قُلُوبُكُمْ لِيَلْبِسَ مِنْكُمْ أَوْلُو الْأَحْلَامِ وَالنُّهَى ثُمَّ الَّذِينَ يَلُونَهُمْ ثُمَّ الَّذِينَ يَلُونَهُمْ.

(رواه المسلم)

(558/86) Abu Mas'ud Ansari رضي الله عنه related that in prayer (i.e., when the devotees stood up for the congregational prayer) the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to pat us on the shoulders and say: "Get abreast and do not be dissimilar (i.e., ahead of or behind one another) lest, God forbid, your hearts get separated." He would, also, say: "Nearest to me (in congregation) should be those who are men of knowledge and wisdom, then those who are next to them, and, then, those who are next to them (in knowledge and wisdom)."

(Muslim)

Commentary: Besides the orderliness of the rows, the Prophet ﷺ instructed that closest to him, in the congregation, should stand those whom Allah had distinguished for learning and understanding, after them those who belonged to the second grade of it, and, after them, those who belonged to the third grade. Apart from being natural, from the point of view of training and instruction, too, the arrangement that people of good and outstanding capabilities should, grade by grade, be in the forward part of the congregation and nearer to the Prophet ﷺ is most desirable.

(٥٥٩/٨٧) عَنِ النُّعْمَانِ بْنِ بَشِيرٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُسَوِّي صُفُوفَنَا إِذَا قُمْنَا إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ فَإِذَا اسْتَوَيْنَا كَبَّرَ . (رواه ابو داود)

(559/87) Nu'man bin Bashir رضي الله عنه narrates that it was the practice of the Prophet ﷺ was that when he stood up to lead the congregation he would, first, have the rows arranged in proper order and say Takbir (only) when the rows had become straight and orderly. (Abu Dawood)

Front Rows to Be Completed First

(٥٦٠/٨٨) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اتِمُّوا الصَّفَّ الْمَقْدَمَ ثُمَّ الَّذِي يَلِيهِ فَمَا كَانَ مِنْ نَقْصٍ فَلْيُكُنْ فِي الصَّفِّ الْمَوْخِرِ (رواه ابو داود)

(560/88) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Oh people! First complete the front row, then the row next to it so that if there is an insufficiency it should be in the last row." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that worshippers should not stand in the rear row until the front row had been filled up. In that way, the front row would be complete and whatever deficiency there was would be in the rear.

Superiority of Front Row

(٥٦١/٨٩) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ وَمَلَائِكَتَهُ يُصَلُّونَ عَلَى الصَّفِّ الْأَوَّلِ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَعَلَى الثَّانِي قَالَ إِنَّ

اللَّهُ وَمَلَائِكَتَهُ يُصَلُّونَ عَلَى الصَّفِّ الْأَوَّلِ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَعَلَى الثَّانِي قَالَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ وَمَلَائِكَتَهُ يُصَلُّونَ عَلَى الصَّفِّ الْأَوَّلِ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَعَلَى الثَّانِي قَالَ وَعَلَى الثَّانِي . (رواه احمد)

(561/89) It is related by Abu Umamah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah shows mercy to the first row and His angels make supplication of mercy for it." Some Companions رضي الله عنهم said: "O Messenger of Allah! And for the second row also?" The Prophet ﷺ said again: "Allah shows mercy to the first row and the angels make supplication of mercy for it." 'It was, once more, enquired from him: "And for the second row also?" The Prophet repeated what he had said earlier," It was, once again, asked: "And for the second row also?" The Prophet gave the same reply (for the third time). The Companions, again, said: "O Messenger of Allah! And for the second row also?" At that (i.e., the fourth) time, the Prophet ﷺ replied: "And for the people of the second row also." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that the people of the front row are deserving of the special grace of the Lord and invocations of the angels, and though those of the second row, too, have a share in them, they are far behind. Or, in other words, although, in our sight the difference between the first and second rows is very little, in the judgement of Allah it is great. The seeker of Divine mercy should, therefore, take pains to find a place in the first row, the only way to which is that he reached the mosque early.

In another saying, quoted in Bukhari and Muslim, it is stated that "If people knew what reward there is on standing in the first row and how are they going to be requitted (in the Hereafter), there would take place such a tussle among them that, ultimately, lot would have to be drawn." May Allah grant us belief in these facts! Aameen!

Method

(٥٦٢/٩٠) عَنْ أَبِي مَالِكٍ الْأَشْعَرِيِّ قَالَ الْأَاحِدِ تُكْمُ بِصَلَاةِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ أَقَامَ الصَّلَاةَ وَصَفَّ الرِّجَالُ وَصَفَّ خَلْفَهُمُ الْعِلْمَانِ ثُمَّ صَلَّى بِهِمْ فَذَكَرَ صَلَاتَهُ ثُمَّ قَالَ هَكَذَا صَلَاةُ أُمَّتِي . (رواه ابو داود)

(562/90) It is related on the authority of Abu Maalik Al-Ash'ari رضي الله عنه that he asked: "May I tell you about the prayer of the Prophet ﷺ?" He, then, said: "He would established prayer. He, first, formed the rows of men, and, behind them, the rows of children, and, then, led the congregation. Afterwards, the Prophet ﷺ remarked: 'This is the method of the prayers of my followers'." (Abu Dawood)

Commentray: It denotes that the correct and *Musnoon*¹ way is that the rows of men were in front and the children stood in a separate row behind them. From the Traditions to be taken up later it will appear that if women, too, are participating in the congregation they should stand even in the rear of the children.

Imam Should Stand in The Middle

(٥٦٣/٩١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
تَوَسَّطُوا الْإِمَامَ وَسُدُّوا الْحُلُلَ .
(رواه ابوداؤد)

(563/91) It is stated by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Oh people! Take the Imam in your middle (i.e., arrange the rows in such a way that the Imam stood between the tow ends of the front row), and fill up the gaps in the rows."

(Abu Dawood)

How Should *Muqtadis*² Stand if There Were Only One or Two of Them?

(٥٦٤/٩٢) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَامَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِيُصَلِّيَ فَجِئْتُ
حَتَّى قُمْتُ عَنْ يَسَارِهِ فَأَخَذَ بِيَدِي فَأَذَارَنِي حَتَّى أَقَامَنِي عَنْ يَمِينِهِ ثُمَّ جَاءَ
جَبَّارُ بْنُ صَخْرٍ فَقَامَ عَنْ يَسَارِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَأَخَذَ بِيَدَيْنَا جَمِيعًا فَدَفَعَنَا حَتَّى أَقَامَنَا خَلْفَهُ .
(رواه مسلم)

(564/92) Jabir رضي الله عنه narrated that "(Once) as the Messenger of Allah ﷺ stood up for prayer (i.e., began to offer it up) I arrived and (after the formulaltion of intention) stood to his left. The Prophet ﷺ, then, grasped my arm and guiding me past his back made me stand to his right side. In the meantime, Jabbar bin

 - ②. Meaning those offering up prayers behind the Imam.

Sakhr ﷺ (also) came and stood on his left. The Prophet ﷺ, therupon, directed both of us to the rear by holding our arms and made us stand behind (himself)." (Muslim)

Commentary: This hadith tells us that if there is only one Muqtadi he should stand on the right side of the Imam, and in case he stands to the left on the Imam by mistake, the Imam should bring him to his right, and in case another Muqtadi came and joins the congregation, the Imam should stand in front with both the Muqtadis forming a row in the rear. It is disallowed to stand alone behind the rows.

(٥٦٥/٩٣) عَنْ وَابِصَةَ بْنِ مَعْبُدٍ قَالَ رَأَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ رَجُلًا يُصَلِّي خَلْفَ الصَّفِّ وَحْدَهُ فَأَمَرَهُ أَنْ يُعِيدَ الصَّلَاةَ.

(رواه احمد و الترمذى و ابوداؤد)

(565/93) Sayyidina Wabisah bin Ma'bad ﷺ has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ saw a man praying alone behind the row and ordered him to repeat his prayer. (Ahmad, Tirmizi, Abu Dawood)

Commentary: To pray alone behind a row of worshippers is contrary to the spirit of congregation and colectiveness. It is so much disliked that the Prophet ﷺ asked the man to repeat his prayer.

Observation: If anyone arrives at the mosque and finds the last row full and has no one else to stand with him in the next row then he must pull one of the men from that row to stand with him. However, he must do it only if he is confident that the man he is pulling will respond. If he does not find anyone likely to submit to his pull then he must, for necessity, stand alone in the last row.

Women Should Stand Separately And at The Back of Men And Even Children.

(٥٦٦/٩٤) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ صَلَّيْتُ أَنَا وَيَتِيمٌ فِي بَيْتِنَا خَلْفَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَأُمُّ سُلَيْمٍ خَلْفَنَا.

(رواه مسلم)

(566/94) Sayyidina Anas ﷺ said: "I offered prayer behind the Prophet ﷺ in my house, and with me was my brother, Yatim¹

①. According to some authorities Yatim was not the name but the title of one of the brothers of Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه.

(i.e., we both formed a row behind the Prophet), and our mother, Umm Sulaym, stood at the back of both of us."(Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that though only one woman was participating in the service, she should stand in the rear, apart from men and children, so much so that even if her own children were forming the front row she must not stand with them but at their back.

It is stated in another account of the same incident that the Prophet ﷺ himself had made Umm Sulaym stand in the rear.

These ahadith emphasise that women should stand in the last rows even behind young children. If a woman is alone, she must even then stand behind the men and children on her own.

IMAMAT

Among all the religious acts the foremost place is occupied by prayer. In Islam its position is akin to that of the heart in the body. The *Imamat*¹ of prayer too is a most important religious function and it entails a heavy responsibility. In a way, it denotes the deputyship of the Prophet ﷺ. It is, therefore, essential that one who is most suited among the devotees participating in the congregation is appointed as the Imam. The criterion of it can, naturally, be relative propinquity with the Prophet ﷺ and an inner resemblance with him. In other words, he should have taken a share in the Prophet's ﷺ spiritual heritage and since the Qur'an is of paramount importance in that legacy, he ought to have, after having been blessed with true Faith, cultivated a special fondness and inclination for it, learnt it by heart, understood its message and injunctions and translated its teachings into practice. Should, however, all the worshippers be of equal merit and stature, preference will be given to him who possesses a greater knowledge of the Sunnah and the Shari'ah because after the Qur'an comes the Sunnah, and suppose that in this respect, too, there is nothing to mark out anyone among the participants the choice will fall on him who is distinguished for religious virtues like piety and good morals, and if, even then, no one can be singled out, the oldest man in the congregation shall lead it for seniority in age, also, is a universally accepted mark of superiority.

Selection of Imam

(٥٦٧/٩٥) عَنْ أَبِي مَسْعُودٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَوْمَ الْقَوْمِ أَقْرَأَهُمْ لِكِتَابِ اللَّهِ فَإِنْ كَانُوا فِي الْقِرَاءَةِ سَوَاءً فَأَعْلَمَهُمْ بِالسُّنَّةِ فَإِنْ كَانُوا فِي السُّنَّةِ سَوَاءً فَأَقْدَمَهُمْ هَجْرَةً فَإِنْ كَانُوا فِي الْهَجْرَةِ سَوَاءً

①. The act of conducting the service.

فَأَقْدَمُهُمْ سِنًا وَلَا يُؤَمِّنُ الرَّجُلُ الرَّجُلَ فِي سُلْطَانِهِ وَلَا يَقْعُدُ فِي بَيْتِهِ عَلَى
تَكْرِمَتِهِ إِلَّا بِإِذْنِهِ (رواه مسلم)

(567/95) It is related on the authority of Abu Mas'ud Ansari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "He should lead the congregation who reads the Book of Allah (i.e., the Qur'an) much among them, and if all of them be equal then he who possesses a greater knowledge of the Sunnah and the Shari'ah, and if all be equal in this respect, also, then he who may have been the first to Migrate (among them), and if all be equal in it as well (i.e., the time of their migration is the same) then he who is senior in age. And no one should act as anyone's Imam in his area (or territory) of leadership and authority or sit, without his permission, in his special place of sitting in his house." (Muslim)

Commentary: The reading of the Qur'an mentioned in the above Tradition should not be taken in the literal sense. Here it does not merely signify the recitation of the Qur'an or the learning of the whole of it by heart, but along with it, a deep understanding of the Holy Book and an exceptional attachment to it as well. Thus, the import of this Tradition will be that he is more worthy and qualified to be chosen as Imam who enjoys superiority over others in the knowledge of the Qur'an as well as devotion to it. In the Prophet's ﷺ time it was considered to be the greatest religious distinction and the more a person was noted for familiarity with the Qur'an the more was he recognised as the bearer and trustee of the glorious heritage of the Prophet ﷺ.

The next standard of superiority was the knowledge of the Sunnah and the Shari'ah and whoever possessed the knowledge of Qur'an and the Sunnah, also acted upon them as there was no question of knowledge without practice during those days.

The third was precedence in Hijrah, i.e., migration from Makkah to Madinah. But it was peculiar to the circumstances prevailing at that time. Later, it ceased to operate and the legists of Islam correctly prescribed piety and good-doing in its place.

The last determining factor was seniority in age. If no one was worthier and superior, judged by the first three standards, the oldest member of the congregation was to lead it.

Two other instructions have been given at the end of the Tradition. One is that when a person happens to be in anyone else's sphere of Imamat and authority, he should not act as an Imam but offers his prayers behind him. It is a different matter that the latter insisted on it. Secondly, if a person goes to anyone's house, he should avoid sitting at his place or on his seat. The wisdom of these exhortations is self-evident.

The Best Among You Should Be Made The Imam

(٥٦٨/٩٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
اجْعَلُوا أَيْمَتَكُمْ خِيَارَكُمْ فَإِنَّهُمْ وَقَدْ كُنْتُمْ فِيمَا بَيْنَكُمْ وَبَيْنَ رَبِّكُمْ .

رواه الدارقطني والبيهقي (كنز العمال)

(568/96) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Make them the Imam who are the best and worthiest of you because they are your representatives in the august presence of your Lord and Master."

(Dar Qutni and Baihaqi)

Commentary: The Imam acts as the representatives of the whole of the congregation before the Almighty. It is, therefore, the duty of the congregation to appoint the best of its members to the high office of Imamat.

In his lifetime the Prophet ﷺ himself used to lead the congregation, but when, during his last illness, he was rendered unable to perform the duty he ordered that Sayyidina Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه should act as the Imam who was the worthiest member of the community from the point of view of the knowledge and practice of Faith.

Unfortunately, greivous indifference was shown, in the succeeding eras, to this important directive and Sunnah of he sacred Prophet ﷺ with the result that the entire design and organisation of the Ummah was thrown into disorder.

Responsibility of Imam

(٥٦٩/٩٧) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
مَنْ أَمَّ قَوْمًا فَلْيَتَّقِ اللَّهَ وَلْيَعْلَمْ أَنَّهُ ضَامِنٌ مَسْئُولٌ لِمَا ضَمِنَ وَإِنْ أَحْسَنَ كَانَ لَهُ

مِنَ الْأَجْرِ مِثْلُ أَجْرِ مَنْ صَلَّى خَلْفَهُ مِنْ غَيْرِ أَنْ يُنْقِصَ مِنْ أَجُورِهِمْ شَيْئًا وَمَا كَانَ
مِنْ نَقْصٍ فَهُوَ عَلَيْهِ .
(رواه الطبرانی فی الاوسط (کنز العمال)

(269/97) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever acts as the Imam of the congregation should fear Allah and believe that he is responsible, also, for the prayer (of the Muqtadis) and will be questioned about it. If he has led the prayer well, he will get the reward equal to the total reward of the Muqtadis and no reduction will be made in their reward, and should there be a fault in the prayer, he alone, will be called to account." (Tabarani)

Convenience of Muqtadis

(٥٧٠/٩٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا
صَلَّى أَحَدُكُمْ لِلنَّاسِ فَلْيُخَفِّفْ فَإِنَّ فِيهِمُ السَّقِيمَ وَالضَّعِيفَ وَالْكَبِيرَ وَإِذَا
صَلَّى أَحَدُكُمْ لِنَفْسِهِ فَلْيُطَوِّلْ مَا شَاءَ .
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(570/98) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you stands up as the Imam to lead the prayers, he should keep it light (i.e., avoid making it too long) because there are sick and old and infirm people, too, among the Muqtadis (for whom a prolonged prayer might be a source of hardship), and when anyone of you offers his own prayers singly, he may lengthen it as much as he likes."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Some Companions who led the prayer in the mosques of their localities or tribes used to lengthen prayers out of religious fervour. Owing to it, much hardship was, sometimes, caused to the participants who were old, sick or tired. The sacred Prophet ﷺ, thus, often discouraged the practice. What the above Tradition, however, denotes is that the Imam should remember that there might be a sick or aged person among the worshippers and refrain from making the prayers too long and not only should smaller verses be recited but also the *Tasbih*¹ must be recited not more than thrice in *Ruku*¹ and *Sajda*². The moderate prayers the Prophet himself led serve as a perfect model for us and the significance of these instructions should be understood in that light.

①. The act of praising the Lord by repeating the formulas of Subhana Rabbi yal-Azeem and Subhana Ribbiyal-a'ala.

(٥٧١/٩٩) عَنْ قَيْسِ بْنِ أَبِي حَازِمٍ قَالَ أَخْبَرَنِي أَبُو مَسْعُودٍ أَنَّ رَجُلًا قَالَ
وَاللَّهِ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِنِّي لَا تَأْخُرُ عَنْ صَلَاةِ الْعَدَاةِ مِنْ أَجْلِ فُلَانٍ مِمَّا يُطِيلُ بَنَاءَ
فَمَا رَأَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي مَوْعِظَةٍ أَشَدَّ غَضَبًا مِنْهُ يَوْمَئِذٍ
ثُمَّ قَالَ إِنَّ مِنْكُمْ مُنْفِرِينَ فَأَيُّكُمْ مَاصِلِي النَّاسِ فَلْيَتَجَوَّزْ فَإِنَّ فِيهِمُ الضَّعِيفَ
وَالْكَبِيرَ وَذَ الْجَاةِ .
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(571/99) Qays bin Abi Haazim said that Abu Mas'ud Ansari رضي الله عنه told him that (once) a person said to the Prophet ﷺ, "O Messenger of Allah! I swear by Allah that I do not attached the morning service because of such-and-such a man (and am compelled to offer prayer alone). He Keeps us very long (which is beyond my endurance)." The narrator of the Tradition, Abu Mas'ud Ansari رضي الله عنه, went on to add that he had never seen the Prophet ﷺ more angry. He delivered a sermon that day. The Prophet ﷺ, in the course of the sermon, said: "There are some among you who drive (the bondsmen of the Lord) away (by their wrongful behaviour). It is incumbent upon whoever of you became the Imam of the people and led them in prayer to make it short (i.e., refrain from prolonging it excessively because among them there are, also, the sick and the aged and those who have some business to attend." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentray: The Companions against whom the complaint was made was Ubayy bin Ka'b. A similar incident in respect of Sayyidina Mu'az رضي الله عنه is reported in Bukhari and Muslim. It is stated that he was in the habit of delaying the Isha prayers. One day, as usual, he began the prayer late and started reciting the *surah*³ al Baqarah. One of the Muqtadis, who was feeling tired after the day's work, disassociated himself from the prayer and offered his prayers separately and went away. When the matter was brought to the notice of the Prophet ﷺ, he admonished Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ, and said: "O Mu'az! Do you want to bring harm to the people and involve them in mischief?" He, then, told to recite the Surahs Wash-shams-i-wad-duhaha, Wal-ayl-i-iza Yaghshaha, and Wad-duha wal-layl-i-iza Saja in prayer.

(٥٧٢/١٠٠) عَنْ أَبِي قَتَادَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنِّي لَا دُخُلُ فِي الصَّلَاةِ وَأَنَا أُرِيدُ إِطَالَتَهَا فَاسْمَعْ بُكَاءَ الصَّبِيِّ فَاتَجَوَّزْ فِي صَلَاتِي مِمَّا أَعْلَمُ مِنْ شِدَّةٍ وَجَدَ أُمُّهُ مِنْ بُكَائِهِ
(رواه البخارى)

(572/100) It is related by Abu Qatadah Ansari ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Sometimes it happens that I begin the prayer and I have the intention of prolonging it to some extent, but, then, I hear a child crying I cut short my prayer for I know how worried the mother would be on hearing it crying."

(Bukhari)

Commentary: Believing that the child's mother too would be in the congregation, the Prophet ﷺ respected her emotions and shortened his prayers when a child cried.

(٥٧٣/١٠١) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ مَا صَلَّيْتُ وَرَاءَ إِمَامٍ قَطُّ أَخَفَّ صَلَاةً وَلَا أَتَمَّ صَلَاةً مِنَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَإِنْ كَانَ لَيَسْمَعُ بُكَاءَ الصَّبِيِّ فَيَخَفُّ مَخَافَةً أَنْ تُفْتَنَ أُمُّهُ
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(573/101) Sayyidina Anas ؓ said "I never prayed behind an Imam who was more brief and more perfect than the Prophet ﷺ. If he heard a child crying while leading the congregation, he cut it short for fear that the mother would be worried (and her prayer would be affected by it)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The guiding principle for the Imam is indicated in the above Tradition. His prayer should be brief but, at the same time, perfect and every part of it should be completed and every act carried out properly and in accordance with the confirmed practice of the Prophet ﷺ.

Guidance for Muqtadis

(٥٧٤/١٠٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تُبَادِرُوا الْإِمَامَ إِذَا كَبَّرَ فَكَبِّرُوا وَإِذَا قَالَ وَلَا الضَّالِّينَ فَقُولُوا آمِينَ وَإِذَا رَكَعَ فَأَرْكَعُوا وَإِذَا قَالَ سَمِعَ اللَّهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ فَقُولُوا اللَّهُمَّ رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ

(رواه البخاري)

(574/102) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "O people! Do not try to go ahead of the Imam. (On the other hand, follow him closely and carefully). Say Allahu Akbar when he says Allahu Akbar, and say Aameen! when he says Walad dhalleen, and perform ruku when he performs ruku, and say Allaahumma Rabbana lakal Hamd when he says Sami Allahu liman Hamidah." (Bukhari)

Commentary: What it shows, briefly, is that the Muqtadis should follow the Imam strictly in all the essential and obligatory factors of prayer and never try to surpass him.

(٥٧٥/١٠٣) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ وَمُعَاذِ بْنِ جَبَلٍ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُمَا قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا أَتَى أَحَدُكُمْ الصَّلَاةُ وَالْإِمَامُ عَلَى حَالٍ فَلْيَصْنَعْ كَمَا يَصْنَعُ الْإِمَامُ

(رواه الترمذی)

(575/103) It is related by Ali and Mu'az bin Jabal رضي الله عنهما that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you comes for prayers and no matter in what state the Imam is (i.e., whether he is in the state of qayam¹, ruku or sajda), he should do as the Imam is doing." (Tirmizi)

(٥٧٦/١٠٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا جِئْتُمُ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ وَنَحْنُ سُجُودٌ فَاسْجُدُوا وَلَا تَعْدُوهُ شَيْئًا وَمَنْ أَدْرَكَ رَكْعَةً فَقَدْ أَدْرَكَ الصَّلَاةَ

(رواه ابو داود)

(576/104) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When you come for prayer and find us in sajda, join in the sajda and make no count of it, and whoever gains the ruku with the Imam, gained the prayer (i.e., that Rak'at of it)." (Abu Dawood)

①. The posture of standing erect in Namaz with the arms folded below the navel.

Commentary: It denotes that if the Muqtadis join the Imam in ruku it is equal to participation in the whole of the rak'at, but if he joins only in sajda, it will not serve for the rak'at but he will be recompensed fully for the sajda. The sajda, however, will not be counted.

PERFORMANCE OF PRAYER

How prayer should be offered

(٥٧٧/١٠٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا دَخَلَ الْمَسْجِدَ وَرَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ جَالِسٌ فِي نَاحِيَةِ الْمَسْجِدِ فَصَلَّى ثُمَّ جَاءَ فَسَلَّمَ عَلَيْهِ فَقَالَ وَعَلَيْكَ السَّلَامُ ارْجِعْ فَصَلِّ فَإِنَّكَ لَمْ تُصَلِّ فَرَجَعَ فَصَلَّى ثُمَّ جَاءَ فَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ وَعَلَيْكَ السَّلَامُ ارْجِعْ فَصَلِّ فَإِنَّكَ لَمْ تُصَلِّ فَقَالَ فِي الثَّلَاثَةِ أَوْفَى الَّتِي بَعْدَهَا عَلَّمَنِي يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ فَقَالَ إِذَا قُمْتَ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ فَاسْبِغِ الْوُضُوءَ ثُمَّ اسْتَقْبِلِ الْقِبْلَةَ فَكَبِّرْ ثُمَّ اقْرَأْ بِمَا تيسَّرَ مَعَكَ مِنَ الْقُرْآنِ ثُمَّ ارْكَعْ حَتَّى تَطْمِئِنَّ رَأْسَكَ ثُمَّ ارْفَعْ حَتَّى تَسْتَوِيَ قَائِمًا ثُمَّ اسْجُدْ حَتَّى تَطْمِئِنَّ سَاجِدًا ثُمَّ ارْفَعْ حَتَّى تَطْمِئِنَّ جَالِسًا ثُمَّ اسْجُدْ حَتَّى تَطْمِئِنَّ سَاجِدًا ثُمَّ ارْفَعْ حَتَّى تَطْمِئِنَّ جَالِسًا وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ ثُمَّ ارْفَعْ حَتَّى تَسْتَوِيَ قَائِمًا ثُمَّ افْعَلْ ذَلِكَ فِي صَلَاتِكَ كُلِّهَا

(رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(577/105) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that (once) the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was sitting in the mosque and a man came in and offered prayers. Afterwards, he came to the Prophet ﷺ and saluted him. The Prophet ﷺ returned the salutation and remarked: "Go and offer the prayer again. You have not offered it properly." He went back and repeated the prayers again and returned to the Prophet ﷺ, and saluted him. The Prophet ﷺ, returning the salutation, and once again remarked: "Go and offer the prayers again. You have not said it properly". After repeating the prayers for the third (on the fourth) time, the man said to the Prophet ﷺ: "Messenger of Allah ﷺ teach me." The Prophet ﷺ replied: "When you decide to pray, first perform wudu thoroughly and well, then turn to Qiblah, then begin with *Takbir Tahrima*¹. After that recitesome part of the Qur'an which you know and can recite easily. (In other Traditions relating to the same incident it is stated that He told the questioner, specifically, to recite Sura Fateha and whatever he liked, in addition to it). Then, after the recital, perform ruku till you are still and at ease in ruku. then, arise from ruku till you stand erect. Then, perform the sajda till you are still and at ease in Sajda. Then, arise til you sit up comfortably. (According to another narrator, the Prophet, instead of it, said: 'Then arise till you stand erect). Then, do like that throughout the prayer (i.e., in every Rak'at carry out all acts like ruku, *sujud*¹, *Qauma*² and *Jalsa*³ in a clam and collected manner)." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The incident mentioned above related to Khallad bin Rafi' رضي الله عنه, the brother of the well-known Companion, Rifaah bin Rafi' رضي الله عنه. According to Nasai, he had offered two Rak'ats in the Prophet's mosque and some other commentators have suggested that these were Tahiyyat-ul-Masjid which Khallad, had offered rather hurriedly, and, he was reproached by the Prophet and told to offer them again.

It shows that the Prophet did not plainly tell Khallad bin Rafi', at the first time, what was wrong with his prayer and how it was to offered correctly, but at the third or furth time, and, then, at his own request. It was, probably, for the simple reason that a lesson imparted in such a manner suffices for a lifetime and gets talked about among others as well.

The Prophet ﷺ did not teach him what to recite in the different positions because he was aware of that. His mistake was that he hurried through his postures.

As for the difference in the two versions, the concluding part of the hadith some ulama suggest that one should sit down a while before standing up from the sajdah. They consider the first version correct; others prefer the second version.

The practical teaching imparted in the above Tradition is that prayer sould be offered in a calm and composed manner and if it is offered hurriedly and without making the necessary pauses and carrying out the various acts properly it may be as good as unoffered

Prayer of The Prophet ﷺ

(٥٧٨/١٠٦) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَسْتَفْتِحُ الصَّلَاةَ بِالتَّكْبِيرِ وَالْقِرَاءَةَ بِالْحَمْدِ لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ وَكَانَ إِذَا رَكَعَ لَمْ يُشْخِصْ رَأْسَهُ وَلَمْ يَصُوْبَهُ وَلَكِنْ بَيْنَ ذَلِكَ وَكَانَ إِذَا رَفَعَ رَأْسَهُ مِنَ الرُّكُوعِ لَمْ يَسْجُدْ حَتَّى يَسْتَوِيَ قَائِمًا وَكَانَ إِذَا رَفَعَ رَأْسَهُ مِنَ السَّجْدَةِ لَمْ يَسْجُدْ حَتَّى يَسْتَوِيَ جَالِسًا وَكَانَ يَقُولُ فِي كُلِّ رَكْعَتَيْنِ التَّحِيَّةَ وَكَانَ يَقْتَرِشُ رِجْلَهُ الْيُسْرَى وَيَنْصِبُ رِجْلَهُ الْيُمْنَى وَكَانَ يَنْهَى عَنْ عُقْبَةِ الشَّيْطَانِ وَيَنْهَى أَنْ يَقْتَرِشَ الرَّجُلُ ذِرَاعِيهِ افْتِرَاشَ السَّبْعِ وَكَانَ يَخْتِمُ الصَّلَاةَ بِالتَّسْلِيمِ

(رواه مسلم)

(578/106) Sayyidah Aysha رضي الله عنها narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ commenced his prayers with Takbir and the recital with *Al-hamdu lillilaahi Rabil Aalameen*¹, and while performing ruku he neither raised his head upwards nor bent it downwards but kept it in the middle position (i.e., in line with the waist), and when he raised the head from ruku he did not go into sajda till he had stood erect, and when he raised the head from sajda, he did not perform the second sajda until he had sat upright, and he recited At-Tahiyyatu after every two rak'ats, and, at that time, he flattened the left foot under him and kept the right foot in the upright position, and he forbade Uqbatish Shaytan (sitting like the Devil), and he, also, forbade that a man sat (in Sajda) with his forearms (i.e., parts of arms between elbow and wrist) placed on the ground like the animals, and he brought the prayer to an end by saying As-salamu 'Alaikum wa rahmatullah." (Muslim)

Commentary: Prayer is a worship of a very high order. For it such forms and postures of qayam, *qaood*², ruku and sujood have been prescribed as constitute the finest marks and expressions of adoration and humbleness, and all the unbecoming manners of holding the body that are indicative of vanity, awkwardness or indifference, or bear a resemblance with the lowly creatures have been, particularly, forbidden. The Holy Prophet ﷺ has, accordingly, ordered us not to sit in Sajda with forearms spread on the ground as the dogs and wolves do or in the manner which, in this Tradition, has been described as Uqbatish Shaytan, and, in another, as Aq'aa-al-kalb.

①. The Opening chapter of the Qur'an, popularly known as Sura-i-iFatiha.

②. Denoting the posture of sitting in Namaz.

Commentators have differed in their explanations of the two terms. In our humble view, however, they denote sitting on the heels with the feet held upright on the toes and since this posture gives the impression of haste and exaggerated self-esteem and only the knees touch the ground and it is the way dogs and wolves and other wild animals, generally, sit, the Prophet ﷺ took special care to forbid against sitting like that in prayer.

It is to be remembered that such a manner of sitting is disallowed only one is not constrained to do so owing to a disease or deformity. It is narrated by Sayyidina Abdullah bin Umar ؓ that, sometimes, he used to sit like that on account of a painful ailment in his feet. Similarly, the version of Sayyidina Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ describes this style as the practice of the "your Prophet". Perhaps he may have sat down in that manner on account of some difficulty.

(٥٧٩/١٠٧) عَنْ أَبِي حُمَيْدٍ السَّاعِدِيِّ قَالَ فِي نَفَرٍ مِنْ أَصْحَابِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَا أَحْفَظُكُمْ لصلوةِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ رَأَيْتُهُ إِذَا كَبَّرَ جَعَلَ يَدَيْهِ جِذَاءَ مَنْكَبَيْهِ وَإِذَا رَكَعَ أَمَكَنَّ يَدَيْهِ مِنْ رُكْبَتَيْهِ ثُمَّ هَضَرَ ظَهْرَهُ فَإِذَا رَفَعَ رَأْسَهُ اسْتَوَى حَتَّى يَعُودَ كُلُّ فِقَارٍ مَكَانَهُ فَإِذَا سَجَدَ وَضَعَ يَدَيْهِ غَيْرَ مُفْتَرَشٍ وَلَا قَابِضَهُمَا وَاسْتَقْبَلَ بِأَطْرَافِ رِجْلَيْهِ الْقِبْلَةَ فَإِذَا جَلَسَ فِي الرُّكْعَتَيْنِ جَلَسَ عَلَى رِجْلِهِ الْيُسْرَى وَنَصَبَ الْيُمْنَى فَإِذَا جَلَسَ فِي الرُّكْعَةِ الْآخِرَةِ قَدَّمَ رِجْلَهُ الْيُسْرَى وَنَصَبَ الْآخِرَى وَقَعَدَ عَلَى مَقْعَدَتِهِ (رواه البخارى)

(579/107) Sayyidina Abu Humayd As-Sa'idi ؓ said to a company of the Companions ؓ that among them he was the best versed in the way the Messenger of Allah ﷺ prayed. He said, "I saw when he said the takbeer he placed his hands opposite his shoulders, when he bowed into the ruku' he rested his hands on his knees and bent his back; when he raised his head he stood erect with his spine straight; when he prostrated himself he placed his arms so that they were not spread out and the fingers were not drawn in and the points of his toes were facing the qiblah; when he sat up at the end of the two rak'at he sat on his left foot and raised the right; and when he sat up after the last raka'ah he put forward the left foot, raised the other, and sat on his hips." (known as tawarruk). (Bukhari)

Commentary: This hadith speaks of the Prophet ﷺ raising his hands upto the shoulders at the first Takbeer. But, the hadith narrated by Maalik bin Huwayrith ؓ transmitted by Bukhari and Muslim tells us that he raised the hands upto his earlobes. There is no contradiction in the too. When the hands are raised to the ears, the arms are against the shoulders and we can describe that as raising hands to the ears.

Abu Dawood has transmitted a hadith narrated by Wa'il bin Hujr ؓ that makes the issue very clear.

He raised his hands so high that they were in line with the shoulders while the thumbs aligned with the ears.

رَفَعَ يَدَيْهِ حَتَّى كَانَتَا بِجِوَالِ
مَنْكِبَيْهِ وَحَاذَى إِبْهَامَيْهِ أُذُنَيْهِ

Abu Humayd has said about the Prophet's ﷺ last sitting which is known as تورك (tawarruk). However, we have read the hadith narrated by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها reproduced earlier that he sat in the last sitting in the same posture as described by Abu Humayd Sa'idi ؓ for the first sitting which is known as iftirash.

Some scholars have suggested that the Prophet ﷺ sat in exactly the same manner as described by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها but he may have been constrained to adopt the style described as tawarruk for convenience. But other Ulama hold the opposite view. We might say that both methods were observed.

Particular Supplications & Methods of God-remembrance.

The inner feeling of earnestness and deep devotion that runs through the prayer-formulas through which the Prophet ﷺ used to revere and adore the Lord during the various parts or acts of Namaz like qayam, ruku and sujood, and the entreaties he made in them, from the essence of Namaz. The sayings we are now going to discuss should be read from the point of view and the endeavour should be to produce the same emotional and spiritual state of feeling because it is the characteristic legacy of the holy Prophet ﷺ.

(٥٨٠/١٠٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَسْكُتُ بَيْنَ التَّكْبِيرِ وَبَيْنَ الْقِرَاءَةِ إِسْكَاتَةً فَقُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِسْكَاتُكَ بَيْنَ التَّكْبِيرِ وَبَيْنَ الْقِرَاءَةِ مَا تَقُولُ؟ قَالَ أَقُولُ اللَّهُمَّ بَاعِدْ بَيْنِي وَبَيْنَ خَطَايَايَ كَمَا بَاعَدْتَ بَيْنَ الْمَشْرِقِ وَالْمَغْرِبِ اللَّهُمَّ نَقِّنِي مِنَ الْخَطَايَا كَمَا يُنْقَى الثَّوبُ الْأَبْيَضُ مِنَ الدَّنَسِ اللَّهُمَّ اغْسِلْ خَطَايَايَ بِالْمَاءِ وَالثَّلْجِ وَالْبَرْدِ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(580/108) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to observe a period of silence between the takbeer and the recitation of the Qur'an, so he asked him, "Messenger of Allah for whom I would give my father and mother as ransom, what do you say during your period of silence between the takbeer and the recitation?" He said that he made the supplication:

اللَّهُمَّ بَاعِدْ بَيْنِي وَبَيْنَ خَطَايَايَ كَمَا بَاعَدْتَ بَيْنَ الْمَشْرِقِ وَالْمَغْرِبِ اللَّهُمَّ نَقِّنِي مِنَ الْخَطَايَا كَمَا يُنْقَى الثَّوبُ الْأَبْيَضُ مِنَ الدَّنَسِ اللَّهُمَّ اغْسِلْ خَطَايَايَ بِالْمَاءِ وَالثَّلْجِ وَالْبَرْدِ

"O Allah, remove my lapses far from me as You have removed the east far from the west. O Allah, purify me from lapses as a white garment is purified from filth. O Allah, wash away my sins with water, snow and hail." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The Prophet ﷺ was innocent and free from sins and lapses, yet he held fear within himself

This was also the supplication the Prophet ﷺ made sometimes after the takbeer and before al-Fatiha.

(٥٨١/١٠٩) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا افْتَتَحَ الصَّلَاةَ قَالَ سُبْحَانَكَ اللَّهُمَّ وَبِحَمْدِكَ وَتَبَارَكَ اسْمُكَ وَتَعَالَى جَدُّكَ وَلَا إِلَهَ غَيْرُكَ

(رواه الترمذى و ابو داؤد)

(581/109) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها related that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ began (to offer) prayer he first glorified the Lord in these words:

سُبْحَانَكَ اللَّهُمَّ وَبِحَمْدِكَ وَتَبَارَكَ اسْمُكَ وَتَعَالَى جَدُّكَ وَلَا إِلَهَ غَيْرُكَ

Subhaanakal-laa-humma wa bihamdika wa tabarakasmuka wa ta'ala jadduka wa la ilaaha ghairuka.

(O Allah, with Your glorification and your praise; blessed is Your Name; and there is no God save You).

(Tirmizi and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Hafiz Mujjahuddin Ibn Taymiyas writes in Muntaqa about Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ, on the authority of Sunnan Saeed bin Mansur, and about Sayyidina Umar ؓ on the authority of Sahih Muslim, and about Sayyidina Uthman ؓ and Sayyidina Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ, on the authority of Qutni, that they began their Salah with Subhaanakal-laa-humma wa bihamdika and, then goes on to observe that it appears from it that the Prophet ﷺ, usually, recited this short prayer after Takbir in prayer. It, therefore, enjoys preference over all the other prayers of adoration mentioned in the Traditions with relation to the commencement of the prayer though there is no harm in reciting the other proven hymns, as for instance, the one occurring in the next Tradition related on the authority of Sayyidina Ali ؓ.

(I have turned away from every direction and set my face towards Allah who is the Creator of the heavens and the earth, and I am not of those who associate anyone with Him in allegiance. My worship, and my every religious act, and my life and my death are for Allah alone, the Lord of the Worlds. To this I have been commanded and I am of those who obey. O Allah! You are the Sovereign and Master. No one is worthy of obedience save You. You are my Lord and Owner, and I am Your slave. I have wronged my soul, and ruined myself, and I confess my inequities. O Lord! Forgive me my sins; no one can forgive sins except You. And remove all bad manners and deplorable morals from my side, and take them away from me. This, too, no one aside, of You can do. I am in Your presence, for Your service, and Your victory. Here I am, O Lord! All the good things, and every kind of piety and virtue are in Your hands, and evil has no access towards You. You are the Blessed, the Most High. You are my only hope and my face is turned towards You. I beg Your forgiveness and unto You do I turn penitent).

This prayer the Prophet ﷺ recited after Takbir and before the commencement of recitation from the Qur'an. Then, as he performed ruku, (after completing the recital), he used to say:

Allaahumma laka rak'atu wa	اَللّٰهُمَّ لَكَ رَكَعْتُ وَبِكَ اٰمَنْتُ
bika aamantu wa laka aslamtu	وَلَكَ اَسَلَمْتُ خَشَعَ لَكَ
khasha'a laka sam'ee wa	سَمْعِيْ وَ بَصَرِيْ ، وَ مَخِجِيْ
basari wa mukhkhi wa 'azmi	وَعَظْمِيْ وَعَصْبِيْ
wa 'asbi.

(O Allah! I am bowed low before You, and I have believed in You and placed myself in Your charge. My ears, and my eyes, and my marrow, and my bones, and my muscles, and my nerves are all bent in submission to You).

Later, as the Prophet ﷺ raised his head from ruku and stood erect, he said:

Allaahumma rabba na	اَللّٰهُمَّ رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ
lakal-hamdu mil-as-samawaati	مِلَّا السَّمٰوٰتِ وَالْاَرْضِ وَمَا
wal-ardhi wa ma bainahuma

wamila-a ma shi-ata min shaiyyan b'adu". بَيْنَهُمَا وَمِمَّا مَاشَيْتَ مِنْ شَيْءٍ بَعْدُ

(O Allah! Praise is for You alone, such boundless praise as may cover the extensiveness of the heavens and the earth and fill all the empty space between them).

After it, when the Prophet ﷺ performed sajda, he used to say (placing his forehead on the ground):

Alahumma laka sajad-tu wa bika amantu wa laka aslamtu sajada waj-hiyya-lillazi khalaqa-hu wa sawwara-tuh wa sha-qa sam-'ahu wa basara-hu tabarakal-allahu ahsanul khaliqeen. اَللّٰهُمَّ لَكَ سَجَدْتُ وَبِكَ اٰمَنْتُ وَلَكَ اَسْلَمْتُ سَجَدَ وَجْهِىَ لِلَّذِى خَلَقَهُ وَصَوَّرَهُ وَشَقَّ سَمْعَهُ وَبَصَرَهُ تَبَارَكَ اللهُ اَحْسَنُ الْخَالِقِيْنَ

(O Allah! I am prostrating myself for Your sake, and in Your presence, and I have believed in You, and I have placed myself in Your charge. My face is carrying out genuflection before the Creator who create it, and gave it its shape, and its ears, and its eyes out of nothing. Blessed, indeed, is the Best of Creators).

In the end, between *At-tahiyyaatu*¹ and *Salutation*², he would pray:

Allaahuh haghfirli ma qaddamtu wa ma akhkhartu wa ma a'alantu wa ma asraftu wa ma asrartu wa ma anta a'alamu bihi minni antal-muqadimu wa antal-muwakhkhiru la ilaaha illa anta. اَللّٰهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لِيْ مَا قَدَّمْتُ وَمَا اَخَّرْتُ وَمَا اَسْرَرْتُ وَمَا اَعْلَنْتُ وَمَا اَسْرَفْتُ وَمَا اَنْتَ اَعْلَمُ بِهِ مِنِّىْ اَنْتَ الْمُقَدِّمُ وَاَنْتَ الْمُوَخِّرُ لَا اِلٰهَ اِلَّا اَنْتَ

(O Allah! Forgive me all the sins I have committed earlier or later, and secretly or openly and whatever inequity I have been guilty of, and of which. You are better informed than me. You are the one Who raises to higher ranks and reduces to lower positions. Verily, there is no deity save You)." (Muslim)

Commentary: From the narratives relating to the Prayer of the Prophet ﷺ it is clear that it was not the Prophet's ﷺ regular practice to recite the supplications mentioned by Sayyidin Ali عليه السلام in Fard prayers. Perhaps, he did so occasionally, and, most probably, in Tahajjud. In fact, Imam Muslim has quoted this Tradition in connection with the Traditions appertaining to Tahajjud.

Many other supplications were, also, made by the sacred Prophet ﷺ in prayer, particularly in Tahajjud which will be taken up at the appropriate time. These possess a special significance and are charged with rare feeling. The Imam can read them in Fard prayers as well if he is satisfied that it will not be hard with the Muqtadis, and, as far as supererogatory services are concerned, there is no reason why one should not avail oneself of this marvellous bequest.

Recital of Qur'an in Namaz

Like qayam, ruku and sujud, recital of the Qur'an, also, is a principal part of prayer, and it is done during qayam. It is common knowledge that after Takbir some prayers in the nature of a hymn are recited. We have just mentioned two of them from the Traditions. It is followed by the recital of the first Surah or opening Chapter of the Qur'an, i.e., Surah al-Fatihah, which is a priceless gem of adoration and contains a most inspiring and comprehensive description of the Attributes of Allah. Along with the rejection and repudiation of every form of polytheism there is, in it, an emphatic affirmation of Divine Oneness and towards Faith and the Shari'ah. Anyhow, first of all, this surah is recited without which there can be no prayer. After it, the worshipper is required to recite any other surah or a part of it. Whatever passage of the Qur'an he recites will, invariably, impart a message of guidance to him. Either it will be by way of glorification of the Lord and exposition of His Immaculate Attributes or dealing with the Last Day, Heaven and Hell, and Divine reward and punishment or conveying a command for practical life or narrating an event that has a religious or moral significance. It will, thus, be a ready answer to the worshipper's entreaty for guidance. In the second rak'at, too, any other surah or some verses of it will be recited after sura al-Fatihah but if the service consists of three or four rak'at, surah al-Fatihah will, of course, be recited in the third and fourth rak'at, but it is not necessary to recite some other surah with it.

Now, the Traditions.

(٥٨٣/١١١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَا صَلَاةَ إِلَّا بِقِرَاءَةٍ، قَالَ أَبُو هُرَيْرَةَ فَمَا أَغْلَنَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَغْلَانَهُ وَمَا أَخْفَاهُ أَخْفَيْنَاهُ لَكُمْ
(رواه مسلم)

(583/111) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There can be no prayer without the recital of the Qur'an." proceeding, Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه remarks on his own, "We recited the Qur'an with a loud voice in the prayer in which the Prophet ﷺ recited it with a loud voice and silently in the prayers in which the Prophet recited it silently." (Muslim)

Commentary: This haidth tells us that recital is part of the prayers. Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه has said that they used to recite audibly in prayers in which the Prophet ﷺ recite audibly, but when he recited inaudibly, they too recited without being heard.

(٥٨٤/١١٢) عَنْ عُבَادَةَ بْنِ الصَّامِتِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا صَلَاةَ لِمَنْ لَمْ يَقْرَأْ بِفَاتِحَةِ الْكِتَابِ .

(رواه البخارى و مسلم وفى رواية لمسلم لمن لم يقرأ بام القرآن فصاعدا)
(584/112) It is recited by Ubadah bin Samit that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever did not recite surah al-Fatihah in prayers did not offer prayers at all." (Bukhari and Muslim)

In another version of the above Tradition, quoted in Sahih Muslim, it is stated that "Whoever did not recite surah al-Fatihah and something else after it did not offer prayer at all."

Commentary: It shows that while surah al-Fatihah is an essential constituent of prayers it is, also, necessary to recite something else from the Qur'an after it, although one is at liberty to make one's choice.

Rulings of Legist-Doctors on The Question of Recital of Al-Fatihah

Imam Shafa'i and some other leading legist-doctors have inferred from the foregoing and a few other similar Traditions that it is obligatory to recite surah al-Fatihah in prayer whether one is offering it alone or in congregation, leading the congregation or participating in it as a Muqtadi, and offering an audible prayer or an inaudible. Imam Maalik and Imam Ahmad Hanbal, and other Scholars on the other hand, hold that if the worshipper be a Muqtadi and prayer is an audible one, the recital of surah al-Fatihah by the Imam will suffice for the Muqtadis. In that case, the Muqtadi should abstain from reciting it. But in all other circumstances one must recite surah al-Fatihah in prayers. The same view is supported by Imam Abu Hanifah who, further, believes that the recital by the Imam will do for the Muqtadis as well in Rak'ats that are offered silently.

Below we shall consider one of the sayings that have led these doctors to conclude as above.

(٥٨٥/١١٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّمَا جُعِلَ الْإِمَامُ لِيُؤْتَمَّ بِهِ فَإِذَا كَبَّرَ فَكَبِّرُوا وَإِذَا قَرَأَ فَانصِتُوا .

(رواه ابو داؤد و النسائي و ابن ماجه)

(585/113) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The Imam has been appointed for on other reason than that the Muqtadis follow him. Thus, say Allahu Akbar when the Imam says Allahu Akbar, and listen in silence when he is engaged in recitation."

(Abu Dawood, Nasai and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Some other Companions رضي الله عنهم, too, have related, exactly in the same words, the advice of the Prophet ﷺ about listening quietly when the Imam is engaged in recitation. For instance, in the course of a long Tradition, quoted in Sahih Muslim, on the authority of Abu Musa Ash'ari رضي الله عنه, the afore-mentioned instruction is given in identical words. The Prophet's ﷺ exhortation, evidently, is based upon the Qur'anic injunction.

When the Qur'an is recited, وَإِذَا قُرِئَ الْقُرْآنُ فَاسْتَمِعُوا لَهُ give ear to it and pay heed (in وَأَنْصِتُوا لَعَلَّكُمْ تُرْحَمُونَ silence) that ye may obtain mercy. (Al-A'raf 7:204) (الاعراف . ٧ : ٢٠٤)

Imam Abu Hanifah's view that even in prayer which is offered silently recitation by the Imam will suffice for the Muqtadis is derived from Sayyidina Jabir's ﷺ narrative mentioned, in their compilations, by Imam Muhammad, Imam Tahaawi and Imam Dar Qutni, on the authority of Imam Abu Hanifah himself. The report cited in Imam Muhammad's Muwatta reads:

عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّهُ قَالَ مَنْ صَلَّى خَلْفَ
الْإِمَامِ فَإِنَّ قِرَاءَةَ الْإِمَامِ لَهُ قِرَاءَةٌ .

It is related by Jabir bin Abdullah ﷺ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: 'Whoever offers prayers behind the Imam, the Imam's recitation is his own as well.'

Note: The issue whether the Muqtadi should recite surah al-Fatihah behind the Imam or not has been the subject of a vehement controversy. And during the present century and hundreds of books have been written on it from both sides. But to go over the discussion here will not only be redundant, but can, also, be dangerous, in some ways, for the classes and the purpose for which *Ma'arif ul-Hadith*¹ is being written. The proper attitude to adopt in such disputes is to think highly of all jurists-doctors, to have faith in their sincerity and to believe that whatever conclusions they have arrived at, in the light of the Qur'an and the Sunnah and the conduct of the companions ﷺ, are in good faith and none of them is guilty of falsehood or distortion. It is not, at all, opposed or antihetcal to aligning oneself with a particular school of jurisprudence. The path of justice and moderation pursued by Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه in Hujjatullah-il-Baligha is, in our view, the best and the wisest course in the current circumstances through which unity can be brought back into the disintegrated ranks of the Muslims.

Recital of The Qur'an by The Prophet ﷺ During Fajr

(٥٨٦/١١٤) عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ سَمُرَةَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الْفَجْرِ بِقِ وَالْقُرْآنِ الْمَجِيدِ وَنَحْوَهَا وَكَانَتْ صَلَاتُهُ بَعْدَ تَخْفِيفًا .

(رواه مسلم)

(586/114) jabir bin Samurah narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recited surah Qaaf and other surah like it in the Fajr prayers, and, later on, his prayers used to be light. (Muslim)

Commentary: Commentators have interpreted the concluding part of the above Tradition in two ways: One that the Prophet's ﷺ prayers after the Fajr service, i.e., those of Zuhr, Asr, Maghrib and Isha used to be lighter, and in the other recited less of the Qur'an as compared to Fajr, and the other that the Prophet's ﷺ prayers were usually long in the earlier days of Islam when the Companions were few in number and those who formed the congregation behind him were Muslims of the highest calibre, but later when the number of worshippers had increased and they included Believers of the second and third grades as well, the Prophet ﷺ began to offer comparatively shorter prayers as the more worshippers, the greater was the possibility of there being among them some weak, sick and faint-hearted people for whom long prayers could be tiresome.

Both the interpretations are correct from the factual point of view, but, to us, the latter appears to be more convincing.

(٥٨٨/١١٥) عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ حُرَيْثٍ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الْفَجْرِ وَاللَّيْلِ إِذَا عَسَسَ .

(رواه مسلم)

(587/115) It is related on the authority of 'Amr bin Hurayth that he heard the Messenger of Allah reciting Wal-leyl-i-Iza'-as'-as (i.e., Surah al-Takwir) in the Fajr prayers. (Muslim)

(٥٨٨/١١٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ السَّائِبِ قَالَ صَلَّى لَنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الصُّبْحَ بِمَكَّةَ فَاسْتَفْتَحَ سُورَةَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ حَتَّى جَاءَ ذِكْرُ مُوسَى وَهَارُونَ أَوْ ذِكْرُ عِيسَى أَخَذَتِ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ سَعْلَةً فَرَكَعَ .

(رواه مسلم)

(588/116) Sayyidina Abdullah bin Sa'b رضي الله عنه said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ led us in prayer in Makkah and began with the surah Al-Mu'minun but when he had come to the reference of the Sayyidina Musa and Harun عليهما السلام, or to the reference of Sayyidina Isa عليه السلام, a cough got the better of him, and he (stopped and) went into the ruku'. (Muslim)

(٥٨٩/١١٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَرَأَ فِي رَكْعَتِي الْفَجْرِ قُلْ يَا أَيُّهَا الْكَافِرُونَ وَقُلْ هُوَ اللَّهُ أَحَدٌ. (رواه مسلم)

(589/117) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recited in both raka'at of Fajr the surah Qul ya ayyu hal kafirun (Al-Kafirun) and Qul hu wa Allahu ahad (Al-Ikhlās). (Muslim)

(٥٩٠/١١٨) عَنْ مَعَاذِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ الْجُهَنِيِّ قَالَ إِنَّ رَجُلًا مِّنْ جُهَيْنَةَ أَخْبَرَهُ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَرَأَ فِي الصُّبْحِ إِذَا زُلْزِلَتْ فِي الرُّكْعَتَيْنِ كِلْتَاهِمَا فَلَا أَدْرِي أُنْسِيَ أَمْ قَرَأَ ذَلِكَ عَمْدًا. (رواه ابو داود)

(590/118) Mu'z bin Abdulalh al-Juhani related that a member of the tribe of Juha' na told him that once he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recite, Iza zulzilāt in both the rak'at of Fajr (The narrator, then, added that) he did not know whether the Prophet ﷺ had forgotten or did it deliberately. (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: The usual practice of the Prophet was to recite different surah in the two rak'at of a prayer. So, when he, once, recited the surah of Iza zulzilāt in both the rak'at the Companion رضي الله عنه, on whose authority the above Tradition has been related, felt uncertain if the Prophet ﷺ had done so unintentionally or intentionally in order to indicate that it, too, was permissible.

(٥٩١/١١٩) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي رَكْعَتِي الْفَجْرِ قَوْلُوا أَمَّا بِاللَّهِ وَمَا أُنْزِلَ إِلَيْنَا وَالَّتِي فِي آلِ عِمْرَانَ قُلْ يَا أَهْلَ الْكِتَابِ تَعَالَوْا إِلَى كَلِمَةٍ سَوَاءٍ بَيْنَنَا وَبَيْنَكُمْ. (رواه مسلم)

(591/119) Ibn 'Abbas related that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to recite the verses, Qooloo aamanna billahi wa ma unzila ilaina..... of Surah Al Baqara, and the verses, Qul yaa ahl

al-kitaabi ta'alaw ilaa kalimatin Sawaa-in bain-nana wa bainakum..... of Surah Aal-Imran (respectively) in the two Rak'at of Fajr. (Muslim)

(٥٩٢/١٢٠) عَنْ عُقْبَةَ بْنِ عَامِرٍ قَالَ كُنْتُ أَقُودُ لِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ نَاقَتَهُ فِي السَّفَرِ فَقَالَ لِي يَا عُقْبَةُ لَا أَعْلِمُكَ خَيْرَ سُورَتَيْنِ قُرِئَتَا فَعَلَّمَنِي قُلْ أَعُوذُ بِرَبِّ الْفَلَقِ، وَقُلْ أَعُوذُ بِرَبِّ النَّاسِ. قَالَ فَلَمْ يَرِنِّي سُرْرَتَ بِهِمَا جِدًّا فَلَمَّا نَزَلَ لَصَلَاةِ الصُّبْحِ صَلَّى بِهِمَا صَلَاةَ الصُّبْحِ لِلنَّاسِ فَلَمَّا فَرَغَ انْتَفَتَ إِلَيَّ قَالَ يَا عُقْبَةُ كَيْفَ رَأَيْتَ . (رواه احمد و ابو داود و النسائي)

(592/120) It is related by Uqba bin 'Aamir رضي الله عنه "In a journey I was going along on foot, holding the reins of the Prophet's ﷺ camel in my hand. During the journey, the Prophet ﷺ said to me: 'Uqba, may I teach you two of the best surah of the Qur'an?' And, he taught (me) the Surah Qul 'aoozu be rabbil falaqa, and Qul 'aoozu be rabbin naas. He, then, felt that I had not been very happy with the choice of the two Surah. So, when the Prophet ﷺ dismounted for the Fajr prayers, he led the prayers by reciting both the Surah. At the end of the prayers, he turned towards me and said: 'Uqba! What did you see and how did you feel?' (Musnad Ahmad, Abu Dawood and Nasai)

(٥٩٣/١٢١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الْفَجْرِ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ بِالْمِ تَنْزِيلَ فِي الرُّكْعَةِ الْأُولَى وَفِي الثَّانِيَةِ هَلْ أَتَى عَلَى الْإِنْسَانِ . (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(593/121) It is related on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to recite Alif laam mim tanzil (i.e., the Surah As-sajda) in the first rak'at of Fajr, and Halata al alinsan (i.e., Surah Ad-Dahr) in the second rak'at.

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: All the reports concerning the recital of the Qur'an by the holy Prophet ﷺ in Fajr show that, generally, it used to be longer than in the other services, but, sometimes, he, also, recited the shorter surah like Qul 'aoozu be rabbil falaqa and Qul 'aoozu be rabbin naas (probably owing to a special reason). It is, again, related that though the customary practice of the Prophet ﷺ was to recite full Surah in a prayer, occasionally, he recited only a few verses from a surah. Similarly, at certain times, he recited the same surah in both the rak'at.

Dewelling upon the significance of the recitation of the surah of Alif laam mim tanzilas-sajda and Ad-Dahr in the Fajr prayer on Fridays, Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه remarks that "in both of them the events of the Last Day and Final Requital have been described most vividly, and, as it appears from the Traditions that the Hour (of Doom) is going to be on a Friday, the Prophet ﷺ preferred to recite them in the Fajr on that day, perhaps with the object of putting the people in mind of the Resurrection and Final Judgement. But Allah knows best.

During Zuhr And Asr

(٥٩٤/١٢٢) عَنْ أَبِي قَتَادَةَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الظُّهْرِ فِي الْأُولَيَيْنِ بِأَمِّ الْكِتَابِ وَسُورَتَيْنِ وَفِي الرَّكْعَتَيْنِ الْأَخْرَيَيْنِ بِأَمِّ الْكِتَابِ وَيُسْمِعُنَا آيَةً أحيانًا وَيُطَوِّلُ فِي الرَّكْعَةِ الْأُولَى مَا لَا يُطِيلُ فِي الرَّكْعَةِ الثَّانِيَةِ وَهَكَذَا فِي الْعَصْرِ وَهَكَذَا فِي الصُّبْحِ. (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(594/122) It is related by Abu Qatadah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to recite Surah al-Fatehah, and, besides it, two other surah in the first two rak'at of Zuhr, and surah al-Fatihah alone in its last two Rak'at and, sometimes, (in the Rak'at that are offered quietly) he recited one or two verses audibly that we could hear it, and, in the first Rak'at, he made a long recital, and, in the second ra'at, he did not make it so long. And the same was his practice for the Asr and Fajr prayers.

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that, occasionally, in rak'at that are to be offered in silence, the Prophet ﷺ recited a few verses with such a loud voice that those offering the prayers behind him heard it. Commentators have remarked that it could be due to excessive absorption in prayers. And it was, also, possible that, sometimes, he did it intentionally so that people knew what he was reciting or he wanted to demonstrate by his action that it was quite legitimate if one or two verses were recited so loudly in rak'at that were to be offered silently that the Muqtadis could hear them and prayer did not suffer by reason of it.

(٥٩٥/١٢٣) عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ سَمُرَةَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الظُّهْرِ بِاللَّيْلِ إِذَا يَغْشَى وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ بِسَبْحِ اسْمِ رَبِّكَ الْأَعْلَى وَفِي الْعَصْرِ نَحْوَ ذَلِكَ وَفِي الصُّبْحِ أَطْوَلَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ . (رواه مسلم)

(595/123) It is related by Jabir bin Samurah رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ used to recite the surah Wal-layl iza yaghsha in Zuh'r prayers. In another report it is stated that he recited the surah of Subbi hisma rabbika- a'ala. And a surah of almost an equal length in Asr prayers and a little longer one in Fajr prayers.

(Muslim)

During The Maghrib

(٥٩٦/١٢٤) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُتْبَةَ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَرَأَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي صَلَاةِ الْمَغْرِبِ بِحَمِّ الدُّخَانِ . (رواه النسائي)

(596/124) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin Utbah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recited the Surah Ha-Mim ad-Dukha in Maghrib prayers. (Nasasi)

(٥٩٧/١٢٥) عَنْ جُبَيْرِ بْنِ مُطْعِمٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الْمَغْرِبِ بِالطُّورِ . (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(597/125) It is related by Jubayr bin Mut'im رضي الله عنه "I have heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recite the Surah Al-Tur in Maghrib prayers. (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٥٩٨/١٢٦) عَنْ أُمِّ الْفَضْلِ بِنْتِ الْحَارِثِ قَالَتْ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الْمَغْرِبِ بِالْمُرْسَلَاتِ غُرْفًا . (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(598/126) It is reported by Umm al-Fadl bin Al-Harith رضي الله عنها that she heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recite the surah wal mursalati 'urfan in Maghrib prayers.

(٥٩٩/١٢٧) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا قَالَتْ إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ صَلَّى الْمَغْرِبَ بِسُورَةِ الْأَعْرَافِ فَرَّقَهَا فِي رَكْعَتَيْنِ . (رواه النسائي)

(599/127) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recited the whole of the Surah Al-A'raf in the Maghrib prayers by dividing it between two rak'at. (Nasai)

Commentary: None of the surah mentioned in the above Traditions is among the shorter ones which, in the Islamic terminology, are called Qisar. On the contrary, all of them belong to the category of longer surah, called Itwal, and Surah Al-A'raf which has been mentioned in Sayyidah Ayshah's رضى الله عنها narrative, is, in fact, spread over one and a quarter *Juz*¹ of the Qur'an. In all the four Traditions, however, it is stated that the Prophet ﷺ recited the longer surah in the Maghrib prayers while from some of the Traditions, given below, we learn that his normal practice was to recite the shorter surahs in that prayers. Most of the authorities, however, are of the opinion that the facts appertaining to Maghrib prayer mentioned in the foregoing narratives, showing that the Prophet ﷺ recited the longer surah, are merely incidental while, as a rule, he recited the shorter surah. This view is also supported by the letter written by Sayyidina Umar رضى الله عنه to Abu Musa Al-Ash'ari رضى الله عنه which we shall take up later.

During 'Isha

(٦٠٠/١٢٨) عَنْ الْبَرَاءِ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الْعِشَاءِ وَالنَّهْيِ وَالزَّيْتُونَ، وَمَا سَمِعْتُ أَحَدًا أَحْسَنَ صَوْتًا مِنْهُ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)
(600/128) It is related by Sayyidina Bara رضى الله عنه "I heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recite the Surah Wat-teen-i-waz-zaitoon in 'Isha prayers and I have never heard anyone possessing a better voice (than him)." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: From some reports quoted, again, in Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim it appears that the event referred to in this Tradition took place in the course of a journey and the Prophet ﷺ had recited the surah Wat-teen in one of the rak'ats of the Maghrib prayers during it.

(٦٠١/١٢٩) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ كَانَ مَعَاذُ بْنُ جَبَلٍ يُصَلِّي مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثُمَّ يَأْتِي فَيُؤْمُ قَوْمَهُ، فَصَلَّى لَيْلَةً مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْعِشَاءَ

①. One of the division of the Qur'an 30 Juz (parts).

ثُمَّ أَتَى قَوْمَهُ فَأَمَّهُمْ فَأَفْتَحَ بِسُورَةِ الْبَقَرَةِ فَانْحَرَفَ رَجُلٌ فَسَلَّمَ ثُمَّ صَلَّى وَحْدَهُ
وَانْصَرَفَ فَقَالُوا لَهُ أَنَا فَقَتَ يَا فُلَانُ؟ قَالَ لَا وَاللَّهِ وَلَا تَيِّنَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ
عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَأَخْبَرَنَّهُ فَأَتَى رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ
إِنَّا أَصْحَابُ نَوَاضِحٍ نَعْمَلُ بِالنَّهَارِ وَإِنَّ مَعَاذًا صَلَّى مَعَكَ الْعِشَاءَ ثُمَّ أَتَى قَوْمَهُ
فَأَفْتَحَ بِسُورَةِ الْبَقَرَةِ، فَأَقْبَلَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَى مَعَاذٍ فَقَالَ
يَا مَعَاذُ أَفَتَأْنِ أَنْتَ؟ أَقْرَأَ وَالشَّمْسُ وَضُحَاهَا، وَالضُّحَى، وَاللَّيْلُ إِذَا يَغْشَى،
وَسَبِّحْ اسْمَ رَبِّكَ الْأَعْلَى.

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(601/129) Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه said that Sayyidina Mu'az bin Jabal رضي الله عنه used to pray along with the Prophet ﷺ then come and lead his people in prayer. One night he prayed the Isha prayer with him then came to his people and led them in prayer beginning with (surah al-Fatihah followed by) al-Baqarah. A man turned aside pronouncing the salutation, and prayed his individual prayer and departed. (Since it was novel to shun the congregation) the people said to him, "Have you become a hypocrite?" He replied, "I swear by Allah that I have not, but I shall certainly go to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and tell him." So he went to him and said, "Messenger of Allah ﷺ, we look after camels used for watering and work by day. After having offered the Isha prayer with you, Mu'az رضي الله عنه came and began with surah Al-Baqarah (as he led us in prayer). The Messenger of Allah ﷺ then approached Mu'az رضي الله عنه and said, "Are you a troubler, Mu'az?" Recite, Wash shamsi wa duhaha, the surah Ad-Duha, Al-Layl iza yaghsha and Sabbihisma rabbika al-a'ala."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It seems that Sayyidina Mu'az رضي الله عنه offered the Isha prayers twice with the Prophet ﷺ and as Imam of his people. The ulama are agreed that one of these must have been an optional prayer. Imam Sahfa'i believes that he offered the prayer in the Masjid Nabawi as Fard while when he led his people, he formed an intention of an optional prayer. That is why, Imam Shafa'i holds that one may offer one's Fard prayer behind an Imam who prays the supererogatory prayer. However, Imam Abu Hanifa and Imam Malik hold that one cannot offer one's obligatory prayers behind an Imam who prays that optional prayer. They believe that he led his tribe in the Isha Fard prayers and formed his intention accordingly and since he was with the Prophet ﷺ at the time of Isha, he did not miss the opportunity of obtaining blessings of his prayers. He, therefore, offered his supererogatory prayers behind the Prophet ﷺ when he led the Fard Isha. A detailed discussion on this subject is found in Fath Al-bari, Umadah Al-Qari and Fath al-Mulhim.

Nevertheless, the lesson the hadith offers is that the Imam should not lengthen his prayers to such an extent as to inconvenience the Muqtadi - the old and weak among them.

During The Namaz of Different Hours

(٦٠٢/١٣٠) عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ يَسَارٍ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ مَاصَلَيْتُ وَرَاءَ أَحَدٍ أَشْبَهَ صَلَوةَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِنْ قُلَانٍ قَالَ سُلَيْمَانُ صَلَّيْتُ خَلْفَهُ فَكَانَ يُطِيلُ الرَّكْعَتَيْنِ الْأُولَيَيْنِ مِنَ الظُّهْرِ وَيُخَفِّفُ الْآخِرَتَيْنِ وَيُخَفِّفُ الْعَصْرَ وَيَقْرَأُ فِي الْمَغْرِبِ بِقِصَارِ الْمُفْصَلِ وَيَقْرَأُ فِي الْعِشَاءِ بِوَسْطِ الْمُفْصَلِ وَيَقْرَأُ فِي الصُّبْحِ بِطَوَالِ الْمُفْصَلِ . (رواه النسائي)

(602/130) It is related by Sulayman bin Yaseer, the Tabā'ee on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه, that he (i.e., Abu Hurayrah), (speaking of an Imam of his time), said: "I have never offered a prayer behind anyone which was more comparable to that of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ than the prayer offered behind him." Sulayman bin Yasaar added that I too, prayed behind that Imam. His usual practice was that he recited the longer surah in the first two and the shorter surah in the last two Rak'at of Zuhr, and kept the Asr light, and in Maghrib he recited Qisar Mufassal, and in Isha, Ausat Mufassal, and, in Fajr, Tiwal Mufassal." (Nasai)

Commentary: The term Mufassal is used to describe the Surah of the last *Manzil*¹ of the Qur'an, i.e., from the surah al-Hujurat up to the end. It has, further, been divided into three parts: The surah from al-Hujurat to al-Buruj are called Tiwal Mufassal, from al-Buruj up to al-Bayyinah are called Ausat Mufassal, and from al-Bayyinah till the end of the Qur'an are called Qisar Mufassal.

Neither Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه nor Sulayman bin Yasaar has given the name of the Imam but it has no bearing on the substance of the report. What is material to our study is that the general practice of the Prophet ﷺ regarding recital in the five daily prayers was similar to what was done by the Imam, i.e., longer recitation in Zuhr, shorter in Asr, Qisar Mufasssal in Maghrib, Ausat Mufasssal in 'Isha, and Tiwal Mufasssal in Fajr.

The Same advice is contained in Sayyidina Umar's ﷺ letter to Abu Musa al Ash'ari we have just mentioned. It reads: "Recite Qisar Mufasssal in Maghrib, Ausat Mufasssal in Isha and Tiwal Mufasssal in Fajr. (Nasb-ur-Rayah).

”كَتَبَ عُمَرُ إِلَى أَبِي مُوسَى أَنْ
أَقْرَأَ فِي الْمَغْرِبِ بِقِصَارِ الْمُفْصَّلِ
وَفِي الْعِشَاءِ بِوَسْطِ الْمُفْصَّلِ وَ فِي الصُّبْحِ بِطَوَالِ الْمُفْصَّلِ“
(نصب الراية)

Alluding to this letter, Imam Tirmizi has, also, mentioned the advice about the recitation of Ausat Mufasssal in the Zuhr prayers.

Evidently, Sayyidina Umar ﷺ would have given the advice only when he had been led to it by the vocal or practical guidance of the Prophet ﷺ. Most of the authorities have, as such, held the letter of Sayyidina Umar ﷺ to be the main guiding factor regarding the length of the recital in the various obligatory services and the conduct forming to it as most comendable.

During The Friday Prayers And The Two 'Id Prayers

(٦٠٣/١٣١) عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَبِي رَافِعٍ قَالَ اسْتَخْلَفَ مَرْوَانَ أَبَاهُ رَيْرَةَ عَلَى الْمَدِينَةِ وَخَرَجَ إِلَى مَكَّةَ فَصَلَّى لَنَا أَبُوهُ رَيْرَةَ الْجُمُعَةَ فَقَرَأَ سُورَةَ الْجُمُعَةِ فِي السَّجْدَةِ الْأُولَى وَفِي الْآخِرَةِ إِذَا جَاءَكَ الْمُنَافِقُونَ فَقَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ بِهِمَا يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ . (رواه مسلم)

(603/131) Ubaydullah bin Abu Rafi' (son of the Prophet's ﷺ well-known attendant, Abu Rafi' ﷺ) narrated to us that Marwan, (when he was Amir Mu'awiya's Governor in Madinah), went to Makkah (for some reason) and appointed Abu Hurayrah to officiate (during his absence). So, Abu Hurayrah led the Friday Prayers, and, he recited Surah al-Jumu'a in the first and Surah al-Munafiqoon in the second rak'at, and remarked: "I have heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recite the two surah on Fridays." (Muslim)

(٦٠٤/١٣٢) عَنِ النُّعْمَانِ بْنِ بَشِيرٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الْعِيدَيْنِ وَفِي الْجُمُعَةِ بِسَبِّحِ اسْمَ رَبِّكَ الْأَعْلَى وَهَلْ أَتَاكَ حَدِيثُ الْعَاشِيَةِ قَالَ وَإِذَا اجْتَمَعَ الْعِيدُ وَالْجُمُعَةُ فِي يَوْمٍ وَاحِدٍ قَرَأَ بِهِمَا فِي الصَّلَوَتَيْنِ (رواه مسلم)

(604/132) Nu'man bin Bashir ؓ narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to recite Sabbi-his-ma rabbikal a'ala and Hal atī -ka hadeethul ghashiyah in the two Eids and Fridays, and if the 'Id occurred on a Friday, he recited the two surah in Eid and Friday prayers. (Muslim)

(٦٠٥/١٣٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ أَنَّ عُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ سَأَلَ أَبَا وَقِيدٍ اللَّيْثِي مَا كَانَ يَقْرَأُ بِهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي الْأَضْحَى وَالْفِطْرِ فَقَالَ يَقْرَأُ فِيهِمَا بَقِ وَالْقُرْآنِ الْمَجِيدِ وَاقْتَرَبَتِ السَّاعَةُ. (رواه مسلم)

(605/133) It is related on the authority of Ubaidullah bin Utbah, (the nephew of Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ) that Umar bin Khattab (once) enquired from Abu Waqid al-Laythe what the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to recite in the Eidul Adha and Eidul Fitr?¹ Abu Waqid replied "He recited Qaf wal Quran-ul-majeed and Iqatara-ba-tis sa'ah in both of them." (Muslim)

Commentary: From the above Traditions we learn that the Prophet ﷺ habitually recited the Surah al-Juma and al-Munafiqoon or al-A'ala and al Ghashiyah in the two ra'kat of the Friday.

In the two Eids, he either recited the Surah A'ala and al-Ghashiyah or of Qaff wal Quran-ul-majeed and Iqatara batis sa'ah.

We conclude from the Traditions concerning the recitation of Qur'an in the five daily prayers and those of Friday and the two

①. Some commentators have remarked the Sayyidina Umar's رضي الله عنه enquiry could, obviously, not have been due to ignorance or failure of memory. It is hard to imagine such a thing about him. What is more plausible is that either he wanted to test the range of information and memory of Abu Waqid or to let others hear it from him or to seek the confirmation of his own knowledge.

'Ids, discussed above, that:

- (i) The general practice of the Prophet ﷺ was that he made long recitals in Fajr, and mostly recited Tiwal Mufasssal, and in Zuhr, too, made fairly long recitals, and Asr and Maghrib, he kept light, and in Isha he preferred to recite Ausat Mufasssal. But, occasionally, he departed from the practice.
- (ii) The Prophet ﷺ neither commanded his followers to recite a particular surah in a prayer nor did he set aside any surah for a prayer. It is, however, clear that, generally, the Prophet ﷺ liked to recite certain surah in certain prayers.

Remarks Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه:

"The Prophet ﷺ preferred to recite some particular Surah in some prayers, but he neither determined them positively nor enjoined upon others to follow it as a rule. Thus, if anyone emulates his example, and, usually, recites those verses in the prayers, it is good, and whoever does not, there is no harm in it either."¹

Aameen at The End of Surah al-Fatiha

The first three verses of Surah al-Fatihah, which is uniformly recited in all the Rak'at of prayer, are devoted to praise and glorification of Allah, in the fourth, there is the affirmation of Divine Oneness, and the next three, with which the surah concludes, contain an earnest supplication to the Almighty to show the Straight Path, the the Path of Guidance. The sacred Prophet ﷺ has taught that Aameen should be said at the end of surah al-Fatiha, and, further, that when the prayer is observed behind the Imam, in congregation, the Muqtadis should, also, utter Aameen with the Imam at the completion of the surah. He has informed that the angels, too, say Aameen at that time.

(٦٠٦/١٣٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا آمَنَ الْإِمَامُ فَأَمِنُوا فَإِنَّهُ مَنْ وَافَقَ تَأْمِينَهُ تَأْمِينَ الْمَلَائِكَةِ غُفِرَ لَهُ مَا تَقَدَّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِهِ.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(606/134) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When the Imam says Aameen (at the end of Surah al-Fatiha), you, the Muqtadis, should, also, say Aameen. His previous sins will be forgiven whose Aameen coincides with the Aameen of the Angels." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Various interpretations have been offered of anyone's Aameen synchronizing with the Aameen of the angels. The most convincing of them, however is that it denotes the Aameen that is said with the Aameen of angels, neither earlier nor later. And the time of the angels' Aameen is when the Imam pronounces it. The Prophet's ﷺ observation would, thus, mean that the Muqtadis should say Aameen when the Imam says it at the conclusion of Surah al-Fatiha for the angels utter Aameen at that very time. The decision of Allah is that all previous sins of the bondsman will be forgiven who says Aameen with the angels.

(٦٠٧/١٣٥) عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى الْأَشْعَرِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا صَلَّيْتُمْ فَأَقِيمُوا صُفُوفَكُمْ ثُمَّ لِيَوْمُكُمْ أَحَدُكُمْ فَإِذَا كَبَّرَ فَكَبِّرُوا وَإِذَا قَالَ غَيْرَ الْمَغْضُوبِ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا الضَّالِّينَ فَقُولُوا آمِينَ يُجِبْكُمْ اللَّهُ.

(607/135) It is related by Abu Musa al-Ash'ari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When you begin to offer prayers, first correct your rows and make them straight; one of you should become the Imam. When the Imam says Takbir, you too say it and when he recites Ghairil Maghdoobi 'alaihim wa-lad-dhallee (i.e., the last verse of surah al-Fatiha), say Aameen (if you will do so) Allah will grant your supplication for guidance made in Surah al-Fatiha." (Muslim)

Commentary: Aameen, in fact, is an earnest request for the acceptance of the supplication and an admission of the truth, on the part of the bondsman, that he has no claim upon Allah for his petition to be granted. By saying Aameen after the supplications he beseeches Allah humbly to allow his entreaty and fulfil his need by His grace.

It is reported in Sunnan Abu Dawood, on the authority of Abu Zubair Numeiri ؓ, "One night when we were going with the Prophet ﷺ we passed by a man who was supplicating to with profound earnestness and absorption. The Prophet ﷺ (on seeing him) remarked, 'If he set the seal on his supplication, it will, surely, be accepted.' 'The seal of what?' enquired one of the Companions ؓ. 'The seal of Aameen'¹, replied the Prophet ﷺ.

It shows that the pronunciation of Aameen after supplication one of the things that can be looked forward to for enhancing the prospects of its acceptance.

Should 'Aameen' Be Said With A Loud Voice or In Silence?

It has needlessly been disputed whether Aameen should be said aloud after Al-Fatihah or in silence. Reports of both the ways of uttering it are found in the authentic compilations of the Traditions. It is, also, incontrovertible that among the Companions ؓ and the Taba'een there were some who said it with a loud voice and some who said it silently. This, in itself, shows that both the methods are confirmed by the practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ and were freely acted upon in his time. It could not be that Aameen was never said aloud during the lifetime of the Prophet ﷺ and some Companions ؓ took it upon themselves to do so after his death. Likewise, it is inconceivable that the utterance of Aameen in silence was, at no time, acted upon during the days of the Prophet ﷺ and yet some Companions ؓ started doing so when he had passed away.

Be that as it may, both the methods were in vogue during the Prophet's ﷺ time. Later, some authorities concluded, on the basis of their knowledge and research, that the correct position was that Aameen was said loud enough to be heard by the other participants and it was what was mostly practised during the Prophet's lifetime although, occasionally, it was, also, uttered in silence. Hence, while to say Aameen silently was premissible, it was better and more commendable that it was said loudly. On the contrary, other concluded that Aameen, which is not mentioned in the Qur'an, ought to be said in silence and so was it done, generally, in the days of the Prophet ﷺ though, sometimes, it was also said with a loud voice, and, hence, it was preferable to utter it in silence, but to pronounce it loudly, too, was allowable. The difference among the legists, therefore, is only over the state of being superior and no one has challenged the legitimacy either of the two methods.

❶. Meaning "let it be so," "accept our supplication".

Rafa' Yadayn (Raisin Hands)

Identical is the case with Rafa' Yadayn i.e., the raising of hands upto the ears in prayer. It is established beyond doubt that the Prophet ﷺ did it, not only at the time of saying Takbir Tahrima but, also, at bending low for ruku, at rising up from it, from sajda, and at standing up for the third rak'at. We learn it on the authority of a number of holy Companions ﷺ like Abdullah bin Umar ﷺ, Wail bin Hujr ﷺ and Abu Hamayd Sa'idi ﷺ. At the sametime, it is, also, known for certain that the Prophet ﷺ offered prayer by carrying out Rafa' Yadayn merely at the time of Takbir Tahrima and on no other occasion during the whole prayers as Abdullah bin Masud ﷺ, Bara bin Aazib ﷺ and many other Companions ﷺ tell. Both the procedures, were current among the Companions ﷺ as well as the Tabe'een. The difference among the legist-doctors, in this regard, also, is, thus, of choice and preference otherwise there is no question regarding the legality of the one or the other method.

(٦٠٨/١٣٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يَرْفَعُ يَدَيْهِ حَذْوِ مَنْكِبَيْهِ إِذَا فَتَحَ الصَّلَاةَ وَإِذَا كَبَّرَ لِلرُّكُوعِ وَإِذَا رَفَعَ رَأْسَهُ مِنَ الرُّكُوعِ رَفَعَهُمَا كَذَلِكَ وَقَالَ سَمِعَ اللَّهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ وَكَانَ لَا يَفْعَلُ ذَلِكَ فِي السُّجُودِ . (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(608/136) Abdullah bin Umar ﷺ narrates that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ commenced the prayers, he raised both the hands up to the shoulders (as he said Takbir Tahrima), and, (also), at the time of saying Takbir for bowing low for ruku, and, in the same way, when he rose from ruku, he, also raised both the hands like that, and said: sami Allahu liman hamidah, but he did not do so in Sajdah. (Bukhri and Muslim)

Commentary: In this narrative of Sayyidina Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه, the raising of hands is mentioned only at the time of bowing down for ruku and rising from it, in addition, of course, to takbir tahrima, and it is distinctly stated that the Prophet ﷺ did not do so in sajdah. But from some of his other reports, quoted, again in Bukhari, we learn that the Prophet ﷺ, also, raised his hands while rising up for the third rak'at. And in the narratives of Maalik bin al-Huwayritha and Wa'il bin Hujr, cited by Imam Nasai and Imam Abu Dawood, the raising of hands at the time of sajdah, as well, is mentioned which has been specifically denied by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه.

In truth, each of these reports in correct, and conformity between the statement of Maalik bin Al-uwayrith and Wa'il bin Hujr that the Prophet ﷺ carried out Rafa' Yadayn at the time of kneeling down for sajdah and rising up from it and that of Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that he refrained from it in sajdah can be obtained by concluding that the Prophet ﷺ did so only occasionally which was seen by Maalik bin al-Huwayrith and Wa'il bin Hujr but, by chance, Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه did not see the Prophet ﷺ carrying it out, and, therefore, he repudiated it on the strength of his knowledge. Had the Prophet ﷺ been performing it always or frequently, a Companion رضي الله عنه of the stature of Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه could not remain unaware.

(٦٠٩/١٣٧) عَنْ عَلْقَمَةَ قَالَ قَالَ لَنَا ابْنُ مَسْعُودٍ أَلَا أَصَلَّى بِكُمْ صَلَوةَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَصَلَّى فَلَمْ يَرْفَعْ يَدَيْهِ إِلَّا فِي أَوَّلِ مَرَّةٍ .

(رواه الترمذی وابو داؤد والنسائی)

(609/137) It is related by 'Alqamah, the favourite pupil of Abdullah bin Masud رضي الله عنه, "Once Ibn Ma'sud رضي الله عنه said to us: 'Let me show you how the Prophet ﷺ prayed.' On saying it, he led the service in which he performed Rafa' Yadayn only once (which Takbir Tahrima) (and) did not perform it again, at all."

(Tirmizi, Abu Dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: Sayyidina Abdullah bin Mas'ud was one of the celebrated Companions رضي الله عنه who had been specially instructed by the Prophet ﷺ to stand close to him, in the front row, in prayers. In order to teach his pupils how the Prophet ﷺ offered prayers he led the prayers, and, he raised the hands upto the ears only once, i.e., at the time of takbir tahrīma.

It will now be admitted, on the basis of the above Tradition, that what Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه and other have said about the carrying out of Rafa' Yadayn while bowing down of ruku and rising from it, also was not the usual practice of the Prophet ﷺ or else Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه who used to stand near him in prayer must have known it, and, he would not, in any case, have omitted it when he was demonstrating to his pupils the Prophet's ﷺ characteristic way of offering prayer.

Taking all the reports together, it should not be difficult to conclude that the holy Prophet ﷺ observed Rafa' Yadayn in prayer as well as he did not. Sometimes, he raised the hands up to the ears only at the time of takbir tahrīma, and, sometimes, while bowing down for ruku and raising from it as well, and, on a few occasions, it, also, happened that he did so as he knelt down for sajdah and rose from it.

From their repeated observation and experience, Companions رضي الله عنهم like Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه felt that the omission of Rafa' Yadayn was the rule in prayers while those like Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه thought that its observance was the right thing. The same divergence persisted in the views of Taba'een and the latter days theologists.

Imam Tirmizi, after reproducing the aforementioned narrative of Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه and pointing out that such-and-such other Companions رضي الله عنهم have related in the same vein, observes that "some Companions رضي الله عنهم of the Prophet, as for instance, Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه, Jabir رضي الله عنه, Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه and Anas رضي الله عنه have adopted Rafa' Yadayn, and, similarly, such-and-such among the taba'een and latter-day legists, too, consider it correct."

Proceeding, he quotes the narrative of Ibn Mas'ud رضي الله عنه showing the omission of Rafa' Yadayn and another identical Tradition related by Bara' bin 'Aazib رضي الله عنه and remarks that "a number of Companions رضي الله عنهم have decided in favour of the omission of Rafa' Yadayn, and, similarly, such-and-such of the Taba'een and latter-day legists, too, consider it to be correct."

In sum, like the pronouncing of Aameen loudly or in silence, both the raising of hands up to the ears and its omission are established by the practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ. The variance of preference among the Companions ﷺ arose because by their intuition and understanding and study and observation of the settled behaviour of the Prophet ﷺ some of them felt that the omission of Rafa' Yadayn was the regular thing in prayer, and when Rafa' Yadayn had been carried out, it was only for a time — Companions ﷺ like Ibn Mas'ud ﷺ were of that view and legist-doctors like Imam Abu Hanifah and Imam Sufyan Suri have decided in favour of it — while Companions ﷺ like Abdullah bin Umar ﷺ and Jabir ﷺ thought otherwise and by it, and the difference, again, was only overexcellence and perfection, otherwise the propriety and legitimateness of neither of the two acts, the carrying out of Rafa' Yadayn and its omission, has not been changellenged by anyone.

RUKU AND SUJUD

Clearly, prayer signifies the expression of one's humbleness, by word and deed, body and soul before the Almighty, in a particular way. This is the essence of qiyam and q'ood, ruku and sujud, and all that is recited in them. Among the various postures of prayer, however, the foremost manifestations of submissiveness and humility are ruku and sujud. To keep the head high is a sign of vanity, and to keep it low is a sign of self-abasement. To bend it down before anyone in the form of ruku is an extraordinary gesture of reverential homage which is to be paid exclusively to Allah, and sajadah is its ultimate form. In sajadah, the bondsman places his forehead and nose on the ground which are the most honourable parts of the human body. Hence, sajadah and ruku form the most essential factors of prayer, and, owing to it, the sacred Prophet ﷺ has enjoined that these acts should be performed fittingly and in a becoming manner and exhorted us, through the spoken word as well as his own example, to exalt and glorify Allah and supplicate Him earnestly in these postures.

Performance of Ruku And Sujud

(٦١٠/١٣٨) عَنْ أَبِي مَسْعُودٍ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تُجْزَى صَلَاةُ الرَّجُلِ حَتَّى يُقِيمَ ظَهْرَهُ فِي الرُّكُوعِ وَالسُّجُودِ

(رواه ابو داؤد و الترمذى و النسائى و ابن ماجة و الدارمى)

(610/138) It is related by Abu Mas'ud Ansari ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A man's prayer does not become adequate (i.e., it remains faulty and incomplete) until he straightens out his back in ruku and sajdah."

(Abu Dawood, Tirmzi, Nasai, Ibn Majah, and Daarami)

(٦١١/١٣٩) عَنْ طَلْقِ بْنِ عَلِيٍّ الْحَنَفِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَنْظُرُ اللَّهُ عَزَّوَجَلَّ إِلَى صَلَاةِ عَبْدٍ لَا يُقِيمُ فِيهَا صَلَاتَهُ بَيْنَ خُشُوعِهَا وَسُجُودِهَا (رواه احمد)

(611/139) It is related by Talq bin Ali al-Hanafi رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The bondsman who does not straighten out his back in ruku and sajdah, Allah does not look at his prayer" (Abu Dawood, Tirmzi, Nasai, Ibn Majah, and Daarami)

Commentary: The refusal of Allah to look at the prayer, as shown in this Tradition, denotes that such a prayer is not acceptable to Allah otherwise He sees everything and nothing in the heavens and the earth is hidden from His view. Both the sayings given above signify, in a nutshell, that the prayer of anyone who does not carry out ruku and sajda correctly shall not find acceptance with Him.

(٦١٢/١٤٠) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اعْتَدِلُوا فِي السُّجُودِ وَلَا يَبْسُطُ أَحَدُكُمْ ذِرَاعَيْهِ انْبِسَاطَ الْكَلْبِ. (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(612/140) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Carry out sajdah with moderation and do not spread your arms, on the ground as a dog does." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The doing of sajdah with moderation, apparently, means that it should be performed in a calm and tranquil manner, and not hurriedly. The other thing is that the wrists should be kept raised from the ground and the example of the dog is intended to bring home the unseemliness of spreading the arms while performing sajdah.

(٦١٣/١٤١) عَنِ الْبَرَاءِ بْنِ عَازِبٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا سَجَدْتَ فَضَعْ كَفَّيْكَ وَارْفَعْ مِرْفَقَيْكَ. (رواه مسلم)

(613/141) Sayyidina Bara bin Azib رضي الله عنه has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When you prostrate yourself, place the palms of your hands on the ground and raise your elbows." (Muslim)

(٦١٤/١٤٢) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ ابْنِ بَحِينَةَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ

وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا سَجَدَ فَرَجَ بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ حَتَّى يَبْدُو بَيَاضُ إِبْطَيْهِ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)
 (614/142) Sayyidina Abdullah bin Malik Ibn Buhayana رضي الله عنه said that the when the Prophet ﷺ prostrated himself he spread out his arms so that the whiteness under his armpits was visible.
 (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٦١٥/١٤٣) عَنْ وَائِلِ بْنِ حُجْرٍ قَالَ رَأَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا سَجَدَ وَضَعَ رُكْبَتَيْهِ قَبْلَ يَدَيْهِ وَإِذَا نَهَضَ رَفَعَ يَدَيْهِ قَبْلَ رُكْبَتَيْهِ
 (رواه ابو داؤد و الترمذى و النسائى و ابن ماجه)
 (615/143) Sayyidina Wa'il bin Hujr رضي الله عنه said that he saw that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ prostrated himself he got down on his knees before putting his hands on the ground. And when he got up he raised his hands before his knees.
 (Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Nasai, Ibn Majah.)

(٦١٦/١٤٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أُمِرْتُ أَنْ أَسْجُدَ عَلَى سَبْعَةِ أَعْظُمٍ عَلَى الْجَبْهَةِ وَالْيَدَيْنِ وَالرُّكْبَتَيْنِ وَأَطْرَافِ الْقَدَمَيْنِ وَلَا نَكَفَتِ الثِّيَابَ وَالشَّعْرَ .
 (رواه البخارى ومسلم)
 (616/144) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I have been commanded (i.e., God has commanded me) to perform sajdah on seven limbs (i.e. with all the seven limbs resting on the ground): both the feet, and, also, that we do not gather up our clothes and hair."
 (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The seven limbs described in it are known as the "limbs of sajdah". These should rest on the ground. Some people try to protect their clothes and hair while performing sadjah which is against its spirit, and, therefore, has been forbidden.

What is To Be Recited in Ruku And Sajda?

(٦١٧/١٤٥) عَنْ عُقْبَةَ بْنِ عَامِرٍ لَمَّا نَزَلَتْ فَسَبِّحْ بِاسْمِ رَبِّكَ الْعَظِيمِ، قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اجْعَلُوهَا فِي رُكُوعِكُمْ فَلَمَّا نَزَلَتْ سَبِّحْ اسْمَ رَبِّكَ الْأَعْلَى قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اجْعَلُوهَا فِي سُجُودِكُمْ.
 (رواه ابو داؤد و ابن ماجه و الدارمى)

(617/145) Sayyidina Uqbah bin Aamir رضي الله عنه has narrated that when Fa sabbih bismi rabbikal-azim was revealed, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "Let it be for your ruku." (He meant that we must say in the bowing posture: Subhana rabbiya-azim). Then when sabbih ismi rabbik al-a'la was revealed, he said, "Let it be for your sajdah," (meaning that we should say in prostration: subhana rabbiy al-a'la).

(Abu Dawood Ibn Majah, Darimi)

(٦١٨/١٤٦) عَنْ حُذَيْفَةَ أَنَّهُ صَلَّى مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَكَانَ يَقُولُ فِي رُكُوعِهِ سُبْحَانَ رَبِّيَ الْعَظِيمِ وَفِي سُجُودِهِ سُبْحَانَ رَبِّيَ الْأَعْلَى .

(رواه النسائي وابن ماجه ورواه الترمذى و ابو داؤد و الدارمى مع زيادة)

(618/146) Sayyidina Huzayfah رضي الله عنه has said that he prayed with the Prophet ﷺ and he recited in ruku' (the bowing posture): subhana rabbiyal-azeem, and in sajdah (prostration): subhana rabbiy al-a'al. (Nasai and Ibn Majah; and Tirmizi Abu dawood, Darimi with additional narration.)

(٦١٩/١٤٧) عَنْ عَوْنِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا رَكَعَ أَحَدُكُمْ فَقَالَ فِي رُكُوعِهِ سُبْحَانَ رَبِّيَ الْعَظِيمِ ثَلَاثَ مَرَّاتٍ فَقَدْتُمْ رُكُوعَهُ وَذَلِكَ أَذْنَاهُ وَإِذَا سَجَدَ فَقَالَ فِي سُجُودِهِ سُبْحَانَ رَبِّي الْأَعْلَى ثَلَاثَ مَرَّاتٍ فَقَدْتُمْ سُجُودَهُ وَذَلِكَ أَذْنَاهُ .

(رواه الترمذى و ابو داؤد و ابن ماجه)

(619/147) It is related by 'Aun bin Abdullah, on the authority of Abdulah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه, that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone says Subhaana rabbi-al Azeem (Glory to God, the Most Great) thrice in ruku, his ruku is completed, and it is of a low grade. In the same way, when anyone says Subhaana rabbi-al a'ala (Glory to God, the Most High) thrice in sajdah, his sajdah is completed, and it is of a low grade."

(Tirmizi, Abu Dawood and Ibn-i-Maja)

Commentary: It shows that if the *Tasbih*¹ is said less than three times in ruku and sajdah, the ruku and sajdah will remain faulty to some extent. For complete fulfilment, it is necessary to say the Tasbih at least thrice, and, better still, more. But the Imam should take care not to prolong the ruku and sajdah to the extent of wearying the Muqtadis. It is related by Abu Dawood and Nasai, on the authority of Sa'eed bin Jubayr Taba'ee, that Sayyidina Anas ؓ once remarked about Sayyidina Umar bin Abdul Aziz ؓ that this pryer was very much like that of the Prophet's ﷺ. Ibn Jubayr said that they then calculated that Umar bin Abdul Aziz rectied Tasbih ten times in ruku and sajdah. We, thus, know that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recited the Tasbih that many times, approximately, during the two acts. For anyone who leads the congregation, it will, as such, be appropriate that he recited Tasbih at least three and at the most ten times in ruku and sajdah.

①. Act of praising and glorifying Allah.

The above Tradition shows that the Prophet ﷺ instructed his followers to recite Subhaana rabbi-al Azeem and Subhaana rabbi-al a'ala in ruku and sajdah, respectively, and such was, also, his own normal practice. But in other reports, some of which are given below, it is stated that he recited other formulas of prayer and glorification as well.

(٦٢٠/١٤٨) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يَقُولُ فِي رُكُوعِهِ
وَسُجُودِهِ سُبُّوحٌ قُدُّوسٌ رَبُّ الْمَلَائِكَةِ وَالرُّوحِ . (رواه مسلم)

(620/148) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to recite Subboohun Qudoosun rabbul malaikati warrooh (Most Holy and Most Sublime is the Lord of the angels and the spirit) in ruku and sadjah. (Muslim)

(٦٢١/١٤٩) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا قَالَتْ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُكَبِّرُ أَنْ يَقُولَ فِي رُكُوعِهِ وَسُجُودِهِ سُبْحَانَكَ اللَّهُمَّ رَبَّنَا وَبِحَمْدِكَ
اللَّهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لِي يَتَأَوَّلُ الْقُرْآنَ . (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(621/149) Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها has narrated that the Prophet ﷺ used to recited very much in ruku and sajdah: Subhaanaka allahumma rabbana wa bi-hamdika, allahumma-ghfirlee (Glory be unto Thee, O Allah, our Lord! We celebrate Thy praise. O God! forgive me). (By reciting it) he acted up to the commandment of the Qur'an. (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Its last sentence shows that the Prophet ﷺ used to praise and glorify Allah and beg His forgiveness, also, through the words indicated in it, in rukū and sajdah, in obedience to the Divine Command contained in the Surah An-Nasr:

فَسَبِّحْ بِحَمْدِ رَبِّكَ وَاسْتَغْفِرْهُ (النصر ١١٠:٣)

Then hymn the praises of Your Lord, and seek forgiveness of Him. (Al-Nasr 110:3)

It is narrated also on her authority that after the revelation of the surah an-Nasr the Prophet ﷺ used frequently to recite comprehensive formulas of praise, glorification and repentance.

(٦٢٢/١٥٠) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا قَالَتْ فَقَدْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَيْلَةً مِنَ الْفِرَاشِ فَالْتَمَسْتُهُ فَوَقَعَتْ يَدِي عَلَى بَطْنِ قَدَمَيْهِ وَهُوَ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ وَهُمَا مَنْصُوبَتَانِ وَهُوَ يَقُولُ اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَعُوذُ بِرِضَاكَ مِنْ سَخِطِكَ وَمُعَافَاتِكَ مِنْ عُقُوبَتِكَ وَأَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْكَ لَا أُحْصِي ثَنَاءَ عَلَيْكَ أَنْتَ كَمَا أَثْنَيْتَ عَلَى نَفْسِكَ (رواه مسلم)

(622/150) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها has said that one night when she woke up she did not find the Messenger of Allah ﷺ on his bed. When she looked for him (in the darkness) her hand came on the soles of his feet while he was in sajdah and he was saying:

اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَعُوذُ بِرِضَاكَ مِنْ سَخِطِكَ وَمُعَافَاتِكَ مِنْ عُقُوبَتِكَ وَأَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْكَ لَا أُحْصِي ثَنَاءَ عَلَيْكَ أَنْتَ كَمَا أَثْنَيْتَ عَلَى نَفْسِكَ

"O Allah! I seek refuge in Your good pleasure from Your anger, and in Your forgiveness from Your punishment and I seek refuge in You from Your wrath. I cannot reckon Your praise. You are as You have praised Yourself." (Muslim)

(٦٢٣/١٥١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ فِي سُجُودِهِ اللَّهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لِي ذَنْبِي كُلَّهُ دِقَّةً وَجُلَّةً وَأَوَّلَهُ وَآخِرَهُ وَعَلَايَتَهُ وَسِرَّهُ (رواه مسلم)

(623/151) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه narrated that the Prophet ﷺ also (occasionally) recited this supplication in sajdah; Allahumma ghfirli thanbi kulahu wa jalahu wa Awalahu wa aakhiruhu, wa 'alaniyatahu wa sirrahu (On God! Forgive me all my sins, major as well as minor, and earlier as well as later, and manifest as well as hidden). (Muslim)

Commentary: On certain grounds, some authorities have expressed the view that the Prophet ﷺ mostly used to recite these supplications in Tahajjud and other optional prayers, but it is clear that, sometimes, he recited them, also, during the obligatory prayers.

Those of us who appreciate the meaning of these supplications should, occasionally, recite these in ruku and sajdah, along with Tasbih, particularly during a optional prayers where one is free to devote as much time to ruku and sajdah as one likes. Of course, in an obligatory prayer the Imam must see that the Muqtadis are not put to unnecessary hardship.

Qur'an Should Not be Recited in Ruku and Sajdah

(٦٢٤/١٥٢) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا إِنِّي نَهَيْتُ أَنْ أَقْرَأَ الْقُرْآنَ رَاكِعًا أَوْ سَاجِدًا فَأَمَّا الرُّكُوعُ فَعِظْمُوهَا فِيهِ الرَّبُّ وَأَمَّا السُّجُودُ فَاجْتَهِدُوا فِي الدُّعَاءِ فَقَمِنْ أَنْ يُسْتَجَابَ لَكُمْ. (رواه مسلم)

(624/152) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "It is forbidden to me to recite the Qur'an in the postures of ruku and sajdah. So, exalt your Lord in ruku and supplicate to Him earnestly in sajdah. The supplication of sajdah is, (sepcially), worthy of acceptance." (Muslim)

Commentary: Recital of Qur'an is an essential factor of prayer, but its place is Qiyam and the dignity and solemnity of the Divine Word demands that it should be recited while standing erect. For ruku and sujud the proper thing is that these should be reserved, exclusively, for the glorification of the Lord and the affirmation of one's own abasement and for supplication and repentance. Such was the life-long custom of the sacred Prophet ﷺ, and, in this Tradition, he has advised his followers to act similarly.

In the Traditions discussed earlier we are exhorted to recite Subhaana rabbi-al a'ala in sajdah, and, as we have seen, the Prophet ﷺ did the same. In the above Tradition we are, further, advised to supplicate to the Lord in sajdah. There is, in truth, no contradiction between the two exhortations. A simple and straightforward form of begging is that the supplicant, directly, asked for the fulfilment of his need, and another is that he only extolled the virtues of the person whose favour was solicited. The latter method is quite popular among the beggars in our midst. In any case, it is a form of supplication, and, that is why Al-hamdu lillaah has been described in one of the sayings as the best of entreaties and solicitations. Hence, Subhaana rabbi-al a'ala, too, is a formula of supplication and the sajdah of anyone who only repeats the Tasbih is not, definitely, bereft of invocation.

(٦٢٥/١٥٣) عَنْ مَعْدَانَ بْنِ طَلْحَةَ قَالَ لَقِيتُ ثُوبَانَ مَوْلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقُلْتُ أَخْبِرْنِي بِعَمَلٍ أَعْمَلُهُ يُدْخِلُنِي اللَّهُ بِهِ الْجَنَّةَ فَسَكَتَ ثُمَّ سَأَلْتُهُ فَسَكَتَ ثُمَّ سَأَلْتُهُ الثَّالِثَةَ فَقَالَ سَأَلْتُ عَنْ ذَلِكَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ عَلَيْكَ بِكَثْرَةِ السُّجُودِ لِلَّهِ فَإِنَّكَ لَا تَسْجُدُ لِلَّهِ سَجْدَةً إِلَّا رَفَعَكَ اللَّهُ بِهَا دَرَجَةً وَحَطَّ بِهَا عَنْكَ خَطِيئَةٌ قَالَ مَعْدَانُ ثُمَّ لَقِيتُ أَبَا الدَّرْدَاءِ فَسَأَلْتُهُ فَقَالَ لِي مِثْلَ مَا قَالَ ثُوبَانُ .
(رواه مسلم)

(625/153) Ma'dan bin Talha said, "I met Thauban رضي الله عنه the freed slave and special attendant of Allah's Messenger ﷺ. I asked him to tell me something which, if I do, would get me into Paradise. He did not answer, so I asked him again but he still gave no reply. I asked him a third time and he said that he had asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ the same question and was told, "Make prostrations before Allah often for He will raise you a degree against every prostration you make and He will remove a sin from you against it." Madan said, "I met Abu Darda رضي الله عنه later and when I asked him the same question, I received a similar reply."
(Muslim)

(٦٢٥/١٥٤) عَنْ رَبِيعَةَ بْنِ كَعْبٍ قَالَ كُنْتُ أَبِيتُ مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَاتَيْتُهُ بِوَضُوءِهِ وَحَاجَّتِهِ فَقَالَ لِي سَلْ فَقُلْتُ أَسْأَلُكَ مُرَافَقَتِكَ فِي الْجَنَّةِ، قَالَ أَوْغَيْرَ ذَلِكَ؟ قُلْتُ هُوَ ذَلِكَ، قَالَ فَأَعِنِّي عَلَى نَفْسِكَ بِكَثْرَةِ السُّجُودِ .
(رواه مسلم)

(626/154) Rabia bin Ka'b Aslami (Who was one of the Companions رضي الله عنه of Suffah and used to accompany the Prophet ﷺ in his travels) said, "I was with the Messenger of Allah ﷺ at night and when I brought him his water for ablution and what he required (for tahajjud), he told me to make a request. I said 'I ask to accompany you in Paradise.' He asked if I had any other request to make and when I replied that that was all, he said. "Then help me to get you this by devoting yourself often to prostration."

Commentary: Those who are near to Allah, sometimes sense a precious moment when they would get what they ask from Allah. The Prophet ﷺ may have sensed that opportunity and so he asked Rabi'a to make a request. He asked for the Prophet's ﷺ company in Paradise and was advised to make frequent prostrations. Frequency of prostration refers to offering prayers often. Instead of saying that he should increase the number of raka'at offered, prostration is mentioned because that is the posture in prayers most liable to lead to Paradise.

Quauma and Jalsa

Between ruku and sajdah, *quauma*¹ is enjoined, and between the two sajdah of the same rak'at, *jalsa*² has to be carried out. For the Prophet's instructions concerning them and his own practice we will refer to the following Traditions.

(٦٢٧/١٥٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا قَالَ الْإِمَامُ سَمِعَ اللَّهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ فَقُولُوا اللَّهُمَّ رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ فَإِنَّهُ مَنْ وَافَقَ قَوْلَهُ قَوْلَ الْمَلَائِكَةِ غُفِرَ لَهُ مَا تَقَدَّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِهِ . (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(627/155) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When (on rising from ruku) the Imam says Sami' -al laahu liman hamidah (God has heard the one who has praised Him), you (the Muqtadis) should say Allahumma Rab-banaa lakal hamd (O Allah! Our Lord, praise be to You). All his previous sins will be forgiven whose recital (of it) will be in accord and agreement with that of the angels."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

- ①. Meaning the standing position assumed after ruku and before kneeling down for sajdah.
- ②. Denoting the act of seating oneself between the two prostrations of the same rak'at.

Commentary: It shows that in the congregational prayers the angels, too, say Allahumma Rab-banaa lakal hamd when the Imam says Sami'al laahu liman hamidah while assuming the standing position after performing ruku, and the Prophet ﷺ has exhorted that those offering prayers behind the Imam should, also, utter these words at that time, and revealed that all the previous sins of the Muqtadis will be forgiven whose recital of it will be "in accord and agreement" with that of the angels which, apparently, denotes that it occurs at the same instant.

As we have stressed repeatedly in the past, generally, minor transgressions are meant when the remission of all previous sins is spoken of in a Tradition as a result of the auspiciousness of a particular deed. About the major sins it appears from the Qur'an and the Traditions of the Prophet ﷺ that their remission is related fundamentally to Tawba i.e., sincere repentance. God, nevertheless, has the power to forgive even the most grievous misdeeds if and when He likes.

(٦٢٨/١٥٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَوْفَى قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا رَفَعَ ظَهْرَهُ مِنَ الرُّكُوعِ قَالَ سَمِعَ اللَّهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ اللَّهُمَّ رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ مِلَأَ السَّمَوَاتِ وَمِلَأَ الْأَرْضِ وَمِلَأَ مَا شِئْتَ مِنْ شَيْءٍ بَعْدُ . (رواه مسلم)

(628/156) Abdulah bin Awfa ؓ has said that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ raised his back from ruku' he pronounced:

سَمِعَ اللَّهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ اللَّهُمَّ رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ مِلَأَ السَّمَوَاتِ وَمِلَأَ الْأَرْضِ وَمِلَأَ مَا شِئْتَ مِنْ شَيْءٍ بَعْدُ

"Allah listens to him who praises Him. O Allah, our Lord, to You be the praise in all the heavens and all the earth and all that it pleases You to create afterwards." (Muslim)

Muslim has also transmitted from Abu Sa'eed Khudri ؓ the same supplication with some more words. It seems that the Prophet ﷺ said سَمِعَ اللَّهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ and responded merely with: اللَّهُمَّ رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ. But sometimes lengthened the supplication as stated by Abu Sa'eed Khudri ؓ. Sometimes, he stood so long that worshippers behind him thought he had forgotten as we will see in the hadith of Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه.

(٦٢٩/١٥٧) عَنْ رِفَاعَةَ بْنِ رَافِعٍ قَالَ كُنَّا نُصَلِّي وَرَاءَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَلَمَّا رَفَعَ رَأْسَهُ مِنَ الرُّكْعَةِ قَالَ سَمِعَ اللَّهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ فَقَالَ رَجُلٌ وَرَاءَهُ رَبَّنَا وَلَكَ الْحَمْدُ حَمْدًا كَثِيرًا طَيِّبًا مُبَارَكًا فِيهِ فَلَمَّا انْصَرَفَ قَالَ مِنَ الْمُتَكَلِّمِ إِنِّمَا قَالَ أَنَا قَالَ رَأَيْتُ بَضْعَةً وَثَلَاثِينَ مَلَكًا يَتَدَرُّونَهَا أَيُّهُمْ يَكْتُبُهَا أَوَّلًا.

(رواه البخاري)

(629/157) It is narrated by Rifa'ah bin Rafi' رضي الله عنه, "We were praying behind the Prophet ﷺ and when he raised his head from the ruku' he said:

سَمِعَ اللَّهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ

(Allah listens to him who praises Him.)

A man behind him said,

ربنا ولك الحمد حمدا كثيرا طيبا مباركا فيه

(Our Lord, to You be the praise abundant, good, blessed and sufficient.)

When he ended (the prayer) the Prophet ﷺ asked, 'Who was the speaker just now?' and the man identified himself. He said, 'I saw over thirty angels racing over another to be the first to record it.'

(Bukhari)

Commentary: Perhaps it was the man's particular learning and sincerity with which he said those words that so many angels raced to record his words.

(٦٣٠/١٥٨) عَنْ حُذَيْفَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يَقُولُ بَيْنَ

السَّجْدَتَيْنِ رَبِّ اغْفِرْ لِي.

(رواه النسائي والدارمي)

(630/158) It is related by Huzaifah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to recite Rab-bighfirlee (O Lord! Forgive me) in Jalsa between the two sajdah.

(Nasai and Daarami)

(٦٣١/١٥٩) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ بَيْنَ

السَّجْدَتَيْنِ اللَّهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لِي وَارْحَمْنِي وَاهْدِنِي وَغَايِنِي وَارْزُقْنِي.

(رواه ابو داؤد والترمذي)

(631/159) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ used to recite between the two sajdah: Allahummaghfirlee warhamni wa hidini wa-'aafini warzuqni (O God! Forgive me, and have mercy on me, and bestow upon me the blessing of guidance, and pardon me, and provide me with sustenance.). (Abu Dawood and Tirmizi)

(٦٣٢/١٦٠) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا قَالَ سَمِعَ اللَّهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ قَامَ حَتَّى نَقُولَ قَدْ أَوْهَمَ ثُمَّ يَسْجُدُ وَيَقْعُدُ بَيْنَ السَّجْدَتَيْنِ حَتَّى نَقُولَ قَدْ أَوْهَمَ . (رواه مسلم)

(632/160) It is related by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that when the Prophet ﷺ said Sami' Allahu liman hamidah on rising from ruku, he remained standing (for such a long time) that we felt that, probably, he had forgotten; and, then, he performed sajdah, and, after raising from it, sat (for such a long time) between the two sajdahs that we felt that, probably, he had forgotten. (Muslim)

Commentary: While the above Tradition shows that, sometimes, the Quama and Jalsa of the Prophet ﷺ lasted so long that the Companions رضي الله عنهم began to doubt that he had forgotten, it, also, makes it clear that such a thing happened only rarely and it was not his regular practice. Had the Prophet ﷺ been doing so habitually or often the Companions would not have thought as they did.

As in ruku and sujud, the supplications the Prophet ﷺ used to recite in quama and jalsa, too, are most auspicious and deserving of Divine acceptance. But should the Imam propose to recite them he must be prudent enough to see that undue inconvenience was not caused, thereby, to the Muqtadis.

Q'adah, Thshahhud and Salaam

The prayers come to an end with *q'adah*¹ and salaam.² These are its last acts or parts, but if these are three or four rak'ats, the devotee sits also, after the completion of the first two rak'ats, and this is known as q'adah-i-oola or the First q'adah. In it, only *tahsahhud*³ is recited after which the devotee stands up and sits again after the third or fourth rak'at. The prayer is, then, brought to end with salaam after the recital of *durood*¹ after tashahhud.

①. The act of sitting down on the left foot keeping the right foot erect.

②. Finishing salute by turning the face first to the right, and, then, to the left.

③. Denoting the recital of At-tahiyyat.

The correct method of Q'adah

(٦٣٣/١٦١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ إِذَا جَلَسَ فِي الصَّلَاةِ وَضَعَ يَدَيْهِ عَلَى رُكْبَتَيْهِ وَرَفَعَ إصْبَعَهُ الْيُمْنَى الَّتِي تَلِي الْأَبْهَامَ فَدَعَا بِهَا وَيَذُوهُ الْيُسْرَى عَلَى رُكْبَتِهِ بَاسِطُهَا عَلَيْهَا. (رواه مسلم)

(633/161) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that when the Prophet ﷺ sat down in prayer he used to place both the hands above his knees and make a sign by raising the finger of the right hand which was next to the thumb (i.e., the index finger), and, at that time, his left hand remained rested above the left knee (i.e., he made no sign with it.)." (Muslim)

Commentary: Other Companions, besides Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه, have also related the raising of the forefinger and making a sign with it at the time of the pronouncement of Kalima Shahadah, i.e., the formula of Affirmation, and there can be no doubt about it that it was the regular practice of the Prophet ﷺ. Its underlying significance, perhaps, was that when the devotee was testifying to the Oneness of Allah by reciting Ash-hadu aun-lua-ilaaha-il- lal- laha, his heart, too, should be filled with the conviction of Divine Unity and he, also, made an affirmation of it with his body by raising one of the fingers.

Another version tells us that the Prophet ﷺ followed this gesture with his eyes too. Abdullah bin Umar has quoted the Prophet ﷺ.

"This gesture of the index finger is made more painful to the devil than a sharp-eyed knife or sword." (Mishkat) لَهِيَ أَشَدُّ عَلَى الشَّيْطَانِ مِنَ الْحَدِيدِ .

(٦٣٤/١٦٢) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّكَ يَرَى عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عُمَرَ يَتَرَبَّعُ فِي الصَّلَاةِ إِذَا جَلَسَ فَفَعَلْتُهُ وَأَنَا يَوْمَئِذٍ حَدِيثُ السِّنِّ فَهَانِي عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ عُمَرَ وَقَالَ إِنَّمَا سُنَّةُ الصَّلَاةِ أَنْ تَنْصِبَ رِجْلَكَ الْيُمْنَى وَتُشَيَّ الْيُسْرَى فَقُلْتُ

①. The invocation of Divine blessings on the Prophet.

(رواه البخارى) إِنَّكَ تَفْعَلُ ذَلِكَ فَقَالَ إِنَّ رَجُلَايَ لَا تَحْمِلَانِي .

(634/162) It is related by Abdullah, son of Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه, "I saw my father (i.e., Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه) that he sat cross-legged in prayer, (and), I, too, began to sit cross-legged though I was quite young at that time. On seeing it, my father told me not to sit like that and explained that, from the point of view of Shari'ah, the correct way of sitting was to keep the right foot erect (on the toes) and the left one in a reclining position (under the rumps). I, thereupon, remarked, 'But you sit cross-legged'. My father replied: '(It is because of feebleness and infirmity). My legs, now, do not support my weight'."

(Bukhari)

Commentary: Abdullah was, also, the name of one of Abdullah bin Umar's sons and this incident was in respect of him. Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه lived up to the ripe old age of 84, and, according to a report, of 86 years. Towards the end of his life he had grown so weak that he could not sit on his feet in prayer, according to the prescribed method. It has, also, been reported that there was some defect in his feet which rendered him unable to sit in Q'adah as the sacred Prophet ﷺ did. Anyhow, simply to follow his father's example, Abdullah رضي الله عنه, too, had begun to sit cross-legged. When Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه saw that, he checked him and said that the correct way of sitting was that one should seat oneself on the left foot, keeping the right foot erect, with the heel pointing upwards and the toes of the feet bent outward. About himself he explained that he sat cross-legged owing to an ailment or debility.

The fact that he said that his legs did not support his weight any more showed that this sitting posture is assumed in a manner that bears the weight of the body.

Brevity and Haste in Q'adah-i-Oola

(٦٣٥/١٦٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

إِذَا جَلَسَ فِي الرُّكْعَتَيْنِ كَانَ عَلَى الرَّضْفِ حَتَّى يَقُومَ. (رواه الترمذی والنسائی)

(635/163) It is related by Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ sat down after the first two rak'ats (i.e., performed Q'adah-i-Oola, he did it so hurriedly) as if he was sitting on hot bricks until he stood up for the third rak'at.

(Tirmizi and Nassai)

Commentary: Authorities have concluded from it that the devotee should stand up quickly after reciting only the Tashahhud in Q'udah-i-Oola.

Tashahhud

(٦٣٦/١٦٤) عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ عَلَّمَنِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ التَّشَهُّدَ كَفِّي بَيْنَ كَفَيْهِ كَمَا يُعَلِّمُنِي السُّورَةَ مِنَ الْقُرْآنِ التَّحِيَّاتُ لِلَّهِ وَالصَّلَوَاتُ وَالطَّيِّبَاتُ السَّلَامُ عَلَيْكَ أَيُّهَا النَّبِيُّ وَرَحْمَةُ اللَّهِ وَبَرَكَاتُهُ السَّلَامُ عَلَيْنَا وَعَلَى عِبَادِ اللَّهِ الصَّالِحِينَ أَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَشْهَدُ أَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا عَبْدُهُ وَرَسُولُهُ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)
(636/164) It is related by Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ taught me Tashahhud in such a state that my hand was in his hands, i.e., in the way (in which) he used to teach the Surah of the Qur'an (he taught): At-tahiyyatu lillaahi was-salawaatu wat-taiyyabatu as-salaamu 'alaika ayyuhan nabeyu wa rahmatul laahi wa bara-kaatuh, as-salaamu 'alainaa wa-alaa ibaadil laahis saaliheen, ash-hudu al laa ilaaha il-lal-laah, wa ash-hudu an-na mohammadan 'abduhu wa rasuluhu (All reverence, all worship, all sanctity unto Allah. Peace be on You, O Prophet, as well as the Mercy of Allah, and His blessings. Peace be on us as well as on the pious bondsmen of Allah. I attest that there is no god save Allah, and I attest that Muhammad ﷺ is His slave and Messenger)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Of all the things the Prophet taught to the Companions, the teaching of the Qur'an received his greatest attention. Yet he taught Tashahhud (or At-tahiyyat) with the same care and solicitude as marked by his teaching of a surah of the Qur'an. The holding of the hand of Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ in his own hands by the Prophet ﷺ was, also, a part of it, and according to a report quoted by Tahawi, the Prophet ﷺ had taught it phrase by phrase to Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ in the same way as it is done when anyone wants to make a child or an illiterate person remember something. In another Tradition, reproduced in Musnad Ahmad, it is, further, stated that the Prophet ﷺ taught Tashahhud to Abdullah bin Mas'ud and bade him to teach it to others. Besides Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ, Tashahhud has been related on the authority of Sayyidina Umar ؓ, Sayyidina Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ, Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها and some other Companions as well and there is merely a variation of a word or two in all the reports. Commentators, however, are agreed that judged from the chain of narrators, the Tashahud of Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ commands preference though the other narratives, too, are correct and the Tashahud mentioned in them, can, also, be recited.

Some scholars suggest that the tashahhud represents the exchange of dialogue in the mi'raj. When the Prophet ﷺ reached there he submitted:

التَّحِيَّاتُ لِلَّهِ وَالصَّلَوَاتُ وَالطَّيِّبَاتُ

All reverence, all worship all sanctity unto Allah.

Allah said:

السَّلَامُ عَلَيْكَ أَيُّهَا النَّبِيُّ وَرَحْمَةُ اللَّهِ وَبَرَكَاتُهُ

(Peace be on you, O Prophet, the mercy of Allah and His blessings).

The Prophet ﷺ remarked:

السَّلَامُ عَلَيْنَا وَعَلَى عِبَادِ اللَّهِ الصَّالِحِينَ

(Peace be on us and on the pious slaves of Allah).

Then, he added to renew his declaration of Faith:

أَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَشْهَدُ أَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا عَبْدُهُ وَرَسُولُهُ

(I bear witness that there is no god but Allah and I bear witness that Muhammad is His slave and Messenger ﷺ).

In Sahih Bukhari it is, also, quoted on the authority of Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ that "In Tashahhud we used to recite, As-salaamu 'alaika ayyuhan nabeeyu during the lifetime of the Prophet, but after his passing away, we began to recite, As-salaamu 'ala-n-nabeeyu instead of it. But from the general practice of the Ummah it is clear that the words taught by the Prophet ﷺ, i.e., As-salaamu 'alaika ayyuhan nabeeyu were retained in their original form even after his death, and, there is, indeed, a unique joy in them for people of discernment. Now, those who strive to propound the cult about the Prophet ﷺ that he is present and seeing from the mood and form of the words of his salutation are the victims of polytheistic mentality and betray a lamentable lack of appreciation of the Arabic idiom.

INVOCATING BLESSINGS ON THE PROPHET ﷺ

After Allah, the greatest obligation on mankind, specially on the bondsmen who have attained Faith through the guidance of a Prophet ﷺ, is of the Prophet ﷺ through whose endeavours the Divine Message reached them. As far as the Muslims are concerned, the wealth of Faith has, doubtlessly, been gained by them by the merciful agency of the Last of the Prophets عليهم السلام. Prophet Muhammad ﷺ (Peace and Blessings of Allah be upon him). He is their greatest benefactor, next, of course, to Allah. Hence, as it is the claim of Allah that He should be worshiped, in the same way it is the claim of the Prophets that blessings and salutation be sent to them with all sincerity and deference, i.e., an invocation be made to Allah to magnify them further and bestow upon them His choicest favours. This is what Salah on the Prophet and Salaam mean¹. These are the offerings of love, loyalty and gratitude to these benefactors, otherwise it is obvious that they do not stand in need of our invocations.

All the same, Allah causes our blessings to be carried to them and there does take place an increase in the Divine favours on them as a result of our entreaties. But the real gain is our own. Our spiritual ties grows stronger and we become deserving of, at least, ten blessings of Allah in return for one invocation made with a sincere heart. Herein lies the main secret and advantage of Durood and Salaam.

A distinctive wisdom behind Durood and Salaam, also, is that they strike sharply at the roots of polytheism. The most reverable beings, after the almighty, are the Prophets عليهم السلام and when the command is given that durood and salaam be sent to them, i.e., supplications made to Allah to magnify them it distinctly shows that they, too, are dependent on Allah for peace and blessings, and, by virtue of the loftiness of their rank and position, they are entitled only to this much that Divine favours were invoked on them. Peace and blessings do not lie in their hands, and, this being so, it logically follows that these things do not lie in the hands of any created being for the Prophets عليهم السلام are superior to all of them and the essential element of polytheism is that gain and benediction were imagined to be in the control of anyone aside of Allah.

The Command in the Qur'an to invoke blessings on The Prophet ﷺ

Allah has commanded us in the following verse that we should invoke blessings on the Prophet ﷺ.

"Surely Allah and His angels send blessings on the Prophet. O you who believe! Send your blessings on him and salute him with a becoming salutation. (al-Ahzab, 33:56)

إِنَّ اللَّهَ وَمَلَائِكَتَهُ يُصَلُّونَ عَلَى النَّبِيِّ
يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا صَلُّوا عَلَيْهِ
وَسَلِّمُوا تَسْلِيمًا (احزاب ٥٦: ٣٣)

This verse does not qualify the command with prayer just as the Qur'an frequently commands us to praise and glorify Allah but does not restrict that command to prayer alone or outside prayer. But, the Holy Prophet ﷺ understood prayer to be the particular occasion to praise and glorify Allah (as we have seen in the hadith the origin of the tasbeeh of ruku' and sajdah in the verses:

سبح اسم ربك الاعلى and فسبح باسم ربك العظيم

Consequently, it is my humble opinion that when this was revealed the Prophet ﷺ instructed his Companions رضي الله عنهم that this command should best be obeyed in prayer in the final qa'dah (sitting posture). I base my opinion on a point raised in the next hadith where I will elucidate it.

Text

عَنْ كَعْبِ بْنِ عُجْرَةَ قَالَ سَأَلْنَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ (٦٣٧/١٦٥)

وَسَلَّمَ فَقُلْنَا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ كَيْفَ الصَّلَاةُ عَلَيْكُمْ أَهْلَ الْبَيْتِ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ قَدْ عَلِمَنَا
كَيْفَ نُسَلِّمُ عَلَيْكَ فَقَالَ قُولُوا اَللّٰهُمَّ صَلِّ عَلَى مُحَمَّدٍ وَعَلَى آلِ مُحَمَّدٍ كَمَا
صَلَّيْتَ عَلَى إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَعَلَى آلِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ إِنَّكَ حَمِيدٌ مَّجِيدٌ. اَللّٰهُمَّ بَارِكْ
عَلَى مُحَمَّدٍ وَعَلَى آلِ مُحَمَّدٍ كَمَا بَارَكْتَ عَلَى إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَعَلَى آلِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ
إِنَّكَ حَمِيدٌ مَّجِيدٌ. (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(637/165) It is related by Ka'b bin 'Ujrah رضي الله عنه "We said to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ: 'Allah has told us how to sent salutation to you (i.e., you have informed us on behalf of Allah that we should sent the salutation to you by saying, As-salaamu 'alaika ayyuhan nabeeyu wa rahmatul-laahi wa bara-kaatuh in Tashahhud); now tell us how are we to send blessings on you'. The Prophet replied: 'Do so by saying, Allaahumma sal-li-alaa Muhammadin kamaa sal-laita 'alaa Ibrahima wa-'alaa aal-i-Ibrahim in-naka hameedum majeed. Allaahumma baarik 'alaa Muhammadin wa 'alaa aal-i-Muhammadin kamaa baarakta 'alaa Ibrahima wa 'alaa aal-i-Ibrahim in-naka hameedum majeed. (O Allah, bless Muhamad and his family as You did bless Ibrahim and his family: Verily, You are the Praiseworthy, the Majestic. O Allah! Favour Muhammad ﷺ and his family as You have favoured Ibrahim and his family; Verily You are the Praiseworthy, the Majestic)

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In this narrative of K'ab رضي الله عنه it is not mentioned whether the above invocation is to be recited during prayer or apart from it. But another Tradition, bearing almost the same subject-matter, is related on the authority of Abu Mas'ud Ansari رضي الله عنه, and, in some versions of it, it is stated that the question was put to the Prophet ﷺ in these words:

"Messenger of Allah! When we send blessings on you during prayer, how it is to be done¹. "

كَيْفَ نُصَلِّيْ عَلَيْكَ إِذَا نَحْنُ
صَلِّينَا عَلَيْكَ فِي صَلَاتِنَا

It clearly shows that the enquiry of the Companions رضي الله عنهم was about the recitation of durood in prayer. This much they had already learnt from the Prophet ﷺ that the prayer was the special occasion for the recitation of durood.

It is, moreover, related by Haakim in Mustadark, on the authority of Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه:

"One should recite Tashahhud in prayer (i.e., in the last Q'adah). then send blessings on the Prophet, and, then, supplicate for oneself.¹

يَتَشَهَّدُ الرَّجُلُ ثُمَّ يُصَلِّي عَلَى
النَّبِيِّ ثُمَّ يَدْعُو النَّفْسِ

Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه surely, would have said so only on hearing it from the sacred Prophet ﷺ, and not on his own that Durood was to be recited after Tashahhud in prayer.

It should now be clear that it was from the Prophet ﷺ that the Companions رضي الله عنهم had come to know that the special occasion for the compliance of the Commandment contained in *Sura Al-Ahzab*² concerning the sending of blessings on and salutation to the Prophet ﷺ was prayer, and, that too, is the last Q'adah. After that, they enquired from him how and in what words were they to do it and he taught them Durood Ibrahim which we recite in our prayers.

Meaning of 'Aal' in Durood Sharif

We have translated the word Aal, occurring four times in the aforementioned Druood Ibrahim as 'family'. In fact, in the Arabic language, particularly in the idiom of the Qur'an and the Traditions, all those who are connected to a person in a special way are called his Aal, whether this connection be of lineage and relationship or of association, companionship, allegiance and affection. Thus, in the literal sense, it can here, convey both the meanings. But, as the narrative of Abu Humayd Sa'idi we are now going to discuss, shows Aal, in the present context, denotes only the Prophet's عليهم السلام family, i.e., his wives and descendants.

(٦٣٨/١٦٦) عَنْ أَبِي حُمَيْدٍ السَّاعِدِيِّ قَالَ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ كَيْفَ نُصَلِّي عَلَيْكَ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قُولُوا . اَللَّهُمَّ صَلِّ عَلَى مُحَمَّدٍ وَأَزْوَاجِهِ وَذُرِّيَّتِهِ كَمَا صَلَّيْتَ عَلَى إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَبَارِكْ عَلَى مُحَمَّدٍ وَأَزْوَاجِهِ وَذُرِّيَّتِهِ كَمَا بَارَكْتَ عَلَى إِبْرَاهِيمَ إِنَّكَ حَمِيدٌ مَجِيدٌ. (رواه البخاري ومسلم)

①. Fathe-el-Baari p. 305.

②. Chapter XXXIII of the Qur'an.

(638/166) It is related on the authority of Abu Humayd Sa'idi  that (once) it was enquired from the Messenger of Allah  how were they to send blessings on him. He, thereupon, replied: "Pray to Allah thus: Allaahumma sal-li-'alaa Mohammadin wa azwajihi wa Zurriyatihi kamaa sal-laita 'alaa all-i-Ibrabima wa baark 'alaa Mohammadin wa azwajihi wa zurriyatihi Kamaa barakta 'alaa all-i-Ibrahima, in-naka hameedum majeed (O God! bless Muhammad and his wives and descendant as you did bless the family of Ibrahim, and favour Muhammad and his wives and descendants as You did favour the family of Ibrahim. Verily You are the Praiseworthy, the Majestic)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The words of this Durood are slightly different from those of the preceding one, but their import, basically, is the same. According to the authorities, both of these Durood can be recited in prayer, but the common practice is to recite the former one.

In the latter, saying the words, azwajihi wa zurriyatihi have been used in the place of Aal which, apparently, settles it that the word Aal occurring in the former Tradition denotes the Prophet's  family, i.e., his pious wives and descendants, and just as they enjoyed the nobility and eminence of relationship with him which others do not, though they may be superior to them, Allah has, also, bestowed upon them the distinction of partnership in Durood and Salaam, but it does not, at all, mean that they are better than everyone else in the Ummah. It is like this when he admirers of a holy man or anyother venerable person send a gift to him their natural wish is that he and the members of his family may use it in spite of the fact that in their own judgement, some of his frineds or attendants might be worthier than his dependants. Durood and Salaam, too, are an offering of love and gratitude and these should be seen in the light of the general and instinctive impulsions of a strong emotional attachment. To raise a polemical or legalistic controversy over superiority or otherwise will be uncalled for and not in good taste.

Place And Wisdom of Durood in Prayer

As we have seen, Durood is recited at the end of prayer i.e., in the last Q'adah, after Tashahhud. The bondsman attained the blessings of Faith thanks to the teachings and endeavours of the Prophet ﷺ; he obtained the knowledge of Allah and was favoured with presence in His court and with the good fortune to exalt His name and to glorify Him which reached the culminating point at Tashahhud in the last Q'adah. Now, he is commanded that before taking his leave and supplicating for himself he make the choicest invocations for the Prophet ﷺ and his pious wives and descendants in acknowledgement of the enormous debt of gratitude he owned to him. There can be no more suitable way to express his loyalty and thankfulness, nor a better offering of love, and the slave has nothing else with him.

This discussion pertains to prayer, so we have limited ourselves to only two hadith on forms of durood. There are many other ahadith and forms of durood. You can see them, Insha Allah, in the Book of Supplications.

Supplication After Durood and Before Salaam

We have just quoted Sayyidina Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ that the devotee should recite durood after tashahhud, and, then, make a supplication. In fact the instructions to make the supplications were there even before the durood was prescribed. For it, the holy Prophet ﷺ has taught some special formulas. Below we will reproduce only three Traditions with regard to it.

(٦٣٩/١٦٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا قَرَعَ أَحَدُكُمْ مِنَ التَّشَهُّدِ الْآخِرِ فَلْيَتَعَوَّذْ بِاللَّهِ مِنْ أَرْبَعٍ مِنْ عَذَابٍ جَهَنَّمَ وَمِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ وَمِنْ فِتْنَةِ الْمَحْيَا وَالْمَمَاتِ وَمِنْ شَرِّ الْمَسِيحِ الدَّجَالِ . (رواه مسلم)

(639/167) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you completes the last Tashahhud, he should seek the protection of Allah from four things: (i) the punishment of Hell; (ii) the punishment of the grave; (iii) the trial and temptations of life and death and (iv) the evil of Dajjal." (Muslim)

(٦٤٠/١٦٨) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يُعَلِّمُهُمْ هَذَا الدُّعَاءَ كَمَا يُعَلِّمُهُمُ السُّورَةَ مِنَ الْقُرْآنِ يَقُولُ قُولُوا "اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ عَذَابِ جَهَنَّمَ وَأَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ وَأَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الْمَسِيحِ الدَّجَالِ وَأَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الْمَحْيَا وَالْمَمَاتِ . (رواه مسلم)

(640/168) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ used to teach this prayer to the Companions رضي الله عنهم in the same way as he taught a Surah of the Qur'an: Allaahumma in-ni a-'oozu-bika min 'azaab-i-jahannuma, wa a-'oozu-bika min 'azaab-il-qabr-i, wa a-'oozu-bika min fitna'til maseeh-i-dajjal, wa a-'oozubika min fitnatil mahyaa wal mamaat (O Allah! I seek refuge in You from the punishment of Hell, and from the punishment of grave, and from the calamity of Dajjal, and I seek refuge in You from the trials and temptations of life and death)." (Muslim)

Commentary: The above supplication is remarkable by all-embracing for seeking protection from the calamities of both the worlds. Protection is, first sought from the punishment of the grave and hell which is the most terrible of all the punishments, and, then, from the calamity of Dajjal which is the severest of all the calamities that are going to overtake the world and at the time of which it will be most difficult for the faith of anyone to survive. After it, an entreaty is made, in general terms, for refuge against the various trials and mischiefs of life and death which includes all major and minor sins, adversities, corruption and profligacy.

Though, in this Tradition, it is not stated for what occasion the Prophet ﷺ had taught the above supplication to be recited, from Abu Hurayrah's رضي الله عنه narrative, quoted, earlier, it is clear that the special time for it is after Tashahhud and before Salaam in the last Q'adah. It is about the same supplication that Bukhari and Muslim have transmitted a hadith by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Prophet ﷺ used to make it in prayer and add these words in the end:

اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنَ الْمَائِمِ وَمِنَ الْمَغْرَمِ .

"O Allah! I seek refuge in You from everything sinful and from the burdan of debt."

(٦٤١/١٦٩) عَنْ أَبِي بَكْرٍ الصِّدِّيقِ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ
 عَلَّمْنِي دُعَاءً أَدْعُو بِهِ فِي صَلَاتِي قَالَ قُلِ اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي ظَلَمْتُ نَفْسِي ظُلْمًا كَثِيرًا
 وَلَا يَغْفِرُ الذُّنُوبَ إِلَّا أَنْتَ فَاعْفِرْ لِي مَغْفِرَةً مِنْ عِنْدِكَ وَارْحَمْنِي إِنَّكَ أَنْتَ الْغَفُورُ الرَّحِيمُ.
 (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(641/169) It is related by Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه, "I said to the Prophet ﷺ: O Messenger of Allah! Teach me a supplication which I may make in my prayer.' He replied: "Say: Allaahumma in-ni Zalamtu nafsi zulman katheeran, wa laa yaghfiruz-zunooba il-laa anta, faghfir-lee maghfiratam min indika warhamni in-nika antal ghafoorur-rahim (Oh Allah! I have done my soul a great harm and no one can forgive sins except You; so grant me forgiveness with Your pleasure, and have pity on me. You are the Most Forgiving, the Most Merciful.)' (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the Prophet ﷺ had taught this supplication, at his request, to Sayyidina Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه for recitation in prayer. Though it is not stated in so many words that it was meant for recitation before salaam, commentators have observed that since it was the most proper time for supplication in prayer and the Prophet ﷺ had exhorted the Companions رضي الله عنهم to choose a good supplication for beseeching Allah after Tashahhud and before Salaam, and beseech Him through it, as we learnt from Abdullah bin Mas'ud's رضي الله عنه narrative given earlier, one can safely conclude that Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه had requested him to teach him a supplication for that very occasion and it was thus that the Prophet ﷺ had taught this prayer.

What is particularly worthy of note, here, is that Sayyidina Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه had repeatedly been favoured with the happy tidings of Paradise, and was, definitely, the most superior bondsman of Allah in the whole of the Ummah; his prayer was the best and most perfect among all the followers of the Prophet ﷺ so much so that the Prophet ﷺ, himself, had made him the Imam during his last illness and offered prayers behind him. He asked the Prophet ﷺ to teach him a supplication which he could supplicate to the Lord in prayer and the Prophet ﷺ taught him this supplication in response to his request. The Prophet ﷺ, as if one would say, told him, "O

Abu Bakr! Never, never imagine, even after offering prayer, that you have worshipped Allah as He should be worshipped, and have done your bit, but even after an act of worship like prayer, consider yourself to be at fault and blameworthy, and, confessing your dereliction and guiltiness before Him, beseech His pardon and mercy in these words: "O God! I have nothing to my credit, no good deed, no virtuous act, which may give me a claim to Your mercy. Forgive me my sins solely out of Your benevolence."

These supplications must be made after Tashahhud and Durood and before Salaam. It should not be difficult to learn them by heart and to know their meaning.

It is very unfortunate if we deprive ourselves of the precious teachings of the Prophet ﷺ which are worthier than the world and every thing in it.

Salaam Marking the End of Prayer

As the Prophet ﷺ has taught the Kalima of Allah-u-Akbar for the commencement of the prayer than which there can be no better kalima to mark its beginning, so, also, has he instructed that prayer should be brought to an end with:

الْسَّلَامُ عَلَيْكُمْ وَرَحْمَةُ اللَّهِ

As-Salaamu alaikum wa rahmatullah (Peace be upon you and the mercy of God).

There can, of course, be no more appropriate words for the conclusion of the prayer. Salutation, as everyone knows, is made when people meet for the first time after being away from each-other for some time. The teaching of As-salaamu alaikum wa rahmatullah denotes, or, rather, directs that the bodnsman should cut himself aloof from the world, even from those who pray with him, sitting to his left and right, and no one besides God should be present before his mind's eye when he enters into prayer by pronouncing Allah-u-Akbar and begins his submission to Allah. Throughout the prayer, it should be like that. When he has completed his prayer, after reciting Tahsahhud and Durood, and making his last supplication in the presence of Almighty in the final qadah, his inner state should be as if he had returned to this world, and to his own environment from some other planet and was meeting, again, the men or angels on both the sides of him and wishing them peace and blessings of Allah. This, in our humble opinion, is the real significance of As-salaamu alaikum wa rahmatullah.

(٦٤٢/١٧٠) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِفْتَاحُ الصَّلَاةِ الطُّهُورُ وَتَحْرِيمُهَا التَّكْبِيرُ وَتَحْلِيلُهَا التَّسْلِيمُ.

(رواه ابو داؤد والترمذى والدارمى وابن ماجه)

(642/170) It is related on the authority of Sayyidina Ali عليه السلام that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Cleanliness (i.e., wudu) is the key of prayer and the utterance of Alla-u-Akbar is its *Tahrim*¹, and the way to loosen its restrictions is to say As-salaamu alaikum wa rahmatullah." (Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Daarami, and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Three things have been stressed in the above saying:

- (i) The key, i.e., the first pre-requisite of prayer is cleanliness and wudu. Without it, the door of the divine court does not open.
- (ii) The opening Kalima of prayer is Allah-u-Akbar and all the restrictions that are peculiar to prayer (for instance, even legitimate acts like eating, drinking and conversation are forbidden till prayer lasts) come into force.
- (iii) The conclusive kalima of prayer, with which the restrictions come to an end, is As-salaamu alaikum wa rahmatullah.

(٦٤٣/١٧١) عَنْ سَعْدِ بْنِ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ قَالَ كُنْتُ أَرَى رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ

عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُسَلِّمُ عَنْ يَمِينِهِ وَعَنْ يَسَارِهِ حَتَّى أَرَى بَيَاضَ خَدَّهِ. (رواه مسلم)

(643/171) Sa'ad bin Abi Waqqas رضي الله عنه related to us, "I saw the Messenger of Allah ﷺ that he turned his face to the right and (then) to the left at the time of Salaam, and turned the face so much to the right and to the left that we could see the fair colouring of his cheeks." (Muslim)

Commentary: this very message with a slight difference of words is also relatd by Abdullah bin Hab'id رضي الله عنه in the four books and by Aamar bin Yasar in Ibn Majah.

①. The commencement of prayer when all the worldly thoughts are forbidden.

Supplication After Salaam

We have just seen the supplication the Prophet ﷺ used to make at the end of prayer, before salaam, or the prayers he taught for that occasion. Now, we shall take up the sayings showing the guidance he gave to his followers regarding the supplications and zikr (God-remembrance) after final salutation and his own usual practice.

(٦٤٤/١٧٢) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قِيلَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَيُّ الدُّعَاءِ أَسْمَعُ قَالَ جَوْفَ اللَّيْلِ الْآخِرِ وَذُبُرُ الصَّلَوَاتِ الْمَكْتُوباتِ .
(رواه الترمذی)

(644/172) Abu Umama رضی اللہ عنہ narrated (once) it was enquired from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ: Messenger of Allah! Which supplication is heard most (i.e., a supplication made at what time has the greatest likelihood of being granted). "During the latter part of the night and at the end of an obligatory prayer," replied the Prophet ﷺ. (Tirmizi)

(٦٤٥/١٧٣) عَنْ مَعَاذِ بْنِ جَبَلٍ قَالَ أَخَذَ بِيَدِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ إِنِّي لَأُحِبُّكَ يَا مَعَاذُ فَقُلْتُ وَأَنَا أُحِبُّكَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ فَلَا تَدْعُ أَنْ تَقُولَ فِي ذُبُرِ كُلِّ صَلَاةٍ "رَبِّ اعْنِنِي عَلَى ذِكْرِكَ وَشُكْرِكَ وَحُسْنِ عِبَادَتِكَ".
(رواه احمد و ابو داؤد و النسائي)

(645/173) Mu'az bin Jabal رضی اللہ عنہ said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ held him by his hand and said, 'O Mu'az, I love you! Mu'az رضی اللہ عنہ said to him "Messenger of Allah! I too love you!" he said, "So (because of that I say to you) be sure to make this supplication to Allah after every prayer:

رَبِّ اعْنِنِي عَلَى ذِكْرِكَ وَشُكْرِكَ وَحُسْنِ عِبَادَتِكَ

"O Allah! help me in remembring You, in being grateful to You and in the worshipping You well." (Ahmad, Abu Dawood, Nasa'i) (٦٤٦/١٧٤) عَنْ ثَوْبَانَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا انْصَرَفَ مِنْ صَلَاتِهِ اسْتَغْفَرَ ثَلَاثًا وَقَالَ اللَّهُمَّ أَنْتَ السَّلَامُ وَمِنْكَ السَّلَامُ تَبَارَكْتَ يَا ذَا الْجَلَالِ وَالْإِكْرَامِ .

(رواه مسلم)

(646/174) It is stated by Thauban رضي الله عنه that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ finished offering his prayers he sought forgiveness of Allah three times and then made this supplication:

اللَّهُمَّ أَنْتَ السَّلَامُ وَمِنْكَ السَّلَامُ تَبَارَكْتَ يَا ذَا الْجَلَالِ وَالْإِكْرَامِ

"O Allah ! You are Peace, and peace comes from You. Blessed are You, O Possessor of glory and honour. (Muslim)

Commentary: This hadith tells us that after he had offered prayers the Prophet ﷺ would say استغفر الله three times. In fact, it is a sign of perfection of worship that a man having offered prayers considers his effort imperfect and regards himself responsible for that. So, he seeks the forgiveness of Allah.

The short supplication that Sayyidina Thauban رضي الله عنه has spoken of is exactly that much. The additional words commonly used after السلام ومنك السلام are later additions and not taught by the Prophet ﷺ, these additional words are:

وإليك يرجع السلام محينا ربنا بالسلام وادخلنا الجنة دار السلام

The only words taught by the Prophet ﷺ are repeated here:

اللَّهُمَّ أَنْتَ السَّلَامُ وَمِنْكَ السَّلَامُ تَبَارَكْتَ يَا ذَا الْجَلَالِ وَالْإِكْرَامِ

But Allah knows best.

(٦٤٧/١٧٥) عَنِ الْمُغِيرَةِ بْنِ شُعْبَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يَقُولُ فِي دُبُرِ كُلِّ صَلَاةٍ مَكْتُوبَةٍ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَحْدَهُ لَا شَرِيكَ لَهُ لَهُ الْمُلْكُ وَلَهُ الْحَمْدُ وَهُوَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ . اللَّهُمَّ لَا مَانِعَ لِمَا أَعْطَيْتَ وَلَا مُعْطِيَ لِمَا مَنَعْتَ وَلَا يَنْفَعُ ذَا الْجَدِّ مِنْكَ الْجَدُّ .
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(647/175) Mughirah bin Shu'bah رضي الله عنه narrated that after every fard payer the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to say: La ilaaha ill-allaah wahduhu laa sharika-lahu, lahul mulku wa lahul hamdu, wa hua 'alaa kulli shai'in qadeer, Allahumma laa maani'a lima ataaita wa laa mu'ti lima mana'ta wa laa yanfa'uzal-jaddi minkal jadd (There is no one worthy of worship save Allah. He is One and without a partner. Unto Him belongs Sovereignty and unto Him belongs all praise. In His Hand is all good and He has power over all things. O Allah! No one can withhold what You bestow, and no one can bestow what You decide to withhold, and the prosperity of no prosperous one can make him independent of You i.e., even the wealthiest and most powerful person is a beggar at the door of Your mercy."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٦٤٨/١٧٦) عَنْ أَبِي الزُّبَيْرِ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ عَبْدَ اللَّهِ بْنَ الزُّبَيْرِ يَخْطُبُ عَلَى هَذَا الْمِنْبَرِ وَهُوَ يَقُولُ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ إِذَا سَلَّمَ فِي ذُبْرِ الصَّلَاةِ وَالصَّلَوَاتِ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَحْدَهُ لَا شَرِيكَ لَهُ لَهُ الْمُلْكُ وَلَهُ الْحَمْدُ وَهُوَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ لَا حَوْلَ وَلَا قُوَّةَ إِلَّا بِاللَّهِ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَلَا نَعْبُدُ إِلَّا إِيَّاهُ لَهُ النِّعْمَةُ وَلَهُ الْفَضْلُ وَلَهُ الثَّنَاءُ الْحَسَنُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ مُخْلِصِينَ لَهُ الدِّينَ وَلَوْ كَرِهَ الْكَافِرُونَ . (رواه مسلم)

(648/176) Abu Az-Zubayr the Taba'ee has said that Abdullah bin Zubayr said while delivering the sermon on this pulpit that after the Messenger of Allah ﷺ turned in salutation and ended prayers, he would recite:

لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَحْدَهُ لَا شَرِيكَ لَهُ لَهُ الْمُلْكُ وَلَهُ الْحَمْدُ وَهُوَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ لَا حَوْلَ وَلَا قُوَّةَ إِلَّا بِاللَّهِ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَلَا نَعْبُدُ إِلَّا إِيَّاهُ لَهُ النِّعْمَةُ وَلَهُ الْفَضْلُ وَلَهُ الثَّنَاءُ الْحَسَنُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ مُخْلِصِينَ لَهُ الدِّينَ وَلَوْ كَرِهَ الْكَافِرُونَ

"There is no God but Allah alone Who has no partner. To Him belongs the kingdom, to Him praise is due, and He is omnipotent. There is no might or power except in Allah. There is no god but Allah. And we do not worship any except Him. To Him belongs wealth, to Him belongs grace, and to Him is worthy praise accorded. There is no god but Allah to Whom we are sincere in devotion even though the disbelievers have it.

(Muslim)

(٦٤٩/١٧٧) عَنْ سَعْدِ أَنَّهُ كَانَ يُعَلِّمُ بَنِيهِ هَؤُلَاءِ الْكَلِمَاتِ وَيَقُولُ إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يَتَعَوَّذُ بِهِنَّ ذُبْرِ الصَّلَاةِ . اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنِّیْ اَعُوْذُ بِكَ مِنَ الْجُبْنِ وَاَعُوْذُ بِكَ مِنَ الْبُخْلِ وَاَعُوْذُ بِكَ مِنْ اَرْدَلِ الْعُمْرِ وَاَعُوْذُ بِكَ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الدُّنْيَا وَعَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ . (رواه البخاری)

(649/177) Sa'ad bin Abi Waqqas رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ related to us that he used to teach the Kalimas of "refuge" to his children and tell them that he had heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ seek the refuge of Allah after prayer in these words: Allahumma in-ni- a'uzubika minal jubni, wa a'uzhubika minal bukhli wa a'uthubika min arzail-'umri' wa a'uthubika min fitnatid-duniya wa' athaabil qabr (Oh Allah! I seek refuge in You from stinginess, and I seek refuge in You from worthless age (when he organs and senses lose their function through old age and a man becomes unwanted and a bruden on others), and I seek refuge in You from the ills and evils of life and the punishment of death).

(Bukhari)

(٦٥٠/١٧٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ سَبَّحَ اللَّهَ فِي ذُبُرِ كُلِّ صَلَاةٍ ثَلَاثًا وَثَلَاثِينَ وَحَمَدَ اللَّهَ ثَلَاثًا وَثَلَاثِينَ وَكَبَّرَ اللَّهَ ثَلَاثًا وَثَلَاثِينَ فَبِتِلْكَ تِسْعَةً وَتَسْعُونَ وَقَالَ تَمَامَ الْمِائَةِ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَحْدَهُ لَا شَرِيكَ لَهُ لَهُ الْمُلْكُ وَلَهُ الْحَمْدُ وَهُوَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ غُفِرَتْ خَطَايَاهُ وَإِنْ كَانَتْ مِثْلَ زَبَدِ الْبَحْرِ . (رواه مسلم)

(650/178) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever, after every prayer, recites Subhan Allah (Glory to Allah) 33 times, and, in the same way, Al-hamdu lillaah (Praise to Allah) 33 times, and Allah-u-Akbar (Allah is Great) 33 times, — these make 99 Kalimas, and, then, in order to complete the figure of 100, says لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَحْدَهُ لَا شَرِيكَ لَهُ لَهُ الْمُلْكُ وَلَهُ الْحَمْدُ وَهُوَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ La ilaaha illallahu wahduhu laa sharika-lahu, laahul mulku wa laahul hamdu, wahuwa 'ala kulli shai'in qadeer (No one is worthy of worship save Allah. He is One and without a partner. Unto Him belongs Sovereignty and unto Him belongs all praise. In His Hand is all good and He has power over all things) all his sins will be forgiven even if they be as profuse as the foam of the sea." (Muslim)

Commentary: It is necessary to bear in mind, that, what has been said earlier about glad tidings on the remission of sins owing to a virtuous deed.

In this Tradition we are exhorted to recite 33 times each the 3 Kalimas of Subhan Allah, Al-hamdu lillah and Allah-u-Akbar, and, then once the Kalima of La ilaaha ill-allaahu wahaduhu laa sharika lahu — in order to attain the round figure of 100. But in the narrative of some other Companions like Ka'b bin 'Ujrah ؓ it is stated that Subhan Allah and Al-hamdu lillah should be recited 33 times and Allah-u-Akbar, 34 times, arriving, thus at the total of 100.

In fact, the Prophet ﷺ has, sometimes, spoken of the one, and sometimes, of the other method of reciting it. Both of these are correct and based on unquestionable evidence, and one can adopt either of them according to one's inclination. The Prophet ﷺ has, also, advised the recitation of the three Kalimas at the time of retiring to bed. In common parlance, it is known as Tasbih Fatimah.

(٦٥١/١٧٩) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا سَلَّمَ لَمْ يَقْعُدْ إِلَّا مِقْدَارَ مَا يَقُولُ اللَّهُمَّ أَنْتَ السَّلَامُ وَمِنْكَ السَّلَامُ تَبَارَكْتَ يَا ذَا الْجَلَالِ وَالْإِكْرَامِ .
(رواه مسلم)

(651/179) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ did not sit, after making the finishing salutation (Salaam), but for so long as to say: Allaahumma antas-salaamu wa minkas-salaamu, tabarrakta yaa zal-jalaal-i-wal ikraam (Oh God! You are Peace, and peace comes from You, Blessed are You, O Owner of Majesty and Glory.)
(Muslim)

Commentary: Apparently, the above Tradition tells that, after salaam, the Prophet sat only for such a little time as it took to recite Allaahumma antas-salaam —, and, then, he stood up. But from the Traditions quoted earlier it seems that he, also, recited some other prayers and Kalimas of zikr after the finishing salutation and exhorted others, as well, to do the same.

Some authorities have tried to explain the divergence by suggesting that the Prophet did not recite the other formulas of zikr and prayer immediatel after Salaam but when he had completed sunnah and nafl rak'ats, and his exhortation to the Ummah to recite them, too, was for that occasion.

From the words of most of the sayings discussed above as well as of numerous other reports bearing upon the same subject, however, it is evident that the Prophet ﷺ recited these prayers and Kalimas of zikr soon after Salaam. We, on our part, believe that the correct position, in this regard is what has been stated by Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه. He Writes:

"It is better that these supplications and formulas of Zikr are recited before the sunnahs that are to be offered up immediately after salaam for some of the Traditions belonging to that category denote it explicitly while the words of the others seem to convey the same impression. As for Sayyidah Ayshah's رضي الله عنها narrative the Prophet ﷺ did not sit after salaam but for so long as to say Alaahumma antas-Salaam —, it can be interpreted in various ways. It is possible that what she meant was that the Prophet ﷺ sat in the posture of prayer only for that little while after salaam, and, then, changed the manner of sitting and turned to the left or the right or towards the Muqtadis, as some other reports, also, indicate, as well as that it was not his regular practice but, occasionally, it, too, happened that the Prophet ﷺ got up only after reciting Allaahumma antas-Salaam — when he had completed the finishing salute, and it was done with the object of impressing upon the followers that the recitation of these formulas of prayer and zikr was not obligatory or Wajib but supererogatory and commendable."¹

Note: We conclude that the recitation of these supplications after salaam is confirmed by the teachings as well as the practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ and there can be no two opinions about it. But the habit of the Muqtadis to consider themselves bound to follow the Imam in supplication after salaam and or regard it unbecoming to get up before him though they may have the need to leave earlier is without foundation and calls for correction. The band between Imamat and *Iqtida*² ends with salaam, and it is not necessary to follow the Imam after it. One can get up before the Imam after making a short supplication, or go on praying as long as one likes.

SUNNAH AND NAWAFIL PRAYER

The five daily prayers are obligatory in Islam. Apart from them, the Prophet ﷺ has exhorted us to offer some other Rak'at as well before or after the Fard prayer or at some other time. Of these, the prayers he strongly advised or took pains to observe himself are, commonly, known as Sunnah while the rest as *Nawafil*¹.

The apparent wisdom behind the Sunnah and Nawafil that are to be offered before the Fard is that. Fard prayer is a very special kind of presence in the Court of the Almighty, and, that is why, it is observed congregationally in the mosque. Therefore, before engaging in it one should get attuned inwardly to the solemn event and develop an affinity with the celestial world by offering two or four Rak'at individually. As for the Sunnah and Nafl Ra'kat that are required to be offered after the obligatory prayer the wisdom seems to be that amends be made through them for the deficiency that might have remained in the Fard.

There are some obligatory prayers before or after which we are not called upon, or positively forbidden, to offer Sunnah or Nafl Rak'ats. The significance of it will be discussed later, at the appropriate place.

Besides the Sunnah and Nafl prayers which are offered before or after an obligatory prayer, there are a few like Chasht in the day and Tahajjud in the night that occupy a unique place in the Islamic design of worship. For the seekers of the countenance of Allah and His propinquity these prayers are an exceptional means to advancement and distinction.

①. plural of Nafl, meaning supererogatory. In the Traditions all the prayers, aside of the Fard are called Nawafil.

Sunnat-i-Muakkadah

(٦٥٢/١٨٠) عَنْ أُمِّ حَبِيبَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ صَلَّى فِي يَوْمٍ وَلَيْلَةٍ ثِنْتَى عَشْرَةَ رَكْعَةً بَنَى لَهُ بَيْتٌ فِي الْجَنَّةِ أَرْبَعًا قَبْلَ الظُّهْرِ وَرَكْعَتَيْنِ بَعْدَهَا وَرَكْعَتَيْنِ بَعْدَ الْمَغْرِبِ وَرَكْعَتَيْنِ بَعْدَ الْعِشَاءِ وَرَكْعَتَيْنِ قَبْلَ صَلَاةِ الْفَجْرِ (رواه الترمذی)

(652/180) Umm Habibah رضى الله عنها related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever will offer 12 Rak'at during the the day and the night (apart from the Fard prayers), for him a mansion will be built in Heaven. (The 12 Rak'ats are): 4 before and 2 after Zuhr, 2 after Maghrib, 2 after Isha, and 2 before Fajr." (Tirmizi)

This Tradition is also mentioned in Muslim but the number of rak'at are not mentioned there.

Commentary: This hadith mentions four raka'at to be offered before the Fard of Zuhr. A hadith of the same import narated Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها is transmitted by Sunan Nasa'i and others. Besides, the hadith transmitted by Muslim and narrated by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها tells us of the practice of the Prophet ﷺ.

"He offered four raka'at at home before the Zuhr prayer which he offered in the mosque and then came home and offered two rak'at. Similarly, after he had led the Maghrib in the mosque, he came home and offered two raka'at and after having led the Isha prayer, he came home and offered two raka'at."

Finally she said that before the Fajr, he offered two raka'at at home after Subh Sadiq (dawn). However, in some ahadith the prayers before Zuhr are mentioned as comprising two raka'at not four. We will see those ahadith.

(٦٥٣/١٨١) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ صَلَّيْتُ مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ رَكْعَتَيْنِ قَبْلَ الظُّهْرِ وَرَكْعَتَيْنِ بَعْدَهَا وَرَكْعَتَيْنِ بَعْدَ الْمَغْرِبِ فِي بَيْتِهِ وَرَكْعَتَيْنِ بَعْدَ الْعِشَاءِ فِي بَيْتِهِ قَالَ وَحَدَّثَنِي حَفْصَةُ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يُصَلِّي رَكْعَتَيْنِ خَفِيفَتَيْنِ حِينَ يَطْلُعُ الْفَجْرُ. (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(653/181) Ibn Umar رضي الله عنه said, "I prayed along with the Messenger of Allah ﷺ two raka'at before and two raka'at after Zuhr prayer, two after Maghrib in his house, and two after Isha in his house." He said that (his sister, the mother of the Believers) Sayyidah Hafsa رضي الله عنها told him that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to pray two short raka'at after subh Sadiq (dawn).

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Taking into account all the reports in this connection it would appear that the Prophet ﷺ usually offered 4 raka'ats before Zuhr, and, occasionally, only 2. Both of these courses were adopted by the Prophet ﷺ and whichever of the two is followed, the Sunnah will be fulfilled. Our own experience is that some theologians, generally offer 4 rak'at before Zuhr but when the time for the congregation is short, they rest content with 2 rak'at.

Since the sacred Prophet was very particular about the 10 or 12 rak'ats of Sunnah mentioned in these Traditions and laid a great stress on them, these are known as *Sunnat Mukkadah*¹. Among them he attached the greatest importance to the Sunnah of Fajr.

Special Significance of Sunnats of Fajr

(٦٥٤/١٨٢) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ

وَسَلَّمَ رَكْعَتَا الْفَجْرِ خَيْرٌ مِنَ الدُّنْيَا وَمَا فِيهَا. (رواه مسلم)

(654/182) It is narrated by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "The two raka'at (sunnah) of Fajr are better than this world and what it contains." (Muslim)

Commentary: It means that the reward awaiting anyone in the hereafter against the two raka'at sunnah of Fajr is more valuable than the world and what it contains. These things are all perishable while the reward is lasting. We will come to know of this in the next world. Insha Allah.

(٦٥٥/١٨٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا

تَدْعُوهُمَا وَإِنْ طَرَدْتُمُ الْخَيْلَ (رواه ابوداؤد)

①. Denoting the class of prayers which the Prophet used to offer regularly and has ordered his followers to do the same. One must not omit them without a cogent reason.

(655/183) it is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Do not omit the 2 rak'ats of the Sunnats of Fajr even though the circumstances be that horses were chasing you (i.e., you were being carried along in a journey on galloping horses)." (Abu Dawood)

(٦٥٦/١٨٤) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا قَالَتْ لَمْ يَكُنِ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَى شَيْءٍ مِنَ النَّوَافِلِ أَشَدَّ تَعَاهُداً مِنْهُ عَلَى رَكْعَتَيِ الْفَجْرِ.

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(656/184) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ did not show more anxiety for any other Sunnah or Nafl prayers than the 2 rak'at before Fajr.

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٦٥٧/١٨٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ لَمْ يُصَلِّ رَكْعَتَيِ الْفَجْرِ فَلْيُصَلِّهُمَا بَعْدَ مَا تَطْلُعُ الشَّمْسُ.

(رواه الترمذى)

(657/185) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever may not have offered the sunnah of Fajr should do so after sunrise." (Tirmizi)

Superiority of Sunnah and Nawafil at Other Times

(٦٥٨/١٨٦) عَنْ أَبِي أَيُّوبَ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَرْبَعٌ قَبْلَ الظُّهْرِ لَيْسَ فِيهِنَّ تَسْلِيمٌ تَفْتَحُ لَهُنَّ أَبْوَابُ السَّمَاءِ.

(رواه ابوداؤد وابن ماجه)

(658/186) It is related by Abu Ayub Ansari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The gates of Paradise open for the for Rak'at before Zuhr during which Salaam is not carried out (i.e., which are offered together)." (Abu Dawood and Ibn Majah) (٦٥٩/١٨٧) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ إِذَا لَمْ يُصَلِّ أَرْبَعًا قَبْلَ الظُّهْرِ صَلَّى عَنْهَا.

(رواه الترمذى)

(659/187) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها relates that the practice of the Prophet ﷺ was that if he had not offered the four rak'at before Zuhr he did so after he had completed the Zuhr. (Tirmizi)

Commentary: In the report quoted in Ibn Majah it is made clear that in such a case the Prophet ﷺ offered the four pre-Zuhr rak'at after he had offered the two rak'at of Sunnah after Zuhr.

(٦٦٠/١٨٨) عَنْ أُمِّ حَبِيبَةَ قَالَتْ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ حَافِظَ عَلَى أَرْبَعِ رَكَعَاتٍ قَبْلَ الظُّهْرِ وَأَرْبَعٍ بَعْدَهَا حَرَّمَ اللَّهُ عَلَى النَّارِ .
(رواه احمد و الترمذى و ابوداؤد و النسائى و ابن ماجه)

(660/188) It is related on the authority of Umm Habiba رضى الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever regularly offers 4 rak'at before and 4 after Zuhr, Allah will forbid the Fire of Hell for him." (Musnad Ahmad, Abu Dawood, Nasai and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Some commentators have observed that since it is established by authentic hadith that the Prophet ﷺ, generally, offered 2 rak'at of Sunnah after Zuhr, as is, also, borne out by the aforementioned narratives of Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها, Sayyidina Abdullah bin Umar رضى الله عنه and Sayyidah Umm Habiba رضى الله عنها, the Muakkadah Sunnat after Zuhr are only 2 rak'at. The manner of offering 4 rak'ats will, therefore, be to say 2 Nafl rak'at in addition to the 2 Muakkadah rak'at.

Note: In our country it is quite common to offer an additional 2 Rak'at of Nafl after the Sunnah of Zuhr, but people, generally, offer these Nafl, as all other Nafl rak'at, in the sitting posture and believe that Nafl rak'at should always be offered sitting, though it is altogether wrong. A Tradition clearly has it that a prayer offered in the sitting position fetches half the reward of the one offered standing.

(٦٨١/١٨٩) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ رَحِمَ اللَّهُ إِمْرَأً صَلَّى قَبْلَ الْعَصْرِ أَرْبَعًا .
(رواه احمد و الترمذى و ابوداؤد)

(681/189) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin Umar رضى الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Blessings of the Lord be on the bondsman who offers 4 rak'at before Asr."

(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It contains the Prophet's ﷺ exhortation about the 4 rak'at of Nafl before the Asr prayer and his usual practice is reported to have been the same, though it, too, is related that, sometimes, he said only 2 rak'at before Asr.

(٦٦٢/١٩٠) عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ عَمَّارٍ بْنِ يَاسِرٍ قَالَ رَأَيْتُ عَمَّارَ بْنَ يَاسِرٍ يُصَلِّي بَعْدَ الْمَغْرِبِ سِتَّ رَكَعَاتٍ وَقَالَ رَأَيْتُ حَبِيبِي صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُصَلِّي بَعْدَ الْمَغْرِبِ سِتَّ رَكَعَاتٍ وَقَالَ مَنْ صَلَّى بَعْدَ الْمَغْرِبِ سِتَّ رَكَعَاتٍ غُفِرَتْ لَهُ ذُنُوبُهُ وَإِنْ كَانَتْ مِثْلَ زَبَدِ الْبَحْرِ.

(رواه الطبرانی)

(662/190) It is related by Muhammad bin Ammar bin Yasir "I saw my father, Ammar bin Yasir, that he used to offer 6 rak'ats after Maghrib. He said, 'I have seen my beloved, the Prophet, offering 6 rak'at after Maghrib and saying that whoever offers 6 rak'at after Mahgrib, his sins will be forgiven even if they are as profuse as the foam of the sea.' (Tabarani)

Commentary: Two Rak'at after Maghrib are Sunnat Muakkadah, as we have already seen in the Traditions related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها, Sayyidina Abdulah bin Umar رضى الله عنه and Sayyidah Umm Habibah رضى الله عنها. If, besides, 4 rak'at of Nafl are also offered, it will make 6 rak'at and the bondsman will become worthy of the glad tidings given in the above Tradition.

(٦٦٣/١٩١) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا قَالَتْ مَا صَلَّى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْعِشَاءَ قَطُّ فَدَخَلَ عَلَى إِلَّا صَلَّى أَرْبَعَ رَكَعَاتٍ أَوْ سِتَّ رَكَعَاتٍ.

(رواه ابو داود)

(663/191) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها "It never happened that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ came to my house (to rests) after offering Isha prayer and he did not offered four or six raka'at." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Two rak'at after Isha are Sunnat Muwakkadah as shown in the previously mentioned narratives of Umm-i-Habiba, Abdullah bin Umar رضى الله عنه and Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها but from the above report it appears that the Prophet, also, offered 2, and, sometimes, 4 rak'at in addition to the 2 rak'at of Sunnat Muwakkadah.

Witr

(٦٦٤/١٩٢) عَنْ خَارِجَةَ بْنِ خُذَافَةَ قَالَ خَرَجَ عَلَيْنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَقَالَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ أَمَدَكُمْ بِصَلَاةٍ هِيَ خَيْرٌ لَكُمْ مِنْ حُمْرِ النَّعَمِ الْوِتْرِ

جَعَلَهُ اللَّهُ لَكُمْ فِيمَا بَيْنَ صَلَاةِ الْعِشَاءِ إِلَى أَنْ يَطْلُعَ الْفَجْرُ.

(رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد)

(664/192) Kharijah bin Huzafa رضی اللہ عنہ relates "One day the Messenger of Allah ﷺ came out (of his apartment) and, addressing us, said: 'God has bestowed upon you the gift of another prayer which is better for you than the red camels (on which you place the highest value). It is Witr. God has placed it for you after the Isha, till day-break (i.e., it can be offered at any time during it)."

(Tirmizi and Abu Dawood)

(٦٦٥/١٩٣) عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ

الْوِتْرُ حَقٌّ فَمَنْ لَمْ يُؤْتِرْ فَلَيْسَ مِنَّا الْوِتْرُ حَقٌّ فَمَنْ لَمْ يُؤْتِرْ فَلَيْسَ مِنَّا الْوِتْرُ حَقٌّ

(رواه ابو داؤد)

فَمَنْ لَمْ يُؤْتِرْ فَلَيْسَ مِنَّا

(665/193) It is related by Buraidah رضی اللہ عنہ "I myself heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, 'Witr is truth: whoever does not offer witr is not one of us. Witr is truth; whoever does not offer witr is not one of us. Witr is truth; whoever does not offer witr is not one of us'. (He said it thrice)."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: These, obviously, are the last words by way of warning and exhortation as regards Witr. It is from Traditions like it that Imam Abu Hanifah has concluded that Witr is not merely a Sunnah but Wajib and its place is between an obligatory prayer and Sunnat Muakkadah.

(٦٦٦/١٩٤) عَنْ أَبِي مَعِيْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ نَامَ

عَنِ الْوِتْرِ أَوْ نَسِيَ فَلْيُصَلِّ إِذَا ذَكَرَ أَوْ اسْتَيْقَظَ. (رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد و ابن ماجه)

(666/194) It is related by Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever remains asleep at the time of Witr or forgets it should offer it when he wakes up or remembers."

(Tirmizi, Abu Dawood and Ibn Majah)

(٦٦٧/١٩٥) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ اجْعَلُوا آخِرَ

(رواه مسلم)

صَلَاةِكُمْ بِاللَّيْلِ وَتَرَا.

(667/195) It is related by Ibn Umar رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Make witr your last prayer of the night (i.e., among the prayers of the night it should be the last to be offered)." (Muslim)

(٦٦٨/١٩٦) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ خَافَ أَنْ لَا يَقُومَ مِنْ آخِرِ اللَّيْلِ فَلْيُوتِرْ أَوَّلَهُ وَمَنْ طَمَعَ أَنْ يَقُومَ آخِرَهُ فَلْيُوتِرْ آخِرَ اللَّيْلِ فَإِنَّ صَلَاةَ آخِرِ اللَّيْلِ مَشْهُودَةٌ وَذَلِكَ أَفْضَلُ . (رواه مسلم)

(668/196) It is related by Jabir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever is unsure that he would wake up during the last part of the night should offer witr at the beginning of it (i.e., with Isha), and whoever is confident that he will get up (for Tahajjud) during the last part of the night should offer witr then (i.e., after Tahajjud) for the Angels of Mercy are present at that time and it is a time of great superiority." (Muslim)

Commentary: The general command about witr is what is contained in the two aforementioned Traditions, i.e., it ought to be offered after and at the end of all the nightly prayers including Tahajjud, and, further, that whoever may be sure of waking up in the last hours of the night, should offer it not at the beginning of the night but towards the end of it, with Tahajjud, and whoever is not so sure, should do so after Isha. The Prophet ﷺ, however, had advised some Companions رضي الله عنهم to offer witr at the beginning of the night owing to their special circumstances. Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه being one of them. It is related, on his authority, in Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim "among the few exceptional exhortations of the Prophet ﷺ to me one was that I offer witr at the beginning of the night."

(٦٦٩/١٩٧) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَبِي قُبَيْسٍ قَالَ سَأَلْتُ عَائِشَةَ بِكُمْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُوتِرُ؟ قَالَتْ كَانَ يُوتِرُ بِأَرْبَعٍ وَثَلَاثٍ وَسِتٍّ وَثَلَاثٍ وَثَمَانٍ وَثَلَاثٍ وَعَشْرٍ وَثَلَاثٍ وَلَمْ يَكُنْ يُوتِرُ بِأَنْقَاصٍ مِنْ سَبْعٍ وَلَا بِأَكْثَرٍ مِنْ ثَلَاثٍ عَشْرَةً . (رواه ابوداؤد)

(669/197) Abdullah bin Abi Qubays narrates "I enquired from Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها how many rak'at did the Messenger of Allah ﷺ offer in witr, and she replied: "Four and three, and six and three, and eight and three, and ten and three, but never less than seven or more than thirteen rak'at in witr." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Some Companions رضي الله عنهم used to describe the joint prayers of Tahajjud and *Witr*s, as Witr, and such was, also, the case with Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها. In the above Tradition she has given the reply to Abdullah bin Abu Qays enquiry on the same principle. What she, actually, means is that before the three rak'at of Witr the sacred Prophet ﷺ sometimes offered only four rak'at of Tahajjud, sometimes six, sometimes eight, and sometimes ten. But he never offered less than four nor more than ten rak'at in Tahajjud and, after these rak'at of Tahajjud, he offered the three rak'at of witr.

Recital of Qur'an in Witr

(٦٧٠/١٩٨) عَنْ عَبْدِ الْعَزِيزِ بْنِ جُرَيْجٍ قَالَ سَأَلْنَا عَائِشَةَ بَايَ شَيْئٍ كَانَ يُؤْتَرُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ؟ قَالَتْ كَانَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الْأُولَى بِسَبْحِ اسْمِ رَبِّكَ الْأَعْلَى وَفِي الثَّانِيَةِ بِقُلْ يَا أَيُّهَا الْكَافِرُونَ وَفِي الثَّالِثَةِ بِقُلْ هُوَ اللَّهُ أَحَدٌ وَالْمُعَوِّذَتَيْنِ .
(رواه الترمذی و ابوداؤد)

(670/198) Abul Aziz bin Jurayj (Taba'ee) has narrated that (once) they asked Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها what surahs the Messenger of Allah ﷺ recited in Witr. She replied: 'He recited Sabbihisma rabbikal a'alaa in the first Rak'at, Qul-yaa aiyyuhal kafiroon in the second and Qul huwallaahu ahad and Mu'awwazateyn (i.e., Qul a'oozu birabbil falaq, and Qul a'oozu birabbinaas) in the third." (Tirmizi and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Ubayy bin Ka'b and Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنهم have, also, related that the Prophet ﷺ used to recite Sabbihisma rabbikal a'alaa in the first, Qul ya aiyyuhal kafiroon in the second, and Qul huwallaahu ahad in the third rak'ats of witr, but they have not mentioned the recital of Mu'awwazateyn in the third rak'at. It appears from the above narrative that, occasionally, he, also, recited Mu'awwazateyn, along with *surah Ikhals*¹, in the third rak'at.

①. Meaning Qul huwallahu ahad

Qunoot of Witr

(٦٧١/١٩٩) عَنِ الْحَسَنِ بْنِ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ عَلَّمَنِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَلِمَاتٍ أَقُولُهُنَّ فِي قُنُوتِ الْوُتْرِ اللَّهُمَّ اهْدِنِي فِي مَنْ هَدَيْتَ وَعَافِنِي فِي مَنْ عَافَيْتَ وَتَوَلَّنِي فِي مَنْ تَوَلَّيْتَ وَبَارِكْ لِي فِيمَا أَعْطَيْتَ وَقِنِي شَرَّ مَا قَضَيْتَ فَإِنَّكَ تَقْضِي وَلَا يُقْضَى عَلَيْكَ إِنَّهُ لَا يَدُلُّ مَنْ وَالَيْتَ تَبَارَكْتَ رَبَّنَا وَتَعَالَيْتَ

(رواه الترمذى و ابو داؤد و النسائى وابن ماجه والدارمى)

(671/199) It is related by Hasan bin Ali رضي الله عنه "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ taught me a few supplications which I make in the Qunoot of witr, (these are):

اللَّهُمَّ اهْدِنِي فِي مَنْ هَدَيْتَ وَعَافِنِي فِي مَنْ عَافَيْتَ وَتَوَلَّنِي فِي مَنْ تَوَلَّيْتَ وَبَارِكْ لِي فِيمَا أَعْطَيْتَ وَقِنِي شَرَّ مَا قَضَيْتَ فَإِنَّكَ تَقْضِي وَلَا يُقْضَى عَلَيْكَ إِنَّهُ لَا يَدُلُّ مَنْ وَالَيْتَ تَبَارَكْتَ رَبَّنَا وَتَعَالَيْتَ

Allaahum-mahdini feeman hadaita, wa 'aafini feeman 'aafaita, wa tawal-lani feeman tawal-laita, wa baarik li feemaa a'taita, wa qini shar-rama qadaita, fa-in-naka taqdhee walaa yuqdhaa 'alaika, in-nahoo laa yazil-luman waalaita, tabarakta rabbana wa ta'aalait

(O Allah! Guide us to the right path from among those whom You have guided, and accord us security from among those whom You have accorded security, and be our Patron from among those whom You have been Patron, and give us plentitude in what You have bestowed upon us of the good, and protect us from the evil which You have decreed, since it is You who decides and nothing can be decided against You. Our Lord! Blessed and Exalted are you)."

(Tirmizi, Abu Dawood, Nasai, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

Commentary: In some report Walaa Ya'izzu man 'aadait (And no honour can be had by whom you are an enemy) is, also, mentioned after In-nahoo 'la yazil-ul-man waalait, and in others Nastaghfiruka wa natoobu ilaik (We ask pardon of You and repent before You) has been added after Tabarakta rabbana wa ta'aalait, and yet in others the Durood, Wa sal-lal-laahu 'alan-nabeeyi (And may Allah bless the Prophet) too, occurs after these words of repentance. Many legists and theologians have adopted this Qunoot for recital in witr. The Qunoot which is current among the Hanafis, i.e., Allaahumma inna nast'eenuka wa nastaghfurika..... has been related by Imam Ibn Abu Shaybah and Imam Tahawi, on the authority of Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه and Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه while Allama Shami holds, on the authority of some leading Hanafi authorities, that with the Qunoot, Allaahumma inna nasta'eenuka wa nastaghfurika — should be also recite along with Allaahumma-mahdinaa feeman hadait.....

(٦٧٢/٢٠٠) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يَقُولُ فِي آخِرِ
وَتَرِهِ . اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَعُوذُ بِرِضَاكَ مِنْ سَخَطِكَ وَبِمَعْفَاتِكَ مِنْ عِقَابِكَ وَأَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْكَ لَا أَحْصِي ثَنَاءً عَلَيْكَ أَنْتَ كَمَا أَثْنَيْتَ عَلَى نَفْسِكَ .

(رواه ابوداؤد و الترمذی و النسائی و ابن ماجه)

(672/200) It is related by Sayyidina Ali رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to make this supplication after witr: Allaahumma in-ni a'oozu bi-ridhaaka min Sakhatika wa bi-ma'afaatina min 'uqubatika wa a'oodhubika minka laa uhisee thana-an alaika an-ta kamaa athnaita 'alaa nafsika (O Allah! I seek refuge in Your good pleasure from Your displeasure, and in Your forgiveness from Your retribution; and I seek refuge in You from You. Unable am I to reckon Your Praise which is Your. You are, indeed, as you have described Yourself)."

(Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Nasai and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: What the above supplication means is that there is no refuge from the reprimand, punishment or anger of Allah. One can find shelter only in His mercy and benevolence. In Sayyidina Ali's رضي الله عنه narrative it is simply stated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to make it at the conclusion of witr which can mean that he made it as Qunoot in the third rak'at, as some authorities have suggested, or before or after Salaam in the last q'adah of witr or in the last sajdah of it. It is quoted in Sahih Muslim, on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that once she heard the Prophet ﷺ making this supplication in the sajdah of the prayer of the night. Any of the three courses may, however, be followed.

(٦٧٣/٢٠١) عَنْ أَبِي بِنِ كَعْبٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا سَلَّمَ فِي الْوُتْرِ قَالَ سُبْحَانَ الْمَلِكِ الْقُدُّوسِ .

(رواه ابو داؤد و النسائي وزاد "ثلاث مرات يطيل")

(673/201) Ubayy bin Ka'b رضي الله عنه has related that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to say Subhaan-al malikul quddoos (Glory to the King, the Blessed) after the Salaam of Witr.

(Abu Dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: In the report quoted in Nasai it is added that the Prophet ﷺ used to recite the formula thrice in a long-drawn-out tone. Some other narratives have it that at the third time he pronounced it in a loud voice.

Two Rak'at Nafil After Witr

(٦٧٤/٢٠٢) عَنْ أُمِّ سَلَمَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يُصَلِّي

بَعْدَ الْوُتْرِ رَكْعَتَيْنِ . (رواه الترمذى وزاد ابن ماجه "خفيفتين وهو جالس")

(674/202) Umm Salmah رضي الله عنها narrated that the Prophet ﷺ offered another two Rak'at after Witr. (Tirmizi)

This Tradition has, also, been quoted by Ibn Majah with the addition that the Prophet ﷺ used to make the two post-Witr rak'at brief and offer them in the sitting posture.

Commentary: Apart from Sayyidah Umm Salmah رضي الله عنها, Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها and Abu Umama رضي الله عنه, too, have narrated that the Prophet ﷺ used to offer the two Rak'at after Witr in the sitting posture, and some theologists have, therefore, concluded that it is better to offer them while sitting. But others hold that it would not be proper, in this regard, to draw conclusions about the general body of Muslims from what the Prophet ﷺ did. In Sahih Muslim it is mentioned, on the authority of Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه, that once on seeing the Prophet offering prayer in the sitting posture he remarked that he had heard from someone that he i.e., the Prophet, said that whoever offers it sitting gets half the reward accruing to him who does it in the standing position. The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, replied, "Yes. It is the rule, but in this matter, I am not like you. My case is exceptional with God, i.e., I get the full reward even on offering it in the sitting posture." On the strength of it, a majority of the authorities have expressed the view that there is no special rule for the two ra'kat after Witr and the general rule that the reward on offering prayer in the sitting posture is half of that on offering it standing applies to them as well.

We have seen that Witr should be the last prayer of the night. To offer two ra'kat after it will not be at variance with the command for these, in fact, are a part of Witr and not a separate prayer in themselves.

Qiyam al-Layl or Tahajjud

There is no obligatory prayer between Isha and Fajr. If Isha is offered at the beginning of the stipulated time, plenty of time is left vacant though it is extremely precious in the sense that inner peace and tranquillity which is felt in the silent hours of the night is not, generally, experienced at any other time and in case a man goes to sleep for sometime after Isha, and gets up after midnight, which is the real time for Tahajjud, the atmosphere of serenity and devotion in which he offers it does not fall to his lot in any other prayer. Moreover, to leave the bed at that time and offer prayer is, also, highly efficacious for disciplining of the self. Says the Qur'an:

”إِنَّ نَاشِئَةَ اللَّيْلِ هِيَ أَشَدُّ وَطْأً وَأَقْوَمُ قِيَالًا (المزمل ٦:٧٣)

"Truly, the rising by night is most potent for governing (the should), and most suitable for framing the word (of Prayer and Praise). (Al-Muzammil 73:6)

At another place, the bondsmen have been praised:

”تَتَجَا فَيُجَنُّوهُمْ عَنِ الْمَضَاجِعِ يَدْعُونَ رَبَّهُمْ خَوْفًا وَطَمَعًا“ (السجده ١٦:٣٢)

"Who forsake their beds to cry unto their Lord in fear and hope (at the time when people sleep comfortably). (Al-Sajdah 32:16)

The Qur'an, further tells that the reward these bondsmen are going to receive in the Hereafter, which will be utterly pleasing, is known only to God.

"No soul knoweth what is kept hid for them of joy, as a reward for what they used to do). (Al-Sajdah 32:17)

The Prophet ﷺ is commanded one occasion in the Qur'an to observe the Tahajjud and promised the praiseworthy station:

”وَمِنَ اللَّيْلِ فَتَهَجَّدْ بِهِ نَافِلَةً لَّكَ عَسَىٰ أَنْ يَبْعَثَكَ رَبُّكَ مَقَامًا مَّحْمُودًا“

(الاسراء: ١٧: ٧٩)

We learn from authentic Traditions that, during the last part of the night, Allah turns toward His bondsmen with full mercy and benevolence, and those of us who have been blessed, in some measure, with the capability to know or feel such things, also, perceive the heavenly felicity that is associated with that hour.

(٦٧٥/٢٠٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَنْزِلُ رَبُّنَا تَبَارَكَ وَتَعَالَى كُلَّ لَيْلَةٍ إِلَى السَّمَاءِ الدُّنْيَا حِينَ يَبْقَى ثُلُثُ اللَّيْلِ الْآخِرِ يَقُولُ مَنْ يَدْعُونِي فَأَسْتَجِيبَ لَهُ مَنْ يَسْأَلُنِي فَأُعْطِيَهُ مَنْ يَسْتَغْفِرُنِي فَأَغْفِرَ لَهُ .

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(675/203) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When the last one-third of the night remains, our Lord, the Glorious One, descends towards the heavens of the world, and proclaims: "Who is there who supplicates Me, and I grant his supplication? Who is there who begs Me for (anything), and I grant it to him? Who is there who seeks My forgiveness, and I forgive him?" (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The "descent" of Allah towards the "heavens of the world" spoken of in the above Tradition, is an Attribute and Function of the Lord which is beyond our comprehension in the same way as the reality and significance of expression like the "Hand of Allah", "the Face of Allah" and "He sat on the Throne" is not known to us. In fact, the acknowledgement of the ignorance of and inability to understand the truth, nature and state of the Attributes and Functions of God is the height of knowledge. The pious precursors have constantly upheld the view that ignorance and helplessness in respect of these things should be openly admitted and their knowledge, like that of all other metaphorical and allegorical expressions, be left to Allah and it ought to be believed that whatever they may signify is correct. But this much is clear from this saying that during the last one-third of the night Allah turns towards His bondsmen with special grace and benevolence and calls them personally to prayer, supplication and repentance. Those who believe in it find it harder to keep on sleeping than to rise from the bed at that time.

(٦٧٦/٢٠٤) عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ عَبَسَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَقْرَبُ مَا يَكُونُ الرَّبُّ مِنَ الْعَبْدِ فِي جَوْفِ اللَّيْلِ الْآخِرِ فَإِنْ اسْتَطَعْتَ أَنْ تَكُونَ مِمَّنْ يَذْكُرُ اللَّهَ فِي تِلْكَ السَّاعَةِ فَكُنْ . (رواه الترمذی)

(676/204) It is related by 'Amr bin 'Abasa that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "God is nearest to the bondsmen in the later half of the night. So, if it is possible for you to be of the bondsmen who mention Allah at that hour then be of them." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: In this Tradition we are exhorted to occupy ourselves with Zikr (God-remembrance) during the later part of the night and though God-remembrance has been mentioned in general terms, prayer undoubtedly, is the highest form of it for it combines the Zikr of the heart, the tongue and the limbs.

(٦٧٧/٢٠٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَفْضَلُ الصَّلَاةِ بَعْدَ الصَّلَاةِ الْمَكْتُوبَةِ الصَّلَاةُ فِي جَوْفِ اللَّيْلِ . (رواه مسلم)

(677/205) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "After the obligatory prayers the most superior prayar is that of the middle of the night (i.e., Tahajjud)."(Muslim)

(٦٧٨/٢٠٦) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَيْكُمْ بِقِيَامِ اللَّيْلِ فَإِنَّهُ ذَابُ الصَّالِحِينَ قَبْلَكُمْ وَهُوَ قُرْبَةٌ لَكُمْ إِلَى رَبِّكُمْ وَمَكْفَرَةٌ لِلْسَّيِّئَاتِ وَمَنْهَاجٌ عَنِ الْإِثْمِ . (رواه الترمذی)

(678/206) It is related on the authority of Abu Umamah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "You should offer Tahajjud for it has been the way of the pious souls before you and it is a special means of seeking the countenance of Allah and it removes the evil effects of sins and protects from the transgression of divine laws." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: In this Tradition four characteristics of Tahajjud have been described: (i) it has been the practice of virtuous bondsmen of Allah from the days of old; (ii) it is a special source of seeking the propinquity of the Lord; (iii) it possesses the quality of obliterating the harmful effects of sinful deeds by acting as an atonement for them; and (iv) it restrains a man from evil-doing.

Doubtlessly, prayer of Tahajjud is a great boon. It is said about Junayd Bahgdadi that, after his death, some people saw him in their dreams and asked him how it turned out for him up there, the high-souled man replied, "The discourses on higher truths I used to give availed nothing. If anything served me it were the rak'at I used to offer in the night.

(٦٧٩/٢٠٧) عَنِ الْمُغِيرَةِ بْنِ شُعْبَةَ قَالَ قَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَتَّى تَوَرَّمَتْ قَدْ مَاهُ فَقِيلَ لَهُ لِمَ تَصْنَعُ هَذَا وَقَدْ غُفِرَ لَكَ مَا تَقْدَمُ مِنْ ذَنْبِكَ وَمَا تَأْخُرُ قَالَ أَفَلَا أَكُونُ عَبْدًا شَكُورًا .
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(679/207) Mughirah bin Shu'bah رضي الله عنه narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ remained standing for such a long time in the prayer of Tahajjud that his feet swelled. It was said to him: "Why do you exert yourself so excessively in prayer when all your sins, of the past as well as of the future, have been forgiven (and Allah has allayed your fears in that regard by making a proclamation of it in the Qur'an)?" "Should I, then, not be His most grateful bondsman (on this extraordinary favour)?" replied the Prophet ﷺ. (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Notwithstanding the fact that the Prophet ﷺ needed not to pray much and to make other spiritual exertions like us and that every act of his, even walking and sleeping, was a virtuous act deserving of Divine reward, he offered such long prayers during the night that his feet become swollen.

There is a significant lesson in it for those who merely profess belief for instance; people like us.

Note: In this Tradition the forgiving of the zunub of the Prophet has been mentioned, and zunub, in common parlance, denotes a sin. It may, therefore, be asked when the guiltlessness of the Divine Prophets عليهم السلام and their freedom from evil influences was an article of faith with the Muslims, what could the forgiving of the sins of the Prophet mean? Of all the explanations that have been furnished, the most satisfying, in our view, is that freedom of the Prophet ﷺ from sins signifies that he is protected against evils which belong to the category of wrong doing or iniquity and are regarded as sinful for the whole of the Ummah as well. But every Prophet, including the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ, can do things which, though not sinful, may not be in keeping with the highest ideal or his lofty position, as for instance, the incident of the Prophet ﷺ forbidding the use of honey to himself or of his being impolite to Abdullah bin Umm maktoom ؓ upon which he was affectionately upbraided by Allah in the surah al-Tahrim and Abasa respectively.

Anyhow, even the Prophet ﷺ may do such things over which they feel grieved to such an extent that we do grieve over a major transgression. Thus, when the forgiving of the zunub of the holy Prophet ﷺ is mentioned in the Qur'an and the Traditions it simply means the forgiving of such things as mentioned above.

(٦٨٠/٢٠٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ رَحِمَ اللَّهُ رَجُلًا قَامَ مِنَ اللَّيْلِ فَصَلَّى وَانْقَضَ إِمْرَأَتُهُ فَصَلَّتْ فَإِنْ ابْتِ نَضَحَ فِي وَجْهِهَا الْمَاءَ رَحِمَ اللَّهُ إِمْرَأَةً قَامَتْ مِنَ اللَّيْلِ فَصَلَّتْ وَانْقَضَتْ زَوْجَهَا فَصَلَّى فَإِنْ ابْتِ نَضَحَتْ فِي وَجْهِهِ الْمَاءَ .
(رواه ابوداؤد والنسائي)

(680/208) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Blessings of Allah be on the bondsmen who got up in the night and offered Tahajjud prayers, and, also, woke up his wife, and she, too, prayed, and if she did not wake up (owing to the overpowering influence of sleep), he administered a mild dash of water on her face. In the same way, blessings of God be on the bondswoman who got up in the night for Tahajjud prayers and prayed, and, also, woke up her husband, and he, too, got up and prayed, and, if he did not wake up, she awakened him by administering a mild dash of water on his face."

Commentary: It needs be remembered that the holy Companions ؓ to whom these words were spoken had become sure in their minds, by listening to the exhortations of the Prophet ﷺ and observing his own conduct in respect of Tahajjud, about what the bondsmen stood to gain by offering it up and how painful was the loss in neglecting it. Generally speaking, the same was the state of all the Companions ؓ, both male and female. Everyone of them was eager to partake of this marvellous gift of the Prophet ﷺ to the Ummah. In spite of it, it could and did happen, occasionally, that the husband woke up on time but the wife remained asleep or the wife woke up in time and the husband remained asleep, and, then, the one who had got up wanted to awaken the other who was sleeping and if the latter did not feel inclined to get up due to the preponderance of sleep, he or she woke him or her up by gently sprinkling water over the face of the other out of love and thoughtful attention. In such a case, an act like that was not likely to lead to bitterness or an angry dispute. On the other hand, their fondness and tender affection for each other became stronger. The above Tradition, anyhow, appertains to circumstances like it and the Prophet's exhortation is for the couples who are worthy of it and appreciative of the unique value and significance of prayers of Tahajjud.

In The Event of Missing Tahajjud

(٦٨١/٢٠٩) عَنْ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ نَامَ عَنْ حَزْبِهِ أَوْ عَنْ شَيْءٍ مِنْهُ فَقَرَأَهُ فِيمَا بَيْنَ صَلَاةِ الْفَجْرِ وَصَلَاةِ الظُّهْرِ كُتِبَ لَهُ كَأَنَّمَا قَرَأَهُ مِنَ اللَّيْلِ .
(رواه مسلم)

(681/209) It is related by Sayyidina Umar ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever remained asleep in the night and (missed) his appointed *Wird*¹ or a part thereof, and, then, made it up between Fajr and Zuhr, for him it will be written down as having been offered in the night." (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that if a person has fixed some daily task of worship for himself for the night, as for instance, resolved that he will offer so many rak'at or recite so much of the Qur'an, and, on some night, he oversleeps and fails to carry out the whole or part of it, and, then, makes amends for it the same day before the time of Zuhr, God will requite him in the same measure as on performing it at appointed time.

(٦٨٢/٢١٠) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ إِذَا فَاتَتْهُ الصَّلَاةُ

①. Meaning a daily task of devotion or worship.

مِنَ اللَّيْلِ مِنْ وَجَعٍ أَوْ غَيْرِهِ صَلَّى مِنَ النَّهَارِ ثِنْتَيْ عَشْرَةَ رَكْعَةً. (رواه مسلم)
 (682/210) It is related on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that when due to illness or some other reason the Prophet ﷺ missed the Tahajjud prayer, he offered 12 rak'at during the day in the place of that." (Muslim)

Rak'at of Tahajjud

(٦٨٣/٢١١) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُصَلِّي مِنَ اللَّيْلِ ثَلَاثَ عَشْرَةَ رَكْعَةً مِنْهَا الْوُتْرُ وَرَكْعَتَا الْفَجْرِ. (رواه مسلم)
 (683/211) It is related on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ offered 13 rak'at at night which, also, included witr and the 2 rak'at Sunnah of Fajr. (Muslim)

Commentary: What Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها has stated in it about the practice of the holy Prophet ﷺ concerning the rak'at of Tahajjud denotes what he did so usually otherwise from her own other narratives we find that, occasionally, he offered up fewer Rak'at as well.

(٦٨٤/٢١٢) عَنْ مَسْرُوقٍ قَالَ سَأَلْتُ عَائِشَةَ عَنْ صَلَوةِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِاللَّيْلِ فَقَالَتْ سَبْعٌ وَتِسْعٌ وَاحِدَى عَشْرَةَ رَكْعَةً سِوَى رَكْعَتَيْ الْفَجْرِ. (رواه البخارى)
 (684/212) It is related by Masrooq that he enquired from Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها about the Tahajjud of the Prophet ﷺ (i.e., how many rak'at he offered in it) and she replied: "Seven and nine and eleven besides the two rak'at (Sunnat) of Fajr." (Bukhari)

Commentary: It shows that, sometimes, the Prophet ﷺ offered only 7 rak'at in Tahajjud (4 rak'at of Tahajjud and 3 of witr), and sometimes, 11 (8 rak'at of Tahajjud and 3 of witr).

Some Other Details

(٦٨٥/٢١٣) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا قَامَ مِنَ اللَّيْلِ لِيُصَلِّيَ افْتَتَحَ صَلَوةَ بَرَكَتَيْنِ خَفِيفَتَيْنِ. (رواه مسلم)

(685/213) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that when the Prophet ﷺ stood up in the night for Tahajjud, he first offered two light rak'at. (Muslim)

Commentary: Some commentators say that the Prophet ﷺ did so, probably, because he wanted to produce the feeling of alacrity and cheerfulness within himself before offering the longer rak'at.

In Sahih Muslim, again, it is reported on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضى الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said:

"When anyone of you stands up for prayer in the night, he should begin it with two light rak'at.
 إِذَا قَامَ أَحَدُكُمْ مِنَ اللَّيْلِ فَلْيَفْتَحِ الصَّلَاةَ بِرَكْعَتَيْنِ خَفِيفَتَيْنِ"

(٦٨٦/٢١٤) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّهُ رَقَدَ عِنْدَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَاسْتَيْقَظَ فَتَسَوَّكَ وَتَوَضَّأَ وَهُوَ يَقُولُ إِنَّ فِي خَلْقِ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَاخْتِلَافِ اللَّيْلِ وَالنَّهَارِ لآيَاتٍ لِّأُولِي الْأَلْبَابِ فَقَرَأَ هُوَ لَاءِ الْآيَاتِ حَتَّى خَتَمَ السُّورَةَ ثُمَّ قَامَ فَصَلَّى رَكْعَتَيْنِ فَاطَالَ فِيهِمَا الْقِيَامَ وَالرُّكُوعَ وَالسُّجُودَ ثُمَّ انْصَرَفَ فَنَامَ حَتَّى نَفَخَ ثُمَّ فَعَلَ ذَلِكَ ثَلَاثَ مَرَّاتٍ سِتَّ رَكْعَاتٍ كُلَّ ذَلِكَ يَسْتَاكُ وَيَتَوَضَّأُ وَيَقْرَأُ هَؤُلَاءِ الْآيَاتِ ثُمَّ أَوْتَرَبَثَلَاثَ فَأَذَّنَ الْمُؤَذِّنُ فَخَرَجَ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ وَهُوَ يَقُولُ اللَّهُمَّ اجْعَلْ فِي قَلْبِي نُورًا وَفِي لِسَانِي نُورًا وَاجْعَلْ فِي سَمْعِي نُورًا وَاجْعَلْ فِي بَصَرِي نُورًا وَاجْعَلْ مِنْ خَلْفِي نُورًا وَمِنْ أَمَامِي نُورًا وَاجْعَلْ مِنْ فَوْقِي نُورًا وَمِنْ تَحْتِي نُورًا اللَّهُمَّ اعْطِنِي نُورًا. (رواه مسلم)

(686/214) Abdullah bin Abbas رضى الله عنه narrated that one night he stayed with the Messenger of Allah ﷺ. So, when the time for Tahajjud came, he got up and cleansed his teeth with miswak and performed wudu, and, during that time, he was reciting these invocatory verses from the surah of Aal Imran: Lo! In the creation of the heavens and the earth and (in) the difference of night and day are tokens (of His sovereignty) for men of understanding..... (up to the end of surah). Then he stood for prayer and offered two rak'at in which he carried out very long qiyam, ruku and sajdah. After that, he returned to bed and slept (for a little while) so much so that he began to breathe loudly. He did so thrice after that, (i.e., three times the Prophet ﷺ got up after a short sleep, cleansed his teeth and performed wudu and offered two rak'at with extended qiyam, ruku and sajdah. He, thus, offered 6 rak'ats (in addition to the two he had said at first), and each time he would cleanse his teeth with miswak, perform wudu and recite those verses of Aal Imran. Later, he offered 3 Rak'ats of witr. Then, as the Muazzin gave the Azan, he went out for the Fajr prayer, and, at that time, he was reciting the prayers:

اللَّهُمَّ اجْعَلْ فِي قَلْبِي نُورًا وَفِي لِسَانِي نُورًا وَاجْعَلْ فِي سَمْعِي نُورًا وَاجْعَلْ فِي
بَصَرِي نُورًا وَاجْعَلْ مِنْ خَلْفِي نُورًا وَمِنْ أَمَامِي نُورًا وَاجْعَلْ مِنْ فَوْقِي نُورًا وَمِنْ
تَحْتِي نُورًا اللَّهُمَّ آعْظِنِي نُورًا .

Allahummaj'al fi qalbi noorun wa fi lisani noorun
(O Allah! Produce Light in my heart, and produce light in my tongue, and produce light in my hearing and sight, and produce Light in front of me and behind me and produce Light above me and beneath me. O God! Grant me Light.)" (Muslim)

Commentary: Different versions of this Tradition have been quoted in Bukhari and Muslim and a few other compilations and some of them are a little more detailed.

The offering of two brief rak'at is not mentioned in the above report. The narrator seems to have forgotten to relate it because in all other versions it is distinctly stated that the Prophet ﷺ offer 13 rak'at while, in it, only 11 are mentioned which leads one to conclude that the present narrator did not mention the first two Rak'at presumably because he felt that those were not a part of Tahajjud but Tahiyyat-ul-wudu.

The "Prayer of Light" stated in it contains nine phrases but, in some other versions, some more phrases are found. It is a most luminous prayer, indeed. It is a supplication to Allah to grant light in body and spirit and around oneself. The verse of the Qur'an is recalled:

اللَّهُ نُورُ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ (النور ٣٠:٢٤)

Also the verse:

صِبْغَةَ اللَّهِ وَمَنْ أَحْسَنُ مِنَ اللَّهِ صِبْغَةً (البقرة ١٣٨:٢)

(٦٨٧/٢١٥) عَنْ حَدِيثِهِ أَنَّهُ رَأَى النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُصَلِّي مِنَ اللَّيْلِ فَكَانَ يَقُولُ اللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ ثَلَاثًا ذُو الْمَلَكُوتِ وَالْجَبْرُوتِ وَالْكِبْرِيَاءِ وَالْعِظَمَةُ ثُمَّ اسْتَفْتَحَ فَقَرَأَ الْبَقْرَةَ ثُمَّ رَكَعَ فَكَانَ رُكُوعُهُ نَحْوًا مِنْ قِيَامِهِ فَكَانَ يَقُولُ فِي رُكُوعِهِ سُبْحَانَ رَبِّيَ الْعَظِيمِ ثُمَّ رَفَعَ رَأْسَهُ مِنَ الرُّكُوعِ فَكَانَ قِيَامُهُ نَحْوًا مِنْ رُكُوعِهِ يَقُولُ لِرَبِّي الْحَمْدُ ثُمَّ سَجَدَ فَكَانَ سُجُودُهُ نَحْوًا مِنْ قِيَامِهِ فَكَانَ يَقُولُ فِي سُجُودِهِ سُبْحَانَ رَبِّيَ الْأَعْلَى ثُمَّ رَفَعَ رَأْسَهُ مِنَ السُّجُودِ وَكَانَ يَقْعُدُ فِيمَا بَيْنَ السَّجْدَتَيْنِ نَحْوًا مِنْ سُجُودِهِ وَكَانَ يَقُولُ رَبِّ اغْفِرْ لِي رَبِّ اغْفِرْ لِي فَصَلَّى أَرْبَعَ رَكَعَاتٍ قَرَأَ فِيهِنَّ الْبَقْرَةَ وَالْأَنْعَامَ وَالْمَائِدَةَ أَوِ الْآلْعَامَ شَكَّ شُعْبَةً .

(رواه ابو داود)

(687/215) It is related by Huzayfah رضي الله عنه that, one night, he saw the Prophet ﷺ offer the Tahajjud prayer. Commencing it, the Prophet said: "Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, Zul-malakoot wal-jabroot wal-kibriyai wal-'azmati (God is Most Great, God is Most Great, God is Most Great, Lord of Sovereignty and Power, Splendour and Greatness). After it, he began the prayer. Then (after surah Al-Fateha), the Prophet recited surah Al-Baqarah, and then, performed ruku and his ruku was like qiyam (i.e., as he had made a very long qiyam and recited the whole of surah Al-Baarah in one rak'at so, also, did he carry out a porlonged ruku), and during it, he went on saying, again and again: Subhana rabi-biyal azeem (Glory to Allah, the Most Great). He, then, raised his head from ruku, and stood for longtime as he had done in ruku, and, during quama, the formula Li-rabbial hamd (All praise to Allah) was on his lips. After it, as he performed the sajdah, his sajdah, too, was very long like his ruku, and, during it, he said: Subhaana rab-biyal-a'laa (Glory to Allah, the Most High). Then, he raised his head from sajdah and between the two sajdas he sat for as much time as in the sajdah, and, during the interveening Jalsa, he prayed: Rabbighfirli, Rabbighfirli (Forgive me, my Lord! Forgive me, my Lord)! He offered 4 rak'at at that time in which he recited surah Al-Aal Imran, surah An-Nisaa and surah Al-Maidah or surah Al-An'aam. (Shu'ba the teacher of the teacher of Imam Abu Dawood, is not sure whether his teacher,

'Amr bin Murrah, had spoken of the recital of surah Al-Maidah or surah al-An'aam in the fourth Rak'at. (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Many other Companions, besides Sayyidina Huzayfah رضي الله عنه, have, also, narrated events regarding the offering of Tahajjud by the Prophet ﷺ with a prolonged recital and greatly extended ruku and sajdah. Thus, Awf bin Maalik Ashj'ae has described the Prophet's ﷺ Tahajjud prayer of a night in which he recited surah Al-Baqarah and surah Al-Imran in the first two Rak'at, and even longer surahs, perhaps surah An-Nisaa and surah Al-Maida, in the next two rak'at, and in such a way that when a verse of Mercy occurred, he halted and prayed for Mercy during the recital and when a verse of punishment occurred, he sought protection from it in the same manner.

It should be kept in the mind that the authorities are unanimously of the view that it is altogether legitimate to halt and pray during recital in Tahajjud, as in all over Nafil prayers.

(٦٨٨/٢١٦) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَتَّى أَصْبَحَ بَايَةً وَالْآيَةُ إِنَّ تُعَذِّبَهُمْ فَإِنَّهُمْ عِبَادُكَ وَإِنْ تَغْفِرَ لَهُمْ فَإِنَّكَ أَنْتَ الْغَزِيرُ الْحَكِيمُ.

(رواه النسائي وابن ماجه)

(688/216) It is related by Abu Zarr Ghifari رضي الله عنه that (once) in a nightly prayer (i.e., Tahajjud) the Prophet ﷺ went on reciting a single verse till it was morning and the verse (of Al-Ma'dah) was: In to'azzibhum fa-inna-hum 'ibduka wa in taghfirlahum fa-innaka antal 'azeezul hakeem (If You do punish them, they are Your slaves, and if You do forgive them, You are the Exalted, the Wise) (V: 121) (Nasai and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: The aforementioned verse is a part of the statement of regret and humble petition made by Sayyidina Isa عليه السلام in reply to a question put to him by Allah. It is stated in the last section of surah Maidah that, on the Day of Judgement, God will ask him if he had told his followers to deify him and his mother aside of Allah. Prophet Isa عليه السلام will, then, plead his innocence and say:

"O Lord! Nothing is concealed from You. You are the Knower of what is hidden and it is Your Knowledge that I had preached to them nothing but Divine Unity and invited them, solely, to it. They took to polytheism after I had departed from the world.

“إِنْ تُعَذِّبْهُمْ فَإِنَّهُمْ عِبَادُكَ وَإِنْ تَغْفِرْ لَهُمْ فَإِنَّكَ أَنْتَ الْعَزِيزُ الْحَكِيمُ”

(مائده ٥: ١١٨)

Now, if You do punish them for it, they are Your servants and You have the right to chastise them as it pleases You, and if You do forgive them, that is easy for You. You are the All-Powerful, the All-wise, and Your decision shall not be out of compulsion or constraint but sapience and good judgement."

As for the act of reciting the verse, again and again, till daybreak, some commentators have remarked that, perhaps, on arriving at it, the Prophet ﷺ was reminded of his followers about whom it had been revealed to him that like the earlier communities, they, too, would fall a prey, in quite a large way, to the polytheistic beliefs and practices, and, out of the resulting anxiety, he went on repeating the humble request and entreaty of Prophet Isa (عليه السلام).

(٦٨٩/٢١٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ كَانَتْ قِرَاءَةُ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

بِاللَّيْلِ يَرْفَعُ طَوْرًا وَيَخْفِضُ طَوْرًا.

(689/217) Abu Hurayrah ؓ narrates that in the prayer of the night the Prophet ﷺ, sometimes, did the recitation in a loud voice, and, sometimes in a low voice. (Abu Dawood)

(٦٩٠/٢١٨) عَنْ أَبِي قَتَادَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ خَرَجَ لَيْلَةً

فَإِذَا هُوَ بِأَبِي بَكْرٍ يُصَلِّيُ يَخْفِضُ مِنْ صَوْتِهِ وَمَرَّ بِعُمَرَ وَهُوَ يُصَلِّيُ رَافِعًا صَوْتَهُ

قَالَ فَلَمَّا اجْتَمَعَا عِنْدَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ يَا أَبَا بَكْرٍ مَرَرْتُ بِكَ

وَأَنْتَ تُصَلِّيُ تَخْفِضُ صَوْتَكَ قَالَ قَدْ أَسْمَعْتُ مَنْ نَاجَيْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَقَالَ

لِعُمَرَ مَرَرْتُ بِكَ وَأَنْتَ تُصَلِّيُ رَافِعًا صَوْتَكَ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَوْقِظْ

الْوَسْطَانِ وَأَطْرُدِ الشَّيْطَانَ فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَا أَبَا بَكْرٍ ارْفَعْ مِنْ

صَوْتِكَ شَيْئًا وَقَالَ لِعُمَرَ اخْفِضْ مِنْ صَوْتِكَ شَيْئًا.

(690/218) It is related by Abu Qatadah ؓ that one night, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ went out and saw that Abu Bakr ؓ was offering prayer in a very subdued voice, and as he passed by Umar ؓ, he found him offering prayer in a very loud voice. When (at some other time) both of them came to the Prophet ﷺ together, he said to Abu Bakr, "I passed by you and saw that you were praying in a very low voice." Abu Bakr ؓ replied, "I made myself heard to Whom I was addressing, and He heard me." Then, in the same way, the Prophet ﷺ said to Umar ؓ, "I passed by you in the night and saw that you were praying in a very loud voice." "O messenger of Allah," replied Umar ؓ, "I wanted to wake up the sleepy ones and to drive away the Satan by reciting loudly." The Prophet ﷺ, observed, "Abu Bakr ؓ, you should pray a little more loudly, and, Umar ؓ, you should pray a little more quietly." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Generally, it is better to offer Tahajjud in a moderate voice. It should neither be too loud nor too subdued. But, if at anytime, it was preferable to pray it quietly, it should be done that way, and, similarly, in case it was more appropriate, at a particular time, to offer it in a loud voice, one should do so.

Chasht and Ishraq

As no obligatory prayer has been prescribed between Isha and Fajr, and one is exhorted to only offer a few rak'ats of Tahajjud during that time, in the same way no obligatory prayer has been enjoined for the long interwal between Fajr and Zuhr, but we are advised to offer at aleast two and as many as posible rak'at of Nafl as Salat-ud-Duha during it. If these rak'at are offered a short while after sunrise, they are called Ishraq and if when the day has advanced considerably, Chasht.

Here we shall give the substance of what Shah Waliullah has to say about these Nafl rak'at.

"The day (which among the Arabs begins with Fajr and is divided into four parts called Pahr or divisions), it was decided by Allah, in His Infinite Wisdom, that none of the four divisions of it should be withour prayer. Thus, Fajr was made obligatory at the beginnig of the first division and Zuhr and Asr for the third and foruth divisions respectively, and, in the second division, which had been left free from an obligatory service as a concession to the economic activities of the people, as a whole, Salat-ud-Duha was enjoined as a Nafl prayer and by narrating its virtues, it was suggested, by way of an inducement, that the bondsmen who could find time from their engagements to offer a few rak'at during it should avail themselves of the blessing. Salat-ud-duha, is, at least, 2 rak'at, but 4 rak'at are more beneficial, and 8, even better."¹

Let us now read some ahadith on the subject.

(٦٩١/٢١٩) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُصْبِحُ عَلَى كُلِّ سُلَامَى مِنْ أَحَدِكُمْ صَدَقَةٌ فَكُلُّ تَسْبِيحَةٍ صَدَقَةٌ وَكُلُّ تَحْمِيدَةٍ صَدَقَةٌ وَكُلُّ تَهْلِيلَةٍ صَدَقَةٌ وَكُلُّ تَكْبِيرَةٍ صَدَقَةٌ وَأَمْرٌ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ صَدَقَةٌ وَنَهْيٌ عَنِ الْمُنْكَرِ صَدَقَةٌ وَيُجْزَى مِنْ ذَلِكَ رَكْعَتَانِ يَرَكُّهُمَا مِنَ الصُّحَى

(رواه مسلم)

(691/219) It is related by Abu Zarr Ghifari رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: 'There is charity on each joint of everyone of you in the morning (i.e., when anyone rises in sound, he should express his gratitude to Allah by offering charity that is, performing a good and virtuous deed, in the name of every joint, and the list of such deeds is very long). Thus, to say Subhana Allah (Glory to God) once is charity, and to say Al-hamdu lillaah (Praise to be God), also, is charity, and to say laa ilaaha illal-Allah (there is no god save One God), also, is charity, and to sanction what is allowed and forbid what is prohibited, also, is charity, and, for this thanksgiving, two rak'at are enough which one should offer at the time of Chasht.' (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the propitiatory offering a man should make every morning on behalf of his joints get fulfilled with the offering of two rak'at of Chasht, one of the reasons of which, probably, is that prayer is a form of worship in which each and every limb and joint of a person, and his inner and outward selves, participates.

(٦٩٢/٢٢٠) عَنْ أَبِي الدَّرْدَاءِ وَأَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَا قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنِ اللَّهِ تَبَارَكَ وَتَعَالَى إِنَّهُ قَالَ يَا بَنَ آدَمَ ارْكَعْ لِي أَرْبَعَ رُكْعَاتٍ مِنْ أَوَّلِ النَّهَارِ أَكْفِكَ آخِرَهُ.

(رواه الترمذی)

(692/220) It is related by Abu Darda and Abu Zarr Ghifari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ narrated that Allah has said, "O son of Adam, you take upon yourself only this much of responsibility that you will offer 4 rak'at for My sake during the early part of the day, and I, in return, shall suffice you till the rest of the day." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: The bondsman who offers 4 rak'at at the time of Isharaq or Chasht, with absolute reliance upon the promise of Allah, will Insha Allah see how his whole day's needs are supplied by Him.

(٦٩٣/٢٢١) عَنْ مُعَاذَةَ قَالَتْ سَأَلْتُ عَائِشَةَ كَمْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُصَلِّي صَلَاةَ الصُّحَى؟ قَالَتْ أَرْبَعَ رُكْعَاتٍ وَيَزِيدُ مَا شَاءَ اللَّهُ. (رواه مسلم)

(693/221) Mu'azah Adawiyah narrated to us that (once) she asked Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها how many rak'at did the Prophet ﷺ offer in the prayer of Chasht. She replied: "Four rak'at and as many more as Allah willed." (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the Prophet ﷺ usually offered 4 rak'at at the time of Chasht, and, occsionally, a few more. Sayyidah Ayshah's رضى الله عنها own practice was to offer four rak'at and so intense was her fondness for them that she would say, "Even if my parents were sent back to the world I will not miss these rak'at in the excitement of meeting them."

(٦٩٤/٢٢٢) عَنْ أُمِّ هَانِي قَالَتْ إِنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ دَخَلَ بَيْتَهَا يَوْمَ فَتْحِ مَكَّةَ فَاعْتَسَلَ وَصَلَّى ثَمَانِي رُكْعَاتٍ فَلَمْ أَرِ صَلَاةً قَطُّ أَحَفَّ مِنْهَا غَيْرَ أَنَّهُ يُتِمُّ الرُّكُوعَ وَالسُّجُودَ وَقَالَتْ فِي رِوَايَةٍ أُخْرَى وَذَلِكَ صُحَى. (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(694/222) It is related on the authority of Umm Haani bint Abu Talib رضى الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ came to her house on the day of the Victory of Makkah where he had a bath, and, then, offered 8 rak'at (which were so brief that) she had not seen a prayer as brief as that, but he was carrying out ruku and sajda fully." (In another version of the same Tradition it is stated that it was the time of Chasht).

(٦٩٥/٢٢٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ

حَافِظَ عَلَى شُفْعَةِ الضُّحَى غُفِرَتْ لَهُ ذُنُوبُهُ وَإِنْ كَانَتْ مِثْلَ زَبَدِ الْبَحْرِ .

(رواه احمد و الترمذى و ابن ماجه)

(695/223) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever took care to offer 2 rak'at at Chasht, all his sins will be forgiven even though they are as profuse as the foam of the sea."

(Tirmizi, Musnad Ahmad and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: We have explained earlier the meaning of forgiveness of sins against worship and righteousness. That must be remembered here.

(٦٩٦/٢٢٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ أَوْصَانِي خَلِيلِي بِثَلَاثِ بِصِيَامٍ ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ مِنْ

كُلِّ شَهْرٍ وَرَكْعَتَيِ الضُّحَى وَأَنْ أُوتِرَ قَبْلَ أَنْ أَرْقُدَ . (رواه مسلم)

(696/224) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه "My beloved, the Prophet ﷺ, exhorted me specially three things: three days of fasting every month; two rak'at of Chasht and offering of Witr before retiring to bed. "

(Muslim)

(٦٩٧/٢٢٥) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُصَلِّي

الضُّحَى حَتَّى نَقُولَ لَا يَدْعُهَا وَيَدْعُهَا حَتَّى نَقُولَ لَا يُصَلِّيَهَا . (رواه الترمذى)

(697/225) It is related by Abu Saeed Khudri رضي الله عنه "(Sometimes) the Prophet ﷺ offered the Chasht with (such) heedfulness and constancy that we used to say that he would, now, never omit it (and go on saying it forever), and, (sometimes), he gave it up (in such a manner) that we used to say that he would, now, (perhaps), never offer it."

(Tirmizi)

Commentary: Explaining why the Prophet did not offer Chasht (regularly), Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها once remarked "sometimes he even abstained from acts which were very dear to his heart for fear that the common Muslims would observe them in emulation of his example, and these would be (ultimately) prescribed to them as a duty."

Anyhow, the holy Prophet ﷺ, occasionally, used to omit Nafil prayers like those of Chasht and Ishraq for the reason indicated above by her, and it is an accepted principal that anyone who desists from performing a virtuous deed with such an aim and intention continues to earn the reward that is on it even during the period of abstention. Evidently, a consideration like that was exclusive to the Prophet ﷺ. No one else enjoys that position.

Nafl Prayers on Special Occasions

The Nafl prayers which are to be offered before or after Fard rak'at, as also Tahajjud, Chasht and Ishraq, have a fixed time at which alone these can be offered. But there are some other prayers like Tahiyat ul-wudu (two rak'at of ablution), Tahhiyya-tul Masjid (two rak'at of mosque), Salatul Haajah (the prayer of need), Salah-i-Tawba (prayer of repentance), Salah Istikhara (Prayer of angury). They are related not to a particular hour but to a particular occasion or circumstances. These prayers are not offered at a specified time but whenever the need is felt or the conditions that call for them arise. We have already examined the Traditions regarding Tahiyyatul Wudu and Tahiyyatul Masjid. Now, we propose to take up the sayings that appertain to the other Nafl prayers of this category.

Salat Istighfar

(٦٩٨/٢٢٦) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ حَدَّثَنِي أَبُو بَكْرٍ وَصَدَقَ أَبُو بَكْرٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ مَا مِنْ رَجُلٍ يَذْنِبُ ذَنْبًا ثُمَّ يَقُومُ فَيَتَطَهَّرُ ثُمَّ يَصَلِّي ثُمَّ يَسْتَغْفِرُ اللَّهَ إِلَّا غَفَرَ اللَّهُ لَهُ ثُمَّ قَرَأَ وَالَّذِينَ إِذَا فَعَلُوا فَاحِشَةً أَوْ ظَلَمُوا أَنْفُسَهُمْ ذَكَرُوا اللَّهَ فَاسْتَغْفَرُوا الذُّنُوبَ . (رواه الترمذی)

(698/226) Sayyidina Ali رضی اللہ عنہ narrated that Abu Bakr رضی اللہ عنہ (who, certainly is truthful and sincere of speech) said to him that he heard the Prophet ﷺ say: "If anyone commits a sin, and, then, gets up, and performs wudu, and offers prayer, and seeks the forgiveness of Allah, He, in any-case, forgives him." After it, the Prophet recited the verse of the Qur'an:

”وَالَّذِينَ إِذَا فَعَلُوا فَاحِشَةً أَوْ ظَلَمُوا أَنْفُسَهُمْ ذَكَرُوا اللَّهَ فَاسْتَغْفَرُوا الذُّنُوبَ مِنْ رَبِّهِمْ وَمِنْ يَغْفِرُ الذُّنُوبَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَلَمْ يُصِرُّوا عَلَى مَا فَعَلُوا وَهُمْ يَعْلَمُونَ أُولَٰئِكَ جَزَاءُهُمْ مَغْفِرَةٌ مِنْ رَبِّهِمْ وَجَنَّتْ تَجْرِي مِنَ تَحْتِهَا الْأَنْهَارُ خَالِدِينَ فِيهَا وَنِعْمَ أَجْرُ الْعَمَلِينَ . (آل عمران. ٣: ١٣٥، ١٣٦)

"And those who, when they do an evil thing or wrong themselves, remember Allah and implore forgiveness for their sins — who forgiveth sins save Allah only?— and will not, knowingly, repeat the wrong they did.(Aal-e-Imran:135,136)(Tirmizi)

Commentary: The verse mentioned above is from surah Aal Imran. At first, the pious bondsmen of Allah are spoken of for whom Heaven has, specially, been prepared. It is, then, added that:

The reward of such will be forgiveness from their Lord, and Gardens underneath which rivers flow, wherein they will abide forever bountiful reward for those who act.

In it, glad tidings of forgiveness and Paradise are given the sinning bondsmen who are not habitual sinners but their state is that they feel sincere regret when they go astray and are guilty of a major or minor transgression and turn to the Lord in earnest repentance.

In this Tradition the Prophet ﷺ has said that the best way to beseech pardon of Allah is to offer two rak'at, after performing ablution, and, then, pray for the remission of one's sins. The sin will, in that case, be forgiven.

Salatul Hajat

(٦٩٩/٢٢٧) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ أَبِي أَوْفَى قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ كَانَتْ لَهُ حَاجَةٌ إِلَى اللَّهِ أَوْ إِلَى أَحَدٍ مِنْ بَنِي آدَمَ فَلْيَتَوَضَّأْ فَلْيُحْسِنِ الْوُضُوءَ ثُمَّ لْيُصَلِّ رَكْعَتَيْنِ ثُمَّ لْيُثْنِ عَلَى اللَّهِ تَعَالَى وَلْيُصَلِّ عَلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثُمَّ لْيَقُلْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ الْحَلِيمُ الْكَرِيمُ. سُبْحَانَ اللَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَرْشِ الْعَظِيمِ وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ أَسْأَلُكَ مُوجِبَاتِ رَحْمَتِكَ وَعَزَائِمَ مَغْفِرَتِكَ وَالْغَنِيمَةَ مِنْ كُلِّ بَرٍّ وَالسَّلَامَةَ مِنْ كُلِّ آثِمٍ لَا تَدْعُ لِي ذَنْبًا إِلَّا غَفَرْتَهُ وَلَا هَمًّا إِلَّا فَرَجْتَهُ وَلَا حَاجَةً هِيَ لَكَ رِضًا إِلَّا قَضَيْتَهَا يَا أَرْحَمَ الرَّاحِمِينَ

(رواه الترمذی و ابن ماجه)

(699/227) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin Abu Awfa ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever has a need, in relation to Allah or man (i.e., no matter whether it is connected directly with Allah and no bondsman comes into the picture or apparently, with a bondsman), he should first perform

Wudu, and perform it well, and, then, offer 2 rak'at prayer, and, then, recite praises in honour of Allah, and, then, send blessings on the Prophet ﷺ, and, then, beseech the Lord in these words:

لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ الْحَلِيمُ الْكَرِيمُ . سُبْحَانَ اللَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَرْشِ الْعَظِيمِ وَالْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ

(There is no deity but Allah, the Most Benevolent, the Most Grecious. Sublime is He who is the Owner of the Great throne.
All praise is for Allah who is the Lord of the Worlds. O Allah! I beg of You deeds and virtues and states that are a source of Your Mercy and a sure means to Your Forgiveness, and I beg
You a share in all good things, and I seek Your protection from all evils. O Allah! Forgive me all my sins and remove from me every anxiety and distress and fulfil my every need that may be pleasing to You. You are the Most Merciful of those who show mercy." (Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: It is a matter of faith with all truthful Believers that everything lies in the hands of Allah and what may seem to be done through the agency of man, actually, gets accomplished by His command. Salatul Hajah, indicated by the sacred Prophet ﷺ in the above Tradition, is the most effective means of getting one's needs granted by Him. It is the everyday experience of the bondsmen who are fortunate enough to place reliance on these spiritual realities. They, indeed, have come to regard Salatul Hajah as the key to the treasures of the Lord.

In this Tradition the Prophet ﷺ has advised us to take recourse to Salatul Hajah for the fulfilment of such wants also that, apparently, are connected with this or that bondsman. One of its exceptional advantages is that when we will pray to Allah in this manner, after offering the two rak'at of Salatul Hajat, for our needs of a similar kind, our belief that it is not the bondsman but Allah who is the disperser of wants will grow stronger and we will begin to look upon the bondsman only as a tool of Divine will and purpose. After it, when we will see a need of ours being fulfilled, it will not have the effect of weakening or undermining our faith in the Unity of Allah.

(٧٠٠/٢٢٨) عَنْ حُذَيْفَةَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا حَزَبَهُ أَمْرٌ صَلَّى .
(رواه ابو داود)

(700/228) Huzaifah رضي الله عنه related to us that it was custom of the Prophet ﷺ that whenever he was confronted with a preplexing situation he engaged himself in prayer. (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: In the Qur'an, too, the bondsmen are exhorted:

اسْتَعِينُوا بِالصَّبْرِ وَالصَّلَاةِ (البقره ١٥٣:٢)

Seek help in steadfastness and prayer (Al-Baqarah 2:153)

The Prophet ﷺ, accordingly, used to occupy himself in prayer of seeking the help of Allah in every difficulty and the detailed manner of it that he taught to his followers is contained in Abdullah bin Abi Awfa's narrative given earlier.

Salat Istikhara

The knowledge of man is limited. It is, also, imperfect. Often it happens that he want to do a thing the outcome of which is not good for him. The Prophet ﷺ has advised us to offer *Salatul Istakhara*¹ when we have an important decision to take but cannot make up our mind, and, through it, beseech Allah for guidance and good fortune.

(٧٠١/٢٢٩) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُعَلِّمُنَا الْإِسْتِخَارَةَ فِي الْأُمُورِ كَمَا يُعَلِّمُنَا السُّورَةَ مِنَ الْقُرْآنِ يَقُولُ إِذَا هُمْ أَحَدُكُمْ بِالْأَمْرِ فَلْيَرْكَعْ رُكْعَتَيْنِ مِنْ غَيْرِ الْفَرِيضَةِ ثُمَّ لِيَقُلْ . اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَسْتَخِيرُكَ

①. Istikhara denotes the act of imploring Allah to guide one to the right course concerning an endeavour.

بِعِلْمِكَ وَاسْتَقْدِرِكَ بِقُدْرَتِكَ وَأَسْأَلُكَ مِنْ فَضْلِكَ الْعَظِيمِ فَإِنَّكَ تَقْدِرُ وَلَا أَقْدِرُ وَتَعْلَمُ وَلَا أَعْلَمُ وَأَنْتَ عَلَّامُ الْغُيُوبِ. اللَّهُمَّ إِنْ كُنْتَ تَعْلَمُ أَنَّ هَذَا الْأَمْرَ خَيْرٌ لِي فِي دِينِي وَمَعَاشِي وَعَاقِبَةِ أَمْرِي (أَوْ قَالَ فِي عَاجِلِ أَمْرِي وَآجِلِهِ) فَاقْدِرْهُ لِي وَيَسِّرْهُ لِي ثُمَّ بَارِكْ لِي فِيهِ وَإِنْ كُنْتَ تَعْلَمُ أَنَّ هَذَا الْأَمْرَ شَرٌّ لِي فِي دِينِي وَمَعَاشِي وَعَاقِبَةِ أَمْرِي (أَوْ قَالَ فِي عَاجِلِ أَمْرِي وَآجِلِهِ) فَاصْرِفْهُ عَنِّي وَاصْرِفْنِي عَنْهُ وَاقْدِرْ لِي الْخَيْرَ حَيْثُ كَانَ ثُمَّ أَرْضِنِي بِهِ قَالَ وَيُسَمِّي حَاجَتَهُ.

(رواه البخاری)
(701/229) It is related by Jabir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ taught us the method of doing Istikhara in our affairs with the same care and solicitude with which he taught us the verses of the Qur'an. He said: "When anyone of you decides to do a thing (and is worried about the outcome, he should do Istikhara like this). (He should) first offer 2 rak'ats of Nafil, and, then, entreat the Lord in these words:

اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَسْتَخِيرُكَ بِعِلْمِكَ وَاسْتَقْدِرُكَ بِقُدْرَتِكَ وَأَسْأَلُكَ مِنْ فَضْلِكَ الْعَظِيمِ فَإِنَّكَ تَقْدِرُ وَلَا أَقْدِرُ وَتَعْلَمُ وَلَا أَعْلَمُ وَأَنْتَ عَلَّامُ الْغُيُوبِ. اللَّهُمَّ إِنْ كُنْتَ تَعْلَمُ أَنَّ هَذَا الْأَمْرَ خَيْرٌ لِي فِي دِينِي وَمَعَاشِي وَعَاقِبَةِ أَمْرِي (أَوْ قَالَ فِي عَاجِلِ أَمْرِي وَآجِلِهِ) فَاقْدِرْهُ لِي وَيَسِّرْهُ لِي ثُمَّ بَارِكْ لِي فِيهِ وَإِنْ كُنْتَ تَعْلَمُ أَنَّ هَذَا الْأَمْرَ شَرٌّ لِي فِي دِينِي وَمَعَاشِي وَعَاقِبَةِ أَمْرِي (أَوْ قَالَ فِي عَاجِلِ أَمْرِي وَآجِلِهِ) فَاصْرِفْهُ عَنِّي وَاصْرِفْنِي عَنْهُ وَاقْدِرْ لِي الْخَيْرَ حَيْثُ كَانَ ثُمَّ أَرْضِنِي بِهِ

Allahumma in-ni astakhiruka bi' ilmika wa astaqdiruka bi-qudratika wa as'aluka min fadlikal 'azeem, fa-in-naka taqdiru wa laa aqdiru wa t'alamu wa laa aalamu wa anta 'allamul ghuyoob. Allahumma in kunta t'alamu in-na hazzal amra khairun-li fi deeni wa ma'ashi wa 'aaqibati amri (Awqaala fi 'aajiliamri wa jilihi) faa aqdir-hu li wa yassir-hu li thumma baarika li feehi wa in kunta t'alamu an-na haazal amra sharrun-li fi deeni wa ma'ashi wa 'aaqibati amri (Awqaala fi 'aajiliamri wa ajilihi) faasrifhu 'an-ni wasrifni 'an-hu waqdir liya-al-khaira haithu kaana thum-ma ardhini bihi

(O Allah! I seek good guidance from Your through Your Attribute of Knowledge, and I seek strength from You though Your Attribute of Power, and I beg You for Your Great Favour. You are All-Powerful, and I am helpless; You are All-Knowing and I am ignorant. And You know the Unseen. If in Your knowledge this thing is good for me, for my Faith, and my world, and the Hereafter, ordain it for me, and make it easy for me, and bless me in it. And if in Your Knowledge it is harmful for me, for my Faith, and my world, and the Hereafter, keep me away from it and prevent me from doing it, and ordain for me what is and, then, make me contented with it)."

The narrator added that the Prophet ﷺ, also, said: "The thing for which Istikhara is done should be specifically mentioned while making the supplication." (Bukhari)

Commentary: As it is clear from the above supplication, the essence of Istikhara lies in the fact that the bondsman, while acknowledging his own ignorance and helplessness, seeks help and guidance from the Omniscient and Omnipotent Lord and master entrusts his affair to His charge and leaves it to Him to do about it what He thinks best. He surrenders aim and interest to the Divine Will and when this supplication is made as it ought to be, with all sincerity and conviction, it can not be that Allah did not help and guide him. It is not revealed in this Tradition how the guidance of Allah will be made available to the bondsmen, but experience tells that, generally, it is through a dream or some other indirect suggestion from the Unknown. Sometimes, it, also, happens that, without an apparent reason, the inclination to do the particular thing grows or the heart turns away from it altogether. Both of these states should be believed in as from Allah and the outcome of the supplication. If the feeling of uncertainty persists after Istikhara, it should be done again and no steps taken until a distinct inclination is produced, one way or the other.

Salatul Tasbih

(٧٠٢/٢٣٠) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لِلْعَبَّاسِ بْنِ عَبْدِ الْمُطَّلِبِ يَا عَبَّاسُ يَا عَمَّاهُ لَا أُعْطِيكَ إِلَّا أَمْنُحُكَ إِلَّا أَخْبِرُكَ إِلَّا أَفْعَلُ

(رواه ابوداؤد و ابن ماجه والبيهقي في الدعوات الكبير . وروى الترمذى عن ابى رافع نحوه) (702/230) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that, one day, the Prophet ﷺ said to his uncle, Abbas bin Abdul Muttalib رضي الله عنه: "O Abbas! O my respected uncle! May I offer you a precious gift and a valuable present? May I tell you something special? May I do ten jobs for you and render you ten services (i.e., tell you about an act from which ten benefits may accrue)? (It is such an act that if you perform it) Allah will forgive you all your sins, of the past as well as the future, older as well as new, intentional as well as unintentional, major as well as minor, hidden as well as manifest. (It is Salatut-Tasbih, and the method of offering it is) that you say 4 rak'at of Nafl and recite surah Al-Fateha and some other surah in every rak'at. When you have finished the recital in the first rak'at say, Subhaan Allah wa al-hamdu lil-laah wa laa ilaaha il-lallah wa Allahu Akbar 15 times while still standing, and, then, perform ruku and say it 10 times, and, then, say it 10 times, again in the state of qiyam, as you arise from ruku, and, then, perform sajdah and say it 10 times during sajdah also, and, then, say it 10 times jalsa, as you rise up from sajdah, and, then, say it 10 times in the second sajdah, and, then, 10 times after it (i.e., before getting up from the second sajdah). Offer all the 4 rak'at like that and utter the Kalima of Subhan Allah wa al-hamdu lil-laah wa laa ilaaha il-lallaah wa Allahu Akbar 75 times (in all) in the same order in every rak'at. (My uncle), if you can manage it, offer this prayer every day, and if you cannot do so every day then every Friday, and if even that not be possible, once in a year, and in case, too, cannot to be done then once in your life."

(Abu Dawood, Ibn Majah and Baihaqi)

Commentary: The exhortation by the Prophet ﷺ to offer Salatut Tasbih has been quoted in standard compilations of the Traditions, on the authority of a number of Companions. Imam Tirmizi, after quoting the narrative of the Prophet's ﷺ attendant and manumitted slave, Abu Rafi', remarks that Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ, Abdullah bin Amr and Fazl bin Abbas, also, have related it. Hafiz Ibn Hajr has discussed at length the reports concerning Salatut Tasbih and the documentary evidence of their transmission, in course of the refutation of *Ibn al-Jawzi*¹, and concluded that this Tradition is, at least, authentic in the second degree. Some Taba'een and Tab'a Taba'een, including the renowned jurist, Abdullah bin Mubarak, too, are known to have described the virtues of Salatut Tasbih and urged the people to observe it which clearly shows that, in their view, it had been, definitely, taught by the Prophet ﷺ, and, in the subsequent ages, many men of outstanding virtue and holiness have been offering it regularly. Making an original point, Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه observes that the Prophet ﷺ has taught a number of supplications and God remembrance for recitation in prayer, particularly the Nwafil. Now, the bondsmen who fail to include them fully in their prayer, and, thus, remain deprived of the good fortune to offer a most perfect prayer, inclusive of these formulas, for them Salatut Tasbih becomes a substitute since it gives fullest expression to the glorification and exaltation of Allah. Moreover, as one and the same formula is to be repeated in it, again and again, even the common people can offer it easily. According to the method and arrangement of Salatut Tasbih stated by Imam Tirmizi and others, on the authority of Abdullah bin Mubarak, Subhanak allahumma wa bihamdika wa tabaraksmuka wa ta'ala jadduka wa laa ilaaha ghairuka is, also, to be said before recitation, and Subhana rabbiyal azeem in ruku and Subhana rabbiyal a'ala in sajdah, as in any other prayer, and in every rak'at, Subhan Allah wa al-hamdu lil-lah wa laa ilaaha il-lallaah wa Allahu Akbar is repeated 15 times before and 10 times after the recitation in qiyam. The Kalima is thus said 25 times in the qiyam of each rak'at but it is not recited after the second sajdah in any rak'at. In all, it will be said 75 times in every rak'at and 300 times in the whole prayer. Nonetheless, both the methods of Salatut Tasbih are in vogue and one can adopt whichever of the two one likes.

①. Allama Ibn al-Jawzi is famous for his extremist views on the Traditions. He has declared many reports false and fictitious whose authenticity is beyond doubt according to the other authorities. The Tradition regarding Salatut Tasbih, too, has been rejected by him as untrue.

That prayer is a source of remission of sins and purification from the unclean effects is set forth, doctrinally, in the Qur'an as well:

أَقِمِ الصَّلَاةَ طَرَفَيِ النَّهَارِ وَزُلْفَا مِنَ اللَّيْلِ إِنَّ الْحَسَنَاتِ يُذْهِبُنَ السَّيِّئَاتِ
(سوره هود. ١١: ١١٤)

Establish worship at the two ends of the day and in some watches of the night. Lo! good deeds annual ill deeds

(Hud 11:114)

But the unique place Salatut Tasbih occupies in this regard has been distinctly shown in Abdallah bin Abbas's narrative quoted above, and it is, by its blessedness, that all the earlier and subsequent, old and new, intentional and unintentional, major and minor, and manifest and hidden sins are forgiven by Allah.

It is stated in a Tradition quoted in Abu Dawood that the Prophet ﷺ while exhorting one of his Companions ؓ, Abdullah bin Amr, to offer Salatut Tasbih Said:

“فَإِنَّكَ لَوْ كُنْتَ أَكْثَرُ أَهْلِ الْأَرْضِ ذَنْبًا غُفِرَ لَكَ بِذَلِكَ”

"Even if you happen to be the greatest sinner in the world, Allah will forgive you owing to its propitiousness."

May Allah save us from depriving ourselves of this blessing and may He join us with those who benefit from it.

A Special Advantage of Nafil Prayers

Our discussion on Nafil prayers has concluded. Let us read the following hadith:

(٧٠٣/٢٣١) عَنْ حُرَيْثِ بْنِ قَبِيصَةَ قَالَ قَدِمْتُ الْمَدِينَةَ فَقُلْتُ اَللّٰهُمَّ يَسِّرْ لِيْ جَلِيْسًا صَالِحًا فَجَلَسْتُ اِلَى اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ فَقُلْتُ اِنِّىْ سَأَلْتُ اللّٰهَ اَنْ يَّرْزُقَنِىْ جَلِيْسًا صَالِحًا فَحَدَّثَنِىْ بِحَدِيْثٍ سَمِعْتُهُ مِنْ رَّسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صَلَّى اللّٰهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَعَلَّ اللّٰهَ اَنْ يَنْفَعَنِىْ بِهِ فَقَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَّسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صَلَّى اللّٰهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُوْلُ اِنَّ اَوَّلَ مَا يُحَاسَبُ بِهِ الْعَبْدُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ مِنْ عَمَلِهِ صَلَوَتُهُ اِنْ صَلَحَتْ فَقَدْ أَفْلَحَ وَانْجَحَ وَاِنْ فَسَدَتْ فَقَدْ خَابَ وَخَسِرَ اِنْ اَنْتَقَصَ مِنْ فَرِيْضَتِهِ شَيْئًا قَالَ الرَّبُّ تَعَالٰى اَنْظِرُوْهُ هَلْ لِعَبْدِيْ مِنْ تَطَوُّعٍ؟ لِيَكْمُلَ بِهِ مَا اَنْتَقَصَ مِنَ الْفَرِيْضَةِ ثُمَّ يَكُوْنُ سَائِرُ اَعْمَالِهِ عَلَى ذٰلِكَ .
(رواه الترمذى و النسائى)

(703/231) Harith bin Qabisah narrated that on coming to Madinah, he prayed to God: O Allah! Grant me the company of a virtuous bondsman of Thine. Later, as he went to see Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه, he said to him: 'I had prayed to God to grant me the company of a virtuous bondsman (and now I have come to you). Relate a Tradition to me which you may have, personally heard from the Prophet ﷺ. I hope God will make it beneficial for me.' Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه, thereupon, related this Tradition. He said: "I heard the Prophet say: On the Day of Reckoning the first thing to be brought to account from among the deeds of the bondsman will be prayers, and his prayers will be examined. So, if his prayers turns to be good, the bondsman will be successful, and if it turn out to be bad, the bondsman will be lost. If there is deficiency in his prayers, Allah will, say: Look, if there are any other virtuous acts (i.e., Sunnat and Nawafil), apart from duties, in My bondsman's stock of deeds so that the deficiency in (the fulfilment of) obligatory tasks can be made up with them. The Reckoning of all other deeds, besides prayers, will, then, be done in the same way." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: This one hadith is by itself sufficient to highlight the significance of Sunnah and Nawafil.

SPECIAL CONGREGATIONAL PRAYERS

FRIDAY AND THE TWO EIDS

In addition to the five obligatory prayers which ought to be offered congregationally and the Sunnah and Nafl prayers that are offered individually, there are a few prayers which are offered only in congregation and can justly be described as the grand peculiarity of the Muslim Community. One of these is the weekly Friday prayer and the others are the prayers of Eidul Fitr and Eid-ul-Adha that are held once each in a year.

The advantages of offering the five obligatory prayers congregationally are obtained on a larger scale from the prayer, of a Friday and the two Eids, but there are some other gains, too, that are related to them exclusively.

We will, first, make some brief observation about the Friday prayers which will, perhaps, be helpful in understanding the aim and purpose of the Traditions appertaining to them.

As only the Muslims of a limited area or part of a town popularly called locality can gather together for the five daily prayers, a day has been set apart in the week on which the Muslims of the whole town can collect in a large mosque for a special prayer.¹

①. From the extraordinary significance attached to the Friday prayer in the Shari'ah as well as the general conduct of the Ummah during the time of the Prophet ﷺ, the Companions and the Tab'a'een and even later on, it would appear that it should be held, as far as possible, only at one place in a town or settlement. If, however, there is no such mosque in which all the worshippers can assemble, some other suitable mosques can be marked out for it according to the need. But even then care should be taken that the Friday prayer is offered in one mosque alone in a quarter or part of a town. The practice of holding the prayer in all mosques of a locality is against the spirit and intention of Shari'ah.

The most appropriate time for such a prayer would, obviously, be that of Zuhr, and, out of the 4 rak'at of Zuhr, only two have been described for the Friday prayer. In order to make the congregation more effective and beneficial from the educational and instructional point of view, the Khutba, i.e., sermon has been enjoined in the place of the two omitted rak'at, and Friday has been fixed for it because it is the greatest and most auspicious day of the week. Just as, on all days the Divine Grace and Benevolence is directed, in the greatest degree, towards the bondsmen during the last hours of the night, and one night, i.e., Laylatul Qadr — the Night of Power — is most blessed of all the nights of the year, in the same way among the seven days of the week, Friday is the day of special favour of Allah, and, as will be seen from the Traditions given below, it is for this reason that events of utmost importance to mankind have taken place and are going to take place, from the side of Allah, on it.

On account of these peculiarities, Friday was selected for a magnificent weekly congregational prayer and the Muslims were required strictly to participate in it. They are exhorted, or, in a sense, it is demanded of them, to take a bath, put on a good, clean dress and apply perfume, if available, before going for the prayers so that, apart from inner and spiritual blessings, the solemn congregation may, also, present a neat and delightful spectacle and bear the closest possible resemblance to the sacred assembly of the angels.

Superiority of Friday

(٧٠٤/٢٣٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ خَيْرُ يَوْمٍ طَلَعَتْ عَلَيْهِ الشَّمْسُ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ فِيهِ خُلِقَ آدَمُ وَفِيهِ أُدْخِلَ الْجَنَّةَ وَفِيهِ أُخْرِجَ مِنْهَا وَلَا تَقُومُ السَّاعَةُ إِلَّا فِي يَوْمِ الْجُمُعَةِ. (رواه مسلم)

(704/232) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Of all the seven days on which the sun rises (i.e., of all the days of week), the best and most superior is Friday. It was on a Friday that Allah created Adam, and a Friday on which he was admitted to Heaven and a Friday on which he was taken out of Heaven sent down to world (where the human race originated from him), and the Hour (of Doom) will, also, be on a Friday". (Muslim)

Durood Sharif is The Special Prayer Formula of Friday

(٧٠٥/٢٣٣) عَنْ أَوْسِ بْنِ أَوْسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ مِنْ أَفْضَلِ أَيَّامِكُمْ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ فِيهِ خُلِقَ آدَمُ وَفِيهِ قُبِضَ وَفِيهِ النَّفْخَةُ وَفِيهِ الصَّعْقَةُ فَأَكْثِرُوا عَلَيَّ مِنَ الصَّلَاةِ فِيهِ فَإِنَّ صَلَاتَكُمْ مَعْرُوضَةٌ عَلَيَّ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ وَكَيْفَ تُعَرِّضُ صَلَاتُنَا عَلَيْكَ وَقَدْ أَرِمْتَ؟ قَالَ يَقُولُونَ بَلَيْتَ قَالَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ حَرَّمَ عَلَى الْأَرْضِ أَجْسَادَ الْأَنْبِيَاءِ .

(رواه ابو داؤد و النسائي و ابن ماجة والدارمي و البيهقي فى الدعوات الكبير)

(705/233) It is related by Aws bin Aus Thaqafi رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Friday is among the most superior days. It was on it that Adam was created, and it was on it that he died, and it will be on it that the Trumpet of Doom will be sounded, and it will be on it that the slumber of death will descend upon all created beings. You should, therefore, invoke blessings (send Durood) much and often on me on a Friday for Durood is communicated and will continue to be communicated to me." The Companions, thereupon, asked: "O Messenger of Allah! (after your death) how will our Durood be carried to You? Your body will have been reduced to dust in the grave." The Prophet ﷺ replied: "Allah has forbidden the dead bodies of the Prophets to the earth (i.e., their dead bodies remain untouched in the grave and the earth can bring about no change in them)." (Abu Dawood, Nasai, Ibn Majah, Daarami and Baihaqi)

Commentary: It shows that just as the special prayer of the month of Ramzan is the recital of the Qur'an and of the Haj, the slogan of Labbaik allahumma labbaik, the sepcial prayer of Friday is Durood. It should, therefore, be offered profusely on it.

In it, the Prophet ﷺ has also revealed that it has been so arranged by Allah that Durood of the Ummah is presented before him and it shall continue to be so even after his death. (In some other Traditions it is also stated that the angels cary Durood to the Prophet ﷺ). Upon it, some Companions رضي الله عنهم thought that the coming of the angels to the Prophet ﷺ and the carrying of Durood to him was quite understandable and also known to them, but when after his death the Prophet ﷺ will be buried in the grave, and, according to the law of nature, his earthly frame will be reduced to dust, how will Durood be communicated to him. They, therefore, enquired about it from the Prophet ﷺ who explained to them that by the command of Allah the dead bodies of the Prophets عليهم السلام remain intact in the graves and the earth does not carry out its natural action upon them, i.e., as in the world corpses can be preserved from decay by impregnating them with certain chemicals or some other means, so has the Almighty made the dead bodies of His Messengers safe in the graves and an unusual existence is conferred on them which is quite in keeping with laws of the world that lies on the other side of death. The process of the communication and presentation of Durood will, thus, go on without an interruption after death as well.

Hour of Exceptional Propitiousness On a Friday

(٧٠٦/٢٣٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ فِي الْجُمُعَةِ لَسَاعَةً لَا يُؤَافِقُهَا عَبْدٌ مُسْلِمٌ يَسْأَلُ اللَّهَ فِيهَا خَيْرًا إِلَّا أَعْطَاهُ إِيَّاهُ .

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(706/234) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There comes a time on a Friday when if a Muslim bondsman is fortunate enough to supplicate to God for something worth having, God grants it (to him)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that in the way a special night of mercy and acceptance (Laylatu Qadr) has been set apart in a whole year in which it is most opportune to supplicate to Allah and offer sincere repentance and there is a distinct possibility of its acceptance, there is, also, in the week, a time exceptional propitiousness on Friday in which if anyone beseeches Allah for a good and lawful thing, there is the confident expectation of its being granted to him. Abu Hurayrah has stated, on the authority of Abdullah bin Salaam and K'ab Ahbaar, that the occurrence of the "hour of acceptance" on a Friday has, also, been mentioned in Torah and both of these Companions were among the foremost scholars of Torah and other ancient scriptures.

Commentators have alluded to various sources in their attempts to determine precisely the Friday's "hour of acceptance." Two portions of time, however, have been indicated in the Traditions as well:

(i) From the time the Imam ascends the pulpit for delivering the sermon till the end of the prayer. In other words, the time of the sermon and of the prayer is most propitious for supplication to the Lord.

(ii) From the time of the conclusion of the 'Asr prayer till the setting of the sun.

Commenting on the two specifications, Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه remarks: "The aim of both of these observations is not to demarcate the hour precisely but only to show that since the time of the sermon and the prayer is, particularly, the time of God-remembrance and supplication, it can be hoped that the 'hour of acceptance' lies in it, and, similarly, as the time for the descent of Fate or the end or termination of the day, it can be hoped that the 'hour of acceptance' was contained in it."¹

Some authorities have, further, suggested that the special moment of time on a Friday has been kept vague for the same reason for which Laylatu Qadr has been left undefined. As some indirect suggestions have been given in the Traditions about Laylatu Qadr that it lies in the odd nights of the last ten days of the month of Ramadan, particularly on the night of the 27th of that month, so also, have some hints been given in the Traditions to the effect that the 'hour of acceptance' on a Friday occurs at the time of the sermon and the prayer and during the period intervening between Asr and Maghrib so that the bondsmen may, at least, devote themselves, with earnest care and solicitude, to God-remembrance and supplication during those hours.

We have seen about some of our elders that they do not like to meet or talk to anyone during that part of a Friday and keep themselves occupied with meditation, prayer and supplication.

Special Significance of Friday Prayer

(٧٠٧/٢٣٥) عَنْ طَارِقِ بْنِ شَهَابٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْجُمُعَةُ حَقٌّ وَاجِبٌ عَلَى كُلِّ مُسْلِمٍ فِي جَمَاعَةٍ إِلَّا عَلَى أَرْبَعَةٍ عَبْدٍ مَمْلُوكٍ أَوْ امْرَأَةٍ أَوْ صَبِيٍّ أَوْ مَرِيضٍ .
(رواه ابوداؤد)

(707/235) It is related by Tariq bin Shahab that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "To offer the Friday prayers in congregation is obligatory for a Muslim. Four kinds of men are exempted from it: (i) the slave who is legally owned by someone: (ii) the women; (iii) the boy who has not attained majority and (iv) the sick."

(Abu Dawood)

(٧٠٨/٢٣٦) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ وَ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّهُمَا قَالَ سَمِعْنَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَى أَغْوَادٍ مِنْبَرِهِ لَيَنْتَهِينَ أَقْوَامٌ عَنْ وَدْعِهِمُ الْجُمُعَاتِ أَوْ لَيَخْتَمِنَ اللَّهُ عَلَى قُلُوبِهِمْ ثُمَّ لَيَكُونَنَّ مِنَ الْغَفْلِينَ .
(رواه مسلم)

(708/236) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه and Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه, both of them, related to us that they heard it from the Prophet ﷺ: he was saying it from the pulpit that those who omit the Friday prayer should either desist from it or it will so happen that God will set a seal on their hearts in punishment of the sin, and they will, then, be among the heedless (and will not get an opportunity to reform themselves).

(Muslim)

(٧٠٩/٢٣٧) عَنْ أَبِي الْجَعْدِ الضَّمَرِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ تَرَكَ ثَلَاثَ جُمُعٍ تَهَاوَنًا بِهَا طَبَعَ اللَّهُ عَلَى قَلْبِهِ. (رواه ابوداؤد و الترمذی و النسائی و ابن ماجه و الدارمی و رواه مالک عن صفوان بن سليم و احمد عن ابی قتاده)

(709/237) It is related by Abu Al-Ja'd Ad Damri that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Whoever will omit three Fridays (i.e., the congregational Fridays prayers three times) without a valid reason become of eariness, Allah shall set a seal on his heart (and, then, he will be deprived of the good fortune to reform himself)."

(Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Nasai and Ibn Majah)

(٧١٠/٢٣٨) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَنْ تَرَكَ الْجُمُعَةَ مِنْ غَيْرِ ضَرُورَةٍ كُتِبَ مُنَافِقًا فِي كِتَابٍ لَا يُمْحَى وَلَا يُبَدَّلُ وَفِي بَعْضِ

الرَّوَايَاتِ ثَلَاثًا. (رواه الشافعي)

(710/238) Sayyidina Ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه has said that the Prophet ﷺ said, "If anyone neglects the Friday prayers without valid reason then he is recorded as a hypocrite in the Record Book which is never amended or changed." In some versions it is stated that if he neglects three Fridays.

Commentary: The significance attached to Friday in the ahadith and the warning on neglecting it is very clear and needs no explanation.

May Allah keep us away from all sorts of disobedience because of which one deprives oneself of His mercy and has a seal affixed to his heart. O Allah preserve us!

Proprities

(٧١١/٢٣٩) عَنْ سَلْمَانَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَغْتَسِلَ رَجُلٌ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ وَيَتَطَهَّرُ مَا اسْتَطَاعَ مِنْ طَهْرٍ وَيُدْهِنُ مِنْ دُهْنِهِ أَوْ يَمْسُ مِنْ طِيبٍ بَيْتِهِ ثُمَّ يَخْرُجُ فَلَا يَفْرُقُ بَيْنَ اثْنَيْنِ ثُمَّ يُصَلِّي مَا كَتَبَ لَهُ ثُمَّ يُنْصِتُ إِذَا تَكَلَّمَ الْإِمَامُ إِلَّا غُفِرَ لَهُ مَا بَيْنَهُ وَبَيْنَ الْجُمُعَةِ الْآخِرَى. (رواه البخاري)

(711/239) It is related by Salman Farsi رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever takes a bath on a Friday and pays attention to cleanliness, as far as possible, and applies whatever oil and perfume there is in his house, and, then, goes out for the prayer, and, on reaching the mosque, takes care not to sit between two persons which may, already, be sitting next to each other, and, then, offers the prayers, i.e., Sunnah and Nafil that may be decreed for him, and then, listens attentively when the Imam delivers the sermon, all his sins between that Friday and the next will be forgiven by Allah." (Bukhari)

(٧١٢/٢٤٠) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ وَ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ اغْتَسَلَ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ وَلَبَسَ مِنْ أَحْسَنِ ثِيَابِهِ وَمَسَّ مِنْ طِيبٍ إِنْ كَانَ عِنْدَهُ ثُمَّ أَتَى الْجُمُعَةَ فَلَمْ يَتَخَطَّ أَغْنَاقَ النَّاسِ ثُمَّ صَلَّى مَا كَتَبَ اللَّهُ لَهُ ثُمَّ أَنْصَتَ إِذَا خَرَجَ إِمَامُهُ حَتَّى يَفْرَغَ مِنْ صَلَوَتِهِ كَانَتْ كَفَّارَةً لِمَا بَيْنَهَا وَبَيْنَ

الْجُمُعَةِ الَّتِي قَبْلَهَا. (رواه ابوداؤد)

(712/240) Abu Sa'eed and Abu Hurayrah رضى الله عنهما reported the Messenger of Allah ﷺ as saying, "If anyone bathes on a Friday, puts on his best clothes, applies a touch of perfume if he has any, then goes to the congregational prayer and takes care not to step over people then prays what Allah has prescribed for him, then keeps silent from the time the Imam comes to deliver the Khutba till he finishes the prayer, it will atone for his sins during the previous week." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: We have already discussed the importance attached by Shari'ah to bath on Friday in the chapter on Ghusl. These two ahadith also mention some other procedures on Friday: attention to cleanliness, best clothes, perfume, care not to disturb other worshippers in the mosque like squeezing two people already seated, jumping over other people already seated, to offer sunnah or optional prayer, listen to the sermon attentively. The hadith tell us that when the Friday prayer is observed carefully then it atones for the sins of the week and becomes a tool of forgiveness for the worshipper. It is common sense that if anyone is attentive to these things then he gets a spiritual awakening and finds the results in his life and invites the mercy and forgiveness of Allah.

(٧١٣/٢٤١) عَنْ عُبَيْدِ بْنِ السَّبَّاقِ مُرْسَلًا قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي جُمُعَةٍ مِنَ الْجُمُعِ يَا مَعْشَرَ الْمُسْلِمِينَ إِنَّ هَذَا يَوْمٌ جَعَلَهُ اللَّهُ عِيدًا فَأَغْتَسِلُوا وَمَنْ كَانَ عِنْدَهُ طِيبٌ فَلَا يَضُرُّهُ أَنْ يَمَسَّ مِنْهُ وَعَلَيْكُمْ بِالسَّوَاكِ . (رواه مالك ورواه ابن ماجه وهو عن ابن عباس متصلا)

(713/241) It is related by way of *Mursal*¹, by Ubayd bin As-Sabbag Tabā'ee that the Prophet ﷺ, while delivering the sermon on a Friday said: "O Muslims! Allah has made this day of Friday an Eid; so take a bath on it, and whoever has perfume, there is no harm if he applies, it and use the Miswak, positively, on that day." (Ibn Majah)

①. Sometimes a Tab'ee relates a Tradition but does not mention the name of the Companion through whom it had reached him. Such a Tradition is called Mursal.

Clipping The Moustaches And Paring Off The Nails

(٧١٤/٢٤٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يَقْلِمُ أَظْفَارَهُ وَيَقْصُ شَارِبَهُ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَخْرُجَ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ.

(رواه البزار والطبراني في الاوسط)

(714/242) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه narrated that the Prophet ﷺ used to pare off his nails and clip moustaches before going out for the Friday prayer.¹

Wearing Good Clothes

(٧١٥/٢٤٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ السَّلَامِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا عَلَى أَحَدِكُمْ أَنْ وَجَدَانِ يَتَّخِذَ ثَوْبَيْنِ لِيَوْمِ الْجُمُعَةِ سِوَى ثَوْبِي مَهْنَتِهِ.

(رواه ابن ماجه ورواه مالك عن يحيى بن سعيد)

(715/243) It is related by Abdullah bin Salaam رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There is no harm for anyone of you who can afford it to keep a special dress for a Friday in addition to the clothes he wears everyday during working hours."

(Ibn Majah)

Commentary: It could be imagined that to have a special dress, apart from everyday clothes, was opposed to the spirit of asceticism. The above Tradition is intended to remove the misunderstanding. It shows that since to wear a decent dress, according to one's means, for a religious congregation like that of a Friday, which is the weekly Eid of the Muslims, is pleasing to Allah, there is no harm in having a separate set of clothes for it. It has been mentioned by Tabarani in Mu'ojim Sagheer and Ausat, on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ had a special dress which he used to wear on a Friday, and when he returned home after prayers; I folded it and kept it away and it was taken out again only on the next Friday." The evidence of the reliability of this report, however, does not come up to the standard laid down by the authorities.

①. It should be noted that doubt has been expressed about the veracity of this report but from the manner in which the Prophet has stressed the need of cleanliness on a Friday in Salman Farsi's narrative we have just quoted from Sahih Bukhari it would seem that it includes these things as well.

Going Early For Prayers

(٧١٦/٢٤٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا كَانَ يَوْمُ الْجُمُعَةِ وَقَفَتِ الْمَلَائِكَةُ عَلَى بَابِ الْمَسْجِدِ يَكْتُبُونَ الْأَوَّلَ فَلَاوَلَّ وَمَثَلَ الْمُهَجَّرِ كَمَثَلِ الَّذِي يُهْدَى بُدْنَةً ثُمَّ كَالَّذِي يُهْدَى بَقَرَةً ثُمَّ كَبْشًا ثُمَّ دَجَاجَةً ثُمَّ بَيْضَةً فَإِذَا خَرَجَ الْإِمَامُ طَوَّأَوْا صُحُفَهُمْ وَيَسْتَمِعُونَ الدُّكْرَ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(716/244) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When a Friday comes, angels stand at the door of the mosque and note down, in order of arrival, the names of those who come early. The parable of he who comes at the beginning of the specified time, at noon, is that of a man who offers the sacrifice of a camel to Allah, and of he who is the second to come, of a man who offers the sacrifice of a cow, and of he who is the third to come, of a man who offers the sacrifice a chicken, and of he who is the fifth to come, of a man who offers the sacrifice of an egg. After it, as the Imam proceeds towards the pulpit for delivering the sermon, the angels roll up their papers and join (the congregation) for listening to the sermon." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The real aim of it is to induce men to go early for the Friday congregation and the Prophet ﷺ has sought to explain the difference in the grades and recompense of those who come at different times by using the examples.

Practice of The Prophet ﷺ

(٧١٧/٢٤٥) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا اشْتَدَّ الْبُرْدُ يُكَبِّرُ بِالصَّلَاةِ وَإِذَا اشْتَدَّ الْحَرُّ أَبْرَدَ بِالصَّلَاةِ يَعْنِي الْجُمُعَةَ. (رواه البخارى)

(717/245) Anas رضي الله عنه relates that the general practice of the Prophet ﷺ was that he offered the Friday prayers earlier when it was very cold, and, if it was very hot, he delayed the prayers.

(Bukhari)

(٧١٨/٢٤٦) عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ سَمُرَةَ قَالَ كَانَتْ لِلنَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ خُطْبَتَانِ يَجْلِسُ بَيْنَهُمَا يَقْرَأُ الْقُرْآنَ وَيُذَكِّرُ النَّاسَ فَكَانَتْ صَلَوتُهُ قَصْدًا

(رواه مسلم)

وَحُطْبَتُهُ قَصْدًا

(718/246) Jabir bin Samura رضي الله عنه narrates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to deliver two sermons, and, between them, he used to sit down (for a while). In these sermons he recited the verses of the Qur'an and gave good counsel to the people. Like his prayer, his sermons, too, were moderate. (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that both the prayers and the sermons of the Prophet ﷺ were neither too long nor too brief, but of a reasonable length. As for the recital of the Qur'an during the sermons, we have already seen the verses he normally recited in the Friday service.

(٧١٩/٢٤٧) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا خَطَبَ احْمَرَّتْ عَيْنَاهُ وَغَلَا صَوْتُهُ وَاشْتَدَّ غَضَبُهُ حَتَّى كَأَنَّهُ مُنْذِرُ جَيْشٍ يَقُولُ صَبَّحَكُمْ وَمَسَاكُمْ وَيَقُولُ بُعِثْتُ أَنَا وَالسَّاعَةُ كَهَاتَيْنِ وَيَقْرُنُ بَيْنَ اصْبِغِيهِ السَّبَابَةَ وَالْوُسْطَى.

(رواه مسلم)

(719/247) Jabir رضي الله عنه related to us that when the Prophet ﷺ delivered a sermon, his eyes became red and voice got raised and a state of intense anger and excitement was produced so much so that his condition became that of a person who had (just) returned after seeing the enemy's forces with his own eyes and was urging his community to get ready to defend itself by telling it that the enemy was near and the attack was imminent. The Prophet ﷺ, also, used to say "My raising up and the coming of the Last Day are (close to one another) like these two fingers." and, in order to illustrate the point, he would join together his index and middle fingers. (Muslim)

Commentary: What it shows that the sermons of the Prophet ﷺ were forceful and stirring and his outward condition used to reflect his thoughts and feelings. He dwelt, particularly upon the nearness of the Day of Resurrection and its dreadful happenings and tried to bring home the point by joining together the index and middle fingers and saying that his raising up and the Day of Final Judgement were as close to one another as the two fingers, and no other Prophet ﷺ was going to be sent down in the intervening period. The Hour was going to be during his era of mission. So, let no one be caught unprepared.

Sunnat Before And After Friday Service

(٧٢٠/٢٤٨) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَرْكَعُ قَبْلَ الْجُمُعَةِ أَرْبَعًا وَبَعْدَهَا أَرْبَعًا . (رواه الطبرانی فی الکبیر)

(720/248) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضی اللہ عنہ that the Prophet ﷺ used to offer 4 rak'at before the Friday service and 4 after it.¹ (Tabarani)

(٧٢١/٢٤٩) عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ جَاءَ سُلَيْكُ الْعَطْفَانِيُّ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ وَرَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَاعِدٌ عَلَى الْمِنْبَرِ فَقَعَدَ سُلَيْكُ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُصَلِّيَ فَقَالَ لَهُ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَرَكَعْتَ رَكْعَتَيْنِ قَالَ لَا قَالَ قُمْ فَأَرْكَعْهُمَا . (رواه مسلم)

(721/249) It is related on the authority of Jaber bin Abdullah رضی اللہ عنہ that (once), on a Friday, Sulayk Ghatofani came to the mosque at a time when the Prophet ﷺ had sat on the pulpit (i.e., he had occupied the pulpit for delivering the sermon but had not yet begun). So, Sulaik came in and sat down in the same state before offering prayer (i.e., he did not offer prayer on entering the mosque but sat down n seeing that the Prophet ﷺ had gone to the pulpit for delivering the sermon). The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, asked him: "Have you offered the two rak'at?" Sulaik replied that he had not. The Prophet ﷺ, then, said: "Get up and say the two rak'at first." (Muslim)

Commentary: On the basis of this Tradition, Imam Shaf'ee, Imam Ahmad and some other legists have held that two rak'at of Tahayyatul Masjid are obligatory on that day for anyone who comes to the mosque for the Friday prayer and he should offer them even if the Imam has begun the sermon. But Imam Abu Hanifa, Imam Maalik and Sufiyan Suri and many other legists do not permit prayer to be said at the time of the sermon on the strength of the Traditions in which it is urged that the worshippers should keep quiet during it and listen attentively and is consistent in behaviour of a number of Companions رضي الله عنه and Taba'een. They offer various interpretations of the above incident concerning Sulaik Ghatfani. The arguments of both the sides being equally weighty, prudence demands that on Firdays one should take care to reach the mosque early enough to offer, at least, the two rak'at before the commencement of the sermon.

①. The above narrative of Abdullah bin Abbas has been quoted in Jama-ul-Fawayid from Tabarani, and, with it, it has, also, been indicated that the claim of its narrators is weak and below the standard. But in A'izaabul Muwarid it appears in another form and on the authority of Sayyidina Ali رضی اللہ عنہ and its chain of narrators is free from any doubt. On the other hand, Iraqi has held the evidence of its authenticity to be of the highest order.

(٧٢٢/٢٥٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا صَلَّيْ أَحَدُكُمْ الْجُمُعَةَ فَلْيَصَلِّ بَعْدَهَا أَرْبَعًا .
(رواه مسلم)

(722/250) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you offers the Friday prayers, he should offer another 4 rak'at after it." (Muslim)

(٧٢٣/٢٥١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يُصَلِّي بَعْدَ الْجُمُعَةِ حَتَّى يَنْصَرِفَ فَيُصَلِّي رَكْعَتَيْنِ فِي بَيْتِهِ (رواه البخاري و مسلم)
(723/25) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه relates that the Prophet ﷺ did not offer any prayer after the Friday service till he returned home from the mosque, and, (then), he offered two rak'at at home. (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In the Tradition regarding the Sunnat after the Friday prayer two as well as four and even six rak'at are mentioned.

It is related by Imam Tirmizi about Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه himself that he used to offer two, and, then, four rak'at after Friday prayer (making 6 in all).

The views of the legist-doctors, too, are divergent on it. Some of them prefer 2 while others 4 and even 6 rak'at.

EIDUL FITR AND EIDUL AZHA

Every community observes some festivals. On such occasions, people, according to their circumstances, put on good clothes, eat nice dishes and express their joy in various other ways. The festivals fulfil a fundamental human need, and, hence, a few days are set aside for rejoicing and entertainment in every nation and country.

In Islam, also, two such days have been fixed, those of Eidul Fitr and Eidul Adha. These, alone, are the real religious and communal festivals of Muslims. Whatever festivals they celebrate, aside of them, have no religious basis. From the Islamic point of view, most of them are pure nonsense.

As everyone knows, Eidul Fitr is celebrated on the 1st of Shawwal, after the month of Ramadan, and Eidul Adha on the 10th of Zul Hajjah. Religiously and spiritually, Ramadan is the most blessed month of the year. It was, in it, that the Qur'an was revealed, fasting for the whole of the month was prescribed, an additional congregational prayer was enjoined for its nights, and an increase in every kind of good-doing was earnestly demanded. In short, the whole Ramadhan was declared to be a month of rigorous self-discipline, of the sacrifice of carnal desires, and of profusion in worship and other acts of fealty and obedience to Allah. Evidently, the day that falls on the close of the month is most deserving, from the viewpoint of religious and spiritual excellence to be made a special day of celebration for the whole of Ummah. This very day has, as such, been named Eidul fitr.

In the same way, the 10th of Zul Hajjah is the historic day on which the founder and progenitor of *Ummat-i-Muslīma*¹, Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام, had given a glorious proof of submission and self-abnegation by placing the knife on the thorax of his son, Ismail

①. Signifying the Community of the Faithful.

عليه السلام, and offering him as a sacrifice to Allah on receiving the inspiration, according to his lights, from the Lord. Allah declared Ibrahim عليه السلام successful in the supreme test of love and sacrifice, and keeping Ismail عليه السلام safe and unharmed, accepted the offering of an animal in his place. He had placed the crown of the religious and spiritual leadership of the entire mankind on Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام head and proclaimed the simulation of this act of his to be the "ritual of love" till the end of time. Thus, if a special day was to be appointed for celebration for the Muslim community, which was the rightful successor to the community of Ibrahim عليه السلام and representative of the way of the Friend of Allah, to honour the memory of the wonderful episode, it could only be the 10th of Zul Hajjah. This day was, thus, fixed as the second Eid. The annual congregation of the Hajj of the whole of the Muslim World with its rituals like the sacrifice of animals in the barren land (Wadi-i-Ghair zi zar'a) in which the heroic event of Ibrahim's عليه السلام sacrifice had taken place marks the true and foremost commemoration of it while the ceremonies of Eidul Adha like prayer and *Qurbani*² that are observed in all the places where the Muslims live constitute its re-enactment and commemoration in the second grade. Anyhow, both the 1st of Shawwal and the 10th of Zul Hajjah have been appointed as the Eids or festivals of the Muslims owing to these reasons.

Origin

(٧٢٤/٢٥٢) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَدِمَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْمَدِينَةَ وَلَهُمْ يَوْمَانِ يَلْعَبُونَ فِيهِمَا فَقَالَ مَا هَذَانِ الْيَوْمَانِ؟ قَالُوا كُنَّا نَلْعَبُ فِيهِمَا فِي الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَدْ أَبَدَ لَكُمْ اللَّهُ بِهِمَا خَيْرًا مِنْهُمَا يَوْمَ الْأَضْحَى وَيَوْمَ الْفِطْرِ .
(رواه ابو داود)

(724/252) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that when the Prophet ﷺ arrived in Madinah, two special days were observed there for feasting and celebration. On enquiry about these festivals, he was told that the people of Madinah had been celebrating them as occasions of social entertainment since the days of Ignorance. The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, remarked, "God has provided you

①. Literally meaning a valley which is devoid of vegetation.

②. Ritualistic sacrifice of animals.

with better festivals in their place, Eidul Fitr and Eidul Adha."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Festivals are typically representative of the beliefs, ideals and traditions of the people who celebrate them and reflect their collective character and temperament in an unmistakable manner. The two festivals the people of Madinah observed before the advent of Islam and during the period of Ignorance would, naturally, have been based upon and illustrative of their paganish creeds and customs. The Prophet, or as the above Tradition candidly denotes, the Almighty, put an end to these ancient festivals, and, in their place, appointed the two special days of Eidul Fitr and Eidul Adha for celebration which are richly indicative of the Monotheistic temperament and way of life of the Muslims and in keeping with their beliefs and practices.

Prayer And Sermon of The Two Eids

(٧٢٥/٢٥٣) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَخْرُجُ يَوْمَ الْفِطْرِ وَالْأَضْحَى إِلَى الْمُصَلَّى فَأَوَّلُ شَيْئٍ يَبْدَأُ بِهِ الصَّلَاةُ ثُمَّ يَنْصَرِفُ مُقَابِلَ النَّاسِ وَالنَّاسِ جُلُوسٌ عَلَى صُفُوفِهِمْ فَيُعْظُهُمْ وَيُوصِيهِمْ وَيَأْمُرُهُمْ وَإِنْ كَانَ يُرِيدُ أَنْ يَقْطَعَ بَعْثًا قَطَعَهُ أَوْ يَأْمُرَ بِشَيْءٍ أَمَرَ بِهِ ثُمَّ يَنْصَرِفُ .

(رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(725/253) Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه narrated that the Prophet ﷺ used to go to the *Eid-gah*¹ on the days of Eidul Fitr and Eidul Adha. First of all, he led the service, and, after that, stood up facing the people for the sermon while the people kept sitting in their rows. Then he preached to them, advised them and gave orders to them, and if he wished to send out an army or an expedition somewhere, he did so (after the prayers and the sermon), and if he wanted to give an order concerning a particular affair, he, also, did that, and, then he departed.

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the Prophet ﷺ used to offer the Eid prayers in an open ground he had selected for Eid prayers outside the populated area of Madinah. At that time, no boundary wall had been built around it. It was just a piece of vacant land lying about a thousand feet away from the Prophet's Mosque. Once the Prophet ﷺ is, also reported to have offered the prayer in the Mosque when it was raining.

①. Meaning an open ground where the Muslims assemble for prayers of Eid day (or mosque).

We, further, learn that bands of cursaders were, also, organised in the Eid-gah, on the Eid day, after the sermon and the prayer, and sent out from there for the glory of the World of Allah.

Without Azan And Iqamat

(٧٢٦/٢٥٤) عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ سَمُرَةَ قَالَ صَلَّيْتُ مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ

وَسَلَّمَ الْيَعْدَيْنِ غَيْرَ مَرَّةٍ وَلَا مَرَّتَيْنِ بغيرِ أَذَانٍ وَلَا إِقَامَةٍ. (رواه مسلم)

(726/254) Jabir bin Samura related that "he offered the prayers of the two Eids, not once or twice but several times, with Propeht ﷺ, (and) always without Azan and Iqamat. (Muslim)

(٧٢٧/٢٥٥) عَنْ جَابِرِ ابْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ شَهِدْتُ الصَّلَاةَ مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ

عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي يَوْمِ عِيدٍ فَبَدَأَ بِالصَّلَاةِ قَبْلَ الْخُطْبَةِ بغيرِ أَذَانٍ وَلَا إِقَامَةٍ فَلَمَّا قَضَى الصَّلَاةَ قَامَ مُتَكِنًا عَلَى بِلَالٍ فَحَمِدَ اللَّهَ وَأَثْنَى عَلَيْهِ وَوَعِظَ النَّاسَ وَذَكَرَهُمْ وَحَثَّهُمْ عَلَى طَاعَتِهِ وَمَضَى إِلَى النِّسَاءِ وَمَعَهُ بِلَالٌ فَأَمَرَ هُنَّ بِتَقْوَى اللَّهِ وَوَعِظَهُنَّ وَذَكَرَهُنَّ. (رواه النسائي)

(727/255) Jabir bin Abdullah ﷺ related that on the day of Eid he went to the Eid-gah with the Prophet ﷺ for the prayer; he observed prayers before (delivering) the sermon and without Azan and Iqamat. After gthat, he got up for the sermon, with the support of Bilal ﷺ. At first, he hymned praises of Allah and gave good counsel to the people and exhorted them to be faithful to Allah. Then, he went towards the assembly of women and Bilal, too, was with him. On reaching there, the Prophet ﷺ urged them to lead a life of piety and God-fearing and gave them good advice. (Nasai)

Commentary: It tells that the Prophet ﷺ addressed the women separately after he had delivered the Eid sermon to men. In another Tradition, quoted in Sahih Muslim, on the authority of Abdullah bin Abbas ﷺ, it is mentioned that the Prophet ﷺ did so because the ladies had not been able to hear the sermon.

Note: During the days of the Prophet, women, generally, were urged to take part in the Eid prayers. The Prophet ﷺ, in fact had commanded them to do so. But, later on, as corruption spread in the Muslim society, the legists felt that women should no longer go to Eid-gah, for the Eid prayers' in the same way as they did not like them to go to the mosques for the Friday and the five daily prayers.

No Nafl Rak'at Before or After, Eid Prayers.

(٧٢٨/٢٥٦) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ صَلَّى يَوْمَ الْفِطْرِ رَكْعَتَيْنِ لَمْ يُصَلِّ قَبْلَهُمَا وَلَا بَعْدَهُمَا .
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(728/256) It is related on the authority of Ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ offered two Rakats on the day of Eidul Fitr and he did no offer any Nafl before or after it. (Bukhari and Muslim) (٧٢٩/٢٥٧) عَنْ يَزِيدَ بْنِ خُثَيْمٍ الرَّحْبِيِّ قَالَ خَرَجَ عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بْنُ بُسْرِ صَاحِبُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَعَ النَّاسِ فِي يَوْمِ عِيدِ فِطْرِ أَوْ أَضْحَى فَأَنْكَرَ ابْطَاءَ الْإِمَامِ فَقَالَ إِنَّا كُنَّا قَدْ فَرَّغْنَا سَاعَتَنَا هَذِهِ وَذَلِكَ حِينَ التَّسْبِيحِ .

Time

(رواه ابو داود)

(729/257) Yazid bin Khumair Ar-Rahbi, a Taba'ee, said that the Prophet's Companion, Abdullah bin Busr رضي الله عنه (once) came to Eid-gah, with (other) people, to offer the Eid prayers on the day of Eidul Fitr or Eidul Adha. (When the Imam did no turn up at the excepted time), he declared the delay of the Imam to be annoying (i.e., condemned it, and said) that "We used to get done with the prayer by this time." (The narrator adds that) it was the time of Nafl prayers. (Nafl prayers, here, probably, mean the nafl rak'at of Chasht).

Commentary: Abdullah bin Busr رضي الله عنه had migrated to Syria where he died at Hams in 88 A.H. The incident narrated above, perhaps, took place there.

The most explicit Tradition concerning the time at which the Prophet ﷺ offered the prayer of Eidul Fitr and Eidul Adha is the one reproduced by Hafiz bin Hajr in Talkhees-ul-Hubayr from Ahmad bin Hasan-al-Banna's Kitabul-Adahi and on the authority the Prophet's ﷺ Companion, Jundub ﷺ. It reads:

"The Prophet used to offer the prayer of Eidul Fitr at such a time that the sun had moved upwards by two lances and the prayer of Eidul Adha at such a time that the sun had moved upwards by one lance."

”كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُصَلِّي بِنَا يَوْمَ الْفِطْرِ وَالشَّمْسُ عَلَى قَيْدِ رُمْحَيْنِ وَالْأَضْحَى عَلَى قَيْدِ رُمْحٍ“.

The Eid prayers, these days, are, generally, held very late which is contrary to the confirmed practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ.

(٧٣٠/٢٥٨) عَنْ أَبِي عَمِيرٍ بْنِ أَنَسٍ عَنْ غُمُومَةٍ لَهُ مِنْ أَصْحَابِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّ رَكْبًا جَاءُوا إِلَى النَّبِيِّ ، صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَشْهَدُونَ أَنَّهُمْ رَأَوْا الْهِلَالَ بِالْأَمْسِ فَأَمَرَهُمْ أَنْ يُفْطِرُوا وَإِذَا أَصْبَحُوا أَنْ يَغْدُوا إِلَى مُصَلَّاهُمْ.

(رواه ابو داؤد والنسائي)

(730/258) Abu Umayr bin Anas related to us on the authority of severals of his uncles who were the Companions ﷺ of the Prophet ﷺ that once a company of travellers came (from somewhere) to the Prophet ﷺ and testified to having sighted the moon on the previous day (while travelling). The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, ordered the people to break the fast and come to the Eid-gah to offer the Eid prayers the next morning.

(Abu Dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: It shows that as once, during the days of the Prophet ﷺ, the moon was not sighted on the 29th of Ramdan, and everyone kept fast on the next day, according to the rule, but at some time of the day a caravan arrived in Madinah from some place whose members testified that they had seen the moon last evening. Accepting their evidence, the Prophet ﷺ ordered people to break the fast, but about Eid prayer he said that it would be held the next day.

Apparently, the caravan had reached Madinah late in the day when the time for the Eid prayer had passed. The legal position, also, is that if the news of sighting the moon is recieved when Eid prayers cannot be held at the right time, it should be offered the next morning.

Recital of the Qur'an

(٧٣١/٢٥٩) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ أَنَّ عُمَرَ بْنَ الْخَطَّابِ سَأَلَ أَبَا وَقِيدٍ اللَّيْثِيَّ مَا كَانَ يَقْرَأُ بِهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي الْأَضْحَى وَالْفِطْرِ فَقَالَ يَقْرَأُ فِيهِمَا بِقِ وَالْقُرْآنِ الْمَجِيدِ وَاقْتَرَبَتِ السَّاعَةُ .
(رواه مسلم)

(731/259) Ubaidullah bin Abdullah bin Utbah bin Masud, a Taba'ee related that (once) Umar bin al-khattab ؓ enquired from Abu Waqid al-Laythi which surah of the Qur'an the Prophet ﷺ recited in the prayer of Eidul Fitr and Eidul Adha. Abu Waqid Al-Laythi replied: "Qaaf wal Quran-ul-Majeed and Iqtarabutis Sa'atah." (Muslim)

Commentary: I does not stand reason that sayyidina Umar ؓ had forgotten what surah the Prophet ﷺ used to recite on two Eids, and, therefore, he enquired from Abu Waqid Al-Laithi. What is more plausible is that he wanted to test the knowledge of Abu Waqid Al-Laithi or had put the question for further satisfaction.

(٧٣٢/٢٦٠) عَنِ النُّعْمَانِ بْنِ بَشِيرٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْرَأُ فِي الْعِيدَيْنِ وَفِي الْجُمُعَةِ "بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّبِّكَ الْأَعْلَى" وَ "هَلْ أَتَاكَ حَدِيثُ الْغَاشِيَةِ" قَالَ وَإِذَا اجْتَمَعَ الْعِيدُ وَالْجُمُعَةُ فِي يَوْمٍ وَاحِدٍ قَرَأَ بِهِمَا فِي الصَّلَوَتَيْنِ .
(رواه مسلم)

(732/260) It is related by Numan bin Basheer ؓ that in the prayers of the two Eids and Friday the Prophet ﷺ used to recite Sabbih-isma rabbikal a'ala and Hal ataaka hadeethul Ghashiya, and when, by chance a Friday and Eid coincided even then he recited the two surah in both the prayers. (Muslim)

Commentary: There is no contradiction between the statements of Abu Waqid Al-Laithi and Numan bin Bahseer. Sometimes the sacred Prophet ﷺ recited the surah Qaaf and Al-Qamar on the two Eids, and, sometimes, the surah Al-A'la and Al-Ghashiya.

Eid Prayer in The Mosque Due to Rain

(٧٣٣/٢٦١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّهُ أَصَابَهُمْ مَطَرٌ فِي يَوْمِ عِيدٍ فَصَلَّى بِهِمُ النَّبِيُّ

صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ صَلَاةَ الْعِيدِ فِي الْمَسْجِدِ . (رواه ابو داود وابن ماجه)

(733/261) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that once it rained on the Eid day upon which the Prophet ﷺ led the Eid prayer in Masjid-i-Nabawi (the Mosque of the Prophet).

(Abu Dawood and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: The Eids being the festivals and religious celebrations of the Muslims, it is in the fitness of the things that the Eid congregational prayer is held in an open ground and such also, was, the practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ. Hence, it is the Sunnah in normal circumstances, but as the above Tradition shows, the Eid prayer can be held in the mosque as well if it is raining or there is any other cogent reason.

Eating Before or After The Service?

(٧٣٤/٢٦٢) عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَخْرُجُ يَوْمَ

الْفِطْرِ حَتَّى يَطْعَمَ وَلَا يَطْعَمُ يَوْمَ الْأَضْحَى حَتَّى يُصَلِّيَ .

(رواه الترمذى و ابن ماجه والدارمى)

(734/262) Buraydah رضي الله عنه narrated that the Prophet ﷺ used to eat something before proceeding for prayer on the day of Eidul Fitr but on the day of Eidul Adha he refrained from eating anything until he had offered the prayers. (Tirmizi, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

Commentary: It is stated, further, in Sahih Bukhari, on the authority of Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه, that the Prophet ﷺ ate a few dates before going out for the prayer of Eidul Fitr, and the dates used to be in odd numbers.

The reason for eating nothing on the day Eidul Adha before the prayers, perhaps, was the consideration that the meat of the sacrificed animals should be the first thing to be eaten that day which, in a way, was the feast of Allah, and something was eaten on the morning of Eidul Fitr before the prayer probably, because on that day it was allowed to eat and drink during the day by the same Allah by whose command eating and drinking in the day time had remained forbidden throughout the month of Ramdan, and His good pleasure, at that time, lay in it. The Prophet ﷺ, like a needy and ardent bondsman, started partaking of these blessings at the dawn of the day.

Changing of The Route

(٧٣٥/٢٦٣) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا كَانَ يَوْمُ

عِيدٍ خَالَفَ الطَّرِيقَ . (رواه البخارى)

(735/263) It is related by Jabir ؓ that the Prophet ﷺ used to change the route on the day of Eid. (Bukhari)

Commentary: What it denotes is that on the day of Eid the Prophet ﷺ used to return, after offering the Eid prayers, through a way different from that by which he went. Of the different explanations furnished by the authorities, the most appealing, in our view, is that the display of the religious practices and solidarity of the Muslims took place on the largest scale. The aspect of celebration and entertainment, also, required that people passed through different routes or parts of the town on the day of Eid.

Sadaqat ul-Fitr

(٧٣٦/٢٦٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمرَ قَالَ فَرَضَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ

وَسَلَّمَ زَكَاةَ الْفِطْرِ صَاعًا مِنْ تَمْرٍ أَوْ صَاعًا مِنْ شَعِيرٍ عَلَى الْعَبْدِ وَالْحُرِّ وَالذَّكَرِ وَالْأُنْثَى وَالصَّغِيرِ وَالْكَبِيرِ مِنَ الْمُسْلِمِينَ وَأَمَرَهَا أَنْ تُؤَدَّى قَبْلَ خُرُوجِ النَّاسِ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ . (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(736/264) Abdullah bin Umar ؓ related that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ had enjoined the payment of Sadaqat ul-Fitr a sa'a of dates or a sa'a of barley — on every Muslim slave and freeman, male and female, and old and young, and (ordered) that Sadaqat tu-Fitr was to be given away before proceeding for the Eid prayer. (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Like Zakat, Sadaqat ul-fitr, also, is enjoined upon the well-to-do members of the community but it has not been clarified in the above Tradition because those for whom it was meant could, themselves, appreciate it very well. As for who are well-to-do and what is the standard of prosperity in Islam, we will take it up later, in course of our discussion on Zakat.

In it, the payment of a sa'a of dates or barley, on behalf of every individual, has been prescribed. In those days, dates and barley were, generally, used for food in Madinah and its suburbs, and, hence, only these have been mentioned in this saying. According to some commentators, a sa'a of dates or barley was considered sufficient for a day's needs of an average family at that time. Thus, it was made compulsory for every member of a well off family to give as much in charity on Eidul Fitr as could be adequate for the food requirements of an ordinary home. A Sa'a is roughly equal to 1-1/3 kilos, or 3½ Seers.

(٧٣٧/٢٦٥) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ فَرَضَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ زَكَاةَ الْفِطْرِ طَهْرًا لِلصِّيَامِ مِنَ اللَّغْوِ وَالرَّفَثِ وَطُعْمَةً لِلْمَسَاكِينِ. (رواه ابو داود)
(737/265) Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه related that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ enjoined Sadaqatul Fitr to purify the fasts from the effects of foolish, vain and lustful conversation and to provide for the food of the needy and the indigent. (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: In it, two special benefits of Sadaqatul Fitr have been mentioned. Firstly, through it the poor and the needy will be able to eat to their satisfaction on the day of celebration, and, secondly, it will serve as an atonement for the indiscretions of the tongue during the fasts of Ramadan.

Qurbani

(٧٣٨/٢٦٦) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا عَمِلَ ابْنُ آدَمَ مِنْ عَمَلٍ يَوْمَ النَّحْرِ أَحَبَّ إِلَى اللَّهِ مِنْ إِهْرَاقِ الدِّمِ وَإِنَّهُ لَيَأْتِي يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ بِقُرُونِهَا وَأَشْعَارِهَا وَأَظْلَافِهَا وَإِنَّ الدَّمَ لَيَقَعُ مِنَ اللَّهِ بِمَكَانٍ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَقَعَ بِالْأَرْضِ فَطَبِّبُوهَا نَفْسًا. (رواه الترمذی و ابن ماجه)

(738/266) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "On the 10th of Zul Hajjah, i.e., the day of Eidul Adha, no act of son of Aadam is more pleasing to the Allah than qurbani¹. On the Day of Judgement, the animal of qurbani, will come with its horns and hooves. And before the blood of qurbani touches the ground it gains the propitiation and good pleasure of Allah. So, O bondsmen of God! perform qurbani with full willingness of the heart." (Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

(٧٣٩/٢٦٧) عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ أَرْقَمَ قَالَ قَالَ أَصْحَابُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا هَذِهِ الْأَصَاحِي يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ؟ قَالَ سُنَّةُ أَبِيكُمْ إِبْرَاهِيمَ عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ قَالُوا فَمَا لَنَا فِيهَا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ؟ قَالَ بِكُلِّ شَعْرَةٍ حَسَنَةً ، قَالُوا فَالْصُّوفُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ بِكُلِّ شَعْرَةٍ مِنَ الصُّوفِ حَسَنَةً . (رواه احمد وابن ماجه)

(739/267) It is related on the authority of Zayd bin Arqam ؓ that some Companions asked the Prophet ﷺ what was the history and significance of qurbani? Upon it, he replied: "It is the Sunnah of your (spiritual and racial) progenitor, Ibrahim, (i.e., first of all, it was enjoined upon him by Allah and he used to perform its. It has been commanded to me and my followers, also, to emulate the example and act of qurbani of Sayyidina Ibrahim). " The Companions ؓ, then, said: "O Messenger of Allah ! What is the recompense for us on these offerings?" "A virtue in return for every hair of the slaughtered animal", replied Prophet ﷺ. The Companions ؓ, again asked: "Does it apply to wool also (meaning will the sacrificial offering of animals like sheep and camel which have wool instead of hair fetch the reward in the same proportion)?" "Yes" replied the Prophet ﷺ. "In the same proportion. A virtue in return for every hair."

(Masnad Ahmad and Ibn Majah)

(٧٤٠/٢٦٨) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ أَقَامَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِالْمَدِينَةِ عَشْرَ سِنِينَ يُضَحِّي . (رواه الترمذی)

(740/268) Abdullah bin Umar ؓ related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ stayed in Madinah for ten years (after migration), and performed qurbani regularly (i.e., every year)."

(Tirmizi)

(٧٤١/٢٦٩) عَنْ حَنْشٍ قَالَ رَأَيْتُ عَلِيًّا يُضَحِّي بِكَشَيْنٍ فَقُلْتُ لَهُ مَا هَذَا؟ فَقَالَ إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَوْصَانِي أَنْ أُضَحِّي عَنْهُ فَإِنَّا أُضَحِّي عَنْهُ . (رواه ابو داود، روى الترمذی نحوه)

(741/269) Hanash bin Abdullah narrated "I saw Sayyidina Ali عليه السلام performing the qurbani of two rams (upon which) I asked him about it (i.e., why he was performing the qurbani of two rams instead of one). He replied: 'The Prophet ﷺ had exhorted me to make an offering on his behalf, also, and, so, I perform one qurbani in his name'." (Abu Dawood and Tirmizi)

Commentary: We learnt from Sayyidina Abdullah's narrative, quoted earlier, that the Prophet ﷺ used to perform qurbani regularly, year after year, since the time he migrated to Madinah and from the above report we find that the Prophet ﷺ had told Sayyidina Ali عليه السلام to make the sacrificial offering on his behalf, after his death. Sayyidina Ali عليه السلام, thus, used to perform it regularly in the name of the Prophet ﷺ.

Method

(٧٤٢/٢٧٠) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ ضَحَّى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِكَبْشَيْنِ أَمْلَحَيْنِ أَقْرَنَيْنِ ذَبَحَهُمَا بِيَدِهِ وَسَمَّى وَكَبَّرَ قَالَ رَأَيْتُهُ وَاصِعًا قَدَمَهُ عَلَى صِفَاحِهَا وَيَقُولُ بِسْمِ اللَّهِ وَاللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ .
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(742/270) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ sacrificed two grey, horned rams. He slaughtered them with his won hand, and, at the time of slaughter, recited Bismillaah wa Allahu Akbar. I saw that, at that time, he was placing his right foot on their flanks and saying Bismillaah wa Allahu Akbar." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٧٤٣/٢٧١) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ ذَبَحَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَوْمَ الذَّبْحِ كَبْشَيْنِ أَقْرَنَيْنِ أَمْلَحَيْنِ مَوْجُوئَيْنِ فَلَمَّا وَجَّهَهُمَا قَالَ " إِنِّي وَجَّهْتُ وَجْهِي لِلَّذِي فَطَرَ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضَ عَلَى مِلَّةِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ حَنِيفًا وَمَا أَنَا مِنَ الْمُشْرِكِينَ إِنَّ صَلَاتِي وَنُسُكِي وَمَحْيَايَ وَمَمَاتِي لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ لَا شَرِيكَ لَهُ وَبِذَلِكَ أُمِرْتُ وَأَنَا مِنَ الْمُسْلِمِينَ اللَّهُمَّ مِنْكَ وَلَكَ عَنْ مُحَمَّدٍ وَأُمَّتِهِ بِسْمِ اللَّهِ وَاللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ ثُمَّ ذَبَحَ

(رواه احمد وابوداؤد وابن ماجه والدارمي)

(743/271) It is related by Jabir رضي الله عنه that on the day of qurbani (i.e., Eidul Adha) the Prophet ﷺ sacrificed two grey, horned (and) castrated rams. When he had set their faces in the right direction (i.e., towards the qiblah), he recited the prayer: I have set my face toward Him Who has created the heavens and the earth (and) in the manner of Ibrahim the upright and I am not of those who believe in many gods. My prayer and my worship and my sacrifice and my living and my dying are for Allah alone, the Lord of the Worlds. He is without a partner and to it have I been commanded and I am of those who obey. O Allah! This qurbani is from You and by Your favour and for Your sake (and) on behalf of Your servant, Muhammad ﷺ and his followers ﷺ. Bismillaah wa Allahu Akbar. After reciting the prayer the Prophet ﷺ set agoing the knife (on the thorax of) the ram and slaughtered it. (In the last part of another report referring to the same incident it is told that after saying for Your sake, he slaughtered the ram with his own hand and recited:

وفي رواية لا حمد و ابي داود و الترمذى دَبَحَ بِيَدِهِ وَقَالَ بِسْمِ اللَّهِ وَاللَّهُ أَكْبَرُ اللَّهُمَّ هَذَا عَنِّي وَعَمَّنْ لَمْ يُصَحِّ مِنْ أُمَّتِي

Bismillaah wa Allahu Akbar! O Allah! It is on my behalf and on behalf of my followers who may not have performed the qurbani. (Musnad Ahmad, Abu Dawood, Ibn Majah and Daarimi)

Commentary: That, at the time of Qurbani, the Prophet ﷺ said that it was on his own behalf and on behalf of his followers, or such of them, as had not performed it was indicative of his deep affection for the Ummah. But it does not mean that the Prophet ﷺ had carried out the qurbani for the whole of the Ummah and the duty had been fulfilled from the side of all of his followers. It, simply, shows that the Prophet ﷺ prayed to Allah to include, with him, his followers, also, in the reward on the observance. Inclusion in the reward in one thing, fulfilment of the duty of qurbani is another.

Instructions Regarding Animals of Qurbani

(٧٤٤/٢٧٢) عَنِ الْبَرَاءِ بْنِ عَازِبٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ سُئِلَ مَاذَا يَتَّقَى مِنَ الضَّحَايَا فَأَشَارَ بِيَدِهِ فَقَالَ أَرْبَعًا أَلْعَرَجَاءُ الْبَيْنُ ظِلْعُهَا وَالْعَوْرَاءُ الْبَيْنُ عَوْرُهَا وَالْمَرِيضَةُ الْبَيْنُ مَرَضُهَا وَالْعَجَفَاءُ الَّتِي لَا تُنْقَى .

(رواه مالك و احمد و الترمذى و ابو داود و النسائى و ابن ماجه و الدارمى)

(744/272) It is related by Bara' bin 'Aazib ؓ that (once) it was enquired from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ what kind of animals should be avoided in Qurbani (i.e., what are the defects which render an animal unfit for it). The Prophet ﷺ gestured with his hand and said: "Four (i.e., there are four defects, the presence of anyone of which in an animal, makes it unsuitable for qurbani). (i) A lame animal whose lameness is very much apparent (i.e., which may be finding it difficult to move about owing to the infirmity); (ii) An animal with a defective eye and the defect is plainly visible; (iii) An animal which is very sick; and (iv) An animal which is so weak and thin that no marrow is left in his bones." (Muwatta Imam Malik, Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi, Abu Dawood, Nasai, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

(٧٤٥/٢٧٣) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنْ نُضْحِيَ
بِأَعْصَبِ الْقَرْنِ وَالْأَذُنِ .
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(745/273) It is related on the authority of Sayyidina Ali ﷺ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ forbade us against (performing) the Qurbani of an animal whose horn is broken or ear cropped."

(Ibn Majah)

Commentary: In truth, qurbani is an offering to Allah on behalf of the bondsman. It is, therefore, necessary that a good animal is selected for the purpose, within one's means. Sick, weak and crippled animals should not be offered in worship to Him. In the Qur'an the guiding principle is set forth that:

"You will not attain unto piety until you spend of that which you love." (Aal-e-Imran 3:92) لَنْ تَنَالُوا الْبِرَّ حَتَّى تُنْفِقُوا مِمَّا تُحِبُّونَ . (آل عمران ٩٢:٣)

This indeed is the spirit behind the instruction of the Prophet ﷺ for qurbani.

Shares

(٧٤٦/٢٧٤) عَنْ جَابِرٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ الْبَقَرَةُ عَنْ سَبْعَةٍ وَالْجَزُورُ عَنْ سَبْعَةٍ .
(رواه مسلم و ابو داود و اللفظ له)

(746/274) It is related by Jaber ﷺ that the Prophet ﷺ said: "The sacrificial offering of a bullock or cow be made on behalf of seven persons, and, in the same way of a camel on behalf of seven persons."

(Muslim and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: The buffalo is not found in Arabia, and, so, it has not been mentioned in this saying. But, like a cow, its Qurbani can also be performed on behalf of seven persons.

Qurbani After Prayers

(٤٧٤/٢٧٥) عَنْ الْبَرَاءِ قَالَ خَطَبَنَا النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَوْمَ النَّحْرِ فَقَالَ إِنَّ أَوَّلَ مَا بَدَأَ بِهِ فِي يَوْمِنَا هَذَا أَنْ نُصَلِّيَ ثُمَّ نَرْجِعَ فَنَنْحِرَ فَمَنْ فَعَلَ ذَلِكَ فَقَدْ أَصَابَ سُنَّتَنَا وَمَنْ ذَبَحَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُصَلِّيَ فَإِنَّمَا هُوَ شَاةٌ لَحْمٍ عَجَلَهُ لِأَهْلِهِ لَيْسَ مِنَ النَّسَكِ فِي شَيْءٍ . (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(747/275) It is related by Bara' bin 'Aazib رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ delivered a sermon in the day of Eidul Adha, and, in it, he said: "The first act among the acts of today is that we offer the Eid prayer, and, then, on returning from it, perform the Qurbani. Whoever act like that will be acting correctly, according to our way, (and the Qurbani will be carried out in a fitting manner), and whoever will perform Qurbani before the prayer, his Qurbani will remain unfulfilled (and it will amount to no more than this that) he killed a goat so that his family may eat the meat." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٧٤٨/٢٧٦) عَنْ جُنْدُبِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ شَهِدْتُ الْأَضْحَى يَوْمَ النَّحْرِ مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَلَمْ يَغْدُ أَنْ صَلَّى وَفَرَّغَ مِنْ صَلَوَتِهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَإِذَا هُوَ يَرَى لَحْمَ أَصَاحِي قَدْ ذُبِحَتْ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَفْرُغَ مِنْ صَلَوَتِهِ فَقَالَ مَنْ كَانَ ذَبَحَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُصَلِّيَ أَوْ نُصَلِّيَ فَلْيَذْبَحْ مَكَانَهَا أُخْرَى. (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(748/276) Judub bin Abdullah رضي الله عنه related that (once) on the day of Eidul Adha, he was in the company of the Prophet ﷺ. As soon as he had finished the prayer, he noticed the meat of the sacrificed animals. These animals had been slaughtered before the conclusion of the Eid Prayer. The Prophet ﷺ remarked: "Those who have performed the Qurbani before offering prayer should do it again (since it has not been correct, being before-time)." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Superiority of the 'Ashra of Zul Hijah

As Allah has endowed Friday among the seven days of the week, the month of Ramdan among the twelve months of the year and the last 'Ashra¹ among the three 'Ashras of Ramdan with superiority, so, aslo. He has declared the first 'Ashra of the month of Zul Hijah to be a period of exceptional benevolence. It is for this reason that the Hajj (Pilgrimage) has been enjoined during those days. Anyway, it is a special period of Allah's grace. A virtuous deed performed in it is outstanding value and most pleasing to Allah.

(٧٤٩/٢٧٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ

أَيَّامٍ أَعْمَلُ الصَّالِحَ فِيهِنَّ أَحَبُّ إِلَيَّ اللَّهُ مِنْ هَذِهِ الْأَيَّامِ الْعَشْرَةِ. (رواه البخارى)

(749/277) It is related by Ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A virtuous act performed during these ten days is more pleasing to Allah than one any other day." (Bukhari)

(٧٥٠/٢٧٨) عَنْ أُمِّ سَلَمَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا

دَخَلَ الْعَشْرُ وَارَادَ بَعْضُكُمْ أَنْ يُصْغِيَ فَلَا يَأْخُذَنَّ شَعْرًا وَلَا يَقْلِمَنَّ ظَفْرًا.

(رواه مسلم)

(750/278) It is related by Umm-e-Salmah رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When the first 'Ashra of Zul Hijah begins (i.e., the moon of Zul Hijah is sighted) and anyone of you intends to perform Qurban, he should not cut his hair or nails till the Qurbani is done. (Muslim)

Commentary: The first 'Ashra of Zul Hijah is the Ashra of the Hajj which is the most remarkable event of this period. But the Hajj can be performed only by going to Makkah and it has been enjoined only once in a lifetime, and, that too, upon those who can afford the journey. The bondsmen who go to Makkah and perform the Hajj can, alone, partake of its choicest blessings but the Almighty has mercifully made it possible for all the Believers to forge an identity, during the days of the Hajj, with the pilgrims and the pilgrimage, even while staying at home, and participate in some of its rites. Herein lies the real significance of the Qurbani of Eidul Adha.

❶. Meaning a period of ten days.

SALATAL-KUSOOF AND SALATAL-ISTISQA

The prayer of a Friday and the two Eids are the congregational prayers that are offered on a particular day or date. Apart from these, there are two other prayers which, also, are observed congregationally, but not on a fixed day. These are Salat al-Kusoof which is offered at the time of the eclipse of the sun and Salat al-Istisqa which is offered as an invocation for rains during a drought.

Salatal-Kusoof

The eclipse of the sun or the moon is among the signs of the Power and Majesty of Allah which are revealed occasionally and whose claim is that when they occur, the bondsmen should bow down, in all humbleness, before the Absolute, the All Powerful One and beseech Him for mercy and forgiveness. During the lifetime of the Prophet ﷺ the sun was totally eclipsed about 1½ years¹. The Arabs, in olden days, believed that the eclipse was caused by death of some great man when the sun covered itself with a black sheet as a mark of mourning. The chance darkening of the sun on the day of the death of the Prophet's ﷺ son could lend encouragement to the belief. In fact, according to some reports, a few persons, openly said so. The sacred Prophet ﷺ, upon it, offered two rak'at prayer with extraordinary feelings of awe and reverence. It was an unusual prayer in which he made very long recitals. During the recitals he would bow, and, then, stand erect again and resume the recital. Similarly, he carried out ❶. The authorities are agreed that the Prophet's son, Ibrahim, died in 10 AH. Some, also, say that his death occurred in the month of Rabi-ul-Awwal. but the great astronomer of the 19th Century, Mahmood Pasha, has calculated that the eclipse had taken place about 8.30 a.m. on Monday, the 29th of Shawwal, 10, AH.

prolonged ruku and sajdah and supplicated Allah most humbly and earnestly. After the prayer he delivered a sermon refuting the idea that the sun or moon was eclipsed because of the death of a great man. He said that it was mere superstition and had no basis in truth. The sun and the moon were the two signs of Allah which did not suffer an eclipse on account of the birth or death of anyone. When such a thing occurred, one should turn to Allah and beseech Him with fear and deep devotion.

(٧٥١/٢٧٩) عَنِ الْمُغِيرَةِ بْنِ شُعْبَةَ قَالَ كَسَفَتِ الشَّمْسُ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَوْمَ مَاتَ إِبْرَاهِيمُ فَقَالَ النَّاسُ كَسَفَتِ الشَّمْسُ لِمَوْتِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ الشَّمْسَ وَالْقَمَرَ لَا يَنْكَسِفَانِ لِمَوْتِ أَحَدٍ وَلَا لِحَيَاتِهِ فَإِذَا رَأَيْتُمْ فَصَلُّوا وَادْعُوا اللَّهَ .

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(751/279) It is related on the authority of Mughirah bin Shu'bah رضي الله عنه that in the lifetime of the Messenger of Allah the sun eclipsed on the day on which (his son) Ibrahim died. So people said that the eclipse had occurred because of the death of Ibrahim. The Prophet ﷺ, observed "The solar or lunar eclipse did not take place because of the death or life (i.e., birth) of anyone (but it was the sign of the Power and splendour of Allah). Thus, when you see the eclipse, pray and remember Allah much."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The above Tradition is very brief and it does not mention even the offering of prayer by the Prophet ﷺ. In other Traditions, however, the prayer of the Prophet ﷺ and the exceptional manner of offering it have been described in detail.

(٧٥٢/٢٨٠) عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى قَالَ خَسَفَتِ الشَّمْسُ فَقَامَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَرِعًا يَخْشَى أَنْ تَكُونَ السَّاعَةُ فَاتَى الْمَسْجِدَ فَصَلَّى بِأَطْوَلِ قِيَامٍ وَرُكُوعٍ وَسُجُودٍ مَا رَأَيْتُهُ قَطُّ يَفْعَلُهُ وَقَالَ هَذِهِ الْآيَاتُ الَّتِي يُرْسِلُ اللَّهُ لَا تَكُونُ لِمَوْتِ أَحَدٍ وَلَا لِحَيَاتِهِ وَلَكِنْ يَخَوْفُ اللَّهُ بِهَا عِبَادَهُ فَإِذَا رَأَيْتُمْ شَيْئًا مِنْ ذَلِكَ فَافْرَعُوا إِلَى ذِكْرِهِ وَدُعَائِهِ وَاسْتَغْفَارِهِ .

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(752/280) It is related by Abi Moosa Al-Ash'ari رضي الله عنه "(One day), as the sun was eclipsed, the Prophet ﷺ rose with such anxiety as if he feared that the Hour (of Doom) was about to strike. He, then, came to the mosque and offered prayer with the longest qiyam, ruku and sajdah I have ever seen him perform. After it, the Prophet ﷺ said: 'These signs (of the Might and Majesty of Allah) which Allah reveals do not occur owing the death or life (i.e., birth) of anyone but are revealed in order to instil His fear into the hearts of bondsmen. (So), when you see a thing like it, turn to Him with awe and anxiety and remember Him and seek His forgiveness.'

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٧٥٣/٢٨١) عَنْ قَبِيصَةَ الْهَلَالِيِّ قَالَ كَسَفَتِ الشَّمْسُ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَخَرَجَ فِرْعَا يُجْرُ ثَوْبَهُ وَأَنَا مَعَهُ يَوْمَئِذٍ بِالْمَدِينَةِ فَصَلَّيْ رَكَعَتَيْنِ فَأَطَالَ فِيهِمَا الْقِيَامَ ثُمَّ انْصَرَفَ وَاتَّجَلَّتْ فَقَالَ إِنَّمَا هَذِهِ الْآيَاتُ يُخَوِّفُ اللَّهُ عَزَّوَجَلَّ بِهَا فَإِذَا رَأَيْتُمُوهَا فَصَلُّوا كَأَحَدِ صَلَواتِهِ صَلَّيْتُمُوهَا مِنَ الْمَكْتُوبَةِ.

(رواه ابو داود و النسائي)

(753/281) It is narrated by Qabisah al-Hilali that there was a solar eclipse in the days of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ. He came out deeply worried. (He was so worried that he had not placed his mantle over him properly so) his mantle was being dragged as he walked. (Qabisah said that he was with the Prophet ﷺ in Madinah and his qiyam was very long. Then he finished his prayer and, meanwhile, the sun was (out of the eclipse and) shining brightly in the normal way. He (addressed the people and) said, "These signs are meant to create fear of Allah in the hearts of people (and they keep away from disobedience). So, when you see such signs, then pray as you prayed the Fard a while go (that is, two, raka'at like the Fajr prayer at the time of eclipse).

(Abu Dawood, Nasa'i)

(٧٥٤/٢٨٢) عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ سَمُرَةَ قَالَتْ كُنْتُ ارْتَمِي بِأَسْهُمِي إِلَى بِالْمَدِينَةِ فِي حَيَاةِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذْ كَسَفَتِ الشَّمْسُ فَبَدَتْهَا فَقُلْتُ وَاللَّهِ لَا نَظَرَنَّا إِلَى مَا حَدَّثَ لِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي كُسُوفِ الشَّمْسِ قَالَ فَاتَيْتُهُ وَهُوَ قَائِمٌ فِي الصَّلَاةِ رَفَعَ يَدَيْهِ فَجَعَلَ يُسَبِّحُ

وَيَهْلُلُ وَيَكْبُرُ وَيَحْمَدُ وَيَدْعُو حَتَّى حُسِرَ عَنْهَا فَلَمَّا حُسِرَ عَنْهَا قَرَأَ سُورَتَيْنِ
وَصَلَّى رَكْعَتَيْنِ (رواه مسلم)

(754/282) Abdur Rahman bin Samurah رضي الله عنه narrated that one day, during the lifetime of the Prophet ﷺ, I was practising archery with my (bow and) arrows that, suddenly, the sun eclipsed. I left my arrows where I was and decided to go and see what new thing had happened to the Prophet ﷺ at the time of the eclipse and what new act he had done. When he came to the Prophet ﷺ, he was standing and offering prayer. In the same condition, he raised his hands (as one does in supplication) and entreated Allah for a long time with *Tasbeeh*¹, *Tahleel*², *Hamd*³ and *Takbeer*⁴ till the sun came out of the eclipse (i.e., the Prophet kept himself engaged in prayer and supplication as long as the eclipse lasted). In this prayer, the Prophet ﷺ recited two surah and offered two rak'at. (Muslim)

(٧٥٥/٢٨٣) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ حَسَفَتِ الشَّمْسُ فِي عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَصَلَّى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِالنَّاسِ فَقَامَ فَاطَالَ الْقِيَامَ ثُمَّ رَكَعَ فَاطَالَ الرُّكُوعَ ثُمَّ قَامَ فَاطَالَ الْقِيَامَ وَهُوَ دُونَ الْقِيَامِ الْأَوَّلِ ثُمَّ رَكَعَ فَاطَالَ الرُّكُوعَ وَهُوَ دُونَ الرُّكُوعِ الْأَوَّلِ ثُمَّ سَجَدَ فَاطَالَ السُّجُودَ ثُمَّ فَعَلَ فِي الرُّكْعَةِ الْأُخْرَى مِثْلَ مَا فَعَلَ فِي الرُّكْعَةِ الْأُولَى ثُمَّ انْصَرَفَ وَقَدْ تَجَلَّتِ الشَّمْسُ فَخَطَبَ النَّاسَ فَحَمِدَ اللَّهَ وَأَثْنَى عَلَيْهِ ثُمَّ قَالَ إِنَّ الشَّمْسَ وَالْقَمَرَ آيَتَانِ مِنَ آيَاتِ اللَّهِ لَا يَنْخَسِفَانِ لِمَوْتِ أَحَدٍ وَلَا لِحَيَاتِهِ فَاذَارَأَيْتُمْ ذَلِكَ فَاذْعُوا لِلَّهِ وَكَبِّرُوا وَصَلُّوا وَتَصَدَّقُوا ثُمَّ قَالَ يَا أُمَّةَ مُحَمَّدٍ إِنْ مِنْ أَحَدٍ آخِرٍ مِنَ اللَّهِ أَنْ يَزْنِي عَبْدُهُ أَوْ تَزْنِي أَمَتُهُ يَا أُمَّةَ مُحَمَّدٍ وَاللَّهِ لَوْ تَعْلَمُونَ مَا عَلِمَ لَصَحَحْتُمْ قَلِيلًا وَلَبَكَيْتُمْ كَثِيرًا الْآهْلُ بَلَّغْتُ . (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(755/283) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that (when) in the lifetime of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ the sun

- ④. The act of repeating the formula of Allah-u-Akbar.

eclipsed, he offered prayer with the people, (i.e., led the congregation) in which he made a very long qiyam, and, then, bowed low and performed a very long ruku. He, then, stood up, and again, made a very long qiyam but it was a little shorter than the earlier one, and, then, he bowed low and performed a very long ruku but it was a little shorter than the previous ruku, and, then, he prostrated himself and performed a very long sajdah. The Prophet ﷺ did in the second rak'at what he had done in the first rak'at, and, then, brought the prayer to an end (after the prescribed q'adah and salaam), and, by then, the eclipse was over and the sun had become (as) bright (as ever). The Prophet ﷺ, then, delivered a sermon in which, after praising Allah, he said: "The sun and the moon are two signs among the signs of the Power and Majesty of Allah. They do not suffer an eclipse because of the death or life (i.e., birth) of anyone (but like all other created things in the world), the sun and the moon, also, carry out the command of Allah and their light and darkness are in His control. So, when you see the elipse, glorify Allah and offer prayes and give alms (to the poor)." After that, the Prophet ﷺ said: "O followers of Muhammad! No one is more displeased at fornication committed by his male or female slave than God is displeased at fornication committed by His bondsman or bondswoman. (So, fear His Might and Anger and keep away from every kind of sin. O followers of Muhammad! By Allah, if you knew what I know (bout the Might and Anger of Allah), you would laugh less and cry more." After that, he remarked: "Beware! I have conveyed the whole thing to you (and done my duty)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The event of Salat al-Kusoof was an unusual one and the Prophet ﷺ had offered the prayers in a remarkable manner. It has, therefore, been related by a number of Companions ﷺ. Here, we have quoted only five Traditions appertaining to it, but in the standard compilations more than twenty reports are found. In Sahih Bukhari the narratives of nine Companions ﷺ are mentioned from which full details of the incident can be known.

One thing that is common to these Traditions is that the Salat Al-Kusoof was a rare event for the Companions ﷺ and none of them had offered it before. It is, further, clear from all the reports that the eclipse had occurred on the day on which the Prophet's ﷺ infant son, Ibrahim ﷺ, had died, and the authorities are almost unanimous that his death took place in 10 A.H., i.e., just a few months before the passing away of the Prophet ﷺ himself. It is, thus, apparent that the Prophet ﷺ had offered the Salat Al-Kusoof only on the occasion mentioned in the Traditions. The command to offer prayer at the time of the lunar eclipse is, also, distinctly given in these sayings but none of the authentic Traditions shows that the Prophet ﷺ ever offered it, probably, for the reasons that the order was communicated to him by Allah on the afore-mentioned occasion and since he lived merely for a few months after that. The opportunity to offer prayers at the time of the eclipse of the moon did not arise.

The Prophet ﷺ offered this prayer with a unique state of feeling and was seen doing some extraordinary things during it. Firstly, he offered a very long prayer while his usual practice was not to offer long prayers in congregation and has, actually, forbidden the Muslims against it. It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that "As far as I remember, he recited surah al-Baqarah in the first rak'at and surah Aal Imran in the second". And Sayyidina Jabir رضى الله عنه said "Some persons could not remain standing in this prayer and they dropped on the ground." In a few other reports, it is stated that some of the participants fainted and water had to be poured over their heads. Secondly, during qiyam the Prophet ﷺ praised Allah for a long time with Tasbeeh, Tahleel, Tahmeed and Takbeer. Thirdly, he bowed low during qiyam and stood erect again, after remaining in that posture for a considering length of time, and did the recital, and, then, performed ruku and sajdah. Some Traditions have it that he did it not once but several times during qiyam. According to some other narratives, in this prayer he, once, moved backwards, and, then, forward, and, also stretched out his hand as one does for taking or grasping something. Later, in the sermon he said that several truths appertaining to the "world of absence" were revealed to him at that time and he saw Hell in front of him and some other things, also, which he had never seen earlier. The unusual behaviour of the Prophet ﷺ was, perhaps, due to it.

Observation: The solar eclipse coincided with the death of the Prophet's ﷺ son. However, he made it clear that it was not linked to the sad event in his family. This speaks highly of his truthfulness and should convince the greatest denier and infidel unless he is lost completely at heart.

Salat-al-Istisqa

Rain is an essential need of all living things. It can correctly be said that life is dependent of it. Drought and dryness anywhere is a calamity of the first order and a sort of punishment from Above. For the removal of this great misfortune, which is not limited to any class or section of the population, the Prophet ﷺ has taught a collective namaz and prayer, and Salat-i-Istisqa is their systemized form, in the same way as he has prescribed Salat-i-Haajat for an individual need. Literally, Istisqa means asking for water or moisture.

(رواه ابوداؤد)

(756/284) It is narrated by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that (once) people came to the Prophet ﷺ and described to him the acute suffering caused by drought. The Prophet ﷺ decided to offer up Salat Al-Istisqa at the place where the prayer of Eid was held (outside the inhabited area of Madinah), and, told the people to go with him on a certain day and offer Salat Al-Istisqa, and (also) ordered that his pulpit be taken and placed there (for the occasion). The pulpit, accordingly, was carried to that place. When the day arrived, the Prophet ﷺ went to the appointed place soon after sunrise. He sat on the pulpit and praised Allah, and, then, said: "You have complained about lack of rain and drought in your region and it is the command of Allah that you pray to Him in your need and He has promised to answer your supplications. Then, the Prophet ﷺ beseeched Allah in these words:

الْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ رَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ. الرَّحْمَنُ الرَّحِيمُ. مَالِكِ يَوْمِ الدِّينِ. لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ
يَفْعَلُ مَا يُرِيدُ اللَّهُمَّ أَنْتَ اللَّهُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا أَنْتَ الْغَنِيُّ وَنَحْنُ الْفُقَرَاءُ أَنْزِلْ عَلَيْنَا
الْغَيْثَ وَاجْعَلْ مَا أَنْزَلْتَ لَنَا قُوَّةً وَبَلَاغًا إِلَى حِينٍ

Alahumdu lillaahi rabbil 'aalameen, ar-rahmaan-ir-raheem, maaliki yaum-id-deen, laa ilaaha il-Allahu yaf'alu maa yureed, Allahumma antAllahu laa illaha illa ant-al-ghaneeyu wa nahnul fuqarau-ianzila 'alainal ghaitha waj'al maa anzalal lana quowatan wa balaaghan ila heen.

All praise blongs to Allah, the Lord of the Worlds, the Bneficent, the Merciful, the Owner of the Day of Judgement. There is no deity save (one) Allah. His power is that He can do whatever He likes. O God! You are the Lord Sovereign; there is no god aside of You. You are the Wealthy and we are Your poor slaves. Send rain upon us and make the rain that You send a source of strength for us and a means of sustenance for a (long) time (to come)."

The Prophet ﷺ, then, raised his hands (meaning, perhaps, that he raised them higher than they were at the time of supplication) and prayed for a long time with the hands raised in the same way, and raised them so high that (though he was wearing the mantle) the whiteness of the armpits could be seen. Afterwards, he turned his face towards the Qiblah and back towards the people, and altered the mantle he was wearing, and his hands were still raised in prayer. He, again, turned his face towards the people, and getting down from the pulpit, offered two rak'at prayer. At that very time, a cloud appeared by the command of Allah in which there, also, was thunder and lightning, and, then, by the command of Allah, it rained heavily (and such was the downpour) that before the Prophet ﷺ could return to his mosque, the paths were filled with water and the drains and rivulets were overflowing. After it, when he saw that the people (who were complaining of drought) were rushing to sheds and thatched roofs for shelter from rain, he broke into a smile so much so that his teeth became visible, and, he said: "I affirm that Allah has power over all things and I am His slave and Messenger."

(Abu dawood)

(٧٥٧/٢٨٥) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ قَالَ خَرَجَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِالنَّاسِ إِلَى الْمَصَلَّى يَسْتَسْقِي فَصَلَّى بِهِمْ رَكْعَتَيْنِ جَهَرَ فِيهِمَا بِالْقِرَاءَةِ وَاسْتَقْبَلَ الْقِبْلَةَ يَدْعُو وَرَفَعَ يَدَيْهِ وَحَوْلَ رِذَاءَهُ حِينَ اسْتَقْبَلَ الْقِبْلَةَ .

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(757/285) Abdullah bin Zayd رضي الله عنه related that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ went to Eid-gah with the people for Salat Al-Istisqa. He offered two rak'at in this prayer and recited the Qur'an with a loud voice and invoked Allah with his face towards Qiblah and his hands raised, and he wore his mantle inside out while he faced the Qiblah."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٧٥٨/٢٨٦) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ خَرَجَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَنْعِي فِي الْإِسْتِسْقَاءِ مُتَبَدِّلًا مُتَوَاضِعًا مُتَخَشِّعًا مُتَضَرِّعًا .

(رواه الترمذى و ابو داؤد و النسائى و ابن ماجه)

(758/286) Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه related to us that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ went out for Salat Al-Istisqa, he was wearing a very ordinary dress and his demeanour was that of meekness and humility. (Tirmizi, Abu Dawood, Nasai and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: As we have seen, salat Al-Istisqa is a collective prayer for the dispersal of the general calamity of drought. From the aforementioned Traditions we learn the following details.

(i) It should be observed at a desolate and uncultivated place outside the populated area of the town or village and directly on the ground, i.e., without a mat or carpet.

(ii) One should not take a bath and change into a clean dress for this prayer as is done for the prayers of a Friday or the two Eids. Very ordinary clothes should be worn and appearance made before Allah like a beggar.

(iii) The supplication should be made with deep earnestness and humbleness of spirit, and, for it, the hands should be raised unusually higher towards the heavens.

It is, also, stated in the first two narratives that, on facing the qiblah, the Prophet ﷺ wore his cloak inside out. It was intended to express the idea "Oh Allah! As I have altered the cloak, in the same way You, too, alter the situation by sending down the rain." Like the raising of the hands, it, too, was a part of the supplication.

In Sayyidah Ayshah's رضى الله عنها report it is stated that a cloud appeared as soon as salat Al-Istisqa was offered by the Prophet and it rain heavily. The same has been stated in the Traditions related by some other Companions رضي الله عنهم as well.

By the grace of Allah, similar is the experience of the general body of Muslims. The present writer has had the occasion to offer Salat Al-Istisqa thrice, once in his childhood at his home-town of Sambhal (District Muradabad, U.P.), then, some fifteen years ago, at Lucknow, and, lastly, in Madinah, probably in 1945, and everytime, God mercifully sent down the rain as soon as the prayer was held.

Sayyidah Ayshah's رضى الله عنها narrative, finally, tells that when the rain fell heavily as a result of Salat Al-Istisqa, the holy Prophet ﷺ said:

أَشْهَدُ أَنَّ اللَّهَ عَلَى كُلِّ شَيْءٍ قَدِيرٌ وَأَنَا عَبْدُ اللَّهِ وَرَسُولُهُ

"I affirm that Allah has power over all things and I am His slave and Messenger."

It is indeed the peak of devotion and worship and self-denial that although the rain fell in response to the prayers and supplication of the Prophet ﷺ he thought it necessary to acknowledge publicly that it was all due to the Power and Mercy of Allah and He, alone, was worthy of praise and gratitude while the Prophet ﷺ, himself, was no more than an humble bondsman and Messenger ﷺ.

NAMAZ-I-JANAZA AND OTHER RELATED MATTERS

It is a common practice with the scholars of the Traditions that, at the end of Kitab as-Salah i.e., the Book of prayer, they mention sayings regarding death, the last illness, or illness in general, and all the other calamities and misfortunes, and the way one should behave and conduct oneself when confronted with them, as well as in relation to the bathing and shrouding of the dead body and burial, condolence and visiting of the graves, under the title of Kitab-ul-Janaiz (the Book of Funerals). Adhering to this practice, we, too, will discuss, here, reports of the sayings and doings of the sacred Prophet ﷺ concerning them. The sum and substance of these Traditions is that since death is certain and no one knows when it will strike, a Muslim should never be heedless of it. He must always keep himself in a state of pre-paredness for the last journey, and, specially, when he is ill, he should take greater care to put right his religious and spiritual condition and mend his affair with Allah. His friends and relatives, on their part, should try to bring good cheer to him through service and sympathy. They should pray for his recovery, and, talk hopefully, in his presence, of Divine reward, mercy and benevolence. In particular, when it appears that the chances of the patient's recovery are remote and his time is near, every thing possible should be done to turn his heart towards Allah and put him in mind of the cardinal principle of Islam, i.e., the kalimah. Finally, when death occurs, the kinsmen should show patience and forbearance and believing death to be the Will of Allah, yield themselves to it like dutiful bondsmen and hope and pray for reward on their loss. The dead body should, then, be batched and wrapped in a good, clean shroud and perfume should be applied, and, after it, the funeral prayer should be held consisting of the praise and glorification of Allah, the affirmation of His Might and Magnificence and the invocation of blessings on the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ through whom Guidance had reached the dead person as well as the participants in the prayer and a fervent supplication for mercy and forgiveness for the deceased brother. The dead body should, thereafter, be buried with due reverence and people should try to relieve the distress of the bereaved family by sharing its sorrow and bringing succour to it by word and deed.

The aim and wisdom of these precepts is self-evident, and, as we all know, much peace and comfort is derived by acting upon them in sickness and in death and in all other forms of sorrow and suffering. Every teaching of the Prophet ﷺ, in that regard, serves as a balm for the heart. And death, as a necessary prelude to meeting Allah, begins to look like an ageeable event.

These are the ready gains and worldly advantages of these instructions. What has been promised in the Traditions, given below, will Insha Allah be seen and experienced in the fullest measure, in the Hereafter.

Remembrance of Death

(٧٥٩/٢٨٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

أَكْثِرُوا ذِكْرَهَا ذِمَّ اللَّذَاتِ الْمَوْتَ . (رواه الترمذى والنسائى وابن ماجه)

(759/287) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Remember death much and often. It is the terminator of worldly pleasures." (Tirmizi, Nasai and Ibn Majah)

(٧٦٠/٢٨٨) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ أَخَذَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

بِمَنْكِبَيْ فَقَالَ كُنْ فِي الدُّنْيَا كَأَنَّكَ غَرِيبٌ أَوْ غَافٍ بِرُسَيْلٍ وَكَانَ ابْنُ عُمَرَ يَقُولُ إِذَا أَمْسَيْتَ فَلَا تَنْتَظِرِ الصُّبْحَ وَإِذَا أَصْبَحْتَ فَلَا تَنْتَظِرِ الْمَسَاءَ وَخُذْ مِنْ

صِحَّتِكَ لِمَرَضِكَ وَمِنْ حَيَاتِكَ لِمَوْتِكَ . (رواه البخارى)

(760/288) Sayyidina Abdullah bin Umar ؓ has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ took him by the shoulders and said, "Be in the world as though you are a stranger or one who is passing through." Ibn Umar ؓ used to say, "In the evening do not expect to see the morning and in the morning do not expect to see the evening, but take something when in health to serve you in time of illness and something in your life to serve you in your death."

(Bukhari)

(٧٦١/٢٨٩) عَنْ عَبَادَةَ بْنِ الصَّامِتِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ أَحَبَّ لِقَاءَ اللَّهِ أَحَبَّ اللَّهُ لِقَاءَهُ وَمَنْ كَرِهَ لِقَاءَ اللَّهِ كَرِهَ اللَّهُ لِقَاءَهُ .

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(761/289) Ubadah bin as-Samit رضي الله عنه quoted the Messenger of Allah ﷺ as saying, "If anyone wishes to meet Allah, Allah wishes to meet him; but if anyone does not wish to meet Allah, Allah does not wish to meet him."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: This very Tradition narrated by Ubadah bin as-Samit رضي الله عنه continues that when the Prophet ﷺ said that, the Mother of the believers, Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها or one of the other of his noble wives submitted to him, "Messenger of Allah ﷺ, our state is that we (fear death and) إِنَّا نَكْرَهُ الْمَوْتَ do not like to die." He said, "That is not what I mean (that one should love death). Disliking death is a natural thing. What I meant that when death comes to a believer, he is given glad tidings of Allah's pleasure and nothing is dearer to him than what lies before him. When a slave's position is like that, Allah loves him and it is dear to Him to meet him. But when a disbeliever approaches death, he is given tidings of Allah's punishment so nothing is more unpleasant to him than meeting Allah and Allah also does not like to meet him and dislikes him. This explanation of the Prophet ﷺ elucidates that the meeting referred to here is not death in itself but the consequences after death. In a hadith of the same import narrated by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها, the Prophet ﷺ is quoted in the concluding words as sayiḥ (death before meeting Allah), والموت قبل لقاء الله.

Shah Waliullah رحمة الله عليه has explained this hadith. When death is very near the ugly covering of beastly and material character come to be raised. The soul seems to see the angelic world and the unseen world and the hereafter come before the eyes about which the Prophets عليهم السلام have told us. At that time the believer who had always curbed his animals instincts and tried to raise his angelic characteristics sees the blessings of Allah and craves for them. He wishes to get to them as quickly as he can. On the contrary, the soul of an unbeliever and the one who has been neglecting Allah sees what is in store for him when he is about to die. Therefore, he does not wish to go away from this world. These are the two states represented by wishing to meet Allah and disliking to meet Allah. The words Allah likes to meet him and Allah dislikes meeting him represent the pleasure and displeasure of Allah.

(٧٦٧/٢٩٠) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ

وَسَلَّمَ تُحْفَةُ الْمُؤْمِنِ الْمَوْتُ. (رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان)

(767/290) It is related by Abdullah bin 'Amr رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The gift of the Believer is death."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: Death is not pleasant to anyone but the bondsmen who are blessed with Faith remain mentally eager for it owing to the Divine rewards, the special propinquity to Allah and the ecstatic joy of seeing Him that await them in the After-life. It is like this that though no one, by natural inclination, finds it pleasing to have an eye-operation, rationally he prefers it for himself in the hope that vision will be restored by it. The difference, however, is that while the restoration of eyesight is not certain after the operation and, sometimes, it proves unsuccessful, the choicest favours of the Lord, His closeness and the delightful experience of seeing Him are bound to be the lot of a truthful Believer in the Hereafter. Hence, death is a priceless gift for the bondsman with faith and sincerity. Another example of it is that marriage and the resultant separation from parents, brothers and sisters is most painful for a girl in the sense that she has to leave the loving, parental home and spend the rest of her life in new surroundings but the peculiar expectations that are associated with marriage produce, in her, a fondness for it. The same is the case with earnest and believing bondsmen of the Lord. Death appears attractive to them owing to the heavenly boons and blessings they confidently look forward to in the life to come.

It is Prohibited to Desire or Pray For Death

Sometimes people get disgusted with life and begin to pray for death. But it is the height of foolishness and cowardice and a sign of weakness of Faith. The Prophet ﷺ has forbidden it.

(٧٦٣/٢٩١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَتَمَنَّى أَحَدُكُمْ الْمَوْتَ أَمَّا مُحْسِنًا فَلَعَلَّهُ أَنْ يَزِدَّادَ خَيْرًا وَأَمَّا مُسِيئًا فَلَعَلَّهُ أَنْ يَسْتَعْتَبَ

(رواه البخارى)

(763/291) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "No one of you should wish for death. If he is virtuous, it is hoped that the stock of his good deeds will go on multiplying as long as he lives, and if his deeds are not good, it is possible that he earns the good pleasure of Allah through sincere repentance etc., in later life." (Bukhari)

Commentary: The version in Muslim has a slight difference in wording. With wishing for death it also says one must not pray for death.

(٧٦٤/٢٩٢) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَتَمَنَّى أَحَدُكُمْ الْمَوْتَ مِنْ ضَرِّ أَصَابِهِ فَإِنْ كَانَ لَا بُدَّ فَأَعْلًا فَلْيَقُلْ اللَّهُمَّ أَحْيِنِي مَا كَانَتْ الْحَيَاةُ خَيْرًا لِي وَتَوَفَّنِي إِذَا كَانَتْ الْوَفَاةُ خَيْرًا لِي.

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(764/292) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "No one of you should desire (or pray for) death owing to a distress or suffering. Should he feel utterly helpless, he might pray: "O Allah! Keep me alive as long as life may be better for me and let me be dead when death may be better for me." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Illness is A Blessing And An Atonement For Sins

Just as the Prophet ﷺ has taught about death that it is not an extinction and utter annihilation but the beginning of a new existence which will be supremely happy and blissful for the faithful bondsmen, and, thus, is a wonderful gift for him, in the same way he has, also, informed us that illness is not out and out misery and suffering but a blessing as well and a means of purgation from sins, and taking sickness and other forms of loss, pain or grief to be a warning from Above, the truthful bondsmen should devote themselves to correcting and reforming their ways when they are stricken with disease or any other misfortune.

(٧٦٥/٢٩٣) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَا يُصِيبُ الْمُسْلِمَ مِنْ نَصَبٍ وَلَا وَصَبٍ وَلَا هَمٍّ وَلَا حُزْنٍ وَلَا أَذًى وَلَا غَمٍّ حَتَّى الشَّوْكَةِ يُشَاكُهَا إِلَّا كَفَّرَ اللَّهُ بِهَا مِنْ خَطَايَاهُ .
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(765/293) It is related by Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Whatever pain, sickness, loss or suffering afflicts a Muslim, so much so that a thorn pricks him, God expiates his sins through it."
(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٧٦٦/٢٩٤) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ مُسْلِمٍ يُصِيبُهُ أَذًى مِنْ مَرَضٍ فَمَا سِوَاهُ إِلَّا حَطَّ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى بِهِ سَيِّئَاتِهِ كَمَا تَحْطُ الشَّجَرَةُ وَرَقَهَا .
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(766/294) It is related by Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whatever suffering reaches a Believer, in the form of a disease or any other thing, Allah lets fall his sins from him through it in the same way as a tree sheds its leaves in the autumn."
(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٧٦٧/٢٩٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَزَالُ الْبَلَاءُ بِالْمُؤْمِنِ أَوْ الْمُؤْمِنَةِ فِي نَفْسِهِ وَمَا لَهُ وَوَلَدِهِ حَتَّى يَلْقَى اللَّهَ تَعَالَى وَمَا عَلَيْهِ مِنْ خَطِيئَةٍ .
(رواه الترمذى)

(767/295) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Misfortunes and afflictions come down to some believing men or women from God, sometimes, on their bodies, sometimes, on their goods, and, sometimes, on their progeny, (and, as a result of it), their sins fall away to the extent that, after death, they make their appearance before Allah in such a state that not a single sin is left."
(Tirmizi)

عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ خَالِدٍ السُّلَمِيِّ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ
 اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ الْعَبْدَ إِذَا سَبَقَتْ لَهُ مِنَ اللَّهِ مَنَزَلَةً لَمْ يُلْغَهَا بِعَمَلِهِ
 ابْتِلَاةُ اللَّهِ فِي جَسَدِهِ أَوْفَى مَالِهِ أَوْفَى وَلَدِهِ ثُمَّ صَبَرَهُ عَلَى ذَلِكَ حَتَّى يُلْغَاهُ
 الْمَنَزَلَةَ الَّتِي سَبَقَتْ لَهُ مِنَ اللَّهِ .
 (رواه احمد و ابو داود)

(768/296) It is related by Muhammad Ibn Khalid Sulami on the authority of his father, and he on the authority of Muhammad Ibn Khalid's grandfather, that the Prophet ﷺ said: "For some Believers Allah ordains a high station which he does not attain by his own efforts, so Allah afflicts him with a physical or material distress or grief from the side of his children, and then, grants him the good fortune to be patient till (in return for these troubles and calamities and his patience and forbearance), He makes him attain the high station decreed for him beforehand."

(Musnad Ahmad and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Allah is lord Sovereign. If He likes, He can grant the highest place to anyone without anything to show. But His Wisdom and Attribute of Justice demand that bondsmen should be kept at grades and stations they deserve by their deeds and states. Thus, the practice of Allah is that when, on being pleased with an act or manner of a bondsman or in acceptance of prayer of his own or some other person for his sake, He decides to elevate him to a rank or position he does not merit by his conduct. He causes the deficiency to be removed by means of pain and suffering and by granting him the good fortune to be patiently persevering in adversity.

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَوْمَ أَهْلُ
 الْعَافِيَةِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ حِينَ يُعْطَى أَهْلُ الْبَلَاءِ الثُّوَابَ لَوْ أَنَّ جُلُودَهُمْ كَانَتْ
 قُرْصَتْ فِي الدُّنْيَا بِالْمَقَارِيطِ .
 (رواه الترمذی)

(769/297) Sayyidina Jabir ؓ has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "On the Day of Resurrection, when people who have suffered affliction are given their reward, those who are healthy will wish their skins had been cut to pieces with scissors when they were in the world."
 (Tirmizi)

(٧٧٠/٢٩٨) عَنْ غَامِرِ الرَّامِ قَالَ ذَكَرَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْأَسْقَامَ فَقَالَ إِنَّ الْمُؤْمِنَ إِذَا أَصَابَهُ السَّقَمُ ثُمَّ عَافَاهُ اللَّهُ عَزَّوَجَلَّ مِنْهُ كَانَ كَفَّارَةً لِمَا مَضَى مِنْ ذُنُوبِهِ وَمَوْعِظَةً لَهُ فِيمَا يَسْتَقْبِلُ وَإِنَّ الْمُنَافِقَ إِذَا مَرِضَ ثُمَّ أَغْفِيَ كَانَ كَالْبَعِيرِ عَقَلَهُ أَهْلُهُ ثُمَّ أُرْسِلُوهُ فَلَمْ يَدْرِ لِمَ عَقِلُوهُ وَلِمَا أُرْسِلُوهُ .

(رواه ابوداؤد)

(770/298) It is related on the authority of 'Aamir ar-Rami that once the Messenger of Allah ﷺ spoke on diseases (i.e., he described their philosophy and the aspect of goodness in them). In the course of it, he said: "When a truthful Believer falls ill, and, after it, Allah grants him recovery, the illness becomes an atonement for his sins of the past and a warning for the future, and when (heedless) Hypocrite falls ill, and, then, gets well, (he learns nothing from it, and) his similitude is of the camel whose owner tied it up, and, then, untied it, and it had no idea why it was tied or untied." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: The chief moral teaching these Traditions contain is that illness or any other loss or calamity, which, anyhow, is apart of living, should not be wholly looked upon as a misfortune or manifestation of the displeasure of Allah. There is, in them, a great deal of virtue and cause for gratitude for the devout bondsmen. Through them, sins are expiated, worthiness for the special graces of Allah increases, the shortage of good deeds is made up and the inner diciplining of fortunate and dutiful bondsmen takes place.

Those of Allah's slaves who know the truth of these sayings endure the severest of trials and illnesses and feel stronger for that.

Reward of Deeds of The Days of Good Health During Illness

(٧٧١/٢٩٩) عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا

مَرِضَ الْعَبْدُ أَوْ سَافَرَ كُتِبَ لَهُ بِمِثْلِ مَا كَانَ يَعْمَلُ مُقِيمًا صَحِيحًا. (رواه البخارى)

(771/299) It is related by Abu Musa Al-Ash'ari ؓ that the Prophet ﷺ said: "When a bondsman is sick or in a journey (and cannot carry out the daliy routine of worship etc.,) his deeds are recorded in the sake way with Allah as when he was healthy or staying at home." (Bukhari)

Commentary: It, again, is a great favour of the Lord that if a person cannot perform his duties of Zikr and worship owing to the constraints of illness or travel, he, by His command, causes the duties to be recorded in his balance-sheet of deeds which he used to observe during the days of good-health or staying at home.

Visiting of The Sick

The Prophet ﷺ has declared the visiting of the sick and tending to their needs to be a virtue of the highest order and an act of worship. He used to visit the sick himself and talk to them in a comforting manner. He, also, blew on them after reciting the Names or words of Allah and exhorted others to do the same.

(٧٧٢/٣٠٠) عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
أَطْعِمُوا الْجَائِعَ وَعَوِّدُوا الْمَرِيضَ وَفُكُّوا الْعَانِي .
(رواه البخارى)

(772/300) It is related by Abu Musa Al-Ash'ari ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Feed the hungry, visit the sick, and seek the release of those who have been made captives unjustly."
(Bukhrai)

(٧٧٣/٣٠١) عَنْ ثَوْبَانَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ الْمُسْلِمَ
إِذَا عَادَ أَخَاهُ الْمُسْلِمَ لَمْ يَزَلْ فِي خُرْفَةِ الْجَنَّةِ حَتَّى يَرْجِعَ .
(رواه مسلم)

(773/301) It is related by Thauban ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When a truthful Believer visits a (sick) believing bondsman, he is, sort to speak, in the Garden of Paradise until he returns."
(Muslim)

(٧٧٤/٣٠٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ
عَادَى مَرِيضًا نَادَى مُنَادٍ مِنَ السَّمَاءِ طِبْتَ وَطَابَ مَمْشَاكَ وَتَبَوَّأْتَ مِنَ
الْجَنَّةِ مَنْزِلًا
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(774/302) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ has quoted the Prophet ﷺ as saying, "If anyone visits a sick person, some one cries out from heaven, "May you be good, may your walk be good, and may you come to an abode in Paradise!"
(Ibn Majah)

(٧٧٥/٣٠٣) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا دَخَلْتُمْ عَلَى الْمَرِيضِ فَنَقِسُوا لَهُ فِي أَجَلِهِ فَإِنَّ ذَلِكَ لَا يَرُدُّ شَيْئًا وَيُطِيبُ بِنَفْسِهِ .
(رواه الترمذی و ابن ماجه)

(775/303) It is related by Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When you visit a sick person make him happy about his age (i.e., talk to him in a reassuring manner about his life, as for instance, say to him that he was looking better, and, God willing, would soon be well). Such a thing will not prevent what is decreed (i.e., it will happen in any case) but make him cheerful (and this is the main object of visiting the sick.)." (Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

(٧٧٦/٣٠٤) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ كَانَ غُلَامٌ يَهُودِيٌّ يَخْدُمُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَمَرَضَ فَاتَاهُ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَعُودُهُ فَقَعَدَ عِنْدَ رَأْسِهِ فَقَالَ لَهُ أَسْلِمَ فَنَظَرَ إِلَى أَبِيهِ وَهُوَ عِنْدَهُ فَقَالَ أَطَعَ أَبَا الْقَاسِمِ فَأَسْلَمَ فَخَرَجَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَهُوَ يَقُولُ الْحَمْدُ لِلَّهِ الَّذِي أَنْقَذَهُ مِنَ النَّارِ . (رواه البخارى)

(776/304) Anas رضي الله عنه narrated that a Jewish boy used to attend to the Prophet ﷺ. When he fell ill, the Prophet ﷺ went to him and sat at the head of his bed and said: "Accept the Divine faith." The boy looked at his father who, (also), was present. "Do so Abul Qasim (i.e., the Prophet) says," his father told him. The boy, thereupon, embraced Islam. As the Prophet ﷺ came out, he said: "All praise to God who took the boy out of Hell."

(Bukhari)

Commentary: It shows, firstly, that some non-Muslims, too, used to serve the Prophet ﷺ; secondly, that he visited the sick among the non-Muslims as well; and, thirdly, that the non-Muslims who had the opportunity of coming close to the Prophet ﷺ, were so greatly impressed by him that they preferred Islam as the religion of their children.

Blowing on The Sick Person and Praying For His Recovery

(٧٧٧/٣٠٥) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ

عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا اشْتَكَى مِنْهُ إِنْسَانٌ مَسَحَهُ بِيَمِينِهِ ثُمَّ قَالَ أَذْهَبِ الْبَاسَ رَبِّ النَّاسِ وَأَشْفِ أَنْتَ الشَّافِي لَا شِفَاءَ إِلَّا شِفَاءُكَ شِفَاءً لَا يُغَادِرُ سَقَمًا.

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(777/305) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها "When anyone of us fell ill, the Prophet ﷺ used to move his right hand on his body and recite the prayer: Az-hibil baasa rabban-naasi washfi antash-shaafi laa shifa-a illa shifaa-uka shifaa-an laa yughaadiru saqma. [O Lord of mankind! Remove his suffering and grant him recovery. You are the Healer. Your healing is the healing. Grant him a complete healing that may leave not (a trace of illness)]." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٧٧٨/٣٠٦) عَنْ عُثْمَانَ ابْنِ أَبِي الْعَاصِ أَنَّهُ شَكَى إِلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَجَعًا يَجِدُهُ فِي جَسَدِهِ فَقَالَ لَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ضَعْ يَدَكَ عَلَى الَّذِي يَأْلَمُ مِنْ جَسَدِكَ وَقُلْ بِسْمِ اللَّهِ ثَلَاثًا وَقُلْ سَبْعَ مَرَّاتٍ ائْتِ اللَّهَ بِعِزَّةِ اللَّهِ وَقُدْرَتِهِ مِنْ شَرِّ مَا آجِدُ وَأُحَازِرُ قَالَ فَفَعَلْتُ فَأَذْهَبَ اللَّهُ مَا كَانَ بِي.

(رواه مسلم)

(778/306) Sayyidina Uthman bin Abul Aas رضي الله عنه said that he complained to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ of a pain he had in his body. He said to him to put his hand on the part of his body which was sore and say three times "بسم الله" In the name of Allah," and seven times:

اَعُوْذُ بِعِزَّةِ اللَّهِ وَقُدْرَتِهِ مِنْ شَرِّ مَا آجِدُ وَأُحَازِرُ

"I seek refuge in Allah's might and power from the evil of what I am experiencing and trying to avert."

He said that he did so and Allah removed his trouble. (Muslim)

(٧٧٩/٣٠٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُعَوِّذُ الْحَسَنَ وَالْحُسَيْنَ أَعِيذُ كَمَا بِكَلِمَاتِ اللَّهِ التَّامَّةِ مِنْ كُلِّ شَيْطَانٍ وَهَامَةٍ وَمِنْ كُلِّ عَيْنٍ لَامَةٍ وَيَقُولُ إِنَّ أَبَاكُمَا كَانَ يُعَوِّذُ بِهَا إِسْمَاعِيلَ وَإِسْحَاقَ. (رواه البخارى)

(779/307) Sayyidina Ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to command Hasan رضي الله عنه and Husain رضي الله عنه to Allah's protection saying:

أَعِزُّدُكُمْ بِكَلِمَاتِ اللَّهِ التَّامَّةِ مِنْ كُلِّ شَيْطَانٍ وَهَامَّةٍ وَمِنْ كُلِّ عَيْنٍ لَامَةٍ

"With the perfect Words of Allah, I command you to Allah's protection from every evil and poisonous creature and from every evil eye."

And he used to say: Your ancestor (Ibrahim) used to commend Isma'il and Ishaq عليهم السلام with these words to Allah's protection. (Bukhari)

Commentary: The perfect words of Allah could be His commands or His Book. He used to supplicate Hasan and Husain in this manner and blow on them or gave them an amulet.

(٧٨٠/٣٠٨) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهَا قَالَتْ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا شَتَكَى نَفْسَهُ عَلَى نَفْسِهِ بِالْمُعَوِّذَاتِ وَمَسَحَ عَنْهُ بِيَدِهِ فَلَمَّا اشْتَكَى وَجَعَهُ الَّذِي تُوَفِّي فِيهِ كُنْتُ أَنْفُثُ عَلَيْهِ بِالْمُعَوِّذَاتِ الَّتِي كَانَ يَنْفُثُ وَأَمْسَحَ بِيَدِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ . (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(780/308) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها said that when the Prophet ﷺ had a complaint he would blow on himself reciting the *mu'awwizat*¹, and wiped himself with his hand. She said, "When he suffered from the pain of which he died, I would blow on him and recite the mu'awwizat as he did and would take his hand to wipe him." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The mu'awwizat are the last two surah of the Qur'an. It could also mean the supplications in such refuge is sought with Allah. We have already seen some of them and will see more in the Kitab Ad-Da'wat.

When Signs of Death Appear

(٧٨١/٣٠٩) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ وَأَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَا قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِقَتُلُوا مَوْتَكُمْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ . (رواه مسلم)

(781/309) It is related on the authority of Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه and Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Instruct the Kalima of Laa ilaaha il-lallaah to the dying men." (Muslim)

Commentary: Here the "dying men" denotes those who are at the point of death and the word Talqeen (i.e., to teach, to instruct, to inform), occurring in the original, means that the Kalimah of Laa ilaaha il-lallaah should be reited before them so that at the dying moment the doctrine of the Oneness of God might be upper-most in their minds, and if the tongue was in a position to respond, they could refresh their Faith by uttering the Confessional Formula, and depart from the world in that state.

(٧٨٢/٣١٠) عَنْ مَعَاذِ ابْنِ جَبَلٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ كَانَ آخِرُ كَلَامِهِ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ دَخَلَ الْجَنَّةَ .
(رواه ابو داؤد)
(782/310) It is related by Mu'az bin Jabal رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "He shall go to Heaven whose last words are: Laa ilaaha il-lallaah."
(Abu Dawood)

(٧٨٣/٣١١) عَنْ مَعْقِلِ بْنِ يَسَارٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اِقْرُوا سُورَةَ يَسٍ عَلَى مَوْتَاكُمْ .
(رواه احمد و ابو داؤد و ابن ماجه)
(783/311) It is related by Ma'qil bin Yasar that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Recite surah Yaseen to those of you who are dying."
(Musnad Ahmad, Abu Dawood and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Here, too, the dying men denotes those in whom the signs of death may have appeared. Allah alone knows what is the aim and significance of this command but this much is evident that this Chapter of the Qur'an contains some remarkable truths concerning Faith, and what is to follow after death has been described in it most vividly. The last verse of it:

فَسُبْحَنَ الَّذِي بِيَدِهِ مَلَكُوتُ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ وَإِلَيْهِ تُرْجَعُونَ (يس ٨٣:٣٦)

Therefore glory be unto Him in Whose hand is the dominion over all things; Unto him you will be brought back. (Yasin 36:83) is, particularly, appropriate for recitation when the end is near.

(٧٨٤/٣١٢) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَبْلَ مَوْتِهِ بِثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ يَقُولُ لَا يَمُوتَنَّ أَحَدُكُمْ إِلَّا وَهُوَ يُحْسِنُ الظَّنَّ بِاللَّهِ (رواه مسلم)
(784/312) It is related by Jابر رضي الله عنه "I heard the Prophet ﷺ say only three days before his death that 'Everyone of you should die in the condition that he has a good assumption about God.'
(Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that faith in Allah and the awareness of Him require that while the bondsman feared Him, and, at the same time, was hopeful of His Mercy during the last moments of life, the pleasureable expectation of Divine benevolence and forgiveness should predominate. The sick person should strive to produce this state within himself and his attendants and visitors, too, should talk to him, or within his hearing, at that time in a way that was conducive to it and made him hopefully expectant of Divine mercy.

Things To Be Done After Death

(٧٨٥/٣١٣) عَنْ أُمِّ سَلَمَةَ قَالَتْ دَخَلَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَى أَبِي سَلَمَةَ وَقَدْ شَقَّ بَصْرُهُ فَأَغْمَضَهُ ثُمَّ قَالَ إِنَّ الرُّوحَ إِذَا قُبِضَ تَبِعَهُ الْبَصَرُ فَصَحَّ نَاسٌ مِنْ أَهْلِهِ فَقَالَ لَا تَدْعُوا عَلَى أَنْفُسِكُمْ إِلَّا بِخَيْرٍ فَإِنَّ الْمَلَائِكَةَ يَوْمُنُونَ عَلَى مَا تَقُولُونَ ثُمَّ قَالَ اللَّهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لِأَبِي سَلَمَةَ وَارْفَعْ دَرَجَتَهُ فِي الْمَهْدِيِّينَ وَاخْلُقْهُ فِي عَقَبِهِ فِي الْغَابِرِينَ وَاعْفِرْ لَنَا وَلَهُ يَلِرَبِّ الْعَالَمِينَ وَافْسَحْ لَهُ فِي قَبْرِهِ وَنَوِّرْ لَهُ فِيهِ (رواه مسلم)

(785/313) Umm Salmah رضي الله عنها related that the Prophet ﷺ came (to her house at the time of the death of her husband, Abu Salmah). His (i.e., Abu Salmah's) eyes had remained open; the Prophet ﷺ closed them and said: "When life departs, vision, also, departs with it. (The eyes should therefore, be closed after death)." One hearing it, the members of Abu Salmah's family began to cry very loudly (and in their grief they uttered words that could have the effect of calling down God's Anger on themselves). The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, said: "O people! Pray for what is good for you because the Angels say Aameen on what you are saying. "He, then himself prayed: "O Allah! Forgive Abu Salmah and raise his rank among Your rightly guided bondsmen and protect and support his survivors in his place, and O Lord of the Worlds, forgive him and us and illuminate his grave, and make it spacious." (Muslim)

(٧٨٦/٣١٤) عَنْ أُمِّ سَلَمَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ مُسْلِمٍ تُصِيبُهُ مُصِيبَةٌ فَيَقُولُ مَا أَمَرَهُ اللَّهُ بِهِ إِنْ أَلَّا لِلَّهِ وَإِنَّا إِلَيْهِ رَاجِعُونَ اللَّهُمَّ

أَجَرْنِي فِي مُصِيبَتِي وَاخْلُفْ لِي خَيْرًا مِنْهَا إِلَّا أَخْلَفَ اللَّهُ لَهُ خَيْرًا مِنْهَا فَلَمَّا مَاتَ أَبُو سَلَمَةَ قُلْتُ أَيُّ الْمُسْلِمِينَ خَيْرٌ مِنْ أَبِي سَلَمَةَ أَوَّلَ بَيْتٍ هَاجَرَ إِلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثُمَّ إِنِّي قُلْتُهَا فَأَخْلَفَ اللَّهُ لِي رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ .
(رواه مسلم)

(786/314) It is related on the authority of Umm Salmah رضي الله عنها that the Prophet ﷺ said: "When a misfortune befalls a believing bondsman (and he suffers a loss), he should say what he is commanded to say: "In-na lillaahi wa in-na ilaihi raji'oon. Allahumma ajirni fi musibati wakhlu' li khairam minha (To God we belong and to Him do we return. O God! Recompense me in this misfortune and bestow on me a better thing in place of what has been taken away). God will, then, surely grant him a better thing." (Umm Salmah went on to relate "When my first husband, Abu Salmah died I thought who could be better than him. He was the first Muslim to migrate towards the Prophet ﷺ with his family and belongings. But I prayed as taught by the Prophet ﷺ and Allah gave him to me in place of Abu Salmah (i.e., the Prophet married me)." (Muslim)

(٧٨٧/٣١٥) عَنْ حَصِينِ ابْنِ وَحَوْحٍ أَنَّ طَلْحَةَ ابْنَ الْبَرَاءِ مَرَضَ فَاتَاهُ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَعُودُهُ فَقَالَ إِنِّي لَا أُرَى طَلْحَةَ إِلَّا قَدْ حَدَثَ بِهِ الْمَوْتُ فَأَذْنُونِي بِهِ وَعَجِّلُوا فَإِنَّهُ لَا يَنْبَغِي لِجِيفَةِ مُسْلِمٍ أَنْ تُحَسَّ بَيْنَ طَهْرَانِي أَهْلِهِ .
(رواه أبو داود)

(787/315) Husayn bin Wahwah narrated that when Talha bin Bara' fell ill, he said to others: "I feel the time of his death is near. (If he dies), I should be informed and (the bathing and shrouding of his dead body) should be done quickly because it is not proper for the dead body of a Muslim to remain for long in the midst of the family members." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that after death has taken place shrouding and burial etc, should be done quickly.

Bewailing And Breast-Beating

It is natural to feel grief at the death of a dear one, to shed tears and to show other spontaneous manifestations of mourning. It shows that one has not ceased to be human. The Shari'ah, as such, has imposed no restriction on it. It commends and appreciates it. But loud lamentation and breast-beating and deliberate bewailing and crying are strictly prohibited. First, these practices are opposed to the spirit of submission to the Divine Will. Secondly, ceremonious mourning amounts to ingratitude and unthankfulness at the priceless gift of thinking and reasoning Allah has conferred upon man. Thirdly, it adds to one's own mental suffering as well as that of others and paralyses, at least for the time being, the faculties of thought and action. Crying and breast-beating, further, is hurtful to the dead body.

(٧٨٨/٣١٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ اشْتَكَى سَعْدُ بْنُ عُبَادَةَ شَكْوَى لَهُ فَاتَّاهَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَعُودُهُ مَعَ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ عَوْفٍ وَسَعْدِ بْنِ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ وَعَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنُ مَسْعُودٍ فَلَمَّا دَخَلَ عَلَيْهِ وَجَدَهُ فِي غَاشِيَةٍ فَقَالَ قَدْ قُضِيَ؟ قَالُوا لَا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ فَبَكَى النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَلَمَّا رَأَى الْقَوْمَ بَكَاءَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بَكَوْا فَقَالَ أَلَا تَسْمَعُونَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يُعَذِّبُ بِدَمْعِ الْعَيْنِ وَلَا بِحُزْنِ الْقَلْبِ وَلَكِنْ يُعَذِّبُ بِهَذَا وَأَشَارَ إِلَى لِسَانِهِ أَوْ بِرَحْمٍ وَإِنَّ الْمَيِّتَ لَيُعَذَّبُ بِبَكَاءِ أَهْلِهِ عَلَيْهِ .
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(788/316) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه narrated that when Sa'd bin Ubadah رضي الله عنه fell ill, the Prophet ﷺ came to see him with Abdur Rahman bin Awf رضي الله عنه, Sa'd bin Abu Waqqas رضي الله عنه and Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه. When the Prophet ﷺ came in, he found him in a very critical condition (or in such a condition that many people were surrounding him). The Prophet ﷺ, on seeing it, said: "(He has) passed away." (He might have guessed it from his condition or wanted to enquire from the people who were around Sa'd bin Ubadah رضي الله عنه whether he had died). "No, Messenger of Allah ﷺ, replied the people. "He is not dead." The Prophet ﷺ, (then), burst into tears and when people saw it, they also, began to cry. He, thereupon, said: "O people! Listen carefully. Allah does not punish upon the tears of the eyes and the grief of the heart (because one has no control over them, and, then, pointing towards the tongue, he added), but He does punish upon the (misconduct) of this tongue (i.e., upon lamenting and mourning with it) and blesses (those who say In-na lillaah and beg His forgiveness), and it, too, is a fact that chastisement is inflicted upon the dead body for the bewailment of the family members." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The main purport of the above Tradition is that bewailment and loud lamentation should be avoided on the death of anyone. It is a source of the anger and punishment. On the other hand, In-na lillaa and other Kalimah of prayer and repentance ought to be uttered which are the means of earning His good pleasure. It, also, tells that the dead body is punished for the crying and breast-beating of relatives.

Besides Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه, his father, Umar bin al-Khattab رضي الله عنه, and some other Companions, also, have related that the Prophet ﷺ said so. But Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها, and, with her, Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه reject it. In the source-books of this very Tradition — Sahih Buhari and Sahih Muslim — it is stated that when the narrative of Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه and his son, Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه, was mentioned to Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها in this connection she remarked, "Both of these gentlemen, indeed, are truthful, but in this case, either their memory did not serve them well or they failed to hear or understand correctly what the Prophet ﷺ said. The Prophet ﷺ did never say that." Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها, also referred in her support, to the Qur'anic verse:

لَا تَزِرُ وَازِرَةٌ وِزْرَ أُخْرَىٰ (النجم ٣٨:٥٣)

That no laden one shall bear another's load. (Al-Najm 53:38)

And observed "in this verse the rule has been laid down that no one will be punished for the sin of any other person. How, then, can it be that wailing is done by the members of the family and punishment is meted out to the deceased?"

But the manner in which Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه and Abdulah bin Umar رضي الله عنه have related the incident leaves no room for believing that they erred or mistook the emaning of the Prophet's words. At the same time, the argument of Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها, too, cannot be ignored. Commentators in their attempt to reconcile the two viewpoints have advanced various explanations, the most appealing of which is that the narratives of Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه and Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه appertain to the situation in which the fault or negligence of the deceased, too, had something to do with the wailing of his relatives, as for instance, he might have exhorted them to do so, as the custom was among the Arabs in olden days, or, at least, failed to advise them against it. The same view was been taken by Imam Bukhari as well.

It has, again, been suggested that when people wail over the death of a near kinsman and extol his virtues to the skies, the Angels ask him. "Why, were you really like that?" The same thing has been mentioned in some Traditions also.

Those who want to know more should see Lath al-Mulhn. It must be known that Sa'd bin Ubadah رضي الله عنه recovered from the illness. He died after the Prophet ﷺ had died in hands of Sayyidina Abu Bakr رضي الله عنه or Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه.

(٧٨٩/٣١٧) عَنْ أَبِي بُرْدَةَ قَالَ أُغْمِيَ عَلَى أَبِي مُوسَى فَأَقْبَلَتْ امْرَأَتُهُ أُمُّ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ تَصِيحُ بِرَنَةٍ ثُمَّ أَفَاقَ فَقَالَ أَلَمْ تَعْلَمِي وَكَانَ يُحَدِّثُهَا أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ أَنَا بَرِيٌّ مِمَّنْ حَلَقَ وَصَلَقَ وَخَرَقَ .

(رواه البخارى ومسلم واللفظ المسلم)

(789/317) It is related on the authority of Abu Burda, son of Abu Musa Al-Ash'ari رضي الله عنه, that once Abu Musa (fell ill and became) unconcious upon which his wife, Umm Abdullah, began to cry loudly. Later, as Abu Musa's رضي الله عنه condition improved and he regained consciousness, he said to her: "Do you not know that the Prophet ﷺ has declared that He will have nothing to do with anyone who shaves his head, raises long, sorrowing cries, tears his clothes and follows ways of the Days of ignorance on the occasion of death or any other misfortune?" (Abu Burdah went on to add that Abu Musa Ash'ari رضي الله عنه used, often to relate this saying to his wife). (Bukhari and Muslim) (٧٩٠/٣١٨) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَيْسَ مِنَّا مَنْ ضَرَبَ الْخُدُودَ وَشَقَّ الْجُيُوبَ وَدَعَى بِدَعْوَى الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ .

(رواه البخارى)

(790/318) It is related by Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Whoever slaps his cheeks, beats his face and tears his clothes and bewails in the manner of the (polytheists of old, in moments of loss or grief), is not one of us." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Tears of Eyes And Grief And Heart

(٧٩١/٣١٩) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ دَخَلْنَا مَعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَى أَبِي سَيْفِ الْقَيْنِ وَكَانَ ظَنَرًا لِإِبْرَاهِيمَ فَأَخَذَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَبَّلَهُ وَشَمَّهُ ثُمَّ دَخَلْنَا عَلَيْهِ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ وَإِبْرَاهِيمُ بِجُودٍ بِنَفْسِهِ فَجَعَلَتْ عَيْنَا رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَذَرُ فَإِنْ فَقَالَ لَهُ عَبْدُ الرَّحْمَنِ ابْنُ عَوْفٍ وَأَنْتَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ؟ فَقَالَ يَا بَنَ عَوْفٍ إِنَّهَا رَحْمَةٌ ثُمَّ اتَّبَعَهَا بِأُخْرَى فَقَالَ إِنْ أَلْعَيْنَ تَدْمَعُ وَالْقَلْبُ يَحْزَنُ وَلَا نَقُولُ إِلَّا مَا يَرْضَى رَبُّنَا وَإِنَّا بِفِرَاقِكَ يَا إِبْرَاهِيمَ لَمَحْزُونُونَ .
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(791/319) Anas رضي الله عنه narrated "I went with the Messenger of Allah ﷺ to the house of Abu Saif, the ironmonger. Abu Saif was the husband of the wet-nurse of the Prophet's ﷺ son, Ibrahim رضي الله عنه. (and, according to the custom of those days, Ibrahim used to live with her). The Prophet ﷺ lifted Ibrahim (in his arm) and kissed him and placed his nose (on his cheeks as people do when showing affection to a child). Afterwards, we went there once (during the last illness of Ibrahim). At that time, Ibrahim رضي الله عنه was on the point of death. Seeing his condition, tears began to flow from the eyes of the Prophet ﷺ. Abdul Rahman bin Awf رضي الله عنه (who believed, owing to ignorance, that the Prophet ﷺ could not be affected by such things) exclaimed: 'You, too, O Messenger of Allah?' The Prophet ﷺ replied: '(There is no harm in it. On the contrary), it is love and sympathy.' Then, as the tears rolled down his cheek, once again, he said: 'The eyes shed tears, and the heart is stricken with grief, but by the tongue I will say only what is pleasing to Allah (i.e., In-na lillaahi wa in-na liaihi raji'oon). And O Ibrahim! I am sad at your parting.'" (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the Prophet ﷺ was duly moved by situations of sorrow and suffering, and, he, also, shed tears in such circumstances. To feel happy at things of joy and sad at events that cause grief and distress is a fundamental characteristic of human beings. If any one behaves differently, it is a failing, not a virtue.

Sheikh Ahmad Farooqi Mujaddid Alf-Thani رحمه الله عليه writes in one of his letters "One the condition of my heart was such that I neither felt happy at things that caused joy nor sad at things that caused grief. During those days I forced myself to look happy or dejected (as the case was) with the intention of complying with the practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ. Later, the state of indifference disappeared and, now, my condition is that I react in the natural way to sad or joyful events."

Condolence

To grieve in sympathy with any one who is in distress and to try to lessen his grief is a noble quality of the mind. The Prophet ﷺ did so himself, and, also, advised the Companions to share the sorrow of others and express sympathy for them.

(٧٩٢/٣٢٠) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ

وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ عَزَّى مُصَابًا فَلَهُ مِثْلُ أَجْرِهِ . (رواه الترمذی و ابن ماجه)

(792/320) It is related by Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "whoever consoled or comforted a person in distress, for him is the same reward as for the distressed one." (Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Sending Food to The Family of The Deceased

On the day of their bereavement, members of the house-hold of the deceased are not in a fit condition to arrange for their meals. Companionship and fellow-feeling, therefore, require that their friends or relatives send them food.

(٧٩٣/٣٢١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ جَعْفَرٍ قَالَ لَمَّا جَاءَ نَعْيُ جَعْفَرٍ قَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى

اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اصْنَعُوا لِأَلِ جَعْفَرٍ طَعَامًا فَقَدْ آتَاهُمْ مَا يَشْغَلُهُمْ .

(رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد و ابن ماجه)

(793/321) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin J'afar رضي الله عنه that when news was received of the martyrdom of his father, J'afar bin Abu Talib, the Prophet ﷺ said: "Food should be prepared for J'afar's family. On the receipt of the news they will not be in such a state as to attend to needs like that."

(Tirmizi, Abu Dawood, and Ibn Majah)

Showing Patience at Death

(٧٩٤/٣٢٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ
اللَّهُ مَالِعَبْدِي الْمُؤْمِنِ جَزَاءً إِذَا قَبِضْتُ صَفِيَّةً مِنْ أَهْلِ الدُّنْيَا ثُمَّ احْتَسَبَهُ إِلَّا
الْجَنَّةَ . (رواه البخارى)

(794/322) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Allah says "When I take away (i.e., send down death upon the dear one of a faithful bondsman (or bondswoman) and he (or she) shows patience (on it) in the hope of recompense, I have no reward for him (or her) save Paradise." (Bukhari)

(٧٩٥/٣٢٣) عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى الْأَشْعَرِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا مَاتَ وَلَدُ الْعَبْدِ قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى لِمَلَائِكَتِهِ قَبِضْتُمْ وَلَدَ عَبْدِي فَيَقُولُونَ نَعَمْ فَيَقُولُ قَبِضْتُمْ ثَمَرَةً فَوَادِهِ فَيَقُولُونَ نَعَمْ فَيَقُولُ مَاذَا قَالَ عَبْدِي فَيَقُولُونَ حَمْدَكَ وَاسْتَرْجَعَ فَيَقُولُ اللَّهُ ابْنُوا لِعَبْدِي بَيْتًا فِي الْجَنَّةِ وَسَمُّوهُ بَيْتَ الْحَمْدِ (رواه احمد والترمذى)

(795/323) It is reported by Sayyidina Abu Musa Al-Ash'ari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When a child of a slave of Allah dies, He says to His angels, 'Have you taken the soul of the child of My slave?' They say, 'Yes!'. so, He says, 'You have taken away the fruit of his heart.' They say, 'Yes'. Then He says, 'What did My slave say?' They reply, 'He praised You and said

إِنَّا لِلَّهِ وَإِنَّا إِلَيْهِ رَاجِعُونَ (البقر ٢: ١٥٦)

"We belong to Allah and to Him will we return." (al-Baqarah 2:156)

Then Ailah says, 'Build for My slave a house in Paradise and call it Bayt Al-Hamd (the House of Praise).' (Ahmad, Tirmizi)

A Letter of Condolence by The Prophet ﷺ

(٧٩٦/٣٢٤) عَنْ مُعَاذٍ أَنَّهُ مَاتَ لَهُ ابْنٌ فَكَتَبَ إِلَيْهِ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
التَّعْزِيَةَ بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

مِنْ مُحَمَّدٍ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ إِلَى مُعَاذِ بْنِ جَبَلٍ سَلَامٌ عَلَيْكَ فَإِنِّي أَحْمَدُ إِلَيْكَ اللَّهُ

الَّذِي لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا هُوَ أَمَّا بَعْدُ فَأَعْظَمَ اللَّهُ لَكَ الْأَجْرَ وَالْهَمَّكَ الصَّبْرَ وَرَزَقَنَا
وَأَيَّاكَ الشُّكْرَ فَإِنَّ أَنْفُسَنَا وَأَمْوَالَنَا وَأَهْلَنَا مِنْ مَوَاهِبِ اللَّهِ الْهِنِيئَةِ وَعَوَارِيهِ
الْمُسْتَوْدَعَةِ مَتَّعَكَ اللَّهُ بِهِ فِي غِنَاةٍ وَسُرُورٍ وَقَبْضَةٍ مِنْكَ بِأَجْرِ كَبِيرِ الصَّلَاةِ
وَالرَّحْمَةِ وَالْهُدَى إِنْ احْتَسَبْتَهُ فَاصْبِرْ وَلَا يُحِيطُ جَزَعُكَ أَجْرَكَ فَتَنْدَمَ
وَأَعْلَمُ أَنَّ الْجَزَعَ لَا يَرُدُّ مَيِّتًا وَلَا يَدْفَعُ حُزْنًا وَمَا هُوَ نَازِلٌ فَكَانَ قَدْ وَالسَّلَامَ .

(رواه الطبراني في الكبير والوسط)

(796/324) It is related by Mu'az bin Jabal رضي الله عنه that when his son died, the Prophet ﷺ sent him a letter of condolence:

"In the name of Allah the Most Kind, the Most Merciful!

"From Muhammad, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, to Mu'az bin Jabal

"Salaamun 'Alaika,

"First of all, I relate to you the Praises of Allah save Whom there is no deity. (After it), I pray that Allah may recompense you most bounteously on the loss and endue your heart with patience and grant you and me the good fortune to be thankful (to Him) for His favours. Our lives and our possessions and our wives and our children are the gifts of Allah and the trusts He has placed in our charge. (Your son, also, was a trust fo Allah, given in your keeping). as long as He wished, He gave you the opportunity to profit from him with joy and to make yourself happy, and when He willed, He took back the charge from you. He is going to recompense you with a plentiful reward. (There are glad tidings of) the special favour of Allah and benevolence and guidance from Him if you show patience in the confident expectation of reward and with the intention of willing surrender to His Will. So, O Mu'az, be patient and let not bewailing and loud lamentation ruin th recompense, lest, you feel sorrow (over suffering the loss, and yet, remain deprived of the reward). And, believe it, no dead person returnst (to the earth) by mourning and lamentation, nor does it lessen the grief. And the Command that comes down from Allah shall be fulfilled. In truth, it has been fulfilled (already). Was-Salaam."

Commentary: In the Qur'an good tidings of three things have been given to those who show patience:

أُولَئِكَ عَلَيْهِمْ صَلَوَاتٌ مِنْ رَبِّهِمْ وَرَحْمَةٌ وَأُولَئِكَ هُمُ الْمُهْتَدُونَ

(البقره ٢: ١٥٧)

Such are they on whom are blessings from their Lord, and mercy. Such are the rightly-guided. (al-Baqarah 2:157)

Alluding to the afore-mentioned verse, the Prophet ﷺ has observed in his letter to Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ that if he remained patient in his bereavement with the propitiation of Allah and Divine recompense as the objective, there were for him the glad tidings of the special favour of Allah and mercy and guidance.

Bathing And Shrouding of The Dead Body

The Shari'ah has prescribed a precise method of sending off, with proper solemnity and honour, a person who leaves this world for the ultimate abode of the Hereafter through the pathway of death. It is a most cleanly, noble and glady way of doing so. First, the dead body should be washed thoroughly as a living person takes a bath for making himself clean. Apart from cleansing and pruiification, due regard ought to be paid to the proprieties of a bath. The cleansers that are , generally, used in a bath for removing the grime and filthiness should be added to the water used in it. Odorous substances like camphor should, also, be finally mixed with the water so that the dead body becomes fragrant. It should, then, be shrouded in a neat and clean cloth, but wasteful expenditure to be avoided. Afterwards, the funeral prayer has to be offered in which an earnest prayer is made for Divine mercy and forgiveness for the departed soul. People, then, should accompany the corpse to the graveyard to bid it farewell. Lastly, it should aparently, be consinged to the grave reverentially, and, in reality, entrusted to the mercy of Allah.

عَنْ أُمِّ عَطِيَّةٍ قَالَتْ دَخَلَ عَلَيْنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

وَنَحْنُ نَغْسِلُ ابْنَتَهُ فَقَالَ إَغْسِلْنَهَا ثَلَاثًا أَوْ خَمْسًا أَوْ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ إِنْ رَأَيْتُنَّ

ذَلِكَ بِمَاءٍ وَسِدْرٍ وَاجْعَلْنِي فِي الْآخِرَةِ كَافُورًا أَوْ شَيْئًا مِنْ كَافُورٍ فَإِذَا فَرَعْتُنَّ

فَأَذِنِّي فَلَمَّا فَرَعْنَا أَذْنَاهُ فَأَلْقَى إِلَيْنَا حِقْوَهُ فَقَالَ إِشْعُرْ نَهَا إِيَّاهُ وَفِي رَوَايَةٍ

أَغْسَلْنَهَا وَتَرَا ثَلَاثًا أَوْ خَمْسًا أَوْ سَبْعًا وَأَبْدَأَنَّ بِمِيَامِنِهَا وَمَوَاضِعِ الْوُضُوءِ مِنْهَا
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(797/325) It is related by Um 'Atiya "When we were bathing the Prophet's ﷺ daughter who had died, the Prophet ﷺ came and said to us: 'Bathe her three or five times or even more if you think it proper with water boiled with jujube leaves, and, also, add caphor to it when you bathe the body for the last time, and let me know when you finish.' So, when the bathing was completed, we informed the Prophet ﷺ, then, he threw his *tahbund*¹ towards us and said: 'First of all, dress her in it.'" In another version of the same incident, it is stated that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Bathe her odd numbers of times, three, five or seven, and begin with the right side and with parts that are washed in ablution."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: From the report quoted in Sahih Muslim, it appears that it was the Prophet's ﷺ eldest daughter, Sayyidah Zaynab رضى الله عنها, who was married to Abul 'Aas bin Rabi', the bathing and shrouding of whose dead body is described in the above Tradition. She had died in the beginning of 8 A.H., and Umm Atiya Ansariya, who is the narrator of this Tradition and was among those who had given the bath, was a prominent Companion. She always offered herself for such a service and was specially skilled in it. A renowned legist-doctor like Ibn Sireen says that he had learnt the correct way of bathing the dead bodies from her.

The above narrative speaks of bathing the dead body with water boiled with jujube leaves. These have a marked cleansing effect on the body and were used, in olden days, for the same purpose for which we use soap now. What it under lines is that fullest care should be taken to remove dirt from the dead body. For the same reason, it has, also, been stressed that the body should be washed thrice and even more than that, and since odd numbers are more pleasing to Allah, the bathing should be done three or five or even seven times if necessary, and camphor should be added when the body is washed for the last time for it has a very strong, agreeable and long-lasting smell.

The giving by the Prophet ﷺ of his own Tahbund for ①. A cloth worn round the waist. It is not passed between the legs nor fastened behind.

shrouding the dead body of his daughter — in some reports it is distinctly stated that when the Prophet ﷺ was informed that the bathing had been completed he removed the Tahbund from his body and gave it for shrouding —, with the instruction that it was to be used as an under-garment has induced some authorities to conclude that it is propitious to use the dress etc., of virtuous bondsmen of Allah for such purpose. But to attach an exaggerated importance to these things and grow negligent of one's duties because of a belief like that is, of course erroneous.

It does not show how many pieces of cloth were used for shrouding the Prophet's ﷺ daughter but in Fath-Baari, Imam Ibn Hajr has quoted Jauzqi, as an addition to Umm Atiya's رضى الله عنها narrative.

فَكَفَّنَاهَا فِي خَمْسَةِ أَثْوَابٍ وَخَمَرْنَاَهَا كَمَا يُخَمَّرُ الْحَيُّ

"We shrouded her in five clothes and, also, covered her with *Khamar*¹ as is worn by living women."

It is on the basis of it that five pieces of cloth are accepted as Musnoon for shrouding the dead body of a woman.

Shrouding

(٧٩٨/٣٢٦) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَفَّنَ فِي ثَلَاثَةِ

أَثْوَابٍ يَمَانِيَّةٍ بَيْضَ سَحُولِيَّةٍ لَيْسَ فِيهَا قَمِيصٌ وَلَا عِمَامَةٌ. (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(798/326) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that (when the Prophet ﷺ died) he was shrouded in three (pieces of) white Yemenite cloth that were Saholi. In these was included neither the shirt nor the head-gear." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: According to some commentators, Saholi was the name of a place in Yemen which was famous for cloth-weaving. The Prophet ﷺ used to wear Yemenite sheets and when he died, he was, also, shrouded in them. His shroud did not include the shirt or the turban. For the shrouds of men only three peices are required according to the Shari'ah.

(٧٩٩/٣٢٧) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا كَفَّنَ

①. A cloth worn by Muslim ladies to cover their head and the upper part of the body.

أَحَدُكُمْ أَخَاهُ فَلْيُحْسِنْ كَفَنَهُ. (رواه مسلم)

(799/327) It is related by Jabir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you gives the shroud to his deceased brother, he should give a good one." (Muslim)

Commentary: It tells that no one possessing the means should shroud a dead person in old and rotten clothes thinking that now he will, after all, be buried in the grave and turn to dust. He should cover him with a good shroud. Reverence for the dead body requires it.

(٨٠٠/٣٢٨) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْبُسُؤَا مِنْ ثِيَابِكُمْ الْبَيَاضُ فَإِنَّهَا مِنْ خَيْرِ ثِيَابِكُمْ وَكَفَنُوا فِيهَا مَوْتَانَكُمْ.

(رواه ابو داود و الترمذى و ابن ماجه)

(800/328) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Wear white clothes; these are good clothes for you; and, also, shroud your dead in them."

(Abu Dawood, Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

(٨٠١/٣٢٩) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تُعْأَلُوا فِي الْكَفَنِ فَإِنَّهُ يُسَلَبُ سَرِيعًا.

(رواه ابو داود)

(801/329) It is related by Sayyidina Ali رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Do not use a very costly shroud for it is going to perish."

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that just as it is improper to shroud the body in the cloth of a poor quality, while one can afford a better one, it is, also, unjustifiable to use a very expensive cloth.

It is worth remembering that to shroud men in three and women in five pieces of a good, white cloth is applicable only when the family of the deceased can spare the money for it without difficulty or else an old cloth and only one piece of it can, also, suffice and there is nothing to be ashamed of in it.

The Prophet's ﷺ own uncle, Sayyidina Hamza رضي الله عنه, who had been killed in the Battle of Badr was shrouded in a single piece of cloth which was so small that it could not cover the whole body. If the head was covered, the feet became bare, and if the feet were covered, the head became bare. At last, at the command of the Prophet ﷺ, the head was covered with it and the feet with the grass of Izkhar and he was buried in that condition.

Following The Funeral Procession And Offering The Funeral Prayer

(٨٠٢/٣٣٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ اتَّبَعَ جَنَازَةَ مُسْلِمٍ إِيْمَانًا وَ اَحْتِسَابًا وَ كَانَ مَعَهُ حَتَّى يُصَلِّيَ عَلَيْهَا وَيُفْرَغَ مِنْ دَفْنِهَا فَإِنَّهُ يَرْجِعُ مِنَ الْأَجْرِ بِقِيرَاطَيْنِ كُلُّ قِيرَاطٍ مِثْلُ أُحُدٍ وَمَنْ صَلَّى عَلَيْهَا ثُمَّ رَجَعَ قَبْلَ أَنْ تُدْفَنَ فَإِنَّهُ يَرْجِعُ بِقِيرَاطٍ .
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(802/330) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever, with the attribute of Faith and the intent to earn the Divine reward, follows the funeral procession of a Muslim and remains with the dead body till the funeral prayer is observed and the burial is completed, he will return home with two Qirats of reward, each of which, so to say, will be equal to the Mount of Uhud, and whoever departs after offering the funeral prayers (and does not stay on for the burial), he will return with only are (such-like) Qirat of reward."

(Bukahri and Muslim)

Commentary: Evidently, the object of this Tradition is to induce people to accompany the bier and take part in the funeral prayer and burial.

Qirat was an Arab coin worth one-twelfth of a dirham or two pice in Indian money. Since, in those days, the labourers were paid in Qirat, the Prophet ﷺ has used the same expression. At the same time, he has made it clear that it should not be taken for the Qirat of this world. It was the Qirat of the reward of the Hereafter which, as compared to it, will be as big as the Mount of Uhud.

The Prophet ﷺ has, further, emphasised that the reward will be obtained only when the wohle thing is carried out as a religious duty and for the sake of earning Divine recompense, that it, is prompted mainly by a firm belief in the word of Allah and what the Prophet ﷺ has said or revealed and inconfident expectation of the reward of the Hereafter. Thus, if anyone follows the fuenral procession and participates in the funeral prayer and the burial simply out of the considerations of relationship or affection or with the object of pleasing the family of the deceased and is not mindful of the command of Allah and the Prophet ﷺ and the reward on the Day of Final Judgement, he will not be worthy of it.

Walking at a Brisk Pace With The Bier And Need For Dispatch

(٨٠٣/٣٣١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
إِسْرَعُوا بِالْجَنَازَةِ فَإِنْ تَكَ صَالِحَةٌ فَخَيْرٌ تُقَدِّمُونَهَا إِلَيْهِ وَإِنْ تَكَ سَوَى
ذَلِكَ فَشَرٌّ تَضَعُونَهُ عَنْ رِقَابِكُمْ .
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(803/331) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Take the dead body (for burial) at a brisk pace. If he is virtuous, (the grave for him) is (a) good (destination), and you will make him attain it in a short time (by walking briskly), and if he is otherwise (i.e., not a virtuous person) then there is an evil (load on your shoulders). You will remove it (quickly) from your shoulders (by moving with greater speed)." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the burial should be expedited as quick as possible and unnecessary delay avoided in bathing and shrouding the dead body. When the bier is taken to the graveyard, those carrying it should not, needlessly, move slowly but at a reasonably brisk pace.

Funeral Prayer And Solemn Entreaty For The Deceased

(٨٠٤/٣٣٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا
صَلَّيْتُمْ عَلَى الْمَيِّتِ فَأَخْلِصُوا لَهُ الدُّعَاءَ .
(رواه ابو داود و ابن ماجه)

(804/332) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whenever you offer funeral prayer of anyone, pray earnestly for him." (Abu Dawood and Ibn Majah)

Commetnary: The chief purpose of a funeral prayer is the making of supplication for the departed soul. The glorification of Allah after the first Takbir and Durood after the second, in fact, are a prelude to supplication. The supplications the Prophet ﷺ made in the funeral prayer, which are given in the following Traditions, are most suitable for the occasion.

(٨٠٥/٣٣٣) عَنْ عَوْفِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ قَالَ صَلَّى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَى جَنَازَةٍ فَحَفِظْتُ مِنْ دُعَائِهِ وَهُوَ يَقُولُ اللَّهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لَهُ وَارْحَمْهُ وَعَافِهِ وَاعْفُ عَنْهُ وَآكِرْهُمْ نُزْلَهُ وَوَسِّعْ مَدْخَلَهُ وَاغْسِلْهُ بِالْمَاءِ وَالتَّلَجِ وَالْبُرْدِ وَنَقِّهِ مِنَ الْخَطَايَا كَمَا نَقَّيْتَ الثَّوْبَ الْأَبْيَضَ مِنَ الدَّنَسِ وَأَبْدِلْهُ دَارًا خَيْرًا مِنْ دَارِهِ وَأَهْلًا خَيْرًا مِنْ أَهْلِهِ وَزَوْجًا خَيْرًا مِنْ زَوْجِهِ وَأَدْخِلْهُ الْجَنَّةَ وَأَعِذْهُ مِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ وَمِنْ عَذَابِ النَّارِ قَالَ حَتَّى تَمْنَيْتُ أَنْ أَكُونَ أَنَا ذَلِكَ الْمَيِّتَ. (رواه مسلم)

(805/333) Awf bin Maalik رضي الله عنه narrated that "the Messenger of Allah ﷺ offered the funeral prayer of a person who had died and he remembered the words of the supplication (he made in it for the deceased). He beseeched Allah (in these words):

اللَّهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لَهُ وَارْحَمْهُ وَعَافِهِ وَاعْفُ عَنْهُ وَآكِرْهُمْ نُزْلَهُ وَوَسِّعْ مَدْخَلَهُ وَاغْسِلْهُ بِالْمَاءِ وَالتَّلَجِ وَالْبُرْدِ وَنَقِّهِ مِنَ الْخَطَايَا كَمَا نَقَّيْتَ الثَّوْبَ الْأَبْيَضَ مِنَ الدَّنَسِ وَأَبْدِلْهُ دَارًا خَيْرًا مِنْ دَارِهِ وَأَهْلًا خَيْرًا مِنْ أَهْلِهِ وَزَوْجًا خَيْرًا مِنْ زَوْجِهِ وَأَدْخِلْهُ الْجَنَّةَ وَأَعِذْهُ مِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ وَمِنْ عَذَابِ النَّارِ

Allaahummaghfirlahu wa arhamhu wa 'aafihi wa' afu 'anhu wa ikrim nuzulahu wa was-si'a mud-khlalahu waghsilhu bil-ma-i wath-thalji wal-bardi wa naqqihi minal khataya kama naqaitath thaubal-abyadhu minad-danasi wa abdilhu daaran Khairan min daarihi wa ahlan khairan min ahlihi wa zaujan khairan min zaujihi wa adkhil-hul-jan-ata wa 'a-izhu min 'azaabil qabri wa min -azaabin-nar

(O Allah! Forgive this, bondsman, bestow Your blessings on him; favour him with safety; pardon him; extend respectful hospitality to him; widen the grave for him; (instead of the Fire of Hell and its scorching heat) give him a bath of water, ice and hail (and make him cool), and purify him from the filthiness of sin as You have made white cloth clean of dirt; and grant him and good above of the Hereafter in place of the above of this world, and a good household in place of his own household, and a good spouse in place of his own spouse; and save him from the chastisement of Hell and firm the chastisement of the grave).

(The narrator, 'Awf bin Maalik, adds that on hearing this supplication,) he wished that it was his dead body)." (Muslim)

(٨٠٦/٣٣٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا صَلَّى عَلَى الْجَنَازَةِ قَالَ اللَّهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لِحَيِّنَا وَمَيِّتِنَا وَشَاهِدِنَا وَغَائِبِنَا وَصَغِيرِنَا وَكَبِيرِنَا وَذَكَرْنَا وَأَنْثَانَا اللَّهُمَّ مَنْ أَحْيَيْتَهُ مِنَّا فَأَحْيِهِ عَلَى الْإِسْلَامِ وَمَنْ تَوَفَّيْتَهُ مِنَّا فَتَوَفَّهُ عَلَى الْإِيمَانِ اللَّهُمَّ لَا تَحْرِمْنَا أَجْرَهُ وَلَا تَفْتِنَّا بَعْدَهُ.

(رواه احمد و ابو داود و الترمذى و ابن ماجه)

(806/334) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ offered prayer on a dead body he used to supplicate, in these words: Allahummaghfir lihiyyina wa maiyyitina wa shaahidina wa gha-ibina wa sagheerina wa kabeeri-na wa zakarina wa onthaana. Allahumma ahyaitahu min-na fa-anyeehi 'alal-islami wa man tawaffaitahu min-na fatawafahu alal-imaan. Allahumma laa tuhrimna ajrahu wa laa taf-tinna b'adahu (O Allah! Forgive our dead and living, present and absent, old and young, men and women--all and everyone. O Allah! Whoever of us You may keep alive, keep him alive in the state of Islam, and whoever of us You may take away from this world, take him away in the state of Faith. O Allah! Deprive us not of recompense on his death in hereafter nor plunge us in trial and mischief in the world after him).

(Musnad Ahmad Abu Dawood, Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

(٨٠٧/٣٣٥) عَنْ وَائِلَةَ بِنِ الْأَسْقَعِ قَالَ صَلَّى بِنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَى رَجُلٍ مِنَ الْمُسْلِمِينَ فَسَمِعْتُهُ يَقُولُ اللَّهُمَّ إِنَّ فَلَانَ بَنَ فَلَانَ فِي ذِمَّتِكَ وَحَبْلِ جِوَارِكَ فَقِهِ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الْقَبْرِ وَعَذَابِ النَّارِ وَأَنْتَ أَهْلُ الْوَفَاءِ وَالْحَقِّ اللَّهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لَهُ وَارْحَمْهُ إِنَّكَ أَنْتَ الْغَفُورُ الرَّحِيمُ.

(807/335) It is related by Wathilah bin al-Asqa' "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ led the funeral prayer of a Muslim. I heard that, he supplicated: Allahumma in-na falaanab na fulaanin fi zimmatika wa habli jaarika faqihi min fitnatul qabri wa 'azaabin-naari wa anta ahlul wafa-i-walhaqqi. Allahummaghfirlihu wa arhamhu in-naka antalghafoorur raheem (O Allah! This bondsman of Yours, so-and-so, son of so-and-so, is in Your refuge and protection. Keep him safe from the mischief of the grave and the punishment of Hell. You are the One Who Keeps His promise in Truth. You are Oft-forgiving, Merciful)."

(Abu Dawood and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Other supplication, also, are reported to have been made by the Prophet ﷺ during the funeral prayer but the three mentioned above are more popular. One, however, is free to recite any one or several of them.

The narrative of Wathilah bin Asqa' shows that the prophet ﷺ used to make these supplications so loudly that the Companions heard them and preserved them for posterity. The Prophet ﷺ often, said some supplication in prayers with a loud voice so that others could hear and learn them by heart. The saying aloud of these supplication in the funeral prayer, probably, was for the same reason, otherwise, as a general principle, it is better to make entreaties to Allah quiet. In the Qur'an, too, it is stated:

ادْعُوا رَبَّكُمْ تَضَرُّعًا وَخُفْيَةً (الاعراف ٢٠٥)

And do thou remember thy Lord within thyself humbly and with awe, below thy breath.

(Al-'Araf 7:205)

Propitiousness of A Large Number of Men Participating in Funeral Prayer

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَا مِنْ مَيِّتٍ تُصَلِّيَ عَلَيْهِ أُمَّةٌ مِنَ الْمُسْلِمِينَ يَبْلُغُونَ مِائَةَ كُلِّهِمْ يَشْفَعُونَ لَهُ إِلَّا شَفَعُوا فِيهِ .

(رواه مسلم)

(808/336) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Prophet ﷺ said: "The dead body on which a large number of Muslims as many as a hundred — offer prayer and plead solemnly with Allah on behalf of the deceased (i.e., pray for mercy and forgiveness for him), their prayer and intercession will, positively, be granted."

(Muslim)

عَنْ كُرَيْبٍ مَوْلَى ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّهُ مَاتَ لَهُ ابْنٌ بِقَدِيدٍ أَوْ بَعْسَفَانٍ فَقَالَ يَا كُرَيْبُ انْظُرْ مَا اجْتَمَعَ لَهُ مِنَ النَّاسِ قَالَ خَرَجْتُ فَإِذَا نَاسٌ قَدْ اجْتَمَعُوا لَهُ فَأَخْبَرْتُهُ فَقَالَ تَقُولُ هُمْ أَرْبَعُونَ قَالَ نَعَمْ قَالَ أَخْرِجُوهُ

فَإِنِّي سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ مَا مِنْ رَجُلٍ مُسْلِمٍ يَمُوتُ
فَيَقُومُ عَلَى جَنَازَتِهِ أَرْبَعُونَ رَجُلًا لَا يُشْرِكُونَ بِاللَّهِ شَيْئًا إِلَّا شَفَعَهُمُ اللَّهُ فِيهِ .

(رواه مسلم)

(809/337) The freed slave of Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه, Khrayb, a Taba'ee, narrated "A son of Abdullah bin Abbas died at Qudayd or Usfa. (When some people had assembled), Abdullah bin Abbas told me to go and have a look at them. So, I went out and saw that a good number of men had collected. When I informed him about it, he asked; 'Do you think there are forty of them?' 'Yes (I am sure they are forty)', I replied. Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه said: Now take out the dead body. I have heard the Prophet ﷺ say that if a Muslim dies and forty persons whose lives are wholly free from polytheism offer his funeral prayer (and, they ask for forgiveness for him), Allah, surely, grants their prayer and intercession on behalf of the deceased." (Muslim)

Commentary: Qudaid was a town lying on the road between Makkah and Madinah, near Rabigh, and Usfan was the name of a settlement between Makkah and Rabigh, some 30 miles from Makkah. The narrator is not sure at which of the two places Abdullah bin Abbas's رضي الله عنه son had died.

(٨١٠/٢٣٨) عَنْ مَالِكِ بْنِ هُبَيْرَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ مُسْلِمٍ يَمُوتُ فَيُصَلِّيَ عَلَيْهِ ثَلَاثَةُ صُفُوفٍ مِنَ الْمُسْلِمِينَ إِلَّا أَوْحَبَ فَكَانَ مَالِكٌ إِذَا اسْتَقَلَّ أَهْلَ الْجَنَازَةِ جَزَأَ أَهْمَ ثَلَاثَةِ صُفُوفٍ لِهَذَا الْحَدِيثِ.

(رواه ابوداؤد)

(810/338) It is related on the authority of Maalik bin Hubayrah رضي الله عنه that he heard the Prophet ﷺ say: "If a Muslim bondsman dies and three rows of Muslims offer his funeral prayer (and beseech Allah, to forgive his sins and grant him Paradise), Allah, surely, makes forgiveness and Paradise his due." Merthad Yazni who related this Tradition on the authority of Maalik bin Hubayrah, adds that) it was the practice of Maalik bin Hubayrah when he felt that the number of participants in a funeral prayer was not much he divided them into three rows in light of this saying.

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: Confident expectation of the acceptance of the supplication for forgiveness and Paradise has been expressed, in the first saying, on the participation of a hundred Muslims in the funeral prayer, in the second, of forty Muslims, and, in the third, of three rows of them. Apparently, it was inspired to the Prophet by Allah on three different occasions. At first, he was told that if a hundred Muslims offered up the funeral prayer of a Believer, and, supplicated, on his behalf, forgiveness and mercy, Allah will, certainly, grant it, then the number was reduced to forty, and, then again, to three rows.

Nevertheless, the above narrative distinctly shows that it is good and a means of felicity and propitiousness that a large number of Muslims participate in the funeral prayer. Endeavour should, therefore be made, to a reasonable extent, to arrange for it.

Burial

(٨١١/٣٣٩) عَنْ عَامِرِ بْنِ سَعْدِ بْنِ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ أَنَّ سَعْدَ بْنَ أَبِي وَقَّاصٍ قَالَ
فِي مَرَضِهِ الَّذِي هَلَكَ فِيهِ الْجُدُولِيُّ لِحَدَّاءٍ وَأَنْصَبُوا عَلَى اللَّيْنِ نَصْبًا كَمَا صُنِعَ
بِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ . (رواه مسلم)

(811/339) 'Aamir bin Sa'd bin Abu Waqqas ؓ, narrated "My father, (Sa'd bin Abu Waqqas ؓ) had willed, during his last illness, that a grave with a niche in the side should be prepared for him and unbaked bricks placed in an upright position to seal it, as had been done for the Prophet ؐ." (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that the better and more proper way of preparing the grave was that a niche was dug in its side (in which the dead body was deposited), and it was closed with unbroken bricks. The grave of the Prophet ؐ was made in the same way. But should the soil be so soft that a grave of this kind cannot be dug, the other type of grave (i.e., the straight one) should be made which is called, Shiqq. From various accounts it appears that both kinds of graves were dug, as the circumstances required, during the days of the Prophet ؐ. But a grave with a small recess on one of its side is preferable.

(٨١٢/٣٤٠) عَنْ هِشَامِ بْنِ عَامِرٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ يَوْمَ أُحُدٍ

إِخْفَرُوا وَأَوْسَعُوا وَأَعْمِقُوا وَاحْسِنُوا وَادْفَنُوا الْإِثْنَيْنِ وَالثَّلَاثَةَ فِي قَبْرِ وَاحِدٍ وَقَدِّمُوا أَكْثَرَهُمْ قُرْآنًا .
(رواه احمد و الترمذى و ابوداؤد و النسائى)

(812/340) It is related on the authority of Hisham bin 'Aamir رضي الله عنه that, on the day of Uhud, the Prophet ﷺ said: "Dig graves (for the martyrs) and make them wide and deep and prepare them well and bury two or three in one grave, and, among them, give preference to him who has more of the Qur'an."

(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi, Abu Dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: In the Battle of Uhud about 70 Companions were killed and it was not easy to dig a grave for everyone of them. Besides, the Prophet ﷺ, also, had to set a precedent for such a situation. He, therefore, ordered two or three martyrs to be buried together in one grave which was to be deep as well wide. It was further, indicated by him that when more than one martyr was buried in a single grave, he should be the first to be deposited in it and placed in the direction of the qibla who knew more of the Qur'an. On the strength of this Tradition, the principle has been enunciated that several corpses can be buried in one grave in a war or other extra-ordinary circumstances.

(٨١٣/٣٤١) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ إِذَا أَدْخَلَ الْمَيِّتَ الْقَبْرَ وَقَالَ بِسْمِ اللَّهِ وَبِاللَّهِ وَعَلَى مِلَّةِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ . وَفِي رَوَايَةٍ وَعَلَى سُنَّةِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ .
(رواه احمد و الترمذى و ابن ماجه و ابوداؤد)

(813/341) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه related to us that when the Prophet ﷺ lowered a dead body in the grave (or a dead body was lowered into it), he used to say: "Bismillahi wa billaahi 'ala millati rasulillah (We bury him in the name of Allah and with His help and in accordance with the way of the followers of His Messenger)". (In some other versions of the same Tradition 'Ala Sunnati rasulillah has been mentioned in place of 'Ala millati rasulillah). (Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi, Ibn Majah and Abu Dawood)

(٨١٤/٣٤٢) عَنْ جَعْفَرِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ مُرْسَلًا عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَتَّى عَلَى الْمَيِّتِ تِلْكَ حَثَايَ بِيَدَيْهِ جَمِيعًا وَأَنَّهُ رَشَّ عَلَى قَبْرَائِهِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ وَوَضَعَ عَلَيْهِ حَصْبَاءً .
(رواه البغوى فى شرح السنه)

(814/342) It is related, by way of Irsal, by J'afar Sadiq رحمة الله عليه, on the authority of his father, Muhammad Baqar رحمة الله عليه, that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ took dust thrice in both of his hands joined together and threw it on a dead body (i.e., on its grave at the time of burial), and he poured water (or had it poured) on the grave of his son, Ibrahim, and caused gravel to be laid on it." (Sharh-us-Sunnah)

(٨١٥/٣٤٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ إِذَا مَاتَ أَحَدُكُمْ فَلَا تَحْسِبُوهُ وَأَسْرِعُوا بِهِ إِلَى قَبْرِهِ وَيُقْرَأْ عِنْدَ رَأْسِهِ فَاتِحَةُ الْبَقَرَةِ وَعِنْدَ رِجْلَيْهِ بِخَاتِمَةِ الْبَقَرَةِ.

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الإيمان وقال و الصحيح انه موقوف عليه)

(815/343) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه related "I heard the Prophet ﷺ say: 'When anyone of you dies, do not retain his corpse in the house for a long time, but make haste in taking it to the grave and burying it, and (after the burial) recite the opening verse of surah Al-Baqarah (up to Muflhihoon) on the side of the head and concluding verses of it (from Aamanar rasul up to the end) on the side of the feet'." (This Tradition has been quoted by Baihaqi in Sh'ab-el-Imam with the remark that, in fact, these are the words of Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه and there is no documentary evidence on the basis of which they can be attributed to the sacred Prophet ﷺ).

Commentary: The instruction not to delay the burial unnecessarily is contained in a number of Traditions of the Prophet ﷺ. As for the recitation of the opening and concluding verses of Sura Al-Baqarah at the grave, Ibn Umar رضي الله عنه could, not have prescribed it on his own. He must have learnt it from the Prophet ﷺ. Thus, though the documentary evidence of the transmission of this Tradition may not be available, it falls in the category of *Marfroof*¹ according to the criteria laid down by the scholars of the Traditions and the jurists.

①. Meaning a Tradition whose authenticity is established by an unbroken chain of transmission right up to the Prophet ﷺ.

Graves

(٨١٦/٣٤٤) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنْ

يُجَصَّصَ الْقَبْرُ وَأَنْ يُنْبَى عَلَيْهِ وَأَنْ يُقْعَدَ عَلَيْهِ. (رواه مسلم)

(816/344) It is related by Jابر رضي الله عنه that "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ has ordered against making a solid grave by plastering it with lime or erecting a building over it or sitting on it." (Muslim)

Commentary: Concerning the grave, the doctrinal point of the Shari'ah, on the one hand, is that it should be regarded with respect because of its association with the dead and everything that is desecratory to it is prohibited — that is why, it has been forbidden in the above saying to sit on it — and, on the other, that it should be plain and simple, arousing in the heart of the viewer the realisation of the transitoriness of the world and an earnest anxiety for the Hereafter. It is for this later reason that it has been disallowed to build it at a solid, permanent or imposing structure or to erect a monument or any other building over it. Another wisdom of it is that when a grave will be plain, clay-built and unornamented, people with a polytheistic disposition will not be tempted to turn it into a place of worship. We, thus, find that absurd and un-Islamic practices are not carried out where the graves of the Companions رضي الله عنهم, spiritual mentors رحمة الله عليهم and other high-souled men have, in compliance with this command, been built of clay and kept strictly unadorned while most undesirable things are witnessed where mausoleums have been erected over the graves of holy men.

(٨١٧/٢٤٥) عَنْ أَبِي مَرْثَدٍ الْغَنَوِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

لَا تَجْلِسُوا عَلَى الْقُبُورِ وَلَا تَصَلُّوا إِلَيْهَا (رواه البخاري)

(817/345) It is related by Abi Marthad Ghanawi that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Neither sit on the graves nor offer prayer with your face turned towards them." (Muslim)

Commentary: It is not only an act of irreverence to sit on a grave, but as we shall see in the next Tradition, also hurtful to the occupier. The object of restraining people from offering prayer facing the grave was to guard them even against the semblance of polytheism.

(٨١٨/٣٤٦) عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ حَزْمٍ قَالَ رَأَى النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مُتَكِنًا عَلَى قَبْرِ فَقَالَ لَا تُؤْذِ صَاحِبَ هَذَا الْقَبْرِ وَلَا تُؤْذِهِ .
(رواه احمد)

(818/346) Amr bin Hazim related "Once on seeing me reclining on a grave, the Prophet ﷺ remarked: 'Do not hurt its occupier.'
(Musnad Ahmad)

Visiting The Graves

(٨١٩/٣٤٧) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ كُنْتُ نَهَيْتُكُمْ عَنْ زِيَارَةِ الْقُبُورِ فُزُورُوهَا فَإِنَّهَا تَزْهَدُ فِي الدُّنْيَا وَتُذَكِّرُ الْآخِرَةَ.
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(819/347) It is related by Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I had forbidden you from visiting the graves. Now, I allow you to visit them for it promotes disinterestedness in the material world and solicitude for the Hereafter."
(Ibn Majah)

Commentary: In the beginning when the Muslims had only recently come out of the fold of paganism and the creed of Divine Unity as not firmly entrenched in their hearts, the Prophet ﷺ had prohibited the visiting of the graves to them because there lay the risk of their slipping back into the folly of polytheism and tomb-worship. But as they grew into staunch believers in Monotheism and revulsion to all forms of polytheism became a part of their nature and it was feared no more that by visiting the graves they would lapse back into polytheistic beliefs and observances, it was permitted to them. It was, however, made clear that permission was given because visiting of the graves was helpful in making a man think less of worldly desires and interests and more of afterlife.

The above Tradition, also, underlines a fundamental principle of the Islamic Canonic law that if there is an aspect of goodness in anything but it, also, possesses the possibility of a grave harm, the element of virtue will be ignored and it will be prohibited. But it, at any time the circumstances alter and the fear of injuriousness disappears, it will be permitted.

Salutation To Occupiers of Graves

(٨٢٠/٣٤٨) عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَعْلَمُهُمْ إِذَا خَرَجُوا إِلَى الْمَقَابِرِ "السَّلَامُ عَلَيْكُمْ أَهْلَ الدِّيَارِ مِنَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ وَالْمُسْلِمِينَ وَأَنَا أَنْشَاءُ اللَّهُ بِكُمْ لِلْأَحْقَوْنَ نَسْتُلُ اللَّهَ لَنَا وَلَكُمْ الْعَافِيَةَ. (رواه مسلم)

(820/348) It is related on the authority of Buraydah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ used to instruct the Companions رضي الله عنهم that when they visited the graves, they should greet their occupiers and pray for them in these words: As-salaamu alaikum ahl-ad-dayari minal momineena wa muslimееna wa in-na insha Allahu bikum lalaahiqoona nas-alullaahu lama wa lakumul 'aafiyati (Peace be on you, the dwellers of these abodes, among truthful Believers and Muslims! Allah willing we are going to join you. We pray to Him and beseech Him for peace and safety for ourselves and for you.) (Muslim)

(٨٢١/٣٤٩) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ مَرَّ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِقُبُورٍ بِالْمَدِينَةِ فَأَقْبَلَ عَلَيْهِمْ بِوَجْهِهِ فَقَالَ السَّلَامُ عَلَيْكُمْ يَا أَهْلَ الْقُبُورِ يَغْفِرُ اللَّهُ لَنَا وَلَكُمْ أَنْتُمْ سَلَفُنَا وَنَحْنُ بِالْآخِرِ. (رواه الترمذی)

(821/349) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ happened to pass by some graves in Madinah. He turned his face towards them and said: "As-salaamu alaikum yaa ahlal quboori, yaghfirullaahu lanaa wa lakum antum salafuna wa nahnu bil asari (Peace be on you, O occupiers of the graves! May Allah forgive us and you. You have preceded us; we are coming after you). (Tirmizi)

Commentary: There is a slight difference in the phraseology of the formulas of prayer and supplication for the occupiers of graves indicated in the two Traditions. But their substance is the same. They simply contain salutation and supplication of mercy for them and the remembrance of one's own death. These two considerations should be the main object of paying a visit to anyone's grave.

Consigning Reward to The dead (Isaal Sawaab)

A way of doing service to the dead is to pray to Allah to forgive them their sins and to show them mercy. It is, also, the chief aim and purpose of the funeral prayer, and, as we have seen, in the Traditions appertaining to the visiting of the graves, too, the supplication for forgiveness has been made for those buried in them along with salutation. Apart from it, another method taught by the prophet ﷺ is to do an act of charity or any other noble deed on behalf of the dead and make a gift of the Divine recompense thereon to them. This is what is, commonly, meant by consigning reward.

(٨٢٢/٣٥٠) عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ سَعْدَ بْنَ عُبَادَةَ تُوُفِّيَتْ أُمُّهُ وَهُوَ غَائِبٌ عَنْهَا فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِنْ أُمِّي تُوُفِّيَتْ وَأَنَا غَائِبٌ عَنْهَا أَيْنَفَعُهَا شَيْءٌ إِنْ تَصَدَّقْتُ بِهِ عَنْهَا قَالَ نَعَمْ قَالَ فَإِنِّي أَشْهَدُكَ أَنَّ حَائِطِي الْمِخْرَافَ صَدَقَةٌ عَلَيْهَا.

(رواه البخارى)

(822/350) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ that the death of Sa'd bin Ubadah's mother took place at a time when he was not present. (He had gone on a military expedition with the Prophet ﷺ). (On his return), Sa'd bin Ubadah said to the Prophet ﷺ: "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ My mother had died during my absence. Now, if I give away something in charity, will it be of service to her (i.e., will the Divine reward on it reach her)?" "Yes", replied the Prophet ﷺ. "It will reach her". Then, Sa'd bin Ubadah said, "I make you a witness that I have given away my orchard (called, Mikhzaaf) in charity on behalf of my mother. (Bukhari)

Commentary: The above Tradition, positively, settles the issue of *Isaal*¹ Sawaab. Another Tradition conveying almost the same meaning is quoted in Bukhari and Muslim, on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها in which though the name of Sa'd bin Ubadah does not appear, the authorities believe that it is related to the aforementioned incident.

①. Isaal, literally, means to convey; to pass forward; to send; to transfer; to make over to another. In Islamic usage, Isaal Sawaab denotes conveying or making over the Divine reward on a good deed to the dead.

(٨٢٣/٣٥١) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو بْنِ الْعَاصِ أَنَّ الْعَاصَ بْنَ وَائِلٍ أَوْصَى أَنْ يُعْتَقَ عَنْهُ مِائَةُ رَقَبَةٍ فَأَعْتَقَ ابْنُهُ هِشَامٌ خَمْسِينَ رَقَبَةً فَأَرَادَ ابْنُهُ عَمْرُو أَنْ يُعْتَقَ عَنْهُ الْخَمْسِينَ الْبَاقِيَةَ فَقَالَ حَتَّى أَسْأَلَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَآتَى النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِنَّ أَبِي أَوْصَى بِعِتْقِ مِائَةِ رَقَبَةٍ وَإِنْ هِشَامًا أَعْتَقَ عَنْهُ خَمْسِينَ وَبَقِيَتْ عَلَيْهِ خَمْسُونَ رَقَبَةً أَفَأَعْتَقَ عَنْهُ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّهُ لَوْ كَانَ مُسْلِمًا فَأَعْتَقْتُمْ عَنْهُ أَوْ تَصَدَّقْتُمْ عَنْهُ أَوْ حَجَّجْتُمْ عَنْهُ بَلَغَهُ ذَلِكَ .
(رواه ابو داود)

(823/351) It is related by Abdullah bin 'Amr bin al-'Aas that his grandfather, 'Aas bin Wail (who had not embraced Islam) had told his sons to set one hundred slaves at liberty on his behalf (after his death). (So), one of his sons, Hishaam bin al-'Aas, freed fifty slaves (as his share of the obligation), and (the other son), 'Amr bin al-'Aas, also, decided to release the remaining fifty slaves, but he thought that he would, first, seek the Prophet's ﷺ advice. He went to the Prophet ﷺ and said: "Our father had advised (us) to set one hundred slaves free (after his death), and my brother, Hishaam, has freed (his share of) fifty slaves on his own behalf. Now, fifty remain, and I want to know whether I should (also) set them at liberty in the name of my father." The Prophet ﷺ replied: "Had your father died in the state of Faith and Islam then if you freed the slaves or did charity or performed the Hajj (on his behalf) the Divine reward on these acts would have reached him." (Bukhari)

Commentary: This Tradition is very clear regarding Isaal Sawaab (Consiging reward). In it, besides charity, the Hajj is, also, mentioned as a means to convey or make over the Divine reward to the dead and, in another version of the same Tradition related in Musnad Ahmad, fasting is stated in place of the Hajj.

Anyway, it lays it down as a general principle that Divine recompense can be conveyed or passed forward to the dead through all these virtuous deeds but it is subject to the essential condition of Faith and Islam.

FOREWORD

In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Dispenser of Grace

The authentic stock of the Traditions is the record of the Apostolic life of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ which serves as a substitute for his presence. The Believers who did not have the good fortune to see him in the life of this world can, to a large extent, know him by means of it, and comply with his orders, and follow his 'good example' almost with the same degree of confidence as those who were blessed enough to know him with faith in his lifetime.

The main object of the writing of 'Ma'ariful Hadith', simply is to enable the brothers who cannot read the original collections of the Traditions to obtain the knowledge of the teachings and the 'good example' of the sacred Prophet ﷺ and gain an access to his august presence which is now possible only through the study of the books dealing with the reports of his sayings and doings.

It is hoped that the faithful bondsmen who will read the present series after awakening the sentiments of love and reverence for the Prophet ﷺ in their hearts and with earnest attention will, Insha Allah, gain these objectives and it will be possible for them to partake of the effulgence and blessings of the Traditions and experience a peculiar feeling of nearness and association with him in the innermost recesses of their existence.

Two volumes of the English translation of Ma'ariful Hadith have appeared already. In the first volume are included the Traditions relating to Faith, the Hereafter, and Softheartedness, while in the second volume the plan was to present the Traditions belonging to the Books of Cleanliness and the Four fundamental Duties i.e. Salah or Namaz (Regular Worship), Zakah (Poor-due), Saum (Fasting), and Hajj (the Pilgrimage to Makkah), but as it was felt that it would grow too large, it was decided to bring it to a close with Kitabus Salah (The Book of Regular Worship). The reminder, i.e., Kitabuz Zakah (the Book of the Poor-due), Kitabus Saum (the Book of Fasting), and Kitabul Hajj (the Book of the Pilgrimage) is now being published in this, the third volume.

The Prophets are raised up, chiefly, to unite the bondsmen with their Lord and Creator and make them His devoted worshippers.

I created the jinn and humankind only that they might worship me. (LI:56)

Hence, after giving the call of faith in God and Divine Unity, the Apostles invited mankind to worship Him, before everything else. Among the human deeds it is the peculiarity of worship alone that, through it, the bondsman expresses his humbleness before God and his life gets dyed in the hue of servility and self-surrender. Moreover, the propinquity of the Lord is attained through worship and continuous advancement takes place in it. Thus, in all the Canon Laws the greatest stress, after Faith, has been laid on worship, and the holy Prophet, too, has declared Salah, Zakah, Saum and Hajj to be the principal tenets of Islam, next only to the Oneness of God and Apostleship. The four fundamental duties of worship, in fact, constitute the substance of Faith and the felicity or otherwise of humanity is dependent, largely, on them.

Out of these, the Traditions appertaining to the teachings, instructions and regular practice of the holy Prophet ﷺ with regard to Salah have been discussed in the 2nd volume, and those relating to the other three duties i.e. Zakah, Saum and Hajj are now being taken up in the present volume.

As in the two earlier volumes, most of the Traditions included in the present one, too, have been taken from Mishkaatul Masabeeh or Jami'-ul-Fuwayid and reliance has been placed on it in the matter of references. Further, in conformity with the pattern followed in Mishkaat no other reference is given if Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim or any of them are mentioned as the source of a Tradition for it would have been unnecessary to quote any other authority after stating that it was found in either of the two compilations.

A few reports have, also, been adopted from Kanzul 'Ummal and some have been reproduced directly from the books of Sihah, such as, Sahih Bukhari, Sahih Muslim, Jami'-i-Tirmizi and Sunan-i-Abi Dawood. These are the narratives that do not occur in the same words in Mishkaat or Jami-ul-Fuwayid.

May the Almighty bestow His acceptance upon this volume as well and make it beneficial to His bondsmen, and a source of Forgiveness both of the writer and the translator!

قال الله تعالى

يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا أَنْفِقُوا مِمَّا رَزَقْنَاكُمْ مِنْ قَبْلِ
أَنْ يَأْتِيَ يَوْمٌ لَا بَيْعَ فِيهِ وَلَا خُلَّةٌ وَلَا شَفَاعَةٌ
وَالْكَافِرُونَ هُمُ الظَّالِمُونَ O (البقره ٢: ٢٥٣)

IMPORTANCE OF ZAKAH

After the affirmation of the Oneness of God and Messengership and the establishment of Worship, Zakah is the most important tenet of Islam. At over seventy places in the Qur'an, the establishment of Worship and the observance of regular charity have been spoken, of side by side, in such a way as to show that their place and position is almost identical. Thus, when, after the death of the sacred Prophet ﷺ, the inhabitants of some regions who, apparently, had accepted Islam and acknowledged Divine Unity and Messengership refused to pay Zakah, Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ decided to wage war against them on the ground that they differentiated between the injunctions of prayer (salah) and Zakah which amounted to apostasy. It is stated in Bukhari and Muslim, that in reply to Sayyidina Umar ؓ, he said,

وَاللّٰهُ لَا قَاتِلْنَ مَنْ فَرَّقَ بَيْنَ الصَّلَاةِ وَالزَّكَاةِ

"By God! I shall wage war against them who will differentiate between prayer (salah) and Zakah."

All the Companions agreed and consensus was reached among them on Sayyidina Abu Bakr's ؓ viewpoint.

We have, already, seen the Traditions in previous headings in which the Prophet ﷺ has, while indicating the basic essential doctrines and requirements of Islam, described the establishment of Salah, and payment of Zakah as next in importance only to the testimony of Divine Oneness and Messengership.

Three Aspects:

There are three aspects of goodness in Zakah.

One, the way the bondsman makes known by his tongue, body and soul, in Qiyam, Ruku and Sujood during salah, his servility and humbleness before the Lord so that he earned His good pleasure and propinquity, by paying Zakah he offers his monetary tribute to the Almighty with the same object and gives a practical demonstration of the fact that he does not consider his worldly possessions his own, but the Lord's. For this very reason, Zakah is regarded an act of worship. In the speical terminology of Faith and the Shari'ah, 'worship' denotes, as we have seen earlier, deeds and actions that are intended solely for giving expression to the bond of loyalty and submission before God and seeking His countenance and nearness.

Two, Help and service is rendered to the needy and indigent bondsmen of Allah by means of Zakah. It, at once, makes Zakah a most important branch of ethics.

Three, Zakah is a highly efficacious remedy against the excessive fondness for wealth which is a grievous sin. It purifies the soul from the filthy effects of greed. Says the Qur'an:

خُذْ مِنْ أَمْوَالِهِمْ صَدَقَةً تُطَهِّرُهُمْ وَتُزَكِّيهِمْ بِهَا. (سوره توبه: ١٠٣)

(O Muhammad), take alms (Zakah) of their wealth, wherewith you may purify them and may make them grow. (Al-Tawbah 9:103)

وَسَيُجَنَّبُهَا الْأَتْقَى الَّذِي يُؤْتِي مَالَهُ يَتَزَكَّى. (سورة الليل ١٨:٩٢)

Far removed from it (the flaming Fire of Hell) will be the righteous who gives his wealth that he may grow (in goodness).

(Al-Layl 92:17-18)

Literally, Zakah means 'cleanliness', and it is, perhaps owing to it that this fundamental duty has been called by that name.

EARLIER CANONIC LAWS:

On account of the extraordinary importance and worth and usefulness of Zakah the command for it has, uniformly, been given in the Canonic laws of their earlier Prophets together with that for worship. For instance, in surah Al-Anbia, it is stated, in relation to Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام, and his son, Sayyidina Ishaq عليه السلام, and, then, Sayyidiha Ishaq's عليه السلام son, Sayyidina Ya'qub عليه السلام that:

وَأَوْحَيْنَا إِلَيْهِمْ فِعْلَ الْخَيْرَاتِ وَإِقَامَ الصَّلَاةِ وَإِيتَاءَ الزَّكَاةِ وَكَانُوا لَنَا عَابِدِينَ.

(الانبياء ٢١:٧٣)

We inspired in them the doing of good deeds, (particularly), the establishment of worship and the giving of charity, and they were the worshippers of Us (alone). (Al-Anbiyaa 21:73)

And, in sūrah Maryam, it is said about Sayyidina Ismail عليه السلام:

وَكَانَ يَأْمُرُ أَهْلَهُ بِالصَّلَاةِ وَالزَّكَاةِ (مريم ١٩:٥٥)

He enjoined upon his people worship and regular charity.

(Al-Maryam 19:55)

Concerning Sayyidina Isa عليه السلام it is stated that to his community he declared:

إِنِّي عَبْدُ اللَّهِ إِنِّي آتَانِي الْكِتَابَ وَجَعَلَنِي نَبِيًّا، وَجَعَلَنِي مُبَارَكًا أَيْنَمَا كُنْتُ وَآوَصَانِي

بِالصَّلَاةِ وَالزَّكَاةِ مَا دُمْتُ حَيًّا . (مريم ١٩:٣٠-٣١)

I am the slave of Allah. He has given me the Scripture and appointed me a Prophet, and has made me blessed wheresoever I may be, and has enjoined upon me worship and Zakah as long as I remain alive. (Al-Maryam 19:30-31)

Moreover, in surah Al-Baqarh where the covenant of the Israelities and the basic injunctions they had undertaken to fulfil are mentioned, the following commandment is included among them:

وَأَقِيمُوا الصَّلَاةَ وَآتُوا الزَّكَاةَ . (البقره ٢:٨٣)

And establish worship and pay Zakah. (Al-Baqarah 2:83)

Likewise, it is set forth in surah Al-Maidah, in connection with the covenant of the Children of Israel, that:

وَقَالَ اللَّهُ إِنِّي مَعَكُمْ طَلْنِ أَقَمْتُمُ الصَّلَاةَ وَآتَيْتُمُ الزَّكَاةَ وَآمَنْتُمْ بِرُسُلِي.

(المائدة ٥:١٢)

Allah said: Lo! I am with you if you establish worship and pay Zakah, and believe in My Messengers عليهم السلام (Al-Ma'idah 5:12)

The above verses of the Qur'an clearly show that prayer and Zakah have always been the main commands of the Canonic Laws. Differences of detail and scope, of course, were there but such differences were, also, found between the initial and ultimate stages of our own Shari'ah. For instance, formerly, prayer (salah) was to be offered three times a day which, afterwards, was raised to five; or, in the beginning, every obligatory prayer consisted of only two rak'at but later the number of rak'at was increased in all the prayers except Fajr; or, in the earlier days, it was permitted to greet or talk to one another in prayer but, at a later time, it was forbidden. In the same way, Zakah was prescribed before Migration, when the Prophet ﷺ used to live in Makkah the establishment of salah and the payment of Zakah are mentioned as the distinguishing qualities of the Believers in the surah of Al-Moominoon, An-Naml and Lugman, though these were revealed during the Makkan phase but, at that time, Zakah merely signified the spending of one's wealth on the poor and needy bondsmen of Allah and on other items of good-doing. Detailed rules and regulations had not been prescribed till then. Hence, what the authorities mean when they say that the commandment of Zakah was revealed a year or two after Migration, or even later, probably is that its complete rules and principles of guidance were laid down at that time otherwise the actual order concerning Zakah had been given much earlier at Makkah. This view is supported not only by the aforementioned Qur'anic verses but also by Sayyidah Umm Salmah's رضى الله عنها narrative in which she has referred to the short speech delivered by Sayyidina Jabar Tayyar ؓ in the Court of Negus when a small group of Muslims had migrated from Makkah to Abyssinia during the early days of Islam. According to her report, Jafar Tayyar ؓ had told Negus about the call of the sacred Prophet ﷺ

وَيَأْمُرُنَا بِالصَّلَاةِ وَالزَّكَاةِ .. الخ

"He also made it incumbent on us to offer prayer and to pay Zakah."

It is, further, stated in Sahih Bukhari and other standard compilations that, on being questioned by the Roman Emperor about the Prophet ﷺ, Abu Sufiyan who, at that time, was among his inveterate enemies, he said:

يَأْمُرُنَا بِالصَّلَاةِ وَالزَّكَاةِ وَالصَّلَاةِ وَالْعَفَافِ الخ

"He gives the command of prayer and Zakah and exhorts us to show kindness to kinsmen and observe piety."

It settles beyond doubt that the Prophet ﷺ used to give the call of prayer and Zakah during his stay in Makkah, before Migration. The detailed rules, indeed, were sent down after the Migration to Madinah and the central organisation for the realisation of Zakah was set up in 8. A.H.

The Call of Zakah After Faith and Salah

(٨٢٤/١) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بَعَثَ مَعَاذًا إِلَى الْيَمَنِ فَقَالَ إِنَّكَ تَأْتِي قَوْمًا أَهْلَ كِتَابٍ فَأَدْعُهُمْ إِلَى شَهَادَةِ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ فَإِنْ هُمْ أَطَاعُوا لِذَلِكَ فَأَعْلِمُهُمْ أَنَّ اللَّهَ قَدْ فَرَضَ عَلَيْهِمْ خَمْسَ صَلَوَاتٍ فِي الْيَوْمِ وَاللَّيْلَةِ فَإِنْ هُمْ أَطَاعُوا لِذَلِكَ فَأَعْلِمُهُمْ أَنَّ اللَّهَ قَدْ فَرَضَ عَلَيْهِمْ صَدَقَةً تُؤْخَذُ مِنْ أَعْيَانِهِمْ فَتُرَدُّ عَلَى فُقَرَائِهِمْ فَإِنْ هُمْ أَطَاعُوا لِذَلِكَ فَإِيَّاكَ وَكَرَائِمَ أَمْوَالِهِمْ وَاتَّقِ دَعْوَةَ الْمَظْلُومِ فَإِنَّهُ لَيْسَ بَيْنَهَا وَبَيْنَ اللَّهِ حِجَابٌ.....

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(824/1) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ "When the Messenger of Allah ﷺ sent Mu'az bin Jabal ؓ to Yemen as the Governor, he told him (at the time of farewell): 'You are going to a people who are Ahl al-Kitab (i.e., profess a religion revealed and contained in the Scripture). So when you reach there invite them to the truth and no one is worthy of worship save Allah and Muhammad is His Messenger ﷺ. If they accept and affirm it, tell them Allah has enjoined five prayers upon them during the day and night. If they accept it, also, tell them that, in addition to it, Allah has enjoined Zakah upon them which will be taken from the well-to-do of the community (of Muslims) and distributed to those that are poor. If they agree to it as well, desist from laying hands upon the best of their goods (while realising Zakah), and fear the cry of the oppressed for there is no curtain between them and the Lord."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Though this Tradition has been reproduced in the earlier volume where we had the occasion to comment upon it in sufficient detail, it seemed appropriate to open the Book of Charity, too, with it in emulation of the example of Imam Bukhari and other renowned compilers of the Traditions.

The incident of the appointment of Sayyidina Mu'az bin Jabal ؓ as the Governor of Yemen, alluded to in the above narrative, took place, according to most authorities, in 9 A.H., but Imam Bukhari and some other scholars believe that it occurred in 10 A.H. In Yemen, apart from the People of the Scripture, there, also, lived the idolatrous Polytheists but owing to their special importance, the Prophet ﷺ specified only the People of Scripture and enunciated the very wise principle of preaching and propagation of Faith that all the tenets, commands and obligations should not be placed before the people at once for, in that case, they would feel discouraged and Islam would appear to them to be an unbearable burden. As a first step, therefore, the doctrinal bedrock of Faith i.e., the testimony of Divine Oneness and Messengership ought to be presented to them which a right-minded person can easily be persuaded to accept. For the people of the Scripture, particularly, there is nothing odd or strange in it. When the heart and mind of the listener have opened to it and he has acknowledged this fundamental reality, he should be made acquainted with the duty of prayer which is the most perfect design and arrangement of worship with the tongue, the body and the soul, and when he accepts it as well, he should be told about the duty of Zakah, and, with it, it must, also be made clear that the preacher and the giver of the Call of Islam did not want it for himself but it would be spent, according to a fixed law and rate, on the poor and indigent people of the community or the region from whose well-to-do persons it was realised. The Prophet ﷺ, further, stressed upon Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ that the collection of Zakah should be carried out with a full sense of justice and fairplay and it should not be that the best part of the assessee's produce or his most valuable cattle were taken from him.

In the end, the Prophet ﷺ advised Sayyidina Mu'az ؓ who was going as the Governor of a Province to refrain from being cruel and unjust to the people for when an oppressed person calls down God's anger upon a tyrant and usurper, his imprecation reaches the ninth heaven directly.

Only the affirmation of Divine Unity and Messengership and the duties of Salah and Zakah have been mentioned in this Tradition, to the exclusion of the other fundamental tenets like Fasting and the Hajj, though both of them had been prescribed before Sayyidina Mu'az رضي الله عنه was sent to Yemen. It is so because the object of this Tradition was simply to indicate the elementary principle of the preaching of Islam and not to teach its fundamental duties. Sayyidina Mu'az رضي الله عنه did not stand in need of such an instruction. He belonged to the class of Companions رضي الله عنهم who were distinguished for knowledge of Faith.

Punishment on Non-Payment of Zakah

(٨٢٥/٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ آتَاهُ اللَّهُ مَالًا فَلَمْ يُؤَدِّ زَكَاةَ مِثْلَ لَهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ شُجَاعًا أَقْرَعَ لَهُ رَبِيبَتَانِ يُطَوَّقُهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ ثُمَّ يَأْخُذُ بِلَهْزِمَتَيْهِ (بَعْنَى شِدْقِيهِ) ثُمَّ يَقُولُ أَنَا مَالِكٌ أَنَا كَنْزُكَ ثُمَّ تَلَا وَلَا يَحْسَبَنَّ الَّذِينَ يَبْخُلُونَ الْآيَةَ.....
(رواه البخارى)

(825/2) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever was granted wealth by Allah but did not pay Zakah on it, on the Day of Resurrection his wealth will be brought before him in the shape of a hooded snake which will be so poisonous that hair will have fallen from its head and there will be two white spots over its eyes (which are, generally, supposed to be the marks of an extremely venomous snake). The snake will, then, be made the band of his neck (i.e., it will entwine itself round the neck of the defaulting miser), and it will seize both the corners of his lips between its fangs, (and bite him), and say: 'I am your wealth. I am your treasure.' After saying it, the Prophet ﷺ recited the following verse of the Qur'an:

And let not those who hoard up that which Allah has bestowed upon them of His bounty (and do not pay Zakah on it) think that it is better for them. Nay, it is worse for them. That which they hoard will be their collar on the Day of Resurrection."

(Al-e-Imran 3:180)

وَلَا يَحْسَبَنَّ الَّذِينَ يَبْخُلُونَ بِمَا آتَاهُمُ اللَّهُ مِنْ فَضْلِهِ هُوَ خَيْرٌ لَّهُمْ بَلْ هُوَ شَرٌّ لَّهُمْ سَيُطَوَّقُونَ مَا بَخِلُوا بِهِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ
(آل عمران ٣: ١٨٠)

(Bukhari)

Commentary: There is always a special likeness between deeds and the reward or punishment indicated on them in the Qur'an and the Traditions. Sometimes, it is so obvious that even common people like us have little difficulty in knowing it, and, sometimes, it is so subtle that only the sages and savants of the community can appreciate it.

The punishment mentioned in the above saying on the evasion of Zakah bears the same similarity to the misdeed on account of which the miser who clings to his wealth and does not spend it, is often, compared to the serpent guarding the treasure. A stingy and avaricious person, also, sometimes sees the dream of a like nature because of this affinity.

The words 'Day of Resurrection' used in this Tradition as well as in the aforementioned verse of surah Aal-Imran show that the punishment will be inflicted on the last Day before the pronouncement of the Lord's Judgement. In another Tradition, related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه and quoted in Sahih Muslim, it is stated, after indicating the same kind of punishment for the evaders of Zakah:

"The punishment will continue till God's Judgement is pronounced after the Final Reckoning. Subsequent to the Judgement the man will go to Heaven or Hell (depending on the verdict)."

حَتَّى يُقْضَى بَيْنَ الْعِبَادِ فَيُرَى
سَبِيلُهُ إِمَّا إِلَى الْجَنَّةِ وَإِمَّا إِلَى
النَّارِ

Or, in other words, if the chastisement the defaulting bondsman had borne before the Final Requit was enough, in the sight of God, for his guilt, he would be freed from it and sent to Heaven, and if his account would not be cleared with that punishment, he would be thrown into Hell to undergo further chastisement.

(٨٢٦/٣) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ
مَا خَالَطْتُ الصَّدَقَةَ مَالًا قَطُّ إِلَّا أَهْلَكَتَهُ

(رواه الشافعي والبخاري في تاريخه والحميدى في مسنده)

(826/3) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها related "I heard from Messenger of Allah ﷺ 'when the goods of Zakah will get mixed with other goods, they will, surely, destroy them."

(Musnad Shaf'ee, Tarikh Kabir Bukhari and Musnad Humaydi)

Commentary: According to Imam Bukhari's mentor, Imam Humaydi, what it shows is that if anyone on whom Zakah is due does not pay it, the curse of it will fall on all of his worldly possessions and he will, ultimately, be ruined.¹

Imam Baihaqi, on the other hand, observes in Sha'ab-il-Iman, on the authority of Imam Ahmad bin Hanbal, that if a fully well-to-do person who does not deserve to receive Zakah wrongfully accepts it, it will destroy the rest of his goods on getting mixed up with them.

We, however, believe that both the interpretations of Sayyidah Ayshah's رضى الله عنها narrative are possible and there is no contradiction in them.

Purification of Wealth

(٨٢٧/٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ لَمَّا نَزَلَتْ هَذِهِ الْآيَةُ وَالَّذِينَ يَكْنِزُونَ الذَّهَبَ وَالْفِضَّةَ الْآيَةَ كَبُرَ ذَالِكَ عَلَى الْمُسْلِمِينَ فَقَالَ عُمَرُ أَنَا أَفْرَجُ عَنْكُمْ فَانْطَلَقَ فَقَالَ يَا نَبِيَّ اللَّهِ إِنَّهُ كَبُرَ عَلَيَّ أَصْحَابِكَ هَذِهِ الْآيَةُ فَقَالَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَمْ يَقْرِضِ الزَّكَاةَ إِلَّا لِيُطِيبَ مَا بَقِيَ مِنْ أَمْوَالِكُمْ وَأَنَا فَرَضَ الْمَوَارِيثَ وَذَكَرَ كَلِمَةً لَتَكُونَنَّ لِمَنْ بَعْدَكُمْ فَقَالَ فَكَبِرَ عُمَرُ ثُمَّ قَالَ إِلَّا أُخْبِرُكَ بِخَيْرٍ مَا يَكْنِزُ الْمَرْءُ الْمَرْأَةَ الصَّالِحَةَ إِذَا نَظَرَ إِلَيْهَا سَرَتْهُ وَإِذَا أَمَرَهَا أَطَاعَتْهُ وَإِذَا غَابَ عَنْهَا حَفِظَتْهُ

(رواه ابو داود)

(827/4) Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ narrated that when the verses (of surah At-Tauba) were revealed:

"They who hoard up gold and silver and spend it not in the way of Allah, unto them give tidings (O Muhammad ﷺ) of a painful doom; on the day when it will (all) be heated in the fire of Hell and their forehead and their flanks and their backs will be branded therewith (and it will be said to them): Now taste of what ye used to hoard,

وَالَّذِينَ يَكْنِزُونَ الذَّهَبَ وَالْفِضَّةَ وَلَا يَنْفِقُونَهَا فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ فَبَشِّرْهُمْ بِعَذَابٍ أَلِيمٍ، يَوْمَ يُحْمَى عَلَيْهَا فِي نَارِ جَهَنَّمَ فَتُكْوَى بِهَا جِبَاهُهُمْ وَجُنُوبُهُمْ وَظُهُورُهُمْ ط

(Al-Tawbah 9:34-35)

هَذَا مَا كُنْتُمْ تَلْتَمِسُونَ فَلْيَذُوقُوا

الْعَذَابَ بِمَا كُنْتُمْ تَكْتُمُونَ

(التوبة. ٣٥:٩)

The Companions رضي الله عنهم felt very much burdened by it (and were greatly worried). Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه said: 'I will try to remove your distress.' He, thus, went to the Prophet ﷺ and said: Messenger of Allah ﷺ! Your Companions feel weighed down by these verses.' God has prescribed Zakah, replied the Prophet ﷺ, 'for the reason that whatever goods are left after paying it may become purified, and, (in the same way), the law of inheritance has been provided (Ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه tells that here the Prophet ﷺ said something which he had forgotten but about the law of inheritance he was sure that the Prophet ﷺ had said that it had been sent down so that) it might be a support to your dependents'. (On hearing it), Umar رضي الله عنه (joyously) exclaimed: 'Allah-u-Akbar!' The Prophet ﷺ, then, said to Umar رضي الله عنه: 'May I tell you of the best of wealth which is worth acquiring and keeping with care and affection? It is a good-natured, chaste and virtuous spouse who may bring joy to the man's heart when he sees her and obeys what she is told and when the husband goes out somewhere, protects his household goods and (guards) his trust during his absence.'

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: When the verse of surah At-Tauba, mentioned in it, was revealed the Companions رضي الله عنهم imagined from its phrasing that it implied that nothing should be saved from one's earnings and wealth was not to be stored up at all; everything must be spent in the way of God. This, naturally, was a very hard proposition. Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه, therefore, enquired about it from the Prophet ﷺ. The Prophet ﷺ explained that the verse was for those who hoarded up wealth and did not pay Zakah on it. But if Zakah was paid, the rest of the goods became pure. It was emphasised by him that God had enjoined Zakah so that wealth became purified with its payment. He, also, pointed out that the very purpose of the enactment of the law of inheritance was that it served as an assistance for descendants of a man after his death. Had it been totally prohibited to save wealth, there would have been no command of Zakah and no need of the law of inheritance in the Shari'ah for both of these measures were related to accumulated wealth. The question of Zakah or inheritance would not have arisen if it was not allowed to possess worldly riches.

After replying of Sayyidina Umar's ~~enquiry~~ enquiry, the Prophet ﷺ observed for the illumination of the companions that more valuable than worldly possessions and by far the greatest source of mental peace and happiness in this world was a loving, understanding and faithful life-partner.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

In a nutshell, Zakah denotes that a part of one's possessions be spent in the way of God and for His propitiation. In it lies its fundamental significance, and, as we have seen earlier, this was what had been briefly enjoined during the first phase of Islam. The detailed rules and regulations, governing, for instance, the categories of goods, the lowest taxable limit, the time of payment and the heads of expenditure followed later.

Minimum Wealth That Attracts Zakah

(٨٢٨/٥) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
لَيْسَ فِيْمَا دُوْنَ خَمْسةِ أَوْسُقٍ مِنَ التَّمْرِ صَدَقَةٌ وَلَيْسَ فِيْمَا دُوْنَ خَمْسِ أَوَاقٍ
مِنَ الْوَرِقِ صَدَقَةٌ وَلَيْسَ فِيْمَا دُوْنَ خَمْسِ دُوْدٍ مِنَ الْإِبِلِ صَدَقَةٌ
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(828/5) It is related by Abu Saeed Khudri رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There is no Zakah on less than 5 Wasaq of dates, and there is no Zakah on less 5 Awaq of silver, and there is no Zakah on less than 5 camels." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In the life-time of the Prophet ﷺ, particularly in and around Madinah, wealth, in the main, consisted of three categories: fruit-crops, silver and herds of camel. The Prophet ﷺ has, in this Tradition, laid down the *Nisab*¹ of Zakah on all the three categories. He has shown what will be the lowest limit of the three kinds of possessions, i.e., how much of these goods a man must possess to make him legally obliged to pay Zakah. About the dates he had indicated that Zakah will not be payable on less than 5 Wasaq of them, one Wasaq being equal approximately to 2-½

①. Meaning the lowest limit of worldly possessions on which the payment of Zakah becomes obligatory.

quintals; about silver that Zakah will not be payable on less than 5 Awaq of it, one Awaq being of the value of 40 dirhams; and about camels that it will not be payable on less than 5 heads of them.

In the above Tradition the Nisab of only these three kinds of possessions has been described.

As Shah Waliullah رحمه الله عليه remarks, "Five Wasaq of dates can suffice for the sustenance of a small family; in the same way, a year's expenditure can be met with 200 dirhams; and from the point of view of valuation 5 camels are of equal worth."

(٨٢٩/٦) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَدْ عَفَوْتُ عَنِ الْخَيْلِ وَالرَّقِيقِ فَهَاتُوا صَدَقَةَ الرِّقَّةِ مِنْ كُلِّ أَرْبَعِينَ دِرْهَمًا دِرْهَمٌ وَلَيْسَ فِي تِسْعَةٍ وَتِسْعِينَ وَمِائَةٍ شَيْءٌ إِذَا بَلَغَتْ مِائَتَيْنِ فَفِيهَا خَمْسَةُ دَرَاهِمٍ

(رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد)

(828/6) Sayyidina Ali رضي الله عنه reported the Messenger of Allah ﷺ as saying, "There is an exemption on horses and slaves; with regard to coins, however, you must pay a dirham for every forty, but nothing is payable on a hundred ninety. When the total reaches two hundred, five dirhams are payable." (Tirmizi and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: According to the next hadith narrated by Samurah bin Jundub رضي الله عنه, Zakah is payable on horses and slaves if these are merchandise of trade. If they are not for trading but for personal use riding and domestic help, etc, then no matter what their value, Zakah is not payable on them and this is what Sayyidina Ali رضي الله عنه refers. He then says that Zakah is payable on silver if it is worth two hundred dirham at 1/40 rate.

Zakah on Goods of Trade

(٨٣٠/٧) عَنْ سَمُرَةَ بْنِ جُنْدُبٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ

يَأْمُرُنَا أَنْ نُخْرِجَ الصَّدَقَةَ مِنَ الذِّى نَعُدُّ لِلْبَيْعِ..... (رواه ابو داؤد)

(830/7) Samurah bin Jundub رضي الله عنه related that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ had commanded us to pay Zakah on every thing we may have in stock for buying and selling (i.e., for trade and commerce).

(Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that Zakah is to be paid on goods of trade and industry as well.

Payablat The Expiry of A Year

(٨٣١/٨) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ اسْتَفَادَ مَا لَا قَلَا زَكَاةَ فِيهِ حَتَّى يَحُولَ عَلَيْهِ الْحَوْلُ.
(رواه الترمذی)

(831/8) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever may earn or obtain wealth from any source, Zakah will not be payable on it unless a year expires." (Tirmizi)

Jewellery

(٨٣٢/٩) عَنْ عُمَرَ وَبْنِ شُعَيْبٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ أَنَّ امْرَأَةً آتَتْ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِابْنَةٍ لَهَا فِي يَدِ ابْنَتِهَا مُسَكَّتَانِ غَلِيظَتَانِ مِنْ ذَهَبٍ فَقَالَ اتَّعْطِينَ زَكَاةَ هَذَا؟ قَالَتْ لَا، قَالَ أَيْسُرُكَ أَنْ يُسَوِّرَكَ اللَّهُ بِهِمَا يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ سَوَارَيْنِ مِنَ النَّارِ فَخَلَعْتُهُمَا فَالْقَتَهُمَا إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَقَالَتْ هُمَا لِلَّهِ وَلِرَسُولِهِ
(رواه ابوداؤد وغيره من اصحاب السنن)

(832/9) Abdullah bin 'Amr bin al-'Aas رضی اللہ عنہ narrated that (once) a woman took her daughter to the Prophet ﷺ. The girl was wearing heavy gold bracelets on her wrists. The Prophet ﷺ, (on seeing it), enquired, "Do you pay Zakah on these bracelets?" "No," she replied, "I do not." The Prophet ﷺ observed: "Will it be a matter of joy for you that, on the Day of Resurrection, God made you wear bracelets of iron for (not paying Zakah on) these bracelets?" Upon it, the good lady took off both the bracelets, and, placing them before the Prophet ﷺ said: "These now belong to God and His Messenger ﷺ." (Abu Dawood)

(٨٣٣/١٠) عَنْ أُمِّ سَلَمَةَ قَالَتْ كُنْتُ أَلْبَسُ أَوْصَا حَا مِنْ ذَهَبٍ فَقُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ اكْزَهُو؟ فَقَالَ مَا بَلَغَ أَنْ تُوَدَّى زَكَاةُ فَرْكِي فَلَيْسَ بِكَزٍ
(رواه مالك و ابوداؤد)

(833/10) Ummi Salmah رضی اللہ عنہا related "I used to wear Awzab (a kind of ornament) of gold. (Once) I enquired from Prophet ﷺ if it, was included in the category of Kanz (i.e., treasure) about which the warning of Hell had been given in surah

At-Tawba. The Prophet ﷺ, replied, 'Whatever of the possessions become so much that Zakah is due on it, and, then, Zakah is paid according to the Shari'ah, it is not Kanz.'

(Mowatta Imam Maalik and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It is on the basis of these Traditions that Imam Abu Hanifah has concluded that Zakah is binding on ornaments of gold and silver (provided that their value exceeds the lowest limit) on which Zakah is paid. But other exegesis like Imam Maalik, Imam Shafi'ee and Imam Ahmad held that Zakah is payable on such ornaments alone that are meant for trade or have been caused to be made with the object of the preservation of wealth. According to them, Zakah is not obligatory on ornaments that are intended solely for use and adornment. The holy Companions ﷺ also, have expressed divergent views on the point. But the Traditions, on the whole, appear to be in favour of the stand taken by Imam Abu Hanifah, and, hence, even some theologists of the Shafi'ee school have preferred it. In Tafsir kabir, Imam Raazi, for instance, arrives at an identical conclusion.

Zakah Can be Paid in Advance

(٨٣٤/١١) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ أَنَّ الْعَبَّاسَ سَأَلَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي تَعْجِيلِ صَدَقَتِهِ قَبْلَ أَنْ تَحِلَّ فَرَخَّصَ لَهُ فِي ذَلِكَ

(رواه ابو داؤد والترمذى وابن ماجه والدارمى)

(834/11) It is related by Sayyidina Ali ﷺ that (when) Abbas ﷺ enquired from the Prophet ﷺ about paying Zakah in advance, the Prophet ﷺ permitted him to do so.

(Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

Beneficiaries

(٨٣٥/١٢) عَنْ زِيَادِ بْنِ الْحَارِثِ الصَّدَائِي قَالَ أَتَيْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَبَايَعْتُهُ فَذَكَرَ حَدِيثًا طَوِيلًا. فَأَتَانِي رَجُلٌ فَقَالَ أَعْطِنِي مِنَ الصَّدَقَةِ فَقَالَ لَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَمْ يَرْضَ بِحُكْمِ نَبِيِّ وَلَا غَيْرِهِ فِي الصَّدَقَاتِ حَتَّى حَكَمَ هُوَ فَجَزَّأَهَا ثَمَانِيَةَ أَجْزَاءٍ فَإِنْ كُنْتَ مِنْ تِلْكَ الْأَجْزَاءِ أَعْطَيْتُكَ.

(رواه ابو داؤد)

(835/12) Zayd bin Haarith ؓ narrated "I went to the Prophet ﷺ and took the vow of allegiance to him." Zayd, then, related to us a long Tradition in the course of which he recounted the incident that, at that time, a person came to the Prophet ﷺ and said: "Please give me something out of the goods of Zakah." The Prophet ﷺ remarked, "God has left the expenditure of Zakah neither to the choice of Prophet nor of any else. He has determined it Himself and divided it into eight parts (i.e., categories of beneficiaries). If you belong to one of them, I shall give you from Zakah." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: The reference made by the Prophet ﷺ to the commandment concerning the expenditure of Zakah is contained in the following verse of surah at-Tawba:

The Zakah is only for the poor and the needy, and those who collect it, and those whose hearts are to be reconciled, and to free the captives and the debtors, and for the ause of Allah, and for the wayfarers.

(Al Tawbah 9:60)

إِنَّمَا الصَّدَقَاتُ لِلْفُقَرَاءِ
وَالْمَسْكِينِ وَالْعَمِلِينَ عَلَيْهَا
وَالْمُؤَلَّفَةِ قُلُوبُهُمْ وَفِي الرِّقَابِ
وَالْغَارِمِينَ وَفِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ وَابْنِ
السَّبِيلِ. (التوبة ٦٠:٩)

Some remarks, here, may be helpful in understanding the scope, and intent of the verse.

1. Fuqara: Meaning the poor. In Arabic the word Faqir (Al-Fuqara) is used as an antonym of Ghani, i.e., the well-to-do. Thus, all the poor people are included in this category who are not rich i.e., do not possess enough wealth to make Zakah a legal obligation. We have, already, seen Sayyidina Mu'az's ؓ narrative in which the Prophet ﷺ has formulated the fundamental principle that Zakah should be collected from the Aghniya (plurar of Ghani) and distributed to the Fuqara of the community.

2. Masaakin: i.e., the needy who are excessively indigent and cannot meet even the daily needs on their own.

3. 'Aamilin: denotes the functionaries i.e., collectors, accountants, controllers of expenditure, auditors of accounts etc., This category, in fact, comprises the entire administration, civil, military and diplomatic. They can be remunerated for their time and labour, out of Zakah even if they are well-to-do. This was the practice during the time of the Prophet ﷺ.

4. Muwallafatul Quloob: The category of those whose hearts are to be reconciled in the interest of Faith and the Muslims. It includes the riches as well.

5. Riqaab: or freeing the necks. By this term one has always understood two kinds of expenditure; liberation of slaves and ransoming of the prisoners of war held by the enemy.

6. Ghaarimin: It denotes the category of those who are heavily indebted or confronted with any other difficulty or disaster with which they cannot cope on their own.

7. Fi Sabilil-laah: Meaning "in the path of God." In the Islamic terminology it signifies every charitable cause, and, according to some legists, the needs relating to defence and protection of Faith and supremacy of the Word of God, also, are covered by it.

8. Ibnus Sabil: It signifies the wayfarers who may be in need of help, and also, includes construction of bridges, roads and transport and security of the roads and extension of hospitality without charge to the travellers.

The Holy Prophet ﷺ, as the above Tradition shows, told the person who had begged him for something out of the Zakah that God Himself had delineated the eight heads of expenditure concerning goods collected as Zakah. The Prophet ﷺ could give him out of Zakah if he fitted into any of those categories otherwise he was helpless.

(Only a few remarks have been offered here about the kinds of beneficiaries by way of the elucidation of Zayd's narrative. Detailed rules and principles can be learnt from the standard work of Islamic Jurisprudence or directly from the Muslim jurists and theologians).

(٨٣٦/١٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَيْسَ الْمُسْكِينُ الَّذِي يَطُوفُ عَلَى النَّاسِ تَرُدُّهُ اللَّقْمَةُ وَاللُّقْمَتَانِ وَالتَّمْرَتَانِ وَلَكِنَّ الْمُسْكِينَ الَّذِي لَا يَجِدُ غَنًى يُغْنِيهِ وَلَا يُقْطَنُ بِهِ فَيَتَصَدَّقَ عَلَيْهِ وَلَا يَقُومَ فَيَسْأَلُ النَّاسَ.
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(836/13) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The needy person (who should be helped with charity) is not the one who goes to the people (to solicit alms) and comes back (satisfied) with a morsel or two (of food) or a couple of dates (that are placed on his hand), but the needy (in the real sense) is he who has nothing with which to meet his needs (and since he hides his condition from others), no one becomes aware of his distress so that he may be helped with charity, nor does he beg from others." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that professional beggars and shameless solicitors of alms are not deserving of charity. For giving away in the path of Allah one should look for self-respecting men who do not disclose their indigence. Such, indeed, are the needy to help whom is an act of great worthiness in the sight of Allah.

(٨٣٧/١٤) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تَحِلُّ الصَّدَقَةُ لَغْنِيٍّ وَلَا لِذِي مِرَّةٍ سِوَى. (رواه الترمذی و ابو داؤد والدارمی)
(837/14) Sayyidina Abdullah bin Amr رضی اللہ عنہ said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Sadaqah may not be given to a rich man, or to one who has strength and is sound in limb.

(Tirmizi, Abu Dawood, Daarimi)

(٨٣٨/١٥) عَنْ عُبَيْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَامِرٍ بْنِ الْخَيَارِ قَالَ أَخْبَرَنِي رَجُلَانِ أَنَّهُمَا آتَيَا النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَهُوَ فِي حَجَّةِ الْوَدَاعِ وَهُوَ يَقْسِمُ الصَّدَقَةَ فَسَأَلَاهُ مِنْهَا فَرَفَعَ فِينَا النَّظَرَ وَخَفَضَهُ فَرَأَانَا جُلْدَيْنِ فَقَالَ إِنْ شِئْتُمَا أَعْطَيْتُكُمَا وَلَا حَظَّ فِيهَا لَغْنِيٍّ وَلَا لِقَوِيٍّ مُكْتَسِبٍ..... (رواه ابو داؤد والنسائي)

(838/15) It is related by "Ubaidullah bin 'Adi bin Al-Khayar, a Taba'ee, "Two persons told me that both of them went to the Prophet ﷺ on the occasion of the Farewell Hajj. At that time, the Prophet ﷺ was distributing the goods of Zakah and they, too, requested him to give them something out of those goods. As the Prophet ﷺ looked at them from head to foot, he found them healthy and strong. The Prophet ﷺ, then, said to them: "I can give (it to) you if you want but (know that) there is no share in these goods for the well-to-do and able-bodied persons who can earn their living."

(Abu dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: The word "well-to-do" in it, probably, signifies those who can meet their basic needs, and do not, at the moment, require monetary help. If anyone, belonging to this category, does not possess the nisab, and Zakah is given to him, it will be deemed to have been paid but he should himself desist from accepting it. Similarly, a person who is in good health and is capable of working for his bread should accept Zakah. This general principle has been expounded in the above Tradition. But, in exceptional circumstances, such a person can accept Zakah and it was for that reason that the Prophet ﷺ told the men referred to in the above narrative that he could give them out of the goods of Zakah if they wanted.

Zakah* And The Family of The Prophet ﷺ

(٨٣٩/١٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ الْمُطَّلِبِ بْنِ رَبِيعَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ هَذِهِ الصَّدَقَاتِ إِنَّمَا هِيَ أَوْسَاخُ النَّاسِ وَإِنَّهَا لَا تَحِلُّ لِمُحَمَّدٍ وَلَا لِأَلِ مُحَمَّدٍ.
(رواه مسلم)

(839/16) It is related on the authority of the Abdul Muttalib bin Rabi'ah ربيع بن ربيعة that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The alms are the dirt and scum of the people and are not permitted to Muhammad ﷺ and his descendants." (Muslim)

Commentary: In it Zakah and the alms have been described as "dirt and scum" because just as a cloth becomes clean when the dirt is removed from it, in the same way the rest of the wealth becomes pure, in the judgement of God, after Zakah, has been paid on it. It, also, shows that, as far as possible, one should refrain from making use of the goods of Zakah. On this ground, the Prophet ﷺ has declared Zakah as forbidden to himself and his family, i.e., the children of Hashim, till the end of time.

(٨٤٠/١٧) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِتَمْرَةٍ فِي الطَّرِيقِ فَقَالَ لَوْلَا أَنِّي أَخَافُ أَنْ تَكُونَ مِنَ الصَّدَقَةِ لَا كَلْتُهَا

(840/17) Sayyidina Anas ربيع بن ربيعة narrated that (once the Prophet ﷺ was going some where when) he saw a date lying in the way. On seeing it, he remarked: "If I did not fear that it might be of Zakah, I would have picked it up and eaten it."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The Prophet's ﷺ remark was, in fact, intended to impress upon the people that however insignificant God's provision or anything out of His bounty may be, if it is found lying unclaimed or thrown off carelessly anywhere, due reverence should be shown to it and it should be put to the use for which it was meant. The Prophet ﷺ, at the same time, added that he could not eat the date for the fear that it might have fallen down from among the dates of Zakah. He, thus, also, imparted the lesson of abstention from the use of doubtful things to men of piety and devoutness.

(841/18) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ said that the Hasan bin (Sayyidina) Ali ؓ took one of the dates of the Sadaqah and put it in his mouth, whereupon the Prophet ﷺ said: Leave it alone, leave it alone, " in order that he might throw it away. He then said, "Do you not know that we (Banu Hashim) do not eat the Sadaqah?"

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(842/19) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the usual practice of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was that when anyone brought to him something to eat, he used to enquire: "Is it Hadiya (i.e., a gift) or Sadaqah (i.e., charity)?" If he was told that it was Sadaqah, he would tell his Companions (i.e., such of them for whom there was no harm in eating things of Sadaqah, like Ashab us-Suffa) to partake of it and would refrain from eating it himself. If, on the other hand, he was told that it was Hadiya, he would stretch his hand towards it and join the Companions ؓ in eating it."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Whatever is given to a poor and needy person by way of help and with intention of earning the countenance of the Lord is known, in the special terminology of Islam, as Sadaqah, no matter whether it is obligatory, such as, Zakah and Sadaqatul fitr or supererogatory (which, in the common parlance, is called Khayrat or charity), and when something is offered to anyone out of love and devotion it is described as Hadiya.

The custom of the Prophet ﷺ was, as we learn from the above Tradition, that if anyone brought to him something to eat with the intention of Sadaqah, he gave it to the Companions ﷺ who were poor and could justly partake of it and did not eat it himself, and when anyone brought it by way of Hadiya, he, also, ate it along with the Companions ﷺ¹.

(٨٤٣/٢٠) عَنْ أَبِي رَافِعٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بَعَثَ رَجُلًا مِنْ بَنِي مَخْزُومٍ عَلَى الصَّدَقَةِ فَقَالَ لِأَبِي رَافِعٍ إِصْحَبْنِي كَيْمَا تُصِيبَ مِنْهَا فَقَالَ لَا حَتَّى آتِي رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَاسْأَلَهُ فَأَنْطَلَقَ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَسَأَلَ لَهُ فَقَالَ إِنَّ الصَّدَقَةَ لَا تَحِلُّ لَنَا وَإِنَّ مَوَالِيَ الْقَوْمِ مِنْ أَنْفُسِهِمْ.

(رواه الترمذی وابوداؤد والنسائی)

(843/20) Sayyidina Abu Rafi' ﷺ has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ sent a man of Banu Makhzum to collect Zakah and he asked him to accompany him so that he might get some of it, but he refused to do so till he went to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and asked him. He went to the Prophet ﷺ and asked him and he said, "The Zakah is not lawful for us, and the slaves of a people are treated as being of their number. (So it is not lawful for you too)" (Tirmizi Abu Dawood Nasa'i)

Commentary: The hadith makes it clear that just as Zakah is not lawful for the Prophet ﷺ and his family, so too it is not lawful for his and their slaves even after they are freed. We also learn that every collector of Zakah is paid out of the Zakah collected for his services (even if he is wealthy and liable to pay Zakah). The third thing we know is that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ and the Islamic law raised the slaves to the level of family members of their owners and partners to an extent although in that age slaves enjoined on distinction (outside Islam).

①. Bukhari has transmitted a hadith from Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها. "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ accepted a hadya and himself gave a return hadya to the one who presented it."

When it is Not Permitted to Him to Beg and When it is

The scholars of Hadith record in the Kitab Az-Zakah itself those Ahadith which tell us when one may not beg and when one is allowed to beg. We follow their procedure and reproduce the Ahadith on the subject.

(٨٤٤/٢١) عَنْ حُبْشِيِّ بْنِ جُنَادَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ الْمَسْئَلَةَ لَا تَحِلُّ لِعَبْدٍ وَلَا لِدَيْ مِرَّةٍ سَوِيٍّ إِلَّا لِدَيْ فَقْرٍ مُدْقِعٍ أَوْ غُرْمٍ مُقْطِعٍ وَمَنْ سَأَلَ النَّاسَ لِيُثْرِيَ بِهِ مَالَهُ كَانَ خُمُوشًا فِي وَجْهِهِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ وَرَضْفًا يَأْكُلُهُ مِنْ جَهَنَّمَ فَمَنْ شَاءَ فَلْيَقِلَّ وَمَنْ شَاءَ فَلْيُكْثِرْ (رواه الترمذی)

(844/21) Hubshi bin Junadah رضی اللہ عنہ has reported the Messenger of Allah ﷺ as saying: "Begging is not allowable to a rich man, or to one who has strength and is sound in limb, but only to one who is in grinding poverty or is seriously in debt. If anyone begs to increase thereby his property, it will appear as a lacerations on his face on the Day of Resurrection and as heated stones which he will eat from Hell. So let him who wishes ask little, and let him who wishes ask much." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: This Hadith too defines the rich as one who is not needy (even if he is not owner of nisab). Such a man and one who is strong who can earn his livelihood are not allowed to beg. such men should not extend a begging hand before other people. Of course, those who are deep in poverty or compelled because of a demand of ransom or penalty or debt, they are permitted to ask. If anyone, however, begs to augment his wealth then he will be punished on the Day of Resurrection and his face will bear an ugly scar and his earnings through beggary will turn into hot stones that he will have to eat.

(٨٤٥/٢٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ مَنْ سَأَلَ النَّاسَ أَمْوَالَهُمْ تَكْثُرًا فَإِنَّمَا يَسْأَلُ جَمْرًا فَلْيَسْتَقِلَّ أَوْ لْيَسْتَكْثِرْ..... (رواه مسلم)

(845/22) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ has said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "He who begs the property of others to increase his own wealth is asking only for live coals so let him ask little or much."

(Muslim)

(٨٤٦/٢٣) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ سَأَلَ النَّاسَ وَلَهُ مَا يُغْنِيهِ جَاءَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ وَمَسْئَلَتُهُ فِي وَجْهِهِ خُمُوشٌ أَوْ خُدُوشٌ أَوْ كُدُوحٌ قِيلَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ مَا يُغْنِيهِ؟ قَالَ خَمْسُونَ دِرْهَمًا أَوْ قِيمَتُهَا مِنْ الذَّهَبِ (رواه ابو داؤد، والترمذى، والنسائى وابن ماجه، والدارمى)

(846/23) It is related by Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever begs from others when he has enough for his needs and does not have to look up to anyone for support, he shall come for the Final Judgement on the Day of Resurrection in such a state that his request (for alms) will be visible on his face in the form of wound." It was enquired from him: "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! What is the quantity of wealth which you have described as adequate for one's needs?" "Fifty dirhams or gold of an equal value," the Prophet ﷺ replied. (Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

Commentary: In this Tradition the criterion of Ghina, after which it is not legitimate for anyone to beg, has been laid down as 50 dirhams. In another, it is said to be one Auqia of silver, or 40 dirhams in cash. There is, evidently not much difference between the two standards. But in a report quoted in Abu Dawood, on the authority of salah bin Hanzalah رضي الله عنه, it is stated that once the Prophet ﷺ was asked: "What is the quantity of Ghina the possession of which makes it unlawful for a person to beg?" "So much", replied the Prophet ﷺ, "That from it one can eat a meal of the day and a meal of the night". It thus, shows that if anyone has enough to eat for a day, it is not proper for him to beg.

The Ghina on which Zakah is obligatory is a settled fact and we have, already, examined the Traditions concerning it. But for the Ghina which prevents a man from begging, the Prophet ﷺ has set different standards on different occasions. This divergence, in our humble opinion, is in relation to men and circumstances. In case of certain men and in certain circumstance it may be permissible to beg even in the presence of a few assets. But there is no question of doing so if the assets amount to 40 or 50 dirhams in value.

On the other hand, there scan be some people for whom and some circumstances in which it is not permissible to beg even if there is enough to eat for a day.

It can, again, be attributed to the difference between concession and resoluteness. The Traditions in which the assets worth 40 or 50 dirhams have been declared to be the criterion appertain to the realm of leave and fiat while those which forbid begging even if there is provision for a day signify the station of high-mindedness and piety.

Disgraceful in Any Case

(٨٤٧/٢٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ وَهُوَ عَلَى الْمُنْبَرِ وَهُوَ يَذْكُرُ الصَّدَقَةَ وَالتَّعَفُّفَ عَنِ الْمَسْئَلَةِ الْيَدُ الْعُلْيَا خَيْرٌ مِنَ الْيَدِ السُّفْلَى وَالْيَدُ الْعُلْيَا هِيَ الْمُنْفِقَةُ وَالسُّفْلَى هِيَ السَّائِلَةُ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(847/24) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ, while exhorting the people from the pulpit to abstain from soliciting for charity, said: "The upper had is better than the lower hand, and the lower hand is the begging hand."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that it is much better and nobler to be the giver than the recipient of charity. A faithful bondsman should try his utmost to be the giver and save himself from the ignominy of begging.

If Begging is Unavoidable, One Should Beg From Virtuous Men

(٨٤٨/٢٥) عَنْ ابْنِ الْفِرَاسِيِّ أَنَّ الْفِرَاسِيَّ قَالَ قُلْتُ لِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَسْأَلُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ؟ فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا وَإِنْ كُنْتَ لَا بُدَّ فَسَلِ الصَّالِحِينَ

(رواه ابو داؤد والنسائي)

(848/25) It is related by Ibn Al-Firasi رضي الله عنه that his father, al-Firasi said "I enquired from the Prophet ﷺ if I could make a request to others for charity." The Prophet ﷺ replied: "Do not beg (as far as possible), but if you are compelled to do so, let it be from the virtuous bondsmen of Allah." (Abu Dawood and Nasa'i)

Place Your Need Before God, Not Men

(٨٤٩/٢٦) عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ أَصَابَتْهُ فَاقَةٌ فَأَنْزَلَهَا بِالنَّاسِ لَمْ تُسَدَّ فَاقَتُهُ وَمَنْ أَنْزَلَهَا بِاللَّهِ أَوْشَكَ اللَّهُ لَهُ

بِالْعِزِّ إِمَّا بِمَوْتٍ عَاجِلٍ أَوْ غِنًى أَجَلٍ..... (رواه، ابوداؤد والترمذی)

(849/26) Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضی اللہ عنہ related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever is confronted with a severe need and places it before men (and begs them for help), he will never be relieved of it permanently, and whoever places it before God and beseeches Him (for it), it is confidently hoped that God will put an end to his need either by granting him death before long (if the appointed time of his death has arrived) or by bestowing prosperity upon him after sometime."

(Abu Dawood and Tirmizi)

Assurance of Paradise On Abstention From Begging

(٨٥٠/٢٧) عَنْ ثَوْبَانَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ يَكْفُلُ لِي أَنْ لَا يَسْأَلَ النَّاسَ شَيْئًا فَاتَّكِفُلْ لَهُ بِالْجَنَّةِ فَقَالَ ثَوْبَانُ أَنَا فَكَانَ لَا يَسْأَلُ أَحَدًا

شَيْئًا (رواه ابوداؤد والنسائي)

(850/27) It is related by Thauban رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "I give him the assurance of Paradise who promises me not to entreat the bondsmen of Allah for any of his needs." Thauban رضی اللہ عنہ went on to narrate that, he said to the Prophet ﷺ: Messenger of Allah ﷺ! I give you the promise." The narrator added "as a result of it, it was the custom of Thauban رضی اللہ عنہ not to ask anyone for anything." (Abu Dawood, Nasa'i)

If Anything is Given to You Without Solicitation or Greediness, Take it

(٨٥١/٢٨) عَنْ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُعْطِينِي الْعَطَاءَ فَأَقُولُ أَعْطِهِ أَفْقَرُ إِلَيْهِ مِنِّي فَقَالَ خُذْهُ فْتَمَوَّلْهُ وَتَصَدَّقْ بِهِ فَمَا جَاءَكَ مِنْ هَذَا الْمَالِ وَأَنْتَ غَيْرُ مُشْرِفٍ وَلَا سَائِلٍ فَخُذْهُ وَمَا لَا فَلَا تُتْبِعْهُ نَفْسَكَ (رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(851/28) Umar bin al-Khattab رضی اللہ عنہ narrated (when) the Messenger of Allah ﷺ gave me something (as a gift) I used to say to him: 'Please give it to someone else who may be in greater need of it.' The Prophet ﷺ would, then, reply: "Umar رضي الله عنه, take it and make it your property (and, then if you like, you may give it) to a needy person in charity, (and make it a principle that) when you receive anything in such a way that you have neither asked for it nor felt a desire for it in your heart, you will accept it (as a gift from Allah), and will not even look at a thing that does not come to you in that way." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Do Not Beg As Long As You Can Earn By Work or Service

(٨٥٢/٢٩) عَنِ الزُّبَيْرِ بْنِ الْعَوَّامِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَأَنْ يَأْخُذَ أَحَدُكُمْ حَبْلَهُ فَيَأْتِيَ بِحُرْمَةٍ حَطَبٍ عَلَى ظَهْرِهِ فَيَبِيعَهَا فَيَكْفِيَ اللَّهُ بِهَا وَجْهَهُ خَيْرٌ لَهُ مِنْ أَنْ يَسْأَلَ النَّاسَ أَعْطَوْهُ أَوْ مَنَعُوهُ (رواه البخارى)

(852/29) It is related on the authority of Zubayr bin Al-Awwam رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The attitude of a needy person (among you) that he goes to the forest with a rope and returns with a bundle of wood (for fuel) on his back and sells it, and, thus, by the grace of God, saves himself from the disgrace of begging is better than that he stretches his hand before others, and, then, they may give him (something) or not." (Bukhari)

(٨٥٣/٣٠) عَنْ أَنَسٍ أَنَّ رَجُلًا مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ أَتَى النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَسْأَلُهُ فَقَالَ أَمَا فِي بَيْتِكَ شَيْئٌ فَقَالَ بَلَى جَلَسَ نَلْبَسُ بَعْضُهُ وَنَبْسُطُ بَعْضُهُ وَقَعَبَ نَشْرَبُ فِيهِ مِنَ الْمَاءِ قَالَ إِنِّي بِهِمَا فَاتَاهُ بِهِمَا فَأَخَذَهُمَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِيَدِهِ وَقَالَ مَنْ يَشْتَرِي هَذَيْنِ؟ قَالَ رَجُلٌ أَنَا أَخَذَهُمَا بِيَدِهِمَا قَالَ مَنْ يَزِيدُ عَلَى دِرْهَمٍ مَرَّتَيْنِ أَوْ ثَلَاثًا قَالَ رَجُلٌ أَنَا أَخَذَهُمَا بِيَدِهِمَا فَاعْطَا هُمَا إِيَّاهُ فَأَخَذَ الدِّرْهَمَيْنِ فَأَعْطَا هُمَا الْأَنْصَارِيَّ وَقَالَ اشْتَرِ بِأَحَدِهِمَا طَعَامًا فَأَنْبِذْهُ إِلَى أَهْلِكَ وَاشْتَرِ بِالْآخَرِ قَدْ وَمَا فَاتِنِي بِهِ فَاتَاهُ بِهِ فَشَدَّ فِيهِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عُودًا بِيَدِهِ ثُمَّ قَالَ اذْهَبْ فَاحْتَطَبْ وَبِعْ وَلَا أُرِيَنَّكَ خَمْسَةَ عَشَرَ يَوْمًا فَذَهَبَ الرَّجُلُ يَحْتَطَبُ وَيَبِيعُ فَبَجَاءَ هُ وَكَانَ أَصَابَ

عَشْرَةَ دَرَاهِمَ فَأَشْتَرَى بِبَعْضِهَا ثَوْبًا وَبِبَعْضِهَا طَعَامًا فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ هَذَا خَيْرٌ لَكَ مِنْ أَنْ تَجِيئَ الْمَسْئَلَةَ نُكْتَةً فِي وَجْهِكَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ إِنَّ الْمَسْئَلَةَ لَا تَصْلُحُ إِلَّا لِثَلَاثَةٍ لَدِي فَقَرِمْتُ دِقِ أَوْلَدِي غُرْمَ مُقْطَعِ أَوْلَدِي

(رواه ابو داود)

دَمُ مُوجِع

(853/30) It is related by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that (once a poor and needy Ansar came to the Prophet ﷺ and, (after relating his neediness), begged him for something. The Prophet ﷺ asked him: "Is there nothing, at all, in your house?" There is only a blanket," the Ansar replied, "a part of which we use to cover ourselves with and a part from which we spread on the ground (lying), and there is a cup from which we drink water." The Prophet ﷺ, said to him: "Bring both the things to me." The Ansar brought the two things and gave them to the Prophet ﷺ. The Prophet ﷺ took the cup and the blanket in his hand, and, addressing those present, (in the manner of selling at an auction), said: 'Who is willing to buy these things?' One of the Companions رضي الله عنه came up with the reply, "Messenger of Allah ﷺ! I can buy them for a dirham." The Prophet ﷺ then, enquired, "Who makes a bid of more than one dirham? (He said it two or three times). Messenger of Allah ﷺ! I can buy for two dirhams," said another. The Prophet ﷺ gave the articles to him and took two dirhams and, handing them over to the Ansar, said, "Buy some food stuff with one dirham and give it to your family and an axe with the other dirham and bring it to me." The Ansar acted accordingly and reported back to the Prophet ﷺ with the axe. The Prophet ﷺ fixed a strong handle to it with his own hands, and said to him, "Go and cut wood from the forest and sell it and do not let me see you for fifteen days." The Ansar, thus, went away and fetched wood from the forest and sold it as the Prophet ﷺ had told. Then, one day he turned up and he had earned ten dirhams by his labour with which he had bought some cloth and foodgrains. The Prophet ﷺ, on seeing him observed: "This earning by hard work is much better for you than that you appear, before the people, on the Day of Resurrection, with the mark of begging on your face. Begging is permissible only to three kinds of men: (i) He who has grown so weak owing to poverty and starvation that he can hardly rise from the ground ; (ii) He who is overburdened with a loan or penalty (to pay which is beyond his means); (iii) He who has to pay blood-money but cannot do it." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: The moral of the above Tradition is self-evident. But as misfortune would have it, a whole class of professional beggars is thriving among the followers of the Prophet ﷺ. Then there are those who indulge in respectable begging by flaunting themselves as theologists or spiritual mentors. They are guilty of fraud and trading in religion as well.

Monetary Good-Doing Apart From Zakah

(٨٥٤/٣١) عَنْ فَاطِمَةَ بِنْتِ قَيْسٍ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ فِي الْمَالِ لَحَقًّا سِوَى الزَّكَاةِ ثُمَّ تَلَا لَيْسَ الْبِرُّ أَنْ تُوَلُّوا وُجُوهَكُمْ قَبْلَ الْمَشْرِقِ وَالْمَغْرِبِ. الْآيَةُ..... (رواه الترمذی وابن ماجه والدرمی)

رضی اللہ عنہا (854/31) It is related by Sayyidah Fatimah bint Qays رضی اللہ عنہا that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There is the claim (of God) upon wealth besides Zakah." He, then, recited the following verse of the Qur'an:

It is not righteousness that you turn your faces to the East and West : but righteous is he who believes in Allah and the Last Day and the angels and the Scripture and the Prophets عليهم السلام; and gives his wealth, for love of Him, to kinsfolk and to orphans and the needy and the wayfarer and to those who ask, and to set slaves free; and observes proper worship and pays the poor due.

(Al-Baqarah 2:177)

لَيْسَ الْبِرُّ أَنْ تُوَلُّوا وُجُوهَكُمْ قَبْلَ الْمَشْرِقِ وَالْمَغْرِبِ وَلَكِنَّ الْبِرَّ مَنْ آمَنَ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ وَالْمَلَائِكَةِ وَالْكِتَابِ وَالنَّبِيِّينَ وَآتَى الْمَالَ عَلَى حُبِّهِ ذَوِي الْقُرْبَى وَالْيَتَامَى وَالْمَسْكِينِ وَابْنَ السَّبِيلِ وَالسَّائِلِينَ وَفِي الرِّقَابِ وَأَقَامَ الصَّلَاةَ وَآتَى الزَّكَاةَ..... الْآيَةُ (البقره. ١٧٧:٢)

(Tirmizi, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

Commentary: The main object of this Tradition is to remove the misunderstanding that the bondsman is absolved of his responsibility to the poor and the indigent and no claim of God is left upon his wealth once he has paid the prescribed Zakah (i.e. 1/40th of the worldly possessions that are in excess of his need). In fact, in special circumstances, the duty of helping the needy servants of Allah remains with the well-to-do people even after the payment of Zakah. For instance, a wealthy and prosperous person pays the Zakah that is due on him, and, then, he comes to know that a neighbouring family has nothing to eat or such-and-such a relation is in dire need or a good and respectable person approaches him in distress or a wayfarer comes to him for help, in that case it becomes his duty to render financial assistance to them.

The Prophet ﷺ, then, recited the verse from surah al-Baqarah as an authoritative pronouncement in support of his view, in which the doing of monetary good to the orphans, the needy, the travellers and other indigent classes is mentioned after Faith under the head of righteous deeds. After it, the establishment of salah and the payment of Zakah are, also, set forth which shows that the monetary help of the weak and the poor stressed in it is in addition to Zakah.

Charity is Enjoined Upon All Muslims, Rich or Poor

(٨٥٥/٣٢) عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى الْأَشْعَرِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَلَى كُلِّ مُسْلِمٍ صَدَقَةٌ قَالُوا فَإِنْ لَمْ يَجِدْ قَالَ فليُعْمَلْ بِيَدِهِ فَيَنْفَعْ نَفْسَهُ وَيَتَصَدَّقَ قَالُوا فَإِنْ لَمْ يَسْتَطِعْ قَالَ فَيُعِينُ ذَا الْحَاجَةِ الْمَلْهُوفَ قَالُوا فَإِنْ لَمْ يَفْعَلْهُ قَالَ فَيَأْمُرُ بِالْخَيْرِ قَالُوا فَإِنْ لَمْ يَفْعَلْ قَالَ فَيُمْسِكُ عَنِ الشَّرِّ فَإِنَّهُ لَهُ صَدَقَةٌ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(855/32) It is related by Musa Al-Ash'ari ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Charity is enjoined upon all Muslims." He was asked: "If someone has nothing to give, what will he do?" The Prophet ﷺ replied: "He should work with his hands and benefit himself as well as give in charity (from what he earns)". It was, again, enquired from him: "If he cannot do even that?" The Prophet ﷺ replied: "He should help the needy by rendering some (other) service to him. (It, too, is a kind of charity)." "If he cannot do even that?" It was, once more asked. The Prophet ﷺ replied: "He should, then, exhort the people to good deeds." If he cannot do even that?" He was asked, once again The Prophet ﷺ replied: "He should (at least) keep away from wickedness (i.e., take care not to do harm or injury to anyone). It, too, is a kind of charity for him". (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that those, too, should practise charity on whom Zakah is not binding owing to want of worldly riches. Whoever is very poor should seek to earn the Divine reward on charity through toil and labour and by cutting down on his own needs. In case it, also, is not possible, he should try to serve the weak and distressed and bring solace to them if not with his hands, at least the tongue.

The sum and substance of the above Tradition is that it is incumbent upon every Muslim, rich or poor, young or old, and strong or weak, to do whatever he can by way of helping the others in difficulty.

Exhortation to Charity

(٨٥٦/٣٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ اللَّهُ

تَعَالَى أَنْفَقْ يَا بَنَ آدَمَ أَنْفَقْ عَلَيْكَ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(856/33) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "It is the message of God to every bondsman: O Son of Adam! Go on spending the wealth I have given you (on the poor, the needy and the destitute). I shall give you more from My treasure." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It contains, as it were, the assurance from the Lord that whoever spends on indigent fellowmen shall not suffer a decrease in his goods on account of it. God will bestow more wealth upon him from His hidden treasure.

Observation: We have said earlier that if the Prophet ﷺ says anything as from Allah and it is not from the Qur'an then it is Hadith Qudsi.

(٨٥٧/٣٤) عَنْ أَسْمَاءَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنْفَقْ وَلَا

تُحْصِيْ فَيُحْصِيْ اللَّهُ عَلَيْكَ وَلَا تُؤْعَى فَيُؤْعَى اللَّهُ عَلَيْكَ إِرْضَ حُجِي

مَا سَتَطَعْتَ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(857/34) Asma bint Abu Bakr رضى الله عنهما narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said to her: "Go on spending open-handedly in the way of God, and on the strength of faith in Him, and count not (i.e., do not worry over what you have and how much of it will you give away). If you will count and calculate like that while spending in God's way, He, too, will give you thriftily. (If, on the other hand, you will spend, for His sake, without hesitation, He will, also bestow of His bounty upon you without measure). And do not hoard or else the Lord, too, will deal with you in the same manner and the doors of benevolence and abundance will close upon you). Spend freely, therefore, whatever you can for the sake of God."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٨٥٨/٣٥) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَا ابْنَ آدَمَ أَنْ تَبْذُلَ الْخَيْرَ خَيْرٌ لَكَ وَأَنْ تُمَسِّكَهُ شَرٌّ لَكَ وَلَا تَلَامُ عَلَى كَفَافٍ وَابْدَأْ بِمَنْ تَعُولُ

(858/35) It is related by Abu Umamah رضى الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "O son of Adam, it is better for you to spend wealth that is in excess of your needs in the path of Allah, and to withhold it is bad for you, and, of course, there is no harm in saving (for future use) to the extent of your living expenses; and, first of all, spend on those who are dependent upon you for support."

(Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that it is better for a man to keep with himself the wealth he may earn or obtain as much of it as is required for his needs, and spend the rest on the bondsmen of the Lord, for His sake, and, among them, the foremost claim is of those the responsibility for whose maintenance God has placed upon him like his family and the needy near relatives.

Only That Remains And Will be Used Which is Spent In The Way of Allah

(٨٥٩/٣٦) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ أَنَّهَا ذَبَحُوا شَاةً فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا بَقِيَ مِنْهَا؟ قَالَتْ مَا بَقِيَ مِنْهَا إِلَّا كَتَفُهَا قَالَ بَقِيَ مِنْهَا غَيْرُ كَتِفِهَا (رواه الترمذی)

(859/36) Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها related that (once) a goat was slaughtered (and its meat was distributed for the sake of God). The Prophet ﷺ came (soon after it) and enquired, "What is left of the goat?" Nothing but one forequarter. (All the rest has been given away)". She replied. The Prophet ﷺ remarked, "In fact, every thing that has been given away in order to please Allah is left except the forequarter and is going to be of use (in the Hereafter)."

(Tirmizi)

The Way of Men of Faith And Trust Concerning Expenditure in Allah's Way

(٨٦٠/٣٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَوْ كَانَ لِي مِثْلُ أَحَدٍ ذَهَبًا لَسَرَّيْنِي أَنْ لَا يَمُرَّ عَلَيَّ ثَلَاثُ لَيَالٍ وَعِنْدِي مِنْهُ شَيْئٌ إِلَّا شَيْئِي أَرْصُدُهُ لِلدِّينِ
(رواه البخارى)

(860/37) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: If I have gold equal (in weight) to Mount Uhud, it will make me most happy that before the passage of three night to I spend the whole of it in the path of God except that I might save some of it for paying off the debt."

(Bukhari)

(٨٦١/٣٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ دَخَلَ عَلَى بِلَالٍ وَعِنْدَهُ صُبْرَةٌ مِنْ قَمَرٍ فَقَالَ مَا هَذَا يَا بِلَالُ؟ قَالَ شَيْئٌ إِدْخَرْتُهُ لِغَدٍ فَقَالَ أَمَا تَخْشَى أَنْ تَرَى لَهُ بُخَارًا فِي نَارِ جَهَنَّمَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ أَنْفَقَ يَا بِلَالُ وَلَا تَخْشَى مِنْ ذِي الْعَرْشِ أَقْلًا
(رواه البيهقى فى شعب الايمان)

(861/38) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ؓ that one day the Prophet ﷺ went to the residence of Sayyidina Bilal ؓ and saw that a heap of dates was lying with him. The Prophet ﷺ asked Bilal about it. He replied "I have made it a provision for future (so that I may have some relief from worrying about my sustenance)". The Prophet ﷺ remarked: "Bilal Are you not afraid that tomorrow, on the Day of Resurrection, you see its heat and burning in the Fire of Hell? See, O Bilal! Spend on yourself and on others what comes to your hand and have no fear of scarcity from the Owner of the Great Throne (i.e., believe it God will go on giving you in future in the same way as He has done today. There is no dearth in His treasure. So, worry about making a provision for the future)." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: Sayyidina Bilal رضي الله عنه was Among the Ashab As-Suffa who had made the Prophet's صلى الله عليه وسلم life of perfect reliance upon God a model for themselves. It was not proper for him to store up food for the days to come, and therefore, the Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم had given him this advice, though for the common people it is quite legitimate to do so. The Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم had, in fact stopped some of his Companions رضي الله عنهم from spending everything in the path of God and keeping nothing for their dependants. But for the Companions who followed the example of the sacred Prophet or of Ashab as-Suffa, in the matter of a life of complete trust in God, such a course was not desirable.

The last sentence of this Tradition imparts the assurance that whoever spends freely in the paths of goodness and virtue shall find no scarcity in the munificence of Allah.

Rich People Who Do Not Spend Freely in The Way of God Are The losers

(٨٦٢/٣٩) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرِّقَالٍ أَنْتَهَيْتُ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَهُوَ جَالِسٌ فِي ظِلِّ الْكَعْبَةِ فَلَمَّا رَأَيْتُ قَالَ هُمْ الْأَخْسَرُونَ وَرَبِّ الْكَعْبَةِ فَقُلْتُ فِدَاكَ أَبِي وَأُمِّي مَنْ هُمْ قَالَ هُمُ الْأَكْثَرُونَ أَمْوَالًا إِلَّا مَنْ قَالَ هَكَذَا وَهَكَذَا وَهَكَذَا مِنْ بَيْنِ يَدَيْهِ وَمِنْ خَلْفِهِ وَعَنْ يَمِينِهِ وَعَنْ شِمَالِهِ وَقَلِيلٌ مَا هُمْ

(رواه البخاري و مسلم)

(862/39) Abi Zarr Ghifari رضي الله عنه narrated that "Once I went to the Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم and he, (at that time) was sitting under the shadow of the House of Ka'bah. As he saw me, he remarked: "By the Lord of Ka'bah, they are in great loss.' I said: "May my parents be a sacrifice to you? Who are in great loss?' The Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم replied: Those who are very rich and well-to-do. Among them only they are safe from loss who spend their wealth open-handedly in front and behind, let and right (i.e., in all directions on things of goodness and virtue). But such bondsmen are very few among the rich." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that though, on the face of it, wealth is a blessing, in reality, it is severe trial and only those can come out of it successfully who do not get attached to it but spend liberally on good and noble causes.

Auspiciousness of Charity

(٨٦٣/٤٠) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ الصَّدَقَةَ

تُطْفِئُ غَضَبَ الرَّبِّ وَتَدْفَعُ مِيتَةَ السُّوءِ..... (رواه الترمذی)

(863/40) It is related by Anas رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Charity cools down the fire of Allah's wrath and wards off and evil death." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Good and evil deeds are morals, also, possess some attributes and produce their own effects about which we can learn only through the Divine Prophet ﷺ. Two peculiar properties of charity are described in the above Tradition: if the wrath of God is turned towards anyone due to a major transgression, Charity cools it down and instead of displeasure and chastisement, he becomes deserving of His mercy and good pleasure, and, secondly, it saves a man from an evil death, i.e., he dies a good death owing to the blessedness of charity or is spread the shame and agony of dying a death that, generally, is considered wretched and miserable by the people.

(٨٦٤/٤١) عَنْ مَرْثَدِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ حَدَّثَنِي بَعْضُ أَصْحَابِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ

صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ إِنَّ ظِلَّ

الْمُؤْمِنِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ صَدَقَتُهُ..... (رواه احمد)

(864/41) Marthad bin Abdullah رضی اللہ عنہ related that some Companions رضی اللہ عنہم related to him that they had heard from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ that there would be the shadow of charitable deed on the faithful bondsman on the Day of Resurrection." (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: About many virtuous deeds it is told in the Traditions that they will become a source of shelter on the Last Day. In this Tradition it is stated about charity that one of its auspicious effects that will be manifest on the Day of Final Judgement is that the charitable deed of a person will become a shade for him which will protect him from the intense heat of the Day.

Increase in Wealth

(٨٦٥/٤٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
مَا نَقَصَتْ صَدَقَةٌ مِنْ مَالٍ وَمَا زَادَ اللَّهُ بِعَفْوِ الْإِ عِزًّا وَمَا تَوَاضَعَ أَحَدٌ لِلَّهِ إِلَّا رَفَعَهُ اللَّهُ
(رواه مسلم)

(865/42) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The wealth of no one suffers a decrease on account of charity, and no one loses in honour by forgiving, nay God raises him in dignity and he becomes more respectable, and whoever will obseerve himility, God will make him exalted."
(Muslim)

(٨٦٦/٤٣) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قَالَ أَبُو ذَرٍّ يَأْنِي اللَّهُ أَرَأَيْتَ الصَّدَقَةَ مَا هِيَ قَالَ
أَضْعَافٌ مُضَاعَفَةٌ وَعِنْدَ اللَّهِ الزَّمِيدُ.....
(رواه احمد)

(866/43) It is related by Abu Umamah رضي الله عنه that (once) Abu Zarr رضي الله عنه said, O Prophet of Allah, tell us what is charity (i.e., what reward is it going to fetch from Allah)? "The Prophet ﷺ replied: "Several (i.e., whatever a person spends in charity, he will get back many times of it in return) and there is much with Allah."
(Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: It says that Allah will grant a manifold increase in what one spends in charity. In some other sayings, the increase from ten to hundred times is mentioned, but it, too, is not the limit. God will bestow even more on whomsoever He likes.

According to some commentators, this premium is given by God on charity in the present world while, in the Hereafter, it will be much greater.

Reward on Feeding and Clothing The Needy

(٨٦٧/٤٤) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَيُّمَا
مُسْلِمٍ كَسَا مُسْلِمًا ثَوْبًا عَلَى غُرَى كَسَاهُ اللَّهُ مِنْ خِصْرِ الْجَنَّةِ وَأَيُّمَا مُسْلِمٍ
أَطْعَمَ مُسْلِمًا عَلَى جَوْعٍ أَطْعَمَهُ اللَّهُ مِنْ ثَمَارِ الْجَنَّةِ وَأَيُّمَا مُسْلِمٍ سَقَى مُسْلِمًا
عَلَى ظَمَأٍ سَقَاهُ اللَّهُ مِنَ الرَّحِيقِ الْمَخْتُومِ
(رواه ابوداؤد والترمذی)

(867/44) It is related by Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "the Muslim who gave clothes to a Muslim brother who had nothing to wear, Allah will provide him with the green apparel of Paradise, and the Muslim who gave food to a Muslim brother who was hungry, Allah will feed him with the fruits of Paradise, and the Muslim who gave water to a Muslim brother who was thirsty, Allah will give him the sealed purifying wine of Heaven to drink."

(Abu Dawood and Tirmizi)

(٨٦٨/٤٥) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ مَا مِنْ مُسْلِمٍ كَسَا مُسْلِمًا ثَوْبًا إِلَّا كَانَ فِي حِفْظِ اللَّهِ مَا دَامَ عَلَيْهِ مِنْهُ خَرْقَةٌ.....
(رواه احمد والترمذی)

(868/45) It is related by Sayyidina Ibn Abbas رضي الله عنه that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, "Any Muslim who gives a Muslim a garment to wear will be in the safe keeping of Allah as long as a shred of it remains on him." (Ahmad and Tirmizi)

(٨٦٩/٤٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ سَلَامٍ قَالَ لَمَّا قَدِمَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْمَدِينَةَ جِئْتُ فَلَمَّا تَبَيَّنْتُ وَجْهَهُ عَرَفْتُ أَنَّ وَجْهَهُ لَيْسَ بِوَجْهِ كَذَّابٍ فَكَانَ أَوَّلُ مَا قَالَ يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ أَفْشُوا السَّلَامَ وَأَطْعِمُوا الطَّعَامَ وَصَلُّوا الْأَرْحَامَ وَصَلُّوا بِاللَّيْلِ وَالنَّاسُ نِيَامٌ تَدْخُلُوا الْجَنَّةَ بِسَلَامٍ.....
(رواه الترمذی وابن ماجه)

(869/46) It is related by Abdullah bin Salaam رضي الله عنه, "When the Prophet ﷺ came to live in Madinah, I sent to (see and form an opinion about) him. As I looked carefully at his radiant face, I recognised (i.e., realised for certain) that it could not be the face of a liar. The first thing he said was: "People! Spread Salaam (Salutation) widely in your midst (i.e., wish each other frequently for it unties the knots of the heart and promotes mutual affection), and feed the bondsmen of Allah (specially those that are hungry), and be kind to kinsmen, and offer salah at night when people are asleep. If you will do so, you will go safely to Heaven." (Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Even Giving Food and Drink to Animals That are Hungry or Thirsty is Charity

(٨٧٠/٤٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

غَفِرَ لِمَرْأَةٍ مُؤْمِسَةٍ مَرَّتْ بِكَلْبٍ عَلَى رَأْسِ رَكِيٍّ يَلْهَثُ كَادَ يَقْتُلُهُ الْعَطَشُ
فَنَزَعَتْ خُفَّيْهَا فَأَوْتَقَتْهُ بِخِمَارِهَا فَنَزَعَتْ لَهُ مِنَ الْمَاءِ فَعَفَّرَ لَهَا بِذَلِكَ قَبِيلٌ إِنَّ
لَنَا فِي الْبَهَائِمِ أَجْرًا؟ قَالَ فِي كُلِّ ذَاتِ كَبِدٍ رَطْبَةٍ أَجْرٌ (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(870/47) It is related on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that a corrupt woman was forgiven (her sins) on the act that she passed by a well and saw that a dog was licking the earth (and it appeared that) it would die of thirst. (The woman took pity on it but there was no rope or vessel to draw the water). So, she took off her leather stock and tied to her covering sheet (worn by women over the head and the upper part of the body), and (some how) drew the water from the well by means of it, and gave it to the dog to drink. She was forgiven for this act of hers. Someone asked: "Is there Divine recompense even on giving food and drink to the animals?" "There is Divine recompense on giving food and drink to every living creature that can feel (the pangs of hunger and thirst)," replied the Prophet ﷺ. "Bukhari and Muslim

(٨٧١/٤٨) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ مُسْلِمٍ
يَغْرِسُ غَرْسًا أَوْ يَزْرَعُ زَرْعًا فَيَأْكُلُ مِنْهُ إِنْسَانٌ أَوْ طَيْرٌ أَوْ بَهِيمَةٌ إِلَّا كَانَ لَهُ
صَدَقَةٌ (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(871/48) It is reported by Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "If any Muslim plants something or sows seed from which man, bird or beast eats, it counts as a Sadaqah for him." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Saving Fellowmen from Annoyance or Inconvenience Gets one to Paradise

(٨٧٢/٤٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَرَّ رَجُلٌ
بِغُصْنِ شَجَرَةٍ عَلَى ظَهْرِ طَرِيقٍ فَقَالَ لَأَنْحِينْ هَذَا عَنْ طَرِيقِ الْمُسْلِمِينَ لَا
يُؤْذِيهِمْ فَأَدْخَلَ الْجَنَّةَ (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(872/49) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A bondsman of Allah was going on a path on which there was the branch of a tree (which caused inconvenience to passer-by). The bondsman said to himself: "I shall cut off the branch and make the path clear so that the servants of Allah had no difficulty.' (He, then, went ahead and cut off the branch), and for this act of his he was sent to Heaven."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Some acts appear very ordinary but at certain times, they are performed with a feeling of sincerity and godliness that is most pleasing to Allah. There Compassionate One, then, forgives the sins of the bondsmen who perform them and the decision is taken of their entry into Heaven. The incidents related in the two foregoing narratives belong to the same class of deeds.

When Does Charity Fetch Greater Reward?

(٨٧٣/٥٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ أَيُّ الصَّدَقَةِ أَكْثَمُ أَجْرًا قَالَ أَنْ تَصَدَّقَ وَأَنْتَ صَحِيحٌ تَخْشَى الْفَقْرَ وَتَأْمَلُ الْغِنَى وَلَا تُمِهِلَ حَتَّى إِذَا بَلَغَتِ الْحُلُقُومَ قُلْتَ لِفُلَانٍ كَذَا وَلِفُلَانٍ كَذَا وَقَدْ كَانَ لِفُلَانٍ

(رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(873/50) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه narrates that a person asked "Messenger of Allah ﷺ! What charity brings in greater reward?" The Prophet ﷺ replied: "The position of greater reward is that you practise charity when you are in good health and the love for wealth and eagerness to store it up is powerful within you, and in the circumstances that (by spending in the way of God) there is the fear of poverty for you and the desire to be rich is strong in your heart. (To spend one's wealth, in these conditions, for the propitiation of Allah is a proof of true devotion). And let it not be that you keep on procrastinating till the hour of death arrives and life gets drawn to the throat, and, then, you begin to give instructions about your wealth that so much of it should be given to so-and-so and so much to so-and-so when, now, in any case, it will pass from your hands to the hands of so-and-so (i.e., the , descendants)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: A common weakness with the people is that they are stingy in spending for the sake of Allah as long as they are strong and healthy and death is not staring them in the face. The Devil sows the fear in their hearts that if they gave away in the path of Allah their wealth would decrease and they would become poor.

Hence, they prefer to remain tight-fisted. But when death begins to knock at the door, they think of charity. The Prophet ﷺ in the above saying, has disapproved of this attitude. In the sight of Allah that charity is commendable and worthy of acceptance which is practised when a person is young and in good health and his own future lies ahead of him. He has problems to tackle and responsibilities to shoulder and yet spends freely in the path of Allah, believing whole-heartedly in His Word.

To Spend On One's Dependents Too, is Charity

Everyone spends, according to his means, on the needs of his family but he does not derive the spiritual pleasure from it which is experienced by the devout bodnsmen of Allah on showing generosity to the poor and the destitute for people, generally, do not regard the spending on their dependents an act of virtue but a liability or a matter of natural impulsion. The sacred Prophet ﷺ has, however, taught that one should spend on one's own wife and children and other kinsmen, too, with the intention of seeking the countenance of Allah and earning the reward of the Hereafter. In that case, the money spent on the one's dependents will, also, get deposited, like charity, in the Bank of Hereafter, and, there will be a greater premium on it than on spending on others. This precept of the Prophet ﷺ opens a great avenue of viture and good-doing to us. Whatever we spend now, within proper limits of course, on the needs and welfare of our family will be a kind of charity and deed of moral goodness provided that it is done with the right intnention.

(٨٧٤/٥١) عَنْ أَبِي مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا
انْفَقَ الْمُسْلِمُ نَفَقَةً عَلَى أَهْلِهِ وَهُوَ يَحْتَسِبُهَا كَانَتْ لَهُ صَدَقَةً

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(874/51) It is related by Abu Mas'ud Ansari ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When a believing bondsman spends on his dependents with the object of earning Divine reward, it will be charity on his part (and deserving of recompense in the judgement of Allah)." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٨٧٥/٥٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ يَارَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَيُّ الصَّدَقَةِ أَفْضَلُ؟ قَالَ جَهْدُ

الْمَقْلِّ وَأَبْدًا بِمَنْ تَعُولُ (رواه ابو داود)

(875/52) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that he asked Messenger of Allah ﷺ "What is the best (form of) Charity?" "Charity of the highest quality," the Prophet ﷺ explained, "Is what a poor man gives away, for the sake of Allah, out of his hard-earned money; and, first of all, spends on those for whom you are responsible (i.e., wife and children)." (Abu Dawood)

(٨٧٦/٥٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ

وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ عِنْدِي دِينَارٌ قَالَ أَنْفَقْهُ عَلَى نَفْسِكَ قَالَ عِنْدِي آخَرُ قَالَ أَنْفَقْهُ

عَلَى وَلَدِكَ قَالَ عِنْدِي آخَرُ قَالَ أَنْفَقْهُ عَلَى أَهْلِكَ قَالَ عِنْدِي آخَرُ قَالَ أَنْفَقْهُ

عَلَى خَادِمِكَ قَالَ عِنْدِي آخَرُ قَالَ أَنْتَ أَغْلَمُ..... (رواه ابو داود والنسائي)

(876/53) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه narrated that a person came to Messenger of Allah ﷺ and said: "I have one dinar. (Tell me where and how should I spend it)." The Prophet ﷺ replied: (The best thing is that) you spend it on your own needs." "I have more for that," said the man. "Then spend it," said the Prophet ﷺ, on the needs of your children." "I have more for that," the man replied. "Then spend it on the needs of your wife," advised the Prophet ﷺ. "I have more for that," was the reply. "then spend it on your slave and attendant," said the Prophet ﷺ. "I have more for that" he replied. The Prophet ﷺ, remarked: "You know better who among your kinsmen is more in want."

(Abu Dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: Perhaps the Prophet ﷺ had judged from the appearance of the enquirer that he, himself, was poor yet wanted to spend the one dinar he had in the path of Allah. He, in the Prophet's view, was not aware that what a truthful Believer spent on his own needs or on the needs of his wife, children and slaves (for whose maintenance he was responsible), also, was charity and a means of propitiating the Allah. The Prophet ﷺ, hence, gave him the advice in that order. The general commandment, too, is that a man should, first fulfil the obligations for which he is personally accountable and, then, go forward.

For the chosen bondsmen of Allah, however, who have attained the station of complete trust in Allah and whose dependents, also, have received an ample share of this supernal wealth it is fitting that they starved themselves and gave away whatever food there was in the house of the needy. This, indeed, was the practice of the Holy Prophet ﷺ and his celebrated Companions رضي الله عنهم.

Superiority of Spending on Kinsmen

(٨٧٧/٥٤) عَنْ سُلَيْمَانَ بْنِ عَامِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ
الْصَّدَقَةُ عَلَى الْمِسْكِينِ صَدَقَةٌ وَهِيَ عَلَى ذِي الرَّحْمِ ثِنْتَانِ صَدَقَةٌ وَصِلَةٌ

(رواه احمد والترمذى والنسائى وابن ماجه والدارمى)

(877/54) It is related by Sulayman bin 'Aamir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "To spend on an unknown needy person, for the sake of God, is simple charity while to spend, for the sake of Allah, on a (needy) near kinsman has two aspects and there are two kinds of reward on it. It is charity as well as showing kindness to relatives (which, in itself, is a virtue of great value)." (Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi, Nasai Ibn Majah and Daarami)

(٨٧٨/٥٥) عَنْ زَيْنَبِ امْرَأَةِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَصَدَّقْنَ يَامَعْشَرَ النِّسَاءِ وَلَوْ مِنْ حُلِيكُنَّ قَالَتْ فَرَجَعْتُ إِلَى عَبْدِ اللَّهِ فَقُلْتُ إِنَّكَ رَجُلٌ خَفِيفُ ذَاتِ الْيَدِ وَإِنْ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَدْ أَمَرَنَا بِالصَّدَقَةِ فَأَتَيْتُهُ فَاَسْتَلْتُهُ فَإِنْ كَانَ ذَلِكَ يُجْزِي عَنِّي وَالْأَصْرَفُهَا إِلَى غَيْرِكُمْ قَالَتْ فَقَالَ لِي عَبْدُ اللَّهِ بَلْ إِنِّيهِ أَنْتِ قَالَتْ فَأَنْطَلَقْتُ فَإِذَا امْرَأَةٌ مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ بَابِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَاجَتْنِي حَاجَتُهَا قَالَتْ وَكَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَدْ أُلْقِيَتْ عَلَيْهِ الْمَهَابَةُ فَقَالَتْ فَخَرَجَ عَلَيْنَا بِلَالٌ فَقُلْنَا لَهُ إِنَّتِ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَأَخْبَرَهُ أَنَّ امْرَأَتَيْنِ بِالْبَابِ تَسْأَلَانِكَ الصَّدَقَةَ عَنْهُمَا عَلَى أَرْوَاحِهِمَا وَعَلَى أَيْتَامٍ فِي حُجُورِهِمَا وَلَا تُخْبِرُهُ مَنْ نَحْنُ قَالَتْ فَدَخَلَ بِلَالٌ عَلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَسَأَلَهُ فَقَالَ لَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ هُمَا قَالَ امْرَأَةٌ مِنَ الْأَنْصَارِ وَزَيْنَبُ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَيُّ الزَّيَابِ

أَجْرُ الْقَرَاةِ وَأَجْرُ الصَّدَقَةِ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(877/55) It is related by Zaynab رضى الله عنها, wife of Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ, that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ (in a sermon meant, particularly, for women) said: "O woman! Send in the way of God even if you have to give out of your ornaments." (Zaynab goes on to relate) "when I heard it from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ, I came to my husband Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ, and said to him: "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ has exhorted us specially to observe charity, (and I am desirous of attaining the good fortune of spending for the sake of Allah from what I have), and, you, also, are poor. Now go and enquire from the Prophet ﷺ (whether I will be absolved of the duty of observing charity if I gave it to you). In case it is correct, I will give (of my wealth) to you or else I will spend it on other needy and indigent people." She relates "Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ asked me enquire from the Prophet ﷺ myself. So, I, went to him, and, on reaching there, saw that an Ansar woman was standing at his door and her need, too, was the same as mine (i.e., she too, had come to make a similar enquiry). Meanwhile, (the Prophet's ﷺ special attendant and Muazzin) Bilal ؓ came out and we (both) said to him, 'Please inform the Prophet ﷺ that two women are waiting at his door and they want to know from him will the duty of charity be fulfilled if they spent (their wealth) on their needy husbands and the orphans that were being brought up in their arms. But do not tell the Prophet ﷺ who we are.' Bilal ؓ, then, went to the Prophet ﷺ and enquired from him on their behalf. 'Who the two women are?' Asked the Prophet ﷺ. Bilal replied, 'One of them is an Ansar woman and the other is Zaynab.' 'Which Zaynab?' the Prophet ﷺ enquired. 'The wife of Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ, said Bilal ؓ. 'Yes (the obligation of charity will be fulfilled, the Prophet ﷺ observed. "What is more, they will get a double reward: one on charity and the other on showing kindness to kinsmen." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٨٧٩/٥٦) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ كَانَ أَبُو طَلْحَةَ أَكْثَرَ الْأَنْصَارِ بِالْمَدِينَةِ مَا لَا مِنْ نَحْلٍ
وَكَانَ أَحَبَّ أَمْوَالِهِ إِلَيْهِ بَيْرُ حَاءٍ وَكَانَتْ مُسْتَقْبَلَةَ الْمَسْجِدِ وَكَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(879/56) Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه related to us "as far as orchards of dates were concerned, Abu Talha رضي الله عنه was the wealthiest among the Ansars of Madina, and out of all his orchards and (other property), the most beloved was *Bairuha'a*¹ which was situated in front of the Prophet's ﷺ Mosque and the Prophet ﷺ often used to go to it and drink its pleasant water." Anas رضي الله عنه added that "when the verse of the Qur'an was revealed:

لَنْ تَنَالُوا الْبِرَّ حَتَّى تُنْفِقُوا مِمَّا تُحِبُّونَ (آل عمران ٩٢:٣)

You will not attain unto piety until you spend of that which you love. (Aal-e-Imran 3:92)

Abu Talha رضي الله عنه went to the Prophet ﷺ and said that 'Allah's command is that you will not attain unto piety until you spend of that which you love and Bairuha'a is the most dearly loved of all my property, so I will receive its reward in the Hereafter and it will be a provision for me. So, decide about it as Allah may put in your mind (i.e., spend it where it seems most appropriate to you)." The Prophet ﷺ observed, 'Well done! It is a most useful property. I have heard what you said (and understood your intention). I think it will be proper for you to distribute it to your needy near kinsmen.' Abu Talha رضي الله عنه replied, 'O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! I shall do so.' He, then shared out the grove among his near relatives and first cousins."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In some other versions of the same Tradition it is stated in detail that Abu Talha رضي الله عنه had distributed the orchard,

①. It was the name of Abu Talha's رضي الله عنه most valuable orchard.

according to the Prophet's ﷺ directive, among the following of his close relatives: Ubayy bin Ka'ab, Hassan bin Thabit, Shaddad bin Aus and Nabeet bin Jabir ؓ. How valuable the orchard was can be imagined from the fact that, later on, Sayyidina Mu'awiya ؓ purchased only Hassan bin Thabit's share for one lakh dirhams.

Note: Since a man mostly lives in close association with his relatives and has to deal with them often and in various ways, misunderstandings and quarrels, too, generally, arise among people belonging to the same family which not only make life a curse but also spoils the future existence. If the Prophet's ﷺ advice given above is acted upon and people come to regard the spending of wealth of kinsmen, an act of moral goodness and means to seeking the good pleasure of Allah, they can save themselves from much anxiety and distress in this world as well as the next.

Charity on Behalf of Deceased

Charity means to do good to the bondsmen of the Lord with the intention of propitiating Him and in the hope that, in return, one will attain His favour. It, undoubtedly, is a most effective way of earning the mercy and benevolence of Allah. The Prophet ﷺ has, further, taught, that just as a man can expect Divine reward and recompense by giving alms, on behalf of himself, so, also, will Allah reward and recompense a dead person if alms are given on his behalf by anyone. Thus, apart from supplication for forgiveness, another way to serve those who are dead and to do a favour to them is to cause the Divine reward to be carried or conveyed to them by giving alms and performing other virtuous deeds in their name.

(٨٨٠/٥٧) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ إِنَّ رَجُلًا قَالَ لِلنَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِنَّ أُمِّي أُفْتِتِلَتْ نَفْسُهَا وَأَظْنُهَا لَوْ تَكَلَّمَتْ تَصَدَّقَتْ فَهَلْ لَهَا أَجْرٌ إِنْ تَصَدَّقْتُ عَنْهَا؟ قَالَ نَعَمْ.....
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(880/57) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that a person came to the Prophet ﷺ and said, 'My mother passed away suddenly and I have a feeling that had she been able to speak at the time of her death, she would, certainly, have given away something in charity. So, if I give alms now on her behalf, will the reward on it reach her?" "Yes," replied the Prophet ﷺ. It will reach her." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٨٨١/٥٨) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ سَعْدَ بْنَ عُبَادَةَ تُوَفِّيَتْ أُمُّهُ وَهُوَ غَائِبٌ عَنْهَا فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِنَّ أُمِّي تُوَفِّيَتْ وَأَنَا غَائِبٌ عَنْهَا أَيَنْفَعُهَا شَيْءٌ إِنْ تَصَدَّقْتُ بِهَا عَنْهَا قَالَ نَعَمْ قَالَ فَإِنِّي أَشْهَدُكَ أَنَّ حَائِطِي الْمَخْرَافَ صَدَقَةٌ عَلَيْهَا

(رواه البخارى)

(881/58) Abudllah bin Abbas ؓ narrated that the mother of Sa'd bin Ubadah ؓ died at a time when he was not present. (He had gone on a military expedition with the Prophet ﷺ). On his return, he said to the Prophet ﷺ that "my mother died during my absence. If I, now, give alms on her behalf, will it be beneficial to her (i.e., will the Divine recompense on it reach her)." The Prophet ﷺ replied, "Yes, it will reach her." "Then I make you a witness," said Sa'd bin Ubadah ؓ, "that I give away my orchard called Mekhraf as charity in the name of my deceased mother."

(Bukhari)

(٨٨٢/٥٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ إِنَّ أَبِي مَاتَ وَتَرَكَ مَالًا وَلَمْ يُوصِ فَهَلْ يُكَفِّرُ عَنْهُ إِنْ تَصَدَّقْتُ عَنْهُ؟ قَالَ نَعَمْ.....

(رواه ابن جرير فى تهذيب الآثار)

(882/59) It is related on the authority of Abu Hurayrah ؓ that a person came to the Prophet ﷺ and said: "My father has died and he had left behind some property and made no will (regarding charity etc). So, if I give (something) in charity on his behalf, will it be an atonement for him and a source of forgiveness and deliverance?" "Yes", replied the Prophet ﷺ. "(Such is the confident expectation from the Lord)." (Ibn Jareer) (٨٨٣/٦٠) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو بْنِ الْعَاصِ أَنَّ الْعَاصَ بْنَ وَائِلٍ نَذَرَ فِي الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ أَنْ يُنَحْرِمَانَةَ بُدْنَةً وَأَنَّ هِشَامَ بْنَ الْعَاصِ نَحَرَ حِصَّتَهُ خَمْسِينَ وَأَنَّ عَمْرًا وَسَأَلَ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ ذَلِكَ فَقَالَ أَمَا أَبُوكَ لَوْ أَقَرَّ بِالْتَّوْحِيدِ فَصُغْتُ وَتَصَدَّقْتُ عَنْهُ نَفَعَهُ ذَلِكَ.....

(رواه احمد)

(883/60) It is related by Abdullah bin 'Amr bin al-'Aas ؓ that his grand father, al-Aas bin Waail, had vowed to offer a sacrifice of one hundred camels, during the days of Ignorance, (which he could not fulfil). So, one of his sons, Hisham bin al-Aas, sacrificed 50 camels in fulfilment of his father's vow while the other son, 'Amr bin al-Aas, (who, fortunately, had embraced Islam), sought the Prophet's advice. The Prophet ﷺ said that "had your father accepted the Faith and, then, you had observed fasting and charity on his behalf, it would have been beneficial to him (and the reward on it would have reached him. But since he died in the state of apostacy and Polytheism, none of your deeds can do any good to him now)." (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: It is distinctly stated in these and many other Traditions that if a virtuous deed like charity and almsgiving is performed on behalf of a deceased person and the reward on it is gifted to him, it will do good to him and he will receive the Divine recompense. In other words, as one can, in this world, be of help to a person by spending his money on him and he can profit from it, in the same way if a believingman wants to do a favour and be of service to his deceased father or any other Muslim by giving alms in his name, he is free to do so. The door for it is open from the side of Allah.

We can, thus, serve our parents and other relatives and friends and benefactors even after their death and send presents to them.

Some people of our time who do not believe in Hadith as part of Shari'ah do not agree with this view.

قال الله تعالى

يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا كُتِبَ عَلَيْكُمُ الصِّيَامُ كَمَا
كُتِبَ عَلَى الَّذِينَ مِنْ قَبْلِكُمْ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَتَّقُونَ O
(البقره ٢: ١٨٣)

SIGNIFICANCE OF FASTING

Allah has made man a combination of body and soul, of animality and spirituality. In his nature are present all the physical and carnal propensities that are peculiar to animals yet there, also, dwells within him the luminous element of spirituality which is the characteristic quality of the supernal beings of Celestial World, the angels. The success and salvation of man depends upon the subordination of the animal part of his nature to the heavenly part and the keeping of his sensual instincts and desires within proper limits. Such a thing can be possible only when the corporeal aspect of the human personality renders habitual obedience to the celestial aspect instead of pulling against it. The main aim of Fasting is to make the carnal urges and inclinations subservient to the Divine commandments and spiritual ideals, and since it, is also, the chief end and object of Messengership and the Shari'ah Fasting was prescribed in all the earlier Canonic Laws as well. While giving the command of Fasting to the Muslims the Qur'an declares:

O ye who believe! Fasting is prescribed for you, even as it was prescribed for those before you, that ye may ward off (evil).

(al-Baqarah 2:183)

يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا كُتِبَ عَلَيْكُمُ
الصِّيَامُ كَمَا كُتِبَ عَلَى الَّذِينَ مِن
قَبْلِكُمْ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَتَّقُونَ.

(البقره. ٢: ١٨٣)

Be that as it may, as Fasting is most efficacious for the disciplining of the self and a special means to the promotion of strength and ability to subordinate the carnal appetites to the Divine injunctions and spiritual values, it had, also been enjoined upon all the former religious communities though there was some difference in the duration etc., of the fasts in view of their individual needs and circumstances. For the last Ummah, i.e., the Muslims, Fasting for a month in the year and from dawn to sunset has been prescribed which, definitely, is the most appropriate, moderate and reasonable arrangement with reference to the aforementioned objects in the Current Age. The aim of moral and spiritual disciplining and inculcation of the virtue of self-restraint could not be realised had it been less than that. If, on the other hand, the time and duration of Fasting were longer, as for example food and drink were permitted only at the break of day or fasting was ordered for two or three months in succession in a year, it would have been unendurable for most of the people, and, also, injurious to health.

Again, Allah has prescribed Fasting in the month in which the Qur'an was revealed and in which there, also, has been concealed Lailatul Qadr (Night of Power) which is better than a thousand months in spiritual worth and blessedness. No other month could, obviously, be more suited for it. In this month, apart from Fasting during the day, an extraordinary institution of worship has, also, been established which is functioning in the Ummah in the form of *Taraweeh*¹ the joining together of the fasts of the day and Taraweeh in the night has resulted in an increase in the effulgence of the month of Ramadan which is felt by everyone in proportion to his inner awareness and perception.

Virtues of Ramadan

(٨٨٤/١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا دَخَلَ

رَمَضَانَ فَتُحْتُ أَبْوَابُ الْجَنَّةِ وَغُلِقَتْ أَبْوَابُ جَهَنَّمَ وَسُلْسِلَتِ الشَّيَاطِينُ وَفِي

رَوَايَةٍ أَبْوَابُ الرَّحْمَةِ:

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(884/1) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When the month of Ramadan² comes, the Gates of Heaven are thrown open, and the Gates of Hell are shut, and the devils are put behind the bars." (In another report, the "Gates of Mercy" are mentioned in place of the "Gates of Heaven."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Commenting on this Tradition, Shah Waliullah رحمة الله عليه remarks that as the devout bondsmen apply themselves

①. Denoting extra prayers offered by Muslims in Ramadan in the night.

②. The name of the ninth Islamic month during which the Muslims are required to observe fasting from the morning dawn till the setting of the sun.

to worship and good-doing during the month of Ramadan and spend their days in God-remembrance and recitation of the Qur'an while Fasting, and a major part of their nights in Taraweeh and Tahajjud, supplication and repentance, under the influence of their high spiritually and devotional exertions the hearts of the common Muslims, too, become more inclined towards prayer and piety and they, on the whole, succeed in abstaining from good many sins. Owing to the generations of the atmosphere worship and virtue in the Islamic circles, people who are not wholly disregarding of transcendental truths develop a fondness for things that are pleasing to Allah and an aversion for acts that are repugnant to Him. Moreover, in this blessed month the recompense on even smaller acts of moral goodness is made much greater by God than on other days. In consequence of all this, the gates of Paradise are opened and of Hell are closed for such people and the devils are not left free to tempt and mislead them.

It would be clear that all the three things the throwing open of the gates of Heaven, the shutting up of the gates of Hell and binding of the devils in chains are in respect only of the bondsmen who feel disposed towards good-doing in the month of Ramadan, and out of the keenness to partake of its blessings engage themselves enthusiastically in worship and other religious duties. As for the apostates, the negligent and the heedless who care little for Divine injunctions and produce no change in their daily lives at the advent of Ramadan, these tidings do not apply to them. When they have opted out, of their own accord, for the path of error and omission willingly to following Satan and doing his bidding there is nothing for them except disappointment with God as well.

(٨٨٥/٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا كَانَ
أَوَّلُ لَيْلَةٍ مِنْ شَهْرِ رَمَضَانَ صُفِّدَتِ الشَّيَاطِينُ وَمَرَدَةُ الْجِنِّ وَغُلِقَتِ أَبْوَابُ
النَّارِ فَلَمْ يُفْتَحْ مِنْهَا بَابٌ وَفُتِحَتْ أَبْوَابُ الْجَنَّةِ فَلَمْ يُغْلَقْ مِنْهَا بَابٌ وَيُنَادَى
مُنَادٍ يَا بَاغِيَ الْخَيْرِ أَقْبِلْ وَيَا بَاغِيَ الشَّرِّ أَقْصِرْ وَلِلَّهِ عُتَقَاءُ مِنَ النَّارِ وَذَٰلِكَ
كُلُّ لَيْلَةٍ
(رواه الترمذی وابن ماجه)

(885/2) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷻ said: "When the first night of the month of Ramadan (comes), the devils and the defiant jinn are bound in chains, and all the Gates of Hell are closed and none of them remains open, and all the Gates of Heaven are thrown open and none of them remains closed, and the heavenly herald announces, 'O seeker of goodness and virtue! Halt, and do not come forward, ' and a large number of (sinning) bondsmen are released from Hell at the Command of Allah (i.e., decision of forgiveness and deliverance is taken for them), and all this takes place on every night of Ramadan."

(Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: the subject-matter of the first part of the above Tradition is the same as that of the preceding one. As for the announcement by the herald of the unseen world which is mentioned at the end of it, though we do not and cannot hear it, we see the effect and manifestation of it with our own eyes in the present world. In Ramadan, the inclination among the Believers towards good and virtuous deeds, generally, grows stronger to the extent that many heedless and non-conforming Muslims, also, somewhat change their way. This, we believe, is result and outcome of the Divine herald's proclamation.

(٨٨٦/٣) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَجْوَدَ النَّاسِ بِالْخَيْرِ وَكَانَ أَجْوَدَ مَا يَكُونُ فِي رَمَضَانَ كَانَ جِبْرِيلُ يُلْقَاهُ كُلَّ لَيْلَةٍ فِي رَمَضَانَ يَعْرِضُ عَلَيْهِ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْقُرْآنَ فَإِذَا لَقِيَهُ جِبْرِيلُ كَانَ أَجْوَدَ بِالْخَيْرِ مِنَ الرِّيحِ الْمُرْسَلَةِ.....
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(886/3) Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ narrates that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ was superior to all the men in generosity and the doing of good to the people in general, but in the month of Ramadan his benevolence knew no bounds. In Ramadan, Jibril ؑ came to him every night and the Prophet ﷺ recited the Qur'an to him. During those days the Prophet ﷺ appeared to be faster than the wind in generosity and benevolence."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that Ramadan was the spring season of the year for the Prophet ﷺ and a special period of joy and of growth in the attributes of compassion and love for mankind.

A Sermon of the Prophet ﷺ At The Arrival of Ramadan

(٨٨٧/٤) عَنْ سَلْمَانَ الْفَارِسِيِّ قَالَ خَطَبَنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(887/4) Salman Farsi رضي الله عنه related to us "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ delivered a sermon on the last day of the month of *Sha'ban*¹. He said: "O people! A blessed month is casting its shadow on you: a night of this blessed month (the Night of Power) is better than a thousand months; God has prescribed the fasts of this month and ordered as supererogatory worship the standing up in His presence (i.e., the offering up of Taraweeh Salah) during its nights (on which there is a great reward). Whoever will offer, in it, a non-obligatory (i.e., Sunnah or Nafil) prayer with the object of seeking the countenance of Allah, will get a reward identical in value of the reward of a Fard (i.e., obligatory) prayer on the other days of the year, and the reward on the observance of an obligatory duty, in it, is equal in value to the fulfilment of seventy obligatory duties in the other days of the year. It is the month of patient perseverance and the reward on patient perseverance is Paradise, and it is the month of kindness and

① The eighth month of the Islamic year, just preceding Ramadan which is the ninth compassion. It is the month in which the sustenance of the faithful bondsman is increased. Whoever will get invite a person who is fasting to break the fast with him will the same reward as the one who was fasting and there will be no reduction in his reward either." It was enquired from the Prophet ﷺ 'Everyone of us does not have the means to ask (people) to break the fast with him. (So, will he remain deprived of the great reward?)" The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'God will give the reward to him (also) who will have a person who is fasting break the fast with a little milk or even a draught of water.' (Continuing the Prophet observed): 'And whoever will feed a fasting person with a full meal (at the time of breaking the fast, God will satiate him in such a manner from my Pond (i.e., Kausar) that, after it, he will not feel thirsty until he has reached Heaven. (After it, the Prophet ﷺ said) : The first part of this blessed month is Mercy, the second part is Forgiveness, and the last part is Freedom from the Fire of Hell.' (After it, the Prophet ﷺ said) : 'Whoever will make a reduction in the work of his slave or servant, Allah will forgive him and grant him freedom from Hell.' (Baihaqi)

Commentary: The purport of the above Tradition is clear. Yet we will offer a few comments on some of the points here.

(i) The first and the greatest virtue of the month of Ramadan is that there occurs during it a night which is better than not a thousand nights but thousand months. It has, also, been mentioned in surah Al-Qadr of the Qur'an. In fact, the whole of the surah deals with the auspiciousness of splendour of this night which should be enough to appreciate its worth and importance.

Approximately, one thousand months contain thirty thousand nights. The superiority of the Night of Power to a thousand months should, therefore, be taken to mean that the devotees who are keenly desirous to earn the good Graces of the Lord and His propinquity can make as much progress in one night as is thousand of the nights.

Just as in the material world we see that by a jet-propelled aeroplane one can, now-a-days, cover as much distance in a day, or even an hour, as was done in a hundred years in the past, the rate of advance of the earnest seekers of the countenance of the Lord, too, is increased so greatly in the Night of Power that they can attain in it what is normally possible in hundred of months.

The Prophet's ﷺ remark that if a person will seek the propitiation of God, in the month of Ramadan, by performing a supererogatory act, it will be treated as equal in recompense to the fulfilment of an obligatory duty in the other days of the year and if he will fulfil an obligatory duty during it, it will be treated as equal in recompense to the fulfilment of seventy obligatory duties during the rest of the year should be seen in the same light. Thus, while the superiority of the Night of Power is peculiar to a particular night of Ramadan, the fetching of seventy times of reward by a virtuous act is the characteristic attribute of every day and night of the blessed month.

(ii) Ramadan has been described in the sermon quoted above as the month of fortitude and compassion. In the Islamic usage 'fortitude' signifies the suppression of sensual desires and urges and endurance of painful and unpleasant things for the sake of earning the good pleasure of God. This is what Fasting stands for, from the beginning to the end. In the same way, while fasting the bondsman has an experience of the rigours of starvation, and from it, he can learn to feel for and sympathise with those who are forced by their circumstances to go hungry.

(iii) It also tells that, in this month, the provision of the truthful bondsmen is augmented. the experience of every fasting Believer is that he gets more and better to eat and drink during Ramadan than in the other eleven months of the year. In whatever way or through whatever course this increase may take place in this world of cause and effect, its by the Command of Allah in any case.

(iv) At the end of the sermon it is said that the first part of the month of Ramadan is Mercy, the second is Forgiveness and the third is the period of Freedom from the Fire of Hell.

The most satisfactory explanation of it, in our view, is that there can be three kinds of bondsmen who avail themselves of the boon and blessings of Ramadan. Firstly, the pious souls who habitually take care to commit a sin, and if they ever fall into error, they immediately make amends for it through sincere repentance. On these bondsmen the Mercy of the Lord begins to descend from the very first night of Ramadan. Secondly, those who are not so pure in heart but are not altogether bereft of the fear of God as well. When such bondsmen improve their state and make themselves deserving of Mercy and Forgiveness through fasting, repentance and other virtuous acts during the first part of Ramadan, the decision for their forgiveness is taken in the second part of the month. Thirdly those who have been unjust and made themselves wholly worthy of Hell through their transgression and misconduct. When even they atone somewhat for their sinfulness through fasting and repentance long with the common Muslims during the first and second parts of Ramadan, God decides upon their freedom from Hell during the last one-third of the month when the Divine benevolence is at its peak.

Worth and Recompense

(٨٨٨/٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كُلُّ عَمَلٍ ابْنِ آدَمَ يُضَاعَفُ الْحَسَنَةُ بِعَشْرِ أَمْثَالِهَا إِلَى سَبْعِمِائَةٍ ضِعْفٍ قَالَ اللَّهُ تَعَالَى إِلَّا الصَّوْمَ فَإِنَّهُ لِي وَأَنَا أَجْزِي بِهِ يَدْعُ شَهْوَتَهُ وَطَعَامَهُ مِنْ أَجْلِ الصَّائِمِ فَرَحْتَانِ فَرَحَةً عِنْدَ فِطْرِهِ وَفَرَحَةً عِنْدَ لِقَاءِ رَبِّهِ وَلَخُلُوفٌ فِيهِ الصَّائِمِ أَطْيَبُ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ مِنْ رِيحِ الْمِسْكِ وَالصَّيَّامُ جَنَّةٌ وَإِذَا كَانَ يَوْمُ صَوْمِ أَحَدِكُمْ فَلَا يَرَفْتُ وَلَا يَضْحَكُ فَإِنْ سَاءَ أَحَدٌ أَوْ قَاتَلَهُ فَلْيَقُلْ إِنِّي أَمْرَاءُ صَائِمٌ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(888/5) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "The reward on every virtuous deed is increased from ten to seven hundred times (i.e., the general principle of Divine recompense on all the good deeds of the Muslims is that on every good deed of theirs the reward will, at least, be ten times as compared to the earlier communities, and, sometimes, even more, so much so that some chosen bondsmen will receive seven hundred times of reward of their virtuous acts), but the standing Command of Allah (about Fasting) is that the fast is an exception. It is a special gift of the bondsman for Me and I shall reward him directly for it (as I please). The bondsman forgoes food and drink solely for My sake. (I shall, therefore, recompense him for the sacrifice according to My pleasure).

"There are two moments of special joy for the man who fasts. One is when he breaks the fast, and this he experiences in his earthly existence, and the other will be in the Hereafter when he will be presented before the Lord; and I swear that the bad odour emanating from the mouth of a person who is fasting (which is, generally, due to an empty stomach) is more pleasant in the judgement of God than the sweet smell of musk; and fast is a shield (for protection, in this world, against the assaults of the Devil, and, in the Hereafter, against the Fire of Hell; and when anyone of you keeps a fast, he must not utter indecent word nor engage in a noisy scene, and were anyone to quarrel with him and call him names he should simply say 'I am keeping fast.'

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The exhortation at the end of the Tradition about abstaining from falsehood and backbiting and wrangling and uttering a foul or profane word makes it clear that the exclusive blessings of Fasting are only for those who, in addition to shunning food and drink and staying away from sexual gratification, avoid all dirty and undesirable things. In another Tradition, which will follow soon, it is stated that Allah has no need for him to do hunger and thirst who fasts but does not refrain from evil-doing

(٨٨٩/٦) عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ إِنَّ فِي الْجَنَّةِ بَابًا يُقَالُ لَهُ الرِّيَّانُ يَدْخُلُ مِنْهُ الصَّائِمُونَ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ لَا يَدْخُلُ مِنْهُ أَحَدٌ غَيْرُهُمْ يُقَالُ أَيْنَ الصَّائِمُونَ؟ فَيَقُومُونَ لَا يَدْخُلُ مِنْهُ أَحَدٌ غَيْرُهُمْ فَإِذَا دَخَلُوا أُغْلِقَ فَلَمْ يَدْخُلْ مِنْهُ أَحَدٌ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(889/6) It is related on the authority of Sahl bin Sa'd رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "There is a special Gate of Paradise which is known as Rayyan (and) only those who observe Fasting will be allowed to enter through it on the Day of Resurrection. On that Day it will be called aloud, 'Where are the bondsmen who used to fast for the sake of Allah and endure the pangs of hunger and thirst?' Such of the bondsmen will respond to the call and save them no one will be permitted to enter by this Gate. When they have entered Paradise through this Gate, it will be shut, (and), no one else will be able to enter by it." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Thirst is the most severe hardship one has to bear during a fast and the greatest sacrifice a man who is Fasting makes is that he remains thirsty. Complete satisfaction of thirst should, as such, form the most prominent part of the reward on Fasting. Hence, the distinguishing quality of the gate that has been set apart for the entry of those who fast is satiety. Rayyan, literally, mens satiation.

(٨٩٠/٧) عَنْ أَبِي أُمَامَةَ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ مُرْنِي بِأَمْرٍ يَنْفَعَنِي اللَّهُ بِهِ قَالَ

عَلَيْكَ بِالصَّوْمِ فَإِنَّهُ لَا مِثْلَ لَهُ..... (رواه النسائي)

(890/7) Abu Umamah رضي الله عنه narrated I said to the Prophet ﷺ, "Please command me to perform an act from which God may give me profit." 'Keep fast,' replied the Prophet. 'There is nothing like it.' (Nasai)

Commentary: Though it is common to all virtuous deeds like Regular Worship, Fasting, Charity, Hajj and service to mankind that these are the means to the propitiation of Allah, they also possess some individual properties which distinguish them from each other. On that basis it can be said about each of them that it is incomparable; no deed two deeds are alike. For instance where the disciplining of the self is concerned it can be said that nothing can equal Fasting. Thus, the Prophet's ﷺ remark about Fasting that no is like it, perhaps, shows that in Abu Umamah's own circumstances Fasting was most beneficial.

Fasting and Taraweeh

(٨٩١/٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ صَامَ

رَمَضَانَ إِيمَانًا وَاحْتِسَابًا غُفِرَ لَهُ مَا تَقَدَّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِهِ وَمَنْ قَامَ رَمَضَانَ إِيمَانًا

وَاحْتِسَابًا غُفِرَ لَهُ مَا تَقَدَّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِهِ وَمَنْ قَامَ لَيْلَةَ الْقَدْرِ إِيمَانًا وَاحْتِسَابًا غُفِرَ لَهُ مَا

تَقَدَّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِهِ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(891/8) It is related on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "All the previous sins of the bondsmen will be forgiven who will keep the fasts of Ramadan with Iman and Ihtisab (i.e., with faith in Allah and confident expectation of Divine recompense) and, in the same way, all the previous sins of the bondsman will be forgiven who will offer *Nawafil*¹ (i.e. Taraweeh and Tahajjud) in the nights of

①. Plural of Nafil.

Ramadan with Iman and Ihtisab; and in the same way, all the previous sins of the bondsman will be forgiven who will offer in Laylatul Qadr with Iman and Ihtisab." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The fasts of Ramadan and the Nawafil of its nights, particularly Laylatul-Qadr, are an unfailing source of the remission of previous sins provided that the fasts and Nawafil are observed with "Iman" and "Ihtisab" which are typically religious terms and signify that whenever a good act is performed it should be motivated by no other thought or sentiment than faith in Allah and the Prophet and in their assurance and warnings and in the hope of the Divine reward promised on it. It is through Iman and Ihtisab that the link is forged between our deeds and the Almighty. The two attributes are the life and soul of our entire conduct, of all our doings. Without them, even what appear to be our greatest acts are hollow from within, and, God forbid, will avail us nothing on the Day of Requital. With Iman and Ihtisab, on the contrary, a single deed can be so precious in the sight of Allah that sins of many a long year are forgiven by it.

Intercession by Fast and The Qur'an

(٨٩٢/٩) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ الصَّيَّامُ وَالْقُرْآنُ يَشْفَعَانِ لِلْعَبْدِ يَقُولُ الصَّيَّامُ اأَيَّ رَبِّ إِنِّي مَنَعْتُهُ الطَّعَامَ وَالشَّهَوَاتِ بِالنَّهَارِ فَشَفَعْنِي فِيهِ وَيَقُولُ الْقُرْآنُ مَنَعْتُهُ النَّوْمَ بِاللَّيْلِ فَشَفَعْنِي فِيهِ فَيُشَفَّعَانِ.....

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(892/9) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin 'Amr رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: 'The fast and the Qur'an will, both, plead on behalf of the bondsman (who will keep fast in the day and recite or listen attentively to the recital of the Qur'an in the night, standing in the presence of Allah). The fast will say: 'My Lord! I had held him back from food, drink and sexual satisfaction. Accept my intercession for him today (and treat him with mercy and forgiveness).' And the Qur'an will say: "I had held him back from taking rest and sleeping in the night. O God! Accept my intercession for him today (and treat him with mercy and forgiveness). The intercession of both the fast and the Qur'an will be accepted for the bondsman and he will be tre ted with exceptional kindness."

(Baihaqi)

Commentary: How very fortunate are the slaves of Allah for whom there will be such intercession! May Allah include us among them!

Irreparable Loss

(٨٩٣/١٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ أَفْطَرَ يَوْمًا مِنْ رَمَضَانَ مِنْ غَيْرِ رُخْصَةٍ وَلَا مَرَضٍ لَمْ يَقْضِ عَنْهُ صَوْمُ الدَّهْرِ كُلِّهِ وَإِنْ صَامَهُ

(رواه احمد والترمذى و ابو داؤد وابن ماجه والدارمى والبخارى فى ترجمة باب)

(893/10) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: 'Whoever omits even a single fast of Ramadan without the legal concession of a journey, or (a valid excuse like that of) illness, amends cannot be made for the thing that is omitted even though he observes fasting throughout the life."

(Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi, Abu Dawood, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

Commentary: It shows that the loss a person suffers in terms of the blessings of Ramadan and the special favours of Allah by leaving out a fast of that month, deliberately and without a cogent reason, cannot be made good even if he keeps supererogatory fasts for the rest of his life. Though the ransom of the omission of a fast is only a fast on some other day, the blessings and the reward one is deprived of by leaving out the fast can never be regained through it.

Abstention From Sin

(٨٩٤/١١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ لَمْ يَدَعْ قَوْلَ الزُّورِ وَالْعَمَلَ بِهِ فَلَيْسَ لِلَّهِ حَاجَةٌ أَنْ يَدَعَ طَعَامَهُ وَشَرَابَهُ

(رواه البخارى)

(894/11) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: Allah has no need for him to go without food and drink who cannot shun evil and falsehood even during the fast."

(Bukhari)

Commentary: It tells that fasts can find acceptance with Allah only when one protects one's mouth and tongue and other organs against what is forbidden in addition to abstention from food and drink. God does not, at all, care for the fast of a person who indulges in sinful things while fasting.

The Last 'Ashra and Lailatul Qadr

The month of Ramadan enjoys an intrinsic superiority over all the other months of the year. Likewise, its last 'Ashra or ten days are superior to the two earlier 'Ashras, and Laylatul Qadr or the Night of Power, generally falls in it. That is why, the sacred Prophet ﷺ devoted himself more intensively to prayer and other forms of worship during it and urged others, also, to do the same.

(٨٩٥/١٢) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَجْتَهِدُ

فِي الْعَشْرِ الْآخِرِ مَا لَا يَجْتَهِدُ فِي غَيْرِهِ..... (رواه مسلم)

(895/12) Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها related to us that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ strove harder and took greater pains to observe prayer (Salah) etc., during the last ten days of Ramadan than during the other days." (Muslim)

(٨٩٦/١٣) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا دَخَلَ

الْعَشْرُ شَدَّ مِيزْرَهُ وَاحْبَى لَيْلَهُ وَأَيَقُظُ أَهْلَهُ..... (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(896/13) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that when the last ten days of Ramadan began the Prophet ﷺ would gird up the loins and keep awake in the nights (i.e., he used to spend the whole of the nights in prayer and worship), and, also, wakened the members of his family (so that they, too, could partake of the blessings of the nights of that month)".

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٨٩٧/١٤) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَحَرَّوْا

لَيْلَةَ الْقَدْرِ فِي الْوَتْرِ مِنَ الْعَشْرِ الْآخِرِ مِنْ رَمَضَانَ (رواه البخارى)

(897/14) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Seek the Night of Power in the odd nights of the last ten days of Ramadan." (Bukhari)

Commentary: Generally, Laylatul Qadr falls on one of the odd nights of the last ten days of Ramadan, i.e., the 21st, 23rd, 25th, 27th and 29th. Had it been indicated precisely about the Night of Power that it was that particular night, people, on the whole, would have specially devoted themselves to prayer and worship on it alone. God kept it vague and unidentified by telling, at one place, in the Qur'an that it was revealed in the Night of Power, and, at another, that it was revealed during the month of Ramadan which indirectly suggested that the Night of Power fell during Ramadan. The Prophet ﷺ made it more explicit when he said that there was a greater possibility of the Night of Power occurring during the odd nights of the last ten days of Ramadan. One should, therefore, take special care to keep vigil during them.

Besides Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها, Traditions of a like meaning have been related by other Companions رضي الله عنهم as well while some Companions believe that the 27th night of Ramadan is the Night of Power as the Tradition reproduced below shows.

(٨٩٨/١٥) عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ حُبَيْشٍ قَالَ سَأَلْتُ أَبَى بَنْ كَعْبٍ فَقُلْتُ إِنَّ أَحَاكَ ابْنَ مَسْعُودٍ يَقُولُ مَنْ يُقِمُّ الْحَوْلَ يُصِيبُ لَيْلَةَ الْقَدْرِ فَقَالَ رَحِمَهُ اللَّهُ أَرَادَ أَنْ لَا يَتَكَلَّ النَّاسُ أَمَا إِنَّهُ قَدْ عَلِمَ أَنَّهَا فِي رَمَضَانَ وَأَنَّهَا فِي الْعَشْرِ الْآخِرِ وَأَنَّهَا لَيْلَةُ سَبْعٍ وَعِشْرِينَ ثُمَّ حَلَفَ لَا يَسْتَنْبِي أَنَّهَا لَيْلَةُ سَبْعٍ وَعِشْرِينَ فَقُلْتُ بِأَيِّ شَيْءٍ تَقُولُ ذَلِكَ يَا أَبَا الْمُنْذِرِ قَالَ بِالْعَلَامَةِ أَوْ قَالَ بِالْأَيَّةِ الَّتِي أَخْبَرَنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّهَا تَطْلُعُ يَوْمَئِذٍ لَا شُعَاعَ لَهَا

(رواه مسلم)
(898/15) Zirr bin Hubaysh related that he enquired from Ubayy bin Ka'b رضي الله عنه if his brother-in-faith, Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه, said that whoever will keep vigil during all the nights of the year (i.e., perform acts of prayer and worship every night) will gain Laylatul Qadr in any case (i.e., Laylatul Qadr, after all, is one of the nights of the year; so, whoever may be solicitous of its blessings should fill every night of the year with prayer and he will, naturally, attain his object one night or the other) Ubayy bin Ka'b رضي الله عنه observed: "May God bless brother Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه. His aim in saying so was that people should not rest content (with the prayers of a single night) otherwise he knew for certain that Laylatul Qadr occurred exclusively in the month of Ramadan, and, that, too, during the last ten days of it (from the 21st to the 29th of the month), and, definitely, on the 27th night." He, then, said firmly (and) on oath "without doubt, it is the 27th night (and in order to show his certitude) he did not even say Insha Allah (with the oath)." Zirr bin Hubaysh related that he said to him: "O Abul Munzir (Kuniyah of Ubbay) on what ground do you say so?" he replied: I say it on the strength of the portent the Prophet ﷺ had revealed to us and it was that when the sun rose on the morning of Laylatul Qadr, it was without rays." (Muslim)

Commentary: From Sayvidina Ubayy bin Ka'b's reply it is evident that the knowledge of what he had said with such assurance about Laylatul Qadr that it was positively the 27th night of the month of Ramadan had not been imparted to him by the Prophet ﷺ. But since his general observation was that the special sign of Prophet ﷺ had mentioned become visible on the morning of the 27th night he had concluded that it could be no other night.

The Prophet ﷺ, sometimes, said that one should seek Laylatul Qadr in the last days of Ramadan, and, sometimes, that it should be searched for during the odd nights of the last ten days, and, sometimes, that it fell on one of the three or four of the five odd nights of that period. He never fixed a particular night. But the experience of many men of spiritual vision and comprehension is that, mostly, it is the 27th night of Ramadan. The greatest wisdom of keeping it vague is that the eager bondsmen spent all the nights of the last ten days of Ramadan in prayer and supplication. The gaining of Laylatul Qadr, in that case, was certain.

(٨٩٩/١٦) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا كَانَ لَيْلَةُ الْقَدْرِ نَزَلَ جِبْرِيلُ عَلَيْهِ السَّلَامُ فِي كُتُبِكَةٍ مِنَ الْمَلَائِكَةِ يُصَلُّونَ عَلَى كُلِّ عَبْدٍ قَائِمٍ أَوْ قَاعِدٍ يُذَكِّرُ اللَّهَ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(899/16) It is related by Anas ﷺ that Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When Laylatul Qadr comes, Jibril عليه السلام descends in the company of angels and prays for mercy for the bondsman who is engaged in the worship and remembrance of God standing or sitting." (Baihaqi)

Special Supplication

(٩٠٠/١٧) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَرَأَيْتَ إِنْ عَلِمْتُ أَيْ لَيْلَةٍ

لَيْلَةٍ الْقَدْرِ مَا أَقُولُ فِيهَا قَالَ قُولِي ااَللّٰهُمَّ اِنَّكَ عَفُوٌّ كَرِيْمٌ تُحِبُّ الْعَفْوَ فَاعْفُ

عَنِّيَّ (رواه احمد والترمذى وابن ماجه)

(900/17) Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها related "I asked the Messenger of Allah ﷺ if I came to know which was Laylatul Qadr, what should I make in it. The Prophet ﷺ replied: 'Say:

اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنَّكَ عَفُوٌّ كَرِيْمٌ تُحِبُّ الْعَفْوَ فَاعْفُ عَنِّيَّ.

Allahumma innaka 'afuwan karimun tuhibbul 'afwa fa-'af 'anni.

(O God! You are, indeed, the Most Forgiving, the Most Merciful, and to forgive is most pleasing; so, forgive me my sins)." (Musnad Ahmad, Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: Persuaded by this Tradition, a number of bondsmen have made it a regular habit to make this supplication every night, specially in the nights of Ramadan and more so still during the odd nights of the last ten days of it.

Last Night

(٩٠١/١٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّهُ قَالَ يُغْفَرُ لِأُمَّتِهِ

فِي آخِرِ لَيْلَةٍ مِنْ رَمَضَانَ قِيلَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أَهِيَ لَيْلَةُ الْقَدْرِ قَالَ لَا وَلَكِنَّ الْعَامِلَ

إِنَّمَا يُوفَى أَجْرُهُ إِذَا قَضَى عَمَلَهُ..... (رواه احمد)

(901/18) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضى الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: In the last night of Ramadan the decision of forgiveness is taken for my followers." He was asked: O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! Is it on Laylatul Qadr?" "No", replied Prophet ﷺ, "it is not Laylatul Qadr but when the workman completes his job, he is paid full wages." (Musnad Ahmad)

Commentary: It shows that the last night of the month of Ramadan, too, is a night of the special decision of forgiveness. But, in it, such a decision will be taken only for the bondsmen who make themselves deserving by fulfilling, to some extent, the practical obligations of Ramadan.

I'TIKAF

One of the many observances that are related, exclusively, to Ramadan, particularly its last ten days, is I'tikaf. The basic aim and object of I'tikaf is that the bondsman continued at the door of the Almighty, i.e., in the corner of a mosque, cutting himself aloof from the world and devoting his time and attention wholly to prayer and worship. It is the worhsip of a favourite bondsmen of Allah. Evidently, no time could be more appropriate for it than the month of Ramadan, specially, its last ten days.

The powerful urge that had siezed the Prophet ﷺ before the revelation of the Qur'an to seek solitude and spend his time mostly in prayer and meditation, and, in consequence of which, he used to pass several months on end in the Cave of Hira — this, so to speak, was the first I'tikaf of the Prophet ﷺ, and it was in it that his spirituality had evolved to the stage that marked the beginning of the revelation of the Qur'an. During the last days of this I'tikaf, Jibril ﷺ came to him with the opeinig verses of the surah Al-Alaq Beyond doubt and for certain, it was the month of Ramadan, its last ten days, and the night was the Night of Power. The last ten days of Ramadan have, thus, been set apart for I'tikaf.

The fasts of Ramadan have been prescribed to all Muslims for the development of the soul and for enabling it to subdue the carnal appetites. In other words, this much of exertion and sacrifice of sensual desires has been made obligatory for every Muslim that he neither ate nor drank anything nor sought sexual satisfaction during the whole of the blessed month, in compliance with the Command of Allah and with intention of paying divine honours to Him, and along with it, avoided all sinful acts and worthless things. It is the general, compulsory course of spiritual training and self-purification for the month of Ramadan. For higher upliftment and forging a closer affinity with the Celestial World we have I'tikaf.

In I'tikaf the bondsman cuts himself away from everything and throws himself at the threshold, or, rather the feet of his Lord and Creator. He remembers Him, exalts His Name, offers earnest repentance to Him, cries over his sins and follies, entreats Him for mercy and forgiveness and seeks His countenance and propinquity. His days and nights are spend in that way. The Holy Prophet ﷺ used to take special care to observe I'tikaf during the last ten days of Ramadan. Once when he could not carry it out due to some reason, he observed it for twenty days in the next Ramadan.

Usual Practice of The Prophet

(٩٠٢/١٩) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ إِنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يَتَعَكَّفُ الْعَشْرَ الْأَوَّلَ مِنْ رَمَضَانَ حَتَّى تَوَفَّاهُ اللَّهُ ثُمَّ اغْتَكَفَ آرَؤُاجَهُ مِنْ بَعْدِهِ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(902/19) It is related on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that "the Prophet ﷺ observed I'tikaf regularly in the last ten days of Ramadan, till the end of his life. After his death, his wives contineud with it." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The Prophet's ﷺ wives observed I'tikaf in their apartments, and for women, in general, the place where they observe Salah at home is the right place for I'tikaf. If there be no such place in the house, arrangement should be made for it.

(٩٠٣/٢٠) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَتَعَكَّفُ الْعَشْرَ الْأَوَّلَ مِنْ رَمَضَانَ فَلَمْ يَتَعَكَّفْ عَامًا فَلَمَّا كَانَ الْعَامُ الْمُقْبِلُ اغْتَكَفَ عِشْرِينَ

(رواه الترمذى)

(903/20) Anas رضي الله عنه narrated that "The Prophet ﷺ observed I'tikaf during the last ten days of Ramadan. One year he could not do the I'tikaf, and, so, next year, he did it for twenty days."

(Tirmizi)

Commentary: It is not stated in the above narrative of Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه why the Prophet ﷺ could not observe I'tikaf in that year. But in another Tradition, quoted in Nasai and Abu Dawood, on the authority of Sayyidina Ubayy bin Ka'b رضي الله عنه, it is said that once the Prophet ﷺ had to go on a journey during the last ten days of Ramadan, and, therefore, he could not carry out the I'tikaf that year but, in the next year, he did it for twenty days.

It is, further, mentioned in Sahih Bukhari, on the authority of Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah ؓ that the Prophet ﷺ had, also, observed I'tikaf for twenty days in the Ramadan of the year in which he died. Perhaps the Prophet ﷺ had recieved some indication that the hour of his departure from the world was near so, he, naturally, felt more powerfully drawn towards observances like I'tikaf.

(٩٠٤/٢١) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ السُّنَّةُ عَلَى الْمُتَكِّفِ أَنْ لَا يَعُودَ مَرِيضًا وَلَا

يَشْهَدَ جَنَازَةً وَلَا يَمَسُّ الْمَرْأَةَ وَلَا يُبَاشِرَهَا وَلَا يَخْرُجَ لِحَاجَةٍ إِلَّا لِمَا لَا بُدَّ مِنْهُ

وَلَا اغْتِكَافَ إِلَّا بِصَوْمٍ وَلَا اغْتِكَافَ إِلَّا فِي مَسْجِدٍ جَامِعٍ (رواه ابو داؤد)

(904/21) Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها related that the rules of Shari'ah for the Mu'takif (i.e., one who is in I'tikaf) are that he should neither go out to visit the sick nor attend a funeral nor have a sexual intercourse nor engage in (love-play like) kissing and embracing nor step out of the mosque for personal needs save that are unavoidable (such as, answering the call of nature), and I'tikaf (should be observed only with fasting) there can be no I'tikaf without fasting — and it must be carried out in Jami' Masjid and at no other place." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: As we have explained earleir, when a Companion says about a thing that it is the Sunnah it denotes that it is what is prescribed in the Shari'ah and the inference is that he had learnt it from the sayings or doings of the Prophet ﷺ. The rules of I'tikaf delineated in the above Tradition, thus, fall within the category of the Prophet's commands and directives.

The term of Jami Masjid, occuring in it means the "mosque of congregation", i.e., the mosque in which the five daily prayers are observed in congregation.

(٩٠٥/٢٢) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ فِي

الْمُتَكِّفِ هُوَ يَتَكَبَّرُ الذُّنُوبَ وَيَجْرِي لَهُ مِنَ الْحَسَنَاتِ كَعَامِلِ الْحَسَنَاتِ

(رواه ابن ماجه)

كُلَّهَا

(905/22) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said about the person who is in I'tikaf that "(owing to I'tikaf and by reason of keeping within the limits of the mosque) he is protected from sin and the account of his virtuous deeds goes on like that of any other virtuous bondsman and (they) are put down in his Balance-sheet of Deeds."

(Ibn Majah)

Commentary: When the bondsman confines himself in the mosque for I'tikaf, he makes a great addition to his virtuous deeds through prayer, Zikr and Tilawat (recital of Qur'an) but, at the same time, he is prevented from performing certain acts of high moral and religious worth, as for instance, he cannot visit the sick or care for them which is a most meritorious act in the sight of God or work for the welfare of the weak, the indigent and the orphan and the widow or bathe the dead body which, if done with sincerity and the desire to earn the Divine recompense, is a deed of much moral goodness. In the same way, he cannot go out to participate in the funeral service nor accompany the bier to the graveyard in doing which sins are forgiven at each step and good deeds are written in the Scroll of Deeds.

The above Tradition, however, gives the glad tidings to the devotee observing I'tikaf that, by the Command of God, all the good acts he used to perform normally but is kept away from performing owing to I'tikaf are written down in his Register of Deeds.

SIGHTING OF THE MOON

In fixing the time, day or period of a particular rite, religious ceremony or worship the Shari'ah has seen to it that no instrument or acquired ability is needed to know or determine it. Even a layman and an illiterate rustic can make it out by simple observation. The hours of prayers (Salah) and Fasting have, thus, been set in accordance with the movement of the sun. For example, the time of Fajr has been prescribed as from dawn till the rising of the sun, of Zuhr from the declining of the sun after mid-day till the shadow of an object extends, by one or two lengths of it, of 'Asr from after it till sunset, of Maghrib from after sunset till the twilight remains and 'Isha after the disappearance of the twilight. Similarly, the time of Fasting has been laid down as from sunrise to sunset. Obviously, no special skill is required for knowing these hours. Anyone can do so. Again, just as in view of the convenience of the people, the rising or setting of the sun and its ascent or decline have been made the signs or standards of the hours of prayers and Fasting, the moon has been made the standard where duties like Zakah, Fasting and Hajj that are related to month or year are concerned. Reliance has been placed upon the lunar year and months instead of the solar year and months because the laymen can distinguish only the lunar months by observation while no visible signs appear on the sky or the earth at the beginning of a solar month on seeing which one can know that the old month has ended and the new one has begun. Since the commencement of the lunar months is marked by the appearance of the moon even an illiterate person can conclude by seeing the new moon that the succeeding month has begun.

Anyhow, the convenience of the common man has been a major consideration behind the arrangement of months and years, by Shari'ah, on the basis of the lunar system. When the Holy Prophet ﷺ proclaimed the obligatoriness of the Ramadan fasts, he also explained the order and regulation of its commencement and end. He told the Muslims to begin the fasts if the moon was sighted after the completion of 29 days of the month of *Sh'aban*¹, and if it was not sighted on 29th, after the completion of 30 days. They were, in the same way, to keep 29 or 30 fasts of Ramadan. He gave further instructions regarding the sighting of the moon on different occasions.

When to Begin and End the Fasts of Ramadan

(٩٠٦/٢٣) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمرَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّهُ ذَكَرَ رَمَضَانَ فَقَالَ لَا تَصُومُوا حَتَّى تَرَوْا الْهَيْلَالَ وَلَا تَفْطُرُوا حَتَّى تَرَوْهُ فَإِنْ أُغْمِيَ عَلَيْكُمْ فَاذْكُرُوا لَهُ.....
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(906/23) Abdullah bin Umar ﷺ related that once the Prophet ﷺ spoke about Ramadan until you have sighted the (new) moon, and do not end the month of Fasting until you having sighted (The moon of) the month of Shawwal,² and if the moon is not visiblle (on the 29th of Ramadan), reckon up and calculate (i.e., presume the month to be 30 days)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩٠٧/٢٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ صُومُوا لِرُؤْيَيْهِ وَأَفْطِرُوا لِرُؤْيَيْهِ فَإِنْ غَمَّ عَلَيْكُمْ فَأَكْمِلُوا عِدَّةَ شَعْبَانَ ثَلَاثِينَ
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(907/24) It is related by Abu Hurayrah ﷺ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Begin your Fasting on seeing the (new) moon, and end your Fasting on seeing the (new) moon. If the moon cannot be sighted (on the 29th), complete the 30 days of Shaban."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: What it signifies is that the commencement or conclusion of the month of Ramadan depnds upon the visibility of the moon. It cannot be determined simply by calculation or speculation. Moreover, one form of the visibility of the moon is

①. The eight month according to the Islamic Calendar

②. The tenth month of the Muslim Calendar.

that we see it with our own eyes and another that someone else sees it, and, then, informs us and we consider him to be a reliable person. Sometimes it happened during the lifetime of the Prophet ﷺ, too, that he accepted the visibility of the moon at the report or evidence of someone who had seen it and gave the order for keeping the fast or observing the 'Eid, as the case was, as we shall see later.

(٩٠٨/٢٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَحْضُوا

هَلَالَ شَعْبَانَ لِرَمَضَانَ..... (رواه الترمذی)

(908/25) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Count the moon of Sha'ban carefully for the purpose of Ramadan." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: It shows that, on account of Ramadan, special pains should, also, be taken to see the moon of Sha'ban and its dates remembered with care. When 29 days of Sha'ban are completed, effort should be made to sight the moon of Ramadan.

(٩٠٩/٢٦) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَتَحَفَّظُ

مِنْ شَعْبَانَ مَا لَا يَتَحَفَّظُ مِنْ غَيْرِهِ ثُمَّ يَصُومُ لِرُؤْيَا رَمَضَانَ فَإِنْ غَمَّ عَلَيْهِ عَدُّ

ثَلَاثِينَ يَوْمًا ثُمَّ صَامَ..... (رواه ابوداؤد)

(909/26) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that Messenger of Allah ﷺ did not remember the days and dates of any other month with such care as the days and dates of Sah'ban. He, then, kept the fasts after seeing the moon of Ramadan and if the moon was not visible (on the 29th of Sha'ban), he kept the fasts after completing the count of 30 days." (Abu Dawood)

Proof of The Visibility of Moon Through Report and Evidence

(٩١٠/٢٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ جَاءَ أَغْرَابِيُّ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

فَقَالَ إِنِّي رَأَيْتُ الْهَلَالَ يَعْنِي هَلَالَ رَمَضَانَ فَقَالَ أَتَشْهَدُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ قَالَ

نَعَمْ قَالَ أَتَشْهَدُ أَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ قَالَ نَعَمْ قَالَ يَا بِلَالُ أَذِنَ فِي النَّاسِ أَنْ

(رواه ابو داؤد والترمذى والنسائى وابن ماجه والدارمى)
 (910/27) Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه narrated that (once) a villager came to the Prophet ﷺ and said: "I have seen the moon (of Ramadan) today." The Prophet ﷺ enquired from him: "Do you testify that there is no god save Allah?" 'Yes,' he replied. "I testify that there is no god save Allah. The Prophet ﷺ, then, asked: 'And do you testify that Muhammad is Messenger of Allah ?' "Yes," he replied. "I testify that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah." The Prophet ﷺ, thereupon, ordered Bilal to proclaim to the people to begin Fasting from the next day."
 (Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Nasai, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

Commentary: It shows that for accepting the report or evidance of the visibility of the moon it is essential that the one who reports or gives the evidence is a Muslim for he, alone, can appreciate its importance.

(٩١١/٢٨) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ تَرَى النَّاسَ الْهَلَالَ فَأَخْبَرْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنِّي رَأَيْتُهُ فَصَامَ وَأَمَرَ النَّاسَ بِصِيَامِهِ
 (رواه ابو داؤد والدارمى)

(911/28) It is redlated by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that once during the days of the Prophet ﷺ people tried to see the moon of Ramdan (but, generally, it could not be sighted). I then, informed the Prophet ﷺ that I had seen the moon upon which he kept the fast himself and ordered the people to do the same."
 (Abu Dawood and Daarami)

Commentary: Both of these narratives tell that the evidence of one Muslim is enough to establish the visibility of the moon. According to the commonly known principle enunciated by Imam Abu Hanifa, the evidence of one person is sufficient when the sky is overcast or he has come from outside the town or village or from a place with higher altiude. But if the sky is clear and the person who claims to have sighted the moon has not come from outside or from a place with a higher altitude and yet asserts that he had seen the moon in that very town or in village where no one else could see it in spite of making the best efforts, the decision of the visibility of the moon will not be taken on his solitary evidence. In that case, the number of persons claiming to have seen the moon should be such that their evidence can evoke confidence. This, as we have said, is the well-known view of Imam Abu Hanifah. But another theory is, also, attributed to him which says that for the moon of Ramadan the evidence of one virtuous and trustworthy Muslim is sufficient and many other legist-doctors, too, are in agreement with it.

It should be remembered that what we have said here appertains to the moon of Rmadan. As far as the 'Eid moon is concerned there is a general consensus among the legist-doctors over the point that the evidence of at least two religious-minded and reliable Muslims is necessary. It is stated in Dar Qutni and Tabarani, on the authority of Akramah Taba'ee, that once a person deposed before the Governor of Madinah that he had seen the moon of Ramadan. At that time, both Sayyidina Abdullah bin Umar and Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ were present in Madinah. The Governor consulted them and they said that the evidence of one person should be accepted and the announcement made that the month of Ramadan had begun. They added that the Prophet ﷺ had said that the evidence of one person was enough for the moon of Ramadan but for the moon of 'Id he did not regard the evidence of less than two persons to be adequate.

Prohibition of Fasting on One or Two Days Before the Commencement of Ramadan

Fasting has been enjoined for the whole of the month of Ramadan. The Muslims are, also, required to take particular care to see the moon of Ramadan and even that of Sha'ban so that no fast of Ramadan is missed unknowingly or owing to negligence. But with all this, for the continuance and preservation of the laws of the Shari'ah and keeping them safe, intact and unimpaired it has been forbidden to fast on one or two days immediately preceding the month of Ramadan because if people with an excessive enthusiasm for worship took it up as a laudatory practice, uneducated masses were in the danger of being misled into believing that it was also an order or injunction of the Shari'ah.

(٩١٢/٢٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا يَتَقَدَّمَنَّ

أَحَدُكُمْ رَمَضَانَ بِصَوْمِ يَوْمٍ أَوْ يَوْمَيْنِ إِلَّا أَنْ يَكُونَ رَجُلٌ كَانَ يَصُومُ صَوْمًا
فَلْيَصُمْ ذَلِكَ الْيَوْمَ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(912/29) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "None of you should keep fast a day or two before the commencement of Ramadan except that the day on which he habitually fasts happens to fall then. (For instance, a person usually fasts on every Monday or Thursday; so, if a Monday or Thursday occurs on the 29th or 30 of Sha'ban, he is permitted to keep a fast on that day)." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩١٣/٣٠) عَنْ عَمَّارِ بْنِ يَاسِرٍ قَالَ مَنْ صَامَ الْيَوْمَ الَّذِي يُشَكُّ فِيهِ فَقَدْ
عَصَى أَبَا الْقَاسِمِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

(رواه ابو داؤد، والترمذى، والنسائى، وابن ماجه والدارمى)

(913/30) Ammar bin Yasir رضي الله عنه related to us "Whoever kept fast on the day of doubt, he failed to obey Abul Qasim, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ."

(Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Nasai, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

Commentary: The 'day of doubt,' here, denotes the day about which it can be thought that it may be a day of Ramadan. For instance, when the sky is overcast on the 29th of Sha'ban and the new moon is not visible, there is the possibility that the moon may have appeared but it could not be sighted owing to the dust or the cloud, and, thus, the next day could be a day of Ramadan. But reliance is not placed upon doubt or conjecture in the Shari'ah and the Prophet ﷺ, as such, has forbidden against fasting on that day. As the foregoing Traditions have made it clear, in such a case people should complete the thirty days of Sha'ban.

SAHR AND IFTARI

(٩١٤/٣١) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَسَحَّرُوا فَإِنَّ

فِي السَّحُورِ بَرَكَةٌ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)
(914/31) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Eat *Sahr*¹ for there is propitiousness in it." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: A common aspect of Sahr is that it sustains the person who fasts and helps in mitigating the rigours of Fasting while the other, the inner and exceptional, aspect is what has been indicated in the Tradition quoted in Musnad Ahmad, on the authority of Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه it says:

"There is auspiciousness in Sahr. Do not forgo it. If nothing else, a draught of water should be taken at that time for God bestows mercy upon those who eat Sahr and angels pray for their well-being."

السَّحُورُ بَرَكَةٌ فَلَا تَذْغُوهُ وَلَوْ أَنَّ
يَجْرَعَ أَحَدُكُمْ جُرْعَةً مِّنْ مَّاءٍ فَإِنَّ
اللَّهَ وَمَلَائِكَتَهُ يُصَلُّونَ عَلَى
الْمُتَسَحِّرِينَ.

(٩١٥/٣٢) عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْعَاصِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

فَصُلِّ مَا بَيْنَ صِيَامِنَا وَصِيَامِ أَهْلِ الْكِتَابِ أَكْلَةُ السَّحْرِ (رواه مسلم)
(915/32) It is related by Amr bin al-'Aas رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "What distinguishes our fasting from the fasting of the other people of the Scripture is the eating of Sahr." (Muslim)

Commentary: We must keep this distinction in practice too by eating Sahri. We must thank Allah for His blessings too in allowing us the pre-dawn meal.

- ❶. Meaning the light of meal the Muslims make a little before dawn when fasting.

Haste in Iftari, Delay in Sehr

(٩١٦/٣٣) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ اللَّهُ

تَعَالَى أَحَبُّ عِبَادِي إِلَيَّ أَعَجَلَهُمْ فِطْرًا (رواه الترمذی)

(916/33) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "God says: "More beloved among My bondsmen is the bondsman who makes haste in breaking the fast (i.e., does not delay it after the setting of the sun)." (Tirmizi)

(٩١٧/٣٤) عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا

يَزَالُ النَّاسُ بِخَيْرٍ مَا عَجَلُوا الْفِطْرَ (رواه البخاری و مسلم)

(917/34) It is related on the authority of Sahl bin Sa'd رضی اللہ عنہ that the Prophet ﷺ said: "So long as people are prompt in Iftar,¹ they will remain on the side of virtue." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Another Tradition bearing the same import is quoted in Musnad Ahmad, on the authority of Abu Zarr Ghifari رضی اللہ عنہ, but in it delay in Sahr is, also, mentioned along with promptitude in Iftar. It says that the Muslim will remain on the side of virtue as long as they adhere to the routine of hastening and not delaying Iftar and delay in Sahr is the requirement of Shari'ah and the Will of God, and, it, also, suits the convenience of the common people which is pleasing to Allah. Hence, as long as the Ummah acts on it, it will be on the path of goodness. On the contrary, as there is hardship for everyone in delaying Iftar and hastening the Sahr and it, also, is a kind of Innovation, it is a source of the displeasure of God. when the Muslims will adopt this practice they will forfeit the good pleasure of Allah and sink to a lower condition. Haste in Iftar means that breaking a fast should not be deferred when it becomes clear that the sun has set, and, in the same way, delay in Sahr denotes that it should not be taken much before dawn but when the break of day is near. This, also, was the regular practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ.

(٩١٨/٣٥) عَنْ أَنَسٍ عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ قَالَ تَسَحَّرُ نَامِعُ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ

①. Meaning breaking a fast. Iftar denotes things taken for breaking a fast on due time.

عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثُمَّ قَامَ إِلَى الصَّلَاةِ فَلْتُ كَمْ كَانَ بَيْنَ الْأَذَانِ وَالسُّحُورِ قَالَ قَدَرُ
خَمْسِينَ آيَةً (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(918/35) Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه related to us, saying that Zayd bin Thabit رضي الله عنه told him, "We took Sahri with the Prophet ﷺ and, then, he (quickly) stood up for the Fajr prayer." Anas asked Zayd رضي الله عنه, "How much time would have passed between the eating of Sahr and the Azan of Fajr. Zayd رضي الله عنه replied, "It was equal to what was needed for the recitation of 50 verses of the Qur'an." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: If the recitation is properly done, it takes less than five minutes to complete fifty verses of the Qur'an. It can, thus, be said that there was merely a gap of five minutes between the Sahr of the Prophet ﷺ and the Azan of Fajr.

Prohibition of Saum-Wisal

If fasting is done continuously without eating or drinking anything during the day as well as the night it is called Saum Wisal. The Holy Prophet ﷺ has forbidden it to the Ummah because fasts of this kind are very hard to keep and it is quite possible that a person became so weak that he could not perform his other duties. The Prophet ﷺ has, therefore, stopped his followers from observing such fasts. With himself, however, the case was that these fasts made no real difference to his health and strength as he used to receive a sort of non-material food and spiritual sustenance from God. Consequently, the Prophet ﷺ kept Saum Wisal himself.

(٩١٩/٣٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنِ
الْوِصَالِ فِي الصَّوْمِ فَقَالَ لَهُ رَجُلٌ إِنَّكَ تَوَاصِلُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ وَأَيُّكُمْ مِثْلِي
إِنِّي أَبِيتُ يُطْعِمُنِي رَبِّي وَيَسْقِيْنِي (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(919/36) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه narrated that when the Prophet ﷺ forbade people against keeping Saum Wisal, a Companion exclaimed, "But Messenger of Allah ﷺ! You keep Saum Wisal yourself." The Prophet ﷺ replied, "Which of you is like me? " My night passes in such a way that my Lord nourishes me (i.e., I get my nourishment from the Unseen World, and, hence, do not draw conclusions about yourself from my example in this matter)"

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Similar Traditions, with a slight variation of words, have also been narrated on the authority of Abdullah bin Umar, Anas and Sayyadah Ayshah ﷺ from all these, it appears that the aim of the prohibition of Saum Wisal was to save the bondsmen from hardship and from injuring their health. In Sayyidah Aysah's narrative it is distinctly stated that:

"The Prophet ﷺ has forbidden Saum Wisal out of compassion.

نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ
وَسَلَّمَ عَنِ الْوِصَالِ رَحْمَةً لَهُمْ
(بخاری و مسلم)

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Sayyidina Abu Sa'eed Khudri's ﷺ narrative, we are now going to reproduce, tells that the Prophet ﷺ had, also, permitted some enthusiasts of Saum Wisal to observe continuous fasting till day-break.

(٩٢٠/٣٧) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ أَنَّهُ سَمِعَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ
وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ لَا تُوَاصِلُوا فَإِيَّكُمْ أَرَدَ أَنْ يُوَاصِلَ فَلْيُوَاصِلْ حَتَّى السَّحَرِ قَالُوا
فَأَنَّكَ تُوَاصِلُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ لَسْتُ كَهَيْئَتِكُمْ إِنِّي أَبِثُ لِي مُطْعَمٌ يُطْعِمُنِي
وَسَاقٌ يَسْقِينِي
(رواه البخاری)

(920/37) Abu Sa'eed Khudri ﷺ related that he heard from the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say, he was saying: "Do not keep Saum Wisal, and whoever still wants to keep it (out of ardent feeling) should do so only till day-break (i.e., for about 24 hours, from dawn to dawn)." Some Companions, thereupon, said: Messenger of Allah ﷺ! you keep Saum Wisal yourself." My condition is not like yours in this matter", replied the Prophet ﷺ. "I pass my night in such a condition that a Provider of food feeds me and a Provider of drink causes me to drink." (Bukhari)

Commentary: No elucidation of the form of feeding of the Prophet ﷺ by God and supplying him with drink, as indicated in the aforementioned narratives, is available in the Traditions. Some Commentators have suggested that the spiritual strength derived by the Prophet ﷺ from the special propinquity of God in Saum Wisal, particularly during the hours of the night, sufficed for food and drink. It can, also, be interpreted as special sustenance. A few others say that in the nights of Saum Wisal the food and drinks of Heaven or the Unseen World were supplied to the Prophet ﷺ on behalf of God. But this eating and drinking was not of this world.

What is Better For Iftar?

(٩٢١/٣٨) عَنْ سَلْمَانَ بْنِ عَامِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا كَانَ أَحَدُكُمْ صَائِمًا فَلْيُفْطِرْ عَلَى التَّمْرِ فَإِنْ لَمْ يَجِدِ التَّمَرَ فَعَلَى الْمَاءِ فَإِنَّ الْمَاءَ طَهُورٌ

(رواه احمد و ابو داؤد و الترمذى وابن ماجه والدارمى)

(921/38) It is related by Salman bin Jabir رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When anyone of you is fasting, he should break fast with dates, and if the dates are not available, with mere water for God has made the water purifying."

(Musnad Ahma,d Abu Dawood, Tirmizi, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

Commentary: Dates were the favourite food for the Arabs, more so of the Madinans. They were cheap as well as easily available, and so, even the poor could eat them. The Prophet ﷺ, therefore, exhorted the people to break the fast with dates and if one could not get them at the time of Iftar then with plain water. He explained, further, that the propitious characteristic of water was that God had declared it to be pure and in breaking the fast with it, there was both external and internal purification.

(٩٢٢/٣٩) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُفْطِرُ قَبْلَ أَنْ يُصَلِّيَ عَلَى رُطَبَاتٍ فَإِنْ لَمْ تَكُنْ رُطَبَاتٍ فَتُمِيرَاتٍ فَإِنْ لَمْ تَكُنْ تُمِيرَاتٍ حَسَا حَسَوَاتٍ مِنْ مَاءٍ

(رواه الترمذى و ابو داؤد)

(922/39) Sayyidina Anas رضي الله عنه related to us that the Prophet ﷺ used to break the fast with a few fresh dates before the Maghrib prayer, and if fresh dates were not available at that time, with dry dates, and if dry dates, too, were not available, he drank a few draughts of water.

(Tirmizi and Abu Dawood)

Supplication of Iftar

(٩٢٣/٤٠) عَنْ مَعَاذِ بْنِ زُهْرَةَ أَنَّهُ بَلَغَهُ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ إِذَا أَفْطَرَ قَالَ اللَّهُمَّ لَكَ صُمتٌ وَعَلَى رِزْقِكَ أَفْطَرْتُ

(رواه ابو داؤد)

(923/40) Mu'az bin Zuhrah رحمه الله عليه a Taba'ee, said: "It has come to my knowledge that when the Prophet ﷺ broke the fast he used to say:

اللَّهُمَّ لَكَ صُمْتُ وَعَلَى رِزْقِكَ أَفْطَرْتُ

Allahumma laka sumtu wa'ala rizqika aftartu.

O God! For Your sake have I fasted, and (now) I break the fast with the food that comes from You)." (Abu Dawood)

(٩٢٤/٤١) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا أَفْطَرَ قَالَ

ذَهَبَ الظَّمَاءُ وَابْتَلَّتِ الْعُرُوقُ وَثَبَتَ الْأَجْرُ إِنْ شَاءَ اللَّهُ (رواه ابوداؤد)

(924/41) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that when the Prophet ﷺ broke the fast he used to say: Zahabaz-zima'o wah-tallatil 'urooqu wa sabatal arju insha Allah, (Thirst disappeared, dried up veins became wet and cool, and, God-willing, recompense got established.") (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: The supplication signifies that the uneasiness of thirst and dryness that were endured for some time during the fast had come to an end with Iftar. Now, neither he thirst is left nor the dryness of the veins, and, Insha Allah, the endless reward of the Hereafter has, also, been assured.

It is the Prophet's ﷺ expression of gratitude to God as well as an exhortation to others that fasts should be kept in that spirit.

In some other reports it is also mentioned that the Prophet ﷺ used to make the following supplication at the time of Iftar:

Yaa was'ey-al-fazli ighfirlee.

(O Possessor of boundless mercy! Forgive me).

Rewad On Inviting a Fasting Person to Join At Fast-Breaking Meal

(٩٢٥/٤٢) عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ خَالِدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ

فَطَرَ صَائِمًا أَوْ جَهَّزَ غَازِيًا فَلَهُ مِثْلُ أَجْرِهِ

(رواه البيهقي في شعب الايمان ورواه محي السنة في شرح السنه)

(925/42) It is related by Zayd bin Khalid رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Whoever invited a fasting person to break the fast with him or provided a warrior (in the defence of Faith) with the equipment of war (i.e., arms etc), he will get the same reward as the fasting person or the warrior." (Baihaqi and Baghawi)

Commentary: One of the kindly and gracious laws of Allah is that He rewards a person who exhorts anyone to a good deed or helps him in the performance of it in the same measure as the doer of the deed. Only those who have no idea of the benevolence of God are apt to entertain doubts about glad tidings like these.

اللهم انت كما اثنت على نفسك

FASTING ON A JOURNEY

In Surah Al-Baqarah where Fasting has been enjoined upon the Believers as an obligatory duty, permission has, also, been given to the sick and the travellers to leave off the fasts, but they are commanded to make up for it by fasting for an equal number of days when they are relieved from their respective disabilities. It has, also, been made clear that the concession has been provided solely for the sake of the bondsmen's ease and convenience.

The relevant verse of the surah reads:

"And whosoever of you is present (in the month of Ramadan), let him fast the month, and whosoever of you is sick or on a journey, (let him fast the same) number of other days. Allah desireth for you ease; He desires not hardship for you. (Al-Baqarah 2:185)

فَمَنْ شَهِدَ مِنْكُمُ الشَّهْرَ فَلْيَصُمْهُ
وَمَنْ كَانَ مَرِيضًا أَوْ عَلَى سَفَرٍ
فَعِدَّةٌ مِّنْ أَيَّامٍ أُخَرَ يُرِيدُ اللَّهُ بِكُمُ
الْيُسْرَ وَلَا يُرِيدُ بِكُمُ الْعُسْرَ
(البقره. ٢: ١٨٥)

It is obvious from the above that the allowance has been made for the comfort of the bondsmen and with the object of saving them from hardship and suffering. Thus, if anyone does not feel any particular discomfort during a journey, he can keep fast or avail himself of the concession as he likes. The practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ being a standard of perfection for the Ummah, he, sometimes, kept the fasts on a journey, and, sometimes, omitted them so that his followers could choose whatever course they preferred according to their circumstances. What appears from the saying and conduct of the Prophet ﷺ, in this regard, is that if other necessary activities are likely to suffer on account of fasting on a journey it is advisable to defer it, otherwise one should better keep the fast.

(٩٢٦/٤٣) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ إِنَّ حَمْزَةَ بْنَ عَمْرِو الْأَسْلَمِيِّ قَالَ لِلنَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَصُومُ فِي السَّفَرِ وَكَانَ كَثِيرَ الصِّيَامِ فَقَالَ إِنْ شِئْتَ فَصُمْ وَإِنْ شِئْتَ فَافْطِرْ.....
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(926/43) Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها narrated that Hamzah bin 'Amr Al-Aslami رضى الله عنه, who used to fast much and often, once asked the Prophet ﷺ, "Should I keep the fasts on a journey?" "The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'You may keep (fast) if you like and you may not if you don't.'"
(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩٢٧/٤٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ خَرَجَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِنَ الْمَدِينَةِ إِلَى مَكَّةَ فَصَامَ حَتَّى بَلَغَ عُسْفَانَ ثُمَّ دَعَا بِمَاءٍ فَرَفَعَهُ إِلَى يَدِهِ لِيرَاهُ النَّاسُ فَافْطَرَ حَتَّى قَدِمَ مَكَّةَ وَذَلِكَ فِي رَمَضَانَ فَكَانَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ يَقُولُ قَدْ صَامَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَافْطَرَ فَمَنْ شَاءَ صَامَ وَمَنْ شَاءَ أَفْطَرَ
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(927/44) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضى الله عنه that as the Messenger of Allah ﷺ left Madinah for Makkah, he kept the fasts regularly on the journey till he reached the place called 'Usfan. (From there onwards he stopped fasting, and in order to bring it into the knowledge of everyone), he asked for water, then took the water in his hand and raised it high (so that everyone could see it: He, then, drank the water). Then, the Prophet ﷺ did not keep fasts until he reached Makkah, and all this took place in the month of Ramadan. On this very basis, Ibn Abbas رضى الله عنه used to say: "Messenger of Allah ﷺ kept fasts, on a journey as well as he did not. So, (it is permissible) that whoever wants, he can keep fasts on a journey, and whoever does not want, he can omit it."
(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The journey mentioned in the above Tradition was the one leading to the Victory of Makkah. The Prophet ﷺ had undertaken it in Ramadan, 8 A.H.,. During it, he fasted in the beginning, but when on reaching 'Usfan, which was the name of a stream and from where it was only two days' journey to Makkah, it was felt that fighting was imminent, the Prophet ﷺ decided not to keep the fasts. He, thus, omitted fasting and drank water by showing it to everyone so that no one felt oppressed in the mind at leaving off the fast.

It shows that it is better to keep fast during a journey as long as there is no such consideration. The Prophet ﷺ kept the fasts regularly till he had reached 'Usfan. Had it been commendable to give up the fasts on a journey without a special reason, he would, obviously, not have observed fasting from the time of the commencement of the journey.

Another Tradition referring to the same incident has, also, been quoted in Sahih Muslim, on the authority of Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه. In it, it is added that some people continued to fast even after the Prophet ﷺ had openly omitted it and drank the water for everyone to see. When it was brought to his knowledge, he remarked: "These people are sinners and wrong-doers (for they have acted against the wish and judgement of the Prophet ﷺ, though unwittingly, after it had been made plain to them)."

(٩٢٨/٤٥) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ دِ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ غَزَوُ نَامَعَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِسِتِّ عَشَرَ مَضَتْ مِنْ شَهْرِ رَمَضَانَ فَمِنَّا مَنْ صَامَ وَمِنَّا مَنْ أَفْطَرَ فَلَمْ يَعْصِ الصَّائِمُ عَلَى الْمُفْطِرِ وَلَا الْمُفْطِرُ عَلَى الصَّائِمِ (رواه مسلم)

(928/45) It is related by Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه "We set out of Jihad in the company of Prophet ﷺ on the 16th of Ramadan and some of us kept the fasts and some did not because of the leave granted to those who are on journey. So neither those who kept the fasts objected (to the action of) those who did not keep them nor those who did not keep the fasts objected (to the action of) those who kept them. (Everyone considered the conduct of the other to be legitimate and in accordance with the provisions of the Shari'ah)."

(Muslim)

(٨٢٩/٤٦) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ كُنَّا مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي السَّفَرِ فَمِنَّا الصَّائِمُ وَمِنَّا الْمُفْطِرُ فَتَزَلْنَا مَنْزِلًا فِي يَوْمٍ حَارٍّ فَسَقَطَ الصَّوْمُؤُونَ وَقَامَ الْمُفْطِرُونَ فَضَرَبُوا الْأَبْنِيَّةَ وَسَقَوْا الرِّكَابَ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ذَهَبَ الْمُفْطِرُونَ الْيَوْمَ بِالْأَجْرِ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(929/46) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه "We were accompanying the Prophet ﷺ on a journey (in which some of us were keeping the fasts and some of us were not. One day, when it was very hot, we got down to make the halt. So, those of us who were fasting (were so tired and exhausted that they) took to their beds (immediately) and did not move while those who were not fasting got up, pitched the tents for everyone and gave water to the camel. The Prophet ﷺ, then, observed: "Today, non-fasting people won the reward (i.e., they earned a greater reward.)"

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩٣٠/٤٧) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي سَفَرٍ فَرَأَى زِحَامًا وَرَجُلًا قَدْ ظَلَّلَ عَلَيْهِ فَقَالَ مَا هَذَا؟ قَالُوا صَائِمٌ فَقَالَ لَيْسَ مِنَ الْبِرِّ الصَّوْمُ فِي السَّفَرِ
(رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(930/47) It is related by Jabir رضي الله عنه "The Messenger of Allah ﷺ was on a journey and he saw a crowd and saw a man for whom a shade had been provided to guard against the sun. 'What is the matter?' the Prophet ﷺ enquired. 'This man is fasting', replied the men. 'his condition is giving anxiety, therefore, a shade is being provided and the crowd has collected.' 'To fast during a journey is not an act of virtue', remarked the Prophet ﷺ."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that when Allah has permitted to offer the fast while on a journey and the Prophet ﷺ, too, acted upon it, there is no goodness in fasting for Muslims in such a state that they drop on the ground and people have to take care of them. In circumstances like these, it is essential to avail oneself of the concession and put off the fast.

Making Amends for Not Observing an Obligatory Fast

(٩٣١/٤٨) عَنْ مُعَاذَةَ الْعَدَوِيَّةِ أَنَّهَا قَالَتْ لِعَائِشَةَ مَا بَالُ الْحَائِضِ تَقْضِي الصَّوْمَ وَلَا تَقْضِي الصَّلَاةَ قَالَتْ عَائِشَةُ كَانَ يُصَيِّنَا ذَالِكَ فَنُؤْمَرُ بِقَضَاءِ الصَّوْمِ وَلَا نُؤْمَرُ بِقَضَاءِ الصَّلَاةِ
(رواه مسلم)

(931/48) Sayyidah Muazah Adaviya a taba'ee lady narrated that she enquired from Sayyidah Aishah رضي الله عنها: "How is it that while fasts are kept to make up for not having fasted in Ramadan on account of the period of menstruation, prayers are not offered to make up for Salah missed (during those days)?" This is the Command of Allah and the Messenger ﷺ. That is all," replied Ayshah رضى الله عنها. "When we had our menses in the lifetime of the Prophet ﷺ (and could neither fast nor offer prayer), we were ordered to keep the fasts after Ramadan on account of not having fasted then but we were not ordered to make up for the missed prayers." (Muslim)

Expiation for Missing a Fast Without a Cogent Reason

(٩٣٢/٤٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ بَيْنَمَا نَحْنُ جُلُوسٌ عِنْدَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذْ جَاءَهُ رَجُلٌ فَقَالَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ هَلَكْتُ قَالَ وَمَا لَكَ قَالَ وَقَعْتُ عَلَى امْرَأَتِي وَأَنَا صَائِمٌ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ هَلْ تَجِدُ رَقَبَةً تُعْتِقُهَا قَالَ لَا قَالَ فَهَلْ تَسْتَطِيعُ أَنْ تَصُومَ شَهْرَيْنِ مُتَتَابِعَيْنِ قَالَ لَا قَالَ هَلْ تَجِدُ إِطْعَامَ سِتِّينَ مِسْكِينًا قَالَ لَا قَالَ اجْلِسْ وَمَكَتِ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَبَيْنَا نَحْنُ عَلَى ذَلِكَ أَتَى النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِعَرَقٍ فِيهِ تَمَرٌ (وَالْعَرَقُ الْمِكْتَلُ الضَّخْمُ) قَالَ آيِنِ السَّائِلُ قَالَ أَنَا قَالَ خُذْ هَذَا فَتَصَدَّقْ بِهِ فَقَالَ الرَّجُلُ أَعْلَى أَفْقَرِ مِنِّي يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ فَوَاللَّهِ مَا بَيْنَ لَابَتَيْهَا (يُرِيدُ الْحَرَّتَيْنِ) أَهْلُ بَيْتِ أَفْقَرُ مِنْ أَهْلِ بَيْتِي فَضَحِكَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ حَتَّى بَدَتْ أَنْيَابُهُ ثُمَّ قَالَ أَطْعِمُهُ أَهْلَكَ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(932/49) Abu Hurayrah رضى الله عنه related "Once while we were sitting in the company of Messenger of Allah ﷺ a man came and said 'O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! I have been ruined (meaning I have done something that has ruined me)'. What has happened? asked the Prophet ﷺ. The man replied. 'I have copulated with my wife in the state of fasting.' (In another version it is mentioned that it took place in the month of Ramadan). The Prophet ﷺ enquired: "Have you or is there in your possession a slave whom you can set free in expiation of the folly?" 'No,' replied the man. 'Then,' said the Prophet ﷺ, 'Can you manage to fast for two months consecutively?' That is beyond my endurance,' came the reply. The Prophet ﷺ said 'Then wait. (God may produce a solution to your difficulty)." Abu Hurayrah رضى الله عنه goes on to relate) 'the Prophet ﷺ remained seated over there and we, too, were still present when a very large bag of dates arrived for him. The Prophet ﷺ called out, 'Where is the person who had come to enquire about the matter?' 'I am here,' the man replied.' The Prophet ﷺ said to him, 'Take this bag and give it away in charity to such people who may be more needy than me?' By God! Between the rocky table-land on the two sides of Madinah (i.e., in the whole of the town) no family is poorer than mine.' The Prophet ﷺ laughed so much (against his habit) that the teeth at both corners of his lips could be seen. (Customarily, the Prophet ﷺ only smiled when he felt happy or amused). He said: 'All right. Give these dates to the members of your family to eat.'

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: If a person who is fasting in Ramadan does a thing like that, in gratification of his sexual urge, its atonement is that he set free a slave and if he cannot do so, observe sixty consecutive fasts, and if he cannot even do that, feed sixty poor and needy persons. There is a general agreement among legist-doctors on this point, but it is disputable whether the penalty applies only to sexual intercourse or it will have to be paid by those, also, who deliberately eat or drink during a fast, and, thus, render it void. According to Imam Sha'fee رحمه الله عليه and Imam Ahmad bin Hanbal رحمه الله عليه, this form of atonement is called for only in the event of a sexual intercourse because the incident mentioned in the above Tradition is solely of couplation but Imam Abu Hanifah, Imam Maalik, Sufyan Suri, Abdullah bin Mubarak رحمه الله عليهم and others like them hold that the expiation is, basically, for violating the sanctity of the fast of Ramadan. It is the penalty for showing disrespect to the fast againsts one's carnal desires and breaking it, and the nature of offence in both the cases is identical. The atonement, as such, will be bidding on him, also, who voids his fast by eating or drinking intentionally.

A curious part of the incident is that the sacred Prophet ﷺ allowed the Companion ﷺ concerned to make use for himself and his family the bag of dates he had given to him for distrubing to the poor in expiation of his sin when he submitted that his family was the poorest in Madinah. The legists are of the view that it did not mean that amends had been made in that manner. The Prophet ﷺ had permitted him, at that time, to spend the dates on his family owing to his extreme poverty but the atonement remained due on him. The legal position, also, is that if a person who cannot, for the time being, set free a slave or fast sixty consecutive days or feed sixty persons for deliberately nullifying the fast of Ramadan, the atonement will remain due on him and he should have the intention of carrying it out and feeding sixty persons whenever he may afford it. Imam Zuhri and some other legist-doctors, again, believe that while the correct legal position is the same, the Prophet ﷺ treated the Companion's ﷺ case as an exception, and, thus, the atonement was fulfilled.

The same incident is referred to, a little briefly, in another Tradition related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها and it has, also, been quoted in Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim.

By What Things a Fast is Not Impaired or Nullified

There are certain things about which it can be imagined that the value of the fast was diminished or it was made void on account of them. But the Prophet ﷺ has made it clear through his sayings or action that it was not so and such errors or occurrences made no difference to the purity or validity of the fast.

(٩٣٣/٥٠) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ

نَسِيَ وَهُوَ صَائِمٌ فَأَكَلَ أَوْ شَرِبَ فَلْيَتِمَّ صَوْمَهُ فَإِنَّمَا أَطْعَمَهُ اللَّهُ وَسَقَاهُ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(933/50) it is related on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضى الله عنه

"Whoever forgot and was fasting and ate or drank anything (his fast was not nullified by it), (and he should), (therefore), complete the fast for it was from God that he was fed or offered the drink."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩٣٤/٥١) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثَلَاثٌ لَا

يُفْطِرُنَّ الصَّائِمَ الْحَجَامَةُ وَالْقَيْئُ وَالْإِخْتِلَامُ

(رواه الترمذى)

(934/51) It is related by Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضى الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "A fast is not made void by three things: bleeding by means of a horn, vomiting and wet dream."

(Tirmizi)

(٩٣٥/٥٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا سَأَلَ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنِ الْمُبَاشَرَةِ لِلصَّائِمِ فَرَخَّصَ لَهُ وَآتَاهُ اخْرَافَسًا لَهُ فَنَهَاهُ فَإِذَا الَّذِي رَخَّصَ لَهُ شَيْخٌ وَإِذَا الَّذِي نَهَاهُ شَابٌّ
(رواه ابوداؤد)

(935/52) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه narrated that (once) a man came to the Prophet ﷺ and enquired about lying with his wife and embracing her in the state of fasting (i.e., whether it was allowed). The Prophet ﷺ told him that it was allowed. (But) when another man came and asked the same question, he did not permit it to him. The man whom the Prophet ﷺ had told that it was permissible was advanced in years while the other whom the Prophet ﷺ had forbidden was young." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: The reason for the difference in the replies to the two questioners is self-evident. Since there was a strong likelihood of a young man being overcome with sexual desire and making his fast void, the Prophet ﷺ did not permit it to the young questioner, while as an old man was comparatively safe from such a thing, he told the aged questioner that he could do so.

(٩٣٦/٥٣) عَنْ أَنَسٍ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ اشْتُكَيْتُ عَيْنِي أَفَأَكْتَجِلُ وَأَنَا صَائِمٌ قَالَ نَعَمْ
(رواه الترمذی)

(936/53) It is related by Anas رضي الله عنه that a person came to the Prophet ﷺ and asked: "There is some trouble in my eye. Can I apply Collyrium to it while fasting?" "Yes," you can," replied the Prophet ﷺ." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: It shows that the fast is not affected by applying collyrium or any other medicine to the eyes.

(٩٣٧/٥٤) عَنْ عَامِرِ بْنِ رَبِيعَةَ قَالَ رَأَيْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا لَا أَحْصِي يَتَسَوَّكُ وَهُوَ صَائِمٌ
(رواه الترمذی و ابوداؤد)

(937/54) 'Aamir bin Rabee'ah narrated "On innumerable occasions have I seen the Prophet ﷺ using Miswak in the state of fasting." (Timizi and Abu Dawood)

(٩٣٨/٥٥) عَنْ بَعْضِ أَصْحَابِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ لَقَدْ رَأَيْتُ
النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ بِالْعَرَجِ يَصُبُّ عَلَى رَأْسِهِ الْمَاءَ وَهُوَ صَائِمٌ مِنَ
الْعَطَشِ أَوْ مِنَ الْحَرِّ (رواه مالك و ابو داود)

(938/55) It is related on the authority of some Companions ﷺ that they saw at 'Araj that the Prophet ﷺ was fasting and pouring water) over his head owing to (the intensity of) the heat or thirst. (Mowatta Imam Malik and Abu Dawood)

Commentary: There is no harm in pouring water over the head or taking other similar measures for relief from the severity of thirst or heat during a fast. It is not inconsistent with the spirit of fasting. The Prophet ﷺ, sometimes, did such things to express his humbleness and utter helplessness which is the essence of servitude. He, also, wanted to set an example of ease and facility to his followers.

'Araj was the name of a village situated on the road from Madinah to Makkah. This incident would, therefore, have taken place during the journey of Victory of Makkah which was undertaken, as we have seen, in the month of Ramadan and, in which, the Prophet ﷺ had fasted regularly till reaching 'Usfan.

(٨٣٩/٥٦) عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ قَالَ عُمَرُ بْنُ الْخَطَّابِ هَشَشْتُ فَقَبَّلْتُ
وَأَنَا صَائِمٌ فَقُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَنَعْتُ الْيَوْمَ أَمْرًا عَظِيمًا قَبَّلْتُ وَأَنَا صَائِمٌ قَالَ
أَرَأَيْتَ لَوْ مَضْمَضْتَ مِنَ الْمَاءِ وَأَنْتَ صَائِمٌ قُلْتُ لَا بَأْسَ قَالَ فَمَهْ (رواه ابو داود)
(939/56) Sayyidina Jabir bin Abdullah ﷺ related to us that Sayyidina Umar bin al-Khattab ﷺ had told him "once (while fasting) I was strongly seized with desire and kissed (my wife). Thereafter, I went to the Prophet ﷺ and said to him: O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! I have committed a grave mistake today. I have kissed (my wife) while keeping fast'. The Prophet ﷺ said: 'Tell me, if you take water in your mouth and rinse it, (will it spoil your fast)?' 'No,' it will not,' I replied. 'Then', observed the Prophet ﷺ, 'What harm can be caused (by mere kissing)?' " (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: From it, we not only learn that kissing alone does not make a fast void or impair it but, also, the general rule that what really nullifies the fast is eating, drinking or coition and jsut as the mere putting of a thing to eat or drink in the mouth which as one would say, is a prelude to eating or drinking does not detract from the value of a fast, in the same way a fast is not spoiled or nullified by acts like kissing and embracing which are only the preliminaries of sexulal couplation. However, if a man fears that he might not be able to control his passions, it will be advisable for him to abstain from such things while fasting.

NAFL FASTS

The fasts of the whole of Ramadan are among the fundamental duties of Islam which, like Salah and Zakah must be observed by a Muslim aspiring to be a faithful bondsman. But, apart from them, the Islamic Canonic Law has, also, provided for Nafl or supererogatory fasts, in the manner of other supererogatory forms of worship, and laid a particular stress on them. The sacred Prophet ﷺ used to exhort the people to observe supererogatory fasts not only by word but, also, by deed. At the same time, he took care to see that they did not exceed the limits of moderation and began to pay the same attention to supererogatory fasts as to the obligatory ones, but showing due respect to the Divine Commands, kept the obligatory duties and supererogatory observances in their proper places and maintained the distinction between them.

Zakah of The Body

(٩٤٠/٥٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ زَكَاةٌ وَزَكَاةُ الْجَسَدِ الصَّوْمُ
(رواه ابن ماجه)

(940/57) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There is a Zakah of everything (on paying which it becomes clean), and the Zakah of the body is fasting."
(Ibn Majah)

Abundance of Supererogatory Fasts in The Month of Sha'ban

(٩٤١/٥٨) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَصُومُ حَتَّى نَقُولَ لَا يُفْطِرُ وَيُفْطِرُ حَتَّى نَقُولَ لَا يَصُومُ وَمَا رَأَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ اسْتَكْمَلَ صِيَامَ شَهْرٍ قَطُّ إِلَّا رَمَضَانَ وَمَا رَأَيْتُهُ فِي شَهْرٍ أَكْثَرَ

مِنْهُ صِيَامًا فِي شَعْبَانَ (رواه البخارى ومسلم)
 (941/58) Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها narrated that the practice of the Prophet ﷺ (about supererogatory fasts) was that, (sometimes), he began to fast successively, without a break, till we thought that he will not leave off any, (sometimes) he did not fast and passed his days continuously without fasting till we thought that now he will never keep fast. (She added): 'I never saw that the Prophet ﷺ fast for the whole of a month except the Ramadan and I never saw that he kept more supererogatory fasts in any month except that of Sha'ban.' (In some other versions of the same Tradition it is mentioned that he fasted (nearly) for the whole of Sha'ban). (Bukhar and Muslim)

Commentary: The first part of the above Tradition shows that there was no fixed principle of the holy Prophet ﷺ about supererogatory fasts. Sometimes, he fasted uninterruptedly for days on and, sometimes, remained continuously without a fast, the object being that it did not become difficult for the Ummah to follow his example and there was enough latitude for everyone to take pattern by whatever of his practice or course of conduct that suited his circumstances. The other part tells that the Prophet ﷺ observed the whole month's fasts, regularly and from first to last, only in Ramadan which have been prescribed as obligatory duty by God. In Sha'ban, indeed, he kept more fasts than in any other month except Ramadan.

Six Fasts After Ramadan

عَنْ أَبِي أَيُّوبَ الْأَنْصَارِيِّ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَنْ صَامَ رَمَضَانَ ثُمَّ اتَّبَعَهُ سِتًّا مِنْ شَوَّالٍ كَانَ كَصِيَامِ الدَّهْرِ (رواه مسلم)
 (942/59) It is related by Abu Ayub Ansari رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Whoever observed the fasts of Ramadan, and, after it, observed six supererogatory fasts in the month of *Shawwal*¹, it will be equal to fasting forever (i.e., through out the year). (Muslim)

Commentary: If there occur only 29 days in Ramadan, God, by His Mercy, gives the reward of 30 fasts, after including the 6

Three Supererogatory Fasts In a Month Are Enough

(٩٤٣/٦٠) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍوَابْنِ الْعَاصِ قَالَ قَالَ لِي رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَاعَبْدَ اللَّهِ أَلَمْ أُخْبِرْ أَنَّكَ تَصُومُ النَّهَارَ وَتَقُومُ اللَّيْلَ فَقُلْتُ بَلَى يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ فَلَا تَفْعَلْ صُمْ وَأَفْطِرْ وَقُمْ وَنَمْ فَإِنَّ لِحَسَدِكَ عَلَيْكَ حَقًّا وَإِنَّ لِعَيْنِكَ عَلَيْكَ حَقًّا وَإِنَّ لَزَوْجِكَ عَلَيْكَ حَقًّا وَإِنَّ لَزُورِكَ عَلَيْكَ حَقًّا لَا صَامَ مَنْ صَامَ الدَّهْرَ صَوْمَ ثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ مِنْ كُلِّ شَهْرٍ صَوْمَ الدَّهْرِ كُلِّهِ صُمْ كُلَّ شَهْرٍ صَوْمَ الدَّهْرِ كُلِّهِ صُمْ كُلَّ شَهْرٍ ثَلَاثَةَ أَيَّامٍ وَأَقْرَأِ الْقُرْآنَ فِي كُلِّ شَهْرٍ قُلْتُ إِنِّي أَطِيقُ أَكْثَرَ مِنْ ذَلِكَ قَالَ صُمْ أَفْضَلَ الصَّوْمِ صَوْمَ دَاوُدَ صِيَامَ يَوْمٍ وَأَفْطَارَ يَوْمٍ وَأَقْرَأْ فِي كُلِّ سَبْعِ لَيَالٍ مَرَّةً وَلَا تَزِدْ عَلَى ذَلِكَ

(رواه البخاری و مسلم)

(943/60) Abdullah bin 'Amr bin al-Aas رضي الله عنه narrated that the Prophet ﷺ said to him: "I have heard that you have made it your practice to fast during the day and offer Nafl prayers throughout the night. Is it true?" "Yes, Messenger of Allah ﷺ", he replied. "I do so." "Give it up", observed the Prophet ﷺ. "Keep the fasts as well as leave them. In the same way, pray in the night as well as sleep for your body, too, has a claim on you. (You have no right to tax it to excess and ignore its legitimate demands). Likewise, your eyes have a claim on you. (You must sleep and give them rest). Likewise, your wife has a claim on you, your guests and visitors, also, have a claim on you. (Listen), whoever fasts continually, does not, in a way, keep fast at all.

To keep three supererogatory fasts every month in equivalent to fasting throughout the year. You should, therefore, fast only three days in a month and complete one (recitation) (of the) Qur'an in a month (in Tahajjud).\" (Abdullah bin Amr رضي الله عنه narrated that) he submitted: \"I possess greater strength than that. (Please allow me more)\". The Prophet ﷺ said: \"Then follow the practice of Prophet Dawood عليه السلام, in fasting, that is keeping fast on one day and eat on next (i.e., fast on alternate days), and complete one (recitation of the) Qur'an in Tahajjud in seven nights). Do not exert yourself in excess of that.\"

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Sayyidina Abdullah bin 'Amr bin al-'Aas رضي الله عنه had a great ardour and enthusiasm for worship. It was his regular habit to fast during the day and offer Nafal prayers in the night during which he completed one recitation of the Qur'an. When the Prophet ﷺ learnt about it, he urged moderation as the above Tradition tells. He told him that his body, his family and his friends, too, had a claim on him which should not be disregarded. At first, he advised him to keep 3 supererogatory fasts and complete one recitation of the Qur'an in Tahajjud in a month, but when he submitted that he could endure more without any serious harm, the Prophet ﷺ allowed him to fast on alternate days, in the manner of the Prophet Dawood عليه السلام, and complete one recitation of the Qur'an in the nightly Nafal prayers in a week.

Evidently, the restriction was imposed by the Prophet ﷺ not because there was anything wrong in worshipping much but solely out of kindness and affection in the same way as children are told not to carry a heavy load. Hence, when Abdullah bin 'Amr رضي الله عنه pleaded that he was capable of more than that, the Prophet ﷺ permitted him to fast on alternate days instead of 3 days in a month. We, further, learn, on the authority of Tirmizi, that the Prophet ﷺ had, later on, allowed to complete the recitation of the Qur'an only in 5 days, and, to some other companions, he had even granted the permission to complete it in 3 days.¹

(٩٤٤/٦١) عَنْ أَبِي قَتَادَةَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا أَتَى النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ

①. It is reported in Jama-ul-fuwayid from Musand Ahmad and Tabarani that the Prophet ﷺ had given this permission to Sa'eed bin Munzar Ansari رضي الله عنه.

كَيْفَ تَصُومُ؟ فَغَضِبَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مِنْ قَوْلِهِ فَلَمَّا رَأَى
عُمَرُ غَضَبَهُ قَالَ رَضِينَا بِاللَّهِ رَبًّا وَبِالْإِسْلَامِ دِينًا وَبِمُحَمَّدٍ نَبِيًّا نَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ مِنْ
غَضَبِ اللَّهِ وَغَضَبِ رَسُولِهِ فَجَعَلَ عُمَرُ يُرَدِّدُ هَذَا الْكَلَامَ حَتَّى سَكَنَ غَضَبُهُ
فَقَالَ عُمَرُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ كَيْفَ مَنْ يَصُومُ الدَّهْرَ كُلَّهُ قَالَ لَا صَامَ وَلَا أَفْطَرَ أَوْ
قَالَ لَمْ يَصُمْ وَلَمْ يَفْطِرْ قَالَ كَيْفَ مَنْ يَصُومُ يَوْمَيْنِ وَيُفْطِرُ يَوْمًا قَالَ وَيُطِيقُ
ذَلِكَ أَحَدٌ؟ قَالَ كَيْفَ مَنْ يَصُومُ يَوْمًا وَيُفْطِرُ يَوْمًا قَالَ ذَلِكَ صَوْمُ دَاوُدَ
قَالَ كَيْفَ مَنْ يَصُومُ يَوْمًا وَيُفْطِرُ يَوْمَيْنِ قَالَ وَدِدْتُ أَنِّي طَوَّقْتُ ذَلِكَ ثُمَّ قَالَ
رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ثَلَاثٌ مِنْ كُلِّ شَهْرٍ وَرَمَضَانَ إِلَى رَمَضَانَ
فَهَذَا صِيَامُ الدَّهْرِ كُلِّهِ وَصِيَامُ يَوْمِ عَرَفَةَ أَحْتَسِبُ عَلَى اللَّهِ أَنْ يُكَفِّرَ السَّنَةَ
الَّتِي قَبْلَهُ وَالسَّنَةَ الَّتِي بَعْدَهُ وَصِيَامُ يَوْمِ عَاشُورَاءَ أَحْتَسِبُ عَلَى اللَّهِ أَنْ
يُكَفِّرَ السَّنَةَ الَّتِي قَبْلَهُ

(رواه مسلم)

(944/61) Sayyidina Abu Qatadah رضي الله عنه said that a man came to the Prophet ﷺ and asked him how he fasted. He was angry at what he said, and when Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه observed his anger he said:

"We are satisfied with Allah as Lord, with Islam as religion and with Muhammad as Prophet ﷺ. We seek refuge in Allah from the anger of Allah and from the anger of His Messenger ﷺ."

رَضِينَا بِاللَّهِ رَبًّا وَبِالْإِسْلَامِ
دِينًا وَبِمُحَمَّدٍ نَبِيًّا نَعُوذُ بِاللَّهِ
مِنْ غَضَبِ اللَّهِ وَغَضَبِ
رَسُولِهِ.

He kept on repeating these words till his anger calmed down, then asked, "Messenger of Allah ﷺ what is the position of one who observes perpetual fast?" He said, "May he not fast or break his fast!" or he said, "He has neither fasted nor broken his fast." He asked, "What is the position of one who fasts two days out of every three?" The Prophet ﷺ said, "Is anyone able to do that?" He asked what was the position of one who fasted every second day and was told that was the fast Dawood عليه السلام observed.

He asked what was the position of one who fasted one day out every three, and the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "I wish I were given power to observe that." Then he said, "The observance of three days' fast every month and of Ramadan every year is a perpetual fast. I seek from Allah that fasting on the day of Arafah may atone for the sins of the preceding and the coming year, and I seek from Allah that fasting on the day of Ashura may atone for the sins of the preceding year." (Muslim)

Commentary: Some points need to be explained. Someone asked the Prophet ﷺ how he kept the (optional) fasts and he was displeased with that question just as a teacher is with a student's improper question. He should have asked about himself that how he should observe optional fasts. Some of the practices of the Prophet ﷺ were exclusive to him and beyond other people.

Sayyidina Umar ؓ observed his displeasure and tried to make amends on behalf of the Muslim body. He then asked about optional prayers (Salah).

The Prophet ﷺ did not approve of anyone keep fast everyday.

He himself suggested that for the general Muslims it was enough to keep the fasts of Ramadan and three optional fasts each month. They would fetch reward for thirty fasts; and hence they would be like permanent fasting.

He also recommended the fasts on the days of Arafah and too on the days of Ashura.

The fast on the day of Arafah 10th of Zul Hajjah) is for those who do not perform Hajj. For the pilgrims the approved worship on that day is the standing at the plain of Arafah, the offering of Zuhr and Asr together in brief. They must not offer the sunnah of Zuhr. If they fast on that day, it would be inconvenient to them, hence it is not preferred that they fast on that day. (In fact, one hadith disallows them). The Prophet ﷺ showed through his conduct too that one must not fast; he drank milk on the plain of Arafah on the 9th Zul Hajjah while he was riding a camel so that everyone may observe that he was not fasting.

Those who do not perform the Hajj are recommended to fast on this day and obtain blessings and mercy. Similarly, on the Id day, they are required to make the sacrifice.

The fast on the day of Ashurah is important because it was obligatory before the fasting of Ramadan became obligatory. When fasting in Ramadan was prescribed the command to the fast on the Ashura was rescinded. We will see the Ahadith later on.

Practice of The Prophet ﷺ

Concerning Three Fasts in a Month

(٩٤٥/٦٢) عَنْ حَفْصَةَ قَالَتْ أَرَبَعَ لَمْ تَكُنْ يَدْعُهُنَّ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ صِيَامَ عَاشُورَاءَ وَالْعَشْرِ وَثَلَاثَةِ أَيَّامٍ مِنْ كُلِّ شَهْرٍ وَرَكْعَتَانِ قَبْلَ الْفَجْرِ

(رواه النسائي)

(945/62) Sayyidah Hafsa رضي الله عنها related to us that there are four things which the Messenger of Allah ﷺ never omitted; (i) the fast of 'Aashura¹'; (ii) the fast of the 'Ashra of Zul-Hajjah² (i.e., from the 1st of Zul-Hajjah to Yaum-ul-'Arafa i.e., the 9th of Zul-Hajjah), (iii) the three fasts of every month; and (iv) the two Rak'at before Fajr. (Nasai)

Commentary: What it shows is that though the four things were not obligatory, the Prophet ﷺ observed them regularly.

(٩٤٦/٦٣) عَنْ مُعَاذَةَ الْعَدَوِيَّةِ أَنَّهَا قَالَتْ سَأَلْتُ عَائِشَةَ أَكَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَصُومُ مِنْ كُلِّ شَهْرٍ ثَلَاثَةَ أَيَّامٍ قَالَتْ نَعَمْ فَقُلْتُ لَهَا مِنْ أَيِّ أَيَّامِ الشَّهْرِ كَانَ يَصُومُ قَالَتْ لَمْ يَكُنْ يُبَالِي مِنْ أَيِّ أَيَّامِ الشَّهْرِ يَصُومُ

(رواه مسلم)

(946/63) Mu'azah Adawiyah narrated "I asked Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها, 'Did the Prophet ﷺ fast on three days every month?' 'Yes', she replied. 'He fasted on three days every month'. I, then, asked, 'In which part of the month (and on what dates)?' 'He did not care in which part of the month he fasted,' she replied."

(Muslim)

Commentary: In some Traditions it is stated that the Prophet ﷺ used to keep fast on three days in the beginning of every month while, in others, that he did so on the 13th, 14th and 15th of it. In some other reports, again, fasting on 3 days in a week is mentioned. But, as it is distinctly indicated in Sayyidah Ayshah's statement, none of these was his regular practice. The Prophet ﷺ often, had to travel and, then, there were so many other things which did not make it possible for him to have any fixed days for Nafl fasts. Moreover, if he fasted regularly on certain days or dates, it would not have been easy for his followers, with divergent circumstances, to take after him in this regard, and would have, further, given rise to the misunderstanding that these fasts, too, were among the essential duties of the Faith. In fine, for reasons like these, the Prophet ﷺ did not abide by any particular days or dates. It was the best and wisest course for him but as far as the Companions were concerned, he, often, exhorted them to keep the three fasts of the month on the 13th, 14th and 15th of the lunar dates.

Fasts of Ayyam-ul Beed

(٩٤٧/٦٤) عَنْ أَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَا أَبَا ذَرٍّ إِذَا صُمْتَ مِنَ الشَّهْرِ ثَلَاثَةَ أَيَّامٍ فَصُمْ ثَلَاثَ عَشْرَةٍ وَأَرْبَعَ عَشْرَةَ وَخَمْسَ عَشْرَةَ

(رواه الترمذی والنسائی)

(947/64) Abu Zarr Ghifari رضی اللہ عنہ narrated that the Prophet ﷺ said to him: "O Abu Zarr! When you keep the three monthly fasts, keep them on the 13th, 14th and 15th (of the month)."

(Tirmizi, Nasai)

(٩٤٨/٦٥) عَنْ قَتَادَةَ بْنِ مِلْحَانَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَأْمُرُنَا أَنْ نَصُومَ الْبَيْضَ ثَلَاثَ عَشْرَةٍ وَأَرْبَعَ عَشْرَةَ وَخَمْسَ عَشْرَةَ وَقَالَ هُوَ كَهَيْئَةِ الدَّهْرِ

(رواه ابوداؤد والنسائی)

(948/65) Qatadah bin Milhan related to us that the Prophet ﷺ used to tell us to fast on *Ayyam al-Beed*¹ i.e., on the 13th, 14th and 15th of the month, and he said that to fast on these three days of the month was equal in value to fasting forever (i.e., throughout the year).

(Abu Dawood and Nasai)

Commentary: The Traditions reproduced above show, firstly, that the faithful bondsman who observes 3 supererogatory fasts every month will merit the reward equal in value to fasting on all thirty days of the month, and secondly, that it is better to observe the fasts on the 13th, 14th and 15th of the month.

①. Meaning days of the month during the nights of which the moon is at its brightest, i.e., the 13th, 14th and 15th of the month according to the lunar calendar.

The fast of 'Aashurah

In some of the preceding narratives the virtues of the fast of 'Aashurah and the special care the Prophet ﷺ took to observe it have been mentioned in passing. The Traditions that follow appertain specifically to it and, also, deal with the historical significance of that day.

(٩٤٩/٦٦) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَدِمَ الْمَدِينَةَ فَوَجَدَ الْيَهُودَ صِيَامًا يَوْمَ عَاشُورَاءَ فَقَالَ لَهُمْ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا هَذَا الْيَوْمَ الَّذِي تَصُومُونَهُ فَقَالُوا هَذَا يَوْمٌ عَظِيمٌ أَنْجَى اللَّهُ فِيهِ مُوسَى وَقَوْمَهُ وَغَرَّقَ فِرْعَوْنَ وَقَوْمَهُ فَصَامَهُ مُوسَى شُكْرًا فَنَحْنُ نَصُومُهُ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَنَحْنُ أَحَقُّ وَأَوْلَى بِمُوسَى مِنْكُمْ فَصَامَهُ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَأَمَرَ بِصِيَامِهِ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(949/66) Ibn-i-Abbas رضي الله عنه narrated that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ came to Madinah he found that the Jews fasted on Yaum Al-Aashurah, i.e., the 10th of Moharrum. He enquired from them what was the significance of the day (in their religious tradition) that they fasted on it. They replied: 'It is a very great day with us. On it, the Lord had delivered Musa عليه السلام and the Children of Israel from the enemy and drown the Pharaoh and his army, and Musa عليه السلام used to fast on this day as a mark of gratitude to the Almighty, and we, too fast on it as his loyal followers.' The Prophet ﷺ thereupon remarked: 'Musa عليه السلام has a greater claim upon me than upon you.' He, then, fasted on that day himself and instructed his followers to do the same."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: One can imagine from the above Tradition that the sacred Prophet ﷺ began to observe the fast on the day of 'Aashurah only when he had come to live in Madinah, after the Migration, though it is clearly stated in Sayyidah Ayshah's رضي الله عنها narrative, quoted, again, in Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim that the Quraysh of Makkah fasted on the day of 'Aashurah even during the days of Ignorance and the holy Prophet ﷺ, also, kept it in Makkah, before the migration. Later when the Prophet ﷺ migrated to Madinah, he kept that fast there, too, and ordered his followers to act likewise.

In fact, the day of 'Aashurah commanded much reverence among the Quraish, also, in the days of Ignorance. The covering of the House of Ka'bah was changed on that day and the Quraish fasted on it. Perhaps some reports of the sayings of Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام and Sayyidina Ismail عليه السلام regarding the day of 'Aashurah had reached the Quraish and it was the custom of the holy Prophet ﷺ to join in the good things the Quraish did owing to their affinity with the community of Ibrahim عليه السلام. He, consequently, participated in the Hajj and, also, kept the fast of 'Aashurah with the Quraish but did not enjoin it upon others. Later, when the Prophet ﷺ came to Madinah and saw the Jews observing the fast of 'Aashurah and learnt from them that it was the blessed day on which God had drowned Pharoah and his people and delivered Sayyidina Musa عليه السلام and his followers from them, and, according to reports mentioned in Musnad Ahmad etc., the Ark of Nuh عليه السلام also, had, rested on the Mount of Ararat on that very day, he took a greater interest in the fast, and also, ordered the Muslims, in general, to fast on that day. In some Traditions it is stated that the Prophet ﷺ enjoined it with such force and emphasis as is, generally, done in case of an obligatory or near-obligatory duty. Thus, it is related in Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim, on the authority of Rubbi'ah bint Mu'awwiz and Salmah bint Aku, that on the morning of 'Aashurah, the Prophet ﷺ send word to the Ansars living in the settlements of Madinah that those who might not have eaten or drunk anything up to that time should fast on that day while those who had eaten or drunk something should abstain from that time abstain from it for the rest of the day and behave like fasting men.

These reports have induced many a legist to conclude that in the beginning the fast of 'Aashurah was Wajib i.e., essential or binding but later when the fasts of Ramadan were prescribed, its obligatoriness was annulled and its position became that of a supererogatory fast about which we have already seen the Prophet's ﷺ saying "I hope that by its auspiciousness the sins of the previous year will be removed." Even after it, the Prophet ﷺ continued to attach the greatest importance to it after the fasts of Ramadan.

(٩٥٠/٢٧) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ مَا رَأَيْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَتَحَرَّى صِيَامَ يَوْمٍ فَضَّلَهُ عَلَى غَيْرِهِ إِلَّا هَذَا الْيَوْمَ يَوْمَ عَاشُورَاءَ وَهَذَا الشَّهْرُ يَعْنِي شَهْرَ رَمَضَانَ (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(950/67) Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه narrated "I did not see that the Prophet ﷺ showed much concern for the fast of any day of virtue and excellence save of the day of 'Aashurah and of the blessed month of Ramadan." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The purport of the above Tradition is that it was felt by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه from the practice of the Prophet ﷺ that among the supererogatory fasts, he attached the greatest importance to the fast of 'Aashurah."

(٩٥١/٦٨) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ حِينَ صَامَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَوْمَ عَاشُورَاءَ وَأَمَرَبَصِيَا بِهِ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِنَّهُ يَوْمٌ يُعَظَّمُهُ الْيَهُودُ وَالنَّصَارَى فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَإِذَا كَانَ الْعَامُ الْمُقْبِلُ إِنشَاءَ اللَّهِ ضُمْنَا الْيَوْمَ التَّاسِعَ قَالَ فَلَمْ يَأْتِ الْعَامُ الْمُقْبِلُ حَتَّى تُوفَّى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ (رواه مسلم)

(951/68) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ made it his principle and custom to observe the fast of 'Aashurah, and, also, bade the Muslims to do the same, some Companions رضي الله عنهم said to him: "O Messenger of Allah ﷺ! The Jews and Christians celebrate this day as a festival (and, in a way, it has become their national and religious characteristic and when we keep fast on that particular day a resemblance is created between us and them. Can no alteration, then, be made in it so that the question of resemblance did not arise)?" The Prophet ﷺ replied: "God willing, when the next year comes we will fast on the 9th." "But", adds Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه, "The Prophet ﷺ died before (the arrival of) the month of Muharrum of the next year." (Muslim)

Commentary: The decision to make a change in the date of the fast of 'Aashurah could not be acted upon in the Prophet's ﷺ lifetime but the Ummah recieved the guidance from it that such a similitude and assoication should preferably be avoided.

The resolve to keep fast on the 9th of Muharram could mean two things, both of which have been explained by the commentators. Firstly, that the Prophet ﷺ and, with him, the Ummah will observe the fast on the 9th instead of the 10th of Muharrum, and, secondly, that they will fast on the 9th in addition to the 10th of Muharrum, and, thus, their conduct will become different from that of the Jews and Christians. A majority of theologians, however, have preferred the latter view and held that, in addition to the day of Aashurah, fast should, also, be kept on the 9th of Muharrum, and if it may not be possible due to some reason to fast on the 9th of Muharrum then it should be done on the 11th.

Nevertheless, since in our time the Jews and Christians do not observe fast on the day of 'Aashurah, i.e., the 10th of Muharrum, and, in truth, they do not follow the lunar calendar at all, the question of similitude and partnership has, in our view, ceased to have a relevance. It should, therefore, not be necessary, now, to, keep fast on the 9th or 11th of Muharrum.

The Fast of Arafah

(٩٥٢/٦٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ أَيَّامٍ أَحَبَّ إِلَى اللَّهِ أَنْ يُتَعَبَّدَ فِيهَا مِنْ عَشْرِ ذِي الْحِجَّةِ يَعِدُلُ صِيَامُ كُلِّ يَوْمٍ بِصِيَامِ سَنَةٍ وَقِيَامُ كُلِّ لَيْلَةٍ مِنْهَا بِقِيَامِ لَيْلَةِ الْقَدْرِ (رواه الترمذی)

(952/69) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ said that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "There are no days on which Allah likes better to be worshipped than the ten days of Zul-Hajjah. Fasting observed on each of these days is equivalent to a year's fasting, and salah during each of these nights is equivalent to salah during Laylatul Qadr." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: We have explained in a previous Hadith that these refer to the nine days of Zul Hajjah because it is forbidden to fast on Id day which is on the tenth.

(٩٥٣/٧٠) عَنْ أَبِي قَتَادَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ صِيَامُ يَوْمٍ عَرَفَةَ إِنِّي أَحْتَسِبُ عَلَى اللَّهِ أَنْ يُكَفِّرَ السَّنَةَ الَّتِي بَعْدَهُ وَالسَّنَةَ الَّتِي قَبْلَهُ (رواه الترمذی)

(953/70) It is related by Abu Qatadah رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "I confidently expect from God that the fast of the day of 'Arafah (i.e., the 9th of Zul-Hajjah) will be an atonement for the sins of the previous year and of the subsequent year." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: Form the other sayings as well as the practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ it appears that this exhortation for the fast of Arfah is not for the pilgrims¹ who are camping in 'Arafat on the day of Arafah for performing the Hajj. For them, the right course is not to fast on that day.

Observation: Some people doubt such tidings which promise great reward. They should not do so especially when the Hadith is authentic.

The Fast of 15th of Sha'ban

(٩٥٤/٧١) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا كَانَتْ لَيْلَةُ النِّصْفِ مِنْ شَعْبَانَ فَقُومُوا لَيْلَهَا وَصُومُوا نَهَارَهَا فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ يَنْزِلُ فِيهَا لَغُرُوبِ الشَّمْسِ إِلَى السَّمَاءِ الدُّنْيَا فَيَقُولُ أَلَا مِنْ مُسْتَغْفِرٍ فَأَغْفِرُ لَهُ أَلَا مُسْتَرْزِقٍ فَأَرْزُقُهُ أَلَا مُبْتَلَى فَأُعَافِيهِ أَلَا كَذَا أَلَا كَذَا حَتَّى يَطْلَعَ الْفَجْرُ

(رواه ابن ماجه)

(954/71) It is related by Sayyidina Ali رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When the 15th night of Sha'ban comes, on that night offer Nafl prayers in the presence of the Lord and keep fast on that day for, in that night, soon after sunset, the special mercy of Allah descends on the First Heaven and He proclaims, 'Is there a bondsman who begs forgiveness from Me that I may forgive him? Is there a bondsman who begs sustenance from Me that I may grant him sustenance? Is there a bondsman in distress who begs good health and well-being from Me that I may bestow good health and well-being upon him?' In the same way, God calls different kinds of needy people to supplicate to Him for their needs at that time so that He may grant their petitions. From sunset till dawn, in that night, the Mercy of the Lord calls His bondsmen in a like manner." (Ibn Majah)

Commentary: On the basis of this report the practice obtains among the religious-minded Muslims everywhere to keep fast on the whole, feel that, from the point of view of documentary evidence of transmission, it is a very weak kind of report. About one of its narrators, Abu Bakr bin Abdullah, the doctors of formal criticism of the Traditions have even gone to the extent of saying that he used to concoct reports.

①. Meaning the pilgrims to the House of Ka'bah for carrying out the Hajj.

Only this solitary report is found in the standard compilations about the fasts of the 15th of Sha'ban, but as regards prayer, supplication and repentance in the night of the 15th of that month, a number of other Traditions have, also, been related.

Though the line of narrators of none of these is reliable, as judged by the criterion laid down by the scholars of the Traditions, the number of such narratives is quite large and these have been related on the authority of different Companions, and, as such, some scholars like Ibn-is-Salah are disinclined to hold them as wholly unfounded.

Supererogatory Fasts on Particular Days

In the forgoing Traditions, Muslims have been urged to keep supererogatory fasts in some particular months of the year and some specific dates of the month. In the same way, they have also been exhorted to fast on certain days of the week. Guidance, in this regard, is, also, available from the practice of the sacred Prophet ﷺ.

(٩٥٥/٧٢) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَعْرَضُ

الْأَعْمَالُ يَوْمَ الْإِثْنَيْنِ وَالْخَمِيسِ فَأَحِبُّ أَنْ يُعْرَضَ عَمَلِي وَأَنَا صَائِمٌ

(رواه الترمذی)

(955/72) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضی اللہ عنہ that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Deeds are presented (before) God on (every) Monday and Thursday, and I want that I am fasting when my deeds are presented." (Tirmizi)

(٩٥٦/٧٣) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَصُومُ

(رواه الترمذی والنسائی)

يَوْمَ الْإِثْنَيْنِ وَالْخَمِيسِ

(956/73) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضی اللہ عنہا that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ kept fasts on Monday and Thursday."

(Tirmizi and Nasai)

(٩٥٧/٧٤) عَنْ أَبِي قَتَادَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ سئلَ عَنْ يَوْمِ
الْإِثْنَيْنِ فَقَالَ فِيهِ وَلِدْتُ وَفِيهِ أُنزِلَ عَلَيَّ
(رواه مسلم)

(957/74) Abu Qatadah رضي الله عنه narrated that (once) the Prophet ﷺ was asked about fasting on Mondays, and he replied: "I was born on Monday and it was on Monday that the revelation of the Qur'an to me began."
(Muslim)

Commentary: It shows that Monday is a most propitious day. It was on it that the sacred Prophet ﷺ, was born and the revelation of the Word of God began. To fast on it, naturally, is highly commendable and praiseworthy.

One of the reasons why the Prophet ﷺ, sometimes, or often, fasted on a Monday was that the deeds of men were presented to Allah on it and he wanted to be fasting when it took place, and the other was the feeling of gratitude at the two outstanding favours of Allah his own birth and the commencement of the Revelation which, indeed, are a blessing for the entire mankind.

(٩٥٨/٧٥) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَلَّمَا كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى
اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُفْطِرُ يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ
(رواه الترمذى والنسائى)

(958/75) It is related on the authority of Abdullah bin Masud رضي الله عنه that seldom it was that the Prophet ﷺ did not keep fast on a Friday."
(Tirmizi and Nasai)

Commentary: It shows that the Prophet ﷺ generally, fasted on Fridays. But from other Traditions we learn that he forbade it for the reason that people did not, owing to the blessedness and superiority of that day, single it out for the supererogatory fast and its night for keeping vigil.

(٩٥٩/٧٦) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا
تَخْتَصُّوا لَيْلَةَ الْجُمُعَةِ بِصِيَامٍ مِنْ بَيْنِ اللَّيَالِي وَلَا تَخْتَصُّوا يَوْمَ الْجُمُعَةِ بِصِيَامٍ
مِنْ بَيْنِ الْأَيَّامِ إِلَّا أَنْ يَكُونَ فِي صَوْمٍ يَصُومُهُ أَحَدُكُمْ
(رواه مسلم)

(959/76) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Do not single out the night of Friday among the nights for prayer, and, similarly, do not single out the day of Friday among the days for fasting except that a Friday falls on the date on which anyone of you habitually keeps a supererogatory fast. (In that case, there is no harm in keeping a supererogatory fast on a Friday)". (Muslim)

Commentary: It was quite possible that affected strongly by the exceptional auspiciousness of a Friday, people who had a flair for perfection began to show excessive solicitude for keeping a supererogatory fast on it and devoting its night to prayers, and, thus, something which God had not prescribed as binding or essential got elevated to that position. Hence, the Prophet ﷺ disallowed it. The injunction, however, is of an administrative nature and its purpose merely is that the supererogatory fast on a Friday and the spending of its night in devotions did not become an additional ritual.

(٩٦٠/٧٧) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَصُومُ مِنَ الشَّهْرِ السَّبْتِ وَالْأَحَدِ وَالْإِثْنَيْنِ وَمِنَ الشَّهْرِ الْآخِرِ الثَّلَاثَاءِ وَالْأَرْبَعَاءِ وَالْخَمِيسَ
(رواه الترمذی)

(960/77) It is related on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها that the Prophet ﷺ (also did so that he) fasted, in one month, on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, and, in the other, on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. (Tirmizi)

Commentary: We have learnt, already, from Sayyidah Ayshah's own narrative that the holy Prophet ﷺ did not follow a fixed routine about the three supererogatory fasts of the month. What the above Tradition denotes simply is that it was, also, his practice that in one month, he fasted on the first three days of the week, i.e., Saturday, Sunday and Monday, and, in the next, on the three coming after them, i.e., Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. About Friday, it has perviously been stated in the Tradition related by Abdullah bin Mas'ud ؓ that the prophet ﷺ often kept fast on it. Thus, apart from the day and dates the fasts on which enjoy an intrinsic superiority, the Prophet ﷺ took care that his supererogatory fast fell on every day of the week so that people could know that all the seven days were the days of worship.

Days on Which Supererogatory Fasts Are Prescribed

There are certain days in a year on which it is forbidden to observe fasting. God is the Absolute Monarch, the Supreme Being, the Knower of all things. He declared Salah to be the worship of highest order and yet forbade the offering up of it at some particular hours like those of the rising, setting and declining of the sun. Likewise, He proclaimed fasting to be a particularly favoured form of worship but, at the same time, prohibited it on certain days. We are but to carry out His Commandments. It is not for us to reason why.

(٩٦١/٧٨) عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدٍ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ صَوْمِ يَوْمِ الْفِطْرِ وَالنَّحْرِ
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(961/78) Abu Sa'eed Khudri رضي الله عنه narrated that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ has forbidden the fast of Yaum-ul-Fitr and of the day of sacrifice (of animals) (i.e., Yaumul Adha) (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩٦٢/٧٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ نَهَى عَنْ صِيَامِ يَوْمَيْنِ يَوْمِ الْأَضْحَى وَيَوْمِ الْفِطْرِ
(رواه مسلم)

(962/79) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه said, that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ disallowed fasting on the Eid Al-Adha and the Eid-Al-Fitr. (Muslim)

(٩٦٣/٨٠) عَنْ أَبِي عُبَيْدٍ مَوْلَى ابْنِ أَرْهَرَ قَالَ شَهِدْتُ الْعِيدَ مَعَ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ فَجَاءَ فَصَلَّى ثُمَّ انْصَرَفَ فَخَطَبَ النَّاسَ فَقَالَ إِنَّ هَذَانِ يَوْمَانِ نَهَى رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ عَنْ صِيَامِهِمَا يَوْمَ فِطْرِكُمْ مِنْ صِيَامِكُمْ وَالْآخِرُ يَوْمٌ تَأْكُلُونَ فِيهِ مِنْ نُسُكِكُمْ
(رواه مسلم)

(963/80) Abu Ubayd Ibn Azhar (Taba'ee) narrated "I offered the Eid prayers behind Umar bin Khattab رضي الله عنه. He led the service, and, at the conclusion of it, delivered the sermon in which he said: "The two days of Eid are such that on them the Prophet ﷺ has forbidden fasting. Of these, one is the day of your breaking fasts (after the whole of Ramadan) and the other is the day of eating the flesh of the animals sacrificed by you." (Muslim)

(٩٦٤/٨١) عَنْ نُبَيْشَةَ الْهَذَلِيَّ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَيَّامُ

التَّشْرِيقِ أَيَّامُ أَكْلٍ وَشُرْبٍ وَذِكْرِ اللَّهِ (رواه مسلم)

(964/81) It is related by Nubaisha Huzali رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said that "Ayyam ul-Tashriq (i.e., the 11th, 12th and 13th of Zul-Hajjah) are the days of eating, drinking and remembering the Lord." (Muslim)

Commentary: In the two aforementioned narratives of Sayyidina Abu Saeed Khudri and Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه it is explicitly forbidden to fast on the days of Eidul Fitr and Eidul Adha, and, in Sayyidina Umar's account, it is, further, indicated that the fast of Yaumul Fitr is forbidden because God has proclaimed it to be the "Day of breaking Fast, i.e. of abstaining from fasting, and eating and drinking after Ramadan, and, thus, to fast on this day is to act against the wish and purpose of Allah and the fast of Yaumul Adha is forbidden because the pleasure of the Lord is that the bondsmen ate, like beggars at His door, the flesh of the animals sacrificed by them as a feast from Allah, and, he, of course, is a most arrogant and ungrateful bondsman who deliberately keeps fast on the day of general feast of God. Since the 11th and 12th of Zul Hujjah are the days of the sacrificial offering of animals, the same rule will, also, apply to them.

From Nubaisha Huzali's رضي الله عنه report we, again, learnt that the Prophet ﷺ has declared all the days of Tashriq to be the days of feast from the Lord and these include the 13th of Zul-Hajjah as well. Thus, fasting is prohibited on all the four days, from the 10th to the 13th Zul-Hujjah. Now, to fast on these days will be a sin, not worship.

A Supererogatory Fast Can be Voided

A heavy penalty has to be paid for voiding a fast of the month of Ramadan without a cogent reason. But a supererogatory fast can be broken before time without incurring a penalty or the need to make amends for it. The Prophet ﷺ has done it himself, occasionally, and, also, informed others that it was permissible.

(٩٦٥/٨٢) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ دَخَلَ عَلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ ذَاتَ يَوْمٍ فَقَالَ هَلْ عِنْدَكُمْ شَيْءٌ فَقُلْنَا لَا قَالَ فَإِنِّي إِذَا صَائِمٌ ثُمَّ آتَانَا يَوْمًا آخَرَ فَقُلْنَا يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ أُهْدِيَ لَنَا حَيْسٌ فَقَالَ أَرَيْنِيهِ فَلَقَدْ أَصْبَحْتُ صَائِمًا فَأَكَلْتُ (رواه مسلم)

(965/82) It is related by Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها that one day the Prophet ﷺ came to my apartment and asked, 'Is there anything to eat in your house?' 'There is nothing at this time,' I replied. The Prophet ﷺ said, 'Then I shall keep fast today.' Later, when on another day the Prophet ﷺ came to my apartment, I said to him, 'Today (someone) has sent me Hais¹ as a gift.' 'Do eat it'. The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'Let me see it. I had formulated the intention to fast today.' He, then ate a portion of it and did not keep fast.' (Muslim)

Commentary: It shows, firstly, that the intention for a supererogatory fast can be formulated during the day also, and, secondly, that a supererogatory fast can be voided if one changes one's mind after the formulation of intention.

(٩٦٦/٨٣) عَنْ أُمِّ هَانِئٍ قَالَتْ لَمَّا كَانَ يَوْمُ الْفَتْحِ فَتَحَ مَكَّةَ جَاءَتْ فَاطِمَةُ فَجَلَسَتْ عَلَى يَسَارِ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَأُمُّ هَانِئٍ عَنْ يَمِينِهِ فَجَاءَتْ الْوَلِيدَةُ بِإِنَاءٍ فِيهِ شَرَابٌ فَنَاولَتْهُ فَشَرِبَ مِنْهُ ثُمَّ نَاولَهُ أُمُّ هَانِئٍ فَشَرِبَتْ مِنْهُ فَقَالَتْ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ لَقَدْ أَفْطَرْتُ وَكُنْتُ صَائِمَةً فَقَالَ لَهَا أَكُنْتُ تَقْضِينَ شَيْئًا قَالَتْ لَا قَالَ فَلَا يَضُرُّكَ إِنْ كَانَ تَطَوُّعًا

(رواه ابو داود والترمذى والدارمى)

(966/83) It is related by Umm Haani bint Abi Talib رضى الله عنها "On the day of the Victory of Makkah (when the Prophet ﷺ was in Makkah), Fatimah رضى الله عنها came and sat on the left side of the Prophet ﷺ while I was sitting on his right. In the meantime, a little girl brought something for the Prophet ﷺ and handed it over to him. The Prophet ﷺ drank a little of it, and, then, passed it on to me, and I, also, drank a little of it, and, after it, I told the Prophet ﷺ that I was fasting and had voided the fast by drinking it. The Prophet ﷺ enquired, 'did you want to make amends for any obligatory fast by means of it?' 'No', I replied, '(It was simply a supererogatory fast).' The Prophet ﷺ, ①. A kind of sweetmeat prepared with dates and butter.

thereupon, remarked, 'There is no harm if it was a supererogatory fast.' (Abu Dawood, Tirmizi and Daarami)

Commentary: It distinctly tells that there is no sin in breaking a supererogatory fast before time. In another Tradition referring to the same incident it is stated that "a person who is keeping a supererogatory fast is free to complete it if he likes or to break it (before time) if he wants to do so for some reason." But in none of the two Traditions is it clarified whether another fast, on some other day, has to be kept as an atonement for it. The Tradition given below, however, contains the command for the expiatory fast.

(٩٦٧/٨٤) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كُنْتُ أَنَا وَحَفْصَةُ صَائِمَتَيْنِ فَعُرِضَ لَنَا طَعَامٌ
اِسْتَهْنَاهُ فَآكَلْنَا مِنْهُ فَقَالَتْ حَفْصَةُ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ إِنَّا كُنَّا صَائِمَتَيْنِ فَعُرِضَ لَنَا
طَعَامٌ اِسْتَهْنَاهُ فَآكَلْنَا مِنْهُ قَالَ اِقْضِيَا يَوْمًا آخَرَ مَكَانَهُ
(رواه الترمذی)

(967/84) Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها narrated "Both I and Hafsa رضى الله عنها were keeping a supererogatory fast when food was laid before us. We felt inclined to eat it and we ate it. After it, Hafsa رضى الله عنها said to the Prophet ﷺ, 'O Messenger of Allah! Both of us were fasting and (in that state) food was brought to us. We liked the food and ate it (and, thus, void the fast).' 'Keep an expiatory fast in place of it on some other day,' replied the Prophet ﷺ.' (Tirmizi)

Commentary: It shows that when a supererogatory fast is intentionally voided another fast should be kept to make amends for it. It is essential to do so, according to Imam Abu Hanifah رحمه الله, while Imam Sha'fee رحمه الله believes that it is only Mustahab.

قال الله تعالى

وَلِلَّهِ عَلَى النَّاسِ حِجُّ الْبَيْتِ مَنِ اسْتَطَاعَ إِلَيْهِ
سَبِيلًا ط وَمَنْ كَفَرَ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ غَنِيٌّ عَنِ الْعَالَمِينَ
(البقره ٩٧:٣)

NATURE AND OBJECTS OF THE HAJJ

Among the five principal tenets of Islam, the last is the Hajj or Pilgrimage to Makkah.

What the Hajj denotes, briefly, is that the truthful Believers present themselves, on a fixed day, in the court of the Almighty, like His frienzied adorers, to express their fidelity to the legacy of His Friend, Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام, by emulating his example in every act and gesture, and to identify themselves with his sublime ideals and resplendent sentiments to the best of their ability.

One aspect of the Glory of Allah is that He is the Allpowerful, the Absolute, the King of Kings, and we are His humble slaves. The other is that, in Him, all the attributes of Beauty and Elegance, which evoke the feelings of love and admiration, are assembled in their most perfect form, and, thus, He, alone, is Adored One, in the real sense. The former aspect of Might and Magnificence demands that the bondsmen appear before the Lord as the embodiments of humility and lowliness. The foremost practical duty in Islam, i.e., prayer (Salah), is typically representative of this state, and Zakah, too, is amply indicative of another feature of the unique relationship by demonstrating that the authority of the Lord extends over the wealth earned or acquired by the bondsmen as well. The latter aspect of Charm and Loveability requires that the attachment of the bondsman to God should be one of love and fervency. To some extent, this peculiarity finds its expression in fasting. To forego food and drink and to abstain from the gratification of carnal desires is among the degrees or stages of love. But the Hajj offers a complete manifestation of it. To wear an unsewn, shroud-like a garment instead of a stitched dress, to remain bareheaded and dishevelled, to refuse to have a hair-cut and to avoid pairing off the nails, combing the hair and applying oil to it and using perfume and taking a bath, and to utter the loud cry of Labbaik Labbaik (Here I am! Here I am!), and to walk round the House of Ka'bah, to kiss the Black Stone fixed in a corner of it, to embrace its walls and to weep and wail, and to go round about the hills of Safa and, Marwa, and then, to go out of the town of Makkha and stay sometimes in the wilderness of Mina, sometimes in the uninhabited region of Arafat and sometimes in the wasteland Muzdalifa, and after it, to throw pebbles, again and again, at Jamrat¹ which in fact, are the symbols of Satan — all these acts are commonly associated with those who are siezed with the sweet madness of love, and Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام, so to speak, was the founder of this glorious tradition. God took such a great liking to these deeds and actions of his that He made them the rites and ceremonies of the Hajj and the Umrah.²

The commandment enjoining the Hajj was sent down, according to most reliable reports in 9 A.H. and the next year, only three months before his death, the Prophet ﷺ performed the Hajj with a very large party of the Companions which is, generally known as the Farewell Hajj. During it, the following verse was revealed to him at Arafat:

This day I have perfected your religion for you and completed My favour unto you.

(Al-Maidah 5:3)

الْيَوْمَ أَكْمَلْتُ لَكُمْ دِينَكُمْ
وَأَتَمَّمْتُ عَلَيْكُمْ نِعْمَتِي الْآيَةَ

(المائدة : ٣:٥)

Though not expressly stated, it is included in the meaning of the above verse that the Hajj is the culminatiung tenet of Islam.

If a bondsman is blessed with a correct and sicnere Hajj which is called Hajj Mabroor in the special terminology of the Shari'ah, and even if a particle of association with the Prophet Ibrahim عليه السلام and Muhammad ﷺ is granted to him it will mean that he has, as one would say, attained the highest degree of felicity and obtained a boon than which there can be no greater gift or favour in this world.

①. Denoting the three pillars at Mina.

② Meaning the pilgrimage to Makkha at any time of the year other than that of the Hajj.

Obligatoriness and Superiority of The Hajj

(٩٦٨/١) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ خَطَبَنَا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ قَدْ فُرِضَ عَلَيْكُمُ الْحَجُّ فَحُجُّوا فَقَالَ رَجُلٌ أَكُلَّ عَامٍ يَأْتِي رَسُولَ اللَّهِ فَسَكَتَ حَتَّى قَالَهَا ثَلَاثًا فَقَالَ لَوْ قُلْتُ نَعَمْ لَوَجِبَتْ وَلَكَمَا اسْتَطَعْتُمْ ثُمَّ قَالَ ذَرُونِي مَا تَرَكْتُكُمْ فَإِنَّمَا هَلَكَ مَنْ كَانَ قَبْلَكُمْ بكَثْرَةِ سُؤَالِهِمْ وَاخْتِلَافِهِمْ عَلَى أَنْبِيَائِهِمْ فَإِذَا أَمَرْتُكُمْ بِشَيْءٍ فَأَتُوا مِنْهُ مَا اسْتَطَعْتُمْ وَإِذَا نَهَيْتُكُمْ عَنْ شَيْءٍ فَدَعُوهُ

(رواه مسلم)

(968/1) Sayyidina Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه related to us that one day the Messenger of Allah ﷺ delivered a sermon in which he said: "O people! The Hajj has been enjoined upon you (and) so make efforts to perform it." Someone asked: "Are we to perform the Hajj every year?" The Prophet ﷺ kept silent at the enquiry and did not give a reply till the questioner had put the same question thrice. The Prophet ﷺ, then, remarked (with evident displeasure): "If in reply to your question I had said, 'Yes: it has been made obligatory to perform the Hajj every year; it would have come to be prescribed like that, and, (then); you would not have been able to observe it.'" After it, the Prophet ﷺ said: 'Unless I give you an order about anything, do not try to take the order from me (and add to you duties by asking questions). People of the earlier communities were ruined because they asked too many questions from their Prophets, and, then, failed to obey the commands. Thus, (my advice to you is that) when I give you an order for anything, try your best to carry it out and when I forbid against anything, leave it.' (Muslim)

Commentary: In another Tradition referring to the same incident, and related on the authority of Sayyidina Ali رضي الله عنه, it is indicated that proclamation by the Prophet ﷺ of the obligatoriness of the Hajj and the aforementioned conversation with the enquirer had taken place upon the revelation of the following verse of surah Aal-Imran:

Pilgrimage to the House (of Allah) is a duty men owe to God those who can afford the journey. (Aal-Imran 3:97) وَلِلَّهِ عَلَى النَّاسِ حِجُّ الْبَيْتِ مَنِ اسْتَطَاعَ إِلَيْهِ سَبِيلًا.

(آل عمران ٩٧:٣)

In this Tradition the name of the questioner has not been mentioned but in the account of Sayyidina Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه, quoted in Musnad Ahmad, Daarimi, and Nasai it is stated that he was Aqr'a bin Habis Tamini. He was among the Quraish who had embraced Islam after the Victory of Makkah, and, thus, did not have a full opportunity to receive guidance from the Prophet ﷺ. It was owing to it that he made the mistake of asking such a question and persisting with it when the Prophet ﷺ did not give a reply.

The Prophet's remark that if he had replied in the affirmative it would have become a duty to perform the Hajj every year signifies that the questioner should have realised that the command of obligatoriness of the Hajj he had conveyed was enough to show that it was to be carried out only once in a lifetime. To make an enquiry after it could, also, have resulted in the Prophet's ﷺ answering "yes" to it which would, of course, have been at the behest of God and, then, it would have become binding to perform the Hajj every year and the Ummah consequently, would have been put to great hardship.

Afterwards, the Prophet ﷺ observed that a large number of people belonging to the ancient communities had been destroyed owing to the evil habit of asking too many questions. They added to their duties by making all sorts of enquiries from their Prophets عليهم السلام, and, then failed to observe them.

At the end, the Prophet ﷺ enunciated the principle "When I give you an order for anything, try your best to carry it out, and when I forbid you against anything, give it up." What it goes to show is that ease and toleration was the characteristic feature of the Shari'ah brought by him and not severity and narrowness. One should sincerely try to observe it as best as one can for anything left wanting owing to human frailty or weakness is hoped that Allah will treat it with indulgence and forgive it.

(٩٦٩/٢) عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ مَلَكَ زَادًا
وَرَّاحِلَةً تَبْلُغُهُ إِلَى بَيْتِ اللَّهِ وَلَمْ يَحُجَّ فَلَا عَلَيْهِ أَنْ يَمُوتَ يَهُودِيًّا أَوْ نَصْرَانِيًّا
وَذَلِكَ أَنَّ اللَّهَ تَبَارَكَ وَتَعَالَى يَقُولُ وَلِلَّهِ عَلَى النَّاسِ حِجُّ الْبَيْتِ مَنِ اسْتَطَاعَ
إِلَيْهِ سَبِيلًا

(رواه الترمذی)

(969/2) It is related by Sayyidina Ali عليه السلام that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Anyone whom God has given enough to perform the Hajj. and he also, has a conveyance which can take him to the House of God, if he still fails to do so then it does not matter whether he dies a Jew or a Christian, and it is so because God has said:

وَلِلّٰهِ عَلَى النَّاسِ حِجُّ الْبَيْتِ مَنِ اسْتَطَاعَ اِلَيْهِ سَبِيْلًا (آل عمران ٩٧:٣)

Pilgrimage to the House (of Allah) is a duty men owe to God — those who can afford the journey." (Aal-e-Imran 3:97) (Tirmizi)

Commentary: It imparts a most severe warning to those who do not perform the Hajj despite the fact that they possess the means to undertake the Pilgrimage. to die in such a state, according to it, is similar to dying as a Jew or Christian. It is comparable to the admonition which couples together the giving up of prayer and apostasy and polytheism as for the same class of transgressions. It is set forth, also, in the Qur'an:

And establish prayer (and by leaving it out) be not of those who ascribe partners unto Him.

”أَقِمُّو الصَّلَاةَ وَلَا تَكُونُوا مِنَ الْمُشْرِكِينَ.“ (الروم ٣٠:٣١)

(Al-Rum 30:31)

The Muslims who do not perform the Hajj though they are religiously obliged to do so have been compared, in this Tradition, to Jews and Christians and not to polytheists because it was the peculiarity of the Jews and Christians that they did not perform the Hajj while the polytheists of Arabia did so but they did not offer salah, and, hence, the habitual neglect of prayer has been condemned as the characteristic of those who ascribe partners to Allah.

Again, in support of the stern warning given in the above Tradition to those who do not carry out the Hajj although they can afford the journey reference has been made to the verse of surah Aal-Imran in which the prescribing of the Hajj as a duty has been proclaimed, i.e.,

Pilgrimage to the House (of Allah) is a duty men owe to God those who can afford the journey,

وَلِلّٰهِ عَلَى النَّاسِ حِجُّ الْبَيْتِ
مَنِ اسْتَطَاعَ اِلَيْهِ سَبِيْلًا

(Aal-e-Imran 3:97)

But it appears that the narrator stopped at reciting the first part of the verse while, in fact, the warning is based upon its latter part which reads:

وَمَنْ كَفَرَ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ غَنِيٌّ عَنِ الْعَالَمِينَ (آل عمران ٩٧:٣)

But if any deny faith (let him know that) Allah stands not in need of any of His creatures. (Aal-e-Imran 3:97)

(meaning that if, after this commandment, anyone adopts the attitude of the Infidels and fails to perform the Hajj even though he can afford the journey then God does not care. He is Independent of all His creatures).

In it, those who possess the means and yet do not carry out the Hajj have been condemned as the deniers of Faith and the admonition that God does not stand in need of His creatures has been administered to them which signifies that Allah is supremely unconcerned with what such ungrateful and defiant people do and in whatever state they die.

عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ يَا

رَسُولَ اللَّهِ مَا يُوجِبُ الْحَجَّ قَالَ الرِّاءُ وَالرَّاحِلَةُ (رواه الترمذی و ابن ماجه)

(970/3) Abdullah bin Umar رضی اللہ عنہ narrated that a person came to the Prophet ﷺ and asked: "What makes the Hajj obligatory?" "The wherewithal of the journey and the conveyance," replied the Prophet ﷺ. (Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: In the Qur'an those who can afford the journey has been laid down as the condition that makes the Hajj obligatory. The aim of the questioner, perhaps, was to seek an elucidation of the stipulation and the Prophet ﷺ explained what it meant was, firstly, that a conveyance was available in which one could travel to Makkah, and, secondly, that there was enough money to meet the expenses during the journey. The jurists have, also, included the maintenance of persons who are dependent for their needs on the intending pilgrim which is self-evident.

(٩٧١/٤) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَنْ حَجَّ

فَلَمْ يَرْفُثْ وَلَمْ يَفْسُقْ رَجَعَ كَيَوْمِ وَلَدَتْهُ أُمُّهُ (رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(971/4) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Whoever performs the Hajj and commits no lustful act during it nor disobeys God (in any other way) shall return from it as pure and sinless as he was at the time of his birth."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: It tells that if anyone performs the Hajj and, during it, abstains from all lustful things and every other act of defiance to God which falls within the sphere of lewdness, his sins will be forgiven and he will return from it as spotless as he was when he had been born.

(٩٧٢/٥) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ الْعُمْرَةُ إِلَى الْعُمْرَةِ كَفَّارَةٌ لِمَا بَيْنَهُمَا وَالْحَجُّ الْمَبْرُورُ لَيْسَ لَهُ جَزَاءٌ إِلَّا الْجَنَّةُ

(رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(972/5) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: From one Umrah to another (i.e., the two Umrah) become an atonement for the sins committed during the period intervening between them, and the reward on Hajj Mabroor (i.e., pure and untainted Hajj) is Paradise itself and nothing less."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩٧٣/٦) عَنْ ابْنِ مَسْعُودٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَابِعُوا بَيْنَ الْحَجِّ وَالْعُمْرَةِ فَإِنَّهُمَا يَنْفِيَانِ الْفَقْرَ وَالذُّنُوبَ كَمَا يَنْفِي الْكَبِيرُ خَبَثَ الْحَدِيدِ وَالذَّهَبِ وَالْفِضَّةِ وَلَيْسَ لِلْحَجَّةِ الْمَبْرُورَةِ ثَوَابٌ إِلَّا الْجَنَّةُ

(رواه الترمذی والنسائی)

(973/6) It is related by Abdullah bin Mas'ud رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Perform the Hajj and Umrah again and again for both, the Hajj and the Umrah, remove poverty and sins in the same way as the furnace removes the impurities of gold, silver and iron and there is no lesser recompense on a pure and sincere Hajj than paradise."

(Tirmizi and Nasai)

Commentary: It shows that whoever performs the Hajj or Umrah with sincerity of the heart takes a dip, as it were, in the Lord's River of Mercy and, as a consequence of it, the filthy effects of sins are washed away from him. Besides, in this world, too, the favour of God upon him is that he is relieved of poverty and indigence and prosperity and tranquility of the heart are bestowed upon him, and, again, the granting of Paradise in return for a pure Hajj is the firm and positive promise of Allah.

(٩٧٤/٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّهُ قَالَ الْحَاجُّ وَالْعُمْرَاءُ وَقَدْ لَلَّ اللَّهُ إِنْ دَعَوْهُ أَجَابَهُمْ وَإِنْ اسْتَغْفَرُوهُ غَفَرَهُمْ (رواه ابن ماجه)

(974/7) It is related on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Those who make the Pilgimage for the Hajj or Umrah are the guests of Allah. The petitions they make will be granted and if they seek deliverance from sins, their sins will be forgiven." (Ibn Majah)

(٩٧٥/٨) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا لَقِيتَ الْحَاجَّ فَسَلِّمْ عَلَيْهِ وَصَافِحْهُ وَمُرْهُ أَنْ يَسْتَغْفِرَ لَكَ قَبْلَ أَنْ يَدْخُلَ بَيْتَهُ فَإِنَّهُ مَغْفُورٌ لَهُ (رواه احمد)

(975/8) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "When you meet anyone who has performed the Hajj, greet him, shake hands with him and beseech him to pray for the forgiveness of your sins before he reaches his home for he is in the state that decision of forgiveness has been taken for him (and it is confidently expected that his supplication will be accepted)." (Musnad Ahmad)

(٩٧٦/٩) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ مَنْ خَرَجَ حَاجًّا أَوْ مُعْتَمِرًا أَوْ غَازِيًا ثُمَّ مَاتَ فِي طَرِيقِهِ كَتَبَ اللَّهُ لَهُ أَجْرَ الْغَازِيِ وَالْحَاجِّ وَالْمُعْتَمِرِ (رواه البيهقي في شعب الایمان)

(976/9) It is related on the authority of Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that whoever sets out with the intention of performing the Hajj or Umarh or for doing Jihad in the cause of Allah and dies in the way, the same reward is written down for him as is fixed for those who perform the Hajj or Umrah or carry out Jihad in the path of Allah." (Baihaqi)

Commentary: This benevolent rule and principle has, also, been enunciated in the Qur'an which says:

And whoso forsakes his home with the intention of migrating towards Allah and His Messenger, and death overtakes him (in the way), his reward is then incumbent on Allah. Allah is ever Forgiving, Merciful. (Al-Nisaa 4:100)

وَمَنْ يَخْرُجْ مِنْ بَيْتِهِ مُهَاجِرًا إِلَى
اللَّهِ وَرَسُولِهِ ثُمَّ يُدْرِكُهُ الْمَوْتُ
فَقَدْ وَقَعَ أَجْرُهُ عَلَى اللَّهِ وَكَانَ
اللَّهُ غَفُورًا رَحِيمًا (النساء. ٤: ١٠٠)

If anyone gets out of his house to do something for Allah but dies in the way then Allah gives him full reward for what he had intended.

MIQAT IHRAM TALBIA

Allah has proclaimed Ka'bah as the Qiblah of the faithful Believers and as His Own Bayt (i.e., House), and to make the pilgrimage to it and perform the Hajj, once in a lifetime, has been prescribed as a duty to God to all those who can afford the journey. He has, further, laid down some proprieties for it one of which is that the pilgrims should not present themselves in their usual dress but in a mendicants robe which resembles the shroud and reminds them of the appearance they have to make before the Lord on the Day of Resurrection. No shirt, jacket, coat, sherwani, or trousers are to be worn; only a tahbund (a cloth sheet) is to be tied round the waist and a seamless sheet wrapped round the upper part of the body. The head has to be kept bare and no socks, not even shoes which cover the whole of the feet, are allowed.¹ There are, also, some other restrictions of a like nature the object of which is that the bondsman appeared in a condition that signified complete submission and indifference to worldly comforts. But for the sake of the pilgrims' convenience, it has not been enjoined that they start from their home wearing the *Ihram*² and observing the restrictions that go with it. Were it so, the bondsmen would have been put to much difficulty. Till recently, pilgrims from many countries used to reach Makkah after travelling for months, and, even now, the journey for many of them, by land or sea takes several weeks. To abide by the rules and regulations governing the state of wearing Ihram would, naturally, have proved very hard for most of them. So, some places have been marked out on different sides of the city of Makkah on reaching which a pilgrim coming for the Hajj or

①. It should be noted that these rules regarding Ihram are for men only. The women are permitted to wear stitched clothes, to cover their heads and to wear socks or shoes out of consideration for Hijab.

②. Denoting the pilgrim's robe as described above.

Umrah from a place lying beyond them is required to put on the Ihram. These are called Miqat.

It should, moreover, be borne in mind that the assuming of Ihram does not simply mean the wearing of the two sheets but, after it, two rak'at prayer (salah) are, also, offered, and, then, Talbia is recited with a loud voice and in a full-throated manner, the words of which are as follows:

”لَبَّيْكَ اللَّهُمَّ لَبَّيْكَ، لَبَّيْكَ لَا شَرِيكَ لَكَ لَبَّيْكَ إِنَّ الْحَمْدَ وَالنِّعْمَةَ لَكَ وَالْمُلْكَ لَا شَرِيكَ لَكَ.“

lbbaik Allahumma labbaik; labbaik laa shareeka laka labbaik; innal-hamda wan nai'mata laka wal mulk; laa shreeka lak.

(O Allah! Here I am! Here I am in Thy presence! Thou hast no partner! All praise is for Thee and from Thee are all blessings! To Thee alone belongs Power and Rule! Thou art without a partner!)

After the recitation of Taliba, the pilgrim becomes Muhrim i.e., enters into the state of Ihram. The Pilgrimage begins with it and all the restrictions associated with Ihram come into force in the same way as a person offering prayer enters into the act of prayer on saying Takbir and the regulations prescribed for prayer become effective for him.

Miqat

(٩٧٧/١٠) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ وَقَّتْ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لِأَهْلِ
الْمَدِينَةِ ذَا الْحُلَيْفَةِ وَلَأَهْلِ الشَّامِ الْجُحْفَةَ وَلَأَهْلِ نَجْدٍ قُرْنَ الْمَنَازِلِ وَلَأَهْلِ
الْيَمَنِ يَلْمَلَمَ فَهُنَّ لَهُنَّ وَلِمَنْ أَتَى عَلَيْهِنَّ مِنْ غَيْرِ أَهْلِهِنَّ لِمَنْ كَانَ يُرِيدُ الْحَجَّ
وَالْعُمْرَةَ فَمَنْ كَانَ ذُوْنَهُنَّ فَمَهْلُهُ مِنْ أَهْلِهِ وَكَذَلِكَ وَكَذَاكَ حَتَّى أَهْلُ مَكَّةَ
يَهْلُوْنَ مِنْهَا (رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(977/10) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ that the Prophet ﷺ appointed Zul Hulaifa as the Miqat for the inhabitants of Madinah, and Al-Juhfa for the inhabitants of Syria, and Qarnul Manazil for the inhabitants of Najd, and Yalamlam for the inhabitants of Yemen; and these four *Muqat*¹ are for the people who live in those places, and, besides them, for all those who come through them from other areas with intention of performing the Hajj or Umrah; and the people who are on the nearer side of these places (i.e., live between them and Makkah) shall put on Ihram on starting from their homes, and this procedure will go on like that until the inhabitants of the city of Makkah shall put on Ihram from Makkah. (Bukhari and Muslim)

①. Plural of Miqat.

عَنْ جَابِرٍ عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ مَهَلُ أَهْلِ
الْمَدِينَةِ مِنْ ذِي الْحُلَيْفَةِ وَالطَّرِيقِ الْآخَرِ الْجُحْفَةُ وَمَهَلُ أَهْلِ الْعِرَاقِ مِنْ ذَاتِ
عَرَقٍ وَمَهَلُ أَهْلِ نَجْدٍ قَرْنٌ وَمَهَلُ أَهْلِ الْيَمَنِ يَلَمْلَمُ (رواه مسلم)

(978/11) Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه relates that he heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "Zul-Hulayfa is the Miqat for the people of Madinah and Juhfa is the Miqat for those coming by the other route, and Zaat-i-iraq is the Miqat for the people of Najd, and yalamlam is the Miqat for the people of Yemen." (Muslim)

Commentary: In the narrative of Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه only 4 muaqit are mentioned, Zul-Hulayfa, Juhfa, Qarnul Manazil and Yalamlam while in Jabir's narrative a fifth, Zaat-i-iraq is added for the inhabitants of Iraq. There is, also, another minor variation in the two reports. In the former Tradition, Juhfa is described as the Miqat for the people of Syira, and, in the latter, for "those coming by the other route" which apparently, means that if the people of Madinah come by the other route i.e., through Juhfa to Makkah, they, too, can put on the Ihram from it. Some commentators, however, have held that the people of Syria are meant by the people "coming by the other route." In that case, only the difference of expression will remain in the two accounts. Anyhow, all the five Muaqit are positively marked out and universally accepted. Below we will describe them in a little detail:

(i) Zul Hulayfa: which indicates the borderline of the city of Makkah for those coming from the side of Madinah is situated only at a distance of 5 miles from Madinah. It is the farthest Miqat from Makkah, being two hundred miles away, or, rather, two hundred and fifty miles by the present route. Since the inhabitants of Madinah bear a special affinity with Islam, the Miqat for them has been fixed at the greatest distance. They have a greater claim to be in the vanguard of those who strive in the path of Allah and observe the duties prescribed by Him.

(ii) Juhfa: is the Miqat for people coming from the Western areas like Syria. It was a settlement near Rabigh which has, now, become non-existent but it is well known that it was situated near Rabigh which is a hundred miles from Makkah near the coast.

(iii) Qarnul Manazil: Serves as the Miqat for those coming from the side of Najd. It is the name of a hill, about 35 miles to the east of Makkah; on the road leading to Najd.

(iv) Zaat-ul-Iraq: is the Miqat for the people coming from the side of Iraq. It is situated about 50 miles to the north-east of Makkah, on the road leading to Iraq.

(v) Yalamlam: is the Miqat for the people coming from the side of Yemem. It is a famous hill among the hills of Tahama and is situated about 40 miles to the south-east of Makkah, on the road that joins Yemen with it.

As both the aforementioned Traditions show, the sacred Prophet ﷺ had determined these five places as the Miqat for their own inhabitants as well as for those coming from the Hajj or Umrah from areas lying beyond them. The legists are agreed that pilgrims coming from the side of any of the Muaqit must put on the Ihram on crossing them.

The Robe of Ihram

(٩٧٩/١٢) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ رَجُلًا سَأَلَ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا يَلْبَسُ الْمُحْرِمُ مِنَ الثِّيَابِ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَا تَلْبِسُوا الْقَمِيصَ وَلَا الْعَمَائِمَ وَلَا الشَّرَاطِيْلَ وَلَا الْبُرَانِسَ وَلَا الْخِفَافَ إِلَّا أَحَدٌ لَا يَجِدُ النَّعْلَيْنِ فَيَلْبَسُ الْخُفَّيْنِ وَلَيَقْطَعَهُمَا أَسْفَلَ مِنَ الْكَعْبَيْنِ وَلَا تَلْبِسُوا مِنَ الثِّيَابِ شَيْئًا مَسَّهُ زَعْفَرَانٌ وَلَا وَرْسٌ
(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(979/12) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar ؓ that once a person enquired from Messenger of Allah ﷺ, "What clothes can a Muhrim wear?" The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'Wear neither the shirt nor the turban nor the trousers nor the cloak for keeping off the rain nor leather-socks except that anyone has no footgear to use in which case he can wear the leather-socks for the protection of feet after cutting (them) off from below the ankles, and also do not wear clothes that are scented with a saffron or vars." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In this Tradition only a few clothes like the shirt, turban and trousers are mentioned which were in vogue during those days but the command applies to all the dresses that are or may be used in future by different peoples and in different countries for the purpose for which the shirt, turban and trousers etc., are worn.

Saffron is a well-known substance while Vars is the name of an odiferous leaf of yellow colour. As both of these were used for scenting, the use of clothes to which saffron or vars is applied has been forbidden in the state of Ihram.

The questioner wanted to know what clothes a Muhrim was to wear but the Prophet ﷺ told him what he was not to wear. This reply, in a way, contained the exhortation that the thing to be asked was not what kind of clothes should be worn by the Muhrim, but what was he to abstain from wearing for the effect of putting on the Ihram simply is that the use of certain clothes and things that are normally allowed becomes unlawful for people assuming it. The enquirer should, as such, have asked what kind of clothes and what acts were prohibited to a Muhrim.

(٩٨٠/١٣) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ سَمْعَ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَنْهَى
النِّسَاءَ فِي إِحْرَامِهِنَّ عَنِ الْقَفَّازِينَ وَالنِّقَابِ وَمَا مَسَّ الْوَرُسُ وَالزَّعْفَرَانُ مِنَ
الشَّيْبَابِ وَلَتَلْبَسَ بَعْدَ ذَلِكَ مَا أَحَبَّتْ مِنَ الْوَانِ الشَّيْبَابِ مُعَصِّفَرٍ أَوْ خَزٍ أَوْ حُلِيِّ
أَوْ سَرَاوِيلَ أَوْ قَمِيصٍ أَوْ خُفٍّ
(رواه ابوداؤد)

(980/13) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه related to us, saying: "I heard Messenger of Allah ﷺ forbidding women from wearing gloves during Ihram, and from using the vail to cover the face, and from wearing clothes scented with saffron or vars, and, besides they could wear coloured garments if they like, and they could wear ornaments if they liked, and, also, shirt and trousers and leather-socks." (Abu Dawood)

Commentary: It shows that the wearing of stitched clothes like shirt and trousers is disallowed only to men in the state of Ihram. Women are permitted to wear them owing to purdah and they can, also, wear leather-socks. Of course, they, too, are forbidden from wearing gloves and covering their faces with the veil but it does not mean that they kept their faces bare even before men with whom they were unacquainted. The Tradition only forbids regular veiling of the face. In the presence of unrelated men they should screen their faces with cloaks etc.

In Abu Dawood, it is quoted on the authority of Sayyidah Ayshah رضى الله عنها, "We, women, were in the company of the Prophet ﷺ during the Hajj, while in Ihram. (so because of Ihram we did not cover our faces with the veil). (But) when men used to pass by in front of us, we suspended our cloaks from our heads and, thus, observed the hijab, uncovered our faces when the men had moved away."

From it, it is clear that women are forbidden from using the veil while in Ihram but they should screen their faces with the cloak etc. in the presence of strange men.

Taking a Bath Before Ihram

(٩٨١/١٤) عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ أَنَّهُ رَأَى النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ تَجَرَّدَ

لَا مَلَأَ لَهُ وَاعْتَسَلَ (رواه الترمذى والدارمى)

(981/14) Zayd bin Thabit رضى الله عنه related to us that he saw that the Prophet ﷺ removed his clothes and took a bath for putting on Ihram.
(Tirmizi and Daarami)

Commentary: On the strength of this Tradition, the taking of a bath before assuming Ihram has been declared a Sunnah but it is, also, enough that one only performed Wudu for offering the two rak'at of Nafl for Ihram. In case one could not even offer salah and simply formulated the intention of putting on Ihram, it would also suffice and the Ihram would be in order.

Talbia of Ihram

(٩٨٢/١٥) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُهَلُّ

مُلبِّدًا يَقُولُ لَبَّيْكَ اللَّهُمَّ لَبَّيْكَ لَبَّيْكَ لَا شَرِيكَ لَكَ لَبَّيْكَ إِنَّ الْحَمْدَ

وَالنِّعْمَةَ لَكَ وَالْمُلْكَ لَا شَرِيكَ لَكَ، لَا يُزِيدُ عَلَى هَؤُلَاءِ الْكَلِمَاتِ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(982/15) It is related by Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه that "I heard the Messenger of Allah ﷺ reciting Talbia in such a condition that the hair of his head were fixed and arranged in order (as the hair of the head, generally, are after a bath). He was reciting Talbia thus:

لَبَّيْكَ اللَّهُمَّ لَبَّيْكَ لَبَّيْكَ لَا شَرِيكَ لَكَ لَبَّيْكَ إِنَّ الْحَمْدَ وَالنِّعْمَةَ لَكَ وَالْمُلْكَ لَا شَرِيكَ لَكَ.

Labbaik Allahumma labbaik; laa shareeka laka labbaik; innal hamda wan nai'mata laka wal mulk; laa shareeka lak.

(O Allah! Here I am! Here I am in Thy presence! Thou hast no partner! All praise is for Thee and from Thee are all blessings! To Thee alone belongs Power and Rule! Thou are without a partner).

He was reciting only these sets of wordes in Talbia and not making any addition to them." (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Commentators remarked that God had invited the bondsmen to the Hajj through His Friend, Sayyidina Ibrahim عليه السلام, as is, alos, mentioned in the Qur'an. Thus, as the bondsman recites Talbia after assuming Ihram he, so to speak, says in response to the call of Ibrahim عليه السلام and the invitation of Allah that:

"O Allah! Thou summoned me to Thy court and sent the call through Thy Friend. So, here I am in Thy presence, with all eagerness and submission."

First Talbia of Ihram

(٩٨٣/١٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ إِذَا ادْخَلَ رِجْلَهُ فِي الْعُرْزِ وَاسْتَوَتْ بِهِ نَاقَتُهُ قَائِمَةً أَهْلًا مِنْ عِنْدِ مَسْجِدِ ذِي الْحُلَيْفَةِ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(983/16) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه related to us, saying: "It was the practice of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ to recite the Talbia of Ihram (after offering 2 Rak'at of prayer in the mosque of Zul Hulayfa) when he placed his foot in the stirrup of the camel near the mosque and the camel rose up with him (in the saddle)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: There is a difference in the narratives of the Companions over when and where the holy Prophet ﷺ had recited the first Talbia of Ihram on the occasion of the Farewell Hajj. As we have seen above, according to Sayyidina Abdullah bin Umar's report, the Prophet ﷺ mounted his camel near the mosque of Zul Hulaifa, after he had offered two Ra'kat of Nafl in it, and as the camel stood up with him, he recited the Talbia of Ihram for the first time, and, thus, became Muhrim from that time. But other reports have it that the Prophet ﷺ recited the first Talbia after offering prayer in the mosque of Zul Hulaifa and before mounting the camel. In Sunan Abu Dawood and Mustadarak Haakim, the celebrated Taba'ee, Sa'd bin Jubayr, is quoted as saying "I enquired about this divergence from Abdullah bin Abbas and he explained that the Prophet ﷺ had recited Talbia immediately after offering the two Rak'at of Nafl in the mosque of Zul Hulaifa but only the few persons present near him, at that time, could know it. After it, when the Prophet ﷺ mounted his camel and the camel stood up, he again, recited it and it was his first Talbia after getting up on his mount and the people who heard it but had not heard the first Talbia imagined that he had recited it for the first time on mounting the camel. Later, when the camel had reached the place called Baida and the Prophet ﷺ, once again, recited the Talbia those who had not heard the first two Talbia thought that he had recited the Talbia for the first time on reaching Baida.

This should remove any misunderstanding regarding the time and place of the recitation of the first Talbia of Ihram by the sacred Prophet.

Talbia* Should be Said With a Loud Voice

(٩٨٤/١٧) عَنْ خَلَادِ بْنِ السَّائِبِ عَنْ أَبِيهِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَا أَنَا جِبْرِيلُ فَأَمَرَنِي أَنْ أَمُرَ أَصْحَابِي أَنْ يَرْفَعُوا أَصْوَاتَهُمْ بِالْإِهْلَالِ
أَوِ التَّلْبِيَةِ (رواه مالك والترمذي و ابو داود والنسائي وابن ماجه والدارمي)

(984/17) Khallad bin Sa'ib a Taba'ee related on the authority of his father, Sa'ib bin Khallad Ansari رضي الله عنه, that the Prophet ﷺ said: "Jibril came to me and conveyed the Command of Allah that I order my Companions to recite Talbia with a loud voice."

(Mowatta Malik, Tirmizi, Abu Dawood, Nasai, Ibn Majah and Daarami)

(٩٨٥/١٨) عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ مَا مِنْ مُسْلِمٍ يُلْتَبَى إِلَّا لَبَّى مَنْ عَنْ يَمِينِهِ وَشِمَالِهِ مِنْ حَجَرٍ أَوْ مَدْرٍ حَتَّى تَنْقَطِعَ الْأَرْضُ مِنْ هَهُنَا وَهَهُنَا
(رواه الترمذی و ابن ماجه)

(985/18) It is related by Sahl bin Sa'd رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ said: "When the faithful bondsman of Allah recites the Talbia of the Hajj or Umrah (and says, Labbaik Allahumma Labbaik) all the created things that are to his right and to his left, even the lifeless stones, trees or lumps of earth, also say Labbaik with him until the earth comes to an end from this side and from that side."
(Tirmizi and Ibn Majah)

Commentary: The Qur'an tells that everything that exists in the heavens and the earth pays adoration to Allah and sings His praises, but the human beings do not hear it. In the same manner, the above Tradition shows that every object on the left and the right hand sides of the faithful bondsman joins him when he says Labbaik, though he cannot know about it.

Special Supplication After Talbia

(٩٨٦/١٩) عَنْ عُمَارَةَ بْنِ خُزَيْمَةَ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ عَنْ أَبِيهِ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ أَنَّهُ كَانَ إِذَا فَرَّغَ مِنْ تَلْوِيئِهِ سَأَلَ اللَّهَ رِضْوَانَهُ وَالْجَنَّةَ وَاسْتَعْفَاهُ بِرَحْمَتِهِ مِنَ النَّارِ
(رواه الشافعي)

(986/19) Umarah bin Khuzaymah bin Thabit Ansari related on the authority of his father "After the Messenger of Allah ﷺ had recited the Talbia (i.e., become a Muhrim on reciting it), he beseeched for His countenance and sought refuge in His Mercy from Hell."
(Shafa'ee)

Commentary: On the basis of this Tradition the theologists have shown preference for the supplication after Talbia in which Allah is implored for His good graces and for Paradise and protection from the punishment of Hell. There can, indeed, be no greater need or desire of a truthful bondsman than that he attained the favour of the Lord and gained entry into Heaven and secured protection against His wrath and against Hell. This is, therefore, the most suitable supplication for the occasion. After it, one can address whatever petition one likes to Allah.

اللَّهُمَّ إِنَّا نَسْأَلُكَ رِضَاكَ وَالْجَنَّةَ وَنَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ غَضَبِكَ وَالنَّارِ

"Allahumma in-na nasaaluka rizaka wal jannata wa na'oozbika min ghazbika wan-nnar.

(O Allah! I beg of Thee Thy good pleasure and Paradise. I, also, beg of Thee to spare me out of Thy mercy the Punishment of Fire.

FAREWELL HAJJ

There is a difference of opinion over the year in which the command prescribing the Hajj was revealed. The prevalent view, however, is that it was in 9 A. H., after the Victory of Makkah. The sacred Prophet ﷺ did not himself, perform the Hajj that year but sent Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ as Amir Hajj, i.e., the leader of the Pilgrimage to Makkah and the first Hajj was carried out under his leadership. Some important announcements were, also, made on that occasion one of which was that, in future, no apostate or polytheist would be allowed to perform the Hajj nor were the filthy pagan practices to be permitted.

The Prophet ﷺ, perhaps, refrained from performing the Hajj at that time because he wanted his Hajj to be so pure and perfect that there was not a single person participating in it who could defile it with rites and ceremonies of the Age of Perversion. It was to be a saga of light and virtue from the beginning to the end, presenting a true picture of his call and precepts. The Hajj of 9 A.H., under the guidance of Sayyidina Abu Bakr ؓ, thus, was to serve as preparatory step to the Prophet's own Hajj in the following year.

Anyhow, the Prophet ﷺ decided to perform the Hajj in 10 A.H., which was the last year of his life and since he had received the indication that the period of his existence in the world and the mission assigned to him by Allah were drawing to a close, he took special care to make known his intention publicly so that as many Muslims as possible availed themselves of the opportunity of learning the rites and formalities of the Hajj and other precepts and commands of Faith by going along with him on the pilgrimage and having a share in the exquisite auspiciousness of his company during the journey.

Thousands of Muslims collected in Madinah in response to the call. The 24th of *Zul Qa'dah*¹ was a Friday and the Prophet ﷺ gave special instructions regarding the Hajj in the sermon he delivered on it and this magnificent party of pilgrims set forth from Madinah, after the Zuhr prayers, on Saturday, the 25th of Zul Qa'dah. The Asr prayer was observed at Zul Hulayfa where the Prophet ﷺ made the first halt. The Ihram, too, was to be worn from there. The night was spent at that place and, on the next day, i.e., Sunday, the Prophet ﷺ and his Companions ﷺ put on the Ihram after the Zuhr prayer, and left for Makkah, reaching there on the 14th of Zul Hajjah. More and more pilgrims joined the party on the way. From 40,000 to 1,30,000 men are reported to have performed the Hajj with the Prophet ﷺ. What, however, is common to all the narratives is that there was a vast concourse of men and nothing but heads could be seen on all sides.

During the Hajj, the Prophet ﷺ gave sermons on various occasions in which he made it plain that his time was near after which it would not be possible to obtain the knowledge of Faith directly from him. He took special pains to guide, instruct and train the people throughout the journey.

Apart from the rites and regulations of the Hajj and the detailed methods of performing it, the Traditions relating to the event, also, contain some most important guidance regarding the different branches of the Shari'ah.

In fact, so much was accomplished by way of teaching, preaching and propagation of Faith during the month-long journey as could, normally, not have been possible in several years. This has led some front-rank leaders of the Ummah to infer that the most effective means to acquire the knowledge and blessings of Faith is companionship during a religious tour.

We, now, proceed to quote first of all, the Tradition related on the authority of Sayyidina Jabir ﷺ and Abdullah ﷺ, but as it is too long, we shall break it into parts for purposes of the Commentary.

①. The name of the 11th month of the Islamic year, the 12th being that of Zil Hajjah in which Hajj is performed.

 (رواه مسلم)

(987/20) Jafar bin Muhammad, (the great grandson of Sayyidina Husain bin Ali رضي الله عنهما and popularly called Imam Ja'far Sadiq), related to us on the authority of his father, Muhammad bin Ali¹, (known commonly by the name of Imam Muhammad Baqar), that 'some of us went to the Prophet's Companion, Jabir bin Abdullah رضي الله عنه. He asked us to introduce ourselves (upon which everyone of us made himself acquainted to him). When my turn came I said, 'I am Muhammad bin Ali bin Husain'. (He had grown very old and, also, had become blind). He placed his hand over my head (with affection), and then opened the upper button of my shirt, and, after it, the lower button, and then taking his hand inside the shirt, placed it over the middle part of my chest. I was quite young at that time, and (expressing his joy over my coming), he said, 'God bless you, my nephew! Ask freely whatever you want to ask! Meanwhile, the time of prayers (Salah) came. Sayyidina Jabir رضي الله عنه had wrapped a small sheet round his body which was so short that when he threw it over his shoulders both of its ends came towards him. Though his mantle was hanging on the line nearby, (he did not think it necessary to wear it for the prayers, but led the congregation

①. Muhammad bin Ali, i.e., Imam Baqar was born in 56 A.H. If he was even 14 or 15 years old at that time of this meeting, Jabir رضي الله عنه must have been over 90. Sayyidina Jabir died at Madinah in 74 A.H. at the age of 94 years, and, according to reliable reports, he was the last of the Companions in Madinah. After his death, Madinah became bereft of the holy Companions.

wrapped in the small sheet). When the prayer was over. I said to him, 'Tell me the details of the Prophet's Hajj (i.e., the Farewell Hajj)'. He replied, making a sign of nine with his fingers. 'The Prophet ﷺ did not perform any Hajj for 9 years after coming to Madinah. Then, in 10 A.H., he had it announced that he intended to perform the Hajj that year. On receiving the information, a very large number of men thronged to Madinah. Everyone was eager to emulate his example, in the fullest degree, by accompanying him on the sacred journey. (When the day of departure arrived), the whole party left Madinah (under the leadership of the Prophet) and came to Zul Hulaifa and made a halt there for the day. Here an incident occurred (which was that) Asma, bint 'Umais رضى الله عنها, (wife of Abu Bakr Siddiq, who was also in party), gave birth to a child. She enquired from the Prophet ﷺ what was to be done in those circumstances. The Prophet ﷺ replied that she should take the bath of Ihram in the same condition, and bandage her private parts with a cloth as women do at such a time, and formulate the *niyat*¹ of Ihram. Afterwards, the Prophet ﷺ offered the last prayer in the mosque of Zul Hulaifa (i.e., Zuhr), and mounted his camel, Qasawa, till when the camel reached Baida (which was a somewhat elevated plain with a flat surface near Zul Hulaifa), I looked around from the height and noticed that there were nothing but men, mounted as well as on foot, on all sides, as far as the eye could see, and the Prophet ﷺ was in our midst, and the Qur'an was being revealed to him, and he knew its reality and true significance. (Whatever he did was, thus, according to the Divine Will and Revelation), and our attitude was that we did what we saw him do. (So when the Prophet's ﷺ camel reached Baida), the Prophet ﷺ recited the Talbia of Tawheed (i.e., Monotheism) with a loud voice: Labbaik Allahumma labbaik; labbaika laa shareeka laka labbaik; in-nal hamda wannai' mata laka wal mulk; laa shareeka lak. The Talbia which his accompanying Companions ﷺ recited (included a few more words), but though they recited it aloud, Prophet ﷺ neither contradicted nor corrected them (but) he continued to recite his own Talbia (meaning that some of the Companions ﷺ recited the Talbia which contained some additional words of veneration but since it was permissible, the Prophet ﷺ did not check them. On his own part, however, he did not make any alteration in Talbia)

"Sayyidina Jabir ؓ went on to relate: 'In this journey our intention was simply to perform the Hajj. Umrah was not in our minds till we had completed the journey and reached the House of Allah (i.e., the Ka'bah) in the company of the Prophet ﷺ. (On reaching there), the Prophet ﷺ carried out the *Istilam*¹ of *Hajr Aswad*² (i.e., he placed his hand on it and kissed it and, then, he began the *Tawaf*³) during which he did *Ramal*⁴ (the first) three circuits and, in the remaining four, walked at his normal pace and in the normal way. (On completing the seven circuits of Tawaf), the Prophet ﷺ proceeded towards *Muqam Ibrahim*⁵ and recited the verse,

Take Muqam Ibrahim as your place of worship,

وَاتَّخِذُوا مِنْ مَّقَامِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ مُصَلًّى

(Al-Baqarah 2:25)

(البقره ٢: ٢٥)

and, then offered prayer by standing at such a place that Muqam Ibrahim was between him and Ka'bah." (Imam Jafar Sadiq relates that). "my father used to tell that in those two Rak'at the Prophet ﷺ recited the surah Qul yaa aiyyuhal kafiroom and Qul hu-wallahu ahad. He, then, again returned to Hajr Aswad, and once more, carried out its Istilam,⁶ and, then, went out (for Sa'ee)⁷ towards the hill of Safa by one of the doors, and, on reaching close to it, recited the verse,

إِنَّ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةَ مِنْ شَعَائِرِ اللَّهِ

Lo! (the mountains of) As-Safa and Al-Marwa are among the Landmarks of Allah

(Al-Baqarah 2:158)

After (reciting the verse), the Prophet ﷺ said: "I begin Sa'ee

- ⑤. A spot near Ka'bah.

from the very Safa mentioned in this verse by God.' So, he came to (the hill of) Safa and ascended it up to the point from where Ka'bah could be seen. He, then, stopped, and, with his face turned towards Ka'bah, occupied himself with the praise and glorification of the Lord. He said: Laa illaaha il-laahu wahdahu laa shareeka lahu, lahul mulki wa lahul hamdu, wa hua ala kulli shai-in qadeer, laa ilaaha il-lallaahu wahdahu anjaz wa'adahu wa nasara abdahu wa nasara abdahu wa hazamal ahzaaba wahdahu. (No one is worthy of worship save Allah; He is One and without a partner; His is the Kingdom and unto Him is due all praise and He hath power over all things. He hath fulfilled His promise (of granting ascendancy over Makkah and over the whole of Arabia and making His Faith supreme); He gave the fullest help to His bondsman, and He, and He alone, defeated the clans of polytheism and paganism).

"The Prophet ﷺ recited it thrice and entreated the Lord in the intervals separating the recitals. Afterwards, he came down (the hill) and proceeded towards (the hill of) Marwa. On reaching the lower part of the valley, he walked at his usual pace till he came to Marwa, and here, too, he did what he had done at Safa, and, as he reached Marwa, after completing the last round, he said to the Companions: "If I had thought of earlier what I thought later, I would not have brought the animals of sacrifice from Madinah and made the Tawaf and Sa'ee I have performed an Umrah. So, now, I tell you that those of you who have not brought the animals of sacrifice with them should put an end to their Ihram and make an Umrah of the Tawaf and Sa'ee they have performed." Surqa bin Maalik enquired, 'O Messenger of Allah! Is the command for performing Umrah in the month of Hajj only for this year or forever?' The Prophet ﷺ replied, entwining the fingers of one hand with those of the other, that Umrah had entered into Hajj not only that year but for all times."

Commentary: For realising the significance of what the sacred Prophet ﷺ said at the conclusion of Sa'ee at Marwa, i.e., those who had not brought the animals of sacrifice with them should regard their Tawaf and Sa'ee to be an Umrah and he would have done the same had he not brought the animals from Madinah it is necessary to bear in mind that among the popular misconceptions of the Age of Perversion one was that it was strictly forbidden to perform Umrah in Shawwal, Zul Qa'dah and Zul Hajjah, which were commonly known as Ashhar Hajj, for the reason that the journey of the Hajj was undertaken during them. At the very outset, the Prophet ﷺ had made it clear that whoever liked could put on merely the Ihram of Hajj which in the special terminology of the Shari'ah was called Ifrad, or the Ihram of Umrah in the beginning, and, then, the other Ihram of the Hajj after performing the Umrah in Makkah, which was called Tamattu or a common Ihram for both the Hajj and the Umrah and formulate the Niyat of performing both of them with the same Ihram, which was called Qiran. On learning about it from the Prophet ﷺ, very few of the Companions رضي الله عنهم had, owing to their unusual circumstances, decided on Tamattu and assumed only the Ihram of Umrah at Zul Hulaifa, one of them being Sayyidah Ayshah رضي الله عنها. Otherwise, most of the Companions رضي الله عنهم had either put on the Ihram of the Hajj or of both, the Hajj and the Umrah. The Prophet ﷺ, himself, had assumed the Ihram of both, i.e., he had adopted the course of Qiran. Besides, he had brought the animals of sacrifice with him from Madinah, and the pilgrim who does so cannot end the state of Ihram until he has performed the Qurbani on the 10th of Zul Hajjah. Thus, the Prophet ﷺ and the Companions رضي الله عنهم who, like him, had brought the animals with them could not remove the Ihram before the Hajj, i.e., before carrying out the sacrificial offering of the animals, but for the pilgrims who had not done so there was no such legal constraint.

On reaching Makkah, it was felt more intensely by the Prophet ﷺ that for the eradication of the superstitious belief that to perform Umrah during the months of the Hajj was extremely sinful it was advisable to set, for everyone to see, a large scale example of acting in opposition to it, the only way to which was that the greatest possible number of Companions رضي الله عنهم who had performed the Tawaf and Sa'ee with him put an end to the state of Ihram and to all the restrictions that went with it by deciding that the Tawaf and Sa'ee they had carried out was an Umrah and donned another Ihram for the Hajj at the appropriate time. But as the Prophet ﷺ had brought with him the animals of sacrifice such a course was not open to him. That is why, he said that if he had realised in the beginning what he did latter on, he would not have brought the animals from Madinah and removed the Ihram, taking his Tawaf and Sa'ee to be an Umrah. But as now he could not do so himself, he was telling those who had not brought the animals with them to resolve that their Tawaf and Sa'ee were an Umrah and take off the Ihram.

On hearing it, Suraqa bin Maalik,¹ who, till then, was under the impression that it was highly sinful to perform Umrah during the months of the Hajj, got up and enquired whether what the Prophet ﷺ had said was meant only for the paritcular year or for all time. The Prophet ﷺ, in order to emphasise the point, joined the fingers of one hand with those of the other and declared that Umrah had entered into the Hajj in the like manner, and it could be performed during the months, and even in close proximity to the days of the Hajj, and the notion of its sinfulness was utterly wrong and based upon ignorance, and, further, that the command was not only for the time being but forever.

To continue with the Tradition:

"And And Sayyidina Ali رضي الله عنه (who had gone to Yemen for the collection of Zakah and other imposts at the order of the Prophet ﷺ) arrived in Makkah, bringing some other animals for Qurbani by the Prophet ﷺ. He saw that his wife, Fatima Zahra رضي الله عنها, had taken off Ihram and become Halal [i.e., come out of the restrictions prescribed for those adopting it] and was wearing coloured clothes, and, also had used collyrium. He thought it to be highly improper and expressed his displeasure (and, according to the report quoted in Abu Dawood, said to her, 'who had told you to remome Ihram and become free from the attending restrictions?' Sayyidah Fatima رضي الله عنها replied 'my father (i.e., the sacred Prophet) had given me the order (and

①. He was the same person who, on the information supplied by his slave, had pursued the Prophet ﷺ when he was migrating to Madinah, in the hope of capturing him and winning the reward placed on his head, but as he had drawn close to the Prophet ﷺ, the legs of his mare had sunck into the ground. The mare, however, had come out safely as the Prophet ﷺ prayed at his request. Suraqa, then, returned to Makkah and remained true to his paganish creed till he had embraced Islam in 8 A.H., at the Victory of Makkah, along with the other inhabitatns of the town.

I have done so in compliance with it)'. The Prophet ﷺ then, asked Ali, 'What had you said when you formulated the Niyat of Hajj alone, as is done in Ifrad, or only of Umrah, as is done in Tamattu, or of both, as is done in Qiran? 'I had formulated the Niyat thus', replied Ali. 'O Allah! I put on the Ihram of what Thy Messenger has put on'. The Prophet ﷺ thereupon, explained, 'I had brought the animals of sacrifice with me (and owing to it, I cannot now remove the Ihram before the Hajj and you have formulated the Niyat of Ihram like that of mine). So, you are, also, to remain in the state of Ihram like me."

(Jabir adds); "The total number of the animals of sacrifice the Prophet ﷺ had brought with him and Ali ﷺ had brought for him later was 100'. (In some traditions it is mentioned in detail that 63 camels had come with the Prophet ﷺ and 37 had been brought by Hazrat Ali ﷺ from Yemen). (Sayyidina Jabir ﷺ related, further, that) "in accordance with the command of the Prophet ﷺ, all the Companions ﷺ who not brought the animals of sacrifice with them removed the Ihram and cut short the hair of their heads after completing the Sa'ee of Safa and Marwa and became Halal and decided that the Tawaf and Sa'ee they had performed were an Umrah. Only the Prophet ﷺ and the Companions ﷺ who had brought the animals of sacrifice with them remained in the state of Ihram."

Commentary: The Companions ﷺ who removed Ihram on the advice of the Prophet ﷺ did not shave off their heads but only cropped the hair because they wanted to earn the merits of shaving the head at the removal of the Ihram of the Hajj.

To take up the Tradition again:

"Then as Yaumul Tarwiya (i.e., the 8th of Zul Hajjah) dawned and everyone began to leave for Mina (and the Companions ﷺ who had removed Ihram after the Sa'ee of Safa and Marwa and become Halal) assumed the Ihram of Hajj and the Prophet ﷺ proceeded towards Mina on his camel. On reaching there, the Prophet ﷺ and the Companions ﷺ observed the Salah of Zuhr, Asr, Maghrib, Isha and Fajr in the mosque of Kheef), and stayed for some time at Mina after the Fajr prayers till when the sun rose, he left for Arafat, and he had ordered the tent of *Suf*¹

①. Meaning laying aside the restrictions.

②. A kind of coarse cloth made of mixed cotton and wool.

to be pitched for him at *Namira*¹ (the place from where the flat ground of Arafat begins). The people of his family of the Quraysh were sure that the Prophet ﷺ will stay near the hill of Mash'ar-i-Haraam, as the Quraish used to do during the Age of Perversion (but he did not do so) and went beyond the limits of Mash'ari-i-Haram to Arafat and saw that (according to his instructions) his tent had been pitched at Namira. He, thus, dismounted at the tent."

Commentary: The ritualistic movements of the Hajj begin on the 8th of Zul Hajjah which is called Yaumul Tarwiya. On its morning the pilgrims leave for Mina. While the pilgrims performing the Hajj by the method of Ifrad or Qiran are already in the state of Ihram, other pilgrims, too, put on the Ihram and proceed to Mina on the 8th of Zul Hajjah and stay there till the morning of the 9th. The sacred Prophet ﷺ and the rest of the Companions رضي الله عنهم who had brought the animals of sacrifice with them were in the state of Ihram at that time and the rest of the Companions رضي الله عنهم who had removed the Ihram after performing Umrah assumed the Ihram of the Hajj on 8th of Zul Hajjah and the whole party of pilgrims left for Mina where it stayed for the day and proceeded for Arafat on the morning of the 9th after the sun had risen.

Arafat is situated at about 6 miles from Mina and 9 Miles from Makkah. It lies outside the limits of *Haram*². In that direction the area of Arafat begins where the territory of Haram ends. The tribals of Arabia who came for the Hajj went out of the limits of Haram to carry out the ritual of *Wuqoof*³ at Arafat on the 9th of Zul Hajjah while the Quraysh who considered themselves to be the custodians of Ka'bah and called themselves the 'People of Haram' did not come out of those limits even for Wuqoof and carried it out

- ①. It lies exactly at the point where the territory of Haram ends and from where the area of Arafat begins. The present mosque of Namira is situated at the border of Haram and it is said that its wall which is towards Makkah marks the dividing line between Arafat and Namira so much so that, God forbidding, if it collapses on the outer side, it will fall out of the territory of Arafat and in the valley of Nmira.
- ②. The territory of Makkah, along with a certain defined territory on all its sides, is called Haram.
- ③. The stay at Arafat between the declining of the sun from the meridian on the 9th of Zul Hajjah and the dawn of the 10th of Zul Hajjah is called Wuqoof. It is the most important ritual of Hajj.

within them near the hill of Mash'ar-i-Haram, in the territory of Muzdalifa. They regarded it a mark of eminence and distinction. In view of this family tradition, the Quraysh believed that the Prophet ﷺ, too, would carry out Wuqoof near Mash'ari-i-Haram, but as the correct place of Wuqoof was Arafat, he gave the order, at the time of departure for Mina, that his tent should be pitched at Namira.

To take up the Tradition again:

'When the sun declined he (the Prophet ﷺ) ordered for the saddle to be placed on his camel. The saddle was (then) placed on the camel and he mounted it and came to the Valley (of 'Orna) and from the back of the camel delivered a sermon in which he said:

"O people! Your lives, your properties and your honour must be as sacred to one another as this sacred day, as this sacred month, and as this sacred town. Know it clearly that all the customs of the Days of Ignorance are trampled under my feet. (I proclaim their end and annulment)."

"This day the retaliation for all murders committed in the Days of Ignorance is cancelled (i.e., no Muslim shall now take vengeance for a murder committed during those days), and foremost of all the murder of a member of my own family, i.e. of the son of Rab'i bin Haris bin Abdul Muttalib¹, forgiven.

"This day all sums of interest are remitted (i.e., no Muslim shall now realise the interest on the money lent by him), and in this regard, also, I, first of all, announce the remission of the sum of interest owed to my uncle Abbas ؓ, son of Abdul Muttalib.

"And O people! Fear God in respect of the rights of your women for you have taken them as the trust of God in your hands and to derive satisfaction from them has been made legitimate for you by His Command. Your special claim on them is that they do not permit anyone whom you do not like to come into your house and to sit in your place or on your bed, but if they ever commit a folly admonish them with kindness, and their special "And I am leaving for you the provision of guidance. If you abide by it and remain attached to it you will never go astray. It is the Book of God (i.e., the Qur'an).

"And, on the Day of Resurrection, it will be enquired from you, on behalf of God, about me (whether I had conveyed to you His Message and Commandments). So, tell me, what reply will you give?"

"And the valley resounded with the reply from the assembled host, 'By our Lord! Verily you have conveyed to us the message and commandments of God and left no stone unturned to guide us (along the Straight Path) through kindness and good counsel.'

"Upon it, the Prophet ﷺ raised his index finger towards the sky and said it thrice: 'O Allah, I beseech Thee, bear Thou witness unto it.'"

"After it, Bilal ؓ gave Azan (at his command) and called out the Iqamah and the Prophet ﷺ led the Zuhr service. Then, Bilal ؓ, again called out Iqamah and the Prophet ﷺ led the Asr service."

Commentary: It is known for certain that the day of Wuqoof at Arafat fell that year on a Friday. The Prophet ﷺ, first, delivered the aforementioned sermon, after the declining of the sun, and, then, led both the Zuhr and Asr prayers together, at the time of Zuhr, without an interval. In this Tradition, Zuhr is distinctly mentioned which shows that day, the Prophet ﷺ did not offer the Friday prayer, but the Zhur prayer and the sermon he delivered was not of a Friday prayer, probably, was that Arafat is not an inhabited area a town or village but a stretch of waste-land a dry, vacant region and the Friday service is held only in a populated place.

The guidance the Prophet ﷺ imparted in the course of the sermon was most suitable for the occasion. After the sermon, he offered the Zuhr and Asr prayers simultaneously, without offering even two Rak'at of Nafl or Sunnah between them. There is a complete agreement in the Ummah over the point that on the day of Wuqoof Arafat these two prayers should be offered like that, and, in the same way, on that day the Maghrib and Isha prayers should be offered together at the time of Isha on reaching Muzdalifah. The Prophet ﷺ had done likewise as we shall see later. It is the correct time and manner of offering those prayers on that day, perhaps, for the reason that the distinction of Yaumul Arafat that, on it, even the timings of those prayers had been changed by Allah came to the knowledge of everyone, and, also, that the whole of the afternoon was left free for Zikr and Du'a which were the real religious duties for that day and the bondsmen did not have to spare time for a prayer from Zuhr to Maghrib or even Isha.

Alluding, towards the close of the sermon, to the fact that his death was near the Prophet ﷺ said that he will be leaving for his followers a complete provision of guidance after which they will never go out of the right way provided that they remained true to it, and it was the Qur'an.

It is clear from the foregoing what the Prophet ﷺ had in mind when during the last days of his mortal illness he had wanted something to be written down by way of a testament and about which he had said "after it you will never be misled". The sermon at the time of the Farewell Hajj distinctly shows that the Prophet ﷺ wanted to dictate as his last wish resolute and unswerving adherence to the holy Qur'an. he had, already, indicated in the sermon how great was the glory and splendour of the Book of God, and since Sayyidina Umar ؓ knew it and the Almighty had, also, endowed him with the courage to speak out boldly at the appropriate time, he had said that they knew, as a result of the training and guidance received continuously from the Prophet ﷺ how profound and everlasting was the worth and value of the Qur'an; so why should trouble be taken to dictate the will when the sacred Prophet ﷺ was so ill and feeling so restless. They remembered and shall always remember what the Prophet ﷺ had taught: Hasbuna Kitabullah (The Book of Allah is sufficient unto us).

The Tradition goes on to say:

"Then, (after the Prophet had offered the prayers of Zuhr and Asr without a break), he mounted his camel and came to the place of Wuqoof at Arafat and made the camel stand so as to face the large rocks and had the multitude standing in front of him and turned his face towards the Qiblah and remained there till the time of sunset came and the paleness (of the latter part of the evening), too, disappeared and the sun wholly passed below the horizon, and, then, left (Arafat for Muzdalifa) and made Usama bin Zayd  ride on his camel behind him until he came to Muzdalifah (which was about 3 miles from Arafat). On reaching there, the Prophet  offered the Maghrib and Isha prayers together with one Azan and two Iqamah (i.e., the Azan was called only once but the Iqamah for Maghrib and Isha were called out separately) and between the two prayers, also, he did not offer any Nafl or Sunnah Rak'at. After it, the Prophet  lay down and remained lying till it was daybreak and the time for Fajr had arrived. At the dawn, he celebrated the Fajr service with Azan and Iqamah, and, then, came to Mash'ar-i- Haraam (which was a ridge within the limits of Muzdalifa and it still is like that with the difference that a building has been constructed there as a landmark). On coming here, the Prophet  stood facing the Qiblah and occupied himself with supplication and glorification of the Lord till it was broad daylight. Then, a little after sunrise, the Prophet  left for Mina and now made Fadl bin Abbas ride on his camel at the back. He set off till, as he entered the Valley of Muhassar, he somewhat increased the pace of his mount, and, on coming out of it, proceeded along the middle path that led to the biggest Jamra (i.e., Pillar), and, then, on reaching the Jamra which is near the tree, he carried out *Rami*¹ against it. He threw seven pebbles at it and said Allah-u-Akbar at each throw. The pebbles were like the pebbles of Khazaf (i.e., of the size of a pea that could be held between the thumb and the index or middle finger for throwing). He threw the pebbles at the Jamra from the low ground (near the Jamra), and, on finishing Rami, went towards the place of Qurbani (i.e., where the animals are sacrificed), and carried out the Qurbani of sixty-three camels with his own hand and left the rest to Ali  for performing the Qurbani, and, (thus), let him join in the Qurbani offered by him (i.e., the Prophet ). Then, the Prophet  ordered a piece of meat to be taken from every camel that had been sacrificed. All those pieces were cooked in a cauldron and both, the Prophet  and Ali , ate the meat and drank the broth. Then, the Prophet  proceeded to the House of Allah on his mount for *Tawaf Ziyarat*¹ and offered the prayer of Zuhr at Makkah. At the conclusion of the prayer, the Prophet ﷺ went up to the members of his family (i.e., Bani Abdul Muttlib) who were drawing water from Zam Zam and giving it to the people to drink. He said to them, 'If there was not the danger that other people forcibly took away this service from you, I would, also, have joined you in pulling out the pitcher'. They drew out a pitcher from Zam Zam and gave it to the Prophet ﷺ from which he drank."

Commentary: The principle rite of the Hajj is Wuqoof Arafat, i.e., standing on the 9th of Zul Hajjah in the presence of the Lord in the table-land of Arafat, after Zuhr and Asr prayers on the declining of the sun. The above Tradition shows how long was the Wuqoof the Prophet ﷺ had performed. He had offered the Zuhr and Asr Salah soon after the time prescribed for the Zuhr began, and, then, stayed there till sunset. Afterwards, the Prophet ﷺ left directly for Muzdalifa where, as we have seen, he offered the Maghrib and Isha services simultaneously.

On that night, in Muzdalifa, the Prophet ﷺ rested after the Isha till Fajr and altogether omitted the Tahajjud though he never missed it even in a journey, probably because he had been very busy throughout the 9th Zul Hajjah. In the morning, he had travelled from Mina to Arafat where he, first, delivered the historic sermon, and, then, carried out the Wuqoof continuously till Maghrib, and, immediately after that, journeyed over to Makkah. Thus, from Fajr till Isha he had remained constantly occupied and on the move. On the next day, the 10th of Zul Hajjah he had, again, to keep busy. He had to travel, in the morning, from Muzdalifa to Mina, and, on reaching there, at first, to perform the Rami of the Jamrat, and, then, to carry out the Qurbani of as many as 63 camels with his own hand, and, afterwards, to go from Mina to Makkah for Tawaf Ziyarat, and, then, return to Mina.

Anyway, as the schedule for the 9th and 10th of Zul Hajjah was so heavy and tiring, it was necessary to rest properly during the night between them at Muzdalifa. The body, too, has a claim and its resources are, after all, limited. In such congregations, in particular, it is essential to make an allowance for one's physical needs so that the aspect of leniency may, also, be felt by the people and they can appreciate the temperate nature and moderate disposition of the Shari'ah.

It is distinctly stated in this Tradition that the Prophet ﷺ had performed the Qurbani of 63 camels with his own hand. These were, perhaps, the camels he had brought from Yemen, he got sacrificed by him. The figure of 63 is significant. The Prophet ﷺ, then was 63 years of age, and, thus, he made, an offering of a camel for every year of his life in thanksgiving.

The Prophet ﷺ and Sayyidina Ali ؑ had the meat of the animals sacrificed by them cooked and they ate it and drank the broth. It shows that a person can partake of the meat of the animals offered by him in sacrifice as well as give it to Kinsmen to eat.

On the 10th of Zul Hajjah the Prophet ﷺ went to Makkah, after finishing with the Qurbani, for Tawaf Ziyarat. It is better to perform Tawaf Ziyarat on the 10th of Zul Hajjah, after the fulfillment of the ritual of Qurbani, but it can, also, be delayed.

From ancient times it had been the privilege of Bani Abdul Muttalib to draw water from the well of Zam Zam and offer it to the pilgrims. As the Prophet ﷺ came to Zam Zam, after carrying out Tawaf Ziyarat and saw his kismen performing the enviable task, he felt like taking a hand in it. But he thought that, then, all his Companions would, also, want to participate in it, in emulation of his example, and, in the upshot, the members of his family would be deprived of the time-honoured right. The sacred Prophet ﷺ, hence, expressed his wish for the sake of their encouragement and, also, explained why he had preferred not to join.

The above narrative, as we have remarked already, contains the longest and most detailed account of the Farewell Hajj. Yet a number of events have been left out in it, including even the ritual of *Halq*¹ and the sermon of the 10th of Zul Hajjah which are mentioned in other Traditions.

In some other versions of the same Tradition it appears that the Prophet ﷺ said:

"I have performed Qurbani at this place but the whole area of Mina is the place of Qurbani. You can, therefore, perform Qurbani at your place (i.e., where you are staying at Mina). (Similarly), I have carried out Wuqoof here (i.e., near the big rocks), but the whole of Arafat is the place of Wuqoof, and I have halted here (i.e., near Mash'ar-i- Haraam), but the whole of Muzdalifa is the place of halting. (One can stay for the night in any part of it)." (Muslim)

He said: "I shall pay them for their services from my pocket." (Bukhari and Muslim) (990/23) It is related on the authority of Anas bin Maalik رضي الله عنه that when the Prophet ﷺ came to Mina (from Muzdalifa, on the morning of the 10th of Zul Hajjah, he first went to *Jamrat ul-Uqaba*¹ and performed the Rami of it, and, then, came to his tent and performed the Qurbani of the animals. After that, he called the barber, and, first, brought the right side of his head before him and the barber shaved that side (of it). The Prophet ﷺ, then, called Abu Talha ؓ and gave the hair to him. He, then, brought the left side of his head before the barber and said: "Now, shave it also". The barber shaved that side (of the head) as well, and, then, the Prophet ﷺ gave the hair, again to Abu Talha ؓ and said: 'Distribute the hair to the people.'

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: The incident of shaving of the head by the Prophet ﷺ had not been mentioned in Sayyidina Jabir's ؓ prolonged narrative though it forms one of the main rites of the Hajj that are to be performed on the 10th of Zul Hajjah.

The correct way of Halq, as we learn from the above Tradition, is that, first, the right side of the head should be shaved and, then, the left.

On this occasion the sacred Prophet ﷺ gave his hair to Abu Talha Ansari who was one of his devoted Companions. He had covered the Prophet ﷺ with his body, as with a shield, and taken all the arrows on himself during the assault by the pagans of Makkah in the Battle of Uhud. Besides, he was particularly solicitous of the comfort of the holy Prophet ﷺ and took a keen interest in entertaining his, i.e., the Prophet's guests in a kindly and generous manner. In fine, Abu Talha ؓ and his wife, Umm Sulaym (the mother of Anas ؓ) were conspicuous for such acts of service and it was, perhaps, for that reason that the Prophet ﷺ had handed over his hair to him, and, also, had it distributed through him to others.

It, thus, furnishes, a clear support to and justification for the institution of the preservation of the relics of holy men.

Most probably, the "blessed hair" of the Prophet ﷺ which are said to be preserved at various places and about the genuineness of which reliable evidence is available are from among the hair distributed on the occasion of the Farewell Hajj. Some reports show that Abu Talha ؓ had given one or two hair each to the people. In this way, these would have come into the possessions of thousand of Companions ؓ, and their descendants would have taken the fullest care to protect and preserve the holy relic. Hence, there is nothing strange that some of the hair are still preserved at some place. But to proclaim any hair to be the "blessed hair" of the Prophet ﷺ without an authentic proof is a very grave matter. Anyhow, whether false or genuine, to make it or its display a source of money-making is shameful in the extreme.

(٩٩١/٢٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ فِي حَجَّةِ الْوَدَاعِ اللَّهُمَّ ارْحَمِ الْمُحْلِقِينَ قَالُوا وَالْمُقَصِّرِينَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ اللَّهُمَّ ارْحَمِ الْمُحْلِقِينَ قَالُوا وَالْمُقَصِّرِينَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ وَالْمُقَصِّرِينَ

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(991/24) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه related to us that, during the Farewell Hajj, the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Blessings of the Lord be on them who had their heads shaved here." Some of the people said: "O Messenger of Allah! Make the same prayer for those, also, who have their hairs cropped." The Prophet ﷺ, again, said: "Blessings of the Lord be on them who had their heads shaved here." When they repeated the request, the Prophet ﷺ said, at the third time, "And the blessings of the Lord be on them, also, who had their hairs cropped here." Bukhari and Muslim Commentary: to have the head shaved or the hair cut short out of habit or necessity is not an act of worship, but as the shaving of the head or the cropping of the hair in the Hajj or Umra is an expression of servility and submission on the part of the bondsman, it constitutes a special form of worship and the rite should be carried out in the same spirit. Moreover, as there is a great display of servility and humbleness in having the head shaved than the hair cropped, it enjoys a superiority over it and, that was why, the Prophet ﷺ gave preference to those who had their heads shaved in the prayer of mercy.

(رواه البخارى و مسلم)

(992/25) It is related on the authority of Abu Bakrah Thaqafi رضي الله عنه that the Prophet ﷺ delivered a sermon on the 10th of Zul Hajjah (during the Farewell Hajj) in which he said: 'Time has returned to its original state, as it was when the heavens and the earth were created. The year is only of full twelve months out of which four are sacred-three months in succession, Zul Qa'dah, Zul Hajjah and Muharram, and Rajab which falls between Jamadi-uth-Thaani and Sha'ban and is held in a greater esteem by the tribe of Muzar. Then, the Prophet ﷺ said: "Do you know which month is this?" 'Allah and His Messenger ﷺ knows best', we replied. So, he remained silent for some time, so much so that we thought he was going to give some other name to the month, (but) he said: 'Is it not the month of Zul Hajjah?' 'Of course, it is Zul Hajjah', we replied. Then he said, 'Do you know what town is this?' We replied: 'Allah and His Messenger ﷺ know best.' He, then, remained silent for some time till we thought he was going to give some other name to the town, (but) he said: 'Is it not Balda?'¹ 'Of course , it is Balda', we replied. Then, he said 'Do you know what day is it today?' We replied: 'God and His Messenger know best.' Upon it, he said, 'Is it not Yaum-un- Nahr?' After it, the Prophet ﷺ observed: 'Your lives are your property and your honour are forbidden to one another (i.e.,it is not permitted to you to kill anyone unjustly or to lay your hand on anyone's property or honour; these are forbidden forever) as you consider it forbidden on this sacred day, in this sacred town and in this sacred month to kill anyone or to infringe on his property or honour.' After it, the Prophet

ﷺ said, 'Before long, in the Hereafter, you are to meet your Lord who will call you to account for your deeds. Now, listen, I warn you not to go so far astray after me that some of you begin to cut the throats of others.' After it, he asked them, 'Tell me have I conveyed the message of the Lord to you.' They all replied with one voice, 'Of course, you have.' (The Prophet ﷺ, then, said), 'O Lord, I beseech Thee, bear Thou witness unto it.' After it, he said to the people, 'Let those present take this message to those absent. Many people who come to know of a thing from one who had heard it are more capable of remembering it than those who have heard it (directly)."

(Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In order to appreciate the Prophet's ﷺ remark that the time had returned to its original state it needs be remembered that an erroneous custom among the polytheists of Arabia was that, sometimes, according to their needs or convenience, they used to assume about a year that it consisted of thirteen months by making a month occur twice in it which threw the entire arrangement of time into months and years into disorder and make it unreliable. Thus, the Hajj which, according to their calculation, fell in the month of Zul Hajjah did, in fact, not fall in it. But after hundreds of years of rotation in the Age of Perversion it so happened that what, for instance, was the month of Muharrum in their view was also the month of Muharrum by the celestial arrangement and the month they considered to be Zul Hajjah, in fact, was Zul Hajjah. The same thing was stressed by the Holy Prophet ﷺ in his sermon. He made it clear, through it, that the Zul Hajjah in which that Hajj was taking place was Zul Hajjah also by celestial calculation and a year considered of only twelve months and it was now going to be like that till the end of time.

At the end of the sermon the Prophet ﷺ exhorted the Ummah not to fall a prey to internecine conflicts which were wholly opposed to the spirit of Islam. The Prophet ﷺ had administered this warning to his followers on many onther occasions also perhaps because it had been revealed to him, in some measure, that Satan was going to be really successful in sowing the seeds of discord among them.

PRINCIPAL RITUALS AND CEREMONIES OF THE HAJJ

Almost all the rites and ceremonies of the Hajj have come to be mentioned in the Traditions regarding the Farewell Hajj. We will now see what his teachings and actual practice were in respect of each one of them, taken individually.

Entry into Makkah and the First Tawaf

The unique honour bestowed by Allah on the city of Makkah, by virtue of its association with the House of Ka'bah, demands that one enters it with proper attention and reverence, and, next to it, is the claim of the holy Ka'bah that its Tawaf is performed before everything else. The blessed stone, i.e., Hajr Aswad which is embedded in a corner of the Ka'bah and bears a close association with Almighty and Paradise, then, requires that Tawaf should be commenced with its Istilam. Such was the practice of the holy Prophet ﷺ and this was what the Companions رضي الله عنهم had learnt from him.

(٩٩٣/٢٦) عَنْ نَافِعٍ قَالَ إِنَّ ابْنَ عُمَرَ كَانَ لَا يَقْدِمُ مَكَّةَ إِلَّا بَاتَ بِذِي طُوًى حَتَّى يُصْبِحَ وَيَغْتَسِلَ وَيُصَلِّيَ فَيَدْخُلَ مَكَّةَ نَهَارًا وَإِذَا نَفَرَمْنَاهَا مَرَّ بِذِي طُوًى وَبَاتَ بِهَا حَتَّى يُصْبِحَ وَيَذْكُرُ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ كَانَ يَفْعَلُ ذَلِكَ
(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

(993/26) It is related by Nafi, the special attendant of Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه, that whenever Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه came to Makkah he spent the night at Zi Tuwa¹ before entering the town till at daybreak he took a bath and offered prayer (Salah), and, then, entered Makkah during the day, and when he returned from Makkah then, too, he spent the night at Zi Tuwa and departed from there in the morning, and Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه used to say that it, also, was the practice of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ.

(Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩٩٤/٢٧) عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَمَّا قَدِمَ مَكَّةَ أَتَى الْحَجَرَ فَاسْتَلَمَهُ ثُمَّ مَشَى عَلَى يَمِينِهِ فَرَمَلَ ثَلَاثًا وَمَشَى أَرْبَعًا (رواه مسلم)
(994/27) It is related by Jaber رضي الله عنه that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ arrived at Makkah, first of all, he came to the Black Stone and carried out its Istilam, and, after it, performed the Tawaf from the right side of it (in such a way) that in the first three circuits he did Ramal and in other four, he walked at normal pace.
(Muslim)

Commentary: Every Tawaf begins with the Istilam of the Black Stone which denotes the act of kissing it or touching it with the right hand, and, then, kissing the hand or stretching the arms towards it with the palms turned in its direction, and, then, kissing the palms. Seven circuits round the House of Ka'bah are performed in each Tawaf.

A peculiar kind of gait which gives the impression of vigour and strength is called Ramal. It is related that when, in 7 A.H., the Prophet ﷺ came to Makkah for Umrah, with a large party of Companions, the Makkans remarked that the unfavourable climate of Makkah had told upon their health and make them weak. As the news reached the Prophet ﷺ, he ordered that the first three circuits of the circumambulation should be performed in the style of Ramal so that the impression of the lethargy or enervation of the Companions might be dispelled. It appeared to Allah and He made it into a permanent practice. It is still observed and in the first three circuits of the initial Tawaf the pilgrim performing the Hajj or Umrah carries out, and, after which, the Sa'ee between Safa and Marwa is performed, walking is done briskly, in the manner of Ramal and, in the remaining four, at usual pace.

(٩٩٥/٢٨) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ أَقْبَلَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فَدَخَلَ مَكَّةَ فَأَقْبَلَ إِلَى الْحَجَرِ فَاسْتَلَمَهُ ثُمَّ طَافَ بِالْيَمِينِ ثُمَّ أَتَى الصَّفَا فَعَلَاهُ حَتَّى

يَنْظُرُ إِلَى الْبَيْتِ فَرَفَعَ يَدَيْهِ فَجَعَلَ يَذْكُرُ اللَّهَ مَا شَاءَ وَيَدْعُو (رواه ابو داؤد)
 (995/28) Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه narrated that when the Messenger of Allah ﷺ came the first thing he did, after entering Makkah, was to go near the Black Stone and carry out its Istilam. After that, he performed Tawaf and, then, came to the hill of Safa and ascended it up to the point from where the House of Ka'bah could be seen. He, then raised his hands (as one does while supplicating to the Lord) and occupied himself with prayer and supplication as long as he liked. (Abu Dawood)

(٩٩٦/٢٩) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ طَافَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي حَجَّةِ الْوُدَّاعِ عَلَى بَعِيرٍ يَسْتَلِمُ الرُّكْنَ بِمُحَجِّنٍ (رواه البخارى و مسلم)
 (996/29) Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه narrated that in the Farewell Hajj the Messenger of Allah ﷺ performed the Tawaf of the House of Ka'bah riding on a camel and in his hand there was a walking stick with a curved handle with which he carried out the Istilam of the 'Black Stone.' (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: In Sayyidina Jabir's رضي الله عنه narrative it is distinctly told about the Prophet's Tawaf that, after carrying out the Istilam of the Black Stone, he proceeded towards the right and began the Tawaf in the first three circuits of which he did Ramal while in the remaining four, walked at normal pace. It shows that the Prophet ﷺ had performed the Tawaf on foot. The above Tradition, quoted on the authority of Sayyidina Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه, on the other hand, tells that the Prophet ﷺ had done the Tawaf riding on a camel. There is, however, no contradiction between the two reports. On reaching Makkah the Prophet ﷺ had performed the first Tawaf on foot which has been carried out after it, on his return to Makkah from Mina on the 10th of Zul Hajjah, was performed while he was seated on the camel in order that those who wanted to ask anything from him could easily do so. The camel, so to say, was serving for a platform at that time. Moreover, he might be wanting to show by his own conduct that, in special circumstances, Tawaf could, also, be performed by means of transport.

(٩٩٧/٣٠) عَنْ أُمِّ سَلَمَةَ قَالَتْ شَكَّوْتُ إِلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ

أَنِّي أَشْتَكِي فَقَالَ طُوفِي مِنْ وَرَاءِ النَّاسِ رَاكِبَةً فَطُفْتُ وَرَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يُصَلِّي إِلَى جَنْبِ الْبَيْتِ يَقْرَأُ بِالطُّورِ وَكِتَابٌ مَسْطُورٌ

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

"(in the Farewell Hajj) I informed the Prophet ﷺ that I was ill. (So, how I was to perform Tawaf)? The Prophet ﷺ replied, 'Perform tawaf by riding in the rear of the people.' I, thus, performed Tawaf in that Manner, and, at that time, the Prophet ﷺ was offering prayer by the side of the House of Allah, and, in it, he was reciting Surah At-Tur." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩٩٨/٣١) عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ خَرَجْنَا مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ لَأَنْذَكُرُ إِلَّا الْحَجَّ فَلَمَّا كُنَّا بِسَرِفٍ طِمِثْتُ فَدَخَلَ النَّبِيُّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ وَأَنَا أَبْكِي فَقَالَ لَعَلَّكَ نَفْسَتْ قُلْتُ نَعَمْ قَالَ فَإِنَّ ذَلِكَ شَيْئِي كَتَبَهُ اللَّهُ عَلَى بَنَاتِ آدَمَ فَاغْلِي مَا يَفْعَلُ الْحَاجُّ غَيْرَ أَنْ لَا تَطُوفِي بِالْبَيْتِ حَتَّى تَطْهَرِي

(رواه البخارى ومسلم)

"(in the journey of the Farewell Hajj) we set forth from Madinah, in the company of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ. We all were talking of nothing but the Hajj till as we reached the place called Sarif (from where Makkah was only a short distance away), my monthly periods began. When the Prophet ﷺ came in the tent and saw me crying he said to me, 'Perhaps your menses have started.' 'Yes', I replied. 'It is like that.' The Prophet ﷺ said. '(There is nothing in it to cry about). It is one of those things which God has made necessary for the daughters of Adam (i.e., for all women), Perform all the rites of the Hajj like the other pilgrims but do not perform the Tawaf of Ka'bah till you get clean, (i.e., the menses stop)'." (Bukhari and Muslim)

(٩٩٩/٣٢) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ الطَّوَافُ حَوْلَ الْبَيْتِ مِثْلَ الصَّلَاةِ إِلَّا أَنْكُمْ تَتَكَلَّمُونَ فِيهِ فَمَنْ تَكَلَّمَ فِيهِ فَلَا يَتَكَلَّمَنَّ إِلَّا بِخَيْرٍ

(رواه الترمذى والنسائى والدارمى)

(999/32) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas ؓ that the Prophet ﷺ said: "The Tawaf of the House of Ka'bah is worship of the same class as prayer (Salah), the only difference being that in Tawaf you are permitted to talk. So, whoever talks to anyone in Tawaf should talk only of good and virtuous things (and abstain from vain conversation)". (Tirmizi, Nasai and Daarimi)

(١٠٠٠/٣٣) عَنْ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ إِنَّ مَسْحَهُمَا (الْحَجَرَ الْأَسْوَدَ وَالرَّكْنَ الْيَمَانِي) كَفَّارَةٌ لِلْخَطَايَا وَسَمِعْتُهُ يَقُولُ مَنْ طَافَ بِهَذَا الْبَيْتِ أَسْبُوعًا فَأَحْصَاهُ كَانَ كَعَتَقِ رَقَبَةٍ وَسَمِعْتُهُ يَقُولُ لَا يَضَعُ قَدَمًا وَلَا يَرْفَعُ أُخْرَى إِلَّا حَطَّ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ بِهَا خَطِيئَةً وَكَتَبَ لَهُ بِهَا حَسَنَةً (رواه الترمذی)

(1000/33) Abdullah bin Umar رضي الله عنه related that he heard Messenger of Allah ﷺ say: "To pass the hands over the Black Stone and *Rukn-i-Yamaani*¹ is a source of the expiation of sins." He, further, related that he heard the Prophet ﷺ say: "Whoever makes seven circuits round the House of Ka'bah and did it properly (i.e., by showing due regard to rules and proprieties), this act of his will be equivalent to setting free a slave." And he related that he, also, heard it from him, he was saying "when the bondsman will put down one foot and raise the other while performing the circumambulation, Allah will forgive one sin in recompense for each step and the reward for one virtuous deed will be written down for him." (Tirmizi)

Commentary: The words طاف بهذا البيت اسبوعا are translated by us as "Whoever makes seven circuits." They could also mean:

- (i) Circumambulation the Ka'abah seven times, that would be 49 circuits, or
- (ii) Circumambulation for seven successive days without break. Allah knows best.

The Black Stone

(١٠٠١/٣٤) عَنْ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ فِي الْحَجَرِ وَاللَّهُ لَيَعْتَنَهُ اللَّهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَمَةِ لَهُ عَيْنَانِ يَبْصُرُ بِهِمَا وَلِسَانٌ يَنْطِقُ بِهِ يَشْهَدُ عَلَى مَنْ اسْتَلَمَهُ بِحَقِّ

(رواه الترمذی و ابن ماجه والدارمی)

(1001/34) It is related by Abdullah bin Abbas رضي الله عنه that the

①. Denoting the south-west corner of The Ka'bah.

Messenger of Allah ﷺ said about the Black Stone: "By God! The Lord will confer a new life on it and raise it in such a manner, on the Day of Resurrection, that it will have two eyes with which it will see and a tongue with which it will speak and testify with truth about the bondsmen who will have carried out its Istilam." (Tirmizi, Ibn Majah and Daarimi)

Commentary: Apparently, Hajr Aswad is a piece of stone but it is vested with a unique spirituality and remembers everyone who does its Istilam. On the Day of Final Requit, God will raise it up as a seeing and speaking being and it will depose in favour of the bondsmen who used to perform its Istilam reverentially.

(١٠٠٢/٣٥) عَنْ عَابِسِ بْنِ رَبِيعَةَ قَالَ رَأَيْتُ عُمَرَ يَقْبِلُ الْحَجَرَ وَيَقُولُ إِنِّي لَا أَعْلَمُ أَنَّكَ حَجَرٌ مَاتَنْفَعُ وَلَا تَضُرُّ وَلَوْلَا أَنِّي رَأَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقْبِلُ مَا قَبَلْتُكَ (رواه البخاري ومسلم)

(1002/34) 'Aabis bin Rabee' narrated "I saw Umar bin Khattab رضي الله عنه, he was kissing the Black Stone and saying: 'I know for certain that thou art a stone (and there is no attribute of Divinity in thee). Thou canst neither benefit nor harm anyone. Had I not seen the Prophet ﷺ kissing thee, I would never have done that.'" (Bukhari and Muslim)

Commentary: Sayyidina Umar رضي الله عنه said it openly and for everyone to hear so that there remained no possibility of an ignorant or newly converted Muslim assuming that there was the attribute of God, head and the power to do good or harm in the Black Stone on seeing leading men of the Ummah like him kissing it.

A point of fundamental importance that emerges from Sayyidina Umar's رضي الله عنه observation is that if a thing is venerated with the belief that it is the Command of Allah and the Prophet ﷺ, the veneration is justified, but if it is done out of the conviction that it has the power over good and evil then it, clearly, is a kind of polytheism and has no place in the Islamic scheme of things.

Zikr and Supplication in Tawaf

(١٠٠٣/٣٦) عَنْ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ بْنِ السَّائِبِ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ مَا بَيْنَ الرُّكْنَيْنِ رَبَّنَا إِنَّا فِي الدُّنْيَا حَسَنَةٌ وَفِي الْآخِرَةِ حَسَنَةٌ وَقَنَا

عَذَابَ النَّارِ (رواه ابو داؤد)
 (1003/36) Abdullah bin Sa'ib رضي الله عنه related that he heard the Prophet ﷺ recite the following supplication between Rukn Yamaani and Hajr Aswad (during Tawaf):

رَبَّنَا اٰتِنَا فِي الدُّنْيَا حَسَنَةً وَفِي الْاٰخِرَةِ حَسَنَةً وَقِنَا عَذَابَ النَّارِ (البقره ٢: ٢٠١)
"Rabbana aatina fid-duniya hasanataon-wa fil aakhirati hasanataon-wa-qina azaabun naar." (Al-Baqarah 2:201)

(O Allah! I beg of Thee forgiveness and peace in this world and the next. O Lord! Give us good in this world and good in the Hereafter, and defend us from the torment of Fire). (Abu Dawood)

(١٠٠٤/٣٧) عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ قَالَ وَكَلَّ بِهِ سَبْعُونَ مَلَكًا (يَعْنِي الرُّكْنَ الْيَمَانِي) فَمَنْ قَالَ اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَسْأَلُكَ الْعَفْوَ وَلَعَافِيَةَ فِي الدُّنْيَا وَالْآخِرَةِ رَبَّنَا اٰتِنَا فِي الدُّنْيَا حَسَنَةً وَفِي الْاٰخِرَةِ حَسَنَةً وَقِنَا عَذَابَ النَّارِ، قَالُوا..... امين (رواه ابن ماجه)

(1004/37) It is related by Abu Hurayrah رضي الله عنه that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: "Seventy angels are posted at Rukn-Yamaani who say Amen at the supplication of the bondsman who makes this prayer near it:

اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَسْأَلُكَ الْعَفْوَ وَالْعَافِيَةَ فِي الدُّنْيَا وَالْآخِرَةِ رَبَّنَا اٰتِنَا فِي الدُّنْيَا حَسَنَةً وَفِي الْاٰخِرَةِ حَسَنَةً وَقِنَا عَذَابَ النَّارِ

Allahumma in-ni as'alukal 'afwo wal 'aafiyata fid-duniya wal-aakhira. Rabbana aatina fid-duniya hasanataon-wa fil aakherati hasanataon-wa qina azaabun naar.

(O Allah! I beg of Thee forgiveness and peace in this world and the next. O Lord! Give us good in this world and good in the Hereafter, and defend us from the torment of Fire) (Ibn-e-Majah)

Importance of the Halt at Arafat

As we pointed out earlier, the stay at Arafat, on the 9th of Zul Hajjah, is the most important event of the Hajj. If a pilgrim is blessed with it even for a moment, he is blessed with the Hajj, and if, for some reason, he fails to reach there on the 9th or night following it, his Hajj is rendered void. There is some atonement or reparation for the omission of all the other rites of the Hajj, like Tawaf, Sa'ee and Rami but it is impossible to make amends for failure to carry out Wuqoof for whatever reason.

(١٠٠٥/٣٨) عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمَنِ بْنِ يَعْمَرَ الدَّائِلِيِّ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ النَّبِيَّ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ الْحَجُّ عَرَفَةٌ مَنْ أَدْرَكَ عَرَفَةَ لَيْلَةً جَمَعَ قَبْلَ طُلُوعِ الْفَجْرِ فَقَدْ أَدْرَكَ الْحَجَّ..... أَيَّامٌ مِنْى ثَلَاثَةٌ فَمَنْ تَعَجَّلَ فِي يَوْمَيْنِ فَلَا إِيَّامَ عَلَيْهِ وَمَنْ تَأَخَّرَ فَلَا إِيَّامَ عَلَيْهِ (رواه الترمذی، وابوداؤد، والنسائی، وابن ماجه، والدارمی)

(1005/38) Abdul Rahman bin Ya'mar Duali narrated that he heard the Prophet ﷺ say: "The most important rite of the Hajj (upon which depends its fulfilment) is the halt at Arafat. The pilgrim who reaches Arafat even during the night of Muzdalifa (i.e., between the 9th and 10th of Zul Hajjah), before daybreak, he has performed the Hajj and his Hajj has been carried out. (After Yaum-un-Nahr i.e., the 10th Zul Hajjah there are three days of stay at Mina. If anyone departs from Mina earlier after (performing Rami) only on two days (on the 11th and 12th), there is no harm in it, and if anyone stays there for an additional day and departs (after performing Rami) (on the 13th), there is no harm in it also. (Both of these are permissible)".

(Ibni Majah and Daarami)

Commentary: The performance of the Hajj being dependent on Wuqoof Arafat, latitude has been given to the pilgrims that in case they fail to reach Arafat on the 9th of Zul Hajjah, which is the real time for Wuqoof, their Wuqoof will be deemed to have been completed and Hajj accomplished if they manage to reach there in any part of the night between the 9th and 10th.

After Yaumul Arafat there is Yaum-un-Nahr, on the 10th, on which the restrictions of Ihram come to an end with the performance of Rami against one Jamra, and Qurbani, and Halq etc.,. On the same day, Tawaf Ziyarat is carried out by going to Makkah. Among the rites of the Hajj, after it, is the throwing of pebbles at all the three Jamras by staying at Mina for two to three days.
